"On the whole this looks more like a book for home use and armchair travel. As such it is completely delightful. . . Professor Pei's book is like a geography of language; it is as if you were looking at a globe of the world with all the countries of the world in their different colors emerging from a sea which always is blue, and when you looked at one of these countries you could open Professor Pei's book at the right page and build up a conversation with someone in a desert, in the Himalayan glaciers, in the dark African forest. Of course after these somewhat marginal remarks it may be useful to say that if anyone wants to use this book for the practical purposes for which it is designed he will find it an excellent manual, excellently arranged, clear and informative. The point we wanted to make is that it is not dull."

+ Commonweal 39:400 F 4 '44 750w

"Such a comprehensive work as this defies evaluation at the hands of any single reviewer. No one could possibly have written such a book without help, and it is not surprising that the author needs five pages for his 'acknowledgments.' The many illustrations, maps, etc., contribute to the eye-appeal of the work. It is a book which any student of language would like to own, but its size may well bar it from widespread use among soldiers in foreign lands." M. M. Mathews

+ N Y Times p3 Mr 26 '44 500w

PENA, CARLOS GONZALEZ. See González Peña, C.

PENDER, HAROLD, and WARREN, SAMUEL REID. Electric circuits and fields. 534p $4 McGraw

621.3 Electric engineering. Electric circuits 43-18453

"Intermediate textbook, first nine chapters of which cover fundamental facts and theories of electric circuits; the rest comprise the fundamentals of electric and magnetic fields, introduction to electronics and discussion of Maxwell's equations." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 40:247 Mr 15 '44

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:24 Ap '44

PENNELL, JOSEPH STANLEY. History of Rome Hanks and kindred matters. 363p $2.75 Scribner

44-6553

In looking for a rejoinder to a casual observation of his beloved, Robert Lee Harrington, born in 1904, reviews in his mind what he has heard from others or discovered for himself about the lives of his forebears. Chief amongst these are two Civil War fighters, Rome Hanks, Lee's great grandfather, and Tom Beckham, his grandfather.

"Obscure, as it can be, this is yet a book of real power and promise. Here, we feel, is a writer who conjures up hot frenzy and cold despair, horror and base, violent death, courage and fear, hatred and love, out of the smoke and dust of battle." R. E. Danielson

Atlantic 174:133 O '44 800w

"It's one of the most terrific—and one of the most aggravating—books of many years." A. C. Spectorsky

+ — Book Week p1 Jl 16 '44 1100w

Booklist 41:23 S '44

Reviewed by Dorothy Hillyer

Boston Globe p15 Jl 19 '44 220w

Kirkus 12:284 Jl 1 '44 280w

"Not a true historical novel, this Tristram Shandy deals with everyone else but Rome Hanks. Racy and often ribald, it will appeal to adults who enjoy adventure and spice." M. M. Kehl

Library J 69:603 Jl '44 50w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 159:161 Ag 5 '44 800w

"Considering that the method of the book is pretentious and clumsy, that Lee Harrington is an embarrassingly silly young man in search of the traditional Thomas Wolfian abstractions, buttressed occasionally by strong drink and fallen women, and that the style could stand several good night sweats, two things are worth salvaging from the wreckage. You can piece together a bottomside view of the Civil War that is worth putting beside Brady's photographs, Grant's 'Memoirs,' 'The Red Badge of Courage' and J. W. De Forest's 'Miss Ravenel's Conversion,' that still-neglected novel which tells more about the inner and outer history of the war than any other book I know of. And when the noise of Mr. Pennell's language and the confusion of his method die down a little, the figure of Romulus Lycurgus Hanks, soldier and citizen, remains to remind us that all the giants in the land didn't get into the history books." George Mayberry

+ — New Repub 111:195 Ag 14 '44 360w

"In becoming acquainted with his ancestors, scattered from Pennsylvania to North Carolina and Mississippi, Lee becomes acquainted with America as well. Thus the book is the story of our nation. In this reviewer's opinion, it has been handled with a sweep and scope and awareness that has not been equaled since Stephen Vincent Benét wrote 'John Brown's Body.' . . This is Pennell's first novel, but on any basis it is a superb achievement, both of plan and execution. There is considerable experimentation of style and structure in the work, and it is all very well done indeed. As an item of curiosa, the book is further distinguished by the absence of quotation marks. Item two: it contains a number of the one-syllable once unprintable words." N. K. Burger

+ N Y Times p1 Jl 16 '44 1650w

"Mr. Pennell, like Wolfe, commits just about every sin known to literary man, and, again like Wolfe, thinks up a few ones all his own. His book is chaotic, undisciplined, and formless, it is extravagant and sentimental, its prose is so emotionally supercharged that it often sputters all over the place, and, by and large, it will give those who appreciate novels like Mr.

PENNELL, J. S.—Continued
Brown's 'A Walk in the Sun' a very bad attack of chills and fever indeed. Despite this, however, and I readily grant that it is a lot to despite, Mr. Pennell's book strikes me as being a work of unusual talent, and, among other things, the best novel about the Civil War I have read, with the natural exception of 'The Red Badge of Courage.' . . Mr. Pennell, with any luck at all, ought to have a long career as a novelist and, I hope, a happy one. He should be leery, though, of anybody who urges him to walk in Thomas Wolfe's shoes. He can get places in his own." Hamilton Basso
+ — New Yorker 20:66 Jl 15 '44 750w

"Mr. Pennell owes little to any other writer who has appeared on the American scene. If there are echoes of William Faulkner and of Thomas Wolfe it is because of certain stylistic habits such as running words together, or leaving out quotation marks or, for his own purposes, joining chaotic fragments of narrative without chronological sequence. But he has added in this book a solid and memorable volume to the fictional history of America which began its first chapters a quarter of a century ago. It is easy to believe that he and his predecessors have been molding a form of literature that will be a permanent acquisition to world literature, a product as distinctly American and as apart from the literary language of other nations as America itself is from the European scene." Harrison Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 28:34 Jl 22 '44 850w

"In spite of its surface absurdities and wild overwriting, Rome Hanks is a noteworthy book. The qualities which distinguish it, and which led reviewers to praise its author's vitality, are 1) an acute disgust with the oversimplifications and idealizations of most historical fiction, 2) a pounding, repetitious style which, in 363 pages, develops considerable force, and 3) a genuine mastery of hillbilly dialogue."
+ Time 44:90 Ag 7 '44 500w

" 'The History of Rome Hanks' is in its essence an admission of the loneliness of the individual and a search, not for a home—since there is no home—but for what consolation one may get from self-knowledge. It is remarkable for its imaginative power and emotional intensity. Inevitably, it will be compared with the works of Thomas Wolfe, possibly in some respects with those of William Faulkner. But the comparison, I think, will not be altogether to Mr. Pennell's disadvantage. A shade over-lengthy perhaps, in spots a shade overcomplicated, it is nevertheless a beautiful and a terrible book." Jennings Rice
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 16 '44 1350w

Wis Lib Bul 40:131 O '44

"A brilliant, powerful, perplexing, and irritating book. It is a mixture of some of the most biting and the most eloquent writing in years, battle scenes at Shiloh and Gettysburg that are overwhelming and magnificent, with sophomoric rhapsodies and masses of formless, purposeless experimental writing." Orville Prescott
+ — Yale R n s 34:191 autumn '44 360w

PEOPLE, GRANVILLE CHURCH (GRANVILLE CHURCH, pseud). Race with the sun. 224p $2 Mill 44-47771

Mystery story.

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p15 D 27 '44 60w
Kirkus 12:385 S 1 '44 50w
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p32 D 3 '44 120w
Sat R of Lit 27:31 N 18 '44 40w

PEPPER, GEORGE WHARTON. Philadelphia lawyer; an autobiography. 407p il $3.75 Lippincott
B or 92 44-9713

Autobiography of George Wharton Pepper, lawyer, and senator. The book, which covers the period from 1867 to the present, is filled with anecdotes, recollections of Philadelphia half a century ago, personal triumphs, and political experiences. Index.

Reviewed by Elmer Gertz
Book Week p9 D 17 '44 550w
Booklist 41:152 Ja 15 '45

" 'Philadelphia Lawyer' is the autobiography of a good American whose sense of humor was not impaired by five years' Senate service. The title establishes George Wharton Pepper's fondness for drollery. The phrase 'Philadelphia Lawyer' suggests confusion of thought and expression; he is, on the contrary, clearthinking and plain-spoken. No reader will doubt, for example, that he dislikes the New Deal intensely." Ray McPartlin
+ Boston Globe p34 N 29 '44 400w
Christian Science Monitor p14 D 4 '44 500w

"An autobiography of a civilized and great lawyer, delightful reading and a breezy style that moves quietly and steadily, seldom letting the attention of the reader flag."
+ Kirkus 12:362 Ag 15 '44 260w

"Book will have limited appeal but is important for libraries in Pennsylvania and for collections specializing in law and American history." H. P. Bolman
Library J 69:999 N 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by Allan Nevins
N Y Times p7 D 31 '44 1000w

"Former Senator George Wharton Pepper has presented his country with as interesting and valuable a document as I have read in a long while. It embraces almost eighty years of American life, many of them crucial, as seen by a man at the center of things, and such a canvas, naturally, is crowded with events, personages and decisions. Despite its inherent value, such a record could be dull reading if written by a dull man. But that is exactly what ex-Senator Pepper is not." Struthers Burt
+ Weekly Book Review p3 D 10 '44 1550w

PERCY, THOMAS, bp. Percy letters; David Nichol Smith and Cleanth Brooks, general editors; v. 1, The correspondence of Thomas Percy and Edmond Malone; ed. by Arthur Tillotson. 302p $3.50 La. state univ. press
826 (44-9765)

"The first volume to be issued of a series of some eight or ten volumes of The Percy Letters. The letters in this first volume (most of them printed for the first time) extend over a period from 1779 to 1811, the year of Percy's death. During most of this period, Percy, as Bishop of Dromore, preferred not to engage formally in literary activity; but he retained his keen interest in antiquarian matters and in the earlier literature. Since, at his post in Ireland, he was far removed from the centers of publishing and editing, he depended on the magazines and on the letters of his friends for literary news. Malone's letters to him, therefore, are filled with literary news of all kinds." (Publisher's note) Index.

"The appearance of his letters, with the sound and appreciative treatment evidenced in the present volume, is an event of first importance in literary scholarship. The present volume has the rare merit of giving both sides of a distinguished correspondence." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 D 24 '44 130w
Christian Science Monitor p16 N 2 '44 500w

"Altogether this excellently edited and well-printed volume is a storehouse of information on the literary 18th century." Cyril Clemens
+ Springf'd Republican p6 D 27 '44 550w

"Mr. Tillotson has performed his task as editor with good taste and apparently impeccable accuracy. His annotations are sufficiently full, yet not cluttered up with superflous detail. It should be added that nearly all the letters are now published for the first time." S. C. Chew
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 21 '45 1100w

PERDUE, VIRGINIA. Alarum and excursion. 187p $2 Doubleday

Mystery story. 44-8143

"The action—which is incredibly fast and absorbing—and Matheny's own unraveling of the problem are logical and normal though highly exciting. The characters live. The ending is shocking and terrific." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p13 O 29 '44 150w

Booklist 41:90 N 15 '44

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p17 S 27 '44 50w

Kirkus 12:309 Jl 15 '44 110w

"A clever and exciting job by the author of 'He Fell Down Dead.' "
+ New Repub 111:350 S 18 '44 60w

N Y Times p19 S 17 '44 120w

"An unusually satisfactory story, both as a psychological novel and as a thriller."
+ New Yorker 20:80 S 9 '44 90w

"Entertaining."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:31 S 30 '44 50w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p15 S 10 '44 100w

PERELMAN, SIDNEY JOSEPH. Crazy like a fox. 269p $2.50 Random house

817 44-4931

Collection of humorous sketches, most of which have been previously published in magazine or book form, but with a few new ones added. His subjects range from beekeeping and oral hygiene to Major's cement and movie scenarios.

"If Perelman is a great man—and he is if anybody is—it is because he knows more about words than anybody else writing today. However dignified and significant a word may be, Perelman knows the skeleton in its closet, and he can make the word so absurd that you may never take it seriously again. If you have ever read him you know what I mean. If you haven't—well, what are you just sitting there for? Get started!" R. M.
+ Book Week p2 Je 18 '44 180w

Reviewed by Dale Warren
Boston Globe p17 Je 7 '44 200w

"Master of the maniacal, professor of the prodigious, unencumbered by inhibitions, this man is funny, even sometimes when you don't like him."
+ Kirkus 12:161 Ap 1 '44 70w

"A few of them fairly amusing, but in most of them the attempt at cleverness, humor and smartness shows effort and strain. Not good enough to rate publication as collection. Not recommended except for large libraries which must buy everything." E. S. Brown
— Library J 69:502 Je 1 '44 40w

Reviewed by Eudora Welty
N Y Times p6 Jl 2 '44 900w

New Yorker 20:79 Je 10 '44 60w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
+ Sat R of Lit 27:19 Jl 8 '44 800w

"S. J. Perelman is a favorite among sophisticated comic writers, and he is always absurd—and absurdly small. . . If what the book jacket calls 'Perelmania' is a good thing singly, it might be expected to be many times as good when two score examples are packed between covers. But actually, part of Mr. Perelman's quality is the tiny frame into which he can pack a wealth of satiric comment. It is a question whether these instances improve by being multiplied within such a short space."
Theatre Arts 28:558 S '44 350w

Time 43:99 Je 19 '44 650w

Reviewed by Stanley Walker
Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 9 '44 500w

PERELMAN, SIDNEY JOSEPH, and NASH, OGDEN. One touch of Venus. 102p $2 Little

812 Musical comedies—Librettos 44-2427

Libretto of the Broadway musical comedy hit, which was based on F. Anstey's story of The Tinted Venus—about the statue of Venus, complete with arms, which was accidently brought to life.

Reviewed by H. T. Murdock
Book Week p4 Mr 12 '44 100w

Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '44

Kirkus 12:54 F 1 '44 40w

"Dull and pedestrian. However, few musical comedy books are published and so this has value for that reason."
Library J 69:264 Mr 15 '44 30w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton
Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 30 '44 100w

PERKINS, DEXTER. America and two wars. 213p $2 Little

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations 44-5554

A review of the changes and development of United States foreign policy from 1898 to the present. Dr Perkins, professor of history at the University of Rochester, is the author of Hands Off: a History of the Monroe Doctrine. (Book Review Digest, 1941). Index.

Reviewed by Willard Shelton
Book Week p3 Jl 16 '44 30w

Booklist 40:385 Jl 15 '44

"This is an important and an interesting book. It deserves to be read, thoughtfully, by many Americans." R. A. Brown
+ Christian Century 61:1416 D 6 '44 700w

"What he has to say is not particularly penetrating or original, but it serves as a useful summary of our foreign relations since 1898. The author's ideals for the post-war period, if he is not very specific as to how they could be realized, are moderate, humane and genuinely reasonable."
Commonweal 40:258 Je 30 '44 420w

Foreign Affairs 23:9 O '44 20w

"Thoughtful, contemplative, compact, a book for a more serious public."
+ Kirkus 12:210 My 1 '44 190w

New Repub 111:317 S 11 '44 150w

"Happily ignoring trivia, Mr. Perkins chooses to enlist in the steadily increasing ranks of American historians who are eager to write history which is not odoriferous of the academy, nor replete with the snap judgments of journalese." Adrienne Koch
+ N Y Times p6 Je 25 '44 550w

Reviewed by H. S. Commager
Weekly Book Review p3 Je 25 '44 1450w

Wis Lib Bul 40:125 O '44

PERKINS, JACOB RANDOLPH. Emperor's physician. 245p $2.75 Bobbs

Jesus Christ—Fiction 44-5266

Novel of life in Palestine in the days of the Emperor Tiberius. Two physicians, one of them the emperor's own personal attendant, are sent on a medical mission thru Palestine, and during their journey they come in contact with Jesus of Nazareth. Gradually the two physicians become aware of his healing power, and in time even the skeptical Roman acknowledges Jesus as his master.

Booklist 40:390 Jl 15 '44

"The story is sincerely and devoutly experienced and recounted; its chief challenge lies in the conflict between science and faith."
Kirkus 12:236 Je 1 '44 190w

"The author couldn't keep his narrative from becoming a repetition of one and the same incident. Undoubtedly, he has gone carefully over the historical material available and worked a wealth of factual detail into his novel. But the love story between Mary of Magdala and Sergius never comes to life. And the whole reads more like an expanded sermon than a full-blooded story about actual people." R. R. Plant
N Y Times p14 Jl 16 '44 340w

PERKINS, J. R.—Continued

"Dr. Perkins has made himself an authority on the period of Pontius Pilate and the Nazarene, and his book reflects a vast fund of scholarship. He handles his scholarship easily, too, so that we get a very clear exposition of the physical conditions of the times, the political and hygienic corruption, the movements of crowds, the growth of sects about preachers and healers, among whom Jesus was one. But this book is not a big one because Dr. Perkins has not been able to delve beneath the physical to the spiritual layers of the story." N. L. Rothman

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:25 Jl 8 '44 320w

Reviewed by H. J. Sloan

Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 280w

"Dr. Perkins has presented an account that is less emotional and more intellectual than most. Indeed, the figure of Jesus is treated with a certain dryness and a conscious restraint. . . Some of the medical situations involved in the miracles are handled with subtlety, in the light of modern psychology, but the final miracle is both apocryphal and unbelievable, psychologically as well as physiologically. Dr. Perkins has written an unconventional footnote to the great and awesome story, in its way as unconventional as D. H. Lawrence's 'The Man Who Died' but entirely of a different cloth." Lorine Pruette

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 2 '44 650w

PERKINS, R. MARLIN. Animal faces. 92p pl $1.50 Foster & Stewart

590.84 Animal pictures 44-4765

"The author and camera illustrator is curator of the zoological gardens of Buffalo, with antecedent experience at those in St. Louis. He has given long, lively and sympathetic study to the expressions on animals faces. . . I have long marveled at the variety of expression our domestic pets can get into their faces. . . One marvels far more at the wild animals, here represented to the life. . . Every one shows some emotion unless its specialty is not showing any. . . Along with these seventy or more photographs goes a running commentary that picks up each point in the picture with the right phrase, lively and often droll." Weekly Book Review

---

Booklist 40:360 Je 15 '44

"The photographs are beautifully done, and they go far toward proving the author's contention that the faces of animals are just as revealing as are those of human beings. The captions under the pictures are brief, and that is all to the good, for these animal portraits tell the story far better than words could do." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p8 Ap 16 '44 200w

"I have seen many good books about wild animals, but none has interested me more than this, nor would, I think, be more likely to interest even a small child." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 19 '44 250w

PERRY, GEORGE SESSIONS. Hackberry cavalier. 246p $2.50 Viking

44-1892

Short stories about the people living in the backwoods sections of Texas. It is especially about the doings of one Edgar Selfridge, ending with Edgar's big adventure—as a newspaper correspondent in World war II.

"This book is an attempt to do something about life and love in the backwoods around Hackberry, something in the manner of Jesse Stuart or James Still or of half a dozen other writers of regional stories in the vernacular. Unfortunately, Perry's stories are painfully studied, and, largely because of his manner of telling them, pretty dull." August Derleth

Book Week p5 F 20 '44 360w

Booklist 40:252 Mr 15 '44

Bookmark 5:19 My '44

Commonweal 39:604 Mr 31 '44 100w

"Uneven in quality, some very good, humorous, would appeal especially to men. Recommended for large and medium-sized libraries. For small libraries with sufficient funds for extra titles." E. S. Brown

+ Library J 69:117 F 1 '44 60w

"Although I don't usually like tall tales, I very much enjoyed 'Hackberry Cavalier.' Mr. Perry is a most disarming spinner of yarns: he not only writes a superior prose but flatters you out of countenance by assuming that you too are generous enough to accept his generous lies." Diana Trilling

+ Nation 158:286 Mr 4 '44 120w

"Maybe because of the repeated pattern the book should be held for random reading. Its chief drawback as a pick-up book is that it's hard to put down. And its chief virtue should lie in its use as a happy antidote for too much reading in the drab school of Tobacco Road novels." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p6 F 20 '44 500w

Reviewed by Harrison Smith

Sat R of Lit 27:20 Mr 18 '44 650w

Time 43:99 Mr 6 '44 300w

"'Hackberry Cavalier' will amuse and divert you in these difficult times." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p3 F 13 '44 700w

"Mr. Perry has written novels and war correspondence, and has even edited an anthology of Southwestern literature; but it wouldn't surprise me if the engaging nonsense in Hackberry Cavalier turned out to be his most potent bid for fame." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 33:xiv spring '44 180w

PERRY, GEORGE SESSIONS, and LEIGHTON, ISABEL. Where away; a modern odyssey; with il. by J. J. Floherty. (Whittlesey house publication) 249p $2.75 McGraw

940.545 Marblehead (cruiser). World war, 1939—Naval operations 44-47319

"An account written with the detail of fiction, of the 'U. S. S. Marblehead,' her personnel and experiences from two days before Pearl Harbor until she landed again in the United States, May 4, 1942." Library J

Reviewed by W. F. Morse

Book Week p5 D 17 '44 110w

Booklist 41:150 Ja 15 '45

Kirkus 12:417 S 15 '44 190w

"Crew members come to life, their unbelievable heroism is portrayed clearly. Interesting reading, and will be popular." Thelma Brackett

+ Library J 69:882 O 15 '44 70w

"The sketches of Chief Floherty are excellent, telling a story much better than could a photograph. 'Where Away' is not the 'great monument to the Navy' that the overenthusiastic jacket cover writer says it is, but it is a record of a gallant ship's company raggedly but oftentimes brilliantly told." Foster Hailey

+ N Y Times p7 D 3 '44 700w

"As a sailor, writer, and artist, I give the 'well done' to this book, for as the New England whalers used to say, 'It'll touch you where you live.'" G. B. Coale

+ Sat R of Lit 28:27 Ja 13 '45 1100w

"Never since reading Marcus Goodrich's novel 'Delilah' in 1941 has this reviewer come across another such exemplification of the close-knit character of a warship's crew until seeing a factual account of the American light cruiser Marblehead, called 'Where Away.'" G. W. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 3 '44 550w

"Add to narrative and perception the excellent pen sketches of Coast Guardsman John Floherty and the result is top notch." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p4 N 26 '44 950w

PERRY, JENNINGS. Democracy begins at home; the Tennessee fight on the poll tax; cartoons by Tom Little. 280p $3 Lippincott

324.768 Poll-tax—Tennessee. Tennessee—Politics and government 44-8242

"The law requiring payment of poll tax by all voters has enabled unscrupulous politicians in Tennessee under leadership of Boss Edward Hull Crump to manipulate for over a quarter of a century 'most unique' political machine in America. This is the exciting, even thrilling account of the determined up-hill fight to restore tax-free franchise to Tennessee, led by Silliman Evans, editor and publisher of Nashville Tennessean. To date, repeal of the tax has been nullified by an adverse decision of Tennessee Supreme Court (Crump-controlled). Legislation before Congress to end tax disenfranchisement in all America is blocked by same forces." Library J

Reviewed by Harvey O'Connor
Book Week p6 O 29 '44 550w

Booklist 41:102 D 1 '44

Christian Science Monitor p16 O 18 '44 270w

"In the past two years I have read most of the anti-poll tax literature. But this book, surely, is the best of it. For Mr. Perry has reduced all the arguments against the taxes to their simplest and most cogent level. It is impossible to be honest and to read this book and to accept any longer the specious rationalization for this kind of American tyranny. And in writing this book Mr. Perry illumines one of our dark places; points up the irony of one of our incongruities—that we fight abroad to guarantee democracy abroad, and kill it here at home." Francis Downing
+ Commonweal 41:43 O 27 '44 550w

"This is a book which needed to be written; it is questionable, however, whether it will find a public,—dealing, as it does—with an issue which has met with indifference and apathy."
Kirkus 12:334 Ag 1 '44 130w

Reviewed by J. M. Brittan
Library J 69:697 S 1 '44 70w

Nation 159:530 O 28 '44 360w

Reviewed by Carroll Kilpatrick
New Repub 111:700 N 27 '44 420w

Reviewed by C. M. Puckette
N Y Times p28 D 10 '44 500w

"Particularly interesting to those familiar with turbulent Tennessee politics, the book will be of interest also to all those concerned with preserving the people's fundamental rights." Albert Gore
+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 O 28 '44 450w

School & Society 60:304 N 4 '44 30w

"This is a book that citizens everywhere should find exciting and a joy to read. A proud chapter in journalism it is also an evocation of the fighting faith and the virile vigilance that can build a proud tomorrow in this land!" Marshall Bragdon
+ Springf'd Republican p6 D 16 '44 750w

"To the historian this book is, and will long continue to be, important. But all readers will find it interesting. It is more than history and it is more than entertainment. It is a case study in democracy, a beacon to guide us through the murk of intolerance, of racism, of stupidity, and of the political indifference which has been an after effect of most great wars." R. A. Brown
+ Survey 80:358 D '44 500w

"Jennings Perry's book is largely devoted to describing the means by which Mr. Crump and his complaisant agents in various parts of Tennessee, from Governor to Sheriff, managed to give the poll tax repeal forces the 'run-around' time and again, with the result that the levy is still on the books. They achieved this while professing all the while to yearn for repeal. Mr. Perry's volume is an illuminating commentary on political techniques, especially techniques for hornswoggling the public." Virginius Dabney
+ Weekly Book Review p4 N 5 '44 1500w

PERRY, JOSEPHINE. Chemical industry. (America at work) 128p il $1.75 Longmans

660 Chemical industries—Juvenile literature 44-7901

Outlines the history of chemical industry from early days to the present, with its synthetic products. Illustrated. Index.

Booklist 41:80 N 1 '44

"No doubt this is an authentic and scholarly discourse on the subject, but it is utterly lacking in the color and imagination and drama of, for example, Haynes' The Chemical Front. . . One could wish for some fire of enthusiasm, some lightening of sober context by human interest material and anecdote."
Kirkus 12:280 Je 15 '44 130w

"A real contribution to school and public libraries. . . Recommended." Margaret Miller
+ Library J 69:888 O 15 '44 60w

"Simply and with clarity the writer tells the story of the chemical industry. She has not attempted too much, but has selected only those phases that are the most advanced in method and the most important from the standpoint of the vital uses of the chemicals produced."
+ School & Society 60:192 S 16 '44 40w

Social Studies 36:41 Ja '45 180w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 7 '45 60w

PERRY, JOSEPHINE. Coal industry. (America at work) 128p il $1.75 Longmans

622.33 Coal mines and mining—Juvenile literature 44-3146

"This book tells briefly of the formation of coal, its production, its preparation for market, and the part it plays in the economic importance of our country." (Foreword) Illustrated with photographs. Index. For grades six to eight.

Booklist 40:288 Ap 15 '44

Reviewed by A. D. Martin
Library J 69:554 Je 15 '44 80w

School & Society 59:239 Ap 1 '44 10w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 30 '44 80w

Wis Lib Bul 40:112 Jl '44

PERRY, RUTH DAVIS. Children need adults. 136p $1.50 Harper

649.1 Children—Management. Education of children 43-13659

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

"Excellent points are brought out in the chapters on beginnings of discipline and routine; such as the need for preventative guidance rather than punishment, for providing constructive opportunities for satisfying the need for attention and for the child's taking over as rapidly as possible responsibility for his own routines. One wishes at times for more attention to the underlying dynamics of child behavior which again and again in the life of every child throw out of gear well-established habits and attitudes. Despite the lack in this area, the book will prove of genuine worth to many parents and teachers of preschool children." K. W. Taylor
+ Am Soc R 9:698 D '44 400w

Bookmark 5:8 Mr '44

"Parents who are sometimes confused as to the best way to deal with the problems of their pre-school-age children, will find this a 'must' book." E. C. Thompson
+ Churchman 158:16 Ja 15 '44 90w

Cleveland Open Shelf p3 Ja '44

"The author is the director in the nursery school and kindergarten of the Riverside Church, New York City. Her book is chock-full of wisdom refined in the fire of experience; it is a little book so full of understanding as to incline the reviewer to counsel every teacher of little children to get a copy, capture its insights, and put them to work for herself." W. R. McNutt
+ Crozer Q 21:184 Ap '44 400w

"Parents and teachers alike will find in this sensible, sympathetic, realistic little book a mine of material to help them help little children."
+ Weekly Book Review p18 F 27 '44 150w

PERRY, THOMAS DOANE. Modern wood adhesives [ed. by Alexander Klemin]. 208p il $3 Pitman

668.3 Adhesives. Glue 44-4964

"The chapter on adhesives in the author's Modern Plywood [Book Review Digest, 1942] has been expanded to make the present book. More attention is given to those glues and adhesives which are important commercially. Chapters compare the qualities of each type of adhesive, and deal with gluing equipment and technique. Bibliographies and questions at end of chapters." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 40:385 Jl 15 '44

"When Mr. Perry adheres to the practical applications, he functions as a recognized expert who stands on firm ground. However, when he deals with theories (which he does rather seldom) the results are somewhat less felicitous. The term 'adhesive' really remains undefined, despite brief references to the work of Brown and de Bruyne. Certain oversimplifications also creep into the text. . . These are minor criticisms. As Professor Brown states in his introduction, Perry's book should prove very valuable to engineers, designers, manufacturers, and users of adhesives in various important phases of wood utilization. Chemists who are interested in the chemical and physical nature of adhesives, rather than in their use, will look elsewhere." L. E. Wise

+ — Chem & Eng N 22:2216 D 25 '44 480w

"If, instead of depending so heavily upon suppliers of adhesives, the author had gone to the literature, books and patents for information, he could have added this to his own experience and made the 'material' part of his book as useful as the 'practical' part. As it is, the reader is left in the hands of the 'suppliers.'" Jerome Alexander

— Chem & Met Eng 51:210 S '44 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Je '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:19 Ap '44

PERSE, ST-JOHN, pseud. See Leger, A. St-L.

PERTINAX, pseud. See Géraud, A.

PERVENTSEV, ARKADII A. The ordeal [Eng title: The test]. 262p $2.50 Harper [9s 6d Hutchinson]

44-9415

Novel based on the war in Russia. Dubenko, manager of an airplane factory, was ordered to move his plant from the Ukraine to the Urals, after the Nazi invasion. It was understood that production was to be interrupted as little as possible. The epic of the shift of equipment and workers, the speed and precision of the work, is retailed in detail.

Reviewed by John Weilburg

Book Week p8 D 10 '44 360w

Booklist 41:109 D 1 '44

Boston Globe p12 N 22 '44 200w

Kirkus 12:457 O 1 '44 170w

"The qualities of fortitude and simple bravery are not realized mainly because the author writes dryly and without imagination; there is no breath of life in his characters. Russian heroism deserves better treatment."

New Repub 111:814 D 11 '44 100w

"The best account of this epic that we have had in English. It is a stirring document. . . In 'The Ordeal' Perventsev, the reporter, fares far better than Perventsev the novelist. His theme is so great that his characters seem dwarfed by comparison and their personal problems almost insignificant. . . Perventsev brilliantly details the myriad problems of this evacuation, including the execution of Stalin's 'scorched earth' policy, the month-long trip on a thousand flat cars, the struggle for production victory against superhuman odds." R. E. Lauterbach

+ — N Y Times p5 N 26 '44 650w

"There is a great deal here to add to the account of this strategic movement eastwards of Soviet war industry which has been available to the newspaper reader; the entire description, it is clear, has been made with a considerable degree of what is called inside knowledge. For the rest the narrative is in the heroic convention and is not intended to soothe or stimulate a sophisticated literary taste. Those passages relating to Dubenko's private feelings and his relationship to his wife and to a green-eyed charmer may well appear to be on the naive side, as a matter of fact. But the general response of the factory personnel to the war on Russian soil is indicated to some purpose, and the enthusiasm with which the author speaks of the natural wealth of the Urals should be recognized as a guide to the current direction of Russian thought on future industrial expansion."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p317 Jl 1 '44 330w

"With this epic trek as a background, Mr. Perventsev manages to present the best picture of home-front Russia we have yet had. It is comforting, for some reason, to learn that Russian conscripts march off from their draft boards much in the same manner ours do. . . As a final word, it should be said that much of the credit for 'The Ordeal's' sense of nearness and familiarity undoubtedly belongs to the translator, who shares the fate of most good editors in being left unnamed." Herbert Kupferberg

+ Weekly Book Review p12 N 19 '44 750w

PESOTTA, ROSE. Bread upon the waters; ed. by John Nicholas Beffel. 435p $3 Dodd

331.88 Labor and laboring classes—U.S. Trade unions—U.S. International ladies' garment workers' union 44-47532

"A study of the American labor movement, especially in the needle trades, by an extremely earnest young woman who, from 1934 until she resigned in 1944, was the only female vice-president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. Miss Pesotta does not add much to our knowledge of the subjects she touches upon, but the autobiographical sections of her book, in which she tells of her career in the I.L.G.W.U., show that she truly is the energetic and enthusiastic person Mr. Broadus Mitchell says she is in his foreword." (New Yorker) Index.

Booklist 41:134 Ja 1 '45

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons

Boston Globe p15 D 20 '44 400w

"Miss Pesotta's book is full of little incidents which reveal more than pages of heavy analysis. She has a good eye, and she tells her story with interest and humor. The bitterness usually found in the pages of convinced or disillusioned Marxists is absent, and the most severe epithet hurled against an opponent is 'henpecked.'" Philip Taft

+ Nation 159:806 D 30 '44 360w

New Yorker 20:116 D 9 '44 90w

"A human and colorful book, informally written, it is at once the autobiography of a career, a fragment of trade-union history from the inside, and a slice of 'life in America.' It is rich in people, incidents, action, struggle, drama, pathos, tragedy and fun, the vivid personal note and the panoramic scene of America's varied regional and national groups of workers." C. G. Stillman

+ Weekly Book Review p2 D 17 '44 1250w

PETERSON, FLORENCE. Handbook of labor unions. 415p $5 Am. council on public affairs

331.88 Trade unions—U.S. 44-2754

"Presents factual information about each of the International and National unions which comprise the American labor movement at the present time. Assembled under 17 major headings, the information in the volume has been taken almost entirely from the constitutions and by-laws of the unions concerned." Management R

"This is strictly a documentary compilation, for the author has made no attempt to interpret or evaluate the merits or shortcomings of the provisions of the unions or whether they are more than paper regulations. It is, however, the most accurate and useful compilation of this sort available. Its typography is extraordinarily good for this kind of publication, and one who is interested in labor organizations has here an up-to-date compendium of certain basic information which would otherwise be difficult to get and to file." Herman Feldman

+ Ann Am Acad 234:156 Jl '44 270w

Booklist 40:263 Ap 1 '44

"A valuable reference work."

+ Management R 33:138 Ap '44 50w

PETERSON, ROSS A., and ERICKSON, RAYMOND E. Basic aircraft construction; plain facts for plane builders. 204p il $2.50 Prentice-Hall

629.1341 Airplanes—Design and construction 43-16250

"Describes for beginning workers the processes and analyzes the skills in the various operations in building an airplane. Covers blueprinting and lofting, tools, jigs and fixture making, machine shop work, sheetmetal fabrication, and riveting. There are a chapter on materials and a glossary of aircraft terms." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1007 D 1 '43 10w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:59 O '43

Reviewed by Theodore English
N Y Times p26 Mr 19 '44 160w

PETRE, MAUDE DOMINICA MARY. Alfred Loisy: his religious significance. 129p $2 Macmillan [7s 6d Cambridge]

B or 92 Loisy, Alfred Firmin [44-6020]

"This quiet little book is Miss Maud Petre's proud memorial to a distinguished scholar and 'a great Frenchman,' the Abbé Alfred Loisy, one-time professor at the Institut Catholique of Paris, and later, after his withdrawal from the Catholic Church professor for many years at the Institut de France, and sometime lecturer at the Collège de France. Scholarship and patriotism are marks of merit, indeed, but Alfred Loisy enjoyed a distinction which was conferred by something other than these attributes which are not rare in a country of scholars and patriots. For a decade he was the acknowledged leader of an intellectual movement which commanded the adherence of many Catholic savants in France, Italy, Germany and England. When the Roman authorities pronounced this movement heretical, and gave it the name of Modernism, in the now celebrated encyclical of October, 1907, 'Pascendi gregis,' Loisy was left 'out on a limb.' . . And when he refused to take the anti-Modernist oath which the Pope had imposed on all priests, urbis et orbis, he was excommunicated." N Y Times

"This little book is a valuable study of the later and quite occasional works of the great French scholar—works too little known to the English reader and yet into the writing of which the author on his own confession had put his whole heart and soul. A great and courageous friend survived him just long enough to connect these later writings with the earlier works of the Christian apologist and to find in both the same impassioned interest in religion as the constitution principle of a true humanity." A. L. Lilley

+ Hibbert J 42:372 Jl '44 1200w

"A woman of much learning and untiring interest in world affairs, Miss Petre writes as a Catholic, but as an admirer and friend of the former abbé. Loisy's life of purity and devotion to the things of the spirit was closely matched by her own." E. C. Richards

+ N Y Times p24 S 17 '44 650w

Reviewed by W. R. Matthews
Spec 172:342 Ap 14 '44 500w

Times [London] Lit Sup p258 My 27 '44 2200w

PETROLEUM EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTE, LOS ANGELES. Simplified petroleum chemistry and physics; as applied to lubricants and fuels; comp. and ed. by the editorial staff of the Institute. 122p il $3.50; spir $3.25 The institute, 704 S. Spring st, Los Angeles

665.5 Petroleum 43-16841

"This book, by the editorial staff, is written in a style interesting and understandable to non-technical individuals, acquainting them with the fundamentals of chemistry and physics as applied in catalytic, re-forming, and other recently developed processes employed in the manufacture of high antiknock fuels for high-speed, high-compresson engines; also the processes used in the production of toluene and other petroleum products used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber." Chem & Eng N

Booklist 40:280 Ap 15 '44

Chem & Eng N 22:384 Mr 10 '44 90w

PETTIBONE, ANITA. Johnny Painter. 314p $2.50 Farrar

44-9396

When Johnny Painter was fourteen he saw his great-hearted, idolized father killed by a bullet fired by a drunken fool. Thereafter Johnny was on his own but his memories of his father's teachings and his own good sense enabled him to find his way in life in the rough pioneer community that was Washington Territory in the 1860s.

Reviewed by E. D. Branch
Book Week p12 N 19 '44 500w

Booklist 41:170 F 1 '45

"Regional, rugged values for an adequate tale of no vast importance."

Kirkus 12:410 S 15 '44 130w

"Anita Pettibone's second historical novel redemonstrates her graceful ability to write about 'tough' men in a warm, humorous manner. This quality makes 'Johnny Painter'—both the character and the book—quite likable: the vein of subdued wit that runs in both lifts this novel somewhat above much picaresque fiction of its sort." D. T. Bazelon

+ N Y Times p24 N 19 '44 360w

"The author's neat humor lifts the story a cut or two above the standard pioneer novel."

+ New Yorker 20:91 N 18 '44 50w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p12 D 17 '44 150w

PEYRE, HENRI MAURICE. Writers and their critics; a study of misunderstanding. 340p $3 Cornell univ. press

801 Criticism 44-8953

"Henri Peyre, Sterling Professor of French in Yale University, has written a far-ranging indictment of reviewers great and small. He shows that in all ages and in all countries, criticism generally has failed to recognize greatness in contemporary writers, has tended rather to praise the wrong men for the wrong qualities." Book Week

"The most valuable portion of Prof. Peyre's book is found in the closing chapters, in which he challenges American scholars and reviewers alike, and pleads with them to find a common ground for a more responsible and alert criticism, more worthy of the richness and variety of our contemporary literature." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 O 15 '44 700w

"This is a very important book to read because someone may be saying something to us now that we ought to know about while there is still time for us to do something about it, and anyone who reads Mr. Peyre will have a better chance of hearing what is important to hear."

+ Commonweal 41:129 N 17 '44 650w

Nation 159:691 D 2 '44 1900w

"Whether critical judgments as such can really direct taste seems to me a moot question. But it would take a book longer and less sparkling than 'Writers and Their Critics'

PEYRE, H. M.—Continued
to discuss the problem of literature versus publishing. In the meanwhile Professor Peyre gives us a shrewd and sensible document and himself embodies his own theory that scholarship has a duty to the public to lead adventurously." H. M. Jones
+ N Y Times p32 N 12 '44 800w

PHELPS, EARLE BERNARD. Stream sanitation; with a chapter on stream microbiology, by James B. Lackey. 276p $3.25 Wiley
628.16 Water—Purification 44-47373

"Basic principles of stream sanitation and of remedial control measures, including public health aspects of the subject." Publisher's note

Booklist 41:148 Ja 15 '45

"This book is not for those who expect information in sugar-coated capsule form. But if the need and desire exist for serious study of stream pollution and purification knowledge, there is no substitute for this text. . . A concluding chapter, on stream microbiology, prepared by James B. Lackey, senior biologist of the U.S. Public Health Service, provides an important and logical supplement."
+ Eng N 134:144 Ja 11 '45 400w
Library J 69:1003 N 15 '44 30w

PHELPS, EDITH MAY, ed. University debaters' annual; constructive and rebuttal speeches delivered in debates of American colleges and universities during the college year, 1942-1943. (V29) 368p $2.25 Wilson, H.W.
374 Debates and debating (16-1455)

"As the preface states, this year's volume 'reflects the general preoccupation of the American public with the various aspects of our war economy and the shape of the peace to come.' It might also be added that there is a marked indication of the trend away from the formal debate of the past and in the direction of discussion and conference. Subjects considered are: Value of the college woman to society; Planned economy for the U. S. after the war; Universal draft of man- and woman-power; War marriage; Federal world government; Permanent federal union; Burton-Ball-Hatch resolution; Russian—U. S. Alliance." (Wis Lib Bul) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:161 Ja 1 '44
Wis Lib Bul 39:155 D '43

PHELPS, EDITH MAY, ed. University debaters' annual; constructive and rebuttal speeches delivered in debates of American colleges and universities during the college year, 1943-44. (V30) 342p $2.25 Wilson, H.W.
374 Debates and debating (16-1455)

Topics covered in this year's annual are: The accelerated college program; Control of conquered countries after the war; Reconstituting the League of Nations; Inter-American cooperation; International police force; Permanent federal price control; Permanent government economic controls; Lowering the voting age.

Booklist 41:150 Ja 15 '45
Wis Lib Bul 40:157 D '44

PHELPS, MARGARET. Chia and the lambs; with il. by Ann Eshner. 158p $2 Macrae Smith co.
44-3691

A story of a little Navaho girl in the days and months that followed her "nine-winters-old-day." Chia's secret ambition is to own a flock of lambs and to become a good weaver, and the story tells how she achieved her ambition.

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:128 N 17 '44 10w

"An appealing story." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p20 Ag 6 '44 160w

"Chia's story has beauty and is uncommonly easy to read. Even a little girl younger than the eight-year-olds to whom the book is offered is likely to listen with affection as it is read aloud." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 9 '44 250w

PHILBROOK, ELIZABETH. Far from Marlborough street; il. by Marjorie Torrey. 302p $2 Viking
44-3679

It was in 1793 that Nancy Lee Wadsworth took a two-hundred-mile journey, mostly by stagecoach, from Boston to Springfield and back. Nancy Lee was only ten, but brave as the proverbial lion, and when there was no one else to send to Springfield with the blue box which could save Uncle Jonathan, Nancy Lee went. Her adventure ended successfully, and Nancy had something to talk about for the rest of her life.

Book Week p5 Je 4 '44 320w
Booklist 40:307 My 1 '44

"A good story charmingly illustrated."
+ Cath World 160:283 D '44 50w

"As delightful a story for girls from nine to twelve as I have read for many a month." F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p8 Ap 24 '44 200w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:208 My '44 110w

"The characters are likeable without being trite; the plot is plausible, yet complicated enough to hold interest; the dialogue rings true; and the period atmosphere is skillfully handled. Nice job."
+ Kirkus 12:96 F 15 '44 100w

"Nancy is portrayed so convincingly that life and travel in stagecoach days will become real and alive for any reader. Delightful illustrations by Marjorie Torrey. For ten- to fourteen-year-old girls." Elizabeth Johnson
+ Library J 69:405 My 1 '44 90w

"Young readers will enjoy the mystery of the little fox, the tiny golden key and the blue teapot and the adventures to which they led—runaways, wild pursuits on horseback, even housebreaking. There were also less nerve-racking experiences—kindly innkeepers in bustling inns, fellow-travelers who took a friendly interest in Nancy Lee, and plenty to see and hear along the road." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p22 My 7 '44 210w

"First-rate reading, especially for little girls."
+ New Yorker 20:58 Jl 8 '44 60w

"This is a sweet, pretty story of travel in colonial days. . . The story 'picks up' after chapter five, when the journey begins, and grows better and better. The people in the coach are interesting and jolly. The meals served at the inns make one wonder." E. B. Spring
+ Sat R of Lit 27:23 Jl 8 '44 360w

"There's never a dull moment on this glorious adventure, but when you meet Nancy, you'll know why." M. E. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 100w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 23 '44 260w
Wis Lib Bul 40:113 Jl '44

PHILLIPS, HAROLD COOKE. Life's unanswered questions. 170p $1.50 Harper
252 Sermons 44-2042

Collection of essays and sermons by the pastor of the First Baptist church, Cleveland. In them he takes up sixteen fundamental questions of life and religion. Partial contents: Where is thy brother? Where is thy God? If the prophet had bid thee do some great thing, wouldest thou not have done it? Canst thou by searching find out God? What think ye of Christ? Art thou He that should come? Is not the life more than meat? What is your life? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar? Why seek ye the living among the dead?

"This vigorous and forthright preacher sees these perennial problems in the context of present conditions. His solutions are not new, but he shows how the old answers may be applied to the questions in their most modern forms."

+ Christian Century 61:339 Mr 15 '44 80w

"Clarity of statement, fidelity to the best in the Christian tradition, and a realistic appraisal of the present human situation are combined to make this book a timely contribution to current life and thought." R. W. Schloerb

+ J Religion 24:302 O '44 140w

"This is a volume of sermons by one of the outstanding preachers of liberal Protestantism. . . The answers given by Dr. Phillips will be supremely satisfying to those ready to accept the point of view of liberal Protestantism."

+ Kirkus 12:65 F 1 '44 110w

Wis Lib Bul 40:82 Je '44

PHILLIPS, HENRY ALBERT. Argentina; pivot of Pan-American peace. 241p $2.50 Hastings house

982 Argentina—Politics and government. Argentina—Economic conditions 44-5411

A survey of social, economic and political conditions in South America, and particularly in Argentina, written from a point of view sympathetic to the Latin American and adversely critical of much of the recent United States policy toward its neighbors to the south. Index.

"This is an angry book, extremely rambunctious and inchoate." Angel Flores

— Book Week p5 Je 25 '44 600w

Booklist 40:388 Jl 15 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Je '44

Foreign Affairs 23:17 O '44 20w

"Nothing extraordinarily new—but interesting amplification of other books."

Kirkus 12:273 Je 15 '44 150w

"Important book that every thinking American should read." Lena Ruppert

+ Library J 69:459 My 15 '44 140w

"Purporting to be a book about Argentina, it begins and ends there. In between it discusses Indians in Ecuador, Negroes in the Caribbean, good-willers, airlines, and how not to sell culture or nightshirts south of the Rio Grande. Its author loves exclamation points and eschews consistency. Yet, in spite of slapdash generalizations which often contradict one another, the book adds its bits of illumination to the great puzzle." Mildred Adams

— + N Y Times p12 Jl 23 '44 600w

"Written in brisk journalese, 'Argentina; Pivot of Pan-American Peace' is loosely organized and repetitive. It is impossible to read it, however, without realizing its author's deep and sympathetic concern with his subject. He has rendered a service in making comprehensible those mysterious barriers—racial, psychological, economic, and political—that separate us; barriers that must be known before they can be overcome." E. L. Tinker

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:39 Jl 22 '44 550w

"By no means comprehensive, and at points a bit superficial and sensational, this book, nevertheless, is worth reading for its frank presentation of the Argentine point of view and for its citation of defects, past and present, in our attitudes and relations toward that country." R. S. Scott

— + Springf'd Republican p8 Ag 16 '44 390w

Reviewed by Hubert Herring

Weekly Book Review p16 Ag 27 '44 500w

PICK, ROBERT. Terhoven file. 346p $2.75 Lippincott

44-7512

In 1934 a Viennese lawyer, a Jew, defended a German refugee in an extradition case. After the Nazis came to full power, they attempted to get possession of the lawyer's dossier as they believed it contained scandalous information concerning Hitler. The story tells of how these attempts to gain possession of the file and of the lawyer himself, affected the lives of others besides the central figure.

"A closely woven narrative full of suspense. But the suspense does not stem from the desire to know what the file contains—this is never fully disclosed and is immaterial to the story—nor does it come from the manhunt across Europe for Stefan Simon. It is skillfully created through the characters' reactions to fundamental problems; for the author's main concern is with his characters and the ideas they live by—or the ideals they forsake or acquire in the course of events." Emily Schossberger

+ Book Week p2 S 24 '44 450w

Booklist 41:89 N 15 '44

"A distinctive novel, thoughtfully conceived, skillfully constructed."

+ Kirkus 12:379 S 1 '44 210w

Reviewed by Thelma Brackett

Library J 69:651 Ag '44 70w

"The studiously, almost elaborately objective vein in which the story is revealed does not match the events or the depth of the emotions touched upon. But as a surgical operation in book form it is, however antiseptic, engrossing, detailed and complete." Kenneth Fearing

+ — N Y Times p4 S 24 '44 480w

"Given titular importance and spot-lighted through the early pages, the famous 'papers' dwindle in significance as the story progresses, with a resultant wandering of the reader's interest and a feeling on his part that a promise has not been fulfilled. Everything that is good in this book, and that is a lot, could have been in it without benefit of the Terhoven file. Without it the novel would have had a broader base and a more general validity, and without it the essential novel need hardly have been altered. . . So far as they are concerned, Stefan Simon might as well be any European Jew. Indeed, it would be better—that is, 'The Terhoven File,' under a different title, would be a better novel—if he were any European Jew. But, wishing aside, there is enough here for which to be grateful. Here is a novel of character that is rich in moral and intellectual insights." B. R. Redman

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:10 O 7 '44 1500w

Reviewed by H. J. Sloan

Springf'd Republican p4d N 26 '44 280w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p18 S 24 '44 200w

PICTORIAL history of the second World war; a photographic record of all theaters of action chronologically arr. [by Al E. Davies] v 1-2 maps $5.96; de luxe ed $7.96 Wise

940.5497 World war, 1939—Pictorial works (44-6198)

"Four years of war, from September 3, 1939, the date that England entered World War II to September 2, 1943, are covered in these two volumes which consist almost entirely of photographs. . . The material for each year is grouped separately and there is a concise two-page summary for the events of each preceding the photographs and the few pictorial relief maps. At the top of most pages is the date and a catchword title indicating the subject of the picture or pictures on the page. Most pages carry a four- to six-line running account of the war and an explanation of the pictures. In the second volume there is a tendency toward more text which sometimes runs up to a column on a single page. . . All material is arranged chronologically on a day-by-day basis rather than a longer period of time, so one finds the action on the various fronts on consecutive pages." Subscription Bks Bul

"The publishers have done much to eliminate gruesomeness but the volumes inevitably include considerable evidence that war is not a pleasant business."

Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 13 '45 70w

PICTORIAL history—Continued

"While some of the photographs are clear, others are indistinct, and on the whole they are only fair. . . There is no index. The paper is good but the binding is only fair. Since the pictures often cover two facing pages it will be impossible to rebind these volumes. The material in this set will be inadequate for most library use and probably of only passing interest to the individual. It is not recommended."

— Subscription Bks Bul 15:51 O '44 340w

PIERCE, MRS EDITH LOVEJOY. In this our day; poems. 71p $1.50 Harper

811 44-8781

"That many of these poems have appeared in such magazines as Christian Century, The Churchman, and Fellowship, as well as in the Saturday Review of Literature, and Poetry, a magazine of verse, is an indication of their character and quality. There is a strong religious note in many, and a notable selection on themes of war and peace." Wis Lib Bul

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p6 D 24 '44 270w

"Mrs. Pierce's poems have been published so widely that it takes a second thought to confirm the announcement that this is her first volume. It preserves in attractive form, many poems which deserve to escape the swift oblivion that overtakes verse published in periodicals."

+ Christian Century 61:1291 N 8 '44 80w

"There is real poetry and real religion in this first volume of Mrs. Pierce's poems. Those who have appreciated the sensitive and delicate beauty of her contributions to various of the poetry reviews and religious magazines will further value those qualities as they again appear, linked to a realistic interpretation of today's problems. There is exquisite union of mystic beauty with practical truth."

+ Kirkus 12:500 N 1 '44 130w

Wis Lib Bul 40:158 D '44

PIERCE, ROBINSON. It was not my own idea; with an introd. by Harvey N. Davis. 128p $1.50 Am. foundation for the blind

362.4 Blindness 44-8635

The author has been blind for many years. In this small book of reminiscences he describes his readjustments to life after he became blind, his methods of living as independently as possible, and some of the experiences, both grave and gay, which he encountered in his efforts to make a living.

"His description of how he mastered the [chicken raising] business, adapted himself to its various requirements making a success of it and doing much of the work with his own hands or fingers, is really a revelation of good humor and Yankee ingenuity." M. E. Tracy

+ Sat R of Lit 27:27 O 28 '44 360w

"Something should be said of Mr. Pierce's style, which is easy and colloquial, yet terse, sinewy, and without an ounce of padding. And something should be said of his philosophy. For there is wisdom as well as sound sense and entertainment of an unusual sort in this little book. He who spends an evening with it will be well rewarded." M. B. Sayles

+ Survey 81:30 Ja '45 400w

"Being blind was not my own idea, says Mr. Pierce in one of the wisest and blithest books to come from the other side of darkness. . . There are many now with his handicap, and there will be many more; his book is an unsentimental guide to getting the most out of life with the first-hand information that checks the initial rush of despair when the light goes out for good."

+ Weekly Book Review p10 S 3 '44 200w

PIHL, GUNNAR THORSTENSSON. Germany: the last phase; tr. from the Swedish by G. Howard Smith. 323p $3 Knopf

943.086 World war, 1939—Germany 44-4904

The author is a Swedish journalist who was stationed in Berlin from 1938 to 1943. This book contains his observations of life in Germany under war conditions. The material is not chronologically arranged, but is rather a series of chapters on various aspects, impressionistically set forth.

Reviewed by B. E. Nelson
Ann Am Acad 237:208 Ja '45 550w

"My chief criticism of the book is that it is badly organized, which is not surprising with anything so hastily written. It tries to be kaleidoscopic but is, in spots, merely incoherent. But even so, 'Germany: The Last Phase' sheds a great deal of new light on the cornered beast whose doom, according to Pihl, is ineluctable and impending." Joachim Joesten

— + Book Week p2 Jl 9 '44 500w

Booklist 40:375 Jl 1 '44

"Though great things have happened since the author left Berlin, most of his reasoning must still be regarded as valid. It is only now, in the wake of the Normandy battle and the tremendous Russian sweep westward, that some of the German generals seem to be reconsidering their attitude. But whether an overthrow of Naziism by the militarists would not inaugurate another regime of 'too much muscle and too little mind' is a question which Mr. Pihl dodges in his otherwise highly informative and brilliantly written book." E. S. P.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 31 '44 550w

"The style of the writing is neither racy nor inspired, but it is a good solid recitation of facts and observations."

+ Current Hist 7:132 Ag '44 150w

Foreign Affairs 23:11 O '44 30w

Kirkus 12:185 Ap 15 '44 230w

"Does not quite measure up to very best of its kind, but important because it contains recent information not easily found elsewhere." F. E. Hirsch

+ — Library J 69:554 Je 15 '44 140w

"Mr. Pihl's is the second report by a Swedish newspaperman on wartime Germany. In contrast to Arvid Fredborg's 'Behind the Steel Wall,' which was stuffy and pompous, Pihl's account is not only better written, but also more informative. Pihl certainly had his ear closer to the ground than his colleague. His wit, satire and facetiousness are bitterly critical. He is less concerned than Fredborg with the endless apologies and harangues of Nazi officialdom, and more with the wretchedness of life among the common people. It is to be hoped that Fredborg's overpublicized report has not exhausted the market for 'inside Germany' books, of which Pihl's is one of the best." H. H. F. Eulau

+ New Repub 111:52 Jl 10 '44 260w

"Mr. Pihl frankly describes his method as impressionistic, but many of the impressions are interesting. . . The book, [however], is awesomely padded. In places the overwriting is so great that the reader begins to question the authenticity of all facts, as when many pages are devoted to a reconstruction of Hitler's thoughts, with direct quotations, as in historical novels." Byron Dexter

— + N Y Times p4 Je 25 '44 1000w

"Mr. Pihl tries to turn the same trick William Shirer and Howard K. Smith did in, respectively, 'Berlin Diary' and 'Last Train From Berlin.' He doesn't come anywhere near doing so, however, largely because he hasn't the faintest notion of how to write."

— New Yorker 20:67 Jl 1 '44 180w

Reviewed by Alzada Comstock
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 30 '44 750w

"In its essentials the picture . . . is much the same as that we have already had from Howard K. Smith, Arvid Fredborg and other similar reporters. Even some of the same anecdotes turn up again. But the whole is presented with a kind of amused irony, a liveliness of style, a certain shrewdness of observation and a considerable factual background that make it, perhaps, the most vivid as well as the most recent of the series." Walter Millis

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Je 25 '44 1200w

PINK, LOUIS HEATON. Freedom from fear; the interrelation of domestic and international programs; foreword by Owen D. Young. 254p $2.50 Harper

331.2544 Insurance, Social. International co-operation 44-4419

"It was to be expected that an expert on insurance and hospitalization should devote the greater part of his book to post-war problems from the standpoint of the citizen's fear—of accident, illness, unemployment, old age, poverty. With a broad conception of social security it is not surprising to find Mr. Pink urging measures looking to full employment after this war as well as for attractive housing and community medical care. In his . . . discussion, he examines all types of insurance, individual and group, public and private, voluntary and compulsory, in the light of the proposals of Sir William Beveridge for Britain, and of the National Resources Planning Board for the United States." (Weekly Book Review) Bibliography. Index.

"This is a timely volume of practical interest to the general public. The style is fluent and readable and for the political scientist Part II is of distinct value as pointing the way to a future broad policy of economic stabilization and security." E. A. Weber

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1253 D '44 370w

"In this book Mr. Pink makes a deeply thoughtful presentation of international ideals, worthy to be read and read again." R. W. Kelso

+ Ann Am Acad 235:166 S '44 400w

Kirkus 12:132 Mr 15 '44 130w

"While the book probably covers too many important problems in limited space and at times is unduly discursive, it is refreshingly direct and positive in approach to a wide range of subjects and will doubtless stimulate much worthwhile discussion." G. E. Bigge

+ — Management R 33:279 Ag '44 700w

Reviewed by W. H. Chamberlin

N Y Times p25 S 17 '44 500w

Reviewed by Alfred Manes

Social Forces 23:112 O '44 550w

Reviewed by H. W. Cross

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 17 '44 440w

Reviewed by Harvey Lebrun

Survey G 33:468 N '44 600w

Reviewed by Frances Witherspoon

Weekly Book Review p12 Je 25 '44 550w

PINKERTON, KATHRENE SUTHERLAND (GEDNEY) (MRS R. E. PINKERTON). Farther north; il. by Harvé Stein. 181p $2 Harcourt

44-2953

Continues the story of Ann and Philip Jackman, who live with their parents on a fur farm in the Canadian fur country. On a month's camping trip, the young Jackmans, some city friends, and an older man come in contact with claim-jumpers, and one of their number is injured. The young people show their courage or lack of it in this crisis. For older boys and girls.

Book Week p11 Ap 16 '44 140w

Booklist 40:272 Ap 1 '44

"First-rate story." F. C. Darling

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 27 '44 110w

"Mrs. Pinkerton writes more convincingly of the woods and of canoes and campfires than she does of people, but if none of her characters are memorable in themselves, there is a fine outdoor atmosphere in the book and a brisk series of happenings that will interest and satisfy readers from 10 to 14." A. T. Eaton

+ — N Y Times p27 Mr 19 '44 220w

"The story has natural suspense, not produced only by ingenious plot-building, for it has to do with real people and the scene is real to the last portage and the ultimate caribou. Its wilderness achievements are such as are judged by results rather than by form." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 19 '44 330w

Wis Lib Bul 40:73 My '44

PISSARRO, CAMILLE JACOB. Letters to his son Lucien; ed. with the assistance of Lucien Pissarro by John Rewald [tr. by Lionel Abel]. 367p il pl $6.50 Pantheon bks. [35s Paul, K]

B or 92 Artists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-1956

"A posthumously published collection of letters . . . written during the last twenty years of his life (from 1883 to 1903) by West Indian born Camille Pissarro, distinguished and underestimated French Impressionist leader. . . These letters record twenty years of poverty, suffering, and patience, twenty years of 'seeking the rare bird whose plumage is resplendent with all the colors of the rainbow, whose song is musical and pure; perfection. . . .' " Atlantic

---

"There are three very great published collections of notes, letters, or journals by painters: da Vinci's notebooks; Delacroix's journal; van Gogh's letters to his brother Theo. Now there is this Pissarro collection. Pissarro's letters bear the same relation to van Gogh's—a junior contemporary—as do their paintings. Pissarro's canvases are experimental, honest, carefully drawn, and almost always beautifully colored. Van Gogh's paintings are violent, blistering with color, soul-scorching, intensely original, and so are his letters. Both collections are important for an understanding of modern painting and of French culture during the 1880's and 1890's." Leo Lerman

+ Atlantic 173:131 Ap '44 420w

Book Week p8 F 6 '44 400w

"A delightful mixture of news, comment, affection, gossip, and advice." E. N.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 9 '44 400w

"These letters form one of the most fertile of all sources of insights into the nature and state of mind of nineteenth-century French painting—not to mention their richness in aperçus of painting in general." Clement Greenberg

+ Nation 158:740 Je 24 '44 1450w

"Pissarro's stature becomes steadily more impressive: except for Cézanne, upon whom his influence was capital, he was the best designer among the Impressionists. This book of his letters is of the first importance to everyone interested in nineteenth century painting." Raymond Mortimer

+ New Statesman & Nation 28:59 Jl 22 '44 1900w

Reviewed by Christopher Lazare

N Y Times p7 O 29 '44 1000w

"This is an excellent piece of book-making by Mr. Rewald, the editor; not only has he skilfully edited the elder Pissarro's letters . . . eliminating the superfluous and redundant . . . but he has also judiciously selected the large number of ninety illustrations with a view to illuminating the text. . . In everything Pissarro writes we hear the voice of a sound and honest artist who knows exactly what he is about, and has nothing of the trickster, charlatan or publicist in his nature. He is therefore the soundest possible reading for the young." W. J. Turner

+ Spec 173:153 Ag 18 '44 850w

Times [London] Lit Sup p354 Jl 22 '44 2700w

PITKIN, WALTER BOUGHTON. On my own. 526p $3.50 Scribner

B or 92 44-6648

Autobiography of the author of Life Begins at Forty. He writes "about his pictorial youthful memories, the books he read, his experiments with drawing, his passion for large amounts of food, his ears (and, of course, his feet), how he learned to teach, the wild adventures of the first year of the School of

PITKIN, W. B.—Continued
Journalism, his heroic farming operations, how he came to write 'Life Begins at Forty,' his pioneering in audible motion pictures, his discovery of the Japanese menace, and so on." (N Y Times)

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Ag 13 '44 450w
Booklist 41:20 S '44
Christian Science Monitor p15 Ja 20 '45 150w

"A human document that makes excellent reading."
+ Kirkus 12:242 Je 1 '44 250w

"Good Americana and entertaining reading." A. R. Eaton
+ Library J 69:649 Ag '44 80w

"Mr. Pitkin writes interestingly, though never with glamour. . . He calls himself a 'social misfit' and says Socrates was one, too. He has a sardonic humor, operated by a keen mind. Some of the mean things he says about the human race and its units have truth in them. There are flashes of light in his pages. But no sweetness." R. L. Duffus
N Y Times p6 Ag 13 '44 1100w

"It is sometimes usual to regard an American autobiography as reflecting the times of the subject, but it is not possible in this case. 'On My Own' has a great deal to do with America but the times that are reflected are Pitkin's times, the theories are Pitkin's theories, and the people are as Pitkin saw them, not as they saw themselves. For an American autobiography there is an astonishing lack of native humor, and there is no suggestion of sex—excepting a dissertation on how Pitkin believes others should look at sex. In other words, the book is as unorthodox an autobiography as Pitkin is an American, and the result is an experience in reading." R. F. H.
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 6 '44 900w

"One of Mr. Pitkin's brighter students could have taken this mass of stuff, trimmed it down to about one-third of its present length, rephrased some of his passages, and possibly, just possibly, have produced a nice, readable book." Stanley Walker
Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 20 '44 500w
Wis Lib Bul 40:127 O '44

PITTENGER, WILLIAM NORMAN. Christian way in a modern world. 194p $2.50 Cloister press, Louisville
230 Christianity 44-3805

"Dr. Pittenger is an able exponent of Christian doctrines from the point of view of an Episcopalian with pronounced views but with broad sympathies. His book might accurately have been entitled, 'An Outline of Christian Theology for Laymen.' The first part of the actual title is explained on the ground that Christianity is a way of believing, a way of adoring and a way of living. Attention is here directed to the way of believing with little reference to what is commonly suggested by 'Christianity as a way of life.' The latter half of the title has no great relevance, for the author deals with what he considers the timeless truths of the faith—incarnation, atonement, the trinity, the catholic church and the Bible, which 'is the church's book and can only be understood properly from within the experience of the church'—and does not go far out of his way either to make concessions to the modern mind or to correct its characteristic errors." (Christian Century) Bibliography. Index.

Christian Century 61:464 Ap 12 '44 380w

"The author is a humble theologian. He doesn't claim to know everything or to have solved everything, or that everyone who doesn't see eye to eye with him is lost. His way is the faith as it has been received via creeds, sacraments, and church interpreted after the Anglo-Catholic manner. But there is no fulmination about him. His spirit is Christian as well as his words. His style is ingratiating, simple, lightened by illustration and literary allusion. For all who find they can take their religion best in the capsules of orthodoxy, this little manual is a charming guide and apologia. Mr. Pittenger is thoroughly aware not only of the Christian way but of the modern world." S. L. Riddle
+ Churchman 158:19 My 1 '44 180w

PLEUNE, PETER HENRY. Some to be pastors. 191p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury
250 Pastoral work 43-16171

"As the minister of a church and also a professor of pastoral theology in Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Dr. Pleune has had opportunity to test as well as to formulate the advice he offers to young preachers concerning the performance of their parish duties. In this sensible little volume he discusses helpfully the whole range of the minister's functions outside of the pulpit." Christian Century

---

+ Christian Century 60:1043 S 15 '43 50w

"This is a book about many things, and rightly so because the pastor has to do with many things. It is a very wise, human document, and I think it is largely biographical, a fact which most contributes to its interest." W. R. McNutt
+ Crozer Q 21:185 Ap '44 300w

PLUM, HARRY GRANT. Restoration puritanism; a study of the growth of English liberty. 129p $2.50 Univ. of N.C. press [15s 6d Oxford]
274.2 Puritans. Great Britain—Church history. Great Britain—Politics and government 43-18437

Monograph on Puritanism as it relates to the constructive aspects of English history, especially during the years 1660 to 1715. Bibliography. Index.

"It is perhaps true, as the author would agree with another specialist in this period, J. W. Brady in his England Before and After Wesley, that the principal content of the modern English-speaking heritage is more that of a spiritual and cultural than of a political or economic achievement, and that the Evangelical Revival, 'which was the heir of Puritanism,' has had much to do with the sustaining of free institutions in that world. These facts bear emphasis in present days. It is to be regretted that they have not been marshalled, in this readable, documented, and otherwise scholarly study, with a somewhat more incisive synthesis." W. E. Sandelius
+ — Am Pol Sci R 38:820 Ag '44 300w

"Dr. Plum's book reflects careful study of the copious source material, both primary and secondary, much of which he lists in an extensive bibliography."
Christian Century 61:113 Ja 26 '44 300w

Reviewed by William Haller
Pol Sci Q 59:319 Je '44 300w

PLUMMER, FRED LEROY. Fundamentals of indeterminate structures. 231p il $4 Pitman
624.17 Structures, Theory of 44-4796

"The first three chapters of this book treat the basic problems in the analysis of statically indeterminate structures. The remainder discusses the basic and special methods of analysis now in general use. Typical chapter titles in the latter part are: Fixed-and-conjugate point method; Slope-deflection method; Moment-distribution method; Model analysis. Although the author makes some suggestions as to the book's use in engineering school courses, its main purpose is to acquaint structural engineers with the various analysis methods. The author is Chief Research Engineer of the Hammond Iron Works." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Eng N 133:111 D 14 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:606 Jl '44 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:32 Ap '44

PLUMMER, MARY ELIZABETH (MRS DAVIDSON TAYLOR). Collected works of Mrs Peter Willoughby. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 195p $2 Little

44-1798

The excursions, imaginings, and foibles, of a charming lady who lived in Sutton Place, New York. Mrs Willoughby imagined herself as a writer and planned extensive works which never materialized. When writing failed her she took up other things—learning Portuguese for instance. But somehow everything petered out except the fact that she was a good wife, mother and housewife.

Reviewed by J. N. North
Book Week p8 My 7 '44 230w

Booklist 40:271 Ap 1 '44

Bookmark 5:20 My '44

"This is a refreshing book, high-lighted by humor, candor, and a friendly sympathy for common human foibles."
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 11 '44 110w

"Mrs. Willoughby effects gay and genuine entertainment for lighter moments."
+ Kirkus 11:555 D 15 '43 150w

Reviewed by Isabelle Mallet
N Y Times p6 F 27 '44 600w

"Miss Plummer writes competently, but her sketches of Mrs. Willoughby on a bicycle colliding with a bishop, writing a diary for the benefit of posterity, dealing with a mother-in-law, learning Portuguese, and so on, never succeed in being quite so amusing as the author obviously intends them to be."
New Yorker 20:87 F 26 '44 70w

"It is a great deal more fun to read the history of Mrs. Willoughby than to have a Mrs. Willoughby in your family, but not many families escape having some one resembling her. Mary Elizabeth Plummer has touched up the portrait entertainingly, and you chuckle over her foibles, her brainstorms and her chronic inability to think or act like an adult, but Mrs. Willoughby would fray the nerves of a saint who had to spend much time under the same roof with her." Lisle Bell
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 F 27 '44 350w

Wis Lib Bul 40:86 Je '44

"Urban, thoroughly American, and quietly humorous." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 33:xiv spring '44 90w

PLUMPE, JOSEPH CONRAD. Mater ecclesia; an inquiry into the concept of the church as mother in early Christianity. 149p il pa $2 Catholic univ. of Am.

270.1 Church history—Primitive and early church. Christianity A44-1409

"The author examines the background and the extent of the early Christian practice of calling the Church 'Mother.' He concludes that it must have originated somewhere in Asia Minor, perhaps under the influence of the Eastern cults of the Great Mothers. The famous Epistola ecclesiarum Viennensis et Lugdunensis, addressed by Christians of Eastern origin to fellow-Christians and blood-relatives in Phrygia concerning the martyrs who died in 177 in the amphitheater at Lyons, 'contains the earliest preserved instances of "Mother" as a direct appellative for the Church.'" J Religion

"This is a competent investigation with some serious flaws. When Mr. Plumpe traces the concept of 'Mother Church' from its 'early anticipations' through Tertullian, Cyprian, Clement, Origen down to Methodius, he is on firm ground and the result is a real, if modest, contribution to the history of the early church. His proofs that the concept probably originated in the Near East and received its fullest expression in North Africa, especially in the writings of Cyprian, are likewise convincing. . . The opening chapter, 'Scriptural Prototypes and Contemporary Pagan-gnostic Analogies,' is weak. . . My second criticism is that his treatment of pagan analogies is superficial, when it is not contemptuous. If he would be thought a true scholar, he must refrain from injecting his own religious bias into the study of comparative religion." M. L. W. Laistner
+ — Am Hist R 49:778 Jl '44 240w

Reviewed by W. M. Green
Class Philol 40:53 Ja '45 700w

"This scholarly treatise is of great interest. It is based on solid research and it is very well written." Wilhelm Pauck
+ J Religion 24:303 O '44 300w

PODOLSKY, EDWARD. Stop worrying and get well. rev ed 124p $2 Ackerman

131.337 Worry. Mind and body. Mental hygiene SG44-88

"The author who has written widely on medical subjects for the general reader, presents here 'new methods and discoveries' which may well be of assistance in creating a healthy mental approach to physical ills." (Springf'd Republican) First edition published 1940 under title: Worry and disease

Reviewed by Peter Quinn
Book Week p2 Ap 16 '44 500w

"A constructive anti-worry program is suggested in a sensible practical manner in this helpful little volume."
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 26 '44 80w

PODOLSKY, EDWARD. War on cancer. 179p il $1.75 Reinhold

616.994 Cancer 43-9706

"Subjects discussed are the appearance of cancer in history, the nature of cancer, how its presence is detected by the physician, methods of attacking it, symptoms which merit investigation because of their probable relationship to cancer, and the findings of many cancer investigations." (J Home Econ) The author is a doctor, now a captain in the United States army. Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p6 Ap 23 '44 50w

"The layman, to whom this book is addressed, will find in it much valuable information. . . Organizations which have as their purpose the prevention of cancer could with profit make use of this book in their educational work." Jennie Williams
+ J Home Econ 36:107 F '44 150w

"An excellently presented popular account of the facts. During the last decade there have been many important advances in the study and treatment of cancer. Dr. Podolsky describes a good number of those advances and interprets them for the general reader." M. F. A. M.
+ N Y Times p23 Jl 18 '43 340w

POEMS from the desert, by members of the Eighth army; with a foreword by Sir Bernard Montgomery. 51p $1.75 Harper [6s Harrap]

821.08 World war, 1939—Poetry. English poetry—Collections 44-6851

"These poems, with one exception, were considered to be the best entries received in a poetry competition organized by [British] Eighth Army's Education Officer. The exception, written on a scrap of paper, fluttered into the hands of a soldier sheltering in a slit trench during the battle of El Agheila. It remains anonymous, is entitled 'A Soldier—His Prayer,' and is in its stark simplicity and devoutness the most impressive poem in the collection." Times [London] Lit Sup

Book Week p14 N 19 '44 230w

"The poems have a topical if somewhat sentimental appeal, even though few of them show any notable literary achievement." Wilfrid Gibson
Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 2 '44 100w

"The whole book rings true. People who make war—or who are forced to make war—make poetry. They seldom make 'war poetry.' Leave that to the civilians." Robert Hillyer
+ N Y Times p29 D 10 '44 240w

POEMS from the desert—Continued

"Interesting and moving human material, with a certain documentary value."

+ New Yorker 20:79 S 30 '44 50w

Times [London] Lit Sup p323 Jl 1 '44 180w

POHL, FREDERICK J. Amerigo Vespucci, pilot major. 249p il maps $3 Columbia univ. press

B or 92 Vespucci, Amerigo

"Technical study of the explorations of Vespucci related definitely to his development of the art of navigation, rather than to his life or the ultimate value of his discoveries. Voyages of Columbus and Vespucci compared; naming of America explained. Vespucci was first to place determination of longitude on a scientific basis. Author clears up misunderstandings and ignorance regarding life and voyages of Vespucci. This study is based upon a repudiation of the Mundus Novus and the Four Voyages (so-called Soderini Letter) and an acceptance of only two voyages described in the genuine letters from Seville, Cape Verde and Lisbon. Maps, plans, drawings, illustrations, bibliography, index." Library J

Reviewed by L. R. Etzkorn
Library J 68:1005 D 1 '43 140w

"Mr. Pohl has written a welcome and a useful book representing the new interpretation. Amerigo Vespucci, long classed among the great impostors of history, has again emerged as a colorful and imaginative explorer, a skillful navigator, a leader among those who have expanded man's knowledge of the earth. For these things, if for nothing else, he well deserves this readable and instructive biography." L. W. Labaree

+ N Y Times p14 Ja 14 '45 900w

"For any one interested in early exploration and geography, this biography will prove stimulating reading. For the great number who have been puzzled concerning the controversy surrounding Amerigo Vespucci and Christopher Columbus, it will be enlightening as well. Written in a lively manner, it brands the letters 'Mundus Novus' and 'The Four Voyages' as forgeries and accepts the two letters of Vespucci to his patron Lorenzo as the valid account of his voyages."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 16:4 Ja '45 420w

"To its credit is the fact that this book assembles what must be all available information concerning Vespucci, a well familied Florentine businessman who became interested in geography and turned explorer at the age of 45. There are some well-chosen illustrations and some useful reference data in the appendix. . . In spite of its good points, the book is too long for what it has to say, too much a paean of a man whose reputation is neither important nor bad enough to require such treatment." Donald Derby

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 7 '45 360w

"A careful, deliberate, warmly worshipful book that never quite makes the man for whom America was named a living human being, but does convincingly show him as one of the world's great pioneers."

+ Time 45:62 Ja 1 '45 650w

Reviewed by B. D. Wolfe
Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 28 '45 1200w

POLANYI, KARL. Great transformation. 305p $3 Farrar

330.9 Economic conditions. Social conditions. Economics—History 44-2865

"Professor MacIver declared in his foreword to this book that it sheds 'new illumination on the processes and revolutions of a whole age of unexampled change.' Certainly Mr. Polanyi has reinterpreted world history during the last hundred and fifty years according to conceptions which are new. The subject is the rise and fall of economic liberalism. Mr. Polanyi's main thesis is that it meant the subordination of social welfare to mechanistic economic processes, and that its restoration is both impossible and undesirable." Weekly Book Review

"The brilliance of treatment should not blind us to several debatable points raised by Polanyi. Surely the role of the market economy was not so absolute as he would lead us to believe. Surely Polanyi exaggerates when he claims that 'nations and peoples were mere puppets in a show utterly beyond their control.' . . Buell's International Relations (1929) appears to the reviewer as no authority on the history of the Baghdad Railway, while J. B. Wolf's The Diplomatic History of the Bagdad Railroad (1936) is not even mentioned. Thus the work has numerous flaws of structure, characterization, and treatment, if one wants to be captious. Nevertheless, it remains quite an able, brilliant, but one-sided argument of an enthusiastic and intensely convincing advocate of the glaring need to eliminate from our thinking those numerous liberalistic and idealistic absurdities which have been evils to themselves and to our modern age." J. S. Roucek

+ — Ann Am Acad 233:241 My '44 550w

Reviewed by Willard Shelton
Book Week p6 My 7 '44 600w

Canadian Forum 24:91 Jl '44 550w

Christian Science Monitor p11 Je 24 '44 310w

Current Hist 6:434 My '44 600w

"A weighty treatise, whose importance and merits can be judged adequately only by students, experts and authorities in the fields of economics, social, political and international history, in that it is an exhaustive study of the collapse of the 19th century civilization whose end has come in our time. . . Difficult reading which won't reach a general market."

Kirkus 12:38 Ja 15 '44 160w

Reviewed by Walter Hausdorfer
Library J 69:262 Mr 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison
Nation 158:480 Ap 22 '44 1150w

"The book is full of keen and original insights into nearly all the problems of the evolution of social institutions. It is to be hoped that this book will be carefully read and pondered not only by professional social scientists but by the educated laity as well. Its strongest point is not the originality of its thesis, but the scholarly, sober and documented way in which it is presented." J. F. Brown

+ — New Repub 110:540 Ap 17 '44 1100w

"In this fine comprehensive work Mr. Polanyi throws much light on the economic and political origins of our times; though his attack on economic liberalism and its theoretical foundations is not new, his approach will not fail to interest and to stimulate the student of social history and of economics." Hans Kohn

+ N Y Times p24 My 14 '44 1050w

"Dr. Polanyi writes in the accepted tradition of European scholarship, which means that his book is tough going at times, but readers who have the equipment and patience to follow him will find that he casts considerable illumination on some of the technical processes and social revolutions involved in the history of our time."

+ — New Yorker 20:84 Ap 15 '44 160w

Reviewed by A. P. Usher
Pol Sci Q 59:630 D '44 700w

"Karl Polanyi, an eminent Austrian emigre-philosopher, has rewritten the history of the last 150 years in order to explain the collapse of nineteenth century civilization. In glowing prose, he has demonstrated a gift for dramatic expression and dynamic antithesis, and has given us a book that will constitute one of the signs along the road to that 'new society' that can yet be created if we have the will and the capacity to think and to act in accordance with the fine compulsives of this 'last great chance' of the democracies of the world." C. N. Sisson

+ Social Studies 35:280 O '44 800w

Reviewed by Toni Stolper
Survey G 33:364 Ag '44 600w

Reviewed by H. B. Parkes
Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 16 '44 500w

POLING, DANIEL ALFRED. Your daddy did not die. 148p $2 Greenberg

B or 92 Poling, Clark Vandersall 44-8320

In February 1943 the transport Dorchester was sunk in the North Atlantic and among those lost was Clark Poling, one of four chaplains with the troops. When Clark Poling's father, the Reverend Daniel Poling, heard the news he wrote a letter to his little grandson. That letter, expanded, is contained in this book. It tells Corky of his father's family, his childhood, and how he came to enter the ministry.

Reviewed by Eddie Doherty
Book Week p6 S 24 '44 310w

"The book will, of course, become increasingly dear to Clark Junior as he grows older. To many young people, and especially to fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers of servicemen who do not return, it will doubtless be a lasting comfort and inspiration."
+ Christian Science Monitor p4 Ja 27 '45 300w

"For all the ministerial background, Dr. Poling's book has no cloistered flavor. On the contrary it is fervidly and bluffly human. The author sincerely and frankly attempts to convey a message of faith and hope and comfort. Some readers will doubtless find his book definitely on the sentimental side. And this reviewer is going to feel pretty sorry for young Corky if when he grows up he wants to be a plumber or a policeman." Beatrice Sherman
N Y Times p30 N 12 '44 280w

Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 27 '44 150w

POLLOCK, MRS KATHERINE (GANTZ). Sky ride; il. by Ruth Wood. 151p $1.75 Scribner

44-6542

Tells how two small boys make the acquaintance of the head of a flying field, where student aviators are trained. On a visit to the field, the boys are so helpful and observant that they are allowed to come often, and even to "hold the stick" and really fly.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p10 S 24 '44 250w

Booklist 41:95 N 15 '44

Cath World 160:282 D '44 10w

"The technical features have the approval of aviation experts and the story itself is already endorsed by children." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:379 S '44 90w

Kirkus 12:197 Ap 15 '44 130w

"The boys in Sky Ride will be the envy of all air-minded youths, as they follow Art and George out to the air field where they are finally allowed to take lessons in flying." P. D. Edie
+ Library J 69:866 O 15 '44 40w

"Children want modern family life and adventure, and the book is readable. Approved. For boys and girls ten to twelve years of age." B. W. Bell
+ Library J 69:1104 D 15 '44 70w

"Mrs. Pollock has accomplished the somewhat difficult feat of combining information with a story that holds the interest. But her determined effort to make the action swift and the dialogue brisk and colloquial conveys a sense of strain, while her boy heroes and their mother give the impression of doing everything, from setting a table to delivering papers, on the run." A. T. Eaton
+ — N Y Times p25 Ag 20 '44 180w

Sat R of Lit 27:33 N 11 '44 50w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 24 '44 60w

"To most small boys well under military age, this book will be like a dream come true. . . No, it's not a thriller: it's a story of life with real thrills in it. . . The boys are alive: you see in them the intense determination of their time of life and the humor they don't see in themselves. Meanwhile a ten-year-old reader —younger if a plane fancier—gets direct information as if on the spot." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Je 25 '44 350w

POMUS, M. I. Buriat Mongolia; a brief survey of political, economic and social progress; abr. and tr. from the Russian work, Buriat Mongolskaia A.S.S.R. by Rose Maurer and Olga Lang; with an introd. on recent developments by Rose Maurer [mim]. 76p pa $1 Inst. of Pacific relations

915.7 Buriat Mongolia 44-6468

"This is an abridged translation of a book which seems to have been published in 1937, and the translators provide an introduction and notes which bring it up to the summer of 1943. . . The chapter headings will give an idea of the topics covered: 'Geographic position and topography,' 'History of Buriat Mongolia' (very brief), 'Social reconstruction of the national economy,' 'The future economic development of Buriat Mongolia,' 'The cultural revolution in Buriat Mongolia,' and 'Health protection.'" Am Soc R

"It is by far the best account of Buriat Mongolia in English, the only other material having come to the notice of the reviewer being brief pamphlets or passing mention in other books."
+ Am Soc R 9:343 Je '44 130w

Reviewed by W. M. Mandel
Pacific Affairs 17:253 Je '44 210w

POPE, EDITH. Colcorton. 330p $2.75 Scribner

44-2813

The scene of this novel is present day Florida of the jungle coastal region near St Augustine. The theme is miscegenation and how an ancient sin brings punishment to the innocent third and fourth generations. The chief character is Abby Clanghearne, granddaughter of a slave trader of pre-Civil war days, who had built the luxurious mansion, Colcorton, for his wife, "a king's daughter."

"The undercurrent of passion and violent events could easily have become melodrama in less skilful hands, but Miss Pope has a conscience. She cuts sentiment to the bone; she draws her characters with great consistency; she makes her conversations and happenings realistic. And in the end she leaves us with nothing solved, as is the way in life." J. N. North
+ Book Week p4 Mr 26 '44 450w

Booklist 40:271 Ap 1 '44

Bookmark 5:20 My '44

"A skillful and absorbing handling of a ticklish subject."
+ Kirkus 12:24 Ja 15 '44 120w

"Mrs. Pope maintains throughout the book a humane and sympathetic attitude toward all the characters, white and 'passing white.' She writes of them with skill, often with humor and gentleness, and there is much in the book that persuades one that she has a fine talent for fiction. But unfortunately, she has chosen a theme for which she is not intellectually and emotionally prepared." Lillian Smith
— + New Repub 110:853 Je 26 '44 800w

"Edith Pope's heroine Abby is one of the most completely satisfying characters this reviewer has met in a month of Sundays. 'Colcorton'—which follows Abby Claghearne's battle with her nature, her conscience, and her God —is a book that would shine brightly in any publisher's spring. With it, another Floridian novelist quietly but definitely enters the ranks of the majors." William Du Bois
+ N Y Times p3 Mr 26 '44 1100w

"Using ingredients which have been the undoing of many a good author—ruined family name, evil secret, desolate mansion in wilderness—Mrs. Pope has built a tragedy of moving simplicity. Much of the beauty of the book lies in the development of the character of the heroine."
+ New Yorker 20:76 My 20 '44 140w

Reviewed by Phil Stong
Sat R of Lit 27:27 Ap 1 '44 550w

"The background is thrilling for its own sake, and quite as finely treated as anything of Marjorie Rawlings'. If background and characters are both a little exaggerated and melodramatic, the excellence of observation makes one forgive this. But when a novel is as good, as exciting, as this, one can ask why it is not quite great. The answer may be that Edith Pope hasn't mastered the structure of the novel as a whole. It is a little lacking in unity, seeming more like a series of episodes." Lee Varley

POPE, EDITH—Continued

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 2 '44 550w

"Edith Pope has built up her strange story stone upon stone—a superb job of fine design and careful masonry—to serve its purpose of housing and revealing and developing the changing character of a noble woman." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 26 '44 750w

Wis Lib Bul 40:71 My '44

"A superbly dramatic, beautifully restrained, extraordinarily moving tragedy that achieves something approaching real grandeur." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 33:768 summer '44 310w

POPKIN, MRS ZELDA. So much blood; a mystery novel. 220p $2 Lippincott
44-4854

Detective story.

Booklist 41:24 S '44

"Fast-pace—good reading."

+ Kirkus 12:223 My 15 '44 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p14 My 28 '44 60w

"Good."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:29 My 27 '44 40w

"Lieutenant (j.g.) Sam Tate, a Navy doctor convalescing from North Africa wounds, sets the F. B. I. men right in the nick of time and the climax is honestly stirring." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p17 My 28 '44 110w

PORAZINSKA, JANINA. In Voytus' little house; tr. from the Polish by Lucia Merecka Borski (Lucia Merecka Szczepanowicz); il. by Stanislaw Bobinski. 47p $1.25 Roy pubs.
44-8334

"In the house of Voytus the cradle's two rockers want to rock in different ways. Painted figures on the clay pot call Voytus to dance; four skirts in the cupboard gossip of where they've been." Weekly Book Review

"A charming and unusual bit of storytelling for younger children with pictures that enhance the wonder."

+ Horn Bk 20:474 N '44 80w

"It would take very skillful adult appreciation to put over this Polish folk material with American children. In content it seems remote both in story sense and style from anything that would hold our children's interest."

Kirkus 12:430 S 15 '44 80w

"Refreshingly original." M. C. Skinner

+ Library J 69:864 O 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by Olive Brain

Library J 69:938 N 1 '44 60w

"Some of the objects are so unfamiliar to American children that the stories may not have a great deal of meaning, but in general the imagination is so universally childlike that it transcends national customs." E. M. M.

N Y Times p12 N 12 '44 80w

Sat R of Lit 28:34 Ja 13 '45 270w

"Beauty and tenderness mark [this tale] translated from the Polish by Lucia Merecka Borski, of the New York Public Library. Beautiful in appearance, with brief paragraphs set off by pictures telling much in few lines, the beauty of feeling is such as four-year-olds recognize and seldom find in words." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 8 '44 200w

PORAZINSKA, JANINA. My village; il. by Stanislaw Bobinska; tr. from the Polish by Lucia Merecka Borski (Lucia Merecka Szczepanowicz). 46p $1.25 Roy pubs.
44-8335

"Yagusha loves her village of cottages in a row between small fields, for there she hears the mother hen playing a fiddle to her children, she sees the old beggar passing along the road, she watches the snow spreading a comforter over the barn. A loving little folk story of simple country life, with graphic pictures by a Polish artist." Horn Bk

+ Horn Bk 20:474 N '44 50w

Kirkus 12:430 S 15 '44 50w

"Quite original and very well handled both as to format and content for the child who has been reading for a year." M. L. Goodwin

+ Library J 69:1104 D 15 '44 30w

Sat R of Lit 28:34 Ja 13 '45 270w

PORTER, ALYENE. Papa was a preacher; il. by Janet Smalley. 167p $1.75 Abingdon-Cokesbury
818 44-6357

Reminiscences of a childhood spent as one of the younger members of a large family, living in a series of Methodist parsonages, under the strict but kindly rule of a preacher-father.

Book Week p8 S 24 '44 50w

Booklist 41:71 N 1 '44

Christian Century 61:1170 O 11 '44 300w

"Protestants who were born into large families or who were brought up in homes where religion was interpreted narrowly and strictly, as well as those who were children of the manse, will have many a chuckle and not a little nostalgia over this account of life in a preacher's family of nine children. . . The illustrations by Janet Smalley are delightful and greatly enhance the whimsical quality of the book."

+ Kirkus 12:497 N 1 '44 100w

"With or without meditation, here is a record of a large family abounding with goodness of spirit and humor and rambunctious living. It could be used to refute the popular cynical view of the American family. But that would put too great a burden on 'Papa Was a Preacher.' It is a light book for light moments and is quite pleasant without its lesson." J. G. Agnew

+ N Y Times p20 S 17 '44 240w

"The reader in search of honest American small-town fun, family pride and mutual affection, and evidence that it is possible to be at once religious and happy, will find it in these light-hearted pages. There are even revivals from which nobody is at all the worse—and if these are presented from their humorous side, this is rather a relief from the physiological aspects hitherto so popular in fiction."

+ Weekly Book Review p18 S 24 '44 200w

Wis Lib Bul 40:145 N '44

PORTER, KATHERINE ANNE (MRS A. R. ERSKINE). Leaning tower, and other stories. 246p $2.50 Harcourt
44-7946

Collection of short stories by the author of Pale Horse, Pale Rider (Book Review Digest, 1939). Contents: The source; The witness; The circus; The old order; The last leaf; The grave; The downward path to wisdom; A day's work; The leaning tower.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 174:131 N '44 300w

Book Week p8 S 24 '44 180w

Booklist 41:59 O 15 '44

"No one who has a feeling for style can afford to miss Katherine Anne Porter. Everything she writes is controlled with a fine economy of phrase and word; she is sober, restrained, and detached; yet her work gives the impression of ease and naturalness. It is satisfying to see her uncover an old but beautiful meaning of a word, suggest a whole era through the memories of two old women, or evoke the mood of childhood through a chance incident or so."

+ Cath World 160:189 N '44 180w

"The stories are varied in theme and setting, and range in length from four pages to the half-volume length of the title story. All exhibit a calculated and skillful technique which not only makes them attractive to readers but qualifies them to be objects of careful study by writers."

+ Christian Century 61:1170 O 11 '44 70w

"I have been esthetically betrayed by the silence of my friends. For I had not, up to now, known about Katherine Anne Porter. I had not known that there was a contemporary writer of short stories who was original and exciting. I had not known that there was a modern story teller who was beyond vulgarity, who put a value upon words, and whose love of language was so great that it was impossible for her to write without distinction. I am being a little awkward about this, but if you have read Henry James you will know what I mean. Writing is a disciplined art difficultly learned and practiced always with respect. There exists a thing called artistic integrity. And every word and every sentence that you shape reveals your fidelity to it. Invested with this is the work of Katherine Anne Porter." Francis Downing

+ Commonweal 40:572 S 29 '44 700w

"A collection of short sketches which continue to reveal the author's poetic sensibility."

+ Commonweal 41:20 O 20 '44 20w

"Collection of short stories evidencing a precise and sure artistry, a contrast of delicate perception and deadly implication."

+ Kirkus 12:378 S 1 '44 110w

"Recommended." H. G. Kelley

+ Library J 69:699 S 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 159:359 S 23 '44 1200w

"Miss Porter's style is, so to speak, perfection. I read the present stories as they appeared in various magazines, then I reread them aloud, and now I have gone through them with alerted critical sense for the purpose of this review; I find only one blemish, one slangy adjective, 'prissy.' A kind of style of the mind rather than the voice or the eye, never perceptibly a manner, it could not be simpler. . . We have no American fiction as good as what her twenty-two sketches, stories and novelettes indicate that she might give us, with good luck and long life. Given a good plot, I can imagine her writing a sort of 'War and Peace' for us; a 'War and Peace' womanly, as if she were a little daughter or granddaughter of Tolstoy, in her styleless style which is rather like translation by an angel." Glenway Wescott

+ N Y Times p1 S 17 '44 950w

"Miss Porter is absolutely a first-rate artist, and what she wants other people to know she imparts to them by creating an object, the self-developing organism of a work of prose. The only general opinion on anything which, in her books, she has put on record has been a statement about her craft of prose fiction, and I may quote it—from the foreword to which I have referred—as more to the purpose than anything that the present critic could say. Here is the manifesto of the builder of this solid little sanctuary, so beautifully proportioned and finished, for the queer uncontrollable spirit that it seems to her important to save." Edmund Wilson

+ New Yorker 20:72 S 30 '44 1500w

Reviewed by H. M. Jones

Sat R of Lit 27:15 S 30 '44 600w

"Miss Porter's craftsmanship, long since proved in her earlier books, 'Flowering Judas' and 'Pale Horse, Pale Rider,' again reaches a high level in these new stories. But 'The Leaning Tower' has more than good craftsmanship. Its suggestive detail and manifold implications make us eager for the novel we understand Miss Porter is writing." Virgilia Sapieha

+ Weekly Book Review p2 S 17 '44 1050w

"A collection of nine short stories by one of the most exquisite stylists and subtle and penetrating writers of our time. Several of them are sad, rueful, nostalgic evocations of childhood and the long dead past in the South, done with all the haunting inconclusiveness of Katherine Mansfield. Best of them all is The Downward Path of Wisdom, a poignant and bitter study of a little child's first contact with the cruelty, stupidity, and selfishness of the world. It is terrible and wonderful." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 34:190 autumn '44 220w

POST, KENNETH. Plants and flowers in the home. 198p il $2 Judd

635.9652 House plants Agr44-60

"Practical information on the care and production of plants and flowers in the home by the associate professor of floriculture, Cornell University. Arranged by their genus name followed by the species and the common name, flowering and foliage plants are listed separately, while attention is also given to indoor gardens, the water garden or aquarium, soil-less culture, window boxes, cut flowers and plant diseases and pests. Photographs, line drawings in black and white by Mrs Kenneth Post. Glossary, plant and subject indexes." Bookmark

Booklist 40:280 Ap 15 '44

Bookmark 5:10 My '44

"Countless indoor gardeners would be helped to better success with their plants by this unpretentious but concise little volume. Rarely does one find a garden book so well packed with the sort of clear-cut, pertinent and practical information of which we all stand in such need." R. S. Lemmon

+ Weekly Book Review p17 Ja 7 '45 130w

POSTEL, ALBERT WILLIAMS. Mineral resources of Africa. (African handbooks) 105p maps pa $1.50 Univ. of Pa. press [8s 6d Oxford]

338.2 Mines and mineral resources—Africa 43-16512

"Valuable compendium of up-to-date information and statistical data." Foreign Affairs

Reviewed by N. D. Houghton

Am Pol Sci R 38:407 Ap '44 40w

+ Foreign Affairs 22:16 Ja '44 20w

POSTON, MRS MARTHA (LEE). The girl without a country; il. by Margaret Ayer. 226p $2 Nelson

44-8546

Adventure story of a young China-born American girl, who elected to stay in China with her father, a doctor, even after the Japanese invasion. When she and her father were made prisoners, the girl escaped, and made her way to Chungking, via boat, bus, train, or on foot. For older girls.

"This is really tops as a good story for girls." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p6 N 12 '44 230w

Booklist 41:127 D 15 '44

"Well written."

+ Kirkus 12:482 O 15 '44 90w

"Told simply and will hold interest. Authentic and fine for promoting good-neighbor policy. Best war story so far from China for older girls. Illustrated with pen-and-ink drawings by Margaret Ayer. Recommended for ages fourteen and up." Sonja Wennerblad

+ Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 70w

"Exciting fiction for young people. But its understanding and sympathy for modern China —guerrillas and industrial cooperatives and uprooted schools, unfamiliar customs and many kinds of people—give it more weight than a simple adventure novel. Although it is not a profound book, it nevertheless creates a personal sense of the basis upon which international understanding can be built." E. M. M.

+ N Y Times p16 N 12 '44 80w

POSTON, MARTHA—Continued

"The writing often falls far short of the subject matter, losing strength in superlatives and overemphasis; but the story itself maintains a high level of interest and excitement. The brief glimpse of the life of Americans in China before the war, the philosophy of the Chinese living under Japanese domination, and the picture of fighting China are very true. The whole story rings with sincerity." R. A. Hill

+ Sat R of Lit 27:38 N 11 '44 450w

POTEAT, GORDON. We preach not ourselves. 185p $2 Harper

251 Preaching. Bible. New Testament—Corinthians 44-8790

"Written primarily for preachers, this little book goes to the heart of some things which are bothering many thoughtful preachers today. It raises two vital questions: What is back of the loss of authority in much modern preaching? Can a preacher use the Bible as the background and basis for his pulpit message today and still be loyal and faithful to the scientific method?" Christian Century

"Dr. Poteat's exposition is not intended to take the place of a commentary on I Corinthians. Within the limits he sets for himself, however, he fulfills his purpose, and makes this letter a valuable source of preaching material for the modern preacher." B. H. Bruner

Christian Century 61:1415 D 6 '44 650w

"Nothing very ambitious is attempted in the way of interpretation, and nothing very startling in the way of contemporary application. On the whole, it must be said, that the weightier problems of contemporary church life are approached far too lightly, as in the very superficial and unsympathetic treatment of our existing divisions, and especially the thorny question of intercommunion. Profound theological differences are not to be dismissed with an impatient huff. The most interesting feature of the work is the use of pertinent illustrations from the foreign field, which often throw a peculiarly vivid light upon the experience of St. Paul in the evangelization of pagan peoples and the discipline of churches." F. W. Beare

— + Crozer Q 22:85 Ja '45 500w

POTTER, BEATRIX (MRS WILLIAM HEELIS). Wag-by-Wall; decorations by J. J. Lankes. [30p] $1.50 Horn bk.

44-40204

"High up on Troutbeck Fell, where the author used to seek shelter on her long walks, where as she said, she was 'alone but never lonely,' 'Wag-by-Wall' was born. It tells of Sally Benson, who lived by herself in a little thatched cottage with one handsome piece of furniture, the clock Wag-by-Wall, left her by her grandfather, and her singing kettle. This homely tale flows as quietly and serenely as Sally's life in the little cottage with the ticking clock and the kettle's song." N Y Times

Booklist 41:111 D 1 '44

"A new book by Beatrix Potter is an unexpected delight this holiday season. A first edition of this 'Wag-by-Wall,' with its charming old-fashioned format and its fine woodcut decorations by the distinguished wood engraver J. J. Lankes, may well become a collector's item." F. C. Darling

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 D 11 '44 100w

"Sally Benson's story is a tender, gentle one, suited to old and young. Adorned by the distinctive decorations of a distinguished engraver on wood, it merits a special place on the Beatrix Potter bookshelf."

+ Horn Bk 20:482 N '44 110w

"A collector's item, this last story of the famous children's author, which has a certain old-fashioned appeal."

+ Kirkus 12:509 N 1 '44 90w

"A homely Christmas story recommended for all ages." V. W. Schott

+ Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 70w

"This little book, like all Beatrix Potter's work, contains the very essence of the English countryside."

+ N Y Times p6 N 12 '44 100w

New Yorker 20:86 D 16 '44 90w

"In format and decoration it is a fitting tribute to a writer whose books will 'live forever' among children."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:47 N 11 '44 40w

"Old Sally's story has the atmosphere, the wise choice of words that have made Beatrix Potter's 'little books' so beloved. The delicate woodcut illustrations are completely in keeping with the story. It is a distinguished little book and one that has enduring value." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:34 D 9 '44 250w

"Rubbing one's eyes to make sure of seeing aright, this tiny volume is taken in hand with something near to reverence. What, a new book by Beatrix Potter, legendary long before the newspapers of two continents paused in the midst of war to record her passing? Even so: a new story sent for publication, but a few months before that, to the Horn Book in Boston, held at her request for its twentieth anniversary number, it has the country kindness of heaped leaves in autumn, of smoke in the air and stored apples in the cellar: it has the mellowness of fulfilment."

+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 12 '44 300w

POUND, ROSCOE. Task of law. 94p $1.50 Franklin & Marshall college, Lancaster, Pa.

340 Law

"This volume gives a somewhat simplified, but excellent summary of the views of Professor Pound on the basic problems of a science of law. In three lectures the eminent author ably discusses three questions: Why Law?, What is Law?, and What Can Be Done Through Law? The book contains hardly anything that has not been said by the author in previous works; but it sums up trenchantly what has been scattered through his numerous studies of the nature of law phenomena, of their variety, of their functions, and of their origin and growth." (Yale Law J) Index.

"Mr. Pound is one of the greatest scholars now living, and whatever he writes deserves and is sure to receive the respectful attention of everyone interested in his field. Precisely because this is the case, it is a pity that the work of revising the notes from which the lectures were delivered was not more carefully performed." F. L. Windolph

+ — Ann Am Acad 235:163 S '44 550w

Reviewed by H. J. Morgenthau

Harvard Law R 57:922 Jl '44 2100w

"Throughout a discussion of these problems, the author keeps a sound course between several extreme theories. He rejects a Marxian as well as a purely formal and idealistic interpretation of law. In a few cutting statements he shows the fallacies of these and other theories of law. . . Though the reviewer deviates from Professor Pound's views in a number of important points, he finds the volume valuable, essentially sound, and stimulating. Most of Pound's criticism of several extreme theories of law is pointed and valid. Very important is his analysis of what in law is lasting and endures, and what is temporary and passing." P. A. Sorokin

+ Yale Law J 53:599 Je '44 400w

POWDERMAKER, HORTENSE. Probing our prejudices; a unit for high school students; Suggested school activities, by Helen Frances Storen. 73p $1; pa 65c Harper

177 Antipathies and prejudices

"This book is an attempt to help high-school students become aware of their prejudices, to understand the nature, origin, and effect of prejudices, and to suggest activities that can help reduce them. Suggested school activities are furnished by Helen Frances Storen." School & Society

"In pointing out some of the causes and costs of prejudice and suggesting activities through which the student can combat them, it should help to fill an educational gap in most high school curricula."
+ Am Soc R 9:718 D '44 70w

Booklist 41:54 O 15 '44

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 61:976 Ag 23 '44 300w

"The book probably would not sell itself to the high school student; it would need to be presented by an interested and effective teacher. But the problem is vital to the preservation of our democracy and hence one of concern to home economics teachers—in fact to all teachers." Gertrude Roskie
+ J Home Econ 36:658 D '44 250w

Kirkus 12:219 My 1 '44 110w

New Repub 111:501 O 16 '44 180w

School & Society 60:96 Ag 5 '44 70w

"Probing Our Prejudices is of interest not only because of its informing and illuminating content but also because it illustrates a type of instructional material which might enrich regular social studies courses for juniors and seniors and also be useful in personal and social guidance." M. S. B. Fonville
+ Social Forces 23:231 D '44 700w

Wis Lib Bul 40:124 O '44

POWEL, MRS LYDIA (BOND). Art museum comes to the school; with a foreword and conclusions by Thomas Munro. 160p il $2 Harper

371.657 Museums and schools 44-5355

"In this book the experience of art museums in Buffalo, Chicago, Cleveland, Milwaukee, and New York City is set forth to show how relationships with public schools have been and can be vitalized, thus acting as a record and a suggestive guide on how art museums and schools can collaborate together to the enhancement of the services of each in the cultivating of a wider appreciation of art in this country." (School & Society) Selected bibliography. Index.

Book Week p9 Jl 30 '44 320w

Booklist 40:372 Jl 1 '44

Kirkus 12:145 Mr 15 '44 250w

School & Society 59:384 My 27 '44 50w

"This report will be read with interest by the many school administrators and directors of art museums who desire closer collaboration between these cultural institutions in the use of visual materials to improve instruction. It is generally recognized that there is too little co-operative effort on the part of the schools and other social institutions to provide for the education of our youth. School administrators will find in this report many suggestions for effective ways of utilizing available community resources for the enrichment of courses at the high-school level." W. I. Murray
+ School R 52:569 N '44 1150w

Wis Lib Bul 40:144 N '44

POWELL, DAWN. My home is far away. 313p $2.50 Scribner

44-9629

Chronicle of a midwestern family in the early nineteen hundreds. There were five of the Willards: gay Harry who could not seem to support his family; the pretty, laughing Edith; and the three girls. After Edith died the girls had to learn to fend for themselves, if they wanted to become individuals. The story of their trials is told by Marcia, the "middle one."

Booklist 41:153 Ja 15 '45

"The author of 'A Time To Be Born,' has, in her latest effort, added another fine novel of life in the U. S. A."
+ Boston Globe p19 N 8 '44 220w

"Family album, fully mounted, which has warmth, and humor, and poignancy."
+ Kirkus 12:409 S 15 '44 170w

Reviewed by William Poster
New Repub 112:28 Ja 1 '45 240w

"The novel invokes an atmosphere identical with that of a dozen recent books which leap to mind. Like these others, it is simple and unpretentious in style, and, in its mixture of humor and pathos, belongs generally to the variety of book known to some as 'cockle-warming.' There the resemblance stops. The characteristic of novels which warm the cockles of the heart is their sentimentality; there is nothing sentimental about 'My Home Is Far Away' except that it is set in an era which we tend to regard with sentiment." Ruth Page
+ N Y Times p4 N 19 '44 380w

"A chronicle of small-town Middle Western life that is touching without sentimentality and amusing with only rare lapses into caricature and farce. . . The contemporary [the author] most resembles is probably Sinclair Lewis, but she takes human life more calmly, more genially, and less melodramatically. Her quality, however, is all her own: an odd blend of sharp sophistication with something childlike, surprised, and droll—a point of view, in fact, very much like that of the alert, dispossessed little girls in this book." Edmund Wilson
+ New Yorker 20:93 N 11 '44 1050w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 280w

Reviewed by Kenneth Fearing
Weekly Book Review p2 N 19 '44 600w

POWELL, MRS MARIE (COLE). Boys and girls at worship. 198p $2 Harper

268.73 Worship 43-17293

"A book of story material, picture interpretations, appropriate hymns, and contemporary verse. The six services are grouped around Dreams, Creators with God, Our Friends, Jesus, Christmas, and The God of the Universe. The author is chairman of religious education, School of Religious and Social Work, Boston University. Her Introduction presents the need of 'a sense of purpose' and 'glimpses into possible depths of experience.' The purpose is the quickening of quests in living, a sustaining belief in the values of beauty, goodness, and truth, and sincere religious experience—'spiritual and moral training to help in standing firm under the pressure of life.' While the author favors 'free' prayer, the reviewer regrets the failure to appreciate the educational value of the church's treasury of prayer, particularly of certain collects." Crozer Q

"An intelligent book of worship materials and techniques for use with children of nine to fourteen years."
+ Christian Century 60:1537 D 29 '43 50w

"The book will prove of value to leaders of worship in church school and for junior sermons." J. S. Dauerty
+ Crozer Q 21:186 Ap '44 150w

POWELL, RICHARD PITTS. All over but the shooting; starring Arab and Andy Blake. 264p $2 Simon & Schuster

44-5708

Spy-adventure story featuring the one-time antique-dealer, Andy Blake, and his wife Arabella.

Book Week p10 Je 18 '44 180w

Booklist 41:24 S '44

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p15 Je 21 '44 90w

"Amusing and effective, particularly for Andy and Arab fans."
+ Kirkus 12:223 My 15 '44 80w

"Fast and funny, and good for what ails you."
+ New Repub 110:858 Je 26 '44 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p12 Je 11 '44 110w

POWELL, R. P.—Continued
"Recommended for those who don't take their mysteries too seriously."
+ New Yorker 20:79 Je 10 '44 90w

"Grade-A."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:33 Je 10 '44 40w

Reviewed by Baron Ireland
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 11 '44 180w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p15 Je 11 '44 100w

POWER, SISTER MARY JAMES. In the name of the bee; the significance of Emily Dickinson. 138p il $2 Sheed

B or 92 Dickinson, Emily 44-780

A new interpretation of the New England poet, Emily Dickinson, written by a Catholic nun. The poet seems to this writer "to have been summoning an unconscious Catholicism in her rebellion against the narrow Christianity of her upbringing as she drew apart to contemplate 'the riddle of eternity.'" (Publisher's note)

"Sister Mary James has penetrated deeply into the secrets of Emily Dickinson's spirit and has revealed them with sympathy, reverence, and something of the poet's own delicacy of touch. . . Sister Mary James seeks to show that Emily Dickinson belongs in the main stream of Catholic poetry. Without straining she has proved her point." J. J. Reilly
+ Cath World 159:89 Ap '44 450w

"Devout Catholics will no doubt be gratified to be assured that they may enjoy Emily Dickinson's poems without endangering their orthodoxy. Other readers may feel that Sister Mary James's thesis rather conspicuously fails to make connections with any historical realities. In matters of detail the book repeats many of the inaccuracies originally foisted on the world by Emily Dickinson's niece, probably the most irresponsible literary biographer who has yet appeared in the United States, a worthy rival to Parson Weems in the field of historical biography." G. F. Whicher
— New Eng Q 17:130 Mr '44 700w

"A few will read this book as a curious casuistry. For any who still need an introduction to the delights of Emily Dickinson's poetry there are other much better books to be had." Lee Varley
— Springf'd Republican p6 F 14 '44 550w

POWERS, ALFRED. Hannibal's elephants; il. by James Reid. 272p $2.25 Longmans 44-8547

Story of an earlier invasion of Italy—that of Hannibal and the Carthaginians. The narrator is Agenor, the youthful assistant keeper of the elephants. For older boys.

Booklist 41:111 D 1 '44
Horn Bk 20:490 N '44 90w

"A first rate yarn. . . Home libraries—school libraries—public libraries—this is a find."
+ Kirkus 12:374 Ag 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by Marian Cumming
Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 70w

"The author has admirably succeeded in making a past period seem both near and real and James Reid's vigorous drawings help in the task." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p18 D 17 '44 160w

"It is a good tale, alive with action, touched with humor, convincing in atmosphere. . . There is a good word picture of Rome in Hannibal's time and of the Temple of Moloch at Carthage. As a story it seems to bring the past curiously close to the present. It leaves its readers satisfied—and informed." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:36 N 11 '44 250w
School & Society 60:256 O 14 '44 10w
Springf'd Republican p4d O 22 '44 130w
Weekly Book Review p28 N 12 '44 500w

PRATT, FLETCHER. The navy's war; with a foreword by Frank Knox; il. with maps and charts and with 16 pages of U.S. navy photographs. 295p $2.75 Harper

940.545 World war, 1939—Naval operations 44-5524

Factual account of all the major engagements fought by the United States navy since Pearl Harbor. Partial contents: Campaign in the Java sea; The first great raids; Campaign in the Coral sea; The mysteries of Midway; Submarines Pacific; Caribbean command; Memorial of the Wasp; The Solomons campaign. Illustrated with photographs and maps in the text. Index.

"The Navy's War is a fascinating and inspiring book. To choose but one example, the account of the campaigns around Guadalcanal has an abundance of action, drama, and suspense. The reader realizes, as few sensed at the time, the importance of Guadalcanal to both sides and the hair-line margin by which we retained it. It is inspiring not only for its story of courage, but because it illustrates the resourcefulness of American Navy men." R. A. Brown
+ Ann Am Acad 236:182 N '44 400w

"A heady book, worth the study of naval officer or civilian."
+ Book Week p8 Jl 2 '44 300w
Christian Science Monitor p12 N 4 '44 550w
Current Hist 7:134 Ag '44 40w

"There are large gaps and several unnecessarily undeleted repetitions, but the articles comprise a fairly well connected account of the audacious Japanese effort and its frustration. The style is bright and breezy, not hesitating to color the text with nautical and landlubber slang; its liveliness and human interest touches will hold readers who would avoid a more scholarly naval treatise."
+ — Kirkus 12:160 Ap 1 '44 210w

"Source material from which history eventually will be written. Recommended for all interested in the Navy and its activities." D. F. Lucas
+ Library J 69:459 My 15 '44 80w

"A history that is being written while the news is still fresh is bound to have mistakes. It is astonishing that there are so few. At a time when the dogmas of sea power are being questioned by those who view the advent of every new weapon as a panacea for the ills and horror and heartaches of warfare, it is reassuring to find that there is at least one authority who does not trim his sail to meet each fickle catspaw of public opinion; who does not permit ephemeral threats of weather to divert him from his course, and who makes intelligent use of modern methods to solve problems that are as unvarying in principle as the tide and currents of the sea." F. J. Bell
+ N Y Times p5 Jl 2 '44 1200w
New Yorker 20:79 Je 17 '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Albion
Sat R of Lit 27:12 Jl 15 '44 950w

"With rigid censorship still withholding information concerning battles that took place as early as the spring of 1942 and with the fog of war blotting out details it is surprising that Fletcher Pratt could turn out such an excellent, over-all history of the campaigns and actions of the United States Navy from Pearl Harbor to the Solomons. Gaps are numerous. . . Yet in broad outlines (and that is what is wanted by all but professional seamen or historians) there is set down, with authenticity, expertness and flashes of seagoing humor, the courageous and almost miraculous resilience with which the Navy rebounded from the disaster of Pearl Harbor to assume the offensive within less than a year." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 9 '44 900w

PRATT, GEORGE KENNETH. Soldier to civilian; problems of readjustment. (Whittlesey house publication) 233p $2.50 McGraw

355.115 Veterans

"Readjustment problems of returning servicemen realistically and constructively treated by an experienced psychiatrist against a backdrop of sound analysis of prewar as well as army experiences of the individual soldier. Family life, marital relations, vocational adjustments and community status of the serviceman are discussed frankly and helpfully with interesting illustrations. Problems of physical and psychiatric handicaps receive especial attention and are exceptionally well handled. The book is addressed to relatives, friends, employers and community leaders and gives practical guidance in helping them understand the exserviceman and assist him in reestablishing himself as smoothly and productively as possible." Library J

"The doctor tried so hard to be interesting, and with considerable success, that his point occasionally is lost in the scramble. The information he gives, however, will be a must for hundreds of thousands of families and for most employers." Will O'Neil

+ — Book Week p3 D 31 '44 400w

Booklist 41:147 Ja 15 '45

"This is such a wise and sympathetic, as well as technically expert, book on a subject of immense importance that it ought to have a very wide reading. A psychiatrist wrote it, but any intelligent layman can read it with understanding."

+ Christian Century 62:112 Ja 24 '45 300w

Kirkus 12:490 N 1 '44 200w

"Highly recommended." A. I. Bryan

+ Library J 69:999 N 15 '44 110w

"One disappointing conclusion about Pratt's book you will be unable to escape is that it is essentially an elementary text in psychiatry—with a contemporary cover. Aside from its medical authenticity and speaking from a rather wide contact with the men fighting our war, this reviewer feels Pratt's dogged insistence on orthodoxy in approach has caused him to pass over lightly what is the major difference between veteran and civilian psychiatry. To my mind, the greatest loss the veteran faces—the impact most likely to upset his balance—is the loss of comradeship, the rooting up out of a coöperative world of a man grown used to group living, and confronting him with an intensely competitive society. As the weakest of the three major veteran's books thus far, it is a curious fact that Pratt's book—besides its exclusively civilian appeal—will be read first, since psychological adjustment necessarily precedes sociological and economic adjustment with every man leaving service." Ralph Peterson

Sat R of Lit 28:12 Ja 13 '45 1000w

"The closing chapters are full of invaluable advice to civilians and community leaders who will deal with the veteran in the first weeks at home, going back to work and getting reacquainted with his family. This is meaty and down-to-earth advice, invaluable to home folks whose own attitudes need a good deal of amending." Marshall Bragdon

+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 330w

"This book is by far the most valuable study of our duty to the veteran that has been published. Just as it tells what extraordinary measures the army authorities have taken to make good soldiers out of civilians, so it explains our part in helping to make good civilians out of returning soldiers. Our job is a hard one." Harry Hansen

+ Survey G 33:505 D '44 1450w

"His book is sound and helpful, and would be equally so if it were half as long, but perhaps the discursive method is purposely intended for minds of slow assimilation as well as others."

+ Weekly Book Review p10 D 10 '44 150w

PRATT, HARRY EDWARD, ed. Concerning Mr Lincoln. 145p $3 Abraham Lincoln assn.

B or 92 Lincoln, Abraham 44-3659

"[This volume] is made up of selected letters written by Lincoln's contemporaries. The letters are dated within a few days of the events in Mr. Lincoln's life to which they refer. There are thirteen brief chapters entitled respectively: 'The Politician,' 'Campaign Against Douglas,' 'Candidate for President,' 'Election Day in Springfield,' 'The President-elect,' 'Stand Firm or Compromise?' 'On to the White House,' 'Simon Cameron in the Cabinet,' 'Last Days before the Inauguration,' 'First Months in the White House,' 'The President at Work,' 'Assassination and Funeral,' 'Trial of the Conspirators.'" Christian Century

---

"The book is a definite contribution to Lincolniana. Mr. Pratt has not presented any great mass of startling new information, but he has compiled a set of documents in convenient form that throws useful light upon Lincoln and his problems and his times. The result more than confirms the compiler's modest hope that the book will be of significance to Lincoln students." T. H. Williams

+ Am Hist R 50:182 O '44 240w

"An unusual and original addition to Lincolniana." Otto Eisenschiml

+ Book Week p8 Ap 16 '44 330w

"Lincoln is a perennially popular subject. Here is an important contribution to the literature of that theme by one of the finest Lincoln scholars in America." E. D. Jones

+ Christian Century 61:434 Ap 5 '44 380w

"Myth-making distorts the truth and magnifies the real figure all out of proportion to its true dimensions. These letters, written before their subject became immortal, present a life-sized and very human picture of a man while he could still be cooly appraised and described as he actually appeared. . . This is a book that will often be quoted and referred to. It belongs in every serious collection of Lincolniana." P. V. Stern

+ Sat R of Lit 27:33 My 13 '44 280w

Reviewed by P. M. Angle

Weekly Book Review p2 My 7 '44 450w

PRATT, SIR JOHN THOMAS. China and Britain. (The nations and Britain) 126p il col pl maps $2 Hastings house [8s 6d Collins]

915.1 China—Relations (general) with Great Britain. Great Britain—Relations (general) with China. China—Civilization 44-9966

"One of a series, 'The Nations and Britain,' that already comprises Russia, [this] is the story of an ancient people rich in all that makes civilization, with the principles of the philosophy and religion underlying this history. This is held in shape and kept to the limits of a single relatively small volume by keeping inside the relations of China with England, and their mutual reactions in every field, and by the free, even lavish use of pictures, each of which carries out the full implications of a few words." Weekly Book Review

---

"Sir John justly dwells on the similarities in British and Chinese character which make for mutual regard, though when he speaks of the multitudinous botanical treasures that China has sent to us he might have added that we have sent to her not a few beautiful garden plants. The many illustrations of Chinese paintings, bronzes, porcelain, and statuary, including eleven coloured plates, are a rare addition to a book that deserves to be treasured." O. M.

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 9 '44 280w

Reviewed by E. M. Gull

Spec 173:108 Ag 4 '44 750w

"To present, in a volume of 126 pages, a summary of the history, political economy, art and philosophy of China, and of its contributions to the advancement of civilization, with particular emphasis on its cultural and political relations with Great Britain, is a feat of discrimination and condensation which calls for something more than book knowledge. It requires a keen sense of proportion and relative values, together with first-hand experience of the Chinese outlook on life, only to be acquired after long residence among them and sympathetic study of their inherited tendencies in thought and action. Sir John Pratt possesses these necessary qualifications."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p373 Ag 5 '44 1400w

"A fine example of condensation, this beautifully illustrated book carries as much information as usually fills a shelf, and keeps it juicy in spite of compression."

+ Weekly Book Review p26 D 3 '44 250w

PRATT, MRS MARGARET; GROVER, FREDERICK ORVILLE; and RIFKIN, LILLIAN. When I grow up I'll be a teacher. 44p il $1 Lothrop

371.1 Teachers 44-8839

"The first photograph shows a teachers' training college with young folks on campus: then a tiny child on the way to school in the country, and scenes of educational play. Reading, writing and arithmetic classes appear in action: the principal, high school teacher, English teacher—with the important point that nowadays 'any book may become an English textbook'—classes in history, foreign languages, math and science, health education, music and art, business, housekeeping and shop. The physical instructor's work appears; there is an Indian school on a reservation. Where, the commentary asks, do you fit in?" Weekly Book Review

"This entire series serves an excellent purpose by giving in picture and text a clear idea of various professions in an effort to help young people to make a wise choice." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p14 N 12 '44 140w

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse

Commonweal 41:129 N 17 '44 10w

Kirkus 12:510 N 1 '44 90w

Weekly Book Review p38 N 12 '44 200w

Wis Lib Bul 40:162 D '44

PRATT, THEODORE (TIMOTHY BRACE, pseud). Perils of Provence and other ticklish places. 229p $2 Duell

818 44-51085

A volume of light, informal sketches dealing with the author's experiences during a long residence in France, with others relating episodes of life in Italy, Spain, and at home in the United States.

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock

Book Week p4 D 24 '44 310w

Booklist 41:150 Ja 15 '45

"If your nerves are jangled, your mental processes in a whirl and your emotional barometer at a new low, here is the literary prescription of the month." L. L. Marchand

+ Boston Globe p15 D 27 '44 350w

" 'Human beings,' says Mr. Pratt, 'are much the same in most countries.' He proves this with chapter and verse—especially when it comes to conductors, grocers and policemen. . . Many of Mr. Pratt's demonstrations of these truths have already appeared in The New Yorker. Readers who remember them are advised that they are well worth a second glance. Others are respectfully referred to the nearest book counter if they have nostalgia or Christmas in mind." William De Bois

+ N Y Times p7 D 17 '44 800w

New Yorker 20:66 D 23 '44 50w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p6 D 31 '44 300w

PRATT, THEODORE (TIMOTHY BRACE, pseud). Thunder mountain. 249p $2.50 Duell

44-4728

A dictatorial old man summons his children, with their wives and two friends, to a reunion at his summer home on the top of a mountain, somewhere in the western United States. The estate proves to be well-stocked, which is fortunate for the only means of escape—a bridge, is later blown up. The story is of what happened to the group, marooned on the mountain top. The time is the present.

"This novel is about as true-to-life as a Class D motion picture. Its events are jerky and episodic, and apparently intended to be impressive instead of merely irritating and/or hilarious. Pratt's people are somewhat less lifelike than puppets, and his idea of a 'situation' is approximately that of a veteran scenario hack, used to dishing up stock scenes for Western and romance pictures in the heyday of William S. Hart." August Derleth

— Book Week p6 Ap 23 '44 280w

"Human conflicts, emphasized by their predicament, novelized in readable, popular manner. There is an undercurrent of symbolism not too strongly stressed."

Kirkus 12:82 F 15 '44 200w

"Interesting enough story but the wires are too evident, and sex and abnormality are too predominant. Read before purchasing." Katharine Shorey

Library J 69:354 Ap 15 '44 70w

"Theodore Pratt started this novel with a good idea. . . But what he produced is neither a good novel nor a good allegory." Hal Borland

— N Y Times p6 Ap 23 '44 500w

"The mountain climbing episodes are the best thing in the book. They are told with sound knowledge of the techniques and difficulties involved, and the setting of eerie height and treacherous wind currents is vividly realized. Otherwise, the tale is flashy, sexy and, as often as not, cheap, in that scenes seem to have been introduced for the deliberate purpose of shocking." Jennings Rice

— + Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 23 '44 600w

PRATT, WALTER MERRIAM. Adventure in Vermont. 182p il $2.50 Hale, Ralph T.

917.43 Country life 43-14928

All about the purchase of a Vermont farm, with a tumble-down one-hundred-and-fifty year old house on it, and the fun which the Boston purchasers had in remodeling house and farm

Booklist 40:211 F 15 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '44

Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 16 '44 150w

PREISMAN, ALBERT. Graphical constructions for vacuum tube circuits. 237p $2.75 McGraw

621.384132 Vacuum tubes 43-15443

"A treatment, for specialists, of the use of graphical constructions in the solution of problems on non-linear circuits, particularly problems that can not be solved by analytical methods. Some of the material has appeared in RCA Review and Communications." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 68:771 O 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:70 O '43

PRENTICE, EZRA PARMALEE. Food, war and the future. 164p il $2.50 Harper

338.1 Food supply. Agriculture—Economic aspects. World war, 1939—Food question

44-1749

"The ability to provide goods and services at low cost, a reduction in the birth rate to remove great burdens from world economy and an agriculture with a greatly stepped-up efficiency are among the postwar essentials held basic by E. Parmalee Prentice in this volume. Most of the world's problems—unemployment, decreased earnings, political disturbances, changes in governmental structure, destitution, pestilence and war—are, Mr Prentice believes, all the inevitable result from overpopulation." (Springf'd Republican) Index.

Reviewed by G. S. Wehrwein

Am Econ R 34:633 S '44 600w

Reviewed by A. G. Peterson

Ann Am Acad 233:241 My '44 400w

Springf'd Republican p8 My 25 '44 450w

Wis Lib Bul 40:34 Mr '44

PREWETT, VIRGINIA. Americas and tomorrow. 292p $3 Dutton

970 American republics. Pan Americanism 44-1649

"Factual, textbook type of survey of the economic, political, social, cultural relationships of the 'Americas,' with a viewpoint looking backward as to complications and forward as to possibilities. Written by a columnist, specializing in Latin America and with a sympathetic approach to her needs." (Library J) Index.

"The book is highly recommendable, written in attractive and witty diction by an author who made thorough direct investigations and knows well the psychology of Americans, South and North." Alfred Manes

+ Ann Am Acad 235:145 S '44 360w

"This thought-provoking book is an analysis of the past and present of inter-American relations and a chart for the future. Written by a realistic observer, it probes deeply into the maze of contradictions which developed out of shifting foreign policies and the clash of vested interests. Its striking feature, however, is that it does not wax sentimental over the plight of our southern neighbors. On the contrary, it shows in bold relief how the internal politics of the Latin American nations have often brought upon themselves the predatory assaults of the European powers and the Colossus of the North." Angel Flores

+ Book Week p8 Ap 2 '44 700w

Booklist 40:268 Ap 1 '44

Bookmark 5:13 My '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:667 Jl '44 20w

"Level, lucid."

+ Kirkus 12:115 Mr 1 '44 160w

"Recommended for its special interest, not of general reader appeal." H. A. Wooster

Library J 69:262 Mr 15 '44 50w

"Obviously Miss Prewett is not attempting a complete round-up of the problems involved in our hemisphere relations. There is no exploration here into the minds or the emotional reactions of the neighbors, or into the mores and the cultural values to which so many of their policy and political wagons—not to mention nationalistic prejudices—are hitched. . . But on the basic questions of why we need this working neighborly relationship within the hemisphere, and where we may rationally try to get with it, this is the year's Grade-A primer both for doubters and for inquiring minds." Duncan Aikman

+ New Repub 110:743 My 29 '44 1000w

Reviewed by Frances Witherspoon

N Y Times p8 Ap 9 '44 400w

"For the general reader desirous of a detailed but not pedantic accounting of the hundreds of pertinent facts that form the mosaic of hemispheric solidarity, this book will fill a definite need. One impatient of detail or easily dulled by statistics, might find the volume overwhelming and wish the report of particulars were complemented by a little more generalization." W. S. Lynch

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:24 Mr 18 '44 800w

Reviewed by Wayne Alvord

Social Educ 8:377 D '44 550w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 440w

Reviewed by Hubert Herring

Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 19 '44 600w

Wis Lib Bul 40:85 Je '44

PRICE, GEORGE. Is it anyone we know? (Murray Hill bk) [190p] $2.49 Farrar

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 44-8014

"Omnibus containing all the cartoons from 'Good humor man' and 'It's smart to be people,' together with some never before published in book form." Subtitle

Booklist 41:60 O 15 '44

New Repub 111:638 N 13 '44 120w

New Yorker 20:87 N 4 '44 40w

Reviewed by W. R. Benet

Sat R of Lit 27:17 D 9 '44 90w

PRICE, GEORGE WARD. Giraud and the African scene. 282p $3 Macmillan

B or 92 Giraud, Henri Honoré. World war, 1939—Africa, North 44-4148

An account of the invasion of North Africa, and of the life of General Giraud. The author is a war correspondent for the London Daily Mail, and gathered his material for General Giraud's life largely from the General himself. Explanations of French politics, Darlan and Vichy, and Giraud's relations with de Gaulle are contained in the book.

Reviewed by G. S. McClellan

Am Pol Sci R 38:818 Ag '44 230w

"It is very difficult for me to read 'Giraud and the African Scene' objectively. So long as Price puts forth his claims for military leadership for Giraud, he is on fairly sound ground because the general's record is good. But when he advocates by implication that postwar France—a France torn by political strife and other dissensions—will need a strong 'traditionalist'—Giraud—as head of a government imposed on her people, then I begin to wonder what all the shooting is for and about." Ernest von Hartz

— + Book Week p5 My 28 '44 500w

Christian Science Monitor p13 S 30 '44 550w

Foreign Affairs 23:10 O '44 30w

"Heartily recommended." S. E. Sherman

+ Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison

Nation 159:74 Jl 15 '44 600w

"Mr. Price is a veteran journalist and a capable one. When he reports plain events, like the Tunisian campaign, he can be crisp and vivid. He is neither a political analyst nor an artist. For a professional fact finder, he is singularly careless." Albert Guerard

— + N Y Times p10 Je 18 '44 800w

Reviewed by Frederick Gruin

Sat R of Lit 27:28 Je 24 '44 850w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 3 '44 650w

"This is an important book and will remain so. Moreover, it is so refreshingly candid that it cannot be ignored. In the way of historical detail it makes less of a contribution than earlier writings such as Wes Gallagher's 'Back Door to Berlin' and the articles of Demaree Bess in 'The Saturday Evening Post.' But it is important, because it relates the North African episode frankly and even a little brutally to the main picture; for while Ward Price presents his hero against the African scene where he knew him, his preoccupation is with metropolitan France and the whole continental scene. And it is refreshing that it goes all out for General Giraud, making, bluntly, a case for him, which in this country to date has been advanced only by indirection and usually in the form of attacks on General de Gaulle." Jay Allen

+ Weekly Book Review p1 My 21 '44 3250w

PRICE, WILLARD DE MILLE. Japan's islands of mystery. 264p il maps $3 Day

919.65 Islands of the Pacific. Japan—Colonies 44-3228

The author, posing as a professor of botany, penetrated the carefully guarded islands of the Japanese Pacific mandate, just a few years before Pearl Harbor, and returned to tell the story of Truk, Palau, Ponape, Guam, the Marianas, the Bonins, the Marshall and Gilbert groups, and Wake Island. Index.

"Willard Price, who has written several other books about the Orient, is an outstanding authority on Japan. His book is arresting throughout, crammed with information (at times a bit too encyclopedic), color and incident. It is a Baedeker as well as a thriller of the South Seas." Joachim Joesten

PRICE, W. D.—Continued
+ Book Week p3 Ap 9 '44 550w
Booklist 40:303 My 1 '44
Boston Globe p17 My 10 '44 220w
Cath World 159:478 Ag '44 100w
Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '44

"The slightly sensational title of this book conceals a serious, useful, and timely (though not very well written) account of the Japanese Mandated Islands in the Pacific." J. M. D. P.
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 19 '44 250w

"Mr. Price has long been unique among journalists as the man who actually visited the Japanese mandated islands and survived to tell the tale. He made his trip I should guess—he doesn't date it precisely—some seven or eight years ago. His record of what he saw and did in the islands is a truly engaging narrative in which a travel story is bolstered by solid fact drawn both from observation and standard reference works. The result is by far the best book on the mandates for the general reader, and it will be a rare specialist in Pacific affairs who won't find a great deal of value in it." C. H. Grattan
+ Nation 158:488 Ap 22 '44 600w

"A few years ago 'Japan's Islands of Mystery' would have borne that rather dreadful label, 'a travel book.' Even were it no more than that it would be well worth reading. It is pleasant—it is, if you follow me, almost unpleasantly pleasant—to wander again with agreeable people to fair, far places. The Prices are good travelers. They like people. They have achieved that most civilized of all conditions—humanly speaking, they are entirely color-blind. They at once made friends with the brown-skinned, little-known islanders who were there before the Japs came, who will be there after them." J. W. Vandercook
+ N Y Times p5 Ap 9 '44 850w

Reviewed by C. N. Spinks
Pacific Affairs 17:349 S '44 160w

"This is an engrossing book of personal experience, of the past and present of these strategic islands, with a graphic picture that no one else could give of just what has been happening there since Japan forbade visitors after she acquired the mandate in 1917."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 Je '44 240w

"A note to Japan's Islands of Mystery' states that it is 'for the most part new, but incorporates brief sections of the author's earlier work "Riptide in the South Seas" [American title: Pacific Adventure, Book Review Digest, 1936], revised to date.' It would, however, be more correct to regard the present book as a new edition of the former one, of which it contains the substance, and much of it is reproduced word for word. Mr. Price allows himself a little more frankness at the expense of the Japanese and their methods and his comment is no longer fettered by political good taste, but there are few additions to his facts."
Times [London] Lit Sup p304 Je 24 '44 390w

Reviewed by Victor Keen
Weekly Book Review p12 Mr 26 '44 750w

PRIDGEN, TIM. West goes the road. 226p $2.50 Doubleday
44-5272

Novel based upon the westward expansion of the United States after the Revolution. It describes the experiences of one Caesar Brown during the formative years of his life, when he was fighting Indians, building a home in the wilderness, joining Aaron Burr, and leaving him when he discovered his treachery, and in his love affairs with two women.

Book Week p10 Je 18 '44 50w
Booklist 40:356 Je 15 '44

"Good historical romance."
+ Kirkus 12:151 Ap 1 '44 170w

"As may be surmised, this is no mere tale of derring-do but a serious novel with a serious purpose. Unfortunately, the author has tried to include too much, and the dizzy rush of events makes the result seem at times more an outline for a book than the book itself. Historical settings and incidents are frequently evoked with a vividness which makes one feel; Yes, it must have been about like that. But other incidents of equal importance are barely sketched in, and there is little attempt at characterization except in the case of Caesar and two or three others." Jennings Rice
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 My 28 '44 700w

PRIEST, H. MALCOLM. Practical design of welded steel structures. 153p il $1 Am. welding soc.
671 Welding 44-5884

"A consideration of welding practice in the joining of girders, trusses, columns and beam connections. A reprint in book form of an article in The Welding Journal, September, 1943, with additions from the author's Engineering Essentials for Welders which appeared in the April, 1942, issue of the same journal." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:33 Ap '44

PRIESTLEY, JOHN BOYNTON. Four plays. 289p $2.50 Harper
822 44-8462

Collection of four plays, with an introduction giving their stage history. Contents: Music at night; The long mirror; They came to a city; Desert highway.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p3 O 22 '44 310w
Booklist 41:104 D 1 '44

"In spite of being thoughtful plays, these are still acting plays and again show the author's concern with concepts of time affecting the present. To be read—or produced."
+ Kirkus 12:336 Ag 1 '44 110w

"Highly recommended for drama collections."
+ Library J 69:762 S 15 '44 50w

"The plays are frankly experimental, exciting in technique and material. Two of them were distinct successes in London. The other two could conceivably meet the same fate, but as yet they have not been tried. None has been produced in America, and it is difficult to imagine New York audiences being enthusiastic about them, but that is not a fault which Mr. Priestley can remedy." Thomas Sugrue
N Y Times p27 N 5 '44 650w

"One of [the plays], 'Desert Highway,' a war play involving religious discussion, is probably too British in idiom to find favor here, and one called 'The Long Mirror' is based on a premise so out of common experience that it would seem unlikely to gain wide audience appeal anywhere. . . But the other two plays, which are experimental in technique without being in the least difficult to follow, are certainly vastly more worthy of production than most of the junk handed out to us (vide Mr. Nathan) last year, and for that matter this autumn, also." W. P. Eaton
+ — Weekly Book Review p16 O 22 '44 330w

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY. Office of population research. Future population of Europe and the Soviet Union; population projections, 1940-1970; by Frank W. Notestein [and others]. 315p $3.50; pa $2.75 Columbia univ. press
312.8 Europe—Population. Russia—Population 44-7447

"This monograph, first of a series, is a coöperative project of the Office of Population Research, Princeton University, and the Economic, Financial, and Transit Department of the League of Nations. . . Assuming national boundaries as of 1937 and the orderly development of inter-war demographic trends, and making no allowance for the effects of war or of migrations, the authors present a series of projections, scientifically formulated, of the population of European countries and the U.S.S.R. at five-year intervals, 1940 to 1970." Am Pol Sci R

Reviewed by Imre Ferenczi
Am J Soc 50:230 N 13 '44 1250w

Reviewed by I. M. Stone
Am Pol Sci R 38:815 Ag '44 410w

"This volume is a monument to skill, industry, constructive thought, and scientific insight." F. H. Hankins
+ Ann Am Acad 235:167 S '44 700w

"The extensive statistical tables and the methodological notes, including the use of calculus in projecting population curves, will be of interest chiefly to specialists in statistics. But one need not be a mathematician or a statistical expert to appreciate the significance of the conclusions in regard to politics, economics and the possible avoidance of future wars."
Christian Century 61:621 My 17 '44 380w

Reviewed by G. I. Burch
New Repub 110:824 Je 19 '44 650w

"The time is not far when every candidate for office in the State Department and any serious student of world affairs must know the basic concepts of this first comprehensive study on population projections. Those are strong words. But I want to emphasize at the beginning that this book, representing the joint efforts of the staff of Princeton's Institute of Population Research, is one of the few decisive documents to serve as guide for the peacemakers. It should play an important role in shaping long-term politics of the governments and in planning for the reconstruction of the world." H. W. Weigert
+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 Jl 8 '44 1700w

Reviewed by R. B. Vance
Social Forces 23:223 D '44 700w

PRINGSHEIM, PETER, and VOGEL, MARCEL. Luminescence of liquids and solids and its practical applications. 201p il $4 Interscience
535.3 Luminescence 43-17564

"About half of the book is devoted to the physics of luminescence; the remainder covers various applications such as the use of fluorescence in chemical analysis, luminescent paints and fluorescent lamps. There are a bibliography and many footnote bibliographical references." N Y New Tech Bks

Booklist 40:264 Ap 1 '44

"This treatise has but little resemblance to the one published by Pringsheim about twenty-five years ago. Both the theory and the practice of fluorescence have changed enormously since that time. It is the purpose of this work to present both of these in their present status of development and to elucidate the connection between the two as far as possible. . . Much scientific work of most exacting character remains to be done. The work of Pringsheim and Vogel is a most welcome aid and guide. The end will not be reached in a day, but its accomplishment will bring rich rewards both to science and to practice." S. C. Lind
J Phys Chem 48:163 My '44 200w
Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:64 O '43

"The present book is the best so far published in English and should be valuable for the general reader. There are quite a few errors—some obvious, such as the definition of the quantum yield on p. 23, which should be the reciprocal of that given; and others which are misleading. . . Despite such errors and despite also a somewhat unbalanced treatment of the various applications of luminescence, the treatment in general is sound, scholarly, and critical and the opinions expressed are keen and well balanced." G. R. Fonda
+ — R of Scientific Instruments 15:100 Ap '44 750w

PROCHNOW, HERBERT VICTOR, ed. Great stories from great lives; a gallery of portraits from famous biographies. 404p $3.50 Harper
920 44-4586

"In every life there come times of momentous decision, important turning points, tragedies, humorous situations or other experiences which are of transcendent human interest. This anthology consists of selections of such striking illustrations from great biographies. Moreover, these stories have almost invariably been chosen by the authors themselves, in other words, by those most competent and able to make the selections because of their exhaustive research in producing the biographies. In some instances, the authors have selected delightful, thumbnail sketches, humorous as well as serious, which are revealing character studies; in other cases, they have described great, moving, historical events around which the destiny of mankind seemed to revolve." (Pref) Index.

"An extremely wide range of human character and activity is revealed in this volume; from Washington and Lincoln to Lou Gehrig and F. W. Woolworth, from Confucius and St. Paul to Will Rogers and Calvin Coolidge. There is an interesting variety in the form of the selections, also. Finley Peter Dunne is represented by a brief group of stories, Winston Churchill by a brace of personal anecdotes, Charles Dickens by the record of his unhappy tour in the Midwest in 1842. . . I suspect that one of the chief values in the book—and one that I believe Prochnow has had in mind—lies in the fact that it will lead to increased reading of the books themselves, from which these good samples have been taken." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p3 Ap 23 '44 400w
Kirkus 12:188 Ap 15 '44 110w

"Although each individual study has a good deal of intrinsic merit, one cannot help wishing that Mr. Prochnow had used a slight amount of selectivity and organization in his function as editor. . . Nevertheless, the 'Great Lives' contains some of the fine prose writing of our day, as well as dozens of anecdotes which an after-dinner raconteur should find well worth his attention." Barbara Norton
+ — N Y Times p17 Je 11 '44 280w
Wis Lib Bul 40:109 Jl '44

PROCTOR, EVERITT, pseud. See Montgomery, R. G.

PROSKAUER, JULIEN J. Puzzles for everyone; il. by Robert H. Schoellhorn and Nancy P. Dryfoos. 176p $2 Harper
793.73 Puzzles 44-8087

Puzzles and tricks for the entertainment of both groups and individuals. All use simple materials, such as paper, coins, matches, and string. Solutions are given.

Booklist 41:120 D 15 '44
Kirkus 12:424 S 15 '44 60w
Wis Lib Bul 40:158 D '44

PRUSZYNSKI, KSAWERY. Poland fights back, from Westerplatte to Monte Cassino; il. by Hugo Steiner-Prag [tr. by Peter Jordan]. 191p $2.50 Roy pubs.
940.53438 World war, 1939—Poland 44-8374

"The book begins, after brief reference to the opening of the war, with the evacuation of the Polish aviators from Poland in mid-September, 1939. . . The next chapters deal with the escape of the Polish boats from Gdynia on receipt of the order, 'Carry Out Peking,' and the odyssey of the Polish submarines, after which the author turns to the Polish army formed in France and follows it through its adventures in France, Norway, Scotland, Tobruk." Christian Science Monitor

Booklist 41:87 N 15 '44

PRUSZYNSKI, KSAWERY—Continued

"Mr. Pruszynski's book is a valuable contribution to American understanding of Polish attitudes. This is no matter-of-fact narrative, the hashed-over story of Poles scattered all over the world, a depressing story of defeat. Quite the contrary. It is vivid, pulsating with life, and the reader finishes it with spirit uplifted." A. S. C.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 16 '44 380w

Kirkus 12:425 S 15 '44 170w

New Repub 112:94 Ja 15 '45 120w

"If any contemporary account of the French campaign must suffer from one-sidedness, the case of the Polish campaign of 1939 is much worse. Practically all we know is what the German military press chose to gloat over. These two books [by Pruszynski and by Wierzynski] represent almost the first efforts by Polish writers to deal with the subject in any way. It is a pity that they have not done more to break the German monopoly. Both books are aggressive examples of a certain genre of war literature. They are the kind of propaganda one is willing to forgive only because they are 'on our side.' On any other ground, one wonders about the paper shortage." Theodore Draper

— N Y Times p14 O 15 '44 700w

New Yorker 20:98 O 21 '44 90w

"[The author] states that it is nearer to Poland for the Polish Army in Italy than for the one which together with the Russian forces is now drawing closer to Warsaw. It is difficult to see the logic in this assertion for the only explanation is that it is propaganda which considers the Poles struggling on the Eastern front not as soldiers but as slaves of Stalin. It is unfortunate that this excellent journalist should have fallen prey to this propaganda, and instead of presenting an objective picture of fighting Poland, should show one side only. However, this he has done well." Antoni Gronowicz

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:13 O 28 '44 400w

"This book is the story of the Poles' unique war record on land and sea and in the air—the record of a beaten nation that kept on fighting. If the book has a certain aroma of propaganda, well, one can scarcely blame the Poles for wanting the story made public. Mr. Pruszynski obviously hopes the reader will not think he is grinding any political ax, but he cannot resist taking some side-swipes at Soviet Russia. Possibly he belongs to that Polish faction which would just as soon take on the Red Army next in order to save Lwow." Marcus Duffield

+ Weekly Book Review p14 O 8 '44 450w

PRUSZYNSKI, KSAWERY. Russian year; the notebook of an amateur diplomat. 189p $2.50 Roy pubs.

940.5347 World war, 1939—Russia 44-5170

"In 1941, after the outbreak of the Russo-German war, formal diplomatic relations were established between the Soviet Union and the Polish government in exile, and a Polish mission was sent to Russia. Xavier Pruszynski was press attaché to the new Polish Ambassador; and 'Russian Year' is his account of his travels from Archangel to Moscow and from Kuibyshev to the Volga while serving in that capacity." Weekly Book Review

Kirkus 12:190 Ap 15 '44 170w

"Mr. Pruszynski possesses unusual qualifications as an observer of the Russian scene. Born in Russia of Polish parents before the Revolution, he possesses a knowledge of Russian language, culture and history shared by very few recent foreign visitors to the Soviet Union. Add to this a keenly observant eye, a style that is always readable and sometimes brilliant, and one has the ingredients of one of the most interesting and informative books that have appeared on the Soviet Union at war." W. H. Chamberlin

+ N Y Times p22 Je 11 '44 440w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens

Springf'd Republican p8 Je 30 '44 420w

"Mr. Pruszynski is a professional journalist and a keen observer, and his descriptions of a Moscow cabaret, a press conference with Lozofsky, a discussion of religion and politics with a group of peasants, the war-time activity of Kuibyshev, and a boat trip down the Volga are well written and entertaining. So many books on Russia have rolled from the presses in the last few years, however, that even these scenes smack of the familiar; and this reader was left wishing that the author had stuck closer to his ambassador and had filled his notebook with material more relevant to our present and future problems." G. A. Craig

+ — Weekly Book Review p12 Je 4 '44 700w

PRYOR, MRS HELEN (BRENTON). As the child grows. 400p il $3 Silver

136.7 Child study. Growth 43-6970

Study of the development of the individual from conception to the age of sixteen, written for "teachers, parents, social workers, and all others who guide children." The book is divided into two parts: part one discusses the results of growth in general; part two presents the various levels of growth and maturing. Contains suggested readings, general and special diet lists, and an index. The author is professor of hygiene and medical adviser of women, Stanford university.

"A carefully annotated bibliography is of particular value, but the short paragraphs on various medical topics, details of embryonic development, lists of 100-calorie portions, and other such more or less technical material, do not seem so. Such materials will probably interest the college student but the public health worker will probably find them a part of his background or wish fuller information." Leona Baumgartner

+ — Am J Pub Health 34:78 Ja '44 120w

"Because of its content and nontechnical treatment, this book should make a useful addition to a library designed for the lay person in the study of child development. However, in the case of any individual reader, it probably should be supplemented by material giving a more adequate integration of the psychological data." W. E. Henry

+ El School J 44:182 N '43 600w

PUCKETTE, MRS CLARA (CHILDS). Old Mitt laughs last; drawings by Sandra James. 217p $2 Bobbs

44-3387

Story of an old Negro woman living among the Gullah Negroes on an island off the South Carolina coast. Old Mitt was not a Whooping Island Liver herself; she was an off-island person and her skin was not blue black like theirs. For fifty years Old Mitt lived her life as an outsider, before she was accepted, and then Old Mitt had the last laugh.

"This story, told with some charm (and considerable naivete) is somewhat in the Roark Bradford tradition, though it lacks much of his sparkling humor. It is superior in that there is no evidence of Bradford's possibly-unconscious-but-ever-present chauvinism and condescension. And it gives us a picture of that obscure and fascinating group of human beings known as Gullahs, the blue-black Negroes of the Carolina coastal islands." Rachel Hastings

+ Book Week p4 Ap 9 '44 450w

Booklist 40:305 My 1 '44

Kirkus 12:24 Ja 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by Beatrice Sherman

N Y Times p14 Je 4 '44 160w

" 'Old Mitt Laughs Last' is part story and part folklore, with snatches of song and the philosophy of the humble. It reveals Gullah life with evident knowledge and warm sympathy."

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 23 '44 390w

PUCKLE, OWEN STANDIGE. Time bases (scanning generators): their design and development; with notes on the cathode ray tube; with a foreword by E. B. Moullin. 204p il $2.75 Wiley [16s Chapman]

621.379 Timing devices. Cathode ray tubes
43-16247

"A discussion of the principles of the electronic devices and circuits that may be employed as scanning, or time base, generators in such instruments as cathode ray oscillographs and in television apparatus. Appendixes treat the cathode ray tube, the gas-discharge triode, the generation of square waves and other related subjects." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1007 D 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:6 Ja '44

PUDNEY, JOHN. Flight above cloud [poems]. 54p $1.75 Harper

821 44-4777

Collection of short poems, on the subject of the present war, by an English author, a member of the R.A.F.

"Pudney has written earnestly and at length of the thoughts and sensations of the fighting fliers, and, while many of the poems are marked and rather marred by haste, there are a few that rock the reader back on his seat with the intensity of their feeling, or the terseness of their expression." Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p11 My 21 '44 450w

Kirkus 12:132 Mr 15 '44 40w

"John Pudney has long moments of undistinguished verse and passages of propaganda; he has moments, too, when he breaks away from this background in a surprising way." Louise Bogan
+ — New Yorker 20:58 Jl 22 '44 90w

Reviewed by Nelson Algren
Poetry 65:51 O '44 120w

"A slim book of poems that will especially appeal to American readers because of the numerous references in it to United States fliers in England. There are sympathetic and understanding lines descriptive of the newcomers to Pudney's country." A. M. Jakeman
+ Springf'd Republican p8 My 24 '44 330w

Reviewed by Elizabeth Drew
Weekly Book Review p44 D 3 '44 370w

PUNSHON, ERNEST ROBERTSON. Conqueror inn. 274p $2 Macmillan [8s 6d; colonial ed 4s Gollancz]
44-4438

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p9 F 20 '44 90w

Kirkus 11:560 D 15 '43 60w

"The prosecution of the inquiry by Inspector Bobby Owen is all very good fun, but in one particular at least the solution does not come with that final, inevitable click that leaves us wondering how it was that we had not been able to fit the pieces of the jig-saw into their right places." J. D. Beresford
Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 20 '43 80w

"One of the best Punshons for several years, with an exciting plot, some intriguing characters and written with great spirit, but the solution is marred by a hopeless flaw." Ralph Partridge
+ — New Statesman & Nation 25:211 Mr 27 '43 110w

"This is an extremely intricate crime puzzle with an equally intricate solution." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p23 F 13 '44 150w

"Good in its class."
Sat R of Lit 27:37 F 5 '44 40w

"The puzzle is over-elaborate, and the solution is like one of those Chinese balls with a ball inside a ball inside a ball." John Fairfield
— Spec 170:598 Je 25 '43 70w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 26 '44 250w

"Not until some time after the tale has come to its satisfying end does one ask oneself whether Mr. Punshon has answered his initial question adequately."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p29 Ja 16 '43 150w

"At a late point Bobby Owen has sifted things down to four main points, all startling and significant for puzzlers. The home stretch is crowded with material for jigsaw fanciers to ponder. Then you can check up with the official explanation, or you can just sit back and watch the gifted Bobby perform his wonders. Either way, it's an impressive baffler by one of the better British practitioners." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p12 F 6 '44 220w

PUNSHON, ERNEST ROBERTSON. Night's cloak. 266p $2 Macmillan [8s 6d Gollancz]
44-4961

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p9 Jl 30 '44 90w

"Good, but tough on the Paper Saving Drive."
+ — Boston Globe p17 Je 14 '44 60w

Kirkus 12:183 Ap 15 '44 40w

"A good detective story, and the secret of who killed Mr. William Weston, millionaire and amorist, is well kept." Charles Marriott
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 14 '44 50w

Reviewed by Ralph Partridge
New Statesman & Nation 27:294 Ap 29 '44 120w

"Mr. Punshon's story of the investigation is interesting enough, but his concluding explanation of the ins and outs of the affair is much too long and extremely boring. Also, the author's misuse of personal pronouns constitutes mayhem against the King's English." Isaac Anderson
+ — N Y Times p14 Je 4 '44 90w

"Very best British brand."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:29 My 27 '44 40w

"Struck this reviewer as a run of the mill puzzler, with little to recommend it to discriminating whodunit fans." H. J. S.
Springf'd Republican p4d My 28 '44 100w

Times [London] Lit Sup p185 Ap 15 '44 120w

"E. R. Punshon is an old master at dressing up a puzzle with all sorts of clever narrative devices, not to mention his soothing way with prose. Result: joy for the fussier fans and plenty of entertainment for the rank and file, too." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p17 My 28 '44 120w

PURCELL, JOHN FRANCIS. Flights to glory. 184p il $2.50 Vanguard

940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations
44-3891

"The exploits of forty fliers in various theatres of this war are integrated in a book that is less a mere roster of heroes than an intelligent and critical discussion of the use of airpower under all conditions. It is based on a sound knowledge of the design, function, and history of aircraft which rounds out the accounts of the individual flights to make a good history of the war in the air, with special emphasis on the Pacific theatre." New Yorker

Booklist 40:324 My 15 '44

"Many of the stories are known, but they make good reading and author's intelligent analysis gives it value beyond the run-of-the-mill collections of this type. Recommended for junior- and senior-high-school ages if there are not already too many similar titles in collection." Eleanor Kidder
+ Library J 69:405 My 1 '44 100w

PURCELL, J. F.—Continued
Reviewed by Lena Barksdale
Nation 157:592 N 20 '43 10w

"The book is for the reader of any age who can distinguish a B-17 from an F4F, and those who can't will get some valuable pointers in the introduction on the growth of air power, in which is also discussed the types and uses of American military and naval aircraft. There are many dramatic photographs, too." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p20 Je 11 '44 160w
+ New Yorker 19:135 D 4 '43 90w

"It is a book that rouses pride and faith in our fighting forces. Illustrated with beautiful photographs."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:39 My 13 '44 50w

PURCELL, PATRICK. Hanrahan's daughter. 225p $2.50 Putnam [6s Talbot]
44-2596

Story of life in western Ireland. The hero is Joe Doyle, called home from the university at Dublin, to take care of his mother and the farm on the death of his father and brother. The heroine is a beautiful girl whom Joe met in Dublin, but gave up because of a feud plus his own poverty. For once the course of true love runs smoothly, with Hanrahan's daughter's aid.

"Clearly, this is a book written from the inside, for it is a book that only an Irishman could write; and, I am sure, only an Irishman could appreciate. But Irish or not, you can't help reading it with a brogue." E. J. Cronin
+ Book Week p3 Mr 12 '44 300w
Booklist 40:271 Ap 1 '44

"The novel gives us a vivid picture of Irish country life, sketches dozens of portraits of likeable Irish men and women, describes perfectly an Irish hurling match and an Irish country dance, and tells a charming love story."
+ Cath World 160:190 N '44 180w

"Leaning heavily on local color—traditions, customs, games and dances of the Suirside—the book communicates little beyond the rhythmic passion of its young author; and it was only in the crescendo description of Kilkenny City itself that I could feel any inherence between the language and its subject. . . I do not know what kind of writer Mr. Purcell wishes to become but certainly it is his rejection of the disciplines of poetry which has led him to produce the verbose 'poetical' novel he has done." Kappo Phelan
Commonweal 39:599 Mr 31 '44 350w

"Timeworn tale, rather charmingly told."
+ Kirkus 11:559 D 15 '43 150w

"A book of charm and romance, full of the goodness of earth and the contrariness of humans." Thomas Sugrue
+ N Y Times p22 Mr 19 '44 320w

"Mr. Purcell, who frequently shows an ability to picture Irish village life, appears to have read too much of the later O'Casey for his own good."
New Yorker 20:81 Mr 4 '44 70w

Reviewed by R. E. Roberts
+ Sat R of Lit 27:21 Ap 8 '44 290w

"What is outstanding in this book is the setting. Mr. Purcell was born on Suirside and knows the lovely Waterford country well. The local background of meadow and hill and bog is deftly painted in, and the speech of the characters is racy, individual and fascinating. The story abounds in amusing and unexpected dialogue."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p560 N 14 '42 240w

Reviewed by Kathleen Coyle
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 19 '44 500w

PUTTKAMMER, ERNST WILFRED, ed. War and the law. 205p $2 Univ. of Chicago press
940.531 World war, 1939—Law and legislation
A44-704

Lectures for students by eight professors of law at the University of Chicago. Contents: World war II and legal trends, by W. G. Katz; Civil liberties in wartime, by K. C. Sears; Alien enemies and alien friends, by E. W. Puttkammer; The armed forces and the civilian population, by Max Rheinstein; Law and labor relations in wartime, by C. O. Gregory; International cartels and the war, by E. H. Levi; Wartime price control, by G. F. James; Military justice, by Max Rheinstein; War and the rule of law, by M. J. Adler.

Reviewed by F. G. Munson
Ann Am Acad 234:140 Jl '44 700w

"These discussions . . . make the thought and knowledge of the learned authors really accessible to any careful reader." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 Ap 30 '44 180w

Reviewed by Archibald King
Columbia Law R 44:952 N '44 700w

"It seems evident that the purpose of these studies of American institutions, constituting the Walgreen Foundation lectures, were not intended to do more than state the problems; and a criticism of their limitations as contributions to public policy would be aside from their object. But it is regrettable that such distinguished authorities did not take the occasion to make a needed contribution to subjects replete with debate and controversy." R. N. Baldwin
Commonweal 39:603 Mr 31 '44 210w

Reviewed by H. A. Larrabee
Ethics 54:299 Jl '44 550w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:657 Jl '44 20w

"While the book does not provide definitive treatment for the various subjects discussed, it does help bring the reader up to date concerning them. The integration of the topics, in turn, illuminates broad processes of the development of law." C. B. Swisher
Pol Sci Q 59:293 Je '44 750w

"The last chapter is dessert for those who, unlike myself, enjoy a carousal in semantics, a typical Mortimer J. Adler discussion of war and the rule of law full of ten dollar words. Frankly, it does not mean anything to me; but on the other hand, I am sure Clifton Fadiman would love it. So take your choice. . . It is a book of some courage, with most of the chapters being mindful of the fact that it is practically impossible, in the mood of the American press, to have an informed American public. . . I have no comments to make on the chapter on Military Justice. It is not my dish but I enjoyed reading it. All in all the volume is one of craftsmanship rather than mere criticism and sniping. I wish our liberal journals would take note." M. L. Ernst
+ Survey G 33:261 My '44 550w

PUYVELDE, LEO VAN. Dutch drawings in the collection of his majesty the king at Windsor castle. 78p il 142pl $5.50 Oxford
741.9492 Drawings. Windsor castle 44-40166

Descriptive catalog of the drawings by seventeenth and eighteenth century Dutch artists, in the Windsor Castle collection formed by George II, III, and IV. There are also some 150 reproductions of the drawings. The compiler is a former director of the Royal museum of fine arts of Belgium. Index.

"The layman will find 'Dutch Drawings at Windsor Castle' on the heavy side because the book though an excellent and highly scholarly catalogue, is certainly not light summer reading. For the art historian, librarian and connoisseur it is a 'must' as a reliable reference volume to all the Dutch drawings in the Royal Collection." Katharine Kuh
+ Book Week p8 Jl 16 '44 360w

"A specialist knows what is a catalogue raisonné, but someone who wanted only a picture book might wonder whether there were not a good many pages in this book which he would not read. But that would be a mistake, for the meticulous descriptions of the drawings, even of those not reproduced in the plates, have a great charm in themselves. Has anyone ever observed that the people who describe drawings in a catalogue, with no other purpose in mind than that of making it impossible to confuse one drawing with another, reach an economy in descriptive style which is amazingly effective? . . The plates that follow the catalogue are of great interest, and it is hardly necessary to say so, for it is fairly well known that the Dutch were magnificent draughtsmen who looked at their landscape and at their people with tenderness and precision."

+ Commonweal 40:280 Jl 7 '44 700w

Manchester Guardian p3 Je 9 '44 120w

"The book is a mine of information for the student and for the true amateur in the older sense of that word." Howard Devree

+ N Y Times p10 Jl 2 '44 480w

Reviewed by John Piper
Spec 173:84 Jl 28 '44 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p284 Je 10 '44 260w

PYLE, ERNEST TAYLOR. Brave men. 474p $3 Holt

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Campaigns and battles—Italy. World war, 1939—Campaigns and battles—France 44-8735

Based on the author's dispatches from the American fronts in Sicily and France, beginning with the landing in Sicily in June, 1943, and continuing thru the liberation of Paris in September, 1944.

"The book is a reflection of the man; it is as honest as he is honest and because he has earned his living as a reporter ever since he could use a typewriter, there isn't a false note or overdramatization in it either." Quentin Reynolds

+ Book Week p1 N 26 '44 1350w

Booklist 41:88 N 15 '44

Reviewed by J. F. Dinneen
Boston Globe p19 D 6 '44 380w

Cath World 160:382 Ja '45 80w

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 20 '44 650w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 7:498 D '44 110w

"The book doesn't let the reader down, particularly not if he is an Ernie Pyle fan. For not only does it have all the human qualities associated with his writing of the men in combat and behind the lines, but—through the pattern of arrangement and selection and balance he manages to give an extraordinary sense of the scope of the European war fronts, the variety of services involved, the men and their officers."

+ Kirkus 12:460 O 1 '44 250w

"Recommended." H. G. Kelley

+ Library J 69:935 N 1 '44 70w

"There is scarcely a doubt that Ernie Pyle is America's favorite correspondent of this war, and that his name will become associated with it—just as Richard Harding Davis comes to mind in connection with the Spanish-American War and Floyd Gibbons in connection with the last war. . . Ernie Pyle is desperately scared, and says so in almost painful detail. He realizes that most of the soldiers are scared, too. He describes the hideousness of war with a realism which few correspondents have achieved. Ernie was doing a job which he hated but felt he had to do; and that was exactly how most of the soldiers felt about it. In fact, Ernie is the G. I. soldier—with the gift of expression added—the typical doughboy, wired for sound." Marcus Duffield

+ Nation 159:658 N 25 '44 300w

Reviewed by G. B. Hovey
New Repub 111:804 D 11 '44 1260w

"Ernie Pyle's new book, 'Brave Men,' is like his last one; that is to say, it is excellent and will unquestionably be at least as widely read. Like the last one it reads like a rambling but acutely written series of letters to the folks back home. . . Ernie Pyle knows the infantry and the artillery and the engineers and the air force and the ordnance outfits. . . He knows what squalor, discomfort, unease, fear and homesickness are—not merely because he can feel them all himself but because in his unassuming way he can get other fellows who feel these things to tell him about it. His particular and special gift is that he can put this down in cold type and have it sound just as it really is; neither too mawkishly sentimental nor uncomfortably restricted and embarrassed but simple, factual and human." C. L. Sulzberger

+ N Y Times p1 N 26 '44 1400w

"Mr. Pyle is honest, he is not pontifical, he knows that men in uniform have the same set of emotions and reflexes they had before they became men in uniform, and he is one of the very few journalists who can use 'I' without having it stick out like a sore ego. [He] has not written a great book; he has not even written a great work of journalism. He has merely told the story, as simply and straightforwardly as possible, of one man's experiences in an important event in history."

+ New Yorker 20:98 N 25 '44 130w

"Everyone readily concedes that the foot soldiers bear the brunt of battle, and it is naturally they with whom Mr. Pyle prefers to be and whose exploits he loves to recount. The doughboy will never have a more enthusiastic and effective advocate than this war correspondent. Their intrepid struggle during the landing on the French beaches and in the hedgerow fighting peculiar to Normandy has not been better explained than in this book. But he overlooks none of the supporting troops." Donald Armstrong

+ Sat R of Lit 27:7 N 25 '44 1000w

"Ernie has seen more war than any man should. It has worn him out, but in the process he has brought to every side street the muck and boredom and bravery of war. For a long time, and in homes where not many books are bought, 'Brave Men' will be read with pangs and with American pride." M. H. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 19 '44 500w

"Of all that he saw and heard Ernie Pyle writes with the simplicity of a good reporter. With no illusions of his importance he doesn't tell you what he feels; he lets you do your own feeling." Gertrude Springer

+ Survey G 33:506 D '44 550w

"Men in tanks and foxholes usually are too busy to write home. Also they are not so articulate as Ernie. But what he writes is what they would write if they could. They are grateful to him, and so are the folks at home, and that is why Ernie Pyle is the most widely beloved correspondent of the war. He came home from France not long ago, saying he had had all he could take. Certainly he did take war in large and concentrated doses. But let us hope that after a rest the ardor for his front-line job burns within him again." Marcus Duffield

+ Weekly Book Review p3 N 26 '44 900w

Wis Lib Bul 40:159 D '44

Q

QUAIFE, MILO MILTON. Lake Michigan. (American lakes ser) 384p il $3.50 Bobbs

977.4 Michigan, Lake 44-6558

History, anecdote and description of Lake Michigan and the men who have lived near it, from the days of the explorers down to the twentieth century. Bibliographical note. Index.

Reviewed by J. P. Pritchett
Ann Am Acad 237:228 Ja '45 250w

Reviewed by E. D. Branch
Book Week p1 Jl 30 '44 900w

Booklist 41:17 S '44

"History, geography and plenty of anecdotes combine nicely in this well-documented, informative book on the Lake Michigan area. . . For large libraries." F. W. Butler

+ Library J 69:765 S 15 '44 80w

Reviewed by Oscar Cargill
N Y Times p17 Ag 27 '44 450w

New Yorker 20:62 Ag 12 '44 50w

Reviewed by George Genzmer
Sat R of Lit 27:24 O 28 '44 400w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 3 '44 750w

QUAIFE, M. M.—Continued

"These two big volumes [this and Lake Superior by Nute] are an immense contribution to popular American regional history. The authors have applied themselves industriously to the vast and little known bibliography of their subjects, and on the whole have chosen with care the apportionment of space to the various periods of development. I would say that they have leaned over backward to stress the era of exploration and the days when the lakes were still largely Indian country." Stewart Holbrook

Weekly Book Review p1 Jl 30 '44 1000w

Wis Lib Bul 40:129 O '44

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANFRED LEE. Green turtle mystery; drawings by E. A. Watson. 238p $2 Lippincott
44-6794

Mystery story for young readers.

Booklist 41:44 O 1 '44

Cath World 160:282 D '44 10w

"Well written, plotted, and plausible humor for boy mystery fans."

+ Kirkus 12:342 Ag 1 '44 90w

"The humor is well done, and the conversations are sprightly. Not an outstanding book but all right for libraries that can afford to stock up on mystery stories for boys." Elizabeth Johnson

+ Library J 69:817 O 1 '44 70w

"Eight to twelve-year-olds really couldn't find anywhere a more reasonable or a more likable juvenile detective than Djuna." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p19 Ag 27 '44 120w

"Quite apart from the plot, it is a good tale."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:40 N 11 '44 50w

QUEEN, ELLERY, pseud. of FREDERIC DANNAY and MANFRED LEE, ed. Misadventures of Sherlock Holmes. 363p $2.50 Little

Doyle, Sir Arthur Conan—Parodies, travesties, etc. 44-3391

Anthology of parodies and imitations of Conan Doyle narratives. Of the thirty-three tales, twenty-five are classified by the editor as parody-burlesque, five as pastiches and three as stunt-imitations. The arrangement is chronological. Partial contents: The adventure of the clothes-line, by Carolyn Wells; Holmes and the Dasher, by Anthony Berkeley; The case of the missing lady, by Agatha Christie; The disappearance of Mr. James Phillimore, by Ellery Queen; The adventure of the two collaborators, by Sir J. M. Barrie; A double-barreled detective story, by Mark Twain; The adventures of Shamrock Jolnes, by O. Henry; The stranger unravels a mystery, by J. K. Bangs; The Canterbury Cathedral murder, by F. A. Kummer and Basil Mitchell.

"Rich meat for the Holmes aficionado, and a delectable dish for dipping into now and then for anyone. . . The comments by Queen are chattily, impressively erudite." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p10 Mr 26 '44 90w

Booklist 40:305 My 1 '44

"Super Splendid."

+ Boston Globe p17 Ap 12 '44 50w

"Respectful, waggish, farcical, all are appreciative of Holmes' domination of the mystery scene. Barrie, O. Henry, Clendening, Agatha Christie, Anthony Berkeley are but a few of the others, out of print or collectors' items, here reprinted for the first time. Ellery Queen has contributed some interesting biblio-anecdotes in his prefaces, so the whole adds up to a pleasant companion to Holmesiana."

+ Kirkus 11:561 D 15 '43 100w

"Something new under the Sherlockian sun. . . Queen's introduction is divided into two parts, the first a nostalgic reminiscence that will carry each reader back to his earliest acquaintance with Sherlock Holmes, the second a valuable contribution to factual, as distinguished from fanciful, Holmesian scholarship. If the characteristic Queen prefaces to the individual tales are sometimes more entertaining than the stories they introduce, that only adds to the sport." Howard Haycraft

+ N Y Times p15 Ap 2 '44 320w

New Yorker 20:90 Ap 8 '44 140w

"Diverting mixture of talented and trivial material. 'Must' for Sherlockians and pleasant pastime for all mystery fans."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 Mr 25 '44 30w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 9 '44 400w

"The number of finds recovered from obscure or out-of-print sources is richly rewarding, the surprises many, and if properly spaced in reading, this book of 'pastiches' should see you through the war." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 9 '44 200w

Wis Lib Bul 40:86 Je '44

QUENTIN, PATRICK. See Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C.

QUINN, THEODORE KINGET. Liberty, employment and no more wars. 241p $2.50 Hastings house

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. Reconstruction (1939-) 43-16134

"Mr. Quinn strongly affirms that capitalism can be made to work. Mr. Quinn's major problem is a political one—how to attain a maximum of participation in economic affairs with a minimum of state centralization. This may be achieved, he suggests, by the establishment of an Economic Senate which would coördinate all business activities." New Repub

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:7 Ja '44 10w

"Theodore K. Quinn offers the business man's practical supplement to Mr. Ruml's views. He knows his economic history and is not possessed by an easy nostalgia." B. B. Seligman

New Repub 109:402 S 20 '43 120w

QUINN, VERNON. Picture map geography of Canada and Alaska; with maps and drawings by Da Osimo. 114p $2 Lippincott

917.1 Canada—Description and travel—Juvenile literature. Alaska — Description and travel—Juvenile literature 44-3032

Facts about the history, topography, natural resources, and industries of the various sections of Canada, and of Alaska. Contains picture maps. For grades four to seven.

Booklist 40:307 My 1 '44

"The fresh feature of the book is its numerous maps on which the industry, or notable wealth, of each section is indicated by a picture or symbol." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 20:210 My '44 60w

"Interesting material, invitingly presented, of Canada and Alaska. . . Excellent source material for schools and libraries."

+ Kirkus 12:172 Ap 1 '44 90w

Wis Lib Bul 40:87 Je '44

QUONG, ROSE. Chinese wit, wisdom and written characters. pa $2.75 Pantheon bks.

495.1 Chinese language—Writing

"Miss Quong has undertaken to explain a few of the principal Chinese characters in terms of their pictorial origins. She leads us from the simple to the more complex, illustrating with quotations from the Chinese classics and aided by beautiful calligraphic characters in red done by Dr. Kinn Wei Shan." New Yorker

"Of all the books published in 1944 this is perhaps the most charming and the most difficult to read through. But since it would be uttterly foolish for anyone to try to read it through, this is no disadvantage. Rose Quong has conceived a brilliant idea and has carried it out equally brilliantly. . . And for sheer fun-to-look-at, Miss Quong's volume can't be beat."

+ Commonweal 41:378 Ja 26 '45 550w

"A glance at this book will give you a better idea of what the Chinese language is like than the article in the Encyclopaedia Britannica, and it stimulates you to want to learn it."

+ New Yorker 20:67 D 23 '44 110w

R

RACE: nation: person; social aspects of the race problem; a symposium by Joseph T. Delos [and others] [ed. by Joseph M. Corrigan and G. Barry O'Toole]. 436p $3.75 Barnes & Noble

261 Sociology, Christian. Race problems. Totalitarianism 44-2962

"A symposium comprising 10 monographs by Catholic scholars of Europe and America, undertaken by the Catholic university of America to furnish an intellectual weapon against the race theories of the Nazi party. The contributors examine the Nazi teachings concerning race, and the relation of the person to the state and to society, from the viewpoint of the Christian concepts of the dignity of the individual and the universal brotherhood of man. Not a popular book, but substantial." Booklist

Booklist 40:295 My 1 '44

"With some exceptions, the papers in this volume are not easy reading. The style is heavy with scholastic phrasing, especially in those chapters which are translations. The tragedy of such technical language is that the vital content will not be read by those who need it most. There is considerable overlapping, and there are sections, such as the synopsis of pantheism in the history of philosophy, that could well be omitted. But the whole is tremendously significant and should not be missed." J. N. Moody

+ — Commonweal 40:260 Je 30 '44 550w

Reviewed by Carey McWilliams

New Repub 110:852 Je 26 '44 360w

"The writing is uniformly scholarly and not so uniformly good." G. N. Shuster

— + N Y Times p6 Jl 9 '44 350w

RAFF, EDSON DUNCAN. We jumped to fight. 207p il $2.50 Duell

940.542 U.S. Army. Parachute troops. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-7404

Personal narrative of an American infantry officer who joined the airborne forces in 1941, and later commanded the first paratroopers in the invasion of Africa.

"Although the story is not told too skillfully, it has nevertheless an appealing simplicity and sincerity, and its wealth of material should make it valuable to military historians."

+ — Book Week p6 Jl 9 '44 170w

Booklist 41:10 S '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Je '44

Kirkus 12:268 Je 15 '44 160w

Reviewed by M. E. Clark

Library J 69:602 Jl '44 40w

"Colonel Raff has found the time to tell the story of his adventures in Tunisia, where, by a mixture of daring, bluff, soldierly skill, tact and diplomacy, he succeeded in holding certain vital airfields and communications centers against superior enemy forces. He tells the story in plain, soldierly language, with few adjectives to relieve its simple statements of fact, but the tale is one that Americans may read with pride. In his unpretentious way Colonel Raff has given us an admirable picture of how a gallant and intelligent American soldier responded to many puzzling situations that tested his brains no less than his courage." F. S. Adams

+ N Y Times p1 Jl 2 '44 900w

"The author, who commanded the battalion, writes well enough to be a foreign correspondent, uses the first person singular with commendable restraint, and has a good tale to tell."

+ New Yorker 20:79 Je 24 '44 90w

"The story is well told with a suitable mixture of strategy and personal adventure, and is interesting as being the first account of our paratroops in action." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 6 '44 350w

RAINE, WILLIAM MACLEOD. Courage stout. 237p $2 Houghton

44-40128

Western story.

Booklist 40:378 Jl 1 '44

Kirkus 12:7 Ja 1 '44 70w

"There is action right from Word 1, Chapter 1 all the way through and if anything this one rates a bit higher than Mr Raine's standard. It is only when he deals with the tender passions that one could wish the print had been even a little smaller. Here he seems not to be authentic, but on the bang-bang side he scores continuous bullseyes. Try this one." B. I.

+ — Springf'd Republican p7e F 6 '44 160w

Wis Lib Bul 40:56 Ap '44

RAINIER, PETER WILLIAM. Pipeline to battle; an engineer's adventures with the British Eighth army. 302p maps $2.50 Random house

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English. World war, 1939—Africa, North 44-2111

The author, a member of the Corps of Royal Engineers, had charge of supplying the British army with water, during the campaign in North Africa from 1940 to 1943. He describes his own experiences and the battles which he observed. The book was written largely at night, often in desert foxholes, to the accompaniment of sandstorms or the sound of battle.

"War books are good only if they have a point of focus. Rainier focuses his book on the principal need of men in the desert—water. And his book has fine cohesion because he never forgets his principal theme." Sterling North

+ Book Week p2 F 27 '44 600w

Booklist 40:268 Ap 1 '44

Bookmark 5:13 My '44

"Out of the war are emerging a few books that will be of definite historical value. They may be factual, or they may be colorful, but their importance over the longer haul is primarily based on their contribution to an understanding of some phase of the great pattern. In a compilation of such volumes Major Peter W. Rainier's 'Pipeline to Battle' deserves inclusion." R. R. M.

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 My 13 '44 380w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:659 Jl '44 30w

"This book is recommended to all types of libraries even though it covers sections of World War II about which much has been published. . . Problems of supply and importance of sappers are vividly portrayed." F. L. D. Goodrich

+ Library J 68:1049 D 15 '43 70w

Library J 69:463 My 15 '44 80w

Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 16 '44 50w

"Although he naturally gives an account of the whole campaign, his book is not, he stresses, a history of those times, for he was never in possession of any official statistics. He sometimes feels bound, however, to give estimates of the strengths of the opposing armies in men, tanks and guns. These are always very inaccurate. . . Nevertheless, I think the book is interesting and worth reading as the story of a campaign seen and written by a Denisov, a practical soldier recording

RAINIER, P. W.—Continued

his impressions of the battles, confused and inaccurate though they be. Like Tolstoy's Denisov, he hates red-tape: the staff officer at his desk, the quartermaster hoarding his stores, the mentality of the Base. His sound sense, loyalty and devotion to his job and his army makes one forget that his style is often reminiscent of Sapper. He is a man who does things and lets others argue the reasons why." Noel Annan

+ New Statesman & Nation 28:125 Ag 19 '44 550w

"Gifted with a grim, sardonic humor and a knack for bringing alive the sights, sounds and smells he encountered, Major Rainier has produced an unflaggingly interesting account of the African struggle. It is filled with anecdotes, humorous and otherwise, and with odd bits of personal observation." F. S. Adams

+ N Y Times p7 F 20 '44 850w

"We shall in due course have more technical and perhaps more accurate descriptions of the seven outstanding battles of the North African campaign, but we shall never get a more readable one. Packed with personal experience and shrewd and witty observation of men and affairs, this book reads like a novel throughout and yet deserves to rank as military history." Murray Harris

+ Sat R of Lit 27:28 Ap 22 '44 450w

Reviewed by S. H. F. Johnston

Spec 173:246 S 15 '44 430w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 19 '44 500w

"A book that simply bristles with information, with episodes related with humour as well as dramatic effect, with sketches of personalities sharply etched in, and with pictures of the campaign that make it vividly real."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p376 Ag 5 '44 900w

"One of the best war books written by men who have taken part in the campaigns as active participants rather than observers. . . Major Rainier is at his best when he is telling anecdotes of life in the desert, and these passages combine to create an atmosphere which must give any reader a feeling for what that life was like. . . 'Pipeline to Battle' is written with the same narrative skill that made Major Rainier's 'Green Fire' such an exciting book to read. He tells his story with quiet English humor and avoids the temptation to bewilder the reader with his technical knowledge or to over-dramatize the dangers that were an inevitable part of his experience." Russell Hill

+ Weekly Book Review p4 F 20 '44 900w

RAINVILLE, EARL DAVID. Intermediate course in differential equations. 213p $2.75 Wiley

517.38 Differential equations 43-17573

"A textbook written for students who have studied the subject in an elementary course. The author is Assistant Professor of Mathematics at the University of Michigan." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Book Week p11 Ja 23 '44 30w

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:66 O '43

RAISZ, ERWIN JOSEPHUS. Atlas of global geography. 64p il maps $3.50 Harper

910 Geography. Atlases Map44-158

An introduction to geopolitics which attempts to display "the spatial relations and natural resources" of our globe. It includes 32 maps in four colors, 16 in two colors, and 16 in black and white. Most of them are drawn in oblique orthographic projection, showing the continents on more or less of a slant, as if viewed from some point in space. There is an introductory section on the history of maps, and one on such world problems as disease, poverty, hunger, illiteracy, agriculture, religions, etc. The author is lecturer in cartography, institute of geographical exploration at Harvard university. Glossary.

"As an atlas to replace present-day types, which some geographers tell us do not give a proper relationship in this global world, this comes closest to providing the immediate stepping-stone from the flat world of our youth to the global world of our future." F. E. Manning

+ Book Week p4 Jl 16 '44 180w

Reviewed by Ernest von Hartz

Book Week p4 Jl 16 '44 170w

Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Je '44

Commonweal 40:116 My 19 '44 180w

Foreign Affairs 23:4 O '44 30w

Reviewed by W. D. Jones

Geog R 34:673 O '44 180w

Kirkus 12:274 Je 15 '44 170w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:502 Je 1 '44 20w

"Geography will certainly be taught in the schools of the future by this method, so the book is timely. But to excite and hold the interest of the young, and indeed of the old, these new style maps should be drawn by cartographers who have had some training in art schools. Nevertheless the university background of Mr. Raisz assures an authoritative presentation of fact, and, within its limitations, this book should prove a useful work of reference." Murray Harris

+ — N Y Times p22 Je 4 '44 160w

"'The Atlas of Global Geography' is a combination of a general geography and an atlas of world problems. The first part is almost too compressed, but I dare say the non-professional reader will like it for that very reason. The second section (on World Problems) is sorely needed today and I hope that Dr. Raisz lives up to his promise to expand it in the future. It is an excellent start, however." R. E. Harrison

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:5 Jl 1 '44 300w

Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 My '44 240w

Survey G 33:330 Jl '44 50w

"The claim that this 'entirely new kind of atlas' is peculiarly appropriate to the 'air age' is beginning to be a trifle irritating. . . Maps are tools; as with other tools, each has its own particular uses and limitations, but all should be treated with the respect and understanding that good tools demand. Those here provided have their own interest, but it is of a restricted kind."

Weekly Book Review p15 Je 4 '44 370w

Wis Lib Bul 40:129 O '44

RAJCHMAN, MARTHE. Europe; an atlas of human geography. 120p il maps $2 Morrow

914 Europe—Description and travel. Europe —Maps Map44-170

"A vast number of facts about Europe are crammed into Marthe Rajchman's little book, which is made up of about half text and the other half black-and-white maps of Europe as a whole and its individual countries. The maps illustrate all manner of things: climate, distribution of religions, distribution of races, sources of raw materials, birth rates and even the transfer of populations since the war began. . . For the most part Miss Rajchman lets the facts speak for themselves; but she does suggest that the Continent will not be fully restored to health until the great rivers, such as the Danube and the Vistula, are harnessed under regional authorities similar to our own Tennessee Valley Authority." Weekly Book Review

---

Reviewed by Harvey O'Connor

Book Week p4 N 26 '44 130w

Booklist 41:106 D 1 '44

Christian Science Monitor p14 D 18 '44 250w

Kirkus 12:460 O 1 '44 100w

"Although containing pertinent and some recent materials on population along with slight physical and economic data, the book is not well organized and the treatment of individual countries, sketchy and journalistic. The attempted solution of Europe's problems together with an effort to present background data within 117 pages is more ambitious than wise." Walter Hausdorfer

— Library J 69:882 O 15 '44 60w

"Experts in various fields may criticize this oversight or that emphasis, but the atlas strikes this reviewer as a substantial though eclectic survey well suited to the needs of the layman, who sometimes closes the expert's exhaustive study feeling like the little girl who said of a book, 'This book tells more about penguins than I want to know.' "

+ — Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 11 '45 250w

"Here in compact form, handy for reference, is a wealth of information that throws light on Europe's background problems."

+ Weekly Book Review p22 N 26 '44 150w

RAME, DAVID, pseud. See Divine, A. D.

RAMEY, RUFUS STANLEY. He's in the cavalry now. 192p il $2.75 McBride

357 U.S. Army. Cavalry 44-5339

In non-technical language describes the training for this branch of the service. Contains an account of the part played by the mechanized unit of the cavalry in the North African campaign. The author is the commanding officer of the headquarters of the 5th cavalry brigade at Fort Clark, Texas.

Booklist 40:391 Jl 15 '44
Kirkus 12:248 Je 1 '44 50w
Library J 69:463 My 15 '44 50w

RAMO, SIMON, and WHINNERY, JOHN R. Fields and waves in modern radio. 502p $5 Wiley

537.5 Electromagnetism. Electric waves. Radio 44-5616

"Fundamentals underlying radiation, waveguides, resonant cavities, transmission lines, wave impedance concepts and skin effects. Field and wave theory to conventional circuit theory." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 41:37 O 1 '44
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:502 Je 1 '44 40w

"The reviewer considers this the best work he has seen on this subject at this level." W. R. Smythe

+ R of Scientific Instruments 15:261 O '44 800w

RAMSDELL, CHARLES WILLIAM. Behind the lines in the southern confederacy; ed. with a foreword by Wendell H. Stephenson. 136p $2 La. state univ. press

973.716 Confederate States of America. U.S.—History—Civil war 44-2882

Study of the general economic and social conditions in the South which were back of the Civil war. Bibliography of the writings of Charles Ramsdell. No index.

"It would be less than the truth, not to say an injustice, to call this thin volume the fruit of thirty years of work on the history of the Confederacy. These three lectures were delivered in 1937 and scheduled for immediate publication, yet at the time of his death in 1942 Professor Ramsdell was still withholding the manuscript from the publisher for that final revision which the perfectionist in him could never call complete. Published posthumously, without the author's final revision, they constitute a distinctive contribution, but more than that they serve as a reminder of the loss that Southern history suffered because of the inhibiting modesty of a fine scholar. . . Professor Stephenson's admirable foreword and his bibliography of Ramsdell's writings give the book something of the character of a memorial volume that makes it the more welcome." C. V. Woodward

+ Am Hist R 49:754 Jl '44 550w

"A fresh and convincing analysis." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 F 6 '44 40w
Booklist 40:268 Ap 1 '44
Christian Century 61:564 My 3 '44 130w
Reviewed by P. V. Stern
Sat R of Lit 27:13 F 19 '44 350w
Social Studies 35:144 Mr '44 20w
Reviewed by R. D. Meade
Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 16 '44 320w

RAMUZ, CHARLES FERDINAND. End of all men; rendered into English by Allan Ross Macdougall; introd. by Denis de Rougemont. 222p $2.50 Pantheon bks.

44-51046

"Oddly, in view of the great esteem which he has enjoyed for the past twenty years in France, this is only the second Ramuz novel to be published in America. . . The book (it cannot possibly be called a story, for there is absolutely no plot and no characters, either, in the usual sense) is built of atmosphere rather than incident. From a series of scenes which give the impression of being drawn instead of written, there emerges a universal catastrophe in which, at one stroke, the world is coming to an end. It is with this very last moment, just before the final condemnation of everything, that the novel is concerned." New Yorker

Reviewed by R. R. Plant
Book Week p3 Ja 14 '45 600w

"Charactized by an 'insistent, ingenuous sort of art', this is an interesting, elemental, experimental work—and a beautiful piece of translation."

+ Kirkus 12:458 O 1 '44 120w

"I do not find an over-all symbolic or literal form in the story, and therefore it seems to me a series of disconnected scenes played by unrelated characters. The value of the book is in the brilliance of the individual scenes. . . Ramuz named this book 'Présence de la Mort' and the title should not have been changed. The presence of death—the sight and smell and sound and feel of it—comes through this story as sharply as through a Goya etching. But there is no corresponding sense of the presence of life." D. S. Norton

+ — N Y Times p5 Ja 7 '45 1150w

"It is hard to think of any other writer who can propound eternal metaphysical questions with such simplicity, but if you are not in the mood to contemplate the metaphysical, maybe you had better sidestep 'The End of All Men.' "

New Yorker 20:65 D 23 '44 270w
Reviewed by Robert Pick
Sat R of Lit 28:30 Ja 27 '45 700w

"Ramuz is open to the charge of coterie writing. De Rougemont defends Ramuz by saying that he is no mere regionalist and that he shows us 'man in his cosmos.' True, Ramuz's subject and message is universal, but the extreme stylization of his writing makes difficult understanding. Doubtless in America his audience will be composed only of those who are willing actually to read, to read and think and reread. Reflection on the book will bring conviction of its imaginativeness, inventiveness and power." A. H. Fuller

Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 440w

"With the famous Ramuz style, Mr. Macdougall has labored valiantly. This much discussed instrument of expression, with its syntactical eccentricities, its provincialism, archaisms, neologisms, ellipses, missing verbs and Biblical echoes, has been shaped and perfected through long years for the exact purposes of an author who would write like a painter; for an author who has succeeded remarkably in his ambition to capture sensations cleanly and immediately in words, without interference or impediment. No style could pose greater difficulties for a translator, and, although he has not performed the miraculous, Mr. Macdougall deserves credit for having preserved the character and characteristics of his original, for having scarcely diminished its singularity. In English, as in French, 'The End of All Men' is an arresting, astonishing, radically moving work of literature." B. R. Redman

+ Weekly Book Review p2 D 31 '44 1550w

RANDAU, CARL, and ZUGSMITH, LEANE. The visitor. 175p $2 Random house
44-40042

Mystery story.

"This expertly written book falls into no usual category; it is primarily a straight novel which becomes a mystery. The result is that the denouement may leave you feeling cheated —since none of the suspicions a reader usually has along the way in a mystery are aroused by the authors. At any rate, it's well worth reading." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p9 F 20 '44 180w

Booklist 40:236 Mr 1 '44

"An intelligent job."

+ New Repub 110:614 My 1 '44 60w

" 'The Visitor' proves to at least one inveterate reader of mystery stories that horror and suspense are at their most effective when you find them one sunny day sitting quietly on your own front doorstep arrayed in sheep's clothing. The authors of this book do not announce murder with the thud of a body and the signature of a popular detective; competently they tell their small-town humdrum story while murder slips in unobserved. You look up with a start to find death's dark face watching you. This seems to be the essence of good mystery-making." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p6 F 20 '44 400w

"Good at the start and finish, with some dreary stretches in between."

+ — New Yorker 19:88 F 12 '44 70w

"It's an ingenious idea for a story and even though some of the threads are weak, it has suspense enough to hold your eager attention until the boy's identity is finally revealed." Catharine Brody

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 5 '44 350w

RAPPOLT, FRANK A. Simplified mathematics and how to use the slide rule. 300p $2.95 Doubleday

510 Mathematics. Slide rule 43-15022

A refresher or home study course designed for the average man. Book is in two principal parts, the first covering arithmetic, geometry, algebra and trigonometry; the second containing simplified instructions in the use of the slide rule.

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:66 O '43

RATCHFORD, FANNIE ELIZABETH, ed. See Wise, T. J. Letters

RATHBONE, ALFRED DAY. He's in the subbusters now. 224p il $2.75 McBride

359.32 Submarine warfare. U.S.—Navy. World war, 1939—Naval operations 44-465

Story of the training for "sub-busters," the little vessels belonging to the navy antisubmarine command. The author was formerly an editor of the Scientific American. He went to sea on one of these small boats, while he was preparing to write this book. Illustrated with official navy photographs. For older boys.

"Comprehensive, up-to-date and well illustrated with official Navy photographs, this book will be of special interest to older boys. . . Recommended for libraries that can afford books on the specialized services." Marguerite Smith

+ Library J 69:120 F 1 '44 40w

"The most vivid exposition in the book is concerned with the use of armament at the Dam Neck firing range on the Virginia coast, firing with Bofors and Oerlikon guns and other weapons at aerial targets. It is well brought out that our navy, in the light of global war experience, is giving greater emphasis than ever before to small boat handling, abandon-ship drill, and swimming." G. W. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 12 '44 330w

RATHBONE, JOSEPHINE LANGWORTHY. Relaxation. 157p $1.75 Teachers college

131.3 Mental hygiene. Exercise. Fatigue
43-8466

The purpose of this book is to relieve the physically overwrought by recommending techniques which will "alternate periods of effort with periods of release." Contents: Concern about tension; Signs of tension; Physical factors in fatigue; Psychological factors in fatigue; Physical methods of treatment; Psychological methods of treatment. The author is associate professor of physical education at Teachers college, Columbia university. No index.

"Full reference is made to the technic of producing relaxation as used by Dr. Edmund Jacobson. One may experience difficulty occasionally in following the discussion on treatments because of the author's excursions too deeply into marginal areas. The recommendations for attitudes towards play in adult life are sound. . . The book, especially the first part, is very readable and should prove useful to persons who are interested in the causes of tensions and some of the ways for relieving them." G. W. Howard

+ — Am J Pub Health 34:291 Mr '44 360w

School & Society 57:644 My 29 '43 40w

RAUCH, BASIL. History of the new deal, 1933-1938. 368p $2.50 Creative age

973.917 U.S.—Politics and government—20th century 44-8426

"First of a two-volume work covers the period from 1933 to 1938, the second volume is to consider the subsequent years. Accepting the theory of two New Deals, author attempts to show that the primary aim of the first was recovery, that of the second, reform. Policies of first were based on economic nationalism, beneficial to big business and large-holding farmers, policies of the second, helpful to labor and small farmers." Library J

"Rauch writes with an air of self-assurance and calm authority. Acceptance or rejection of his perhaps partisan evaluation of the New Deal, of course depends upon the individual reader's opinion." John Norcross

Book Week p13 O 22 '44 320w

Christian Science Monitor p12 N 21 '44 350w

"An able summary. . . The case it presents is convincing. It leaves little doubt that the New Deal was a consistent and well-thought-out plan. Its ideals were politically desirable. Even in this favorable presentation, however, there is little evidence that Mr. Roosevelt and his advisors had any real idea how to meet the tragic incompatibility between our productive and our distributive powers."

+ Commonweal 41:109 N 10 '44 100w

"A good piece of work."

+ Kirkus 12:334 Ag 1 '44 170w

"More useful as recreating the period than as offering either a political, economic or social history of Roosevelt administration." Walter Hausdorfer

Library J 69:697 S 1 '44 90w

New Repub 111:877 D 25 '44 150w

Reviewed by Rene Albrecht-Carrie

N Y Times p10 N 5 '44 420w

RAUTENSTRAUCH, WALTER. Principles of modern industrial organization. 312p $3.75 Pitman

658.01 Industry—Organization, control, etc. Factory management. Efficiency, Industrial 43-18548

"A text prepared for the use of students who are beginning an inquiry into the problems of industrial organization, and for executives in industry who wish to review the principles of organization as applied to manufacture." Management R

Booklist 40:229 Mr 1 '44

"This book will be of interest to the busy executive of any manufacturing business who wishes to review quickly the principles of organization as applied to manufacture. Because the author places emphasis on methods of analysis by which the activities of the individual process centers may be studied, evaluated, and improved, this book should be of special interest to the chemical industry. The chemist working in production, the department head, or accountant who is interested in the establishment of process accounting will find this book of value." W. von Pechmann

+ Chem & Eng N 22:384 Mr 10 '44 300w
Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 20w
Management R 33:68 F '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:64 O '43

RAVEN, CHARLES EARLE. Good news of God; being eight letters dealing with present problems and based upon Romans I-VIII. 104p $1.25 Harper [5s Hodder]

230.3 Christianity 44-2046

The master of Christ's college and Regius professor of divinity at Cambridge university has written these eight letters based on the first eight chapters of the Epistle to the Romans. In them he makes an appeal for "the straight-thinking of science" rather than "obscurantism" in matters of religion.

Christian Century 61:1027 S 6 '44 230w

"It is an extraordinary difficult book to review. It would be possible to praise it very highly, for it is in many ways a beautiful book, with remarkable gleams of a deep personal religion. It would be equally possible to blame a good deal of it as the work of a sick, tired, and disappointed man. . . There really is too much dross mixed with the gold of Dr. Raven's book."

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 N 15 '43 550w

"Where he touches on the practical problem of Inter-communion Dr. Raven hardly does justice to the complications of the present situation, and indeed, he is in general inclined to under-estimate the strength (such as it is) of the position of those from whom he differs. Yet the fact remains that he has given the Churches a prophetic warning and message which it will be a grave peril to neglect." J. W. Hunkin

Spec 171:558 D 10 '43 900w

"Through the whole series of letters there runs a note of deep distress and a protest which is not always restrained; but this outcry against the forgetfulness of the liberal theology which is one of the treasures of Cambridge is a very timely criticism upon the tendencies of theology in our day."

Times [London] Lit Sup p584 D 4 '43 600w

RAWLINGS, ARTHUR LIONEL. Science of clocks and watches. 236p il $3.50 Pitman

681.11 Clocks and watches 44-6516

"This volume by an English authority, at the moment Principal Experimental Officer of the Admiralty Compass Department in London, 'is concerned primarily with the scientific principles of horology, but contains enough descriptive matter to be self-contained. Some elementary mathematical demonstrations have been introduced where they seemed necessary, particularly where a controversial issue might be involved.' Starting with 'Time and Its Measurement,' further chapters deal with such subjects as 'Oscillary Motion,' 'The Pendulum,' 'Dissipation of Energy by a Swinging Pendulum,' 'Electric Pendulum Clocks,' 'Escapement Errors,' 'Balance-Wheel Clocks and Watches,' and 'Isochronism of Balance-Wheel Movements.'" Scientific Bk Club R

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:700 S 1 '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:42 Jl '44
Scientific Bk Club R 15:4 Ag '44 180w

RAWLINGS, ARTHUR LIONEL. Theory of the gyroscopic compass and its deviations. 2d ed rev 182p il $3 Macmillan

623.86 Compass, Gyrostatic 44-4247

"Revised edition contains later development of the Sperry compass and includes the Arma Corporation of Brooklyn compass. First chapters contain general theory of the simplest forms of gyrocompass not immediately applicable to compasses of present use. Followed by discussion on actual instruments used today in the world's navies and merchant ships, having some special provision to prevent deviation when the compass is carried in a rolling ship. These gyrocompasses are the Anschutz, Arma, Brown, Sperry and Harrison-Rawlings modification, the author being co-inventor. Technical book by an authority who is a scientific consultant for the British ministry of War Transport." Library J

Booklist 40:321 My 15 '44
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:303 Ap 1 '44 140w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:23 Ap '44

RAY, OSCAR, pseud. See Farkas, A. A.

RAY, RANDOLPH. Marriage is a serious business. 164p $2 (Whittlesey house publication) McGraw

173.1 Marriage 44-2234

Some comments and advice on the subject of marriage and the family by the rector of the "Little Church around the Corner" in New York.

"The book is interestingly written and easy to read. But, make no mistake, the nuggets therein are not only for the girl and boy contemplating marriage but will do much for the man and woman who have long been married, in helping them to appreciate anew the vows which bind them." Ann Landers

+ Book Week p7 Mr 19 '44 300w
Booklist 40:295 My 1 '44
Christian Century 61:306 Mr 8 '44 100w

"Here is a book that will prove helpful to the clergy who perform marriages, to the young people who contemplate them, to the mothers who wish to manage them, and even to those who are already married. The book is full of wise advice, kindly humor, deep insight. Considerable consideration is given to one of our present problems—war marriages." W. L. Caswell

+ Churchman 158:21 Ap 15 '44 120w
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '44
Reviewed by Lee Vincent
J Home Econ 36:657 D '44 350w

"Liberal, sensible, understanding advice. And timely."

+ Kirkus 12:17 Ja 1 '44 80w

"Though the Little Church may have its own methods of keeping up its reputation, wary readers, shying away from the title, will be agreeably disappointed if they expect to find in this book a combination of Dorothy Dix and Aimée Semple McPherson. Dr. Ray has no easy advice to give; in fact, he has an unsettling way of bringing up certain problems which are much pleasanter when ignored. Talking more like a hard-headed family doctor than an idealist, he would like us to divert some of our attention from remapping the world to remapping that unspectacular foundation of civilized society called marriage." Marjorie Farber

+ N Y Times p4 Mr 5 '44 650w

"The book is full of excellent quotations from various authorities and Dr Ray's own easy, witty style produces a flow of epigrams which will be widely quoted. . . Those long married will find it packed with thoughtful suggestions and those about to be married will profit from its wise counsel." H. H. Wagner

+ Springf'd Republican p4d S 10 '44 650w

RAY, RANDOLPH—Continued

"Though war weddings take enough of the book to make it timely, it will not lose its value with war time. As Dr. Ray sees it, marriage is never finished; there is always something to be solved as long as ye both shall live. And if, in these reports from a clergyman with whom marriage has been a constant preoccupation, sex instruction takes relatively little space it is because the facts of life are a trifle overdue if they are first mentioned at the point of marriage, which is where the clergyman comes in." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p17 Mr 12 '44 600w

RAYNOLDS, ROBERT. May Bretton. 342p $2.75 Putnam

44-3416

"The story tells of May's efforts to make a life for herself in this environment [a hamlet in western Connecticut], which she loves, and of the tragic hindrances she meets with from the dishonesty, obtuseness and jealousy of her fellow human beings." Weekly Book Review

"If this had a spark of humor one might think it a modernized Neither Maid, Wife Nor Widow—a satire on the pure milkmaid. As it stands, with that theme outmoded, it strikes me as simply a very bad book."

— Kirkus 12:151 Ap 1 '44 190w

"What is one to make of this 'exceptional' story? As a defense of free love there are too many apologies and self-conscious allusions to suffering heroines. As a modern 'Scarlet Letter,' on the other hand, it is too obviously lacking in tragic overtones and a certain magnitude. Mr. Raynolds' dilemma is plainly that of the impressionable writer, who is faintly aware of the 'purpose' of literature, and has as yet no positive conviction of his own to give living substance to what he writes." Nona Balakian

— N Y Times p23 My 28 '44 650w

"Since writing the Harper prize novel, 'Brothers in the West,' some seasons ago, Robert Raynolds has devoted most of his time to the drama. He now turns again to the novel form with 'May Bretton,' a warm, event-packed story of a girl's search for fundamental values in a society rendered doubly unstable by the impact of war abroad and the confusion resulting from the encroachment of the modern tempo of life on the older, quieter pattern of a New England village." Jennings Rice

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Je 4 '44 750w

REA, GARDNER. The gentleman says it's pixies [cartoons] introd. by Odgen Nash; ed. by Gurney Williams. 80p $1 McBride

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 44-8687

A collection of cartoons selected from 250 issues of Collier's weekly.

"With cartoon books proving good merchandise, this has distinction of style and humor."

+ Kirkus 12:314 Jl 15 '44 70w

"There's nothing very sensational here, just some pleasant studies of humanity pursuing its accustomed course. One or two well-bred ladies picnicking with a tree, an average householder swinging from a chandelier, an airplane in playful mood, frolicking with a mechanic—humdrum stuff, but skillfully done." Isabelle Mallet

N Y Times p7 S 24 '44 60w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p5 D 3 '44 60w

READ, GEORGIA WILLIS, ed. See Bruff, J. G. Gold rush

READ, GRANTLY DICK. Childbirth without fear [Eng title: Revelation of childbirth]. 259p $2.75 Harper [21s Heinemann]

618.4 Labor (obstetrics). Pregnancy SG 44-56

"Dr. Read, an English physician, has demonstrated that childbirth can be a joyful and satisfying experience, and in this challenging book 'presents as simply as possible a theory of natural childbirth, and its application both during pregnancy and parturition,' based on his own observations. . . For fifteen years Dr. Read has been practicing and discovering 'in the uncharted waters of natural childbirth.' He has found that fear, pain, and tension are not normal but have been introduced by civilization. He discusses the tiredness of body and mind that intensify pain, the possible causes and probable intensity of fear-producing factors relevant to childbirth, including the opinions of friends, families and doctors, and ignorance of the facts." Scientific Bk Club R

"One can hope that Childbirth Without Fear will soon be followed by reports of the testing of Dr. Read's theories and practices. In the meantime, doctors, midwives, and nurses can ill afford to miss reading this book." Hazel Corbin

+ Am J Pub Health 34:664 Je '44 550w

Booklist 40:264 Ap 1 '44

Scientific Bk Club R 15:2 F '44 390w

Wis Lib Bul 40:52 Ap '44

READ, WILLIAM THORNTON, Industrial chemistry. 3d ed 631p il $5 Wiley

660 Chemistry, Technical 43-17765

"Follows the general plan of earlier editions [Book Review Digest, 1933, 1938] but inclusion of some new material has been limited by wartime restrictions. 'A great deal of information about the present status of industries depending on chemistry is either not available or cannot be published. Under these circumstances the purpose of this edition has been to present, as far as possible, a picture of industrial chemistry as it was at the beginning of the year 1942.' " Booklist

"It is perhaps unavoidable that at the time they graduate from college young chemists will be more familiar with the personalities of professional baseball players than of the great chemists and know more about the achievements of football teams than of teams of chemists and engineers representing our great chemical companies. But why encourage this weakness in our educational system? Why describe Neoprene and Nylon without mentioning the du Pont Company? Or the recovery of bromine and magnesium from the ocean without mentioning the Dow Chemical Company? These criticisms refer to relatively minor matters since they concern missed opportunities rather than actual blunders. The book contains a great deal of information clearly and accurately presented. Any young chemist, whether still a student or at the beginning of his industrial career can broaden his knowledge and substantially improve his prospects of professional advancement by a study of this book." Grinnell Jones

+ — Am Chem Soc J 66:503 Mr '44 1150w

Booklist 40:215 F 15 '44

"To the undergraduate student of industrial chemistry, the third edition of Dr. Read's book will serve as a lucid and authoritative introduction to our modern chemical and process industries. Well written and not burdened with masses of secondary details, the work covers the principal chemical raw materials, processes and products of industry and relates these to basic economics and chemical engineering operations." J. R. Callaham

+ Chem & Met Eng 51:205 My '44 250w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 68:1007 D 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:61 O '43

RECK, FRANKLIN MERING. Beyond the call of duty. 175p $2 Crowell

940.548173 Decorations of honor. World war, 1939—U.S. U.S.—History, Military 44-8663

"In the first 20 months of World War II, only 16 men received the Congressional Medal of Honor. This book tells the story of the first 16, plus two Air Corps officers who took part in a ground action in Africa." School & Society

"Franklin Reck, formerly editor of American Boy, brings to these accounts a quality of writing which makes them stirring reading." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p6 N 12 '44 300w

Booklist 41:75 N 1 '44

Kirkus 12:435 S 15 '44 70w

"Recommended for ages twelve to sixteen years." S. J. Robinson

+ Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 80w

Reviewed by John Tunis

N Y Times p8 N 12 '44 80w

Sat R of Lit 27:44 N 11 '44 30w

School & Society 60:256 O 14 '44 40w

Reviewed by G. K. Moriarty

Springf'd Republican p8 D 1 '44 330w

REDDEN, JOHN D., and RYAN, FRANCIS ALOYSIUS. Freedom through education. 204p $2.50 Bruce pub.

323.44 Liberty. Education—U.S. 44-9323

"A clear, succinct interpretation of the scope, meaning and application of the Four Freedoms, and the manner in which they can be appropriately implemented by education." School & Society

Reviewed by R. J. Hurley

Library J 69:502 Je 1 '44 130w

School & Society 60:304 N 4 '44 30w

REDFIELD, HOLLAND L. Instrument flying and radio navigation. 195p il $3 Ronald

629.13252 Airplanes—Piloting. Radio in aeronautics. Aeronautical instruments 44-8456

"A simplified, practical explanation of the technique of instrument and radio flying. Written for the person with some flying experience, it briefly summarizes the fundamentals of contact flying, and proceeds directly to a description of each instrument essential to instrument flying, together with an account of its use in actual flight. Most of the book deals with methods of flying by means of radio aids and covers such topics as radio range, beam bracketing, locating the range station, orientations, the radio direction finder, homing and position plotting. There is also a chapter on the Link trainer." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 69:1003 N 15 '44 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:39 Jl '44

REDIFER, ALBERT E. Lifeboat manual; containing the very latest information on the construction, operation and equipment of lifeboats, rafts, floats and buoyant apparatus; with il. by the author. 163p $2 Cornell maritime

623.86 Lifeboats. Life-saving apparatus 44-40053

"The information is given mainly in question and answer form and is intended for seamen preparing for certificates of efficiency as lifeboatmen. There are a glossary and a general index. This book will be useful in libraries having a nautical clientele." N Y New Tech Bks

Booklist 40:264 Ap 1 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:7 Ja '44

REECE, ERNEST JAMES. Programs for library schools. 64p pa $1 Columbia univ. press [6s 6d Oxford]

020.7 Library schools and training 43-10222

"An effort to acquaint the librarian with the rich backgrounds of his profession, the many 'resources in his charge,' and those fields of knowledge that are pertinent to his work. Teachers of library science will find in the book 'a revaluation of the library school.'" School & Society

"The pamphlet is a pleasure to read, both for its style and because every now and again it gives us the satisfaction of saying aloud while reading: 'That's just what I think!'" Wayne Shirley

+ Library J 69:258 Mr 15 '44 550w

"I believe this little book is so important in its ideas and in its potentialities for the library profession that I could wish that it were a little easier going, so that it might be read by far more than the relatively few librarians who are engaged in education for their profession. For them it is essential." S. B. Mitchell

+ Library Q 14:165 Ap '44 950w

School & Society 57:692 Je 19 '43 40w

REED, MRS ANNA (YEOMANS). Guidance and personnel services in education. 496p $4.75 Cornell univ. press [28s Oxford]

371.422 Personnel service in education 44-7929

"The purpose of the book is to present . . . the whence, how, and where of the guidance and personnel movement and to question its whither: (1) to tell a unified story, from the original records, of how four segments of a guidance movement came into being during the first decade of the twentieth century and are now waiting for co-ordination and integration; (2) to present the universally recognized principles, practices, tools, and techniques which are essential to the proper understanding and performance of the guidance function; (3) to take stock of the present assets and liabilities of guidance and personnel services, to point out fundamentals and permanent values which are progressively facilitating the fulfillment of the 'promise of America,' and to note deficiencies which are calling for authoritative attention." Pref

School & Society 60:144 Ag 26 '44 90w

"Professor Reed has made a vital contribution to the thinking and the literature of guidance. She has presented new documentary evidence which serves both as history and as an indication for future action. The book presents a more complete over-all view of guidance than any publication to date; it is not only a historical review but a critique and a forward-looking program. . . This book should be foremost on the current reading lists of counselors and school administrators, and it will be read with profit by anyone interested in guidance and personnel problems in schools, colleges, industry, or the community." R. C. Woellner

+ School R 53:57 Ja '45 1300w

REEVE, JOSEPH EDWIN. Monetary reform movements; a survey of recent plans and panaceas; with an introd. by Willard L. Thorp. 404p $3.75; pa $3.25 Am. council on public affairs

332.413 Money—U.S. 43-8357

"This book is a thorough, complete, and fairly objective study of monetary reform movements during the period 1929-39. Interestingly written, it includes a discussion of the programs of monetary reformers, like Father Coughlin and Irving Fisher, as well as detailed analyses of various monetary proposals for controlling the volume and the velocity of money." Ann Am Acad

REEVE, J. E.—Continued

"Reeve has written a well-balanced and well-organized history of the period. The conflicting arguments are presented fairly, and Reeve's comments upon them reflect a thoughtful and critical appraisal." G. W. Coleman

+ Am Econ R 33:918 D '43 1500w

"This monograph is indispensable to an understanding of the proposals for monetary reform that clogged the mails and agitated the lobbies of Washington for a decade after the crash of 1929. Written by a permanent official of the Budget Bureau it is based upon a comprehensive survey of primary materials. Its appearance in the midst of a war financed by inadequate taxation and heavy borrowing, supported by bank credit expansion and currency inflation, is especially timely." C. McA. Destler

+ Am Hist R 49:359 Ja '44 420w

Reviewed by R. A. Lester

Ann Am Acad 229:219 S '43 430w

REIK, THEODOR. A psychologist looks at love. 300p $3 Farrar

157.3 Love 44-7338

"Whatever love is, says the author, a pupil, friend, and colleague of Sigmund Freud, it isn't what Freud thought it was. Freud's libido theory was a magnificent mistake. Love and sex are anything but identical, and the great psychoanalyst's idea that a primitive sexual urge is the origin of love was a biological prejudice rather than a psychological insight. 'Sex,' Dr. Reik says, 'appears as a phenomenon of nature, common to men and beasts. Love is the result of a cultural development and is not even found among all men. . . Sex can be casual about its object. Love cannot. Love is always a personal relationship.' " New Yorker

Reviewed by R. J. Bender

Book Week p4 S 10 '44 380w

"Dressed up by literary allusions, psychological terminology, it is the same old story. . . But remember the whirlwind success of Collins' books, and don't be surprised if a new generation takes this."

Kirkus 12:294 Jl 1 '44 190w

"As a popular book this one can be moderately recommended. The layman addressed will find here much that he already knows, buried in puns and paradoxes, aphorisms and quotations from the poets. But he will also find new insight, shrewd and profound, based on a lifetime of warm and human observation—however cloistered the observation post may seem." Marjorie Farber

N Y Times p29 O 8 '44 550w

"The number of geniuses in any field is always small, and a lot of people, who know they are strictly of non-genius material but have always thought that love was something within the reach of every man and woman, may find themselves depressed by Dr. Reik's dictum that in love, as in art, many are called but few are chosen. He is only speculating, however, and his theory needn't cause anyone to shy away from his well-written and entertaining book."

+ New Yorker 20:78 S 9 '44 270w

REILLY, MRS HELEN (KIERAN). The opening door. 242p $2 Random house

44-2895

Detective story.

"The plot may have a familiar ring in places, but the people are real—human, moving and believable." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p11 F 27 '44 180w

Booklist 40:356 Je 15 '44

Bookmark 5:20 My '44

Kirkus 12:8 Ja 1 '44 60w

"As is always the case in Helen Reilly's novels, the various characters come to life in her pages, and their problems become for the time being the personal problems of the reader who is fortunate enough to have chosen this book." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p10 F 20 '44 120w

"A good job, on the whole, but you'll probably be more interested in the way McKee works out a tricky problem in ballistics than in Miss Flavell's emotional problems, which are numerous."

+ New Yorker 20:88 F 19 '44 90w

"Not Mrs Reilly at her best." B. I.

Springf'd Republican p7e F 20 '44 110w

"If ever we saw a mystery suitable for practically everybody, this is it. . . Mrs. Reilly has gone to town in every department of this baffler, herewith recommended to all and sundry." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p14 F 20 '44 350w

REINER, MARKUS. Ten lectures on theoretical rheology. 163p il $4.50 Nordeman

532.1 Rheology

"Preliminary textbook on that branch of physics which deals with the deformation and flow of materials which forms a scientific background for plasticity, viscosity and elasticity, mechanical properties of solids and liquids." Library J

"The author apologizes for not having kept his subject as up to date as he would have wished. This is true, but it is a minor drawback for a treatise of such fundamental character. If the reader follows the presentation of this book and familiarizes himself with it, he will have but little difficulty in studying and appreciating the more recent contributions in this field. He will certainly always be grateful to Dr. Reiner for being such a conscientious and elucidating guide on the way through the modern rheological problems." H. Mark

+ Chem & Eng N 22:848 My 25 '44 270w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 40w

Special Libraries 35:101 Mr '44

REINES, BERNARD JACOB. For country and mankind; twelve plays about dreams that came true. 241p $2.25 Longmans

792 44-47178

Twelve short plays suitable for amateur production, dealing with figures in American history and life who have helped to make the American dream "come true." Contents: The making of Mark Twain; Citizen Franklin of Philadelphia; So precious a gift; Pulitzer of "The World"; Audubon makes his decision; Walter Scott's American guest; Clara Barton, lady of mercy; Edison's light; From this small beginning; Horace Mann, American educator; Louis Pasteur; Rizal of the Philippines.

"Not what you call high style, but salutary."

Kirkus 12:337 Ag 1 '44 90w

Library J 70:70 Ja 15 '45 20w

School & Society 60:336 N 18 '44 80w

REISER, OLIVER LESLIE, and DAVIES, BLODWEN. Planetary democracy; an introd. to scientific humanism and applied semantics. 242p $2 Creative age

144 Humanism—20th century. Democracy. International cooperation 44-3716

"The authors present their thoughts on the intellectual and social unification of the peoples of the world, in the belief that in this way a new slavery of global technologies can be averted. Briefly stated, the old nationalism must give way to a new school of global or planetary attitude. This is scientific humanism, chiefly reconstruction of our civilization by global thinking. Applied semantics, which is discussed, is a tool for the purpose." Current Hist

"The authors have set forth some ambitious and praiseworthy ideals in a scholarly manner."

+ Current Hist 7:51 Jl '44 80w

Kirkus 12:88 F 15 '44 130w
Reviewed by J. H. Berthel
Library J 69:262 Mr 15 '44 110w
Reviewed by John MacCormac
N Y Times p12 S 24 '44 440w

REISNER, MARY. House of cobwebs. 223p $2.50 Dodd

44-3418

Psychological mystery-murder story.

"Plausible characters and competent writing make this a better than average job."
+ New Repub 110:478 Ap 3 '44 60w
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 2 '44 180w
Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p19 Ap 2 '44 80w

RENARD, HENRI. Philosophy of being. (Science and culture text) 256p $2.50 Bruce pub.

111 Ontology. Reality [44-28630]

"This volume is an introductory textbook in metaphysics, intended, according to the editor of the series, 'to introduce the student to sound Thomistic principles and inspire him to meet successfully the problems of our age.' Attention is focused on the position of Thomas himself rather than on the refutation of the 'errors' of others, the basic tenets of his metaphysics being considered under the headings of 'Act and Potency,' 'The Notion of Being,' 'The Causes, the Transcendentals, and the Predicaments.' " Ethics

Reviewed by Marjorie Grene
Ethics 55:78 O '44 70w
J Philos 41:194 Mr 30 '44 300w

RENDER unto Caesar [our heritage of religious thought from the four great American wars] a collection of sermon classics on all phases of religion in wartime [comp. by Bernard Lewis]. 223p $2 Lewis pub. co, 47 West st, N.Y. 6

252 War and religion. Sermons 43-16979

"An interesting selection of wartime sermons including three from Revolutionary days, three from Civil War times (all on the northern side), four from World War I and eleven from World War II." Christian Century

Christian Century 60:1474 D 15 '43 80w

"The publishers describe the contents of this volume as 'Our Heritage of Religious Thought From the Four Great American Wars,' and also as 'A Collection of Sermon Classics. . .' We may allow 'Heritage' and 'Classics' for the sermons up to 1861 (six) but not for those between 1917 and 1943 (sixteen). If these latter truly 'present a fair picture of the American pulpit during this crisis,' then God help the American pulpit!" F. J. Moore
— Churchman 158:16 F 15 '44 120w

RENNER, GEORGE THOMAS, ed. Global geography [by] George T. Renner and associates. 680p il maps $5; text ed $3.75 Crowell

910 Geography 44-5127

Study of the relationship of peoples, nations, and current events in their appropriate settlements. The book is divided into four sections: part one covers physiographical features; part two surveys such geonomic problems as conservation; part three takes up geo-cultural problems, races, and population distribution; and part four is on geopolitics. Bibliographical references for each chapter. Index.

"It is no reflection upon any author that the book in its entirety is disappointing, and that it does not fulfill the requirements emphatically set out in the Preface; the authors have done their best, and their work measures up. But as a textbook it just does not succeed in giving 'the average reader a viewpoint and method of thinking which he can carry through life as an active intellectual tool,' as the Preface promises." W. E. Ekblaw
Ann Am Acad 235:147 S '44 500w
Booklist 40:376 Jl 1 '44
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44
Reviewed by R. E. Harrison
Sat R of Lit 27:5 Jl 1 '44 300w

RENO, ESTHER WATSON, and WEISGARD, LEONARD. Pick the vegetables. col il pa $1 Lothrop

"[A] trick picture book. . . Cut-out paper vegetables may be harvested from the slitted pages and garnered into a big basket on the last page, and behind each movable vegetable is a surprise—a baby chick under a squash, a white mouse cowering behind a ruddy tomato, a bunny hiding behind a carrot." N Y Times

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p10 My 28 '44 90w
Kirkus 12:232 My 15 '44 90w

"The generation for which this trick picture book is concocted is still too young to do any serious Victory gardening, but it will have a lot of fun with this clever substitute." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p10 My 28 '44 100w
Springf'd Republican p4d D 3 '44 70w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 13 '44 120w

REXROTH, KENNETH. The phoenix and the tortoise [and other poems]. 100p $2.50 New directions

811 44-9924

"A long philosophical examination of conscience (the title poem), as well as a number of shorter poems, into which are introduced translations from Hellenic, Late Roman, and Byzantine sources." New Yorker

"Kenneth Rexroth's poetry has changed considerably since he appeared in the Objectivists' anthology in the '30s. He writes coolly and cleanly and is certainly a young poet to watch sharply. He has become a neo-classicist with an ardent attachment to certain spirits of antique Greece and Rome. . . Many of the shorter poems in this book are mystical about marriage and sex in the way that D. H. Lawrence was. Others echo the more outspoken amatory poets of the Greek and Roman cultures. And these, while most excellently executed, are poems that I find difficult to go along with." Leo Kennedy
+ — Book Week p6 D 24 '44 310w

"The writing, in spite of occasional Eliot and Lawrence cadences, is admirably clear and intelligent, sounding perhaps a good deal more like The Testament of Beauty than the poet intended it to do. He is seldom obscure and even more seldom without something interesting to say, and his poetry makes, on its surface level, thoroughly enjoyable reading. His competence and assurance suggest that he has already found a style which he will not be likely to transcend in future; but all that that means is that his present volume shows achievement rather than promise." N. F.
+ Canadian Forum 24:214 D '44 750w

"Rexroth's interest in natural objects saves him from the woollier kind of introspection, and he achieves a balance between erotic and non-erotic material in a manner not usual in current verse."
New Yorker 20:56 D 30 '44 70w

"Quietly, but with a solid sense of direction that is rare, Kenneth Rexroth, once active in the Objectivist movement, has arrived at a poetic maturity that is marked at once by passion and by control. . . It is only rarely that the impedimenta of scholarship serve to thin out and diffuse the highly-charged awareness of Mr. Rexroth's best poems." Vivienne Koch
+ Weekly Book Review p21 Ja 14 '45 700w

REY, HANS AUGUSTO (UNCLE GUS, pseud). Humpty Dumpty and other Mother Goose songs; il. and arranged. [23p] $1 Harper

784 Children's songs 43-51362

Ten Mother Goose songs, with words and music. In each case the music is given on one page, with an illustrated version on the opposite page.

Booklist 40:184 Ja 15 '44

"The melodies are appealing and singable. Spiral board binding convenient for use of book at piano but not always practical for library circulation. Recommended." Margaret Abildgaard

+ Library J 68:1009 D 1 '43 110w

REY, HANS AUGUSTO (UNCLE GUS, pseud). We three kings, and other Christmas carols [music arr. by Henry F. Walstein]. [20p] il $1.50 Harper

783.65 Carols

Ten familiar Christmas carols, with words and music on one page, and an illustrated version on the facing page. For children.

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 N 27 '44 70w

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:129 N 17 '44 10w

"It is full of the Christmas spirit and there's a chuckle on each picture page; it will be fun for family sings."

+ Kirkus 12:509 N 1 '44 70w

"Gay and reverent at the same time, this suggests the artist's 'Christmas Manger,' which proved so popular when it appeared two years ago. . . A book that should encourage the pleasant habit of family singing and one that will add to the gaiety of Christmas." A. T. E.

+ N Y Times p16 D 10 '44 80w

REY, MRS MARGRET ELISABETH (WALDSTEIN). Pretzel; with pictures by H. A. Rey. [32p] $1.75 Harper

44-9584

Humorous picture-story book for quite young readers. Pretzel was a dachshund who was extra long. He won a blue ribbon at the Dog Show but he could not win the love of Greta who lived across the street. Greta did not like long dogs but at last came the day when Pretzel's length came in handy and Greta changed her mind.

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 N 27 '44 50w

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:127 N 17 '44 10w

Kirkus 12:479 O 15 '44 70w

Reviewed by S. J. Johnson
Library J 69:1104 D 15 '44 30w

"The Reys, with blithe text and pictures, present such a good case for Pretzel that young readers, and older ones too, will take him to their hearts." E. L. B.

+ N Y Times p10 N 12 '44 80w

New Yorker 20:80 D 16 '44 50w

REYHER, REBECCA, ed. Stork run; a collection of baby cartoons. [64p] $1 Hastings house

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 44-5232

Collection of gay cartoons, calling attention to the antics of babies or small children, and their parents.

"The impish slant of most of the cartoonists represented here should be the delight of all but the most self-conscious parents. Miss Reyher's prescription of a dose of baby cartoons is, in view of the increasing birthrate, eminently timely." August Derleth

+ Book Week p4 My 28 '44 240w

"The publishers bill 'The Stork Run' as '105 hilarious baby cartoons' and they are practically 100 per cent right." M. R. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 21 '44 110w

Weekly Book Review p10 Je 18 '44 150w

REYNOLDS, LAWRENCE. I feel like a cad [cartoons] ed. by Gurney Williams. 80p $1 McBride

741.5 Humor, Pictorial. Caricatures and cartoons 44-9786

Collection of cartoons from Collier's, all depicting the gentle diversions of that lovable burglar, Butch.

Kirkus 12:494 N 1 '44 80w

"Sergeant Reynolds created his Raffles in barrel form, added a milk-toast conscience, a rigid sense of decorum, a dollop of sentimentality, and called the whole thing Butch. . . This story of a master criminal can be as safely handed to the youngest member of the family as a copy of Emily Post—but you will want it back sooner." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p7 N 19 '44 140w

"There are 73 cartoons about Butch here; 73 of them are wonderful. One warning to readers—unless you've finished the book yourself, never show it to any one else because you won't get it back until he's looked it all through—fights can easily be started that way." Thomas McEnroe

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 14 '45 280w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p5 D 3 '44 70w

REYNOLDS, QUENTIN JAMES. Curtain rises. 353p $2.75 Random house

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-40050

Records the author's 1943 experiences on the various war fronts: Trinidad, Cairo, Palestine, Russia and Italy. He includes sketches of the important people he met, from General Eisenhower to Bob Hope.

"Here's Reynolds again, in another book, with new dope; but mainly it's the same Reynolds, still going strong, still absorbing, intelligent, entertaining and enlightening reading." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p1 Mr 5 '44 1500w

Booklist 40:249 Mr 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 22 '44 550w

"At the start, one feels in The Curtain Rises that this is old stuff, but as one goes along, the freshness and vividness and originality of his reporting gives even familiar scenes new significance."

+ Kirkus 12:51 F 1 '44 360w

"Soul-stirring episodes of fighting men and inhabitants of bomb-torn towns. Vibrant with human emotions. . . For all libraries." L. R. Etzkorn

+ Library J 69:159 F 15 '44 100w

Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 16 '44 200w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 158:340 Mr 18 '44 300w

Reviewed by N. F. Busch
N Y Times p7 Mr 12 '44 1250w

New Yorker 20:94 Mr 11 '44 210w

"On the jacket of 'The Curtain Rises' the reporter has a hearty review of his own volume. 'I like the book a lot,' his concluding line runs. 'I ought to. I wrote it.' A good many people will change that last verb to 'read' and go along with the ubiquitous author-reviewer." H. C. Wolfe

+ Sat R of Lit 27:13 Mr 18 '44 900w

Reviewed by S. H. F. Johnston
Spec 173:112 Ag 4 '44 170w

Times [London] Lit Sup p316 Jl 1 '44 550w

"When Mr. Reynolds is up where the guns are firing, watching war as it is being fought, his reporting is of the best. . . His chapter 'D Day—Italy'. . . is as vivid a piece of war description as any reader could wish. By and large, however, his book is an account of the life and war times of Quentin Reynolds and other correspondents: their conversations, their gags, their woes and joys. There is a modicum of fresh information in these pages, and a generous measure of innocent entertainment." Marcus Duffield

+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 5 '44 800w

REZNIKOFF, CHARLES. Lionhearted; a story about the Jews in medieval England. 243p $2.50 Jewish pub.

44-7074

"A dramatic story of twelfth-century England, depicting the persecution which befell the Jews at that time and place and focussing on the trials and travels of a young medical student. The title applies to the victims, not to the reigning king, commonly known by that name, whose lenient attitude toward the outrages against the Jews by his subjects and underlings allowed these activities to spread and at length culminate in the massacre of York." New Yorker

---

"It is a pity that this novel will probably be read only by those whose traditions or background are Jewish, for the story offers much to every intelligent man or woman. . . Reznikoff has drawn Richard, the barons and the abbotts with a spare but effective pen. Indeed, he has painted medieval life with admirable economy. I consider it a remarkable feat that the delineation of manners, morals, speech, food and dress, should have been accomplished so smoothly and in so few words. The characters are full-blown, though obvious types. That fault arises from the author's insistance upon drawing in miniature." Louis Zara

+ — Book Week p4 O 1 '44 270w

Christian Century 61:1106 S 27 '44 80w

"A historical novel of earnest intention and at least adequate accomplishment, and, what is no small virtue these days, not a quarter of a million words long and stuffed with tedious detail."

New Yorker 20:80 S 16 '44 140w

"Mr. Reznikoff's picture is not one of unrelieved misery, for much of his book is devoted to an account of the everyday life of the Jews of medieval England and of their neighbors. And in recounting the spiritual discussions of the religious leaders of the day, the commercial activities of the traders and the ever-present effort of an outcast people to mitigate its plight, Mr. Reznikoff writes with both shrewdness and charm." Herbert Kupferberg

Weekly Book Review p6 S 17 '44 250w

RHODE, JOHN, pseud. See Street, C. J. C.

RIBBLE, MARGARETHA ANTOINETTE. Rights of infants; early psychological needs and their satisfaction. 118p $1.75 Columbia univ. press

649.1 Child study. Infants. Mental hygiene

A44-157

"A practicing psychiatrist, stresses the extreme importance of 'mothering' and the emotional development of young children. She deals with physical care only as the two are interrelated. In outlining the various phases of a young child's development she suggests procedures by which a mother can contribute to the enrichment and stability of her baby's emotional life. Striking case histories bring her theories 'down to earth' for the average mother." (J Home Econ) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:264 Ap 1 '44

Reviewed by R. F. Hamilton

J Home Econ 36:362 Je '44 100w

"The author does not elaborate her clinical evidence nor does she indicate the research findings which justify her general conclusions. Her thesis, therefore, is weakened to an unfortunate extent. The book fails to accomplish its purpose in another important respect. The author feels that parents have been confused by recent teaching, and need to be encouraged to express their natural feelings toward their children. But she may be adding to their confusion and strain. . . Nevertheless, the book contains helpful material. The author's deep understanding of children as they develop, and her profound conviction of the importance of their emotional needs, are real and moving. The case stories are dramatic and well-chosen and will be helpful to many who are working with children, especially in institutions." A. B. Auerbach

+ — Survey 80:270 S '44 500w

"As a contribution to understanding the welfare of babies, it has a place in the home library and, if sometimes old-fashioned as babies themselves, has the support of the most new-fashioned methods of investigation."

+ Weekly Book Review p19 S 10 '44 200w

RICCI, LEWIS ANSELM. See Ritchie, L. A.

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). Home sweet homicide. 311p $2 Simon & Schuster

44-1341

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p6 F 13 '44 180w

Booklist 40:305 My 1 '44

Kirkus 11:561 D 15 '43 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p12 F 13 '44 120w

"Some very improbable things happen in the course of this mystery, but you'll find yourself laughing anyhow, particularly at the efforts of the police to keep up with the alarming young Carstairs. The best Craig Rice to date."

+ New Yorker 19:88 F 12 '44 80w

"Delightful."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:30 F 12 '44 40w

"The lady is a honey, the children are real and terrifying and the murder next door scary and mystifying enough to satisfy anyone, including the kids who help to discover the criminal."

+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 13 '44 300w

Time 43:104 Mr 6 '44 60w

"As most people know, it is always worth the price of admission to see what Craig Rice is up to next. On this occasion she has had herself a time with a mixture of home life and double murder, managing it all with many comedy sequences and a minimum of drool in the fond domestic scenes." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p12 F 13 '44 250w

RICE, CRAIG (MRS LAWRENCE LIPTON) (DAPHNE SANDERS, MICHAEL VENNING, pseuds). Jethro Hammer. 245p $2.50 Coward-McCann

44-7027

Detective story.

"The power of the novel, the excitement—and it is breathlessly exciting—lies not in what happens in the physical actions of the people concerned, but what happens in their minds, their emotions. One is almost tempted to say 'Chekhovian' of the range of characterization drawn. Each gets what each deserves—good or bad—and the final turn of the final screw comes on the final page." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p4 Ag 13 '44 450w

Booklist 41:23 S '44

"Utterly different, and very good."

+ Boston Globe p17 S 6 '44 50w

Reviewed by Lena Ruppert

+ Library J 69:604 Jl '44 80w

RICE, CRAIG—Continued
"Michael Venning (who is Craig Rice and an old hand at detective fiction) knows how to put whodunits together with more than run-of-the-mill impact. The something more here is the accent on characterizations rather than on blood and falling bodies." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p6 Jl 30 '44 200w

"For readers who like a slow tempo."
New Yorker 20:64 Jl 29 '44 90w

"If the reader is a stickler for detail or an avid detective story follower, he may think the criminal's motives unconvincing, or the romantic and implausible Caribbean adventures of Jethro during his enforced 20 years of absence unnecessarily drawn out, but he will, nevertheless, continue to the end, engrossed by the spell of the writing and the unforgettable characters." C. M. Sauer
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 30 '44 600w

"We enjoyed this latest triumph of Melville Fairr, Mr. Venning's regular private detective, for its expert arrangement of riddle values and its skillful deploying of synthetic characters right up to the surprising end, where you learn the fiend's name and address." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 6 '44 150w

RICE, ELMER L. A new life; a play in nine scenes. 202p $2 Coward-McCann
812 44-40091

The entire action of this play takes place in a maternity hospital. The baby's mother is an independent young radio actress; the father an American flier who has been missing in action, but arrives at the hospital just before his son is born. A conflict arises over the baby's upbringing: the baby's wealthy grandparents intend to take matters out of the young mother's hands, but they are unsuccessful.

Booklist 40:300 My 1 '44

"Recommended."
+ Library J 69:461 My 15 '44 40w

"Elmer Rice has been a force in our theater, and has written fine plays. This isn't one of them." W. P. Eaton
— Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 30 '44 50w

RICE, MRS MADELEINE (HOOKE). American Catholic opinion in the slavery controversy. 177p $2.50 Columbia univ. press
326.973 Slavery and the church A44-1124

Study of the institution of slavery among Catholics in the United States, and an analysis of Catholic opinion on the controversy. Partial contents: The Catholic tradition; Catholicism and slavery in English America; American Catholics and the slave system; Sectional divergence—the church North; Sectional divergence—the church South. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by C. G. Woodson
Am J Soc 50:245 N 13 '44 650w

"The author has her subject, both historically and religiously, well mastered. She is unusually fair due either to excellent scholarship or perhaps to a sympathetic attitude she brings to her topic. This book might well serve as a model for those writing about the Catholic attitude on any social question." F. P. Cavanaugh
+ Am Soc R 9:699 D '44 350w

"This is probably a doctoral thesis, and as such, it is well done and honestly documented; but so far as it tells the story of the Catholic Church and slavery, it is a depressing document." W. E. B. DuBois
— + Ann Am Acad 235:172 S '44 450w

"Scholarly study of an interesting phase of the slavery controversy in America." W. W. Sweet
+ Christian Century 61:1078 S 20 '44 950w

Reviewed by R. E. E. Harkness
Crozer Q 21:267 Jl '44 800w

"Sets forth the pertinent facts with clarity and economy, offers mature criticism, and is well written." S. L. Jackson
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Je 19 '44 330w

RICHARDS, RICHARD. Life with Alice; 40 years of elephant adventures. 67p pl $2 Coward-McCann
599.61 Elephants 44-4619

Recounts the author's experiences first in the New York Hippodrome as caretaker of elephants, and later in that capacity at the Bronx zoo. In this job Mr Richards was the caretaker of the capricious elephant, Alice, popular with thousands at the zoo.

"Recommended only because it might be read by teen-agers with fifth-and sixth-grade reading ability." Claire Nolte
Library J 69:465 My 15 '44 80w

"Written with an engaging humor, 'Life With Alice,' is a delightful 'true story' about animals." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p19 Jl 9 '44 150w

Reviewed by M. G. Davis
Sat R of Lit 27:38 My 13 '44 90w

RICKARD, JOHN ALLISON. Old Aztec story teller; il. by William Brady. 59p il $1 Ackerman
Tales, Mexican 44-20109

"Tales of Old Mexico. . . Most of the stories are folk tales, but one or two are based on Mexican history. All of them have grown out of the life and imagination of simple country people, for they deal with faithful animals, fiestas, journeys on foot, enchantments and spells, princes and emperors in disguise." N Y Times

"These eight stories of old Mexico carry just the right combination of magic and legend to appeal to young readers who like a taste of the fanciful." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p14 My 21 '44 110w

"In quiet, effortless fashion these tales have caught the atmosphere of the country from which they come more successfully than many more pretentious volumes. Story tellers will welcome them for their easy style which suggests the spoken word." A. T. E.
+ N Y Times p23 Ap 30 '44 180w
Sat R of Lit 27:29 Je 10 '44 180w
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 19 '44 110w

"Of course I haven't read all the folk stories there are, but these in this book are brand new to me, and so good I hasten to pass on the word." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 30 '44 150w

RIDER, FREMONT. Melvil Dewey. (Am. library pioneers) 151p il $2.75 A.L.A.
B or 92 Dewey, Melvil 44-4322

An interpretation of the life and many activities of Melvil Dewey. The emphasis is upon his contributions to the American library, including the Dewey decimal classification, establishing of the first library school, and his part in the instigation of the first library associations and periodicals. Index.

Booklist 40:317 My 15 '44

"Brief and selective, in keeping with other volumes in this series, this study's sympathetic and yet objective treatment will surely serve as a stimulus for further reading about the man who, more than any other, combined scattered interests and tentative discussion into five specific contributions, affecting the whole growth of the library movement. . . In the selection of material that, within the limits of a small volume, justly depicts the relation of a library leader to the library world and focuses attention on the relevant data, Dr. Rider has done a real service. This life of Melvil Dewey is indeed one of the vivid chapters in the increasingly colorful history of the library profession." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 69:455 My 15 '44 750w

"Altogether, this is a satisfying book, compressed to the limit and in no case padded, despite a wealth of material which might easily have led to expansion. One suspects editorial care, both by the editor of the series and by the author. In any case, the result is gratifying." W. W. Bishop

+ Library Q 15:77 Ja '45 950w

Wis Lib Bul 40:109 Jl '44

RIDER, FREMONT. The scholar and the future of the research library; a problem and its solution. 236p il $4 Hadham press, 701 W. 184th st, N.Y. 33

025 Cataloging. Library science. Microphotography 44-7312

"Statistics show that research libraries in the U.S. double in size every 16 years. The solution offered to problems of acquisition and maintenance arising from this growth is the use of micro-cards, standard size catalog cards with the contents of the book micro-printed on the back, that would be used in place of the books themselves. The author states that up to 250 pages can be reduced to the size of one card. He outlines details of processes and use, indicates types of material for micro-cards, and suggests a division-of-fields of material basis for cooperating libraries. While the micro-card plan may not affect public libraries to any great extent and is not intended entirely to supplant book collections in research libraries, it is a challenging innovation for any library or institution faced with the problem of a greatly expanding stock of books, pamphlets, records, or other matter." Booklist

"Mr. Rider's analysis of storage and cataloguing costs and his exposition of attempts to diminish them and also to provide better service are a masterly treatment of the problems facing American librarians today. Nowhere else are such matters as storage warehouses, weeding, simplified cataloguing, microfilm, co-operation, and union catalogues given so clear, concise, and unified an exposition." H. G. Brown

+ Ann Am Acad 237:244 Ja '45 450w

Booklist 41:6 S '44

"This is of the utmost importance for persons engaged in library administration."

+ Christian Century 61:1027 S 6 '44 80w

"The Scholar and the Future of the Research Library devotes much of its space to the discussion of technical library problems involved, but its revolutionary proposals make stimulating and exciting reading for any research worker. Some of these proposals seem wild-eyed and not all of them, this reviewer believes, would withstand analysis, but there can be no doubt of their deep interest." M. O. Price

+ Columbia Law R 44:938 N '44 900w

"In the opinion of the reviewer, the book may neither be embraced unreservedly nor peremptorily rejected. A determination cannot be made arbitrarily through discussion and speculation; a conclusive answer can only be obtained through a test project, possibly using one of the fields suggested in the closing chapters of the book to determine on the basis of actual production and use whether the micro-card is or is not susceptible of incorporation into library practice." V. D. Tate

+ — Library J 69:1046 D 1 '44 1000w

Discussion by the author

Library J 69:1046 D 1 '44 1000w

"There are in the book stimulating and refreshing accounts of problems and processes which librarians may too often regard from traditional and stereotyped viewpoints. But the author's constant habit of confusing what can now be achieved photographically on film with what he would like to to think can be done on paper makes nonsense of his major thesis." W. A. Jackson

— + New Eng Q 17:613 D '44 1100w

RIDGWAY, MARION V. Night-night; pictures by Marjorie Thompson. spir $1 Howell, Soskin

Picture book for very young. The pictures may be manipulated so that the child can see the calf, the owl, the pony, the dog, and finally baby, go to sleep.

"The pictures are gay in coloring, and the animals all have personality and individuality."

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 30 '44 60w

"Gay and durable." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Je 4 '44 50w

RIEGEL, EMIL RAYMOND. Chemical machinery; an elementary treatise on equipment for the process industries. 583p il $5 Reinhold

660.283 Chemical engineering—Apparatus and supplies 44-6292

"Mechanical details of processing machinery and all types of equipment including instruments used in chemical and industrial industries. Illustrated with flow charts, diagrams and photographs." (Library J) Index.

"The practicing engineer will find the book too elementary to be of much service. The beginning student will be able to use it in place of a study of manufacturers' catalogs, but will not find it a substitute for the textbooks on chemical engineering or a chemical engineers' handbook. The author has drawn heavily upon statements from selected manufacturers. The book would have been increased in value if different manufacturers' literature had been consulted and digested. The classification of types of equipment at the beginning of each chapter is interesting, though not unassailable. . . The author has set out to explain how representative chemical machinery works, and the book will be useful to those who are unfamiliar with the operation of such equipment." T. H. Chilton

— + Chem & Eng N 22:1720 O 10 '44 650w

Reviewed by J. R. Callaham

Chem & Met Eng 51:193 N '44 350w

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Je '44

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 40w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:701 S 1 '44 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:40 Jl '44

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 13 '44 60w

RIEMENS, HENDRIK. Netherlands; story of a free people. 349p maps $4.50 Duell

949.2 Netherlands—History 44-40129

Short, compact history of the Netherlands from their beginnings to the present time. Includes history of the Netherlands East Indies, and postwar plans of the Netherlands. Bibliography. Index.

"An excellent volume if you want to learn anything about Holland—though from the way David De Jong's fine 'With a Dutch Accent' lies languishing in the bookstores, I guess you don't." Peter De Vries

+ Book Week p15 My 21 '44 650w

Booklist 40:354 Je 15 '44

"A sound background book, which might have had a more popular market if there had been a more personal, human touch."

+ Kirkus 12:213 My 1 '44 170w

"A long, careful, pedestrian history." Thelma Brackett

Library J 69:202 Mr 1 '44 100w

"[A] compact, competent and well written short book, which relates without propagandist coloring the achievements of a people not given to flights of imagination or vain-glorious boasting." Hans Kohn

+ N Y Times p10 Jl 2 '44 400w

"The author writes briskly and intelligently, and tells the story of Dutch resistance to the Nazis with admirable restraint."

+ New Yorker 20:91 My 13 '44 50w

"This timely volume has been written to familiarize American readers with the essentials of the Netherlands' history and place in the world today. In proportion and emphasis the 'Story of a Free People' is admirably suited to its purpose. . . If at times the paragraphs

RIEMENS, HENDRIK—Continued
are almost as compressed and factladen as an encyclopedia, this should not make them less welcome." Geoffrey Bruun

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Je 11 '44 900w

"Dr. Riemens's book will be extremely helpful to those who want to become thoroughly acquainted with the problems of Holland and the Netherlands East Indies." B. Landheer

+ Yale R n s 34:185 autumn '44 850w

RIESENBERG, FELIX, 1913- Phantom freighter. 180p $2 Dodd

44-3824

Story of a mysterious voyage, that of the white-painted freighter "Princess," to a South Sea island in the summer of 1943.

"Satisfactory and not too grooved a tale of espionage."

+ Kirkus 12:197 Ap 15 '44 60w

"A rousing fast-moving tale. . . Good characterization, tense and creditable."

+ Library J 69:556 Je 15 '44 70w

"Exciting as it is, this story has reality. It is obviously based upon knowledge and experience. On this voyage from the California coast to the Antarctic, the rather melodramatic 'spy' story is toned down, made convincing by the author's knowledge of the way of a ship at sea. Another thing that gives it reality is the fact that the full secret of that cold, lonely island in the far-south sea is never told. This war is not yet won." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 Jl 8 '44 180w

"Felix Riesenberg's knowledge of the sea and of today's war at sea is brought to bear on a spy story for older boys so expertly that older espionage fans can join its audience." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p11 Je 4 '44 250w

RIESS, CURT. Nazis go underground. 210p $2.50 Doubleday

943.086 Germany—Nazi movement 44-7162

An exposé of the Nazi underground, an organization which is already forming plans for World war III, according to the author. He maintains that on May 16, 1943, the intelligence department of the Gestapo split in two: one half to continue the work; the other to go "underground," to prepare for the next war. He outlines plans, names some of those involved and warns against these new party men and their machinations. Index.

Reviewed by H. L. Reich

Book Week p3 Ag 13 '44 650w

Booklist 41:17 S '44

Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 16 '44 550w

"Curt Riess presents his material so dramatically that it should serve a valuable purpose—to keep us from being lulled to sleep too readily. But it cannot be considered too specifically factual until more can be told."

Kirkus 12:267 Je 15 '44 230w

"The whole subject of how to stamp out the Nazis is both vital and arresting. The assumption that the party will try to carry on the war after military defeat is readily granted. But an overemphatic manner of discussing it, such as the author frequently adopts—as when he declares that 'Italy transformed itself into a victory for the German generals far beyond any tactical or strategic issue of this war'—seems likely to weaken the long-term influence which Mr. Riess wishes his material to have." Byron Dexter

N Y Times p4 Ag 6 '44 750w

"Mr. Riess doesn't really prove his thesis, for he constantly mistakes his own speculation and hypothesis for established fact, but his book, despite its stridency and cloak-and-dagger atmosphere, is a sharp warning that the Nazis, who have always counted on the reluctance of the rest of the world to take their ambitions seriously, probably have a new set of ambitions, along with the same old set of tricks, up their sleeves."

New Yorker 20:62 Ag 12 '44 130w

"Perhaps the most glaring weakness in Mr Riess's book lies in its failure to outline a counterplan. Since the author appears to be so intimate with the strategy the Nazis will employ after the war to keep their party alive, why hasn't he outlined a similar plan to render its hopes and successes ineffectual?" Emanuel Slotnick

Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 13 '44 650w

Reviewed by Alfred Werner

Survey G 33:467 N '44 600w

Reviewed by W. R. Deuel

Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 27 '44 550w

RIESS, CURT, ed. They were there. 670p $5 Putnam

940.53 World war, 1939-. World politics. Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-5821

"Selections from the writings of more than 150 American foreign correspondents are here gathered together under chronological and geographical headings, with the intention of composing an eyewitness history of the present war. The period covered is 1931-43, divided into the following ten sections: Europe on the Eve, the Lights Go Down, The Phony War, The Debacle, From the Battle of England to the Battle of Germany, War in the East, The Far East, United States at War, Africa, The Invasion of Europe." N Y Times

"This is an exciting book, a well edited one. Almost too well edited, I am tempted to say, for you will find excerpts from the works of more than 150 famous correspondents, each name a trademark for excellence and sincerity (among the galaxy of writers are 15 Pulitzer Prize winners), and so you get a series of appetite-whetting highlights only." H. L. Reich

+ — Book Week p3 Jl 23 '44 550w

Booklist 41:39 O 1 '44

"Because of its vivid and exciting eye-witness stories, and because it assembles so much information chronologically and within one cover, book is highly recommended for public libraries." J. L. Ross

+ Library J 69:602 Jl '44 130w

"While the level of writing is of course uneven, it is on the whole surprisingly high."

+ New Repub 111:198 Ag 14 '44 70w

"The student of contemporary history may ignore the editor's excessive claims and be satisfied that there is a great deal here that is useful source of material. He will be pleased, for example, that it contains the remarkable dispatches by Cyrus Sulzberger and Daniel de Luce on Tito and the Yugoslav Partisans, Edgar A. Mowrer and H. R. Knickerbocker on the early days of fascism, Hamilton on Spain under Franco. He will regret the absence of Walter Kerr . . . of Stowe on the Burma Road, of more of Bigart on the Fighting in Italy, of Belden on Salerno, and he will regret the presence of a number of insignificant and trivial bits of writing which got into this volume only because the authors somehow got themselves dignified with the title of foreign correspondents." Bernard Smith

+ — N Y Times p5 Jl 9 '44 1100w

"This book is excellent reading material wherever you open it and for many days to come. However, if you want not only to be fascinated and entertained but to find the kind of history which will be written in ten years from now, you will have to choose your material. But even so, this book should have a place in every library as a deeply moving spiritual account of our days." H. B. Kranz

+ Sat R of Lit 27:16 Ag 26 '44 480w

"Mr. Riess's method is a good one. A history of this kind is no dull recapitulation; it takes the reader right back into the feeling of the moment so he re-lives the excitement of those days. Now and again you come across part of a piece you read at the time, and you read it again, recognizing an old friend. The variety of sources is so wide, however, that the great majority of the excerpts here assembled will come as fresh material to all but the most prodigious readers." Marcus Duffield

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 16 '44 1150w

RIFKIN, LILLIAN. When I grow up I'll be a farmer; ed. by Paul Sears and Frederick Grover. 44p il $1 Lothrop

630 Agriculture—Juvenile literature Agr44-62

Brief prose and full-page photographs show the highlights of modern American farming: plowing; fertilizing; harvesting; dairy and chicken farming; and farm home life.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p7 Ag 20 '44 100w

Booklist 40:288 Ap 15 '44

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:129 N 17 '44 10w

"It would make a good supplementary reader for a school group who are doing a farm project."
+ Kirkus 12:144 Mr 15 '44 70w

"What goes on on a farm? City-bred youngsters' notions of that life are apt to be bounded on one side by brief excursions to the country and on three sides by our charming but not wholly practical picture books. For those whose imaginations have been pleasantly stimulated by the latter and are ready to graduate to sterner facts here is an account of what the farmer does." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 12 '44 120w

"Excellent full-page photographs help the reader to understand about animals, plants, soils, weather and farm operations. The book should appeal to many boys and girls." S. T. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 12 '44 60w

Wis Lib Bul 40:57 Ap '44

RIFKIN, LILLIAN. When I grow up I'll be a teacher. See Pratt, M. and others

RIGBY, DOUGLAS, and RIGBY, ELIZABETH. Lock, stock and barrel; the story of collecting. 570p pl $5; ltd ed $15 Lippincott

708.051 Collectors and collecting 44-47063

Examination of the collecting impulse in all its aspects, with some anecdotes and examples. The book is divided into four sections: the first, is on the philosophy of collecting; the second contains the history of collecting, from the collectors of the ancient world down to the present day; the third discusses what makes a collector and a collection; the fourth describes ways of faking, the psychoses of misers, and how collectors are standing the present situation. Bibliography. Index.

"Whatever your special collecting interest may be, you will find it discussed, together with other things of which you may never have heard. But whether or not you are a collector, you will find this book instructive, entertaining and unique in more respects than one." Otto Eisenschiml
+ Book Week p3 D 10 '44 270w

Booklist 41:121 D 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 27 '45 350w

Kirkus 12:394 S 1 '44 300w

"Recommended for all libraries." H. R. Forbes
+ Library J 69:999 N 15 '44 110w

"The implication seems to be when everyone is a collector, everyone will be happy, although it is unfair to suggest that this book is not a well-handled, well-documented, well-illustrated exploration of its subject. For the collector who saves postage stamps or old coins, and for the collector who is a student of Chinese jade, 'Lock, Stock and Barrel' should prove extremely satisfying." Calder Willingham
+ N Y Times p7 D 17 '44 440w

"The Rigbys treat their subject with a solemnity that will occasionally seem heavy-handed to non-collectors . . . yet even those who have never accumulated anything but old bills ought to be entertained by the stories and anecdotes the authors tell."
+ New Yorker 20:106 D 2 '44 90w

Reviewed by J. T. Winterich
Sat R of Lit 27:8 D 30 '44 360w

"Page after page is peppered and salted with yarns. Sound advice, too, is handed out in full measure—the Rigbys leave nothing up their sleeve. Having read their book, even the humblest collector can go into the game with his eyes wide open. Their book will surely be the vade mecum of aspiring Maecenas, and button collectors alike." Richardson Wright
+ Weekly Book Review p2 N 26 '44 1000w

RIGGS, IDA BERRY. Little champion; il. by Decie Merwin. 144p $2 Macmillan

44-9753

Story of a girl and the colt which she trained to be a champion cow pony. The scene is an Arizona ranch.

Booklist 41:157 Ja 15 '45

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 D 11 '44 100w

Commonweal 41:257 D 22 '44 10w

"A book with special appeal for the child who likes horses. Good picture of ranch life."
+ Kirkus 12:432 S 15 '44 70w

"Author is a rancher, and she has written an exciting and atmosphere-filled story of ranch life for girls ten to twelve." M. M. Clark
+ Library J 69:1104 D 15 '44 70w

Sat R of Lit 27:33 N 11 '44 30w

RIGGS, THOMAS LAWRASON. Saving angel; the truth about Joan of Arc and the church. (Science and culture ser) 98p il $1.75 Bruce pub.

B or 92 Jeanne d'Arc, Saint 44-3954

"Before dying last year Father Riggs completed this brief study of the two trials of Joan of Arc, that of 1431 at which she was condemned to death, that of 1456 by which her memory was cleared of guilt. The book holds closely to this question of justice in its relation to politics and theology." Commonweal

"Dr. Riggs, whom many of us knew as the gracious and scholarly spiritual counselor of Catholic students at Yale University, disclaims any intention of writing one more biography of Jeanne D'Arc. But in point of fact the summary of her life which he compresses into forty pages is one of the best factual biographies we possess." Katherine Brégy
+ Cath World 159:378 Jl '44 320w

Reviewed by C. G. Paulding
Commonweal 40:137 My 26 '44 700w

Kirkus 12:63 F 1 '44 130w

Library J 69:646 Ag '44 30w

RIMBAUD, JEAN NICOLAS ARTHUR. Prose poems. (Poets of the year) 48p $1; pa 50c New directions

841 44-3404

A new translation by Helen Rootham of certain prose poems from Arthur Rimbaud's "Les Illuminations."

"Miss Rootham's versions contain some errors and smooth out certain complicated effects. But often she contrives to show clearly what eloquence and what hallucinatory beauty came from this provincial French schoolboy before, at the age of nineteen, he renounced poetry forever." Louise Bogan
+ — New Yorker 20:84 F 26 '44 90w

"A translation, in brief, well-meaning but insensitive." Dudley Fitts
— + Poetry 64:44 Ap '44 600w

RIMINGTON, CRITCHELL. Fighting fleets; a survey of the navies of the world; with numerous contributed articles. 348p il maps $4.50 Dodd

359 Warships. Navies 44-8175

"Attempts to give the reader a background of information against which he can read the communiqués from the Pacific, the North Sea, the Mediterranean and the other oceans and seas where the war is being fought. It takes up the components of a fighting navy class by class and discusses them with considerable authority and in popular style. Such well-known writers on Navy matters as Lieut. Bernard Brodie, Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, Fletcher Pratt, Paul Schubert, Jay Launer and Keith Ayling, have contributed chapters." (N Y Times) Contains the United States fleet list; a checklist of the principal combatant ships of the navies of the world; list of naval war losses; and an index.

Booklist 41:92 N 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p16 O 11 '44 300w

Library J 69:1003 N 15 '44 70w

"It should prove valuable to the landlubber who would like an over-all view of what sea war is like, how it is waged, and with what weapons. Since aircraft have been such a factor, the book would have been better had more attention been paid to that arm, and especially had not such misleading statistics been included as 'range over 1,500 miles' for some of our fighting planes. . . It was statistics such as this that led many Americans wrongly to believe that we could bomb Japan from the Aleutians, or even Hawaii, with our pre-war bombers."

+ — N Y Times p12 O 8 '44 280w

RIMINGTON, CRITCHELL. Merchant fleets; a survey of the merchant navies of the world; with numerous contributed articles. 293p il $4 Dodd

387.5 Merchant marine. Ships 44-3589

"Information of interest to the general reader on the construction of cargo ships and their maintenance and operation, ship types, sea routes, wartime merchant shipping, and training of the merchant marine. Some of the chapters are contributed by specialists. The numerous illustrations include over 275 photographs and drawings of representative merchant ships of the world." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 40:313 My 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p13 Jl 15 '44 750w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 80w

"The task of showing in a single modest volume a cross-section of the merchant fleets of the world . . . is one that calls for a special brand of courage and ability. At first glance it would look like a job that couldn't be done. Yet, in 'Merchant Fleets,' Critchell Rimington has performed this task with conspicuous success, and the publishers have done their part by furnishing a generous selection of well printed illustrations to complete the story." Lincoln Colcord

+ Weekly Book Review p5 My 7 '44 1400w

RINEHART, MARY (ROBERTS) (MRS S. M. RINEHART). Alibi for Isabel, and other stories. 248p $2.50 Farrar

44-6124

Collection of short stories on various subjects: mystery, murder, spies, adventure, and marriage problems.

Booklist 41:42 O 1 '44

Cath World 160:380 Ja '45 130w

Kirkus 12:222 My 15 '44 110w

"This reminiscent material is handled with the bright confidence and wit of a seasoned literary lady. Those who have learned to love the large, comfortable Rinehart world-with-a-watch-chain will treasure these mementos." Isabelle Mallett

+ N Y Times p18 Ag 20 '44 250w

"An assortment of smooth, hot-weather confections which includes nearly every standard variety . . . all nicely constructed, cheerful, and absolutely no tax on the brain."

+ New Yorker 20:62 Jl 29 '44 50w

"Grim or gay or romantic, each [story] gets to the point neatly and with expert timing. Mrs. Rinehart always has a story to tell and she goes about the business of telling it with professional alacrity." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 13 '44 150w

RIPPY, JAMES FRED. Latin America and the industrial age. 277p maps $3 Putnam

338 Latin America—Economic conditions. Latin America—Industries and resources
44-4372

"Mr. Rippy gives us thoughtful notes on the hopeful steps by which Latin America escapes the colonial economy which is her unhappy heritage. The coming of the railroad, financed chiefly by British and American capital, the opening up of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru; the development of sea and power routes; the spreading of airlines until every major center of population is linked with the outer world; the development of mines and oil wells; the beginnings of factories and foundries—all this is a little known story." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

Am Hist R 50:194 O '44 400w

"Because the author considers his well-written study only an introduction to an extensive theme, he has indicated suggestions for further research in an appended list, and has given ample summaries on materials used in each chapter. It is to be hoped that the story of industrial development in Latin America, to which the present war period has added a series of chapters, will be carried on as it has been started." Donald Roland

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1031 O '44 450w

Reviewed by Angel Flores
Book Week p10 My 21 '44 90w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:606 Jl '44 30w

"Perhaps the chief defect from the standpoint of the student is the failure to distinguish more clearly between the economic functions of the various pioneers—entrepreneurs, engineers, promoters, laborers, investors, scientists, etc. Dr. Rippy apparently recognizes the problem but his treatment tends to obscure the significance of each and the interrelation between them. He also ignores the rôle of the immigrant as distinguished from the 'foreigner', largely, no doubt, because he has concentrated his attention on British and Americans, who tend to cling to their original citizenship." George Wythe

Pol Sci Q 59:476 S '44 500w

Social Studies 33:336 N '44 10w

+ Weekly Book Review p10 Je 18 '44 250w

RISTER, CARL COKE. Border command; General Phil Sheridan in the West. 244p $2.75 Univ. of Okla. press

973.82 Sheridan, Philip Henry. West—History. Indians of North America—Wars
44-4746

"Carl Coke Rister describes and appraises the services of Gen Philip Sheridan in the development of the West during the first decade after the Civil war. At that time, as settlers and railroads pushed into the great plains, the chief obstacle was the Indians, who resisted the white man's invasion of their ancient domain. The author shows the successive steps taken by our government in trying to solve this problem, culminating in the work of the peace commission in 1867-68, which included the assignment of reservations and the provision for annuities and issues. . . To Gen Sheridan was assigned the pivotal area of the southern tribes—western Kansas, eastern Colorado, Indian Territory (now Oklahoma) and New Mexico." Springf'd Republican

" 'Border Command' has not much more than the material to recommend it. Prof. Rister's writing is inadequate to present the flavor and movement of the life he describes. . . The texture of the whole book falls short of the color and vitality the material demands." J. T. Frederick

— + Book Week p4 My 21 '44 300w

Booklist 40:339 Je 1 '44

"Opinion will no doubt continue to divide on the wisdom of Sheridan's Indian policy. Certainly he was bitterly opposed by the proponents of the peace policy, and certainly he was ruthless, even cruel. It must be remembered, however, that the Indians were also ruthless and cruel. Without a doubt, Sheridan advanced the settlement of the West by a decade at least. Dr. Rister's book is carefully documented and it fills a gap in our knowledge of western history." K. C. K.

Christian Science Monitor p12 My 19 '44 550w

"It was Dr. Rister's problem to write an account which would have factual clarity on a subject extraordinarily confused by border hatreds, administrative indecision and public and private corruption; for this was a time when tempers were coarse and morals not high. He achieves a readable account largely by sticking to the campaign field. . . With the entire Great Plains to cover and this over a period of fifteen years, he had to move fast, and sometimes lightly. However, this story needed outlining, and Dr. Rister's account is by way of breaking trail for the fuller story yet to come, detailed and tragic and enriched by incredible episodes. Perhaps he, with his breadth of information, will some day write it." Ernest Haycox

+ — N Y Times p26 S 10 '44 280w

Reviewed by L. B. Kromer

Springf'd Republican p8 My 10 '44 650w

"Professor Rister has written a careful and highly conservative history of Sheridan's border exploits. He defends his hero and the methods used. He believes the whole procedure justified. He may be right but most certainly the opening of the Great Plains area partakes of the spirit and temper of the whole reconstruction period which some historians have begun to think of as rather crude and inefficient for the most solid advancement of human affairs." Avery Craven

Weekly Book Review p8 Je 18 '44 500w

RITCHIE, LEWIS ANSELM (BARTIMEUS, pseud). East of Malta, west of Suez; the official Admiralty account of the Mediterranean fleet, 1939-1943; with a foreword by Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 221p il $2.50 Little

940.545 World war, 1939—Naval operations. World war, 1939—Mediterranean sea 44-5921

"This book describes the work of the British Navy in the Mediterranean from the outbreak of war up to the conquest of Tunisia in the spring of 1943, by which time British command of the Mediterranean was assured. . . If the British Navy had not been successful in maintaining its control of these waters against greatly superior enemy forces, Malta, Suez, and Alexandria might all have fallen, the campaigns in Abyssinia, Syria, and Libya would hardly have been possible, our whole Middle Eastern position would have been endangered and the Axis might have reached the Indian Ocean from the west. Such was the Navy's achievement in the Mediterranean in 1940-1943." (Pref) No index.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse

Book Week p10 Jl 30 '44 190w

Booklist 40:387 Jl 15 '44

"The story is couched in the dry, terse, conservative style usually found in accounts of operations conducted by the British, whether their scope is simple or complex. This method of presentation has the advantage of keeping the reader's thoughts confined to the facts under consideration with a minimum of opportunity for indulging in extraneous assumptions, and on the whole makes very interesting reading." F. L. O.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 5 '44 450w

"With all its restraint, it is a thrilling book. And it is an important one. For apart from the value of its narrative, it emphasizes the excellence of British seamanship, which has been so amply demonstrated in all theaters. And it stresses the fact that naval warfare is like a tennis match—a slight difference in ability may lead to a widely uneven score." J. N. Moody

+ Commonweal 40:380 Ag 4 '44 490w

Kirkus 12:228 My 15 '44 110w

"Writing in a clear journalistic style, the author, a British captain, presents a vivid panorama of the British Navy's engagements in this vital area. . . The text is interspersed with a number of excellent photographs. Direct and dramatic account. Good reading for public library patrons who enjoy naval history." Rice Estes

+ Library J 69:601 Jl '44 80w

"Students of naval strategy and tactics will unquestionably find 'East of Malta, West of Suez' of considerable historical importance as a reference work. In all likelihood, however, the general public will balk at its dry factual recounting of hundreds of naval actions, large and small, each complete to the last detail. The book reads like one long warmed-over communique." Philip Hamburger

N Y Times p4 Jl 16 '44 750w

"The author has the pleasant English habit of understatement, and tells a very dramatic story."

+ New Yorker 20:70 Jl 15 '44 90w

"Captain Lewis Ritchie writes with admirable lucidity. His relation is, in effect, an official Admiralty history, and, while little new is disclosed, there is an effective continuity about the narrative that provides sequence and perspective lacking in previous accounts. . . 'East of Malta, West of Suez' is not a romantic, glamorous book, for though it tells of deeds that will be remembered as long as the Royal Navy remains afloat it is written in what is almost an austerely official style. But as a narrative of three years of incessant warfare, frequently against odds, it is of absorbing interest." P. J. Searles

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 16 '44 750w

RITNER, MRS ANN KATHERINE (GILLILAND). Face of things. 240p $2.50 Dodd

44-3320

The story of Valerie Martin and how she loses a husband and her peace of mind and then, after a while, finds a new husband and a return to tranquillity. The story opens in a home for mental cases where Valerie and her future husband are both listed among the "guests."

Reviewed by J. N. North

Book Week p10 Ap 9 '44 430w

"Light entertaining story. Not essential though recommended if there be need for this type of novel." E. F. Kelly

Library J 69:118 F 1 '44 30w

" 'The Face of Things' professes no loftier aim than to amuse the hammock trade. That it meets with only moderate success (even in this modest ambition) lies possibly with Valerie herself, whom even her lover charges as cold, humorless, vain and not quite human." T. P.

N Y Times p19 Ap 2 '44 240w

"The narrative of this novel is its all, for there is little in the writing to enhance it." N. L. R.

Sat R of Lit 27:27 Ap 1 '44 170w

"The author handles her theme with considerable insight, and without allowing the narrative to bog down in psychopathic mire."

Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 16 '44 350w

RIVELOUP, ANDRE. The truth about De Gaulle; with an introd. by Edgar Ansel Mowrer. 74p $2; pa $1 Arco

B or 92 Gaulle, Charles André Joseph Marie de 44-40165

A brief biography of the Free French leader. "André Riveloup himself organized one of the first underground movements in France as early as August, 1940. He was sent to the United States, as well as to England and Canada, on special missions, and he is now recognized as one of the leading liaison men between the French Provisional Government and the French Underground." (N Y Times)

"Riveloup's book is a good, short and simple one; if by some odd miracle it should become a best seller, the fighting world will be the better for it." K. L. Brewster

+ Book Week p7 Ag 6 '44 450w

Booklist 41:20 S '44

Kirkus 12:317 Jl 15 '44 130w

"The life of Charles de Gaulle, the man himself and the man as a symbol of the New France, is outlined in this book with remarkable fullness and precision. No question is evaded, no situation skimmed across." Kay Boyle

+ N Y Times p7 Jl 23 '44 650w

"M. Riveloup has written a useful, readable study of De Gaulle and his cause. Being so enthusiastic a partisan, however, the author scarcely can be said to offer an objective view. His book is more in the tradition of good pamphleteering than of scholarly biography." Marcus Duffield

Weekly Book Review p12 Jl 23 '44 700w

RIVETT, EDITH CAROLINE (E. C. R. LORAC, pseud). Checkmate to murder. 256p $2 Arcadia [7s 6d Collins] 44-6989

Detective story.

"Good, solid, British whodunit." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p6 Ag 20 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p16 Ag 13 '44 80w

"He scorns obvious tricks of distracting attention. The police, of course, collect all manner of evidence, but the problem is squarely presented. It maintains the high standard already set for this season."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p80 F 12 '44 120w

"This comes with mild war-time atmosphere and a nice brand of comic relief in the person of Mrs. Tubbs, the char, to offset the solid brain-work." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 20 '44 150w

RIVLIN, HARRY NATHANIEL, and SCHUELER, HERBERT, eds. Encyclopedia of modern education. 902p $10 Philosophical lib.

370.3 Education—Encyclopedias and dictionaries 44-841

"[This volume] is in effect a survey of education today, particularly in the United States, its philosophy, curriculum practices, and administrative procedures. The term 'modern' is used to mean contemporary in the sense of alive and significant, but not in any radical or specialized sense. Although limited to areas that are clearly within the field of education or that lie in closely related fields, the scope of this volume is broad. The articles range from those on preschool education and nursery schools to adult education and higher education; from the problems of class size to the core curriculum, and from the education of gifted children to the educational philosophy of the Japanese. One of the features of the Encyclopedia is brief articles on the educational systems of all countries in the Americas as well as of many of the countries elsewhere. There are also articles on men of an earlier day who have deeply influenced modern education, as on Pestalozzi, Horace Mann, Comenius, as well as on moderns like Dewey and Thorndike." Christian Science Monitor

"The Encyclopedia of Modern Education should be welcomed everywhere with gratitude by those who are interested in education." J. P. Pritchett

+ Ann Am Acad 235:165 S '44 650w

"The advisory board is comprised of eight educators who are experts in different fields, and the contributors include superintendents, principals, directors of special activities, deans, professors, teachers, a former European Minister of Education, a warden of a state prison, and many others. While such a volume should not take the place of the many separate books on education which enrich the professional educator and others who are interested, it is a useful and worthy backlog for a personal, professional, or institutional library in this field."

+ Christian Science Monitor p6 F 26 '44 550w

"The binding of the encyclopedia will not hold up under heavy use. The inner page margins are so narrow that resewing will be difficult when rebinding is needed. With this exception the make-up of the type page is excellent—good, clear type with headings in boldface capitals. The Encyclopedia of Modern Education is a useful reference guide to the terms, philosophies and practices of modern education. It is recommended for libraries."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 15:45 O '44 1050w

ROAN, CARL MARTIN. Wings on the air. 60p il $1 Ackerman

629.13 Aeronautics—Juvenile literature 44-4467

"The reader is taken on a flight across the continent, and through it the author tells about buying tickets, having luggage weighed; the takeoff, the sights, the meals, and finally the landing. He explains what the ground crew, pilots and hostesses have to do. There is a description of opportunities in aviation. The safety and comfort of our airlines is also mentioned, and there are many valuable illustrations." Springf'd Republican

Sat R of Lit 27:22 Jl 8 '44 50w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 26 '44 60w

ROBACKER, EARL FRANCIS. Pennsylvania Dutch stuff; a guide to country antiques. 163p il $3.50 Univ. of Pa. press

745.3 Folk art—Pennsylvania. Antiques. Germans in Pennsylvania 44-40223

"A discussion of general characteristics and of the background of the people introduces detailed chapters on particular pieces from Pennsylvania's southeast counties. History and origins of style and decoration and distinguishing features of furniture and furnishings, such as chairs, cupboards, tables, boxes, baskets, china, kitchenware, and lamps. An annotated list of books by and about the Pennsylvania Dutch, a note on use of the style and motifs in contemporary work, and a catalog of museum collections round out a comprehensive guide. Especially useful to collectors and decorators. Comparatively few illustrations." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 41:135 Ja 1 '45

"Earl F. Robacker, a collecter himself, has written here the first book on the subject. It has charm, accuracy, a sensible approach. Inevitably further presentations will go beyond his sound generalities to more complete studies of origins. For a very great amount of doctoring has been done to 'Dutch stuff'; refinishing, decorative faking, and even importation in the last thirty years of less expensive and similar pieces from Germany, Holland and even Sweden to sell as genuine native stock. Scholarly studies can and will show the structural and stylistic differences, and safeguards will be set up. . . Mr. Robacker's book is an odd combination of good realistic writing and cozy 'interior decoration' advice. If you can overlook the latter you will enjoy this pioneer work." W. G. Dooley

+ — N Y Times p19 Ja 7 '45 360w

ROBB, LOUIS ADAMS. Engineers' dictionary; Spanish-English and English-Spanish. 423p $6 Wiley

620.3 Engineering—Dictionaries. Spanish language—Dictionaries 44-3014

"Comprehensive dictionary of Spanish and English equivalents of civil engineering and construction terms in the languages of North, South and Central America. Includes some mechanical and electrical engineering terms." Library J

Chem & Eng N 22:547 Ap 10 '44 60w

"Every engineer who adds this dictionary to his library can rest assured that he has a really scientific and reliable reference that will not get out of date for many years. It is a pity that this dictionary was preceded by some compilations the sole purpose of which was to exploit the times, but Mr. Robb can be congratulated on having done a job that far surpasses anything in its line." M. G. Callaham

+ — Chem & Met Eng 51:193 Ap '44 400w

"There are eighteen Spanish-speaking countries south of the border, and there are just about as many local variations in the meaning of some words—particularly those concerned with technical matters. . . Recognition of this fact gives to Mr. Robb's book a practical value that sets it apart from most technical dictionaries. And it has a further special appeal for civil engineers and construction men, because the vocabulary is designed specifically for this group."

+ Eng N 132:127 Mr 9 '44 220w

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:5 Ja '44

ROBEQUAIN, CHARLES. Economic development of French Indo-China; tr. by Isabel A. Ward; suppl: Recent developments in Indo-China: 1939-1943, by John R. Andrus and Katrine R. C. Greene; issued under the auspices of the Int. secretariat, Inst. of Pacific relations. 400p $4 Oxford

330.959 Indo-China, French 45-885

"This translation of Professor Robequain's valuable study is of special importance today. It makes generally available for the first time to readers outside France what is probably the most authoritative and up-to-date economic analysis of a territory which is bound to be of unusual significance in any Far Eastern peace settlement. The French edition of the book was published in 1939, but unfortunately only a few copies were distributed outside France before the German occupation and it has, therefore, been impossible to obtain ready access to copies though they have been much in demand by Government departments and research organizations. It is hoped that the present English edition will serve to meet the increasing public interest which is likely to be expressed in the future development of this colony. An attempt has been made in a supplementary chapter to sketch some of the principal economic developments in Indo-China since the French edition appeared." (Pref) Index.

"A timely addition to informative books on this part of the world. . . It is not exciting reading, neither is it dull. For one who wishes to understand French Indo-China, M. Robequain has all the answers." J. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 17 '45 200w

Reviewed by W. F. Sands

— Commonweal 41:260 D 22 '44 600w

ROBERTS, CECIL. The labyrinth. 278p $2.50 Doubleday

44-4918

Novel based on the battle for the Island of Crete, in the present war. A young English nurse, Sylvia Day, from the upper middle classes, goes to Tunis to care for her brother, Richard, an archeologist. When the war comes Richard joins the air corps, while Sylvia nurses in the army. In the battle for Crete both play an important part, and after Richard is killed Sylvia carries on the work of getting the wounded across to North Africa. When the Germans arrive and capture Sylvia's retreat, she is wounded, but manages to escape to Africa.

"Roberts' battle scenes are vivid and the calmer episodes are told with equal effectiveness. Despite a plot so elaborate that the book might well have taken its title from that rather than the ancient maze on Crete, the characters are believable and three-dimensional. Throughout, 'The Labyrinth' evinces the buoyancy of hope in the midst of travail and its warmth of understanding and depth of feeling capture the reader's heart." W. F. Morse

+ Book Week p3 My 14 '44 370w

Booklist 40:341 Je 1 '44

Boston Globe p17 My 24 '44 80w

Reviewed by B. L. Conway

Cath World 159:285 Je '44 280w

Kirkus 12:105 Mr 1 '44 170w

"Cecil Roberts has written a novel as comprehensive as an aerial photograph. 'The Labyrinth' spreads before us like a panorama the whole strategic story of the embattled island." Margaret Wallace

+ N Y Times p6 My 21 '44 400w

"Those who wish to enjoy 'The Labyrinth' will be well advised to ignore the story altogether. It would, it is true, need a far greater novelist than Cecil Roberts to invent romantic characters who could stand up against the power and heroism of the months of the Cretan battle. Sylvia, Janet Farr, young Wheatley, Franz, Harry the Cockney, Richard Day—they are all two-dimensional. They are prettily technicolored; but there's no life in them that can stand beside the tremendous wind of events." R. E. Roberts

— + Sat R of Lit 27:25 My 27 '44 500w

"'The Labyrinth' brings to the reader the tense story of the part played by Greece in the war, symbol of the same valiant effort made by each of the other conquered countries of Europe. The author, an Englishman at present living in America, clearly shows the tenseness of those last days, giving effectively the feeling of the inevitable outcome of not only his bit of fiction but of the war itself." H. L. Mitchell

+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 21 '44 180w

"His narrative is highly dramatic in itself and admirable as a summary of events. In the light of what followed, he has presented that particular page of history in clear perspective." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 7 '44 550w

ROBERTS, HAROLD SELIG. Rubber workers; labor organization and collective bargaining in the rubber industry. 441p $4 Harper

331.88178 Rubber industry and trade. Trade unions 44-4010

History of the origins, development and activities of the United Rubber workers of America, which constitutes a cross section of organized labor history and is a commentary on the development of labor relations in an important industry. Selected bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by F. H. Harbison

Am Econ R 34:646 S '44 600w

"Although it is not the definitive work on labor in rubber, the book should be of considerable value to teachers of labor economics and labor relations." M. L. Hoch

Ann Am Acad 235:159 S '44 600w

Reviewed by Jack Conroy

Book Week p5 Ap 23 '44 550w

Booklist 40:352 Je 15 '44

"Harold Roberts has not written one of those fleeting labor surveys or a ponderous, unreadable treatise. He has produced a definitive economic work, heavy with footnotes, but definitely readable, with helpful chapter introductions and summaries. He skillfully com-

ROBERTS, H. S.—Continued
bines in this volume a popular book with a thoroughly documented research work, and gives you the economic story (as distinct from the human one) of the men and women who make rubber (180,000) and the citations, too, if you want them." H. J. Ruttenberg
+ New Repub 110:612 My 1 '44 850w

Reviewed by E. P. Chapman
Survey 81:30 Ja '45 600w

ROBERTS, KENNETH LEWIS. Trending into Maine; with il. by N. C. Wyeth. rev ed 421p $3 Doubleday
917.41 Maine 44-5282

"This collection of 16 informal essays on life in Maine is full of salt air and the smell of tall pines. Two new chapters are added in this edition, and the well-remembered sketch of Bert McCorrison, 'as true a picture of Maine as has been written,' by Ben Ames Williams, is included for good measure. The same richly colorful illustrations by N. C. Wyeth which decorated the original edition grace this volume." (Springf'd Republican) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1938.

Booklist 40:358 Je 15 '44
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 18 '44 110w

ROBERTS, TERENCE. Mystery schooner; il. by Ivan T. Sanderson. 271p $2 Viking
44-8906

This mystery story for young readers follows the adventures of a group of young people on a voyage from Sumatra to South Africa. The characters are of varied nationalities including an American brother and sister, a Chinese boy, an English boy, a Dutch boy and a Malayan. All are fleeing from the Japanese whose sudden descent on the islands separated these children from their parents and sent them off to brave the dangers of an ocean voyage without adult aid.

Booklist 41:142 Ja 1 '45

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 N 30 '44 100w

"This rattling yarn puts something of a strain upon one's credulity, but it is good reading and many strange things happen in these times."
+ Horn Bk 20:486 N '44 80w

"This is one of those books popularly known as 'bridging books'—which help carry boys surfeited with 'Comics' over into reading better books. This is pure adventure, but the author knows his sea, and is at his best in his descriptions of a typhoon, a battle between a submarine and a plane, and a Jap attack on a rubber plantation."
+ Kirkus 12:435 S 15 '44 150w

"An air of reality makes the accumulated improbabilities seem possible. Exciting adventure for grades seven to ten." Eleanor Kidder
+ Library J 69:1104 D 15 '44 60w

ROBERTS, WALTER ADOLPHE. Royal street, a novel of old New Orleans. 324p $2.75 Bobbs
44-8366

Historical novel of New Orleans in the 1840's. Victor Olivier, the central character was an expert fencer, accepted in the best circles, and a leader of an exclusive political society, but when he fell in love with the daughter of an aristocratic Creole planter, it was remembered that his father was "in trade." After playing an important part in a Santo Domingo revolution and removing an obnoxious fencing master in a duel, Victor was regarded as a hero, and accepted as a suitor for Chérie Lamotte.

"The chief charm of 'Royal Street' remains Roberts' excellent and authentic picture of a lush, romantic setting; but the novel itself still seems only an excuse for his going there." Edith Roberts
+ Book Week p14 O 22 '44 360w

Booklist 41:89 N 15 '44
Kirkus 12:326 Ag 1 '44 170w

Reviewed by B. H. Smith
N Y Times p20 O 22 '44 320w

"Mr. Roberts' story is alive with vivid pictures, not only of the issues of the 1840's in New Orleans and the Caribbean but of the delightful houses, clothes, and often delightful manners of the times. The story, however, moves with the quickness and personality of a novel and has the romance, intrigue and adventure one would expect in its setting. In the end, it was not Victor's less spectacular virtues nor his charm but his prowess with his sword which opened his way into the citadel of a Creole family. 'Royal Street' is an historical novel which makes one bit of history come very personally and pleasantly alive." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p10 O 1 '44 500w

ROBERTS, WALTER ADOLPHE, and BRENTANO, LOWELL, eds. Book of the Navy. 302p $3 Doubleday
973 U.S.—History, Naval. U.S. Navy
44-40052

"The object of this anthology is to capture the spirit of the United States Navy, especially as it has expressed itself in action, and to enshrine its traditions, beginning with the earliest times and ending with yesterday. Wherever possible, the official reports of famous victories are given in the words of the commanders. There are many other first-person stories, as well as chapters from the best historians, songs, ballads, chanteys, and a sheaf of those toasts that were so popular in the ebullient first quarter of the nineteenth century. The book is intended not only for professional sailors and admirers of the Navy, but for everyone who loves 'all seas, all ships!'" Editors' note

Booklist 40:268 Ap 1 '44
Kirkus 11:568 D 15 '43 90w

"Should be of real interest to young people—especially adapted to browsing collections because of form, also valuable as reference material." Alice Vielehr
+ Library J 69:406 My 1 '44 110w

"There were some exciting and heroic feats on the North Sea mine barrage during World War I, as there were in the Adriatic. Either of these might have supplied better material than the vague section on 'Submarine Against Submarine.' But such a lack and one obvious misprint of 1842 for 1942, are the only possible dissenting notes on a fine compound of salt, canvas, steel, gunpowder—and bravery." C. B. Palmer
+ — N Y Times p4 Mr 5 '44 1050w

"A collection . . . that has been assembled, it would seem, on the theory that if enough material is gathered on any interesting subject, and trimmed to fit, the result will be an interesting anthology. The theory, in this case, doesn't quite work out. A few of the selections are readable and informative, such as the story of Perry's visit to Japan and a fragment by Mahan on the subject of seapower, but most of them are, if not trivial, tedious."
— + New Yorker 20:82 Mr 4 '44 90w

ROBERTSON, MRS CONSTANCE (NOYES). Fire bell in the night. 342p $2.75 Holt
44-3048

Syracuse, New York, just previous to the Civil war, is the scene of this novel about the underground railroad. Mahala North, the heroine, is torn between two loves: first for Dallas Ord, leading worker for the underground, and second for John Palfrey, chief enemy of the movement.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p3 My 7 '44 400w
Booklist 40:285 Ap 15 '44

Reviewed by Ray McPartlin
Boston Globe p17 My 3 '44 270w

Reviewed by J. C. de Menasce
Commonweal 40:139 My 26 '44 490w

"She's had her ups and downs, has Miss Robertson, and this is a good one. There's period glamour and high drama to this story of the Underground of American Civil War days."

+ Kirkus 12:6 Ja 1 '44 170w

"Only mildly interesting. None of the characters ever quite comes alive. However, it is an historically accurate and, at times, exciting picture of this great struggle for human liberty, filled with new meaning to a world in which the underground movement is again a living reality. Recommended for public libraries more as colorful history than as a novel." G. W. Wakefield

+ — Library J 69:204 Mr 1 '44 110w

"Mrs. Robertson's novel should help to make that era of our national development better known. Her book is an accurate account of what took place in Syracuse during two crucial years. Her attractive and sympathetic heroine, however, is less likely to engage the reader's interest than the historical scenes that swirl around her." P. V. Stern

+ N Y Times p7 Ap 30 '44 340w

Reviewed by Jennings Rice

Weekly Book Review p2 Ap 30 '44 900w

Wis Lib Bul 40:86 Je '44

ROBERTSON, EILEEN ARBUTHNOT (MRS H. E. TURNER). Signpost. 240p $2.50 Macmillan [8s 6d Cape, J]

43-18120

"A wounded English aviator on leave and a French refugee girl, both of whom have been plunged by their experiences in the war into intellectual misery and muddle, meet by accident and spend an idyllic week camping in Ireland. They make friends with a number of intensely sociable peasant families, and the author, lending the hero and heroine a share of her own cool humor and warm feeling, eventually extricates them from their personal hells." New Yorker

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p3 Ja 9 '44 600w

Booklist 40:183 Ja 15 '44

Bookmark 5:20 Mr '44

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 158:602 Mr '44 230w

Cleveland Open Shelf p4 Ja '44

" 'The Signpost' presents a convincing picture of remote Irish village life—its simplicity, ignorance of the world outside, poverty, warm hospitality and thoughtfulness, fierce personal enmities and unwillingness to forgive or forget, sociability, and intense awareness of what everyone there is doing. Only its religious fervor is missing. The story is told with considerable restraint and dignity; it has flights of genuine poetic feeling."

+ Commonweal 39:331 Ja 14 '44 420w

"Written by a pen that is an instrument of precision, it somehow fails to maintain the pace of its opening chapters and is weakened by the introduction of a succession of unmoving characters and forced symbolism. The author's Ireland, faced with conflict without and doubts within, focuses vivid attention upon the position of the neutral." Rice Estes

Library J 68:1049 D 15 '43 80w

"This is altogether a refreshingly unusual novel, marked by a shrewd and profound understanding of the various national characteristics, and the interest is kept alive throughout by entirely unexpected turns in the succession of events and by the vivid beauty of much of the writing." Wilfrid Gibson

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 16 '43 200w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 158:104 Ja 22 '44 210w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer

New Repub 110:154 Ja 31 '44 310w

"The opening is brilliant—the best short evocation of London in 1940 that I have read. . . But the soil, even of Ulster, seems to effect a peculiar contamination, and once settled firmly in Donegal, the book rapidly evaporates. Even here, in the cardboard village of Kildooey, there are some fine conversations (certainly Miss Arnot Robertson's forte) and two striking characters. But Ireland cloys." Philip Toynbee

+ — New Statesman & Nation 26:125 Ag 21 '43 250w

Reviewed by Margaret Wallace

N Y Times p4 Ja 9 '44 850w

"The book has all the common sense and wit that we have come to expect of Miss Robertson."

+ New Yorker 19:66 Ja 8 '44 110w

"I think Miss Robertson has failed in her portrayal of the priest. You cannot exaggerate the Puritanism of Irish Catholicism . . . but I doubt if Father Keith would have shown either the tolerance or the bigotry she attributes to him. . . 'The Signpost' is certainly one of the best novels to come out of England since the war. It is as free from false sentiment as it is from false heroics." R. E. Roberts

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:7 Ja 15 '44 1100w

"It is curious to find Miss Arnot Robertson at a loss. For the theme and setting of The Signpost she has taken her talents and wits to wartime Eire. . . It is an Eire which I for one do not recognise, but it has the effect of toning down Miss Robertson's customary assurance of judgement to a new speculativeness; it neutralises the well-known acidity and induces a warm, odd generosity. But, for all the author's wit and goodwill, her beautiful village and crazy villagers are synthetic, straight out of a clever writer's notebook. And, indeed, the two visiting strangers are synthetic also. I found the book entertaining in patches, but difficult to get through and impossible to believe in." Kate O'Brien

— + Spec 171:94 Jl 23 '43 100w

"It is hard to define the quality that distinguishes this novel. It is deceptively simple and fresh. The relationship between Denyse and Fairburn warms the heart. The village folk have a directness that turns suddenly to the most artful subtlety. It is hard to imagine anyone reading 'The Signpost' without pleasure and refreshment." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 16 '44 600w

Times [London] Lit Sup p341 Jl 17 '43 900w

" 'The Signpost' is sensitively written with evocative skill: you are for the time being a part and parcel, with Tom [Fairburn] and Denyse, of the confined and violent life of the little village. For them, the holiday is a true convalescence whose theme is the old and tried one, that love is the solvent of woe; and for Tom especially, that real interest in the affairs of other people is a tonic for the troubled mind. The broader theme of Miss Robertson's 'Sign-post' is Ireland itself." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ja 9 '44 950w

Wis Lib Bul 40:86 Je '44

ROBERTSON, WILLARD. Oasis. 220p $2.50 Lippincott

44-7509

A talented painter describes the lives of some dear friends as he is driven across the desert from San Diego. Edith and Frazier were both afflicted with tuberculosis. Frazier, an ex-marine, owned a well in the desert, which the Indians regarded as a healing well. The story describes the arrival of Edith and her husband at the oasis, the husband's desertion, and Edith's slow recovery, and the final outcome of the experiment. The book is filled with the artist-narrator's love of the desert.

— Book Week p2 S 3 '44 360w

Booklist 41:23 S '44

Kirkus 12:263 Je 15 '44 200w

"An artless little tale untouched by any shadow of reality that would relate it to normal human experience. A still greater weakness, perhaps, is the uniformly two-dimensional quality of the character drawing." Jennings Rice

N Y Times p12 S 10 '44 360w

" 'Oasis' is a bit sentimental, but moving and satisfactory." A. S. Hartshorn

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d O 22 '44 170w

ROBERTSON, WILLARD—Continued
" 'Oasis' is a labor of love, tenderly, perhaps a little sentimentally accomplished, by a man who knows the desert and his fellow men and is willing to share the sustenance life has given him." F. H. Bullock
+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 3 '44 650w
Wis Lib Bul 40:148 N '44

ROBINS, JOHN DANIEL. Incomplete anglers. 229p $3 Duell

799.12 Fishing—Ontario. Algonquin provincial park, Ontario [44-5747]

Leisurely account of the adventures and misadventures of a Canadian college professor and his friend on a two-weeks' fishing trip in the wilds of Ontario.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p2 My 28 '44 400w
Booklist 40:386 Jl 15 '44

Reviewed by John MacDonald
Canadian Forum 23:239 Ja '44 280w
Kirkus 12:247 Je 1 '44 110w

"Wise and gentle book. . . On his working day Robins is an English instructor and a popular one, we surmise, in Victoria College, University of Toronto. It follows from this leisurely story that he is blessed with a mind that bounds and laughs, and with a philosophic spirit that soars through time and space and remains mellow even when beset by the vexations of the Great Outdoors." Fowler Hill
+ N Y Times p15 Je 11 '44 650w

"This book has disappointed the reviewer in a wholly charming manner. The title for some reason had led him to expect and fear one more sticky and factitious piece of field-and-stream preciosity. This anxiety proved to be wholly groundless. Mr. Robins has written a delightful, in fact fascinating, account." Leonard Bacon
+ Sat R of Lit 27:9 Je 3 '44 750w

ROBINSON, CLARK SHOVE. Explosions; their anatomy and destructiveness. 88p il $1.50 McGraw

614.83 Explosions 44-5929

"Destructiveness of explosions of bombs and shells in warfare and the results of accidental explosions in munition plants. Written in nontechnical language." (Library J) Short bibliography. Index.

"The book contains much information that is not readily available from other sources. It is required reading for ordnance men, safety engineers, and others who work with explosives." G. F. Kinney
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:208 S '44 190w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:607 Jl '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:44 Jl '44

Reviewed by Walker Bleakney
R of Scientific Instruments 15:268 O '44 280w

"Warfare is largely delivering explosives to some one else. Though there has been a great deal of study of the way they produce their effects, these data have not been in an easily accessible form. 'Explosions: Their Anatomy and Destructiveness' gets down to fundamentals, first answering the question 'What is an explosion?' Even a person who never expects to experience these effects will find the book of much interest." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 13 '44 80w

ROBINSON, DON. News of the 45th; with art by Bill Mauldin. 158p $2 Univ. of Okla. press

940.548173 U.S. Army. 45th infantry. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-40118

"News of the 45th is the name of one of the most notable newspapers in the history of American journalism: a newspaper written, edited and published by and for the enlisted men of the 45th Division of the U.S. Army, throughout the history of the division's long training period in this country, on its way overseas and during its active service in Sicily and Italy." Book Week

"Deserves very wide reading—and will continue to be good reading after many of the new war books have lost their appeal." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 My 7 '44 550w
Booklist 40:339 Je 1 '44

Reviewed by H. L. Matthews
N Y Times p5 My 14 '44 650w

" 'News of the 45th' provides interesting, often vivid and sometimes hilarious pictures of the immediate backwash of an advancing army. It is a carefree story but it isn't really 'news of the 45th' at all. That division has become one of the finest fighting outfits in the American army, and its battle story ought to be told—the story of the ordinary doughboys who are fighting and dying in the mud of the front lines. Unfortunately, you will not find that story in 'News of the 45th.' " G. K. Moriarty
+ — Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 25 '44 390w

"Sergeant Robinson, who used to work on newspapers in the Southwest tells the story of the '45th Division News' in much the same lively spirit in which he edited the paper. He leaves the heavy stuff for someone else and goes in mostly for the little things that strike him as funny. He makes almost no attempt to analyze the reactions of his readers, nor even of his fellow staff members, but is content to write an amusing, inconsequential account of the crazy life of a soldier-editor." Marcus Duffield
+ Weekly Book Review p11 Ap 23 '44 650w

ROBINSON, GERTRUDE. Fox fire; il. by Woodi Ishmael. 245p $2 Dutton
44-6683

Adventure story of New England in the 1660's, in which Paul and Hepsy Turner, teen aged brother and sister, are the central figures. An escape from Indians, in which the two are helped by a Jesuit, and a trial for witchcraft, are parts of the story. For older boys and girls.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p14 O 1 '44 140w

"Gertrude Robinson shows in Fox Fire her sound knowledge of colonial history, colored with a dislike of Puritans and an appreciation of the work of the Jesuit missionaries." A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:377 S '44 140w

"Authentic, exciting, vivid."
+ Kirkus 12:343 Ag 1 '44 90w

"Recommended for boys and girls from twelve to sixteen years of age." D. M. MacDonald
+ Library J 69:702 S 1 '44 70w

"Miss Robinson's canvas is broad in both the physical and the intellectual sense, so that we understand the thought of the day and at the same time see it gradually bursting its cramped boundaries as the colonists turn to new lands and new endeavors. The story seems actually to have two plots, but since both of them are exciting one can't complain about that." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p15 S 24 '44 180w

"These are important phases of our early history that Miss Robinson gives us in snatches, fragments. To develop them logically she should have written a book for much older readers, and she should have given herself more time. This is a book that one reads with mingled interest and irritation. It might easily have been an excellent historical novel. What boys and girls 'of ten and over' make of it remains to be seen." M. G. D.
Sat R of Lit 27:32 O 21 '44 270w
Springf'd Republican p4d O 1 '44 140w

ROBINSON, LOUIS NEWTON. Jails; care and treatment of misdemeanant prisoners in the United States. 296p $3 Winston

365.33 Prisons 44-2613

"This book, the only volume of recent years to concern itself with the baffling problem of local jails, is the most comprehensive review of the American jail system yet published. It contains data on the historical background of these institutions, and on such phases of the problem as present jail conditions, methods of reducing jail populations, state facilities for care of misdemeanants, and the alcoholic in jail. The final chapter lists conclusions and recommendations." (Survey) Index.

"Dr. Robinson has performed a public service in bringing together valuable material on jails and the treatment of misdemeanants. His chapter on the alcoholic and his final recommendations with respect to the whole jail problem will be particularly appreciated. However, in the opinion of this reviewer, the book presents little that is new, and by no means meets the need for a comprehensive and scholarly work on the jail problem." H. C. Lanpher

+ — Ann Am Acad 234:160 Jl '44 650w

"Through correspondence, by his work with the Prison Industries Reorganization Administration that carried him into several states, and by personal visits to many jails, houses of correction, workhouses, road camps, and state farms east of the Mississippi, Mr. Robinson has a very real knowledge of the conditions of which he writes. His book is factual and its conclusions are clear. He understands the jail problem and what has produced it, and knows that practices are almost universally bad. Where words of commendation can be given, however, he gives them."

Scientific Bk Club R 15:4 F '44 240w

"The book's coverage is extensive and should interest persons engaged in the delinquency field and the many other welfare workers whose duties bring them into close touch with local penal institutions... Dr. Robinson's recommendations should exert a deep influence upon the thinking of persons concerned with the age-old problem of local institutions." W. J. Ellis

+ Survey 80:174 My '44 450w

ROBINSON, WILLIAM ALBERT. 10,000 leagues over the sea [a peacetime voyage to the Pacific war zone]. new ed 383p il maps $2.75 Harcourt

910.4 Voyages around the world. Svaap (yacht) 44-7424

"A few pages have been added to this 1932 book [Book Review Digest, 1932, 1933], reissued because of current interest in the Pacific islands." Booklist

Booklist 41:60 O 15 '44

"Mr. Robinson is a fascinating narrator who never takes himself or the risks he ran too seriously. He has a trick of giving you the feel of a strange island, and his occasional ventures into anthropology are graphic and human." A. D. H. Smith

+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 S 23 '44 320w

ROBINSON, WILLIAM WILCOX. Big Boy; with il. by Irene Robinson. 56p $1.50 Macmillan

44-4991

Big Boy was a shepherd dog belonging to a small American lad. At first when Big Boy joined Dogs for Defense his trainers thought he would not do—he was too friendly. But Big Boy was intelligent and he learned so well to follow commands that he went to war, and in saving the lives of twenty American soldiers, became a hero.

Reviewed by F. C. Darling

Christian Science Monitor p8 Jl 31 '44 100w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:286 Jl '44 70w

"Big Boy seems thoroughly credible; even his exploits in the line of duty are not beyond belief. Well written, and beautifully illustrated."

+ Kirkus 12:96 F 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p20 Je 18 '44 100w

New Yorker 20:56 Jl 8 '44 50w

"A number of books have been written for younger boys and girls about 'dogs for defense,' but 'Big Boy' will without doubt continue to rate as one of the best. The illustrations by Irene Robinson are also excellent." L. W. K.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 11 '44 130w

"The closer a dog of defense story sticks to the facts the better it is; a story about a good dog is a good story for boy or man. This one is founded not only on fact, but on basic possibilities of dog character. Irene Robinson's massive style of illustration is just what the action needs." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Je 18 '44 300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:133 O '44

ROBSJOHN-GIBBINGS, TERENCE HAROLD. Good-bye, Mr. Chippendale; il. by Mary Petty. 106p $2 Knopf

749 Antiques. House decoration 44-3110

"In the course of this 'inside' story of fashion, antique collecting, and home-furnishing, the author takes the reader on a tour through many of New York's show-places, the Fifth avenue mansions filled with treasures from the Chippendale-Hepplewhite-Sheraton eras. And with considerable irony and wit he holds up for inspection the foibles of a vast company of fashion magazine editors and writers, dealers, collectors, decorators, and others of like ilk. In more serious vein, Mr Gibbings also discusses the possible development of a contemporary style in architecture and decor." (Springf'd Republican) Brief bibliography.

Reviewed by Russell Maloney

Book Week p7 Ap 9 '44 400w

Booklist 40:280 Ap 15 '44

Reviewed by Jerome Mellquist

Commonweal 40:356 Jl 28 '44 490w

"There's plenty of anecdotal material, extremes of statement, often unfair, but often with more than a grain of truth. Unfortunately, he makes no attempt to weigh his judgment with any glimmer of recognition for the sound things that have been done. His title is a stroke of perverted genius... The market will be largely those in the know, however, and there will be plenty of cognizance taken of the mote in the neighbor's eye."

+ — Kirkus 12:18 Ja 1 '44 200w

"This little book, written by one of the leading designers of contemporary furniture and gaily illustrated by Mary Petty, is as pertinent to post-war thinking as the speeches of Henry Wallace. Mr. Robsjohn-Gibbings wants to take the American home out of the snobbish hands of Fifty-seventh Street—and its Grand Rapids imitators—and give it back to the American people. The author has wit, and his exposé of the history and present practice of the antiques racket is highly entertaining reading. But beneath the urbane surface is a crusader's fervor." William Gilmore

Nation 158:574 My 13 '44 480w

"This new book by Mr. Robsjohn-Gibbings is often brilliant, is based on a genuine culture and wide, exact knowledge, is apt to the moment and gravely needed among us just now, and is diverting reading from start to finish." Stark Young

+ New Repub 110:505 Ap 10 '44 1000w

"At first glance, Mr. Robsjohn-Gibbings is a gallant Rough Rider, come to rescue the humble American homemaker from the bric-a-brac of fusty European tradition. Certainly he carries the right kind of ammunition for the job; a reputation for superior craftsmanship, esoteric knowledge of furniture and architecture, and an experience of sufficiently stylish implications to combat effectively the snobbishness he deplores. Add a touch of honest indignation, a good deal more malicious wit, and you have a very powerful ally for the average consumer. Or you think you have. . . While Mr. Gibbings, flaming with decorative idealism, goes off to Grand Rapids to fight for straight simple Gibbings lines we shall sit placidly in our cheap, durable, nearly Chippendale chair, waving him good-by." Isabelle Mallet

ROBSJOHN-GIBBINGS, T. H.—Continued

N Y Times p7 Ap 23 '44 750w

"A tizzy in a teapot, more or less, but likely to cause quite a stir in circles where Chippendale, Hepplewhite, and Sheraton still hold sway among the family gods. Mary Petty contributes eight of her unique and expert drawings."

New Yorker 20:95 Mr 18 '44 70w

"Much of what he says about decorators and decorating of the past thirty years is all too true. No one with a grain of sense or a sliver of memory would dream of denying it. Much of what he says is very amusing—in a smarty-pants way. Miss Petty's illustrations ably aid and abet him." Richardson Wright

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:44 Ap 15 '44 700w

"An amusing and well ballasted blast at America's penchant for 'collecting.' "

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 19 '44 110w

Reviewed by Iris Barry

Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 9 '44 380w

ROCHESTER, ANNA. Populist movement in the United States. 128p $1 Int. pubs.

329.84 Populist party 44-3817

History of the People's party in the United States, from the post-Civil war days to 1932. The author traces the party's rise, growth, and decline as a part of the economic history of the United States.

"The demands of the Populists would have been made more vivid if one of the platforms, such as that adopted at Omaha, had been printed in full. In spite of the fact that some 900 Alliance papers were printed, the author has relied entirely upon secondary sources, with the exception of two references to the National Economist, a leading Alliance paper." E. L. Bogart

Am Econ R 34:363 Je '44 900w

"This authority on America's agrarian life has presented the essential facts, and has done an excellent job of interpreting them in the light of American political and economic life and developing tradition." S. L. Jackson

+ Springf'd Republican p10 Mr 3 '44 600w

ROCKWELL, FREDERICK FRYE, ed. 10,000 garden questions answered by 15 experts; associate eds, Montague Free, T. H. Everett, Esther C. Grayson. 1467p $3.95 Doubleday

635.9 Gardening Agr44-189

Practical guide for the amateur gardener, in the form of thousands of questions and answers. The questions were originally sent in to The Home Garden, and have been answered by a group of experts. Arrangement is subject: Soils and fertilizers; Ornamental plants and their culture; Ten leading garden flowers; Lawns and turf areas; The home vegetable garden; Home-grown fruits; House plants; Plant troubles and their control; Regional garden problems; Landscaping and miscellaneous. List of books and bulletins on special subjects. Index.

Booklist 40:336 Je 1 '44

Bookmark 5:8 My '44

"A volume to stand close at hand on every garden shelf."

+ Kirkus 12:60 F 1 '44 130w

"A splendid book. It will guide the puzzled tyros. From it energetic gardeners will get a hundred new projects. And for even the laggard and lazy, such as this reviewer, it has its uses—and excuses. On a balmy May evening, the backyard deck chair (and one's inertia) murmur, 'Take it easy' while the garden (and one's conscience) say, 'Grab that hoe!' With 'Ten Thousand Garden Questions Answered' to prop before one in that deck-chair, it is possible to face conscience, wife and neighbor with the bland explanation that there's just a little horticultural problem which demands clarification." Marshall Bragdon

+ Springf'd Republican p6 My 6 '44 500w

"As a test of its real coverage, this reviewer propounded to its index a list of questions of his own and, believe it or not, found the answers to all of them! Perhaps some one else could 'stump the experts,' but he at least is willing to describe '10,000 Questions Answered' as a pretty complete reply to any home gardener's prayer for a pass-key to the storehouse of practical gardening knowledge." R. S. Lemmon

+ Weekly Book Review p17 Ja 7 '45 180w

RODEN, HENRY WISDOM. Too busy to die. 216p $2 Morrow

44-7213

Detective story.

"It's a good mystery of the hard, bright and tough school. People who like their humor to be broad, unsubtle and plentiful are going to eat it up. This is the second literary effort of a big business man turned mystery writer. He's learned a lot in the interim." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p7 S 3 '44 130w

Kirkus 12:309 Jl 15 '44 40w

"Mr. Roden's story makes lively reading, but it is difficult to forgive him for permitting the only really nice character in it to be murdered." Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p10 S 3 '44 120w

New Yorker 20:84 S 16 '44 90w

"Effectively lurid tale of exuberant amateur fighting group of wily and determined killers, with action all over the place."

— Sat R of Lit 27:23 S 2 '44 40w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 10 '44 110w

RODEN, HENRY WISDOM. You only hang once. 218p $2 Morrow

43-22862

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p7 Ja 16 '44 210w

"An alcoholic fog rather than a good detective story." Isaac Anderson

— N Y Times p22 Ja 9 '44 80w

"Perfumed gunsels with pin-point pupils, racketeers with ghoulish hands, copious gunplay, slugging, drinking, and uninhibited conversation. Tough enough."

Sat R of Lit 27:21 Ja 8 '44 40w

"Refreshing hard-boiled item." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 9 '44 180w

RODGER, GEORGE. Far on the ringing plains; 75,000 miles with a photo reporter. 295p il $3 Macmillan

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English 43-17298

"George Rodger is an indestructible young Englishman who hired out as a photographer for 'Life' magazine three years ago. He was told to get action pictures of the war, an instruction which he took literally, and in this book he tells how he went about it." (Weekly Book Review) "A portion . . . was published in England under the title 'Red Moon Rising.' A second portion is also scheduled for publication under the title of 'Desert Journey.' " (Note)

"Travelers, traditionally, have always been tellers of terrible lies: Signor Marco Polo, returning to his earlier haunts, was skeptically received by even the more innocent. But a later-day Polo like George Rodger spins a tall tale of his two-year junket across Africa and Asia at their widest parts, then confounds the incredulous with clear and beautiful photographs to make his story stick." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p2 Ja 9 '44 700w

Booklist 40:196 F 1 '44

Bookmark 5:14 My '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:492 Ap '44 30w

"The text abounds in color and drama and the feel of places; much of it is relatively new; there is enough anecdote to lend human interest. With photographic illustrations and numerous maps (I trust) it should prove a valuable addition to the war book shelf."
+ Kirkus 11:563 D 15 '43 250w

"Heartily recommended." S. E. Sherman
+ Library J 68:1005 D 1 '43 110w

"A brilliant photographic record of the fighting in Burma and a book in which the descriptive accounts are no less interesting than the photographs." M. C.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 O 27 '43 200w
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 12 '44 250w

Reviewed by Richard Match
New Repub 110:356 Mr 13 '44 330w

Reviewed by George Orwell
New Statesman & Nation 26:109 Ag 14 '43 550w

"An honest book, pretending to know neither the intentions nor the mistakes of the General Staff. War apart, it is an interesting travel book." Charles Landery
+ New Statesman & Nation 27:278 Ap 22 '44 240w

Reviewed by S. T. Williamson
N Y Times p12 F 20 '44 400w

"A high-hearted story told with spirit, humor, and forbearance." H. C. Wolfe
+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 Ja 29 '44 700w
Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 F '44 390w

"One of the most moving books about war that I have yet encountered." Simon Harcourt-Smith
+ Spec 171:131 Ag 6 '43 300w

"The book is a godsend to the armchair traveller, who will find Mr. Rodger not only an ingenious and pertinacious seeker of photographs but a gallant one as well, and, above all, a good and entertaining companion." S. H. F. Johnston
+ Spec 172:366 Ap 21 '44 450w

"The camera, we are told, never lies; and when a war correspondent, having gone through the Burma campaign almost from start to finish, can sit down and write a story as vivid and accurate as the evidence of his camera he is making a serious contribution to the history of war. . . Mr. Rodger never overpaints the picture, but as his narrative proceeds the reader may well be astonished that he and the little jeep in which he journeyed thousands of miles could endure so much."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p337 Jl 17 '43 1200w
Times [London] Lit Sup p124 Mr 11 '44 850w

"Perhaps it would be unkind to inquire whether Mr. Rodger's heroism was worth the candle. His book does not unduly accent the heroism, anyway; he writes in a simple, unadorned monotone without any attempt at continuity or artificial effects. The war was merely a job which required the overcoming of a remarkable series of handicaps, and his tale of personal adventure is set forth in a straightforward way." Marcus Duffield
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 9 '44 950w

RODGERS, ANDREW DENNY. American botany, 1873-1892; decades of transition. 340p il $3.75 Princeton univ. press

780.9 Botany. Gray, Asa. Botanists A44-4481

"Andrew Denny Rodgers 3d has added still another volume—the fourth—to his swiftly growing series on the history of botany in the United States. The book is essentially a storehouse of information relating to nineteen years of transition. Those years saw the death of Asa Gray and the beginnings of a new era. It was an era marked by a shift in emphasis from the cabinet to the out-of-doors, from the dried specimen to the living plant, from the basic work of naming and description to the advanced work of research in the life cycles of plants, in their mechanisms and their diseases." Weekly Book Review

"The history of the science during these years has been studied exhaustively by the author and is recorded with a fullness of detail which will appeal to all botanists but will scarcely hold the attention of others."
Christian Century 61:1258 N 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by G. R. Stewart
N Y Times p43 D 3 '44 850w

Reviewed by G. F. Whicher
Weekly Book Review p19 O 29 '44 180w

RODGERS, ANDREW DENNY. John Merle Coulter, missionary in science. 321p $3.75 Princeton univ. press

B or 92 Coulter, John Merle A44-2293

"Coulter was one of the greatest botanists this country has produced. After having been president of Indiana University and Lake Forest College, he became a professor in the University of Chicago in 1885 and remained there until his death in 1928. He was a devout and active Christian, an untiring seeker of scientific truth by the most rigorous methods of research, and a convinced evolutionist. . . The present biography is a well studied record of a great career and a great character." Christian Century

Am Hist R 50:182 O '44 50w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 S 24 '44 250w

+ Christian Century 61:855 Jl 19 '44 150w

"Rodgers's style is that of a scientist skillfully writing a technical paper. He sticks to his subject and gives only authenticated material from which there is no relief. As a matter of fact, it is so well documented that it reads almost like a legal form. Rodgers's biographies fill a gap that has long been ignored. No botanist can excuse himself in the future for not including botanical America in his perspective. The material is to be had in Rodgers's books." J. McA. Kater
+ Commonweal 40:404 Ag 11 '44 140w

"The book is a valuable source book for the history of American botany from 1875 to 1925, including much information about the activities of the many workers in that field with whom Professor Coulter was associated during his long and fruitful life."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:4 Jl '44 400w

Reviewed by E. W. Teale
Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 30 '44 500w

RODGERS, RICHARD. Oklahoma. See Hammerstein, Oscar. Oklahoma

RODKEY, ROBERT GORDON. Sound policies for bank management; a discussion for bank officers and directors. 224p $4 Ronald

332.1 Banks and banking 44-2520

"The book is divided into five parts: central problems of bank management, liquidity, solvency, public relations, and interrelationships of topmost management. Part I is a general summary of major bank management problems and policies which are discussed in detail in the later parts of the book." Am Econ R

"In the volume under review, Professor Rodkey has made a definite contribution to the literature of bank management. His book has two outstanding merits. First, and most important, it contains a cogent and lucid exposition of the management policies he suggests. Secondly, the book is brief enough (some 200 pages) so that the average busy bank executive may feel it worth while to take the time to read it. Rodkey has wisely refrained from including a mass of material which might easily creep into a volume of this sort, but which is already adequately covered in other published sources." F. A. Bradford
+ Am Econ R 34:608 S '44 700w

RODKEY, R. G.—Continued
"This work ought to be of the greatest value to the managers of small and medium-sized banks in presenting a blueprint of policies to be followed if their institutions are to operate successfully over the years. . . There are some minor matters in which I do not find myself in complete agreement with Professor Rodkey." Walter Lichtenstein
+ — Ann Am Acad 235:161 S '44 800w

RODNEY, GEORGE BRYDGES. As a cavalryman remembers. 297p il $4 Caxton printers
B or 92 44-8291

Reminiscences of an American cavalry officer, from the time of the Spanish-American war to the end of the first World war. During those years he saw service in the Spanish-American war, and was stationed in the Philippines, in the Hawaiian islands, and in the regular army posts in the United States.

"A book of recollections by a retired colonel should be, by every known rule, a pretty dry treatise on military affairs. Well, this one is the exception. Col. Rodney knows how to tell stories, and from his first trip to Manila to the end of his career, he shares with you some of the most extraordinary adventures you ever heard of. . . Rodney shifts his scenes with the skill of a magician, delivering serious and funny incidents with the rapidity of machine-gun fire." O. E.
+ Book Week p8 O 8 '44 140w

Reviewed by Alan Creighton
Canadian Forum 24:242 Ja '45 150w

"Not a war book, but a live, salty tale of personal experiences, with delectable humor scattered through it." Roy Hillbrook
+ Current Hist 7:499 D '44 60w

"Pleasant memoirs of a retired Colonel of Cavalry, U.S. Army, written in the spirit of Army tradition and 'way of life'. . . His experience as a short story writer enlivens his zest for spinning yarns of his own experiences."
+ Kirkus 12:396 S 1 '44 110w

"To all who like a good story and especially to those familiar with the army setting in the Philippines and on the border, the book should prove very entertaining." L. B. Kromer
+ Springf'd Republican p6 S 15 '44 280w

ROEBURT, JOHN. Jigger Moran. 214p $2 Greenberg
44-5497

Tale of gangsters and underworld life in Manhattan with a hard-boiled hero who doubles as taxi-driver and private detective.

Book Week p10 My 28 '44 70w

"Rough tough and anti-Nazi."
Boston Globe p15 Ag 9 '44 60w

"It would have been a better story had the author curbed his love for diction that might be called flowery were it not that flowers are usually associated with pleasing odors." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p14 Je 4 '44 90w

"There is a slender thread of story running through 'Jigger Moran' but it is concealed in such a kaleidoscopic phantasmagoria of obfuscatory polysyllables that it vanishes from time to time in the concentration of mental effort necessary to extract the significance of every other sentence. Perhaps that exaggerates matters a bit, but Mr Roeburt has fallen into the circumlocutory habit of the advertising copy writers who are forever kept racking their brains for a new way to embroider the stark bleakness of 'Goofy Hats, $13.79.' " Baron Ireland
Springf'd Republican p4d My 28 '44 280w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p12 My 21 '44 70w

ROGERS, SAMUEL. Don't look behind you! 237p $2 Harper
44-7923

Mystery story.

"An excellent first mystery by an author who has already made his name as a novelist." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p16 N 26 '44 180w

"Rogers creates convincing characters and situations, and then betrays his own creations with an unconvincing and machinemade finale of sheer melodrama in the old tradition."
+ — Kirkus 12:289 Jl 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p18 S 17 '44 100w

"You'll get quite a number of shudders before you reach the solution of this well-written first mystery, but the identity of the guilty party isn't apt to baffle you for long."
+ New Yorker 20:83 S 16 '44 110w

"Carefully wrought exercise in abnormal psychology, adequately chilly—and occasionally a bit over-done. Interesting."
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:42 S 16 '44 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 S 17 '44 100w

Wis Lib Bul 40:148 N '44

ROGOW, WILL (JEFFREY VICTOR, pseud). Let's find Skipper; pictures by Dauber. [22p] $1 Capitol
44-8268

"A toy book with cut-out pages about the search for Skipper, the dog, who is missing when all his friends are gathered for a picnic." Library J

"Format makes it unsuitable for library use, but it makes a nice gift book for very young children." Olive Brain
+ Library J 69:938 N 1 '44 60w

" 'Let's Find Skipper' is superlative fun, and exceptionally well thought out." L. M. Palmer
+ N Y Times p18 N 12 '44 60w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 70w

ROHMER, ALBERT E. Ivan, the iron horse; the story of a brave little engine; il. by the author. 31p $1.25 Whitman, A.
44-6678

Picture story book for the young reader, describing the adventures of a friendly little engine. Ivan had a rather ordinary existence until the day he helped pull a freight train full of war materials, which had stuck in a tunnel. After that Ivan was the proud wearer of a special flag.

"Good reading aloud for pre-school."
+ Kirkus 12:117 Mr 1 '44 70w

"Clever illustrations in primary colors, matchstick figures, reinforced binding, large print. Reading difficult for fourth and fifth grades, though content is for five- and six-year-olds." Gertrude Andrus
Library J 69:701 S 1 '44 70w

"The author's lively pictures, which have genuine humor and gaiety, make the little locomotive, the country through which he runs, the railroad yards and equipment delightfully real and entertaining." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p26 N 5 '44 120w

"It will appeal particularly to small boys interested in trains but their little sisters may also enjoy Ivan's adventures. . . There are amusing pictures on every page." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 22 '44 70w

ROHMER, SAX, pseud. (ARTHUR SARSFIELD WADE). Bimbâshi Barûk of Egypt (Eng title: Egyptian nights]. 312p $2.50 McBride [8s 6d Hale, R.]
44-4734

Ten tales dealing with the adventures of Brian Baruk, a half-English, half-Arab major in the Camel Corps whose command of languages and knowledge of the Oriental mind make him invaluable to the Military Intelligence people.

"If you like this sort of thing, here it is at its best." Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p8 Ap 9 '44 140w

Kirkus 12:31 Ja 15 '44 60w

"The stories are rather dull on the whole, chiefly because there is no villain in them comparable to the great Fu Manchu who has served Sax Rohmer so well in the past." I. A.

N Y Times p17 Ap 9 '44 80w

Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 160w

"Step this way for a shot of the old Sax Rohmer magic in ten picturesque adventures of Mohammed Ibrahim Brian Baruk. . . Up-to-the-minute scenes in England and the Near East are crammed with exotic wordage, fantastic folks like the fair Yasmina, alias Birket-el-Kamar, alias Pool-'o-the-Moon, and practically everything except Dr. Fu Manchu." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p15 Ap 9 '44 100w

ROJANKOVSKY, FEODOR, il. See Tall book of nursery tales

ROLO, CHARLES JAMES. Wingate's raiders; an account of the fabulous adventure that raised the curtain on the battle for Burma. 197p $2.50 Viking

940.542 Wingate, Orde Charles. World war, 1939—Burma 44-40036

In 1943 a force of British and native troops left India and disappeared into the swamps of Burma. Their leader was the new Lawrence of Arabia—Wingate of Burma. This small army of specially trained men, with very little equipment and no supply line, depending on airplanes dropping parachute packages, beat the Japanese jungle fighters at their own game, and won the favor of the natives besides. The author is a young British journalist, who based this book on the accounts of the men who took part in Wingate's raid.

"It is not always easy for the reader to follow all the peregrinations of the various columns in this expedition, but the author tells his story with as much clarity as is possible under such confusing conditions, and definitely establishes the claim that Wingate's small army performed a splendid feat of war." R. E. Danielson

+ Atlantic 173:127 Je '44 240w

"The author has told of one of this war's great exploits in a compact, smoothly paced narrative that possesses true British calm and yet is extraordinarily vivid." W. F. Morse

+ Book Week p2 F 20 '44 550w

Booklist 40:232 Mr 1 '44

Bookmark 5:14 My '44

"The book is of some value as background reading for the long-awaited Battle of Burma. . . The account is at times rather involved. Unquestionably, it would be easier to follow if a better map were provided. The story of the rigorous six-months training period and the following operation evidently is as complete as military security will permit, but there are important gaps. More vivid and complete is the portrayal of General Wingate as a scholarly, almost ascetic, man who is also a tough and wily fighter." DeW. H. J.

+ — Christian Science Monitor p13 Ap 8 '44 400w

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:665 Jl '44 20w

"An English Into the Valley, broader in scope, unusual inspiring adventure."

+ Kirkus 11:570 D 15 '43 160w

"Fascinating, in places thrilling. Recommended for all types of libraries. It has romance of high adventure in far places, true narrative of brave deeds accomplished over great obstacles." F. L. D. Goodrich

+ Library J 69:117 F 1 '44 100w

Manchester Guardian p3 N 22 '44 100w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield

Nation 158:233 F 19 '44 750w

" 'Wingate's Raiders' is interesting for its subject matter, but irritating for the information it fails to furnish. How many soldiers followed Wingate into Burma and how many came back again? Why must the 'vital jobs' they carried out beyond the Irrawaddy remain a military secret? Haven't the Japanese learned about them after a year?" Malcolm Cowley

+ — New Repub 110:383 Mr 20 '44 480w

"Charles Rolo has a splendid gift for narrative. He writes with brisk buoyancy; his work is free of tedious heroics and the taint of overdramatization. . . Once launched, the tale of this incredible odyssey never flags." Murray Harris

+ N Y Times p4 F 13 '44 750w

"Mr. Rolo has not quite succeeded in making his tale live. It is largely impersonal, a recountal of the route followed by the expedition and the major obstacles which it encountered. It conveys none of the terror which is an enemy-infested jungle and to this reviewer seems slightly detached from the horror which is this war. For those interested in the personality of General Wingate, 'the New Lawrence,' the book is pregnant with anecdotes and photographs." C. B. Peters

Sat R of Lit 27:13 F 12 '44 550w

Spec 173:490 N 24 '44 180w

"Mr Rolo, although a young writer, has done well by Brigadier Wingate and his Chindits. His book is extremely interesting." J. H. Fifield

+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 20 '44 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p466 S 23 '44 700w

"You may read this book for its epic of endurance and gallantry, for its detailed account of a military expedition and military techniques unique in our global war, or to get a sudden clear insight into how Burma can and will be reconquered. But however you take it, Mr. Rolo's very able report gives an interesting close-up of Major General Orde Wingate, one of the extremely few truly remarkable commanders and leaders that British-American arms have yet produced in this conflict." Leland Stowe

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 5 '44 900w

Reviewed by F. W. Bronson

Yale R n s 33:761 summer '44 240w

ROMAINS, JULES, pseud. (LOUIS FARIGOULE). The death of a nobody; tr. by Desmond MacCarthy and Sidney Waterlow; with a new introd. by the author, tr. by Haakon Chevalier. reissue 137p $2 Knopf 44-9587

Reprint of a short novel which was first printed in French in 1910, and in English in 1914, and has been long out of print. The story deals with the death of an unimportant little man, and the effects his passing had on the half dozen people who had been associated with him.

Reviewed by Cuthbert Wright

N Y Times p22 N 19 '44 360w

"Without a touch of technical exhibitionism, the author achieves a small work of art—harmonious, melancholy, and with a hard core of logic."

+ New Yorker 20:54 D 30 '44 130w

ROMAINS, JULES, pseud. (LOUIS FARIGOULE). Work and play; tr. from the French by Gerard Hopkins. (Men of good will, v11) 573p $3 Knopf

The eleventh volume of this series on life in France covers the period of the middle 1920's. Outwardly Europe is quieting down after the turmoil of the first world war, but to thinking men the faint stirrings of the second World war are already becoming apparent.

"As a novelist, he is logical and careful and intelligent and uninspired. His measures are taken well in advance. He knows exactly where he is going and how he intends to get there. . . But make no mistake, we shall reach the goal at last and when we do it will be seen that it is the right, indeed the only possible, one. . . But there is a fourth quality far more essential, it seems to me, rather markedly unmentioned by Maurois. Of what avail are technical skill, worldly knowledge, even industry, unless they be matched by a lively creative imagination?" Arthur Meeker, Jr.

ROMAINS, JULES, pseud.—Continued

+ — Book Week p1 Ja 16 '44 1150w

Booklist 40:285 Ap 15 '44

Kirkus 12:22 Ja 15 '44 190w

"Only the French word sec—a certain kind of dryness—can be used to describe M. Romains' prose. This dryness, this flatness, shows up plainly in the English translation. There is something clinical, something almost sterile in this accurate, methodical observation and recording of a 'total society.' . . One is never, personally, involved with the creations of Romains. One observes, tabulates, records—and then turns away from the current volume—and forgets it until the next is published." Eleanor Kittredge

N Y Times p4 Ja 16 '44 850w

"In both parts, there is a great deal of conversation about French politics and the danger of a second world war. But the story lacks any real direction and there is no reason it should not end long before it does."

New Yorker 19:65 Ja 22 '44 180w

"A good quarter of the volume is devoted to a double murder mystery among the mountain folk of Velay. The story is told through the deductions of amateur psychologists, of whom Jerphanion is one. It is both interesting and exciting, but, like the other themes of the book, it remains unfinished. As one puts down this book and peers into the future, a disturbing thought comes. Just where are the men of good will headed?. . . Can it be that Jules Romains is building a cynical, ironical opus on the futility of men of good will?" S. L. McGee

Sat R of Lit 27:5 Ja 22 '44 850w

"Work and Play seems as exhausted as France. The conflicts are spiritless, the dialogues read like editorials, the goings-on of all the characters, with no one of whom the reader feels akin, seem meaningless. The pathos of the novel is extraneous. It lies in the reader's dark foreknowledge of what was so soon to happen to this France that Romains describes."

Time 43:99 Ja 24 '44 1650w

Reviewed by Virgilia Sapieha

Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 23 '44 1200w

RONALD, JAMES. Night is ending. 477p $2.75 Lippincott

44-3690

Novel of life in a gloomy English industrial city. The central character is Ruth Malvern, a courageous young woman, whose life had been a hit-or-miss one with a charming but improvident father. When he collapsed Ruth first tried teaching. Later a sick woman and her three children needed help, so Ruth took over the woman's shop and made a living for all of them, and when the mother died adopted her children. From that point the children and her father became Ruth's charges, and thruout the years she maintained her loyalty to all of them.

"James Ronald, author of 'Old Soldiers Never Die,' has written the story of a martyred daughter and a worthless father which might have been a great book, but just fails the mark." S. N.

Book Week p2 Ap 30 '44 270w

Kirkus 12:123 Mr 15 '44 130w

"In spite of frequent calls on the deus ex machina it is a human and eminently readable tale of general appeal." M. C. Manley

+ — Library J 69:354 Ap 15 '44 60w

"Any reader who may have imagined—as any reader might be forgiven for doing—that English novelists have somehow lost the trick of telling a story will have James Ronald to reckon with henceforward. 'The Night Is Ending' partakes of the vast energy and invention which are in the classic tradition of the English novel. Some of its motivation—and machination—will not bear close analysis. James Ronald can take a coincidence blithely in his stride. He is not afraid of an occasional unblushing piece of melodrama. In spite of (or perhaps because of) that the story he has to tell hits its stride at once and keeps moving." Margaret Wallace

+ — N Y Times p7 My 7 '44 360w

"In the portrait of [Dr Murdoch] Mr. Ronald is really successful. It is the nearest he gets to life-like characterization; though even Murdoch has to have the conventional bullying, adoring 'old servant of the family' to do for him. 'The Night is Ending' must, however, be read for the excitement of certain episodes, the careful study of the small shop in England and the shop-keeper's problems, and the grim, all too truthful, account of how Mosley's black-shirts gained their toughs and their dupes in the less savory quarters of such towns as Brancaster." R. E. Roberts

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:15 My 13 '44 600w

"James Ronald has packed so much into his novel . . . that the reader may be a little bewildered by the many turns of the plot. The sacrificial character of Ruth Malvern strains credulity somewhat—yet despite these criticisms the story is absorbing." M. D.

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d My 7 '44 250w

"Mr. Ronald has the gift of story-telling and this novel is crowded with a wealth of vivid and swiftly moving episodes, among them the adventures of the oldest of Ruth's three charges. The warmth and catholicity of the author's interests and the concreteness of his telling make 'The Night is Ending' a vigorous and zestful novel." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 30 '44 500w

ROOS, KELLEY, pseud. of AUDREY KELLEY and WILLIAM ROOS. Sailor, take warning! 188p $2 Dodd

44-1337

Detective story.

"It's all pleasant and amusing." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p10 F 6 '44 140w

"Don't miss it." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p8 Ja 30 '44 80w

"There's not quite enough material here for a full-length mystery."

New Yorker 19:68 Ja 22 '44 70w

"Dexterously woven plot, likable people, considerable gaiety, unflagging action, ship-shape writing, and solution you're not likely to guess. Full marks."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ja 22 '44 40w

"There's plenty of danger and suspense, but on the whole this is one of those mysteries with more laughs than shivers. Just the same, you'll probably never feel quite at ease in Central park again." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 23 '44 110w

Time 43:104 F 7 '44 50w

"In this harmless and frequently entertaining pipe-dream, Jeff and Haila Troy solve a horrible murder without tears or unduly gruesome trimmings. . . Jeff and Haila are a cut above the standard domestic act so familiar in light mysteries." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p22 Ja 23 '44 180w

ROOSEVELT, FRANKLIN DELANO. The American way; selections from [his] public addresses and papers; ed. by Dagobert D. Runes. 71p $1.50 Philosophical lib.

308.1 U.S.—Civilization 44-3101

"Short selections arranged topically—Rights of the common man, Not bread alone, True education, Dynamic democracy, etc.—express ideals of American life and government. Selections dated but source not identified. Material lends itself to quotation. No index." Booklist

Booklist 40:335 Je 1 '44

"It is difficult to see what purpose is served by this selection of short extracts from the more highfalutin' and rhetorical parts of the President's speeches and messages. The selection does not apparently go back beyond 1936. The extracts are dated, but no explanation is given of their context; and one gets the feeling after reading them that you could collect this sort of gush about American ideals from almost any American public man." F. H. U.

— Canadian Forum 24:71 Je '44 80w

ROOSEVELT, FRANKLIN DELANO. Rendezvous with destiny; addresses and opinions; sel. and arr. with factual and hist. references and summaries by J. B. S. Hardman. 367p il $3 Dryden

973.917 U.S.—Politics and government. World war, 1939—U.S. 44-5917

"This book brings together 37 addresses and parts of addresses by the President, from 1932 to January, 1944, which have heretofore been available only in the nine volumes of his public papers." Book Week

"It's a splendid idea, spoiled, I think, by the editor's overpowering desire to arrange the speeches under such banal headings as Faith Behind the Fight, Recovery and Reform, etc. Chronological order is the logical order, and I do not see that anything has been gained by destroying it." Robert Lasch

+ — Book Week p3 Je 18 '44 450w

"Book is more than a selection of public utterances. In a larger sense the history of the past twelve years comes vigorously alive and we see it in all its complexities. Editor is a well-known figure in labor movement." J. H. Berthel

+ Library J 69:501 Je 1 '44 110w

Reviewed by Allan Spalding

New Repub 111:499 O 16 '44 60w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn

N Y Times p7 Jl 2 '44 350w

ROSA, GUIDO. Mexico speaks; phot. by the author. 250p $3 Day

917.2 Mexico—Description and travel 44-2921

Account of the author's trip around Mexico in a dilapidated Chevvy, piloted by his faithful companion, the peasant Juan. The author was interested chiefly in the ways of life among the plain people and his book is full of stories of common folk.

" 'Mexico Speaks' is not a great book—and perhaps not an important book—but I hope that it will become one of many books which will present to the Norte Americano the Mexican we must understand—the Mexican who is so difficult not to love and respect when this understanding comes." J. B. Metzenburg

+ Book Week p8 Ap 23 '44 450w

Booklist 40:303 My 1 '44

Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 1 '44 450w

"A companionable sort of book, revealing the sensitive sympathy of an understanding traveller, who reports the conversations, the lives of the little people, the plain people, met en route."

+ Kirkus 11:569 D 15 '43 140w

"Entertaining and profitable reading." O. G. Lawson

+ Library J 69:262 Mr 15 '44 90w

"Mr. Rosa is sympathetic to the Mexican Revolution but not dogmatic about it. Altogether a warm-hearted and pleasurable example of a not too important genre."

+ New Repub 110:510 Ap 10 '44 150w

"It is an open question whether this carefully fashioned simplicity illumines or misleads. For some people it has great charm. For others it reduces the problem of understanding many-layered Mexico to dimensions that are much too small." Mildred Adams

N Y Times p6 Ap 30 '44 600w

"Books about Mexico come in bunches these days, but this one is several grades better than the average."

+ New Yorker 20:83 Ap 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by J. H. Jackson

Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 13 '44 700w

ROSE, MRS MARY DAVIES (SWARTZ). Foundations of nutrition; 4th ed, rev. by Grace MacLeod and Clara Mae Taylor. 594p il $3.75 Macmillan

612.39 Nutrition. Diet 44-2975

"This is a book intended for the 'teaching of sound nutrition to those with little or no foundation in the underlying sciences.' The first part of the book dealing with energy and with protein and mineral metabolism has been reorganized into more logical sequence than in earlier editions. The section on vitamins is an interestingly written, condensed, up-to-the-minute summary of findings with a history of vitamin discoveries. The appendix contains several useful new, as well as revised, tables." (J Home Econ) For third edition see Book Review Digest, 1938.

"This 4th edition certainly maintains the high standard of excellence set by the previous editions, and is a volume worthy of a place on the shelf of everyone interested in the science of nutrition." G. R. Cowgill

+ Am J Pub Health 34:1110 O '44 320w

Booklist 40:287 Ap 15 '44

Reviewed by Savilla Mangun

J Home Econ 36:361 Je '44 150w

ROSEBERY, MERCEDES. This day's madness. 262p $2 Macmillan

973.917 U.S.—Description and travel. U.S.—Social life and customs. World war, 1939—U.S. 44-4797

A picture of the home front in an America at war, written from a feminine point of view.

Book Week p8 Jl 30 '44 90w

Booklist 40:388 Jl 15 '44

Kirkus 12:135 Mr 15 '44 150w

"With such honest effort to be recommended, it is too bad 'This Day's Madness' doesn't come off. It is a book that might need to be written, but Miss Rosebery at this stage in her development—she is apparently quite young—is not the one to do it. . . Her style is clear and frequently lively. She is conscientious at research, but has an eye for colorful detail. But she has no sense of audience." Jane Cobb

— + N Y Times p12 Jl 9 '44 480w

"Miss Rosebery is a chronicler and not a critic, so what spice there is in her book must be found in the incidents themselves, and there's plenty now to laugh at or be proud of. . . Miss Rosebery's book is interesting and entertaining now; it must wait for its true value as a source book for future historians to become apparent." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 25 '44 280w

"In retrospect some of it is futile and some of it funny, but Miss Rosebery is not a critical commentator. Her book is designed simply to remind us that we certainly burned up a lot of energy running around in circles, and can be more profitably active from now on."

Weekly Book Review p18 Je 4 '44 130w

ROSINGER, LAWRENCE K. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944 [issued under the auspices of Int. secretariat, Inst. of Pacific relations]. 133p $2 Princeton univ. press

951.0425 China—History. World war, 1939—China. China—Politics and government A44-5407

"A concise history of the complicated Chinese political picture in recent years. Sponsored by the Institute of Pacific Relations, the book compresses the historical part into 61 pages, and the documents of major importance, from the will of Dr. Sun Yat-sen to the declarations of the central government on the Communist question in 1943, are included in a long appendix." Christian Science Monitor

ROSINGER, L. K.—Continued

"A book of exceptional timeliness." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 N 19 '44 140w

Booklist 41:137 Ja 1 '45

"Another valuable service to students of the Far East." S. C. M.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 D 30 '44 900w

Reviewed by W. F. Sands

Commonweal 41:179 D 1 '44 600w

"Though a scientific research document, this volume is easy and fascinating reading. It is difficult to see how specialists and teachers about China can well do without it and its valuable historical material." Agnes Smedley

+ New Repub 111:697 N 27 '44 800w

"Clearly written, coolly objective, essentially sound as to facts, this essay presents the highlights, with comparatively few contrasting shadows, of the period touched upon. Never does Mr. Rosinger wax enthusiastic; never is he ironical or condemnatory, never does he guess, suggest or imply and rarely does he attempt explanation or interpretation. Facts are facts, without nuances. Mr. Rosinger, who knows so much of Chinese sounds, smells, ideals, heroism, skulduggery and corruption—in other words, the intense humanness of the Chinese—has seen fit to relegate them to the role of Shakespearean alarums from without. Never do they get onto the stage." H. F. MacNair

+ — N Y Times p29 Ja 28 '45 360w

Reviewed by Owen Lattimore

Weekly Book Review p5 D 17 '44 1200w

ROSINSKI, HERBERT. German army. new rev ed 220p $3 Infantry journal

355 Germany—Army 44-2827

Penetrating study of the German army, which traces its history from the time of the father of Frederick the Great to the Battle of Salerno. The chapters are: Frederick the Great; The era of reform; The nineteenth century; The World war; Weimar Republic and Third Reich; Versailles and rearmament; Coordination and command; The general staff system; Current ideas of the German army; German strategy in the present war. For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1940. Index.

Am Hist R 49:790 Jl '44 30w

Reviewed by C. C. Zimmerman

Am J Soc 50:241 N 13 '44 750w

"Among the comparatively few sources on the subject available in English, the book ranks high, both for factual information and as an analytical text. Particularly well done are the chapters on Frederick the Great and Ludendorff; the characters of Clausewitz, Moltke, and Schlieffen, however, were given more space and relief in the earlier edition." Heinz Guradze

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:810 Ag '44 380w

"This authoritative account . . . recommends itself for careful study." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p3 My 7 '44 470w

Booklist 40:322 My 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p13 S 9 '44 350w

Foreign Affairs 23:12 O '44 20w

"Clear, research based analysis, for primarily a military market."

+ Kirkus 12:165 Ap 1 '44 190w

"Excellent book on the German army. . . It supersedes not only the author's previous study of the same subject—in fact, the present book is more than a revised edition, it is a completely new work—but also most of the other books on the German army published in recent years. Since it contains a penetrating analysis of the functioning of the German military machine and a discussion of the military ideas prevailing in the German General Staff, it should be read by all those who are currently engaged in destroying the military power of the German Reich." S. T. Possony

+ Nation 158:572 My 13 '44 600w

"This book is much more than its title would imply. The reviewer expected a dull catalogue of facts and figures, instead of which Dr. Rosinski, himself a German, has given us a fascinating study of the German Army from its beginnings under Frederick the Great until today. . . In his record of the origins, development and present excellence of the Wehrmacht as a fighting force, he is unsurpassed; so much so that this book may well serve as a standard work of reference for students of military affairs." Murray Harris

+ N Y Times p24 My 21 '44 650w

Reviewed by T. H. Thomas

Pol Sci Q 59:446 S '44 950w

"Herbert Rosinski is an outstanding German military and naval historian who left Germany under Nazi pressure and has since lectured at several English and American universities. While opposing the Nazis he has nothing but admiration for the German army. Readers looking for criticism of the army and for exposure of its support of and connections with the Nazis will need to look elsewhere. Nevertheless, if one keeps in mind the author's very obvious bias, The German Army is an excellent book." R. A. Brown

+ Social Educ 8:327 N '44 250w

Reviewed by V. M. Dean

Yale R n s 33:745 summer '44 240w

ROSS, JAMES FREDERICK STANLEY. Parliamentary representation. 245p $3 Yale univ. press [10s 6d Eyre]

328.42 Great Britain. Parliament. Representative government and representation A44-3838

"This closely reasoned book is divided by the author into three parts. The first is a study, largely statistical, of what various kinds of people the 1,823 members who have sat in the House of Commons since 1918 have been, their ages, education, occupations, parties and so forth. The second part examines the causes which have brought the facts ascertained in Part I into existence. The third consists of suggestions for reform." (Times [London] Lit Sup) Index.

"The study is carefully done, and the discussion is temperate in tone. The electoral system proposed would tend to strengthen the Liberal party in Parliament and the tendency toward coalition governments. To a considerable extent, similar factors could be shown in the United States." J. A. Fairlie

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1223 D '44 700w

"The book is a fine example of scientific research and of clear and logical exposition." E. D. Graper

+ Ann Am Acad 237:236 Ja '45 400w

"Mr. Ross has undertaken a task for which every student of politics must be grateful. . . Where statistical methods are adequate, Mr. Ross is admirable. Where sociology or political science and history come in, the book is extremely suggestive, but does not and cannot fulfill what one would expect from its brilliant and painstaking statistical illustrations. The statistician, once he enters the field of the social sciences, cannot dispense with the work of the sociologist or historian, however more superior in his deceiving 'exactness' he may feel himself to be." J. P. Mayer

+ — New Statesman & Nation 26:422 D 25 '43 750w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn

N Y Times p14 O 1 '44 650w

"A scholarly, scientific, and on the whole fairly objective [study]." Quintin Hogg

+ Spec 171:498 N 26 '43 2050w

Times [London] Lit Sup p16 Ja 8 '44 550w

ROSS, MRS LILLIAN BOS. Blaze Allan. 281p $2.50 Morrow

44-8231

Sequel to the author's The Stranger (Book Review Digest, 1942). It is the story of Blaze, daughter of the Allans of that novel. The Big Sur country of California is the scene; the time the 1890's.

Booklist 41:89 N 15 '44

"Primarily a romance, and a pleasant one, with detail of the past and the locale to set it off. But not for a wide market."
Kirkus 12:328 Ag 1 '44 150w

"Once again Mrs. Ross has given us a rewarding journey through a segment of American frontier—and reminded us that the pioneer strain, despite its harshness, could bring a warm heart to the solution of its problems." C. V. Terry
+ N Y Times p14 O 29 '44 440w

Reviewed by E. Y. Mohler
Springf'd Republican p4d N 12 '44 280w

"In many ways this second novel is more expertly handled than the first. Yet, for two reasons, it does not add up to nearly as impressive a performance as 'The Stranger.' One reason is that Blaze Allan, spiritedly fighting back at her father, demanding that she choose her own husband, high-hearted and gay as she may be, is still the center of nothing excepting her own difficulties and her own romance. . . The other reason, however, is a matter of the level on which Blaze Allan's romance is conducted. It may be that a nineteen-year-old girl, fifty years ago and in so isolated a spot, would actually be as naive as Blaze. . . But, to this reader at least, Mrs. Ross simply doesn't make it credible." J. H. Jackson
+ — Weekly Book Review p8 O 22 '44 750w

ROSS, MALCOLM MACKENZIE. Milton's royalism; a study of the conflict of symbol and idea in the poems. 150p $2.50 Cornell univ. press [15s 6d Oxford]

821 Milton, John. Symbolism in literature 43-16407

"A study of the effects of the age—a revolutionary age—upon the works of Milton, who, trained in the Elizabethan tradition with its acceptance of royal symbolism, lived to oppose kingship and yet to be unable altogether to part with its symbolism. Hence the predicament of an author who had outlived the influences which had formed him—'one of the most perplexing dilemmas in the history of poetry,' of which Mr. Ross gives a painstaking analysis." (Times [London] Lit Sup) Index.

"Ross develops his detailed analysis with a lively suggestiveness that comes from his combination of literary sensitiveness and academic discipline with an intimate knowledge of sociological change in the twentieth as well as the seventeenth century. Unfortunately Milton has often seemed to invite stuffiness of treatment; there is no stuffiness here because Ross is vitally interested in problems which are as pressing for the literary artist today as they were for Milton. Anyone who is interested in such problems will find this book well worth reading, whether he is a student of Milton or not. The serious student of Milton will have some reservations to make—will regret, for instance, the unreservedly Shelleyean attack on Milton's bitterly liberal-minded God and the absence of any detailed account of the distinction between kingship and tyranny which Milton developed in his revolutionary prose and made fundamental in the contrast between his royal Son and his tyrannous Satan. But whatever his reservations he will find the academic job brilliantly illuminated at many points." Arthur Barker
+ — Canadian Forum 24:189 N '44 800w

Times [London] Lit Sup p263 My 27 '44 70w

ROSS, MARGARET ISABEL. Farm in the family; il. by Edward Shenton. 261p $2 Harper

43-16887

A story for young people of how the four MacDonald boys and girls took over a rundown farm, and by hard work made a paying proposition of it.

"Recommended for older children." J. E. Wooster
+ Library J 69:34 Ja 1 '44 70w

"The plot is adroitly handled and the transformation of the four flighty boys and girls into responsible, hardworking young people, who take a pride in being good managers, makes interesting and amusing reading. The book, which emphasizes difficulties and disappointments, as well as successes, seems closer to reality than farm stories sometimes do." A. T. E.
+ N Y Times p7 Ap 16 '44 280w

ROSS, NANCY (WILSON) (MRS STANLEY YOUNG). Westward the women. 199p $2.75 Knopf

978 Women in the U.S. Frontier and pioneer life—U.S. 44-8939

Stories of the women of all classes, from missionaries and doctors to captives and dollar-a-dance girls, who helped to build the American Pacific northwest. Bibliography. No index.

"It is a charming and lively book, this amazing record of the Women's Hegira from the sheltered Eastern states to the wild and terrible plains and mountains of the unconquered West of scarcely 100 years ago." Taylor Caldwell
+ Book Week p3 N 26 '44 650w

Booklist 41:105 D 1 '44

Kirkus 12:390 S 1 '44 150w

"Delightful and courageous, written with clarity and distinction. . . For all libraries to feature for its contribution to an understanding of what lies behind us and how it colors our approach to what may come." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 69:882 O 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by M. B. Vagts
New Repub 111:809 D 11 '44 850w

"Many interesting minor characters are scattered through the book—Indian, breed and white, including the shipment of Eastern brides Asa Mercer sent around the Horn to the lonesome bachelors of Oregon. The section on the dollar-a-dance girls is presented with discernment and humor. . . There is a captive too—Fanny Kelly, evidently selected on the strength of the ghost-written book that describes her capture by the Sioux in Wyoming. . . But Fanny Kelly is really of minor importance in Miss Ross' book and forgotten in the vigorous characterizations that follow. . . It is in the portrayal of [these] women of the past and their struggles with hardship, frequent child-bearing and discrimination that Miss Ross is at her best." Mari Sandoz
+ N Y Times p4 O 15 '44 800w

New Yorker 20:81 O 28 '44 180w

"The story of 'Westward the Women,' factual, interesting, and a piercing reminder of tragedy in our world today, shows our heroic forebears, within human limits, giving no quarter to any path of least resistance." E. K. P. Stokes
+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 N 11 '44 650w

Springf'd Republican p4d O 29 '44 280w

" 'Westward the Women' is not only a dramatic and entertaining book, but the restoration of a fading legacy to a vast number of American men and women whose family legends deal with the great plains and the fearful, trackless woods, the pious and perilous journey toward an unknown future and a faraway coast." Ernestine Evans
+ Weekly Book Review p3 O 15 '44 1650w

ROTH, MARVIN G. Manual of aircraft riveting; a practical handbook dealing with methods used in aircraft construction and repairs. 96p il $1.25 McGraw

629.1341 Airplanes—Design and construction. Rivets 43-17125

Brief manual for beginners at riveting on aircraft parts. Includes many illustrations and review questions. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1007 D 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:59 O '43

ROTH, M. G.—Continued

"The reader of Mr. Roth's short text on riveting is occasionally likely to feel as though he had been massaged with an air gun. Anxious to make everything brief as possible, Mr. Roth has on numerous occasions introduced new and previously unexplained terms. And the student, who probably reads his mysteries elsewhere, is likely to be over-tantalized when the process under consideration is predicated upon an unknown key word." Theodore English

— N Y Times p26 Mr 19 '44 60w

ROTHERY, AGNES EDWARDS (MRS H. R. PRATT). Central American roundabout; il. by Kurt Wiese. 248p $2.50 Dodd

917.28 Central America—Description and travel

"Presents the six republics of Central America individually, giving little attention to their history but emphasizing the people and how and where they live. There are additional chapters on folk fables, stamps, flags, and coats-of-arms, and some war materials from Central America. Informal style. No index. Grades 5-8." Booklist

Booklist 41:142 Ja 1 '45

Kirkus 12:480 O 15 '44 120w

"Not an exhaustive survey or a book for ready reference (no index), it fills a need for a sprightly, interesting introduction to the southern republics." M. C. Scoggin

+ Library J 70:72 Ja 15 '45 70w

"Among books that by one means or another seek to interest children in other countries as well as their own—books that are this year unusually good—some arouse this interest by creating an illusion of actual travel. This is not so easy to do for children; the travel books of Agnes Rothery for them stand out because she does it so well." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 14 '45 350w

ROTHERY, AGNES EDWARDS (MRS H. R. PRATT). Fitting habitation. 244p $2.75 Dodd

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-2354

Account of the succession of houses in which the author and her professor-husband have lived, from the tiny rented two-roomed studio in Hartford, to the house which they built for themselves in Virginia. Much autobiographical detail is included.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy

Book Week p8 Mr 5 '44 250w

Booklist 40:250 Mr 15 '44

Bookmark 5:17 My '44

"Mrs. Rothery's story of home-making is so persuasive that apartment dwellers reading these chapters will want to go straight to a real estate office and acquire a house. In places it must be admitted that 'A Fitting Habitation' reads like the fluffy home-maker pages of the women's magazines. But Mrs. Rothery is never syrupy for long. This book seems to be the perfect gift for the young bride—or for home owners who have weathered the same storms that Mrs. Rothery here describes." Catherine Maher

+ N Y Times p11 F 27 '44 500w

"'A Fitting Habitation' is the second book of memoirs by this author who is best known for her numerous books of travel. Like her 'Family Album' this is a true record simply and joyously set down." C. M. Sauer

+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 27 '44 500w

"The charm of this book is, of course, essentially its picture of a way of life in which the real riches are zest, adventure, companionship, work and friends. The character of its principals, and the gaiety, humor and good sense of this book will endear it, like its predecessors, to home-loving and adventuring-loving readers." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p8 F 27 '44 650w

Wis Lib Bul 40:54 Ap '44

ROWE, ANNE. Too much poison. 222p $2 Mill 44-47199

Detective story.

Boston Globe p16 N 15 '44 40w

Kirkus 12:355 Ag 15 '44 50w

"As melodrama the story is fairly good." I. A.

N Y Times p32 N 19 '44 120w

"Entertaining."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 N 4 '44 40w

"Unless the 'if I had only known' school of who-dunit makes you grit your teeth, try Anne Rowe's 'Too Much Poison' for a fast-paced mystery in a setting of Park avenue and cafe society." M. L. H.

Springf'd Republican p4d N 5 '44 120w

"Miss Rowe provides enough matter for a guessing game. If you don't mind the home talent manner, so much the better." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p26 N 26 '44 120w

ROWLEY, HAROLD HENRY. Relevance of the Bible. 192p $1.75 Macmillan [6s Clarke, J.]

220.7 Bible. Whole—Criticism, interpretation, etc. 44-8317

"What I have tried to show in this little book is that the Bible is relevant to our modern world, which so largely ignores it, and that modern scholarship is not inimical to the spiritual understanding and use of the Bible. . . My purpose has not been to produce a textbook of Biblical Theology, but to expound the importance of an attitude of mind to the Bible that is both scholarly and spiritual." (Pref) Contents: The changing emphasis in Biblical studies; The inspiration of the Bible; The prophets of the Old Testament; The unity of the Bible; The use of the Bible; The God of the Bible; Sin in the thought of the Bible; The person and work of Christ. Indexes.

"The author, who is professor of Semitic languages in the University College of North Wales, gives the sort of introduction to the Bible which will be useful to persons who know little about it, to those who are familiar with its words but have never come to grips with the problems raised by its critical study, to those who have too quickly concluded that the 'newer view' of the Bible destroys its value for modern men, and to those who may have opportunity to instruct people of these classes."

+ Christian Century 61:1230 O 25 '44 150w

"This little volume has considerable worth, particularly in the author's special field of knowledge, the Old Testament. Facts that are common property are set forth frankly, yet irenically, with abundant cogent illustration." I. G. Matthews

+ Crozer Q 22:94 Ja '45 200w

RUDIN, HARRY RUDOLPH. Armistice, 1918. 442p $5 Yale univ. press

940.439 European war, 1914-1918—Armistices. Germany—History A44-5256

Account of the discussions and negotiations in Germany, from the time the German leaders first realized that victory was impossible until November 11, 1918. The author is associate professor of history at Yale university. Maps on end papers. Index.

"The writer has done an admirable job. The style is firm and vigorous, the documentation is ample and illuminating, and the clash of personalities and the mounting speed of events are held clearly within the reader's vision. The pertinence and importance of such a study at this time are obvious." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 N 19 '44 110w

Booklist 41:106 D 1 '44

"A detailed and thoroughly documented study of the armistice which ended the First World War."

+ Christian Century 61:1386 N 29 '44 110w

Commonweal 41:282 D 29 '44 60w
Current Hist 8:72 Ja '45 60w
Kirkus 12:420 S 15 '44 210w

"Well-written monograph should attract considerable interest in spite of its scholarly character. Recommended for public and college libraries." F. E. Hirsch
+ Library J 69:935 N 1 '44 130w

Reviewed by Joseph Bornstein
Nation 160:78 Ja 20 '45 360w

"Those who have entertained doubts about the wisdom of the United Nations' unconditional surrender policy in the present war may find grounds for reconsidering their views in the light of Professor Rudin's findings. Because of its manifold lessons and direct bearing on pending events, his excellent book deserves a wide reading public." H. A. DeWeerd
+ N Y Times p5 N 12 '44 700w

"This book does honor to its author and to the university where the solid information and the sound views therein expressed are available to those whose minds, happily, 'are plastic to receive'; it mirrors the events of the much debated year when the war was won and the lame peace initiated. It tells in restrained terms the tragic story with a wealth of documents not to be found elsewhere in a single volume. It should be made required study, not merely 'reading' for all who may have anything to do with the next world settlement when it is reached." Stephen Bonsal
+ Sat R of Lit 27:9 N 25 '44 1000w

"It is difficult to imagine a more timely study than this, or one of more absorbing practical value." Walter Millis
+ Weekly Book Review p5 D 10 '44 1700w

RUGGLES, ELEANOR. Gerard Manley Hopkins. 305p $3.50 Norton
B or 92 Hopkins, Gerard Manley 44-6711

Full-length, sympathetic biography of the English poet and scholar, who was a convert to Catholicism, became a Jesuit priest and died in Dublin at the age of forty-four in 1889. Nearly thirty years after his death his friend Robert Bridges published his poems, poems which have since exerted considerable influence on English writers. Bibliography. Index.

"Authentic and moving biography. [The] book brings this obscure recluse vividly to life in spite of the pietistic tone of much of the material. A character, a poem, or a period is often captured in a deft phrase." C. J. Furness
+ Atlantic 174:131 O '44 550w

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p9 Ag 13 '44 400w
Booklist 41:88 N 15 '44

"Eleanor Ruggles has written a much-needed biography of this Oxford convert, friend of Keble, Pusey and Newman. Her sympathy, understanding and assimilation of Hopkins' Letters to Bridges, Dixon, Patmore and the Notebooks and Papers give invaluable insight for the layman who is unfamiliar with the poet. Here is a colorful story of the once obscure Jesuit priest, the 'terrible pathos' of his spirit and poetry, his brilliant associations with Jowett, Bridges, Dixon. Above all, it is the objective observation of the genius of priest and poet each giving an immortality to the other."
+ Boston Globe p15 Ag 16 '44 220w

"If it is a sign of a good biography that its subject makes the same impression on those who meet him in the pages of his written life that he made on those who knew him in real life, then this is emphatically a good biography. Anyone reading this book likes Gerard Manley Hopkins. Everyone who knew him in his lifetime liked him, though nearly everyone disagreed with him." Mary Byles
+ Cath World 160:184 N '44 500w

"It is an extraordinarily competent piece of work, at once sympathetic and clear-headed, especially in its description of Hopkins' life as a religious. Miss Ruggles avoids the temptations that threaten the biographer of an eccentric—those of making him appear a pathetic or ridiculous or admirably unhuman figure. The background is sketched in with discerning economy, and the criticism of the poetry is most just. Her book is indispensable for lovers of Hopkins' poetry, and the best possible introduction to it for those who do not yet know it. For it is poetry so highly personal and so sophisticated technically that it cannot be fully enjoyed without an understanding of the man." Cecelia Gaul
+ Christian Century 61:1105 S 27 '44 500w

"For poetry lovers, scholars, and those interested in the phenomena of religious experience, a welcome book. . . The man emerges whole and in his setting. One knows him, why and how he lived, and why he died. This is accomplished with considerable psychological insight, commendable delicacy and taste."
+ Kirkus 12:310 Jl 15 '44 150w

"This is not the definitive life of the poet for which his admirers have been waiting, but it is unquestionably the most acceptable yet published." Babette Deutsch
+ Nation 159:415 O 7 '44 1200w

"Miss Ruggles deserves our thanks for a neat, competent job." W. H. Auden
+ New Repub 111:223 Ag 21 '44 1300w

"This poet, who lived from 1844 to 1889 . . . was the author of one volume of verse. Yet the life of Gerard Hopkins is likely to take on an increasingly symbolical character, like the lives of Baudelaire and Poe, focusing and flashing insight into many recesses of a whole civilization. The excellent new biography by Eleanor Ruggles illustrates this fact. The poet's life—delicately and vitally in contact with its age at every point—evokes a correspondingly close scrutiny from the biographer. . . This book will reinforce the growing awareness that Hopkins was one of our major poets." H. M. McLuhan
+ N Y Times p7 S 3 '44 1050w

"A readable, well-documented story."
+ New Yorker 20:64 Ag 12 '44 90w

"This is a very satisfactory biography. Mrs. Ruggles presents her facts in a straightforward and economical way, she is both sensitive and impartial, she selects excellent quotations to illustrate her points, and her comments on Hopkins's poetry are sensibly restricted to describing the relation between that poetry and the complex, fascinating, and intense personality that produced it. Only in the first chapter, when she somewhat awkwardly tries to sketch the world in which Hopkins was born, does her taste falter; otherwise she has written as good a biography of Hopkins as we are likely to have." Theodore Spencer
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:20 S 2 '44 800w

"An excellent popular biography of the most influential Catholic poet of the 19th century. The book aims at much less detail than several earlier and more fragmentary studies of the poet's life (notably Pick's 'Gerard Manley Hopkins: Priest and Poet') but since it covers more in time and less in detail, it is bound to have a larger general public." Lee Varley
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 8 '44 750w
Time 44:99 Ag 14 '44 1300w

"Eleanor Ruggles's new life of Hopkins is an easily read, coherent, and tactfully written book." Horace Gregory
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 6 '44 1300w

RUKEYSER, MURIEL. Beast in view. 98p $2 Doubleday
811 44-6201

Collection of poems, many of them concerned with "discovering a creative relationship between the individual and reality."

Book Week p9 Ag 13 '44 130w

"Muriel Rukeyser has some strength, powerful emotions, and intricate mind caught in the dark web of psychoanalytic symbols. She declares, obscurely enough, that she wishes to be an American, a woman, a Jewess, and a poet. I grant her power, and even some command of technique and form; but I don't know what she is talking about. Her mental geography is still a dark, impenetrable jungle; the net result is dark, confused, and strained."
— + Kirkus 12:193 Ap 15 '44 130w

RUKEYSER, MURIEL—Continued
Reviewed by F. W. Dupee
Nation 159:662 N 25 '44 120w

"Muriel Rukeyser's latest book is also her best, if for no other reason than that it contains her finest poem, 'Ajanta.' Here she has really achieved the height of a permanent poem, complete in its own logic and unity. Otherwise her book is a collection of forms which she has essayed to use in her assiduous search for techniques. . . 'Ajanta' is one of the important poems of the decade, and, in spite of my rather severe objections to Miss Rukeyser's lengthy discourse, this fourth book of hers is living, resonant with the activity of a poet at work." Oscar Williams
+ — New Repub 111:534 O 23 '44 240w

Reviewed by F. C. Flint
N Y Times p4 S 3 '44 280w

"No one should underestimate Miss Rukeyser. She has industriously built herself into modern literature and will be producing poetry for a long time to come. I wish, however, that she would write a little more clearly; often I do not understand, literally, what she is talking about." Louise Bogan
+ — New Yorker 20:91 O 21 '44 130w

"'Beast in View' fulfils the creative promise and continues the steady growth in writing power of her earlier work. As always, her themes are broad, fundamental and thought-provoking. Her touch is serious; she has no time for the light hearted note. She is concerned with finding fresh, new ways of expressing her intense feelings through forceful symbolism, and this intensity gives her work at times a queerly pent-up feeling, with a sense of leashed power. They are tinged with a lyric thread giving a softer, more musical tone to her poetry than formerly." C. M. Sauer
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 6 '44 550w

"The dilemma of conflict rising from an unresolved dualism in viewpoint has characterized Muriel Rukeyser's recent work. Yet her awareness of that conflict, and her search, through the blackness, blood and destruction of our time, for resolution and affirmation, make 'Beast in View' possibly her most significant book." Ruth Lechlitner
+ Weekly Book Review p4 D 31 '44 700w

RUMSEY, ADELINE (MRS JOSEPH MARX). Crying at the lock. 214p $2.50 Simon & Schuster
44-5768

"A carefully planned psychological novel involving a man who, married to a woman of neither character nor brains, keeps remembering his nymphomaniac first wife and eventually finds release in the love of a direct and wholly natural young girl. Miss Rumsey has an interesting situation—a man, fettered by his own neuroses, who had been happier married to an abnormal woman than he is married to an entirely conventional one." New Yorker

Reviewed by Russell Maloney
Book Week p3 Ja 14 '45 310w
Booklist 41:109 D 1 '44

"There is a quality of suspense and strangeness amid familiar things that adds considerably to the flavor of the novel, which is carefully written and wisely developed."
+ Boston Globe p34 N 29 '44 200w

"Shock treatment, making no concessions to life as it ought to be—but recommended to sophisticates for sheer readability."
Kirkus 12:284 Jl 1 '44 200w

"Though no definite plot, suspense leads to dramatic end. Characters well drawn. Recommended." E. F. Kelly
+ Library J 69:651 Ag '44 70w

"Adeline Rumsey is one of the most proficient of the school of young precision-instrument writers. With insight, detachment and restraint she can get a cool, clear distillation out of such unlikely materials as some unusually feverish humanity and a full meed of melodrama. Reading her second novel is like watching a careful craftsman whittling his rough wood into a smooth miniature perfection, almost too small for the human eye to see; there is an element of suspense in the process." Isabelle Mallet
N Y Times p3 N 12 '44 400w

"The author studies her situation too hard and arranges the plot too neatly around it, so the book does not add up to much more than a sharply contrived tour de force. It is only when Miss Rumsey is exploring the very credible character of the second wife that she shows she can be a sound novelist when she tries."
— + New Yorker 20:97 N 11 '44 140w

"'Crying at the Lock' is a most unpalatable novel, in which the central character, for all her superficial niceties, is probably the most despicable female who has appeared between bookcovers in a long time; but it is also a subtle, skilful novel, a cerebral melodrama." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p4d D 3 '44 280w

"Apart from [a] rather marked exaggeration in character drawing, 'Crying at the Lock' has considerable quality. It is delightfully feminine, full of atmosphere and detail cleverly rendered, eloquent of the small events and snags of daily domestic existence." Iris Barry
+ — Weekly Book Review p10 D 10 '44 500w

RUNBECK, MARGARET LEE. The great answer. 238p $2 Houghton
940.53152 World war, 1939—Religious aspects 44-680

Brief sketches of fighting men, women, and children, who have turned to prayer in their hours of danger, and have escaped—from battles, the sea, or occupied territory.

Booklist 40:339 Je 1 '44

"A personal, dramatic and poignant approach to faith which is in key with emotional needs today and of augmenting importance to many to whom it seemed outside their ken yesterday. There's the woman's touch, definitely, with some sentiment, but it is inescapably moving material which illustrates from actual experiences of the war that 'man's extremity is God's opportunity' and that a belief in God, even though unacknowledged as such, is back of every fighting man."
+ Kirkus 12:11 Ja 1 '44 240w

Reviewed by J. R. Shepler
Springf'd Republican p6 Ap 18 '44 380w

"Written in simple, sincere style; should appeal to many readers."
+ Wis Lib Bul 40:36 Mr '44

RUNBECK, MARGARET LEE. Time for each other. 165p $2 Appleton-Century
44-3227

Our Miss Boo (Book Review Digest, 1942) is now eight years old. Her father has gone to war, and so has Joseph, the handyman who is the husband of black Lilliam, the cook. But Miss Boo and her mother, and Lilliam and her baby, Cukey, keep house together, and wait for that wonderful day when the families will be united again.

"'Our Miss Boo' is 8 and this little girl who delighted America at 4 is just as charming as she ever was. A wartime narrative of homey wit, wisdom and pathos written by a lonely young woman whose husband is far away on the battle front. It is the nearest thing I've read to 'Mrs Miniver'—an American Mrs Miniver without a Mr. Miniver or a Dunquerque, but with all the courage." Edith Roberts
+ Book Week p5 Jl 9 '44 270w
Booklist 40:378 Jl 1 '44
Boston Globe p30 N 29 '44 40w
Cath World 160:91 O '44 180w

"Disappointing."
Kirkus 12:200 My 1 '44 230w

"Actually, it is not a novel in any sense of the word. Rather it is the day-by-day account of minor happenings in a home, with the incidents told in a treacly manner, heavily sugared with philosophic meditations. . . Some of the incidents are no more than bright sayings of children expanded into a chapter. Others are basically charming." Thelma Purtell

+ — N Y Times p25 Jl 23 '44 200w

"Miss Boo is not spoiled; she does not have it all her own way. She gives her heart to a little dog that gives his at first sight to her mother—but up the road is a huge one that has also known unrequited love, and the two console each other. Of such slight matters is made a tale to be read with pauses." M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p8 Jl 16 '44 400w

Wis Lib Bul 40:131 O '44

RUNYON, DAMON. Runyon a la carte. 192p $2 Lippincott

Twelve short stories, three of them about the present war, and all of them vehicles of Runyon's well-known slightly crackpot characters.

Kirkus 12:237 Je 1 '44 170w

"A man with such a point of view [as Runyon's mouthpiece] is not easy to resist. As long as Runyon continues to filter stories through him, I shan't even try." Nunnally Johnson

+ N Y Times p6 Jl 2 '44 750w

"The ingredients and flavor of these twelve stories provide fare which does not differ greatly from the diet on which Runyon enthusiasts have been thriving happily for years. If any conclusion can be drawn from a comparison of the earlier stories with these latest variations on Mr. Runyon's familiar theme . . . it is that the race-track folk, crap shooters, and card artists who crowd the Runyon pages seem less at ease in 1944 than they did in the general unreality of the Prohibition era."

New Yorker 20:66 Jl 1 '44 180w

Reviewed by P. V. Stern

Sat R of Lit 27:20 Jl 29 '44 150w

"Mr. Runyon's 'A Slight Case of Murder' set a new fashion in screen treatment of crime stuff. Some of the stories in this book have had their venom extracted in the Hollywood laboratories for filming, and very good pictures they are. But the unretouched originals are better; they are closer to Dostoevski than to the screen." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 23 '44 370w

RUSH, WILLIAM MARSHALL. Rocky Mountain ranger; decorations by Richard Bennett. 223p $2 Longmans

44-7519

"The setting of this story is in the Rocky Mountains of Montana, adjacent to Yellowstone Park, and through its pages march the woolly hordes of sheep, wild animals, good men and bad. Kirk, the hero, must deal with them all—sometimes with only Flaxy, the mare he alone has been able to break, to help him. The unfolding of the story tells how Kirk proved himself worthy of a place in the United States Forest Service." (School & Society) For older boys.

Booklist 41:95 N 15 '44

"Worthwhile combination of fiction with fact."

+ Kirkus 12:345 Ag 1 '44 90w

"Plenty of danger and excitment which will be a treat for older boys. Good reading." Leota Herron

+ Library J 69:888 O 15 '44 50w

"The training for a Forest Ranger in the mountains of Montana, the breaking in of a mare who becomes one of the best characters in the book, the difficulties and rewards of this very special service are told here with vitality, humor, and conviction. A very good book."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:40 N 11 '44 50w

School & Society 60:192 S 16 '44 70w

"This is a book which older boys will enjoy, it is well written and the interest is well sustained." J. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 29 '44 80w

RUTLEDGE, NANCY. Beware the hoot owl. 280p $2 Farrar

44-3054

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p11 Ap 30 '44 70w

Booklist 40:305 My 1 '44

"Feminine forecasting and foolhardiness on the heavy side, but otherwise pleasantly engaging."

+ — Kirkus 12:50 F 1 '44 80w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p10 Ap 2 '44 120w

"Take it any way you like, this slightly dizzy baffler should entertain most fans. You can laugh or shudder, or both, as Ann Wentworth tells of her adventures as governess in a murderous house in a ravine." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p19 Ap 2 '44 80w

RYERSON, STANLEY BREHAUT. French Canada; a study in Canadian democracy. 256p $2.50 Int. pubs.

971.4 French Canadians. Canada—Politics and government. Quebec (province)

[44-1760]

"The purpose of this book is to state in broad outline the main realities in the changing life of the French-Canadiane: to explain something of today's developments in the light of the Canadian and American past; and to indicate the part that French-Canadian democracy can play in the winning of victory over Hitlerism and the building of a future America on the sure foundations of democratic liberty." (Foreword) Index.

Booklist 41:150 Ja 15 '45

"This book is one of many attempts to explain Quebec's problems to English-speaking Canadians. Mr. Ryerson, who is well known as the national educational director of the Labor-Progressive party, obviously writes from the standpoint of his party. . . This last section of the book is more in the nature of a political pamphlet, and suffers from the use of a good deal of jargon. But the book as a whole is interesting and stimulating." L. P.

+ — Canadian Forum 23:236 Ja '44 700w

"Mr. Stanley B. Ryerson, descendant of old Canadian families on both the French and English sides, and national educational director of the Labor-Progressive (formerly Communist) party . . . desires to prove that 'the democratic tradition' has a vitally important role in the formation of French Canadianism, and that this tradition has been seized and distorted by 'reactionary corporatist-nationalism.' Mr. Ryerson's method consists in divorcing the Roman Catholic Church in Quebec from all association with the people and representing it as a powerful vested interest bought by the Quebec Act of 1774 to support the capitalist imperialism of Great Britain and thwart the genuine democratic aspirations of the habitants and the coureurs de bois. . . Mr. Ryerson's object is to undermine the faith of the Quebec habitant in the Church as the defender of his national and racial interests, by representing it as ever ready to sell him out for favours granted by the British government, by the mercantile class, by the land-owners, by anybody. This is a very necessary step if Communism is ever to make any great strides in the province, and it is certainly not undesirable that the events of Quebec history should be looked at from other points of view than the ecclesiastical. But it is scarcely fair to blame all the economic ills of Quebec on ecclesiastical greed." B. K. Sandwell

Canadian Hist R 25:201 Je '44 450w

S

S. M. C. See Mary Catherine, Sister

SACHS, HANNS. Freud; master and friend. 195p il $2.50 Harvard univ. press

B or 92 Freud, Sigmund 44-9687

"A frankly admiring biographical memoir of the father of psychoanalysis, by a disciple and long-time friend. . . Without going into the subject very deeply, Dr. Sachs describes Freud's methods and the conditions under which he worked and gives us an inkling of the power of his 'synthesizing imagination.' The Freud of these pages is a less austere figure than has sometimes been presented by others—warmer, livelier, and wittier." New Yorker

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 D 31 '44 150w

Booklist 41:152 Ja 15 '45

"The book has a curious quality, for it is adulatory to the point of becoming tiresome, and at the same time it is without warmth or light. . . Dr. Sachs' tone and feeling are one thing. Others are his facts, all of which are valuable, and most of his interpretations, which are entertaining." Mark Schorer
— + N Y Times p18 Ja 7 '45 1200w

"A subjective, intimate, and wholly delightful sketch which should come in handy for the author of the yet-to-be-written formal biography of Freud and is fun to read just for itself."
+ New Yorker 20:98 O 21 '44 130w

"Much in this book is new and revealing; its author writes learned and lively prose. But it falls far short of the need for a definitive biography of the founder of psychoanalysis in relation to his work. Perhaps Freud's youngest daughter, Anna, might do it. Or perhaps Thomas Mann might be persuaded to develop further the splendid essay he wrote in honor of Freud's 80th birthday. The life of the 'Master and Friend' deserves a profounder and more objective treatment than it has yet received." Harry Daum
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d N 19 '44 550w

Reviewed by Lorine Pruette
Weekly Book Review p2 Ja 21 '45 800w

SACKS, RAYMOND J. Theory and practice of arc welding. 383p il $2.80 Van Nostrand

671 Electric welding 43-17437

"A course of study for beginners. Part I discusses the applications of welding, the various kinds of welds, testing and inspection, safety precautions, welding symbols, and blueprint reading. Part II deals with operational skills and offers exercises in welding all types of joints, in all positions, using shielded arc electrodes. Each exercise is presented in job sheet form, supplemented by a blueprint, with photographs and sketches showing finished welds and correct electrode positions. The treatment follows recommendations of the American Welding Society." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:70 O '43

SACKVILLE-WEST, VICTORIA MARY (MRS HAROLD GEORGE NICOLSON). The Eagle and the Dove. 175p $2.50 Doubleday [10s 6d Joseph, M]

922.2 Teresa of Jesus, Saint. Thérèse de l'Enfant Jésus, Saint 44-2447

Study of the contrasting characters of two Carmelite saints: St Teresa of Avila, who lived in sixteenth century Spain; and St Thérèse of Lisieux, the little French nun, who died of tuberculosis in 1897.

Reviewed by Peter De Vries
Book Week p3 Mr 5 '44 600w
Booklist 40:250 Mr 15 '44

"An Anglican in religion, [the author] has wisely gone to Catholic sources and to Catholic advisers, a procedure which has not kept her from being refreshingly individual in the treatment of a difficult subject. . . Which is not, of course, to say that her work is flawless. In several matters, unwary or uninformed readers might be seriously misled. She has not quite caught the true idea of the contemplative life, nor the actual relationship between Catholicism and holiness. She writes with great reverence, but she portrays more successfully the humanness of the earlier Saint than the childlike simplicity of the later."
+ — Cath World 159:94 Ap '44 200w

"This brief study in mysticism is written after a fashion to delight any reader who likes clear, springy, witty English. The author, of course, is not a Catholic, but she writes with a deep sympathy for the mystical experience, springing perhaps from her own artistic experience, since she constantly draws attention to the parallelism between the two—a parallelism equally emphasized by such writers as Jacques Maritain."
+ Commonweal 39:547 Mr 17 '44 210w

"This gifted writer has made St. Teresa of Avila and St. Terese of Lisieux come alive for us as vividly as Franz Werfel has given us Bernadette. And again—as in Bernadette, there is value and interest for non-Catholics as well as Catholics."
+ Kirkus 12:63 F 1 '44 240w

"A distinguished study of a 'subject difficult to understand without experience of such graces' (Saint Teresa) and thoughtful readers will welcome it." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 69:159 F 15 '44 140w

"Miss Sackville West is not religiously devout and she brings to her study . . . a cool, lucid, but sympathetic regard. . . On the whole Miss Sackville West's treatment of the little French saint is more satisfying than her account of the great Spaniard. The objective method has its limitations, and a detailed consideration of sensational physical phenomena hardly compensates for an almost complete disregard of Teresa's mystical writings. But it is for its human detail that her book is particularly valuable." H. I'A. F.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 17 '43 220w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries
Nation 158:711 Je 17 '44 700w

"The Eagle and the Dove is intended not for the student but for the general reader, who will find it of absorbing interest. Poetic imagination, a feeling for history, and uncommon sense are three of the qualities needed by the biographer of the Teresas; and with each of these Miss Sackville-West is richly endowed." Raymond Mortimer
+ New Statesman & Nation 26:319 N 13 '43 1500w

"A timely and beautifully written study of two saints of passionate temper and vitality. Yet it should be easy reading also for those who know nothing about them except perhaps some misleading scraps of information picked up at random." Sigrid Undset
+ N Y Times p3 F 20 '44 1300w

"Anyone interested in the varieties of religious experience will find her book extremely rewarding."
+ New Yorker 20:83 Mr 4 '44 90w

"Sympathetic and respectful as is Miss Sackville-West's treatment, her book cannot satisfy admirers of Santa Theresa, and will, I imagine, be more distasteful to the clients of St. Thérèse of Lisieux. . . 'The Eagle and the Dove' is rather a brilliant and belated appendix to William James's great book 'The Varieties of Religious Experience.' . . This book displays intelligence, a real, if perplexed, love of holiness, a genuine effort to understand the religious temperament and the devotion which led two such different women to take the veil in so severe an order as the Carmelite." R. E. Roberts
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:12 Mr 18 '44 850w

"Is the author a little naive in her treatment of mysticism, of the conflict between monasticism and the world . . . or of the withdrawal of divine grace? Does she spend either too much or too little time on the medical history of her saints?; too little for a complete diagnosis, too much if she is primarily concerned with results, the experience achieved, rather than with physical causes or means? Perhaps. Still, she has set herself a task of extraordinary interest and difficulty, and in much of it, particularly in the evocation of a place, a period, an atmosphere, she is outstandingly successful. I wish she had increased our debt by adding to her skilfully chosen illustrations an index and a bibliography." Lettice Fowler

+ — Spec 171:484 N 19 '43 750w

Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 28 '44 390w

Times [London] Lit Sup p594 D 11 '43 120w

"After reading V. Sackville-West's 'The Eagle and the Dove,' one wishes that a rule could be made limiting the field of hagiography to sensitive and capable novelists. In this study . . . Miss Sackville-West meets all the most rigid strictures of the theologians and metaphysicians in handling her subjects, while approaching them with the appreciation of the creative artist for rare and appealing personalities." Clare Godfrey

+ Weekly Book Review p3 F 27 '44 1250w

Wis Lib Bul 40:54 Ap '44

SADLER, WILLIAM SAMUEL. Prescription for permanent peace. 202p $2.50 Wilcox & Follett Co, 1255 S. Wabash av, Chicago 5

940.531 World war, 1939—Peace. International cooperation 44-6238

"In this book a psychiatrist diagnoses the war and traces it to the national paranoia which has dominated German and Japanese policies during the last 100 years or more. This paranoia appears in the attitude of suspicion with which these nations regard their neighbors, in their egotism, desire to dominate, persecution complex, megalomania, and delusions of grandeur. Following his diagnosis the doctor offers his prescription for the peace to come. . . The concluding chapters fix the major responsibility for the peace upon our own United States and call upon us, its citizens, to accept the role of world leadership to which destiny has called us." Publisher's note

Reviewed by W. H. Chamberlin

N Y Times p25 S 10 '44 120w

"Although somewhat platitudinous and discursive, some passages of the book are penetrating and provocative." Cyril Clemens

Springf'd Republican p6 O 2 '44 380w

SAFRANEK, MILOS. Bohuslav Martinu; the man and his music. 134p il $3 Knopf

B or 92 Martinů, Bohuslav 44-7548

Biographical sketch of a Czech composer, who has lived in the United States since 1941. The author, who is also a Czech, is a friend of long-standing of the composer. The book includes a list of Martinu's chief works. Index.

Booklist 41:139 Ja 1 '45

"A book which rhapsodizes more than it analyzes—not particularly technical in presentation—but sound writing, for serious enthusiasts of modern musical composition."

+ Kirkus 12::387 S 1 '44 170w

"Highly recommended." H. E. Bush

+ Library J 69:761 S 15 '44 110w

"Milos Safranek's book is adequate, but it seems a colorless introduction to Martinu and his music. It contains a number of musical examples, but makes no pretense at going beyond a rudimentary analysis." Colin McPhee

+ — N Y Times p26 O 1 '44 600w

"The author plays up the folk-lore side of the composer's music, a side by which he was very little known before he came to this country. . . Shortcomings like these give the book the character of a pamphlet of the type issued by information services of various governments in exile during the war. In truth, the book is not really long enough or well-rounded enough to have appeared on the market. However, it does contain certain useful features. It gives an interesting account of the composer's early life and a discussion of his many operas which are completely unknown here, as well as a complete list of the composer's works. As a critique of these it is not very convincing." Elliott Carter

— + Sat R of Lit 28:16 Ja 20 '45 600w

"This excellent little book is a timely aid to the understanding of [Martinů] and his work. Mr. Safranek, the author, himself a Czech, is an old friend who speaks with intimate authority." John Erskine

+ Weekly Book Review p8 S 17 '44 700w

SAGE, DANA. Moon was red. 306p $2.50 Simon & Schuster

44-3825

Detective story.

"Those who read mystery thrillers because they like them but who are grateful when they find one serious in intent beyond the usual confines of such books, will call this one super." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p9 Ap 30 '44 550w

Booklist 40:356 Je 15 '44

"O. K."

+ Boston Globe p17 My 24 '44 50w

Kirkus 12:125 Mr 15 '44 140w

"Local color, smeared on with a palette knife, impedes the action of what might have been an absorbing mystery." I. A.

— + N Y Times p21 Ap 30 '44 120w

"Not a top-notch mystery, since the plot hinges on some remarkable coincidences, but lots of fun to read."

+ — New Yorker 20:92 Ap 22 '44 110w

"First class."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:78 Ap 15 '44 40w

"The reader will probably start 'The Moon Was Red' cordially disliking Don O'K as a bit of a stuffed shirt, but will end by considering him rather a good fellow notwithstanding Harvard accent and meticulous insistence on Latin American courtesy in even the most difficult situations. He will also find himself painlessly acquiring much information about Bolivia as the exciting tale unfolds. If 'The Moon Was Red' is a first novel, Dana Sage has probably had writing experience in other fields." M. L. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 30 '44 250w

"This lively item should satisfy at one swoop your craving for mystery, murder, South American adventure and global intrigue. . . Picturesque, with slick criminals, native customs and plentiful suspense." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p18 Ap 16 '44 130w

SAILER, THOMAS HENRY POWERS. Christian adult education in rural Asia and Africa. 214p $1.25; pa 75c Friendship press

374 Education of adults. Missions 43-15304

"Dr. Sailer gives modern missions a raison d'être other than soul-saving. Literature, health (remedial and preventive medicine), improved standards of living, and the Christianizing of social relationships are avenues by which Christian growth may be promoted. The author culls his material from letters, reports, and books emanating from the mission fields. Reference lists at the end of each chapter show the author's broad grasp of the field of modern missions." (J Religion) Bibliography. Index.

Christian Century 60:1272 N 3 '43 20w

Reviewed by M. M. Deems

J Religion 24:152 Ap '44 90w

ST JOHN, ROBERT. It's always tomorrow. 248p $2.50 Doubleday

44-47948

Novel about an American newspaper correspondent caught in Poland when the present war began. From Warsaw he escaped to Budapest; from there he went to Paris, Bucharest, and finally London. Of the two women he loved, one was a beautiful mysterious Polish girl, the other a charming Cockney waitress. When the Polish girl was killed in the blitz, David was content to go on with the humble, but warm-hearted English girl.

ST JOHN, ROBERT—Continued

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p3 D 31 '44 450w

Booklist 41:153 Ja 15 '45

Boston Globe p15 D 13 '44 230w

Kirkus 12:470 O 15 '44 170w

"First novel by the author of From the Land of the Silent People [Book Review Digest, 1942] should have been better than this tale. . . Wait a bit." F. A. Boyle
Library J 69:1000 N 15 '44 70w

"If all this seems rather amazing to those who remember 'From the Land of Silent People' as a first-rate war report, the reviewer can only rest on the evidence." William Du Bois
N Y Times p12 D 10 '44 420w

New Yorker 20:114 D 9 '44 180w

"The book is unevenly written. The first half, in particular, is so crammed with scenes and events, the action moves so swiftly from one country to another that it reads more like a piece of expert reporting than a work of fiction. . . As a piece of reporting, however, it is vivid, highly personal, sometimes angry, often moving, and almost always accurate." Rulka Langer
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:6 D 23 '44 850w

"Where, in the author's first book, the bare bones of reality shone through the careful writing, in this novel he has cast all restraint away. In a series of flamboyant episodes he rushes from peak to peak of battle with headline compression and never stops to round out the dizzy spiral of experience. . . For a writer with as much talent and knowledge as Mr. St. John proved to have in his earlier book the new one is a disappointingly superficial treatment of an incontestable theme—that no peace will be possible till man really acknowledges his brotherhood with man." Virgilia Sapieha
— Weekly Book Review p8 N 26 '44 900w

SALE, ELIZABETH. My mother bids me bind my hair. 244p $2.50 Dodd
44-9914

Continues the story begun in Recitation From Memory (Book Review Digest, 1943). This book carries Fenella Rand's story from her fourteenth to her eighteenth year. The scene is again Tacoma, Washington, the time the early years of the present century.

"Here is a book as ingratiating and touching and funny as your own or anyone's family album." Sherman Conrad
+ Book Week p3 D 17 '44 500w

"Taken as a whole, the book has a great deal of authentic, homely charm. It should delight people who enjoy recalling their lost youth, provided they can forgive Miss Sale for saddling a nice girl like Fenella with a mother like Mrs. Rand—and providing they can avoid the stifling feeling of being crammed back into their 'teens, and sent to one of those hopeless, heavy dinners with all the relatives they particularly disliked." Jane Cobb
+ — N Y Times p21 Ja 7 '45 400w

"Miss Sale is a sympathetic and observant interpreter of adolescence, and the eccentric Rand family is portrayed with quiet amusement. The story has a tendency to grow monotonous, however." George Conrad
+ — Weekly Book Review p12 N 19 '44 300w

SALTER, ANDREW. What is hypnosis; studies in auto and hetero conditioning. 88p $2 Smith, Richard R.

134 Hypnotism 44-2786

"In this little book a successful practising hypnotist attempts to remove much of the mystery which surrounds hypnosis for the layman and professional alike by relating his own experiences and experiments to other recent psychological experiments outside his immediate field." New Repub

Reviewed by J. D. Lawrence
Book Week p11 Ap 2 '44 360w

"To the reviewer, the positive contribution of this book lies in Salter's experiments rather than in his praiseworthy attempt at the simplification of theory." J. F. Brown
+ — New Repub 111:109 Jl 24 '44 480w

SAMUEL, MAURICE. Harvest in the desert. 316p $3 Knopf

296 Zionism. Jews in Palestine 44-5171

History of modern Palestine and of the rebuilding of their homeland by the Jewish people. The record is brought down to 1942. The author was born in Rumania, educated in England, spent the years 1929 to 1939 in Palestine, and now lives in New York. No index.

"An epic of which [the author] writes with subdued passion and without journalistic cliches. It is Maurice Samuel at his best, that is to say, one of the greatest living masters of the English language. . . There is much more in this book than a scholarly essay. It is brimful of news interest and fascinating detail for the man and woman who want to be informed on one important phase of the grand debate that opens at the coming peace conference." Pierre van Paassen
+ Book Week p6 Jl 2 '44 700w

Foreign Affairs 23:15 O '44 10w

Kirkus 12:274 Je 15 '44 190w

"'Harvest In the Desert' contains much interesting material, but there are some omissions which should be noted. Mr. Samuel makes a good deal of the Zionists' attempt to raise the Arab standard of living, but he says little about their failure to improve Arab-Jewish social relations. Nor is enough said about the conflicts among the Jews themselves, nor about the quasi-fascistic extremist groups, the extent of gun-running and the degree of Palestine's self-sufficiency. With more information on these subjects one would be better able to judge the harvest. However, the book is an excellent one for assessing the value of many of Palestine's accomplishments." Bernard Malamud
+ — N Y Times p25 Jl 9 '44 550w

"Mr. Samuel has told the story admirably. There is a warm, human quality about his work, which makes it more persuasive than a thousand treatises on the economics of Jewish colonization. The reader, and perhaps especially the non-Jewish reader, finds himself inspired with something of the idealism which inspired the early Zionists. So inspired, he is not likely again to regard the problem of Palestine as a problem purely of acquisition and dispossession of land." W. H. Hindle
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:20 Ag 19 '44 1700w

Reviewed by Emanuel Slotnick
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 600w

"Mr. Samuel's book is dramatic not only for its contents but for its future implications. No one interested in modern Palestine and the fate of the Near East should fail to read its swift pages. But the reader, if he is like the reviewer, will miss a map and an index." Marvin Lowenthal
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 2 '44 1200w

SANCEAU, ELAINE. Land of Prester John [Eng title: Portugal in quest of Prester John]. 243p maps $2.75 Knopf [10s 6d Hutchinson]

963 Prester John. Ethiopia. Africa—Discovery and exploration. Portuguese in Ethiopia 44-4840

History of the connection between Portugal and Ethiopia from the arrival of the first Portuguese in Ethiopia, in 1442, to the expulsion of the Portuguese Jesuits in 1634. Bibliography.

Reviewed by Angel Flores
Book Week p10 My 21 '44 130w

Booklist 40:388 Jl 15 '44

" 'The Land of Prester John' will hold a reader fully as much as a detective story; it is full of strange and wonderful matter. . . Her lack of clarity in [narrating the Jesuit controversy] is the weakest aspect of Miss Sanceau's book."
+ — Commonweal 40:159 Je 2 '44 700w
Kirkus 12:134 Mr 15 '44 130w

"Invited to give a long-considered judgment, one would say that the loveliest book of 1943 was Mr. Maurice Collis' 'The Land of the Great Image,' the first of a series called the Byways of History. The second of that series is 'The Land of Prester John,' and, in this wretched season of so many quite fraudulent books, it is one that will earn a hearty shout of recognition. It possesses such abundant life and fresh morning vigor that having read it one feels like inviting in all one's friends for conversation." Ralph Bates
+ New Repub 111:80 Jl 17 '44 1150w

Reviewed by Christopher Lazare
N Y Times p8 Je 4 '44 850w

"Armchair adventurers and hammock explorers can hardly go wrong with this one."
+ New Yorker 20:83 Je 3 '44 140w

"Elaine Sanceau's book is, while a thoroughly documented and scholarly piece of historical writing, perfect escape literature for anyone who likes tales of travel and faraway places. It is a delightfully written 'chronicle of Portuguese exploration' which describes a curious and almost forgotten bypath of history." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 18 '44 650w

"Miss Sanceau tells this story with graphic power, a wide knowledge of the sources and well-founded enthusiasm for the heroic age of Portuguese history. The content of her book, indeed, is too good for the method in which she has chosen to construct it. She offers an unfortunate example of the attempt to write history in the style of fiction."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p388 Ag 12 '44 900w

"The action packed in this small book, the sheer romance, the details of splendid endeavors, all serve to give it unusual value. It would be impossible even to suggest the wealth of incident as the tale unfolds; too much is going on all the time. Yet it is all sound history, it all actually happened long ago. In this light it needs to be read and considered, especially by a nation that is now actively operating on the Red Sea, involved with issues which have their roots deep in the past." Lincoln Colcord
+ Weekly Book Review p5 My 14 '44 950w

SANCHEZ, GEORGE ISIDORE. Development of higher education in Mexico. (King's crown press bk) 140p $1.50 Columbia univ. press

378.72 Education, Higher. Education—Mexico A44-5248

"Mr. Sánchez, who is professor of Latin American Education in the University of Texas, here presents a summary review of secondary, college and university education in Mexico, from its colonial foundations to special institutions of today. After a brief survey of geographic and economic factors, he analyzes the cultural contacts and conflicts of the Indian population with the early European educators." Commonweal

Reviewed by J. A. Magner
Commonweal 41:284 D 29 '44 650w
School & Society 60:288 O 28 '44 60w

SANDELL, ERNEST BIRGER. Colorimetric determination of traces of metals. (Chemical analysis, v3) 487p il $7 Interscience

545.8 Metals—Analysis. Colorimeters and colorimetry 44-5614

"This, the third volume in a series of monographs on analytical chemistry, is a compilation of the more satisfactory modern methods used in colorimetric determination of traces of metals. Part one deals, in a general manner, with the methods for separation and isolation, and describes the colorimetric reagents employed. Part two deals specifically with the methods of separation, determination and special application of forty-seven different metals. References given throughout the book constitute an extensive bibliography." N Y New Tech Bks

"A great number of papers have been written dealing with analysis of small traces but no critical compilation was available to the researcher. Thus, Dr. Sandell's book will be welcomed by many, and will save many hours of search for suitable methods." F. C. Nachod
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:209 S '44 250w
Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:41 Jl '44

SANDERS, GEORGE. Crime on my hands. 275p $2 Simon & Schuster 44-8332

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p9 N 5 '44 180w

"Different approach, entertaining for those that like them flip."
Kirkus 12:330 Ag 1 '44 70w

"Lots of fun and a sufficiency of bloodshed." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p19 O 8 '44 120w

"Fast and funny."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:46 O 14 '44 40w
Springf'd Republican p4d O 29 '44 120w

"Mr. Sanders displays, in both of his roles, a pleasant knack at the matter in hand; which would seem to chain him more closely than ever to detectivism. Upshot: a highly readable thriller with laughs on the side." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 O 8 '44 150w

SANDS, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, and LALLEY, JOSEPH M. Our jungle diplomacy. 250p $2.50 Univ. of N.C. press

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations—Latin America. Latin America—Foreign relations—U.S. 44-8754

"These memoirs of an extraordinary diplomat who did not conform to State department patterns, but rather molded them, picture Central American politics during the period 1900-1915. Skill in conveying colorful details and personalities, careful analysis of U.S. policy, and earnest, sharp criticism of the conduct of foreign affairs during these years, combine to present an informative survey of a little-studied period." (Booklist) Index.

"I suspect many readers will find themselves at variance, as I do, with some of Sands ideas. But I believe most will share my gratitude for a book that is forthright and hard-hitting, even if sometimes wrong-headed, in a field where frankness is exceedingly rare." J. T. Frederick
+ — Book Week p2 O 29 '44 360w
Booklist 41:85 N 15 '44

Reviewed by J. F. Thorning
Cath World 160:374 Ja '45 550w

"A sprightly and altogether charming book. The combination of William Franklin Sands, the righteous and self-confident but genial diplomat, and Joseph M. Lalley, his ghostly accomplice for present purposes, produces anything but jungle literature. Praise and censure are delivered by the iron fist and velvet glove. The author exhibits no false modesty but deals out frank blows, naming persons and places, without rancor or inhibition." J. A. Magner
Commonweal 41:156 N 24 '44 1100w

"The vigilant specialist in Central American affairs may pick up some few particles of useful knowledge from this book, but it is too idiosyncratic to have political value for the general reader. As a volume of memoirs it offers some entertainment." Ralph Bates
— + Nation 160:22 Ja 6 '45 450w

SANDS, W. F.—Continued
Reviewed by R. N. Kelly
New Repub 111:664 N 20 '44 70w
Reviewed by Louis Gottschalk
N Y Times p19 Ja 7 '45 1000w

"This book, which is essentially a thoughtful and entertaining diplomatic memoir, sacrifices much of its charm in an unfortunate effort on the part of the authors to lend it timeliness and relevancy to current events. . . The authors of 'Our Jungle Diplomacy' made the initial error of not deciding beforehand whether they wished to write a memoir on the olden days or a political pamphlet on the burning issues of the moment. When they stick to the former, as they do most of the time, the book is delightful and rewarding. When they stray into the latter, as they do in the first and last chapters, the result is not impressive, since their political conclusions are based on data the collection of which apparently ceased about the year 1910." C. W. Yost
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:11 N 25 '44 700w

"As long as he stays with his main theme, Mr Sands is interesting, even challenging. But he soon leaves the highroad to wander off into jungle paths of his own, telling more or less spicy anecdotes, rather flippant tales of Latin American intrigues and revolutions, and the detailed story of his break with the state department." R. B. Pease
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d N 5 '44 330w
Reviewed by Hubert Herring
Weekly Book Review p3 N 26 '44 1600w

SANSOM, SIR GEORGE BAILEY. Japan, a short cultural history. rev ed 554p il $5 Appleton-Century
952 Japan—History 43-18417

Revised edition of a book on Japan first published more than a decade ago (Book Review Digest, 1932). "In a preface to this version the author says that when he published his book in 1931 he was trying 'to record rather than interpret the cultural history of Japan, looking backward and not forward, and stopping at the year 1868 with the opening of a new era which requires separate treatment.' Now he makes the point that the feudal tradition in Japan and the recent totalitarian indoctrination have always laid their stress on the duties of the people not on their rights; and yet there have been resistances to oppression in the past, and there may be again." Weekly Book Review

"It is a pleasure to welcome the revised edition of Sir George Sansom's well known book on Japan. With his customary modesty the author expresses his regrets at not having been able to give the book as thorough a revision as he had hoped. When one remembers the many and difficult tasks to which he has been giving his mind and hands in the last few crowded years, one is surprised that he has had time to accomplish even a partial revision. . . Surely no one in the Western world is more competent for this task." K. S. Latourette
+ Pacific Affairs 17:232 Je '44 210w

"The absence of virtually any mention of the author's sources seems a real weakness in an otherwise excellent book." O. G. Darlington
+ — Social Studies 35:236 My '44 600w

"Mr. Sansom's book continues to deserve its reputation as a sound and intelligent history."
+ Weekly Book Review p22 Ja 16 '44 200w

SANTAYANA, GEORGE. Persons and places; the background of my life. 262p $2.50 Scribner
B or 92 43-51363

Memoirs of a philosopher whose background included several conflicting elements, which he here attempts to reconcile. His Spanish mother had been previously married to an American, and her children by that marriage were members of an old Boston family; his father was also Spanish, but separated from his wife. As a boy the author divided his time between his father's home in Spain, and his mother's in Boston. He was educated at the Boston Latin school and Harvard. This volume ends with his graduation from college.

"There are several compelling reasons for reading Persons and Places. It is the most tranquil book of this stormy year; it is the fresh, spring-like distillation of a philosopher; and the shading, the irony, and the sheen of its English make its prose a joy to read aloud. Finally, here is a man piecing together a superb monument to Mediterranean culture at a time when thousands of other men are blowing the land and all that stands on it to bits." Edward Weeks
+ Atlantic 173:127 Mr '44 850w

"The book contains many insights about persons and places which will undoubtedly interest Santayana's admirers as they try to get information on events and relationships which, admittedly complex, are further complicated by the devious style of Santayana's narrative. But the book does not contain the self-insight which can be found in less artful autobiographies." M. J. Adler
Book Week p1 Ja 9 '44 1950w
Booklist 40:182 Ja 15 '44
Bookmark 5:16 Mr '44
Reviewed by A. R. Bandini
Cath World 159:87 Ap '44 650w

"It would be impertinent to discuss Santayana's philosophy in this brief notice of his entrancing memoirs. For a long time he stood ' "at the church door" with regret at never having really lived inside.' But afterward he made up his mind. Afterward, in a book filled with nostalgia and emotion and great sensitiveness, Santayana the poet, the mind incapable of vulgarity or flatness, was able to write this flat cold sentence: 'Beliefs have an earthly origin and can be sanctioned only by earthly events.' It is perhaps the only flat and cold sentence in the book. It should not discourage anyone from reading this most fascinating account of an extremely interesting life. . . 'Persons and Places' [is] one of the finest and most illuminating of autobiographies. Sometimes one feels that the illumination is a little cold, the landscape a little desertic. Sometimes the detachment seems a little too like irremediable loneliness."
+ — Commonweal 39:355 Ja 21 '44 950w

"Finedrawn portraiture and interpretation, intellectual rather than emotional in appeal, this is a book of memoirs, rather than straight autobiography."
+ Kirkus 11:562 D 15 '43 200w

"This is more than a philosopher's mellow autobiography, with its emphasis on character-forming forces rather than events. The librarian who reads this volume herself will find that she can suggest it often to a wide variety of thoughtful readers." M. E. Clark
+ Library J 69:30 Ja 1 '44 50w

"An extraordinarily rich and delicate piece of writing: Santayana turns out to be a memorialist in the great tradition. The form, unlike that of the novel, is one in which he moves comfortably and with grace, and the qualities one failed to find in 'The Last Puritan'—itself 'A Memoir in the Form of a Novel'—qualities of vitality, of spontaneity, of naturalness and charitable humor—are abundantly here."' Newton Arvin
+ Nation 158:131 Ja 29 '44 1000w

"This first volume of 'Persons and Places' contains not a hint or a personal reflection to show that it was written during the present war; even the style is detached, ironic and, in its manner, perfect. Indeed, the coolness of the book is a little ostentatious. It is almost as if someone had asked him, 'What should writers do in wartime?' and as if, instead of giving a theoretical answer—a manifesto or a call to arms—Santayana had produced this volume which might have been written at any time, at any place, but only by a stylist and a man of wisdom. . . 'Persons and Places,' judged by this first volume, is an admirable work that is far from being the greatest autobiography of our time; it has the art but not the human complexity of Yeats's story." Malcolm Cowley
+ — New Repub 110:88 Ja 17 '44 1500w

"Santayana became a professor at Harvard, did not care for it, and gave it up as soon as he could. Freedom and independence he had always sought. He finds it now in writing.

This is his freest and most independent book, beautifully written in old-fashioned style; a delight to Harvard students everywhere, to readers of autobiography anywhere, a poetic philosophy of life." P. M. Jack
+ N Y Times p1 Ja 9 '44 1900w

"The most remarkable book of its kind since Yeats's 'Autobiographies.' It belongs, in fact, to a class which includes very few examples. Few first-rate writers have done stories of their lives which are among their major productions. . . One can think of only Yeats's memoirs and 'The Education of Henry Adams' to compare with this book of Santayana's. It is not quite so great a piece of literature as Yeats's or of quite the intellectual importance of Adams'; but, like them, it gives us something that the author had not got out in his other works: not merely the facts of his career but a searching and subtle study of the meaning for him of his experience." Edmund Wilson
+ New Yorker 19:64 Ja 8 '44 1550w

"This book is, among other things, a fascinating document. Written in marmoreal prose, it is the testament of a disenchanted spirit, gay, if at all, with mocking laughter. He complains here as elsewhere of the good-natured American habit of joking. He has his own jokes, whose tone is always that of mockery. . . There is distinction here and elevation, and the integrity of a man who remained himself. The monk, the poet, the critic are all here, but so is the snob, and the not too charitable surveyer of those philosophies which feel the responsibilities of intelligence for making the world more bearable and more beautiful for the generality of mankind—of whom the philosopher is one." Irwin Edman
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:3 Ja 8 '44 2100w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 30 '44 950w
Time 43:98 Ja 10 '44 2050w

"The first installment of Santayana's autobiography is a kind of 'Prelude' in measured prose, a biography of the spirit as related to the associations of early life. It discusses with the luminous, half-wistful, half-humorous insight that marks all Mr. Santayana's writing the persons and places that in a backward reverie seem important as contributing to the form of his intellectual being. That one of the most detached minds of our time should be tenderly and intensely aware of particular individuals and scenes is perhaps a paradox, or, to put it better, an indication of the poles between which the philosopher's intelligence ranges, discerning sometimes in the accidents and encounters of living the determinants of mental growth, and again bringing a matured wisdom to bear on the significant turns of character and circumstance." G. F. Whicher
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ja 9 '44 1100w
Wis Lib Bul 40:25 F '44

"'Persons and Places' has the expected qualities of Santayana: the impeccable phrase, the lyric distinction, the intellectual acuteness. It has also the detachment mixed with malice and the homeless nostalgia of the cosmopolitan bred in two cultures and disdainful of both and of all things. . . No reader (previous reader of Santayana or not) can fail to be fascinated by this beautifully written, calmly remembering narrative. The book is, for one thing, full of incomparable profiles—full, each one of them, of the knowledgeable irony now connoted by that word." Irwin Edman
+ Yale R n s 33:536 spring '44 1000w

SARGENT, STEPHEN STANSFELD. Basic teachings of the great psychologists. (New home lib) 346p 69c Garden City pub. co.
150 Psychology 44-3295

A synthesis or summary of the teachings of modern psychologists, topically arranged. Partial contents: The science of psychology; Intelligence and intelligence testing; Feeble-mindness and genius; Effect of heredity and environment on the individual; Physiological bases of behavior; Emotions; Measuring personality; Mental disease; Learning; Thinking; Man's social behavior; Psychology in everyday living. Biographical notes. Index.

Am J Psychol 57:595 O '44 600w
Booklist 40:320 My 15 '44
School & Society 59:192 Mr 11 '44 30w

SAROYAN, WILLIAM. Dear baby. 117p $2 Harcourt
44-9467

Twenty short stories, sketches, and fancies, written over a period of ten years—the earliest was published in 1935.

Booklist 41:170 F 1 '45
Christian Century 61:1386 N 29 '44 80w

"A collection of 20 takes, sketches, fragments—from the master of the unpredictable—which shows a tightening and clarification of style, but which still remains a testament to his belief in and love for the little people and their small dramas."
+ Kirkus 12:488 N 1 '44 150w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 159:696 D 2 '44 390w

"It's a Saroyan, all right. It has the smile on its lips, the lump in its throat, the tear in its eye, and the bag full of tricks—the same old tricks. . . If you are interested in Saroyan, you will find him in 'Dear Baby.' But if you are interested in honest fiction, 'Dear Baby' can't give you anything but love—the kind you can get for a nickel from any juke box." D. S. Norton
N Y Times p3 N 19 '44 1050w

"Twenty lengths of mill-end Saroyan material—stories, memories, self-revelations, and exhortations. They are for the most part in the author's more solemn beautiful-mystery-of-life manner and lack his lighthearted and crazy humor."
New Yorker 20:98 N 11 '44 90w

Reviewed by A. H. Fuller
Springf'd Republican p4d D 3 '44 550w
Weekly Book Review p12 N 26 '44 350w

SAROYAN, WILLIAM. Get away old man; a play in two acts. 103p $2 Harcourt
812 44-4776

This drama, which may or may not be partly autobiographical in its substance, tells the story of a young writer in Hollywood and his pursuit by an elderly film producer who wants him to write a play based on a certain theme.

Book Week p4 My 28 '44 140w
Kirkus 12:188 Ap 15 '44 30w
Library J 69:461 My 15 '44 30w

"It is not hard to see why 'Get Away Old Man' failed on Broadway. With a mere indication of a plot, too much talk and characters with nowhere to go, it has little enough visual appeal. Yet this story of a Hollywood magnate who tries to 'buy' an artist to write for him what he conceives will be the Greatest Story Ever Written has elements of genuine drama. This is why, though the least inspired of his plays, it may some day be remembered as one which marked a transition point in his playwriting career." Nona Balakian
+ — N Y Times p21 Jl 30 '44 600w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton
Weekly Book Review p11 Ag 6 '44 120w

SATURDAY EVENING POST (periodical). Laugh it off; cartoons; ed. by Marione R. Derrickson. (Whittlesey house publication) [152p] $2 McGraw
741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 44-8185

"A collection of cartoons culled from the Saturday Evening Post. Here is the work of some eighty-odd cartoonists, including Ted Key, Virgil Partch, Bill King, George Price, Colin Allen, Whitney Darrow, George Wolfe and G. H. Green." Springf'd Republican

Kirkus 12:468 O 1 '44 70w

SATURDAY EVENING POST—Continued
Reviewed by Isabelle Mallet
N Y Times p7 S 24 '44 40w
Springf'd Republican p4d O 8 '44 80w
Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p5 D 3 '44 30w

SAUNDERS, HILARY AIDAN ST GEORGE. Pioneers! O pioneers! 186p $2 (8s 6d) Macmillan

917.3 U.S.—Description and travel. Canada —Description and travel 44-6569

"Mr. Saunders went to America on a mission for the Ministry of Information, and the result is [this] book of travels. . . Mr. Saunders is at his best when he has something concrete to describe: the Ford plant at Willow Run, the shipyards of Henry Kaiser at San Francisco, or the personality of that other shipbuilder Andrew Jackson Higgins, of New Orleans." Manchester Guardian

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Ag 13 '44 600w
Booklist 41:18 S '44

"Mr. Saunders is a keen observer, friendly, too, and a master of the art of exposition, as he has shown in his various Government pamphlets. The volume, therefore, is swift and alert, even if slight." Harold Hobson
+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Mr 11 '44 70w
Foreign Affairs 23:10 O '44 30w

"It is candid, and often amusing. . . There are opinions to take exception to, details to query, but the whole is very informing as to an Englishman's first impressions of our country."
+ Kirkus 12:311 Jl 15 '44 130w
Reviewed by Margaret Owen
Library J 69:649 Ag '44 120w

"The number of good travel books on contemporary America is not large; this is one of them." D. W. Brogan
+ Manchester Guardian p3 F 4 '44 200w
New Repub 111:317 S 11 '44 120w

" 'Pioneers! O Pioneers!' contains many amusing stories and anecdotes. Here and there British reticence emphasizes—in a gentlemanly way—a few of the author's worse experiences. Some of Mr. Saunders' opinions are a little trite. They do not spoil what is otherwise a most readable and entertaining book." D. C. Russell
+ N Y Times p4 Ag 13 '44 500w

"His book is not up to the same high mark as John Dos Passos's recent 'State of the Nation,' and not nearly so ambitious, but it is a good companion piece."
+ New Yorker 20:62 Ag 12 '44 130w

"Although obviously aimed primarily at a British audience, it is published here as a book about America and Americans. As the report of an able writer and interested observer, it has a good deal to offer American readers. It has several qualities to recommend it. It does not pretend to be a full report on America, but only on that part of America which Mr. Saunders saw in something less than two months. Its author came here to learn about America, not to preach to America, and this is a report, not a sermon. He did not expect to arrive at any profound judgment and he has been content to present his impressions and to sum them up in a final chapter, which is notably sensible, tolerant, and understanding." Hal Borland
+ Sat R of Lit 27:7 Ag 12 '44 1600w

"Gusto animates every line and paragraph of these 192 pages and communicates itself; Mr. Saunders enjoyed pretty nearly everything—his food, his drink, his conversation—ranging from taxi-driver to Iowa farmer, business executive to charge-hand; even his travelling itself. He brought exactly that spirit of eager, warm curiosity that calls out the best from a people eager, warm and curious. The result is a record that even those who have often done, on a more modest basis, journeys such as his will enjoy in its vivid evocation and its shrewd incidental comment, as they will admire the skill with which the writer builds his pictures." M. A. Hamilton
+ Spec 172:84 Ja 28 '44 700w
Times [London] Lit Sup p58 Ja 29 '44 420w

"Mr. Saunders, an Englishman of mellow middle age and ripe scholarship, describes himself as a pamphleteer, and he describes a pamphlet as a piece of writing which occupies a place somewhere between journalism and history. By that he seems to mean that he is able to tell a little more of the full truth than the journalist and a good deal less than the historian. In his field he had been extraordinarily successful. . . Notwithstanding all his ingratiating qualities, Mr. Saunders has an unnecessary and sometimes annoying habit of larding his reports and observations with classical quotations and literary allusions which serve no particular purpose except to let the reader know that Mr. Saunders is very well read." Stanley Walker
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 13 '44 1050w

"Judged in terms of its varied goals this pamphlet, for that is what Mr. Saunders calls it, is a success. It is friendly without flattery and seasoned with shrewd observations and even criticisms. In sophisticated and often sparkling prose Mr. Saunders essays a partial answer for his neighbors who live beside the Thames to the question, what is America, and in so doing gives to Americans, eavesdropping on the conversation, an idea of how at least one intelligent outsider looks at them." R. H. Gabriel
+ Yale R n s 34:348 winter '45 700w

SAVAGE, ALMA HELEN. Eben the crane; il. by Charles Keller. 76p $1.50 Sheed

Cranes—Legends and stories 44-40372

Story of one year in the life of an Arctic crane. Abandoned by his family when they flew southward Eben is rescued by an Eskimo boy. Later when the Eskimos themselves left for their winter quarters Eben is turned over to a naturalist who gives the bird a home until the cranes return the next summer.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book week p11 Ja 21 '45 180w
Booklist 41:157 Ja 15 '45

"Authentic in detail and with a very special appeal is this story of Eben who couldn't learn to fly. . . We like the human quality and graceful lines of Charles Keller's animal pictures, but find him less successful in drawing people."
+ Cath World 160:279 D '44 50w
Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:128 N 17 '44 10w
Kirkus 12:520 N 15 '44 110w

"Fine, straightforward story, but it is the atmosphere which is most noteworthy. Adults as well as children will find a freshness and thrill in the migration of the cranes." F. W. Butler
+ Library J 69:1104 D 15 '44 80w
Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p10 D 31 '44 200w

"The story is true; it was told the author by the naturalist himself, and Miss Savage wisely dispenses with trimmings of romance and lets the bird's own hold on the affection of boy and man exercise itself on the reader."
+ Weekly Book Review p36 N 12 '44 200w

SAVAGE, THOMAS. The pass. 269p $2.50 Doubleday

44-4097

Story of Montana in 1914, and of Jess Bentley and his wife Beth, struggling to make a living on the prairie ranch. When Beth and her child died, and the winter was so cold the trains could not bring in feed, and the cattle died, Jess struggled on with his heartbreak and his problems on the land he loved.

" 'The Pass' is intimate and fundamental. Its entertainment value is a match for any novel on the bookshelf today." Gerald Hill
+ Book Week p12 Ap 23 '44 320w

Booklist 40:319 My 15 '44

"Generous men and understanding women—a plausible romance and good local color—combine to take this out of the usual run of novels of the West."
Kirkus 12:49 F 1 '44 130w

" 'The Pass' is easy to read, but it will not be forgotten quickly." Hoffman Birney
+ N Y Times p6 Ap 23 '44 360w

"As poignant a love story as we have ever read, Jess Bentley's quiet, reserved, deep passion for his wife Beth is described with effective economy of phrase, suitable to the kind of people the author is telling about. Without slipping into meaningless vernacular, he has adopted the rhythms of western speech and thinking. It makes a beautiful kind of writing." Edrie Van Dore
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 23 '44 330w

"It is quietly written, with a sincerity which touches the emotions more deeply than any amount of studied eloquence."
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 30 '44 350w

SAVERY, CONSTANCE. The good ship Red Lily; il. by Nedda Walker. 197p $2.25 Longmans

44-7071

Story for young readers about a Puritan family during the period of the religious persecutions in England. It traces the adventures of the Challoner children from the day they are captured by their Royalist grandfather's men, until their escape from their virtual imprisonment to sail for America on the Red Lily with their father and mother.

Booklist 41:44 O 1 '44

"As cleverly written as Miss Savery's Enemy Brothers, but less substantial."
+ Christian Century 61:999 Ag 30 '44 80w

"A good story for ten- to fourteen-year-olds, full of humor and adventure." F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 12 '44 200w

"The conflict of religious beliefs is touched upon lightly and the characters on both sides are well drawn. Humor lightens the story which holds interest throughout its length." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:378 S '44 110w

"Adventure and mystery, excitement and awe, all neatly wrapped in a Puritanical package of charm and dignity."
+ Kirkus 12:278 Je 15 '44 150w

Reviewed by E. A. Groves
Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 70w

"This is a period piece, beautifully arranged, and with enough genuine suspense to hold a Dick Tracy fan spellbound while quietly injecting a good sense of historical background." I. M.
+ N Y Times p12 N 12 '44 80w

"It is always a pleasure to read one of Constance Savery's books because of her graceful, fluid style and her happy choice of words. . . [This] is a story that will have a wide appeal. Boys will like it because Toby is definitely the hero and there are some fine fights before the children are freed. Girls will like its romantic atmosphere and Ingram's charm." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:38 N 11 '44 360w

School & Society 60:128 Ag 19 '44 20w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 20 '44 200w

SAWYER, RALPH ALANSON. Experimental spectroscopy. 323p il $5; to schools $3.75 Prentice-Hall

535.84 Spectrum analysis 44-5482

"An extensive treatment of prism and grating spectographs and their application in research laboratories. The topics include light sources, spectroscopic apparatus, photographic procedures, wave length and intensity determination, infrared and ultraviolet spectroscopy, and chemical analysis. A background of general physics and some physical optics is necessary for an understanding of the discussion." (N Y New Tech Bks) Indexes.

"This book will make a valuable addition to the bookshelf of any spectrographic laboratory as a reference and as an aid to those who must test, adjust and maintain spectrographic equipment. It should make an excellent textbook for students of spectroscopy." E. K. Jaycox
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:201 O '44 650w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:607 Jl '44 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:32 Ap '44

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 13 '44 80w

SAWYER, RUTH (MRS A. C. DURAND). Christmas Anna Angel; il. by Kate Seredy. 48p $2 Viking

Christmas stories 44-9338

A story of Christmas time in Hungary and of how the little girl Anna wished so hard for the Christmas cakes, (in spite of war and hard times) that she dreamed the Anna Angel came to make them. And then when Christmas morning came Anna woke to find her wishes had come true.

"This is truly a lovely book, with Ruth Sawyer's tender story of Christmas in another land and Kate Seredy's glowing blue, rose and gold pictures, which catch the richness of old Hungarian design." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p43 D 3 '44 270w

Booklist 41:111 D 1 '44

"Redolent of the Christmas spirit is this story of a little girl on a Hungarian farm many years ago, with Kate Seredy's distinguished artistry to lend richness to its pages and to interpret a land whose traditions are her own. It would be among our first choices."
+ Cath World 160:279 D '44 40w

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 D 11 '44 100w

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:128 N 17 '44 10w

"A rarely beautiful book."
+ Horn Bk 20:473 N '44 80w

Kirkus 12:509 N 1 '44 90w

"Simply and delightfully told for children seven to twelve years of age. The beautifully colored illustrations by Kate Seredy catch the true spirit of the story. Recommended." V. W. Schott
+ Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 70w

"Ruth Sawyer's text and Kate Seredy's lovely drawing retell the tale with a featherlight touch that would not brush away the loveliness of a dream or of a little child's belief in Christmas." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p26 D 3 '44 220w

New Yorker 20:86 D 16 '44 50w

Sat R of Lit 27:34 D 9 '44 270w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 N 12 '44 300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:162 D '44

SCANDINAVIAN plays of the twentieth century; 1st-2d series; with an introd. by Alrik Gustafson. (Am. Scandinavian foundation. Publications) 2v 182;304p 1st ser $2; 2d ser $3 Princeton univ. press

839.508 Scandinavian drama—Translations into English (44-40224)

Examples of modern Swedish and Finno-Swedish, Danish and Norwegian drama translated into English. Contents: 1st series:The gallows man, by Runar Schildt; Mr Sleeman is coming, by Hjalmar Bergman; The man without a soul, by Pär Lagerkvist; Perhaps a poet, by Ragnar Josephson. 2d series: The defeat, by Nordahl Grieg; Niels Ebbesen, by Kaj Munk; The sounding shell, by Helge Krog; Anna Sophie Hedvig, by Kjeld Abell.

SCANDINAVIAN plays—Continued

"The selections seem well balanced and discerning as a whole; they are supplemented by excellent introductory essays, informative and illuminating, written by Alrik Gustafson, professor of Scandinavian at the University of Minnesota." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Ja 21 '45 200w

Booklist 41:136 Ja 1 '45 (Review of 1st ser)

Booklist 41:167 F 1 '45 (Review of 2d ser)

Library J 69:762 S 15 '44 50w (Review of 1st ser)

"This is an extremely valuable collection of modern plays from Scandinavia. . . Highly recommended."
+ Library J 70:69 Ja 15 '45 60w (Review of 2d ser)

Theatre Arts 28:620 O '44 450w (Review of 1st ser)

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton
Weekly Book Review p10 O 8 '44 200w (Review of 1st ser)

SCHACHNER, NATHAN. The wanderer. 333p $3 Appleton-Century

Dante Alighieri—Fiction 44-9331

A novel based on the life of Dante Alighieri and his love for Beatrice.

"Schachner overwrites the Dante-Beatrice 'romance' in a manner worthy of the neurotic hero himself. Never for one moment does the reader believe in Dante's tongue-tied passion for the untouchable (and slightly stupid) Beatrice. Like Dante, Schachner protests too much. This romantic novel is sentimental, strewn with purple passages, and naively worshipful toward Dante. It does not plumb the sordid, twisted depths from which welled the longest and most painful description of hell ever put on paper." Sterling North
— Book Week p29 N 12 '44 360w

Booklist 41:124 D 15 '44

"A story rooted in history and fact. Well done."
+ Kirkus 12:381 S 1 '44 250w

"Closely biographical, in style almost somberly restrained, shot through with occasional shafts of rare humor. The color and exhilaration of the mediaeval period is subdued in the background." J. M. Brittan
+ Library J 69:883 O 15 '44 70w

"It is a tribute to Mr. Schachner's capacities as a historian that the novel does not depend upon the character of Dante for its vitality. If it did there might be less to say for it—Dante was a literary genius, and the re-creation of a literary genius is in itself a task of heroic proportions beyond the genius of Mr. Schachner. . . The other characters do have a life of their own, and form a live and stirring segment of historical pattern. Mr. Schachner has made good use of his historic research, even if he has not been able to complete the portrait of his central figure." N. L. Rothman
Sat R of Lit 27:11 N 18 '44 270w

"'The Wanderer' is well worth reading, not so much for its interpretation of the spiritual forces which shaped Dante's genius, as for its colorful treatment of a fascinating period of history." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 10 '44 330w

"Mr. Schachner in earlier books has shown his enterprise and his competence as a writer of historical romance, but this time his courage, in my opinion, runs away with him. He has chosen a very large subject already immortalized in great literature, and he has tried to condense it in a novel of medium length. . . [He] tells [it] with conscientious scholarship, and the result naturally enough is good history, but it is not what the subtitle would suggest, a work of fiction or romance or poetry." John Erskine
Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 28 '45 1000w

SCHALDACH, WILLIAM JOSEPH. Coverts and casts; field sports and angling in words and pictures. 138p $5 Barnes, A.S.

799 Hunting. Fishing 43-18352

"Four reproductions in color and numerous drawings in black and white, all by the author, who is artist as well as sportsman and writer, make this a handsome addition to the outdoor sports collection of the larger library. The text, reprinted from Esquire and Field and Stream, consists of essays with such titles as Bob and Madame White, Grousings of a gunner, The Woodcocks are down, and The other side of trout fishing." Wis Lib Bul

Booklist 40:179 Ja 15 '44

Reviewed by L. E. Bigelow
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 250w

"This book is a delightful collection of stories with a seasoning of sound counsel on the what, when and where of upland shooting and fly fishing. . . Mr. Schaldach writes and illustrates with knowledge of his subject. His readers live again the thunder of the wily grouse breaking out of thick cover on a frosty morning; a covey of quail fanning out ahead of the dogs; the wise old woodcock in erratic and unpredictable flight; the swirl and leap of the rising trout, and with all of this the pure health and exhilaration of the outdoors." Wilbur Forrest
+ Weekly Book Review p14 D 19 '43 200w

Wis Lib Bul 40:7 Ja '44

SCHEINFELD, AMRAM. Women and men; il. by the author. 453p $3.50 Harcourt

136.1 Sex. Psychology, Physiological 44-9315

In this study written in language suitable for lay reading the author "follows the development of the sexes from the moment the child is conceived through the prenatal stages and then from birth through infancy, childhood, puberty and maturity. At each point he shows how biological factors and natural forces combine with training and environment to produce the behavior patterns of men and women as we know them." (Publisher's note)

Reviewed by R. J. Bender
Book Week p3 O 29 '44 650w

Booklist 41:133 Ja 1 '45

"An interpretation of facts and figures which is both enlightening and entertaining . . . and should appeal to a general audience."
+ Kirkus 12:461 O 1 '44 130w

"A fascinating piece of popularization."
+ New Yorker 20:99 O 21 '44 90w

Reviewed by Robert Bierstedt
Sat R of Lit 27:12 N 18 '44 950w

"Very seldom indeed is a work of popular science so fully documented as this one, and it will find wide usefulness among scientific workers. Mr. Scheinfeld has been assiduous and successful in enlisting the aid of innumerable authorities, to whom he gives full credit; and he has surveyed a vast field of knowledge, as recorded in his valuable bibliography. The style is not distinguished but it is lively." H. M. Parshley
+ Weekly Book Review p22 N 5 '44 1050w

Wis Lib Bul 40:156 D '44

SCHERER, PAUL EHRMAN. For we have this treasure. 212p $2 Harper

251 Preaching 44-6180

"The Yale Lectures on Preaching for 1943, delivered by the minister of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity, New York City. Defining preaching as the 'mediation of divine truth through personality,' Dr. Scherer discusses the purpose of the Christian preacher in today's world, the personality of the effective preacher, his 'spiritual weapons,' his authority as a witness of God, the creative function of the Christian religion and the preparation and delivery of the sermon." Library J

"The diction and phrasing are particularly noticeable and notable, colorful poetry and salty prose producing impressive images and compelling perspectives. There is an abundance of quotations from life situations and from literature. (Two or three of the latter are inaccurate.) But the author does well to confess to 'being cursed myself with what some people say is a sort of knack for words and phrases and liking them so well that I have been known more than once to lay a sentence down on an altar to the picturesque and without more ado cut its throat' (p. 196). He does more than that. He allows it to lead him into a weakness in argument and he becomes a little too aloof from the hard and real intellectual battle of those who are given to serious and sincere thinking that cannot be dismissed lightly with a clever phrase. Moreover, he does occasionally become a bit facetious with an apparent unawareness of the realities of striving or of the partial experience that has not yet encompassed the whole as prescribed by Paul Scherer. With it all, however, one comes from a reading of the book with a mind full of engrossing and stimulating ideas expressed in penetrating phrases and images; with a heart encouraged by contact with an excellent apologia for preaching in our day." R. E. Keighton

+ — Crozer Q 21:354 O '44 400w

"Ministers will find Dr. Scherer one of those rare individuals who can start them off on new trails of thought which will lead to fresh material for their own sermonizing."

+ Kirkus 12:370 Ag 15 '44 150w

"Written with eloquence, warm sympathy and humor. Appeal restricted almost entirely to ministers, but will also interest the few members of the general public who are thoughtfully religious." George Wakefield

+ Library J 69:602 Jl '44 110w

SCHERMAN, DAVID E. Literary England; [phot. by] David E. Scherman and [descriptive text by] Richard Wilcox; a pref. by Christopher Morley. [214p] $3.95 Random house

820.9 Literary landmarks—Great Britain 44-340

Fifty photographs of beauty spots of England, each one linked with literature. For each picture a descriptive note is given and a passage from a book about it.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks

Atlantic 173:125 Ap '44 300w

"This delightful book comprises 50 photographs of English places made famous in verse or story. With each finely rendered and beautifully photographed picture are literary passages which make the scene memorable." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p4 Mr 12 '44 180w

Booklist 40:248 Mr 15 '44

Bookmark 5:18 Mr '44

Kirkus 12:43 Ja 15 '44 160w

"A book for browsing, for circulation, for use with classes, a book to own personally and to give to one's friends, young or old." Eileen Riols

+ Library J 69:207 Mr 1 '44 70w

New Repub 110:254 F 21 '44 80w

Reviewed by D. C. Russell

N Y Times p7 F 6 '44 360w

New Yorker 20:87 F 26 '44 90w

"It seems to me that this book is an offering to world peace. It proclaims an important truth, for it shows that the only nationalism which is not dangerous is the nationalism of earth beauty." Clare Leighton

+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 F 5 '44 600w

"The best of the book is that so much of it is devoted to people who lived only in literature, and relatively so little to those who put them into print. . . It is a book to serve either as reminder of travel or as war-time substitute for traveling, and as assurance that English literature is rooted firmly in English ground." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 23 '44 450w

SCHILPP, PAUL ARTHUR, ed. Philosophy of Bertrand Russell. (Library of living philosophers) 815p il $4 Northwestern univ.

192.9 Russell, Bertrand Arthur William, 3d earl 44-6786

"The philosophy of this lucid, modern thinker is for the first time critically examined in this volume in all of its aspects by 21 contemporary philosophers and scientists. Included is Mr. Russell's personal reply to the questions and criticisms of his commentators." School & Society

---

Reviewed by S. I. Hayakawa

Book Week p9 Jl 16 '44 600w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook

Current Hist 7:499 D '44 70w

"A score of writers, some of very subtle understanding, some of oracular pretensions, others searching for trouble, are brought discordantly together here in an endeavor to make still clearer the already clearest contemporary writer on philosophy and science in English. . . The task of the contributors to the present volume of criticizing and illuminating his work was one of a certain degree of doughtiness. Most of them are found to have assumed it with an apt sense of responsibility, and the result in a number of instances is in every respect admirable." P. A. Carmichael

+ — N Y Times p22 S 17 '44 800w

School & Society 60:48 Jl 15 '44 40w

Reviewed by Henry Blauth

Social Studies 36:40 Ja '45 1000w

"A full-size portrait of Russell should be a study in personality, with a rich historical background. This majestic volume, however, is philosophical in the technical sense of the term. It deals mainly with organized thought divorced from passion and action. The lovable Quixotism of Russell, his kindly and courteous irony, his zest for life, his perfect style, are barely mentioned, as if they were irrelevant." Albert Guerard

Weekly Book Review p5 S 10 '44 1250w

SCHMID, ALBERT A. Al Schmid, marine [as told to] Roger Butterfield. 142p il $2 Norton

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Solomon islands 44-2539

Autobiographical sketch of an average American boy who went to Guadalcanal with the marines, fought a good fight, and was wounded and blinded. He came back to this country and fought a new battle—for health, sanity, and happiness, and won this round, too.

Booklist 40:281 Ap 15 '44

"Unglamorized reality."

Kirkus 12:34 Ja 15 '44 110w

"Roger Butterfield's story of Al Schmid is fresh as green grass. . . The story has a homely quality. Any reader can enjoy it and be deeply touched by it, though the writer never tries deliberately to pluck the heartstrings or to start the tears. They just come." Meyer Berger

+ N Y Times p10 F 27 '44 500w

"Mr. Butterfield has attempted one of the most difficult feats in all literature—the biography of nobody; rarely attempted except in fiction and still more rarely successful even with that assistance. . . [He] has done his best to present us with all the evidence for making our own estimates in this typical case and it is a fairly good best. It is also a brief best; we could have done with a little more about Al Schmid's early days, the kind of home he lived in, and the wallpaper. One also has the sense that the narrative has been cleaned up a good deal. But this is probably due to the fact that the biographer has no source but the subject himself for all these early passages." Fletcher Pratt

SCHMID, A. A.—Continued
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:9 Ap 1 '44 50Qw
Springf'd Republican p7e F 27 '44 400w

SCHMIDT, CARL LOUIS AUGUST, ed. Addendum to The chemistry of the amino acids and proteins; inclusive of some of the advances since 1937. [255p] il $5 Thomas, C.C.

547.8 Amino acids. Proteins

"In place of a new edition, these sixteen supplementary chapters have been prepared as a revision and expansion of sixteen out of the eighteen chapters in the Chemistry of the Amino Acids and Proteins [Book Review Digest, 1939]. The chapters are numbered the same as in the original work, and with one or two exceptions are written by the same contributors. Additional references are cited, but complete coverage of the literature has not been attempted." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by B. D. Westerman
J Home Econ 36:41 Ja '44 200w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:22 Ap '44

SCHMIDT, JAMES NORMAN (JAMES NORMAN, pseud). Inch of time. 249p $2.50 Morrow
44-382

Story of present-day China. The action centers around an American merchant, a jade importer, whose partner has been murdered and whose merchandise has been used in smuggling heroin. Courtland penetrates into the midst of Japanese-held territory to solve the mystery.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p9 Mr 12 '44 140w

"The characters are handled superficially, appearing like flashes on a screen without insight into their motivations or even their personality. There is no vivid picture of the scene of the action. And the action itself often falls flat because the author has not built up suspense. To add to all this, the dialogue is labored. There is an uncomfortable feeling that the author was trying hard, but did not know how to present his plot." J. G. Agnew
N Y Times p19 F 20 '44 200w

"The mystery which the westerners associate with the Orient is abundantly woven into the background of this fast-moving tale." L. C.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 20 '44 160w

"Mr. Norman adorns his story with plenty of Oriental color and lore as he delves into fiendishness around Pao-lai, in the Wutan region. He mars his effects with pulpy prose." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p14 F 20 '44 110w

SCHMIDT, KARL. From science to God; prolegomena to a future theology. 169p $2 Harper

201 Religion—Philosophy. Theism 44-3300

"Records how a physical scientist, preoccupied with the 'intelligibles' of physics, gradually became preoccupied with universal religion, i.e., with a faith which any physicist might hold and a theology which he might share, at least in part, with the historical religions. Professor Schmidt contrasts his approach to universal religion with that of Professor Hocking: instead of proceeding from particular, cultural religions to a universal, reasonable religion, as Hocking does, he begins with a universal community of seekers of universal truth (physicists pursuing natural science) and shows how the faith of science may be related to traditional theologies. The basic argument has been expounded with more philosophical erudition in Professor Schmidt's earlier work, The Creative I and the Divine; the present volume is noteworthy for its simplicity, for its translation of technical arguments into beliefs relevant to common religion." J Philos

Reviewed by J. S. Bixler
Crozer Q 21:256 Jl '44 800w

"The phrase 'from science to God' commonly signifies to philosophical readers 'one more version of the ontological argument,' but in the case of Professor Schmidt it epitomizes an intellectual career as well. His book has a sincerity and significance which many dialectical theologies lack, because it is the product of a rich and intense personal experience." H. W. S.
+ J Philos 41:444 Ag 3 '44 850w

"While orthodox church people may find Professor Schmidt's approach to religion disturbing to many of their cherished tenets of belief, they will share his concern over the present state of unbelief regarding religious matters, and will welcome a book designed to convince unbelievers that religion is founded upon truth for which there is a sound scientific philosophical basis."
Kirkus 12:65 F 1 '44 190w

SCHNAPPER, MORRIS BARTEL, ed. United nations agreements; foreword by Arthur Sweetser. 376p $3.75 Am. council on public affairs

940.5322 World war, 1939—Documents, etc., sources 44-2106

"This volume begins with the text of the inter-allied agreement reached at London on June 12, 1941 (the Declaration of Solidarity), follows this with the Atlantic Charter and ends with the terms of the Soviet-Czechoslovak Mutual Aid Treaty of December 12, 1943. It is well indexed—according to countries, the subjects of the various agreements, and the agencies set up to carry them out. About a third of the volume is devoted to the texts of the individual agreements made with other nations by the United States. Many are political but a number deal with food, health, refugees, finance and other matters." Commonweal

Booklist 40:268 Ap 1 '44
Commonweal 39:629 Ap 7 '44 140w
Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:660 Jl '44 10w
Social Studies 35:384 D '44 20w

SCHNAPPER, MORRIS BARTEL, ed. U.S. aviation in wartime; achievements in progress as reported by the Office of war information; containing identification illustrations of leading allied and Axis aircraft. 203p $2.50; pa $2 Am. council on public affairs

358.4 Aeronautics, Military. World war, 1939—Aerial operations. Airplanes—Identification marks

"An evaluation, based on official information of the achievements and development of U.S. aircraft during the years 1942 and 1943. Advantages and disadvantages of the most important types of combat planes are discussed in nontechnical language, and comparisons made between allied and enemy planes. Other subjects covered are: Army and navy air transport, the Army air service command, the Civilian air patrol, and commercial airlines. Illustrations are silhouettes of allied and axis airplanes, reprinted from the magazine Aviation." Booklist

Booklist 41:8 S '44

"Although new models and types of aircraft are being developed so rapidly that many of the ones mentioned here are already obsolescent, U.S. Aviation in Wartime is an authenticated, condensed source of valuable information about our wartime aviation." A. T. MacNut
+ Social Studies 35:378 D '44 400w

SCHOEN, MAX, ed. Enjoyment of the arts. 336p il $5 Philosophical lib.

704 Art. Esthetics

"A lively presentation of all major phases of the arts, including a discussion of painting, sculpture, architecture, industrial design, poetry, drama and theatre, the novel, the movies, music and art criticism—prepared by a group of distinguished critics—Munro, Ellis, Gabor, Heythum, Daiches, Clark, Ames, Fox, Haydon, Boas. Should increase the reader's ability to judge a work of art—whatever its field—with greater competence and authority." School & Society

"Remembering that this is a volume devoted to the arts, its own appearance is disappointing. Several typographical errors are less to be censured than the inferior quality of the cuts and the lack of distinction in the over-all design. However I highly recommend the chapters on architecture, the industrial arts, poetry, the novel and the movies." Katharine Kuh

+ — Book Week p8 O 22 '44 450w

"The presentation is as informal as the technicalities of the subject matter permit and the tone is free, for the most part, from both the condescension that so often chills the reader and the over-simplification that misleads him. The book demands that the reader bring to it a knowledge of the elements of the arts and good will. It should be very serviceable. . . Incidentally, however, it also deserves to have been better proofread. 'Statutes' occurs twice for 'Statues,' 'rescued' once for 'reached.' Minor errors abound. The meaning is never imperiled, however." L. F. Doyle

+ — Cath World 160:183 N '44 360w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison

Christian Century 62:50 Ja 10 '45 600w

"Recommended, especially for large and medium-sized libraries." M. P. McKay

+ Library J 69:697 S 1 '44 110w

School & Society 60:128 Ag 19 '44 70w

"George Boas has debunked the critic without indicating clearly what his useful and positive functions may be. In short, the ensemble leaves something to be desired. Yet it is hard to think of another book which covers so much ground with equal thoughtfulness and penetration."

+ — Theatre Arts 28:748 D '44 370w

SCHOENEN, HERMANN. Story behind steel. 94p pl $1.75 Knopf

669.1 Steel—Juvenile literature 44-9658

"A long, slender book with large, clear type and photographic illustrations in black and white and in color explains the importance of steel and the process through which it passes before it becomes weapons of war and necessities for peace." Sat R of Lit

Booklist 41:128 D 15 '44

"Good content material."

+ Kirkus 12:433 S 15 '44 50w

"Direct, concise, understandable, but not written down. . . Many excellent photographic reproductions. Recommended." E. D. Briggs

+ Library J 69:1107 D 15 '44 30w

Sat R of Lit 27:49 N 11 '44 40w

SCHOENGOLD, MORRIS D., ed. Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. 382p $10 c1943 Philosophical lib.

660.3 Chemistry, Technical. Synthetic products 43-14902

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

"In spite of the title and the price this book is no encyclopedia. The reviewer asked some of his colleagues to suggest names of common commercial products which could be classed as synthetics; from a list of thirty-one such names, only eleven were found in this book. The list of entries is much smaller than one has a right to expect, the paper is not of the best quality, the work shows evidences of hasty writing, and the book is grossly over-priced." L. I. Smith

— J Phys Chem 48:66 Ja '44 150w

"The material presented is uneven in scope and quality, with many inadequate and some incorrect statements, as well as other evidences of the need of more careful editing. Physical constants are given for some chemicals but not for others. When given, usually only a few are listed. . . Many of the trade names in the main list do not appear in the Index of Trade Names at the end of the volume. Omitted from the Index, for example, are four of thirteen trade names listed in the M section of the main list and five of eleven listed in the K section. . . Type and paper are poor. The price is very high in view of the material presented. The volume is not recommended."

— Subscription Bks Bul 15:31 Jl '44 700w

SCHOLZ, JACKSON VOLNEY. Pigskin warriors. 214p il $2 Morrow

44-6674

"Steven Trent is the leader of a football squad in a West Coast college. His group, the Badgers, is selected to play against the squad of an aircraft carrier in Hawaii. The day after the game, which the Badgers lose, is December 7, 1941. To a man, the Badgers join the Army, go through their training there in Hawaii, and are sent to Guadalcanal. The foresight and moral courage that made Steve a leader in college athletics win him a leading place in training for war and in action." Sat R of Lit

Kirkus 12:300 Jl 1 '44 130w

"How Steve Trent obtains final mastery of his team by overcoming the rivalry and suspicion of one player is perfectly sound theme of this football story. But book is one unrelated climax after another—boxing, handicap racing, two major games and the war itself." M. B. Snow

Library J 69:817 O 1 '44 70w

N Y Times p8 N 12 '44 100w

"This is a story that will be immediately popular with both boys and girls. . . The value of this story, apart from its obvious appeal, lies in its handling of human relationships. . . It will be read widely from Maine to California." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:29 S 23 '44 270w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p4 S 3 '44 250w

SCHOPFER, WILLIAM HENRI. Plants and vitamins; auth. tr. by Norbert L. Noecker: foreword by W. J. Robbins. 293p il $4.75 Chronica botanica

581 Vitamins. Plants—Chemical analysis A44-881

"A review of current knowledge of the relationships between plants and vitamins. Contents: Part 1, Synthesis of vitamins in plants; Auxo-autotrophic plants; Research methods. Part 2, Vitamins in relation to plants unable to synthesize them; Growth factors of microörganisms. Part 3, General problems involving vitamins. References cover the literature to the end of 1940 with the addition of a few of the outstanding works of 1941 and 1942. The book is addressed to botanists, particularly plant physiologists. The author is Professor of Botany and Director of the Botanical Institute of the University of Bern." N Y New Tech Bks

"For those whose interests are in plant physiology and to whom the vitamin field is largely unfamiliar, Professor Schopfer's book will be especially valuable." R. J. Williams

+ Am Chem Soc J 66:505 Mr '44 150w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:13 Ja '44

SCHRIFTGIESSER, KARL. Gentleman from Massachusetts: Henry Cabot Lodge. (Atlantic monthly press bk) 386p $3 Little

B or 92 Lodge, Henry Cabot 44-7415

Biography of Henry Cabot Lodge, the elder, friend of Theodore Roosevelt. The book contains a chapter on background, and some material on the years of his youth and early manhood, but his political career and its effect on history is the main objective of the study. Bibliography. Index.

SCHRIFTGIESSER, KARL—Continued

Booklist 41:40 O 1 '44

Reviewed by L. L. Marchand
Boston Globe p17 S 13 '44 450w

"Perhaps the time has long been due for a sober and definitely documented appraisal of Henry Cabot Lodge. It has come at last in The Gentleman from Massachusetts. Mr. Schriftgiesser has brought to his task thoroughness in documentation, as well as clarity and directness in the presentation of essential facts." F. L. P.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 S 26 '44 400w

Reviewed by W. F. Sands
Commonweal 40:596 O 6 '44 600w

Kirkus 12:272 Je 15 '44 170w

Reviewed by Odell Shepard
Nation 159:439 O 14 '44 1100w

New Repub 111:574 O 30 '44 120w

Reviewed by H. F. Pringle
N Y Times p5 S 10 '44 1250w

New Yorker 20:81 S 23 '44 230w

"It is the chief merit of this book that, without minimizing the tragedy of the League's defeat or Lodge's guilt in that crime, [the author] has written Lodge's story objectively and even with sympathy and understanding for the scholar and gentleman, politician and power from Nahant." Jonathan Daniels
+ Sat R of Lit 27:14 S 23 '44 800w

"Mr. Schriftgiesser is obviously no great admirer of Lodge, but he has written with a quiet restraint that makes his book all the more deadly. It is as searing a biography as has appeared in this country in years." G. W. Johnson
+ Weekly Book Review p1 S 10 '44 1350w

Wis Lib Bul 40:147 N '44

SCHROTT, ESTELLE. Heaven is for the angels. 477p $3 Appleton-Century
44-734

An American woman and her husband, an oil engineer, living in an unspecified Latin-American country are the central figures. Filled with scorn over the drinking and club life of her fellow Americans, Molly turns her attentions on the natives and helps a native doctor in his clinic. The result is near disaster for Molly, but later proves to be a way out of a marital tangle.

Reviewed by J. E. Cross
Library J 69:118 F 1 '44 80w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 26 '44 300w

"A story handled without gloves, reticent neither in situation nor style, but crammed with tropical emotions."
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 12 '44 280w

SCHUBERT, LELAND. Hawthorne, the artist: fine-art devices in fiction. 181p $3.50 Univ. of N.C. press

B or 92 Hawthorne, Nathaniel 44-40143

"Not satisfied with the oft-made assertion that Hawthorne is an artist, Mr. Schubert has ventured in his book to give specific proof of it. By applying the principles of painting, sculpture, architecture and music, he has made a keen analysis of structure, design, rhythm and tone in Hawthorne's writings which, while it occasionally stretches a point, contributes to our esthetic enjoyment. The reader will be tempted now and then to stop and reread a story or a portion of a novel to see for himself how Hawthorne achieved his effects." (N Y Times) Index.

Booklist 40:373 Jl 1 '44

"A technical study, chiefly interesting to the student of literature or the word craftsman." W. K. R.
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 29 '44 500w

Reviewed by Walter Blair
Mod Philol 42:62 Ag '44 1300w

Reviewed by Nona Balakin
N Y Times p14 Je 25 '44 200w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p6 S 26 '44 370w

SCHULTZ, SIGRID LILLIAN. Germany will try it again. 238p $2.50 Reynal

943.085 Germany—Politics and government. Pangermanism 44-687

The author is an American of Norwegian descent who lived in Germany as an enemy alien during the last war. She was at one time head of the Berlin office of the Chicago Tribune and broadcaster over the Mutual system. In this book she traces the pan-German "secret general staff" organization for the second World war, which began even before the end of the last war. She warns that the same preparations for the third war are already on the move.

"Mrs. Schultz has written a book as open minded and decent, as suggestive and lively as are the best books of the American correspondents abroad. Her thesis is probably right. Her material, however, is not extensive enough to give scientific evidence for her thesis. However this cannot be otherwise. There are many personal observations that will be of great service to the future historian." Albert Salomon
+ — Am Soc R 9:586 O '44 60w

"The Schultz book is a fine example of cogent newspaper reporting—with its usual faults along with its virtues. Conversations, often in direct quotes, with Hitler, Goering, Scheidemann, Frau Ebert and many other 'names' sparkle across her pages, to support a broad generalization quite different from other generalizations from other conversations just a few pages back. Her book shows keen observation, logical presentation of facts not always easily come by, and a vigorous defense of democratic mores that might have fallen victim to Chicago censorship even if smuggled out of Berlin. But there is very little recognition of deep social forces at work or of masses in motion." W. F. Kruse
+ — Book Week p5 Ja 30 '44 290w

Booklist 40:210 F 15 '44

Reviewed by J. C. Harsch
Christian Science Monitor p13 Ap 1 '44 650w

Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '44

Reviewed by Edward Skillin, Jr.
Commonweal 39:427 F 11 '44 310w

Current Hist 6:259 Mr '44 90w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:663 Jl '44 80w

"There's nothing very new in the material, nor anything very startlingly constructive in the conclusions; spottily presented."
— Kirkus 11:565 D 15 '43 240w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison
Nation 158:226 F 19 '44 440w

Reviewed by H. H. F. Eulau
New Repub 110:292 F 28 '44 180w

"The author is somewhat inclined to magnify the past achievements and the future possibilities of Nazi secret agents. On the other hand there is a good deal of common sense in her recommendations for the future treatment of Germany." W. H. Chamberlin
+ — N Y Times p4 Ja 30 '44 900w

Reviewed by Edmund Wilson
New Yorker 19:82 F 12 '44 320w

"This is the most revealing, very serious, and yet most readable book on post-1918 Germany. It is full of information and valuable material by means of which we can learn all of the machinations the Germans used after the last war—'tricks' which, according to Miss Schultz, they intend to employ once more after the hue and cry of the present battle has receded." M. W. Fodor
+ Sat R of Lit 27:8 F 5 '44 1050w

Springf'd Republican p7e F 13 '44 450w

Reviewed by J. S. Roucek
Survey G 33:222 Ap '44 250w

"An important book that points a warning to all Americans. As Miss Schultz concludes: 'To be fooled once is tragic. To be fooled twice is unforgivable.' Let's not be fooled again by the Germans." William Shirer
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ja 23 '44 1750w

Wis Lib Bul 40:53 Ap '44

"The story is a familiar one—although it can never be sufficiently repeated for those who suffer from short memories. But one could have hoped that an observer with such a wealth of information at her command, would give us a really penetrating analysis of what the Allies could do in avoiding the mistakes of the First World War." V. M. Dean
Yale R n s 33:744 summer '44 600w

SCHUTT, WILLIAM H. Time study engineering. 426p il $5 McGraw
658.5421 Time study 44-352

Analysis of time study procedure on twenty-eight different machines, written for students. Questionnaires for student use with each chapter. Partial contents: The time-study engineer; Time-study equipment; Motion analysis; Analyzing the operation and watch reading; Efficiency rating; Studies with special or foreign elements; Studies on press operations; Drill presses; Milling machines; Lathe operations; Spot and projection welding; Dieing machine; Turret lathes; Automatic screw machines; Grinding; Polishing; Slide-rule reading; Spraying. Index.

Booklist 40:265 Ap 1 '44
Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 20w
Management R 33:108 Mr '44 20w

SCHWARZSCHILD, LEOPOLD. Primer of the coming world [tr. by Norbert Guterman]. 309p $2.50 Knopf
940.53144 Reconstruction (1939-). International relations 44-5125

"Arguing that all the hellish periods of history have resulted from the failure of heaven-storming hopes, the author calls upon all peacemakers and peace-wishers to recognize the elementary lessons of history and the limitations of human nature and lay their plans accordingly. Specifically he asserts that only drastic measures can wipe out Germany's military tradition; that the will of the United States, Soviet Russia, and Great Britain must be accepted as the chief bulwark of peace; that nations do nothing out of altruistic motives and that any world authority must be backed by force; that we can't expect to establish our kind of democracy in each liberated state; that regional unions won't be unmitigated blessings; and that returning to open frontiers is the best way to raise international living-standards." Publisher's note

"As the title indicates, Primer of the Coming World is a popularly written discussion of postwar problems and the solutions considered most desirable by the author. It is in primer form, a statement of principles terminating each chapter, and while at first intriguing, this style tends to cloy after the two-hundredth page. . . In passing, it should be noted that Mr. Schwarzschild, while a gifted writer, is no economist. It is particularly in those sections which discuss economic problems and economic forces in international relations that his book is weakest. . . Nevertheless, as a stimulating exposition of the views of a liberal writer with wide experience, Primer of the Coming World well merits reading." D. B. McCown
— + Am Pol Sci R 38:1239 D '44 550w

"One senses in Schwarzschild a fear of Russia which may be either sound foresight or merely the European liberal's version of the notion that democratic capitalism needs some 'bulwark' against Communism. One finds, also, the classical liberal's distrust of government, and a curious skepticism about 'abundance for all.' Nevertheless, any United Nations advocate would be well advised to subject himself to this German exile's sharp-cutting intellectual analysis." Willard Shelton
Book Week p3 Jl 16 '44 330w

Booklist 40:388 Jl 15 '44

Reviewed by Klaus Dohrn
Commonweal 40:402 Ag 11 '44 1200w

"The general excellence of the book, its simple style and common sense evaluation of men and nations, commend it as one of the best on the subject."
+ Current Hist 7:132 Ag '44 150w

"Rewarding—but demands close study."
+ Kirkus 12:162 Ap 1 '44 400w

"Recommended for all public libraries." Rice Estes
+ Library J 69:554 Je 15 '44 110w

"Mr. Schwarzschild's discussion of the economic future is the best and clearest case yet made for capitalism plus Beveridge. Few will agree with every argument in this book, still fewer with every conclusion. But no one who has not read it is entitled henceforth to speak either on international or economic affairs. This is that rare thing an indispensable book; a book in a thousand, not only a guide to the coming world but a primer of wisdom." A. J. P. T.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 3 '45 300w

"Here is a soberness which apprehends the immediate facts with remarkable clarity but is too narrow-eyed to measure the full dimension of the historical situation in which the facts appear." Reinhold Niebuhr
Nation 159:105 Jl 22 '44 1000w

"The heart of Schwarzschild's trenchant volume is entitled, 'Freedom From Fear of Germany.' Here his agile mind is at its best—and worst. . . These pages are full of sound sense and wise advice. They also reveal Schwarzschild's 'blind spot' and demonstrate anew that the most 'hard-headed' of 'realists' are often the most extravagant of visionaries." F. L. Schuman
+ — N Y Times p6 Je 25 '44 900w

"Another forecast, much less pretentious than most, of the probable shape of the postwar world. . . In this concluding section, Mr. Schwarzschild writes as lucid an analysis of the dangers of the completely collectivized state as has recently found its way into print."
+ New Yorker 20:67 Je 9 '44 230w

"If everything Herr Schwarzschild had to say was calculated to command ready assent his book would be much less worth reading than it is. As an arresting challenge to thought on major issues of today and tomorrow, it is a contribution of outstanding importance." Wilson Harris
+ Spec 173:556 D 15 '44 650w

Times [London] Lit Sup p614 D 23 '44 1150w

"In 'World in Trance' Mr. Schwarzschild wrote with a new perspective of the last peace and the era which followed it. In 'Primer of the Coming World' he writes with a new perspective of the coming peace and of the era which will follow it. If he is not unanswerable, he is spirited, succinct, sardonic, trenchant and to the point." W. R. Deuel
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 25 '44 900w

SCOTT, DENIS. Murder makes a villain. 297p $2 Bobbs
44-1300

Detective story.

"A more than adequate problem in sleuthing."
+ Kirkus 12:29 Ja 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 F 6 '44 80w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p12 F 6 '44 150w

SCOTT, ERNEST FINDLAY. Varieties of New Testament religion. 310p $2.75 Scribner

225.6 Bible. New Testament. Theology 43-17388

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

"While Scott may go to too great lengths to discover a synthesis—as even between Judaism and paganism—he makes a valuable contribution to our understanding of New Testament interpretations of the Gospel." W. L. Caswell
+ Churchman 158:16 Ja 15 '44 450w

"The book does not achieve its purpose, but rather confuses variety with uniformity beyond this reviewer's power to untangle them. The reader will gain a clearer view of the varieties of New Testament religion from reading the New Testament itself, moreover, he will find much clearer and more cogent statements of Mr. Scott's views in his earlier books. Contradictions and lack of clear definitions are responsible for the book's failure." E. C. Colwell
— Crozer Q 21:258 Jl '44 700w

"Scott's book is rich in content. What adds to its value is that it seems like the distilled essence of more ample work on the same subject. Almost every chapter calls to mind an earlier book by Professor Scott, and yet there is no undue repetition or simple restatement of previous contributions. The present volume stands in its own right with a richness of background that makes its reading a high cultural adventure. It is a real gift to preachers and teachers." M. E. Andrews
+ J Religion 24:135 Ap '44 600w

"While the author is a well known and brilliant scholar, this work should have a wide appeal to all those interested in a modern interpretation of our Christian faith."
+ Kirkus 12:68 F 1 '44 130w

Library J 69:646 Ag '44 20w

Reviewed by C. L. Snyder
N Y Times p16 Mr 5 '44 850w

SCOTT, MRS REVA LUCILE (HOLDAWAY). Samuel Brannan and the golden fleece; a biography. 462p il $3.75 Macmillan

Brannan, Samuel—Fiction 44-4871

Partly fictionized biography of Samuel Brannan, who became famous as the first of the 49ers, and was a leader in San Francisco for several years. His early years are clouded in obscurity and his later years, after he had lost his fortune and been separated from his family, are almost equally dark.

"A biography that makes lively reading for those interested in the byways of American history."
Book Week p7 Je 11 '44 110w

Booklist 40:390 Jl 15 '44

"One of the flesh-and-blood Paul Bunyans of the early West marches again, in fictionized biography, through the pages of this volume. If the story is somewhat less than classically told, it nevertheless probably deserves a place in the vast and always increasing mass of Californian studies." R. L. B.
Christian Science Monitor p13 D 23 '44 600w

Kirkus 12:56 F 1 '44 210w

Reviewed by A. B. Lindsay
Library J 69:354 Ap 15 '44 80w

"No doubt the conscientious piling of fact upon fact will give the book value for those especially interested in California history. For the general reader, the bald, undramatic presentation makes it a rather dull account of a thoroughgoing heel." N. B. Baker
N Y Times p21 Jl 9 '44 320w

"Whatever the book's faults it is evident that they stem from overenthusiasm and an unwieldy mass of details, most of them from source documents, family records and conversations with family members. It is as a matter of fact a better book than Brannan deserves." R. F. H.
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 11 '44 700w

"The author has had access to many illuminating and hitherto unused materials, especially family letters, which fill in the years of attempted colonization in Mexico, but she unfortunately chose a half-fictional treatment that tends to vitiate the whole. I only regret that she was not aware of the proper limits of biography, because her fictional episodes are not as well written as her factual ones and the historical and biographical sections suffer from a feeling of pseudo-authority cast over them like a shadow from fictional episodes." Virginia Sorensen
+ — Weekly Book Review p2 Je 18 '44 900w

SCOTT, ROBERT BALGARNIE YOUNG. Relevance of the prophets. 237p $2.50 Macmillan

224 Bible. Old Testament—Prophetical books 44-8925

"One of the ablest among Canadian scholars in the Old Testament field (thirteen years a professor in the United Theological College at Montreal, now a chaplain with the Royal Canadian Air Force) discusses with great penetration and clarity the message and outlook of the Hebrew prophets and their relation to their own times. On this solid foundation, and with his own socially liberal view of present problems, he demonstrates their 'relevance' to religious thought, preaching and the social crisis of the present age." (Christian Century) Indexes.

"A book well worth buying and studying."
+ Christian Century 61:1291 N 8 '44 80w

"This is a careful and responsible job of mediating the results of technical scholarship to a wider public of intelligent readers. Professor Scott, as one would expect, exhibits a familiarity with the wealth of technical material on the subject, but he has the happy faculty of putting technical knowledge in unobtrusive phrases. The book is notably free from dogmatism and superficial moralizing." J. B. Pritchard
+ Crozer Q 22:86 Ja '45 550w

"Scholars, ministers, and other serious students of the Bible will find this historical and critical study of the prophets of the Old Testament helpful and stimulating."
+ Kirkus 12:503 N 1 '44 110w

SCOTT, ROBERT LEE. Damned to glory. 228p $2.50 Scribner

940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-9172

Stories of the P 40's, an older type of plane than now in use, in the struggle at Pearl Harbor, Subic Bay, Guadalcanal, Tunisia, Murmansk, China, and Burma. The author wrote of his own experiences in God Is My Co-pilot (Book Review Digest, 1943).

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p14 N 26 '44 180w

Booklist 41:88 N 15 '44

"A record of intrepid individual action that prepared the way for eventual victory, these are good yarns, told in the author's highly enthusiastic style."
+ Kirkus 12:335 Ag 1 '44 170w

"Will appeal especially to older boys." J. C. Shipman
+ Library J 69:765 S 15 '44 50w

"Clichés of airfight narrative sprinkle his text: 'blasted him to hell,' 'put another burst in him,' 'blew him to bits,' 'three Japs flamed earthward,' 'the fuselage was full of holes.' His best writing, however, evokes stirringly, deeply, even mystically the spirit of a new breed of men and the courage and skill with which they have fought." John Lardner
+ — N Y Times p6 O 22 '44 1000w

"The Colonel's method of literary attack hasn't changed since his last book, and his prose is still that rich mixture of Southern rhetoric, Rudyard Kipling, and True Adventure Stories, but both his method and his prose are ideally suited to the stories he has to tell."
+ New Yorker 20:85 N 4 '44 130w

Reviewed by Beach Conger
Weekly Book Review p7 D 24 '44 400w

SCOTT, WILLIAM RUFUS. This is the milk that Jack drank; adapted from Mother Goose by [the author]; il. with paintings by Charles G. Shaw. [24p] $1.25 Scott, W.R.

44-8964

A modern adaptation of This is the house that Jack built, with very brief text and large colored pictures, for first readers of picture-book ages.

Booklist 41:95 N 15 '44
Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 30w
Cath World 160:278 D '44 20w
Horn Bk 20:475 N '44 30w

"Grand idea, successfully done."
+ Kirkus 12:398 S 1 '44 80w

"For children of preschool age and recommended for large libraries." J. E. Wooster
+ Library J 69:1104 D 15 '44 40w

"Pictures in bright primary colors are simple enough in form and composition for very young eyes to enjoy." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p16 D 10 '44 100w

SCOTT BLAIR, GEORGE WILLIAM. Survey of general and applied rheology. 196p il $4 (18s) Pitman

541.341 Rheology 44-2697

"This book by a British author forms an interesting attempt to present with a minimum of mathematical effort the stress-strain-time behavior of that large class of materials which can be approximated neither by that of an elastic solid nor that of a Newtonian fluid. Thixotropy, structural viscosity, dilatancy and related phenomena are consequently included. The treatment is based upon what the author calls the 'analytical' as well as upon the 'integral' method, according to whether or not an answer is sought in terms of superpositions of purely elastic and purely viscous contributions." Chem & Met Eng

"This work forms a useful guide for the reader who desires to find out what problems are dealt with in the field of rheology. The extensive bibliography will aid in this endeavor." Robert Simha
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:190 Jl '44 450w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 70w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:11 Ja '44

SEARS, FRANCIS WESTON. Principles of physics I; mechanics, heat and sound. 526p il $5; also separate Mechanics $3.50; Heat & sound $2.50 Addison-Wesley press, inc, 513 Kendall Sq bldg, Cambridge 42, Mass.

530 Physics (44-7029)

"A college text designed for the first half of a two-year course in physics. It presupposes some knowledge of calculus. The author is Associate Professor of Physics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 69:815 O 1 '44 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:47 Jl '44

SEAVER, EDWIN, ed. Cross-section; a collection of new American writing. 559p $3.50 Fischer, L.B.

810.8 American literature—Collections
44-5533

This collection of verse and prose heretofore unpublished, written by Americans, includes poems, short stories, novelettes, and plays by Richard Wright, Christopher Lazare, Ira Wolfert, John D. Weaver, Edita Morris, Oscar Williams, Edwin Honig, Langston Hughes, Arthur Miller, and others.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Je 4 '44 600w
Kirkus 12:240 Je 1 '44 130w

"The anthology of new writing has by now become as much an important part of the literary scene as the periodical. Hence it is natural to compare Mr. Seaver's collection to the volumes of The American Caravan, New Writing, and New Directions which have appeared for the past fifteen years. And such a comparison leads to the overwhelming impression that this is the weakest of the lot and that some extreme setback may have occurred in the quality of literary consciousness." Delmore Schwartz
— Nation 159:190 Ag 12 '44 1250w

"'Cross Section' is pleasantly free of the glossy magazine story. Its fiction, verse and drama include four astringent, New Yorkerish pieces by Shirley Jackson, Brendan Gill, Marjorie Stengel and Jay Williams... But more than half the book reminds us unpleasantly of our literary hangover from the Thirties. It is no longer enough to be in favor of the social underdog. A writer should also have some respect for his own craft." Marjorie Farber
+ — N Y Times p4 My 28 '44 700w
Springf'd Republican p7e D 12 '43 110w

"Most of the short stories are excellent... The poetry serves chiefly as a good example of what is wrong with modern poetry in general—safely obscure, fearful of statement, lost in endless convolutions. Exceptions are some new poems by Langston Hughes, a wicked satire by Isidor Schneider, four fine lyrics by an interesting new Kansas poet, Will Gibson, and a section from a long unpublished narrative poem by Helen Wolfred, 'Nothing Is a Wonderful Thing.'. On the whole, Edwin Seaver has made up a fine book, performing a service to contemporary literature somehow more satisfactory than the efforts of the 'Little Magazines.'" T. L. Collins
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 My 28 '44 750w

SEDGWICK, WILLIAM ELLERY. Herman Melville; the tragedy of mind [ed. by Sarah Cabot Sedgwick]. 255p $2.75 Harvard univ. press

813 Melville, Herman A44-5378

"Dominating the organization of the book is the idea that Melville's power as a writer proceeds from the fact that nearly everything he wrote was an 'act of being.' On his deepest creations and most vital symbols, his consciousness (which possessed a masculine force as well as a feminine receptivity) impressed itself, moulding them to its own realization of itself. The dynamic relationship between what he objectively questioned and what he experienced generates the force which gives life to his novels." Sat R of Lit

"Mr. Sedgwick has made an outstanding contribution to the appreciation of our literary heritage." A. C. Watson
+ Atlantic 175:129 Ja '45 550w
Booklist 41:136 Ja 1 '45

"A solemn, high-minded, but essentially lifeless job of criticism." Philip Rahv
— + Nation 159:694 D 2 '44 350w

"Sensitiveness and delicacy in the handling of ideas are as marked in this book as the author's own neutrality of conviction. The result is a superior academic book, fertile in its discussion of many problems in Melville's thought, but one lacking in essential personal reference, esthetic interest or those comparative judgments with other writers which Melville, by his peculiarly neo-Faustian leaps, demands more than most American writers. Of course such a work is valuable. But can't we ever study ideas as ideas without reflection on their origins?" Alfred Kazin
+ — New Repub 111:840 D 18 '44 1250w

"The author of this new study of Herman Melville died in 1942 at 42, leaving the complete manuscript of the present book behind him. The intellectual penetration and the spiritual steadfastness his study shows prove that this untimely death was a serious loss to American letters. His book itself will, I believe, not merely take a high place in the canon of Melville criticism; it will be also valued as the expression of a sound type of criticism, whose thesis derives, not from the preoccupations of the critic but from the nature of his subject." Lewis Mumford
+ N Y Times p3 Ja 21 '45 1400w

SEDGWICK, W. E.—Continued

"A careful and thoroughgoing study. . . Mr. Sedgwick was a sensitive and searching critic—to use justly, for once, two worn clichés—and his death at forty-two, just after he had finished this book, was a loss to American culture." Edmund Wilson

+ New Yorker 20:97 N 25 '44 100w

"One thinks, as one reads this book, of the generations of admirers of Melville—they were legion even in the days before the 'revival' of his fame in the 1920's—to whom the novels have spoken with an intense and personal directness. In Sedgwick they have at last their spokesman." Willard Thorp

+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 D 9 '44 750w

"This is not just another biography, but a thoughtful attempt to comprehend the unfolding of a great writer's personality. Melville's books, as Mr. Sedgwick convincingly demonstrates, were reports rendered at various stages of a spiritual progress comparable to Dante's or Shakespeare's, but expressed in terms that are vividly fresh and entirely American." G. F. Whicher

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 7 '45 1100w

SEEGER, ELIZABETH. Pageant of Chinese history; il. by Bernard Watkins. 2d ed 398p maps $3 Longmans

951 China—History 44-6756

"In this tenth printing of a popular and well-established history, Miss Seeger has prepared a new chapter on 'The Republic' bringing the story up to date." (School & Society) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1934. Index.

Booklist 41:96 N 15 '44

"This book was especially planned for twelve year olds, but should by no means be limited to them." F. C. Darling

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 23 '44 100w

"This excellent basic history of China, originally published for teen age but reaching a much broader based market than that, has been brought up to date with a final chapter summarizing the fall of the Chinese Empire, the rise of the Republic. . . For a one-volume survey for the average reader—this is recommended."

+ Kirkus 12:290 Jl 1 '44 70w

"Libraries with original volume may not feel that this warrants purchase, but for those who do not have it, it is highly recommended. One of best of the distinguished Pageants." Marian Cumming

+ Library J 69:765 S 15 '44 70w

"In narrative form, this book presents vital information in a lucid, coherent, and very readable manner."

+ School & Society 60:96 Ag 5 '44 40w

Social Studies 35:384 D '44 60w

SEGER, GERHART HEINRICH, and MARCK, SIEGFRIED K. Germany: to be or not to be? introd. by Dr. George N. Shuster. 190p $2 Rand school

940.531443 Reconstruction (1939-)—Germany. World war, 1939—Germany. Germany—Politics and government 43-17703

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:499 Ap '44 30w

Reviewed by H. H. F. Eulau

New Repub 110:292 F 28 '44 260w

"Perhaps the most valuable suggestion that this stimulating book makes is that in building the new Germany the former members of municipal and county councils should be considered first because they had a much longer democratic tradition than other political bodies. . . The authors make an earnest plea for the Association of Free Germany, which concerns itself with anti-Nazi activities inside Germany." Cyril Clemens

+ Springf'd Republican p8 Mr 1 '44 700w

SEGHERS, ANNA. Transit; tr. from the German by James A. Galston. 312p $2.50 Little 44-3969

Psychological novel. A young German of antifascist views, fleeing from a French concentration camp after the fall of France, arrives in Marseilles, a city teeming with frantic refugees all seeking a way across the Atlantic. The hero, by a strange set of circumstances, has the papers of a writer who has committed suicide in Paris. With these papers as an aid, he is able to assume the dead man's identity, and to get passports for himself and the man's estranged wife, who is also in Marseilles. At the last minute the hero decides to stay in Europe; the woman sails. Then it is reported that the ship has been torpedoed.

"Though 'Transit' is no 'Seventh Cross' [Book Review Digest, 1942] it nonetheless adds substantially to the stature of Anna Seghers as a novelist. If she had written nothing else, she would still have set a bright mark for daws to peck at." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p1 My 14 '44 1700w

Booklist 40:341 Je 1 '44

Reviewed by N. E. Monroe

Cath World 159:379 Jl '44 150w

"The story has not the exquisite clarity displayed by Miss Seghers in 'The Seventh Cross,' but its very air of confusion and blind groping is consonant with its theme. Without hope, or papers, and often without money, in fear of what dogged their heels and ignorant of the future, the multitudes waited. While they stormed the consulates and threw themselves against the ticket barriers, fresh multitudes arrived. It is all blunted, dulled, and, for Seidler, enveloped in a fog of boredom except as related to Madame Weidel. Yet it is credible and arresting." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 My 22 '44 650w

Commonweal 40:208 Je 16 '44 550w

"A book for critical and discriminating tastes, with an odd fascination, but popularly speaking, a more conjectural market than The Seventh Cross."

+ — Kirkus 12:150 Ap 1 '44 230w

"The memory of The Seventh Cross will sell more copies of Transit than this novel will sell for itself. It is by no means as convincing as the first book. . . The implied 'epic' has a fine underlying idea but not-so-sure an execution. The translation is not smooth. When many requests demand this it will be bought by any size library." K. T. Willis

+ Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 70w

"The plot of Miss Seghers's new book to me is a cruel joke of a plot. And if 'Transit' is more than its plot, I fail to recognize it—unless, indeed, the 'more' is the embroidery of scenes among Miss Seghers's subsidiary characters." Diana Trilling

— Nation 158:602 My 20 '44 1100w

Reviewed by Marjorie Farber

New Repub 110:792 Je 12 '44 700w

"Readers of 'The Seventh Cross' will begin this book with hope and finish it (if they can bear its vagaries that long) with a complete sense of let-down. Frau Seghers' first novel, despite its turgidity and its Teutonic tendency to moon, was good melodrama, lashed by the whips of an evil older than history. Her second attempt in that direction has kept the turgidity of its predecessors and needled its Teutonic mooniness to psychotic pitch. It has kept its shape of evil, too—without its terror; its pattern of a doomed and dying Europe—without its heartbreak. To be blunt about it, 'Transit' is one of the dullest failures this reviewer has encountered in a long, long time." William Du Bois

— N Y Times p7 My 14 '44 850w

"The tone of the book is quiet—no physical cruelty, no violence—but at times one gets a sense of horror not unlike that which the stories of Kafka inspire, along with an uneasy suspicion that one is missing some ghostly meaning in this study of frenzied refugees who are really going nowhere and are perpetually concerned with exit visas, transit permits, and certificates of departure. It is hard to find a single phrase to convey the tense, nightmare quality of the novel, which the publishers cheerily describe as 'an appealing love story.' "

New Yorker 20:89 My 13 '44 240w

Reviewed by Robert Pick
Sat R of Lit 27:14 My 13 '44 950w

"This is a novel of a rather curious strength, for it has the simplicity and narrative speed of a good parable, and like a parable gains its power through implication." Lee Varley
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 4 '44 440w

Time 43:100 My 29 '44 550w

"While 'Transit' is a book that is well worth reading, it hasn't the clarity and direction of its forerunner. Seidler is an interesting study in character but his strength of purpose is neutral; it lacks fire and drive. He moves in a sort of miasma; enveloped in the mistrals of Marseilles spiritually as well as physically, he is never clearly integrated as a person. His cynicism, his self-distrust, his actions in spite of himself are real enough but they do not give him recognizable proportions. He emerges as the instrument of an idea rather than its embodiment. The writing in the book, excellently translated by James A. Galston, is charged with feeling and a deep undercurrent of revolt." Rose Feld
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 My 14 '44 950w

Wis Lib Bul 40:131 O '44

SEGRE, ALFREDO. Mahogany. 286p $2.75 Fischer, L.B.
44-2894

Character sketch of the struggles of Silva, a European, living and working in the mahogany jungles of French West Africa. After years of work and sweat and fever, battles with natives, and the jungles, Silva hopes to find a more comfortable life, but his dream is not realized.

Reviewed by Kay Boyle
Book Week p6 F 27 '44 430w

"Limited appeal for able handling of a grim subject."
Kirkus 12:84 F 15 '44 100w

"For the exceptional, experienced reader, because of its sordid tragedy." M. E. Clark
Library J 68:1049 D 15 '43 20w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer
New Repub 110:288 F 28 '44 270w

"When all is said and done, there are only two distinct ways of writing a novel. There is the way of the spectator who stands outside looking in, and the way of the participant who is inside looking out. . . In 'Mahogany,' Alfredo Segre has tried to achieve a curious combination of the two. . . Writing a vivid prose Mr. Segre might have made this a truly powerful novel had he been content to use only one style and not tried to have his cake and eat it too." Nona Balakian
N Y Times p25 F 27 '44 650w

"On the evidence of this novel Alfredo Segre appears to be a first-rate writer. He has a most fine and sensitive apprehension of sensibilities and states of mind, of mental climates, and he is able to communicate these alive and warm and wriggling, at first hand, almost as though there were no translating medium. . . This is personification of a high order, and will provide the reader with a variety of experience keener than the vicarious book may be expected to offer." N. L. Rothman
+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 F 19 '44 600w

"Though most of the minor characters are perfunctorily drawn, the portrait of Silva is full-bodied and detailed. The reader closes the book realizing that Silva is one of those driven souls who is never happy in achievement, but only in the hope of success. This is not a buoyant story, but within its limits it has strength and color." M. L. H.
+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 170w

Reviewed by Virgilia Sapieha
Weekly Book Review p2 F 27 '44 700w

SEIDE, MICHAEL. Common thread; a book of stories. 201p $2 Harcourt
44-2954

Collection of short stories, all dealing with the life of the Jewish people of Brooklyn.

"Seide displays a genuine interest in people and in the difficulties and mystery of human life. His interest and sensitive sympathy suggest that work to be noticed may be ahead." J. H. Wallis
+ Book Week p4 F 27 '44 180w

"The author shows an intimate knowledge of his material. The plots are unimportant. Interest is centered upon characters and atmosphere. The author has a technique well suited to the realistic rendering of the minds and experiences of the lowly types which people his pages."
+ Christian Century 61:277 Mr 1 '44 60w

"Mr. Seide writes wonderful dialogue, and what we can call his basic prose is excellent. But he has a bad habit of parentheses (such a tempting habit!) into which he likes to drop bits of fancy writing, and far too often even outside the parentheses, he will destroy a first-rate passage by straining for effect." Diana Trilling
+ — Nation 158:400 Ap 1 '44 300w

"The excellent qualities in the writing of Michael Seide have not yet become virtues. He has a personal style which has not yet acquired the deeper personalism of transparency, and a personal view which is not yet a vision. His is a naturalism in embryo which promises to grow free and graceful; but the egg is clouded and streaked with whimsy, mannerism and a little vanity." Isaac Rosenfeld
+ — New Repub 110:355 Mr 13 '44 650w

"The depression, really, figures in all these stories; for, like some of his situations, Seide's style itself was formed by the tensions of that period. It is sharp and staccato, broken in rhythm, fragmentary, colloquial, and sparing of poetry. Yet it has poetic qualities of its own, and when Seide allows himself an image, his prose sometimes blossoms quite beautifully." Mark Shorer
+ N Y Times p15 Mr 12 '44 550w

"These ten stories, and each one of them, have a curious and exceptional quality; to anyone who thinks as I do, a very beautiful one. They are like vellum held up to the light. I daresay we have all done that at one time or another—held a piece of vellum up to the light. . . The experiment is worth making, for whatever is on the vellum, illumination, or printing, or writing, takes on a new value, a new aura; new color. This simile, it seems to me, carried over into story-telling, or even the writing of history, makes the difference between good writing and bad." Struthers Burt
+ Sat R of Lit 27:27 My 6 '44 750w

"The stories in 'The Common Thread,' valid as they are as far as they go, leave a sense of incompleteness, almost of unreality. They are in consequence not as significant as they might have been, in spite of the warmth, the excellence of characterization and the wealth of detail." Barbara Woollcott
— + Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 2 '44 380w

SEIL, GILBERT EDWARD. Gas chemists' manual of dry box purification of gas. 289p $5; to members $3.50 Am. gas. assn.

665.7 Gas manufacture and works. Hydrogen sulfide 43-16277

"Covers plant practice in the removal of hydrogen sulphide from manufactured gas as well as laboratory methods for evaluating gas-purifying materials. Approximately two-thirds of the book is devoted to an extensive bibliography containing over 1,800 abstracts of periodical articles and patents." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:6 Ja '44

SELBY, JOHN. Elegant journey. 371p $2.75 Farrar
44-8724

This third in a series of novels, of which Island in the Corn, and Starbuck were the others (Book Review Digest, 1941 and 1943) is the first chronologically. In it is told the story of the founder of the family, Sereno Trace, a wealthy Maryland slave owner. In 1839 Sereno freed his slaves and journeyed with his wife and son, and household effects to Wisconsin, where he founded the town of Hasselmans. The description of the "elegant journey" to Wisconsin is the most important part of the book. The time covered is from 1839 to 1857.

"In the novels set closer to our own time Selby deals surely and realistically with problems of small-town life and through close observation is able to create recognizable characters. In 'Elegant Journey' he is laboriously accurate but seldom dramatic; there is a stiffness in the narrative which continually obstructs even the patient reader." J. T. Flanagan
Book Week p4 N 26 '44 650w

Booklist 41:109 D 1 '44

"Good regional material and an unusual story."
+ Kirkus 12:353 Ag 15 '44 170w

Reviewed by H. G. Kelley
Library J 69:1000 N 15 '44 70w

"Unfortunately, the rest of the book does not come up to the sharp character study [of Sereno]. There are too many dangling episodes that add neither suspense nor meaning to the story. The novel as a whole lacks the interest and cohesion of Mr. Selby's previous success, 'Starbuck.'" Henry James, Jr.
+ — N Y Times p14 N 19 '44 440w

"A readable study of a personality."
New Yorker 20:90 N 18 '44 180w

"The long journey West is one of the most entertaining sections of the book. . . The life of the period, particularly the rowdy life of the Erie Canal, is skillfully evoked. . . John Selby's character portrayals, while not profound, are quite adequate to people his book with men and women who are convincing, entertaining and essentially sympathetic, despite their weaknesses. . . Perhaps no town was ever built quite as Hasselmans was. Perhaps no human being could have kept track of the multiplicity of details that Sereno handled. Perhaps Sereno's luck was a little too miraculous. None the less, within its own framework the story rings true, and it is a story that never flags in the telling." Jennings Rice
+ — Weekly Book Review p8 N 19 '44 1000w

SELF, MRS MARGARET CABELL. Those Smith kids; il. by Gertrude Howe. 185p $2 Dutton
44-6675

The lively adventures of three Connecticut youngsters, known in town as "those hell raisin' Smith kids." Their experiments led to many extremes, from letting a ferret loose in the five and ten, to recitations—with gestures—in school.

Boston Globe p31 N 29 '44 50w

"A book which is amusing, without trying too hard."
+ Kirkus 12:396 S 1 '44 110w

"Not a MUST. Recommended for libraries with adequate book funds." E. S. Brown
Library J 69:699 S 1 '44 40w

Reviewed by H. J. Sloan
Springf'd Republican p4d O 1 '44 280w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p12 S 17 '44 500w

SELWOOD, PIERCE WILSON. Magnetochemistry. 287p il $5 Interscience
541.378 Magnetochemistry 44-345

"Magnetochemistry is the application of magnetic susceptibility and closely related quantities to the solution of chemical problems. The determination of magnetic moments has reached the stage of a routine laboratory procedure. This the author describes in great detail, following with an exhaustive review from the time of Michael Faraday to the present, lending a deeper understanding of the chemical valency and electronic structure of a great variety of inorganic and organic compounds." Chem & Eng N

"The book reveals in concise but rather extensive fashion and with good criticism both the actual progress and the still innumerable gaps in the field. The bibliography of more recent publications appears to be complete. The presentation of the fundamental theory of magnetism is adequate to a book concerned mainly with its application. This monograph is highly recommendable not only for specialists in the field but also for chemists in general." L. Michaelis
+ Am Chem Soc J 66:1234 Jl '44 280w

Chem & Eng N 22:200 F 10 '44 70w

"Professor Selwood has made an important contribution to science, and has done his part in calling the usefulness and power of magnetic methods to the attention of chemists. It is clear from his book that magnetochemistry is a most fertile and promising field of research, and that magnetic methods may be used for the solution of problems in industrial chemistry as well as pure chemistry." Linus Pauling
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:208 S '44 400w

"Professor Selwood is to be congratulated on writing a book which fulfills a distinct need not covered by other volumes, and which is devoted to an interesting and growing field, for magnetochemistry has earned its right to stand beside the study of dielectric constant, spectra, and diffraction as a powerful tool for the chemist." J. H. Van Vleck
+ J Phys Chem 48:234 Jl '44 1000w

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 10w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:7 Ja' 44

"Throughout the book, the emphasis is placed on the experimental results and their significance to structural theories. Nevertheless, the mathematical theory of magnetism is adequately handled. The author recognizes that the details of the theory are available in other books and in original sources and limits himself to the presentation of the arguments, developments of the principal steps, and the final mathematical expressions that are amenable to experimental tests. . . The book is notably, but not perfectly, free of errors of the sort that creep into manuscript and that slip in at the printing office. Exception might be taken to the author's treatment, on the very first page, of magnetic induction as being identical with magnetic field intensity. Another very minor fault is the fact that it is not always clear from the footnotes to which parts of the text they refer." L. A. Welo
+ — R of Scientific Instruments 15:257 O '44 650w

SENCOURT, ROBERT, pseud. See George, R. E. G.

SENDER, RAMON JOSE. Chronicle of dawn; tr. by Willard R. Trask. 201p $2.50 Doubleday
44-2957

Story of a young Spanish loyalist, which purports to be written as he lies dying in a French concentration camp. He traces the picture of an idyllic childhood in a friendly Spanish town, and then he dies.

Reviewed by Leo Shapiro
Book Week p7 Mr 12 '44 400w

Booklist 40:305 My 1 '44

"The diary has a remarkable clarity—it is honest and objective, full of wit and gaiety and of the high flown idealism without which youth is but a second hand edition of its elders."
+ Cath World 159:187 My '44 170w

Reviewed by Paule Berault
Commonweal 40:140 My 26 '44 490w

"The leading Spanish novelist writes another novel for discriminating tastes. There is delicacy, a youthful play of fancy and a certain charm to this idyll of a childhood in Spain. . . For a carefully picked market."
+ — Kirkus 12:3 Ja 1 '44 160w

"Even as a straight recollection of a Spanish boyhood, Pepe's reminiscence, for all Mr. Sender's good prose, was marred for me by the fatal coyness with which Mr. Sender reproduces the mind of a ten-year-old." Diana Trilling
Nation 158:342 Mr 18 '44 240w

Reviewed by Isaac Rosenfeld
New Repub 110:572 Ap 24 '44 1050w

"[The author's] device of indirection requires the reader to bring to the book his own fund of understanding, since the ironic tragedy of the modern hero is only implied, not represented. But if this device prevents 'Chronicle of Dawn' from being a 'great' war novel, it insures, at least, that the book be recognized as an astonishingly true and moving one." Marjorie Farber
+ N Y Times p4 F 20 '44 1000w

"A beautiful, tender story, which leaves one with a fierce sense of outrage at the wastefulness of war."
+ New Yorker 20:86 F 26 '44 90w

"It is a simple scheme, yet presented with such force, such virtuosity of imaginative recall that one has the sense of hurrying over a strange and enormous landscape, in the company of haunted and prophetic children. Its memories, or its late intuitions concerning childhood, are keen, often terribly sharp. The unrelenting finality of the boy's hatred for his father and his precipiced contempt for his young sister is frightening." Ralph Bates
+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Ap 15 '44 1600w

"The narrative apparatus with which Sender has sought to emphasize the parable seems superfluous, since the parable is implicit in the tale as well as in the time in which it appears and the condition of its refugee author. But it takes up only the first dozen pages, while all the rest of it is a remarkably beautiful tale of romantic and heroic childhood which will take its place alongside the very best in its genre." B. D. Wolfe
+ — Weekly Book Review p3 Mr 12 '44 1000w

SENN, MILTON J. E., and NEWILL, MRS PHYLLIS KRAFFT. All about feeding children. 269p $2.50 Doubleday

649.3 Children—Nutrition. Infants—Nutrition 44-6284

Authoritative guide to foods and nutrition for children from birth to the age of twelve. Contains many recipes, formulas, special diets, and menus. Glossary. Index.

Booklist 41:73 N 1 '44
Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 20w

"A very good job indeed."
+ Kirkus 12:211 My 1 '44 170w

"The child specialists of the State Board of Health recommend this as an excellent book for the use of mothers. Comprehensive and easy to follow."
+ Wis Lib Bul 40:144 N '44

SERENI, ANGELO PIERO. Italian conception of international law. 402p $5.50 Columbia univ. press [36s 6d Oxford]

341 International law and relations. Italy—Politics and government. Italy—Foreign relations A44-710

"Dr. Sereni, formerly of the University of Ferrara, while reviewing and explaining the development of international law in Italy from the unification of the Italian states to almost the present, has at the same time analyzed the sentiments among Italians toward other nations and Fascism. In fact, the evidence tends to prove the repugnance of Italian scholars and internationally minded lawyers to that theory." Current Hist

Reviewed by E. C. Stowell
Am Pol Sci R 38:574 Je '44 1100w

"Dr. Sereni's book, enriched by an excellent bibliography is an invaluable source of information. The sizable material is handled in a masterly fashion. The author's approach to the Italian contributions to international law is objective. If too much emphasis is laid on some of the contributions, the reader will understand that this is due to the author's great love for Italy." K. H. Nadelmann
+ Ann Am Acad 235:145 S '44 500w

"It is an interesting exposition of Italian history and Italian ideals of living."
+ Current Hist 6:164 F '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:491 Ap '44 10w

"While Sereni's approach cannot be considered as healthy or worthy of imitation, and his picture might have been much clearer if he had given it a more comparative setting, his book covers many interesting subjects. His summary of Renaissance practice and of old and modern Italian literature on international law can serve as a useful reference book to those not acquainted with the Italian language. His almost thirty pages of bibliography at the end of the volume and the abundant biographical and bibliographical notes in the text itself will prove of value to students of international law." L. B. Sohn
+ — Harvard Law R 57:745 My '44 1100w

"This carefully written account of Italian thought on the nature and subjects of international law will be welcomed by students of international law, and be found useful as well to historians and political theorists." N. J. Padelford
+ Pol Sci Q 59:458 S '44 700w

"While the earlier historical parts of the book suffer from lack of perspective and originality, the modern sections are distinguished by a high standard of scholarship and learning. The presentation of Anzilotti's work—this reviewer used it many years ago as the textbook in his courses on international law at the University of Munich—is admirable. The concluding sections on Italy's international status, international relations and domestic legislation in international law are a mine of information. This first effort in English to present the history and principles of Italian international jurisprudence is a most welcome addition to the important subject." Karl Loewenstein
+ Springf'd Republican p8 F 9 '44 600w

SERNER, GUNNAR (FRANK HELLER, pseud). Twilight of the gladiators; Italy and the Italians, 1939-1943; tr. from the Swedish by Llewellyn Jones. 146p $2 Putnam

940.5345 Italy—Fascist movement. World war, 1939—Italy 44-6447

"Author's real name, Gunnar Serner who wrote series of mysteries in the 20's about Philip Collin, Swedish detective. Translated from the Swedish, book is recapitulation of events in Italy from 1939 to 1943. Contains some interesting material on newspaper propaganda, rise and fall of Mussolini, conditions among the common people, the influence of the Pope and the royal family, the war in Greece and Africa, but nothing that a careful reader of newspapers and magazines during the last five years does not know." (Library J) No index.

Reviewed by Wendell Johnson
Book Week p1 Ag 6 '44 700w

"Not important. Few libraries will need." Margaret Owen
Library J 69:601 Jl '44 80w

Reviewed by Frederick Gruin
Sat R of Lit 27:11 Ag 26 '44 650w

"This particular account, by 'a distinguished Swedish author,' is shorter than most but its brevity is its only distinctive feature. There have been so many interesting and well-written discussions of Italy and the Italians in the last few years, by American newspapermen like the Packards and Richard Massock, for example, that there seems no reason for having bothered to translate Mr Heller's modest volume into English." W. H. H.

SERNER, GUNNAR—Continued
— Springf'd Republican p8 Jl 28 '44 440w

"A well written, informative and diverting account of Fascism in its last throes." G. A. Craig
+ Weekly Book Review p14 S 24 '44 350w

SETON, ANYA (MRS HAMILTON CHASE). Dragonwyck. 336p $2.50 Houghton
44-40044

An American "Gothic" novel. The time is the 1830's and 1840's; the place New York city and the great Van Ryn estate, Dragonwyck, on the Hudson. A young farm girl, a distant cousin of the Van Ryn's goes to live at Dragonwyck as governess to the Van Ryns' small daughter. At the death of the child's mother, Miranda becomes the second Mrs Van Ryn. The story of Miranda's gradual horrified awakening follows.

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 F 20 '44 180w
Booklist 40:236 Mr 1 '44
Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '44

"It is disappointing that against a rich and satisfying background Miss Seton has chosen to set a trite Victorian melodrama. The haughty young squire is a figure out of 'Dora Thorne' or 'Thelma'; readers whose memories are long enough will recognize him easily. As a matter of fact, they will recognize the plot, too, and will be a little impatient with the meek Miranda, who alone is in doubt as to what comes next. Dragonwyck is so real a house, set so solidly in such a real world, that it deserves worthier inhabitants than these pallid ghosts from a Bertha M. Clay past." N. B. Baker
— + N Y Times p6 F 20 '44 450w

"Actually a highly artificial novel, 'Dragonwyck' possesses that sense of reality and excitement which has fascinated readers ever since the days of the Brontes." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p7e F 20 '44 500w

"For all its trappings and devices—and they are good, spine-chilling trappings, handled with considerable skill—the novel manages to have life and substance. The character of Nicholas, in spite of its exaggeration for the purposes of romance, emerges with a timely vividness." Harriet Colby
+ Weekly Book Review p2 F 20 '44 650w
Wis Lib Bul 40:38 Mr '44

SEVERIN, KURT, and SORSBY, LENORE. To the south. (Eagle bks) 244p il $3 Duell
918 Latin America—Description and travel
44-40205

Travel notes on Latin America, by Kurt Severin, a news photographer and war correspondent. Contents: Hymn to the Collins and the hammock; Sporting life; Green hell; Artificial heavens; Art is where you find it; Presidents, politicians, and paupers; Magicians, missionaries, and medicos; Love according to the rule book; The new conquista; Latin America's flying future.

"Thoroughly entertaining and readable." J. B. Metzenberg
+ Book Week p6 O 29 '44 180w
Kirkus 12:423 S 15 '44 90w

"The book is full of bits of information, fragments of observation, schematic outlines of adventure, odds and ends of interpretation. But the author has lacked either the capacity to experience deeply or the capacity to convey his experiences to others. . . Mr. Severin brought to his wanderings and experiences a first-rate camera, an eye for selection and a visual sensibility that make the twenty-five photographs which illustrate the book enormously superior to the text. . . It is a pity that some one did not advise him to make a book of all of them, with just enough text to point up, interpret and aid the reader to get the most out of the pictures." B. D. Wolfe
+ — N Y Times p24 N 12 '44 440w

Reviewed by Robert Okin
Sat R of Lit 27:31 O 28 '44 350w

SEWARD, SIR ALBERT CHARLES. Geology for everyman; with a pref. by Sir Henry Lyons. 312p il $3.25 Macmillan [10s 6d Cambridge]
550 Geology [44-4477]

"Sir Albert Seward was Professor of Botany in Cambridge from 1906 to 1936, and he was also a geologist of wide experience. He had completed the manuscript of this book a few days before his death, and Lady Seward, with the help of friends, has ensured its publication. The author states that his aim is 'to present a case for the inclusion of an intelligent interest in geology as part of that intellectual equipment which we call general culture.' He is anxious to demonstrate the attraction which geology offers to everybody who enjoys the natural scene." Manchester Guardian

"The story is well and attractively told, and comparatively little knowledge of geology is required to appreciate what is in fact a short geological history of the British Isles, a history which is both remarkably varied and complete." W. J. P.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 29 '43 250w

Reviewed by G. W. Stonier
New Statesman & Nation 27:277 Ap 22 '44 200w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:25 Ap '44

"Although this compact little volume does not display the same flair for popular exposition as that which enlivens the pages written by certain other British scientists, it by no means belies its title. . . It is especially praiseworthy for the way in which deductions and inferences are carefully tied to observations, not left hanging in mid-air as though the scientist were a magician."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 My '44 240w

SEWELL, HELEN. Birthdays for Robin; pictures by [the author]. [46p] $1 Macmillan
43-17316

Picture-story book about a small boy who always asked for a dog for his birthday and wasn't satisfied until he got one.

Booklist 40:216 F 15 '44

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:32 Ja '44 50w

"One of the more appealing of Helen Sewell's picture books." M. F. Cox
+ Library J 69:34 Ja 1 '44 40w

"The little book puts on record, besides boy-dog urge, the special charm to a very small boy of a very big dog. I know how Robin felt. I remembered the noblest dog since my childhood's collie, the Great Dane I've walked with on Dartmoor." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 F 13 '44 200w
Wis Lib Bul 40:57 Ap '44

SEYMOUR, ALTA HALVERSON. On the edge of the fjord. 212p il $2 Presbyterian bd.
44-9795

"For older boys and girls [a story of] Norway under nazi occupation." Commonweal

Booklist 41:171 F 1 '45
Commonweal 41:257 D 22 '44 10w

"Best war fiction for children to come out of this war." Sonja Wennerblad
+ Library J 70:36 Ja 1 '45 70w

SFORZA, CARLO, conte. Contemporary Italy; its intellectual and moral origins; tr. by Drake and Denise De Kay. 430p $3.50 Dutton

945.09 Italy—History. Italy—Politics and government. Italy—Civilization 44-2853

"Enlightening interpretation of the essential Italy, based on careful examination of her historical development, covering the various phases suggested by title. Most valuable on relations with Papacy and Central European Powers, which author had some hand in guiding. A consistent liberal and opponent of Fascism, Sforza, now in Italy, may have important influence in constructing a new Italy. Main points of his policy: reestablishment of the freedoms of all citizens; broadening the base of the state by sweeping agrarian reform; full understanding, based on mutual respect, with Italy's Slavic neighbors." Library J

"To these essays, the author brings the impressions and reflections of his cultivated mind and his broad political experience. Much of what he says is penetrating and suggestive. All of it is certainly worth reading and consulting, provided that it be done with caution."
+ Am Hist R 50:176 O '44 240w

Reviewed by H. R. Spencer
Am Pol Sci R 38:797 Ag '44 650w

"While it is not a sociological treatise, or even what I would call a sociological interpretation of history, it is an interesting and rewarding book. After reading it, one sincerely hopes post-war Italy may be led by men like Sforza, Crocé, Salvemini, and younger men of like mind and talent rather than by the semi-fascists and papal politicians whom our government seems to love so much." Read Bain
+ Am Soc R 9:575 O '44 250w

Reviewed by Constantine Panunzio
Ann Am Acad 234:146 Jl '44 500w

"Contemporary Italy is of supreme timeliness. No man who wants to keep abreast of what is happening in Europe, and especially in Italy, can do without it. This book gives him the background of the immediate past and the basis of the future." Pierre van Paassen
+ Atlantic 173:133 My '44 270w

"The book is full of sensational revelations, with hilarious and illuminating anecdotes and with warm humanitarian feeling. We all ought to read the book of this great man, with his tremendous knowledge, warm heart and sensible outlook." M. W. Foder
+ Book Week p3 Mr 26 '44 900w
Booklist 40:282 Ap 15 '44
Bookmark 5:14 My '44

Reviewed by J. F. Thorning
Cath World 159:569 S '44 310w
Commonweal 40:136 My 26 '44 650w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:663 Jl '44 60w

"This book is important because Count Sforza is in a strategic position in Italy today, one of her foremost statesmen, many years exiled now returned. But it is not the answer to the questions disturbing most thoughtful citizens. It is not easy reading. It is scholarly, often obscuring fairly simple truths in oblique language."
+ — Kirkus 12:137 Mr 15 '44 230w

"Recommended for all libraries." J. E. Cross
+ Library J 69:159 F 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by Hiram Motherwell
Nation 158:628 My 27 '44 900w

"The form and style of the book bear all of the earmarks of a well-constructed case. It is not addressed to the student seeking elemental knowledge, nor to the general public seeking enlightenment, but to the military men, diplomats and politicians, and to university scholars who will have most to do with Italy's future. The case is constructed for them and they will understand it. . . All in all, Sforza's case for Italy is a strong and reasonable one, even if it bears the stamp of the interested advocate." G. H. E. Smith
+ N Y Times p5 Mr 19 '44 1100w

"An interesting and important book."
+ New Yorker 20:98 Mr 25 '44 90w

Reviewed by Stephen Naft
Sat R of Lit 27:6 Mr 25 '44 2000w

"The book is rich in personal reminiscences, some of which appear for the first time and will ultimately be evaluated and woven into the interpretation of past events, but these do not always excuse errors of fact and date that appear in the text. . . These faults must not, however, obscure the very real value of this most recent addition in Italian interpretive history nor distort the fact that Sforza possesses advantages beyond almost any other Italian for the writing of such a book." J. L. Godfrey
+ — Social Forces 23:228 D '44 350w

" 'Contemporary Italy' is not only an excellent source of information on Italy's political and intellectual background, a dispeller of myths and legends too long accepted uncritically, but a testimony to Count Sforza's patriotism. Love of Italy—the soil, the people, the culture and the traditions—breathes through every paragraph, leading, perhaps, to more charity with Italian blunders and shortcomings than a foreign observer might be inclined to feel. Count Sforza is proof in his own person of his vehement conviction that the country which has produced men like Mazzini will never be long content with a Mussolini." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 26 '44 900w

"This beautiful and refreshing book has a double importance. It gives an enlightening analysis of the intellectual and moral origins of contemporary Italy. At the same time it is an unintentional portrait of the author himself, who may become one of the most important personal factors in the liberation of his cherished country." Oscar Jászi
+ Survey G 33:464 N '44 850w

"It is something, in these days of furious writing and frantic publishing, to spend a few hours in the company of a genuinely educated and reflective mind—a mind rich in its heritage, of broad culture, of long practical experience, capable of bringing both knowledge and moral dignity to the great issues of our times. It is something more to accompany such a mind in the exploration of the complex problems of Italy, which this country has been fated so profoundly to affect and be affected by." Walter Millis
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 19 '44 1550w

"Among the many books published on Italy since the advent of fascism, Count Sforza's latest work will always occupy a unique place. It is the product of statesmanship of high degree, combined with a literary and psychological mastery unusual even in the refined Italian creative world. Essentially the book is to a large extent not only Italy's but also Sforza's history; and, at any rate, it is the work of an author who is at the same time a statesman, a historian, and a philosopher. This, however, does not make it a scholarly treatise; it is rather an essay enriched, like Machiavelli's writings, by a life-long experience and a continuous study of world affairs." Vlastimil Kybal
+ Yale R n s 34:167 autumn '44 900w

SHACKELFORD, MRS JANE DABNEY. My happy days; photographs by Cecil Vinson. 121p $2.15 Associated pubs.

325.26 Negroes—Social life and customs—Juvenile literature. Photographic books 44-51373

In photographs and simple text the book describes the daily life of a little Negro boy in a middle class Northern home. Among his activities represented are: school days; vacation times; fun at home; a trip to the doctor; trips with mother; etc.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p7 D 31 '44 270w

"Among the books making for the demolition of the walls of prejudice between Negroes and whites, this is one of the most effective that have come to my attention—and it does not say a word about the subject. Neither the word

SHACKELFORD, J. D.—Continued
'prejudice' nor any synonym for it occurs in the book, and the word 'Negro' is used only once. . . The book was doubtless prepared primarily for Negro children, to encourage them in the formation of such habits, attitudes and interests as those here described and made attractive by the manner of their presentation. It should be very effective for this purpose if enough of them could read it, and if they could have a similar background of material comfort, economic security, intelligent family, and wholesome community life. But more white adults than Negro children will read this review, and it is to these that I am recommending the book. It says something to them, with an eloquence and a persuasiveness that cannot be controverted." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 62:16 Ja 3 '45 750w
Commonweal 41:257 D 22 '44 60w

SHAND, SAMUEL JAMES. Eruptive rocks; their genesis, composition and classification, with a chapter on meteorites. 2d ed rev & enl 444p il $5 Wiley [25s Murby]

552.1 Rocks, Igneous 44-1406

Second edition of a book on petrology which first appeared in 1927. "Several of the chapters have been completely rewritten, with new references added. The chapter on Eruptive ore deposits has been dropped from this revision because of the author's decision that the subject cannot be adequately treated in one chapter." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"At last we have a book on rocks which the chemist can read with satisfaction. . . This review would not be complete without mention of the genial sense of humor which keeps breaking through the author's rock descriptions and petrologic hypotheses." R. B. Sosman
+ Am Chem Soc J 66:1803 O '44 650w

"In his advocacy of one theory of the alkaline rocks to the exclusion of others the author has merely fallen into an error to which all flesh is heir, and he should not be accused of an undue general tendency in that direction, especially by this reviewer. His treatment of his subject as a whole is well balanced. The petrologist will find the book useful, thought-provoking, and eminently readable." N. L. B.
+ — J Geol 52:431 N '44 1850w

"Probably the best elementary treatment in print of the eruptive rocks. Well written." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 10w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:68 O '43

SHANE, SUSANNAH. Baby in the ash can. 201p $2 Dodd
44-1298

Detective story.

"There is a nicely handled love interest that's never allowed to impede the action of the story. It's all highly entertaining." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p8 Ja 23 '44 110w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 Ja 23 '44 100w

"A good deal of wild-goose chasing between New York and New Jersey, which may seem very funny to readers who don't care about logic."
New Yorker 19:80 Ja 29 '44 60w

"Not too good."
Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ja 22 '44 40w

"The scene of the main action of the story is quite unnecessarily unsavory, it seems to this reviewer, but the suspense is terrific, which is all that most readers of mysteries demand. Not in the great tradition, this, but it serves." E. M. B.
+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 30 '44 110w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p12 F 6 '44 150w

SHANE, TED. Heroes of the Pacific. 373p $3 Messner

940.542 World war, 1939—Pacific ocean 44-3610

Collection of true stories about the courage, loyalty, and humor of the American fighting men in the present war in the Pacific. Contents: Pearl Harbor; The last fifteen days of Wake island; The Philippines; No front: Burma to the Coral sea; Midway; The Solomons; The road to Tokyo. Index.

"Either Shane's imagination or that of participants in the various actions has supplied a lot of conversation that might not stand up under exhaustive research, but the device is effective in giving the flavor of the battles. I have no quarrel with the emphasis on heroes; in the midst of war the hero is the rule rather than the exception. The book is written with sincerity and straightforwardness when it would have been easy to overwrite such material. It is to Shane's credit that he yields only rarely to this temptation." W. F. Morse
+ — Book Week p4 Ap 30 '44 360w
Booklist 40:315 My 15 '44

"Good overall collection."
+ Kirkus 12:39 Ja 15 '44 90w
Wis Lib Bul 40:109 Jl '44

SHANLEY, FRANCIS R. Basic structures. 392p il $4.50 Wiley

624.17 Structures, Theory of. Strains and stresses 44-6291

"This text, dealing with the basic principles of structural engineering, is written by the Chief Structures Engineer of Lockheed Aircraft Corporation. The material is presented with special reference to aeronautics and covers such subjects as forces and moments, force transmission, truss analysis, shear webs, torsion, combined shear and torsion, combined stress, etc. Problems and answers are given for each chapter. An appendix includes tables and diagrams relating to the properties of materials under various conditions of stress and strain." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:50 Jl '44

SHANN, MRS RENEE. Airman's wife. 202p $2 Random house
44-8915

This much tangled love story involves two English flyers, a beautiful but soulless actress, and a young English girl, first serving as a V.A.D. and then as a Wren.

"The absurdly complicated love story, one of those he loves-me-because-he-says-he doesn't love-me-because-he-loves-me affairs, has basically a rather nasty moral situation treated with a sickening overlay of schoolgirl priggishness." Sylvia Crosby
— Book Week p2 O 22 '44 200w
Kirkus 12:457 O 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p20 O 22 '44 60w

SHAPIRO, IRWIN. Casey Jones and locomotive no. 638; pictures by Donald McKay. [53p] $1.50 Messner
44-3476

Humorous story, based on the old ballad about Casey Jones. But in this story Casey does not get killed; he drives locomotive 638 from Chicago to San Francisco, in spite of the superintendent of the line, who thought baseball and railroading didn't mix. For grades six and seven.

Booklist 40:307 My 1 '44

"I liked this perhaps the best of these original American folk tales which Irwin Shapiro has been adding to the shelves of legends in the building. He has a subtle undercurrent of humor which children get readily; he spins a yarn with the best of them."

+ Kirkus 12:96 F 15 '44 110w

"Robust humor of the story is most ably enhanced by the illustrations by Donald McKay. Boys from fifth grade and up will enjoy reading it, but its fifty pages, almost half of which are pictures, will be a disappointment to those who want a book to last at least two hours. Recommended, but not indispensable." A. M. Anderson

+ — Library J 69:654 Ag '44 60w

"Whether Mr. Shapiro is justified, so early in a legend's history, in taking such liberties with it, remains to be seen. The breath scarcely out of the body of Casey's creator, here we are, getting all mixed up in what Casey really did. The pictures are the liveliest Mr. McKay has done for these heroic gayeties. You can fairly hear the baseball fans, for instance, bawling out the umpire on the field." M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 9 '44 250w

Wis Lib Bul 40:113 Jl '44

SHAPIRO, IRWIN. Yankee thunder; the legendary life of Davy Crockett; pictures by James Daugherty. 205p $2.50 Messner

Crockett, David—Juvenile literature

44-4323

Rollicking chronicle of the American hero of legend and tall tales, Davy Crockett. The tale follows Davy from adventure to adventure from Tennessee to the White House and then the South Seas, and includes the story of his marriage to Sally Ann. For older boys and girls.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p10 My 28 '44 220w

Booklist 40:344 Je 1 '44

"A robust and humorous collection of tall tales. . . No pictures could be more completely in the fun-making spirit than those of James Daugherty, with their hint of Daniel Boone's vigor and strength, as well as of Davy Crockett's boisterous thunder." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 20:206 My '44 80w

"Legend, folk lore, history and story are blended in a biography of his youth, a book of charm and originality, with descriptive passages that have a lyrical quality."

+ Kirkus 12:96 F 15 '44 120w

"Another of the tall tales of our country, vigorously and humorously presented, and complemented with dynamic, robust pictures by James Daugherty." E. M. Gordon

+ Library J 69:506 Je 1 '44 80w

"This skillful selection and blending of the Crockett whoppers into a connected narrative, robustly illustrated by that master delineator of the frontier, James Daugherty, should not and could not replace Constance Rourke's fine 'Davy Crockett.' Rather it will very likely pave the way among younger readers for that biography. And to adults, too, it will bring a fresh evocation of our roistering backwoods hero." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p7 Ap 16 '44 460w

"The writing leans rather too heavily on hearty exaggeration and lacks that special dry wit needed for the retelling of tall stories. However, the book is well made and well illustrated, and until another comes along to do greater justice to this particular frontier saga, it is one to add to any juvenile library."

+ — New Yorker 20:59 Jl 8 '44 110w

"Boys and girls will give this book a warm welcome. There is something refreshing about it. It does not pretend to be biography. It asks no comparison with Stephen Vincent Benét's classic stories of Daniel Webster. It is the rhythmic, vigorous, humorous telling of a tall tale illustrated by an artist whose imagination and technique are more than equal to any tall tale that America can produce." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Mr 11 '44 600w

"Mr. Shapiro's 'legendary history' gets away altogether from scholarly detachment. Everybody else who touched the Crockett legend, from Davy on, did something drastic to it: why not he? Be sure you're right, said Crockett, then go ahead, and this rip-roaring record goes ahead like a benevolent cyclone, and in ten pages you know it's right." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 16 '44 480w

Wis Lib Bul 40:113 Jl '44

SHAPIRO, KARL JAY. V-letter, and other poems. 63p $2 Reynal

811 44-6977

"In his introduction Mr. Shapiro says: 'Since the war began I have tried to be on guard against becoming a "war poet.". . . There is no need to discuss the private psychological tragedy of a soldier. It is not the commonplace of suffering or the platitudinous comparison with the peace, or the focus on the future that should occupy us; but the spiritual progress or retrogression of the man in war, the increase or decrease in his knowledge of beauty, government and religion.' In keeping with these intentions, these poems disclose a poet who is both soldier and person." N Y Times

"Because he knows what the future is like and has faith that people will make it, Karl Shapiro is important for us today. In uniform or out, he speaks for and to the huge American middle class. What he says in 'V-Letter' can help people grow to better stature and I fervently hope that the news of it gets around." Leo Kennedy

+ Book Week p4 S 10 '44 550w

Canadian Forum 24:213 D '44 350w

"Shapiro is not writing war poems, but poetry while at war. He has definitely, not lost his grave and rather noble humanist traditions in the heat of battle. He is still thinking of Thomas Jefferson and Keats, as well as the fighting in New Guinea. The combination is new and good. The vividness of his experience, the strangeness, deepens his humanism, broadens his horizons, attenuates his occasional sentimentality, and gives pith to his cynicism. Except for occasional vulgarisms, this poetry while definitely not great, is sincere, capable, warm and manly."

+ — Kirkus 12:291 Jl 1 '44 190w

"In the case of Karl Shapiro it seems impossible not to invoke the war. By what drama of adjustment has he continued writing? The question would be irrelevant, I admit, if his adjustment had resulted in a book which was continuous in thought and quality with his earlier one [Person, Place and Thing, Book Review Digest, 1942]. But although 'V-Letter' is a remarkable performance, it is still in many ways weaker than the former book—anxious and uneven where the other one was strong and consistent." F. W. Dupee

+ — Nation 159:327 S 16 '44 1250w

"Shapiro thinks with his feelings, thinks with his imagination, and the result is a curious and delightful poetic analysis or criticism, of the given theme. Nothing could be subtler than his symbolic dissection and synthesis of D. H. Lawrence. Into a short poem, he can pack a whole ethnological and sociological treatise on the island predicament of the Australians. And 'The Twins' is a little piece of pure psychological magic. One metrical fault one finds here and there—a tendency to fall into a loose and slightly rackety anapaestic or dactylic movement, which tumbles a little too much. A small enough complaint: for this book is no promise, it is an achievement." Conrad Aiken

+ New Repub 111:528 O 23 '44 850w

"It is often supposed that individuality must be achieved by looking into one's own heart. Mr. Shapiro has begun more promisingly by noticing the outsides of things. He has the knack of catching up into his mind many kinds of phenomena. Crisply he puts down his notations side by side. Yet what results is no clutter, but material growing into form—form that is the shape of an idea." F. C. Flint

+ N Y Times p4 S 3 '44 360w

"Mr. Shapiro's second book, written while he was on active duty in New Guinea the past two years, brilliantly reaffirms his talent. His variety of subject and sharpness of perception,

SHAPIRO, K. J.—Continued
remarkable under any circumstances, are particularly remarkable viewed against the background of war, which is their setting but never their obsession. The author, who is much more than a 'war poet,' expresses the most complex reaction to the facts of war yet heard from his generation."
+ New Yorker 20:79 S 30 '44 90w

Reviewed by Vivienne Koch
Weekly Book Review p14 O 29 '44 400w

"There is little danger that Shapiro will succumb to the stock attitudes and pompous platitudes. He is not a poet brought to fulfilment by war, in the sense that such poets as Siegfried Sassoon, Wilfred Owen, and Isaac Rosenberg were created, and killed, by a war. But his poems are the best which (so far, at least) this war has produced." Louis Untermeyer
+ Yale R n s 34:341 winter '45 550w

SHAPLEY, HARLOW. Galaxies. (Harvard bks. on astronomy) 229p il $2.50 Blakiston

523.85 Stars 43-18174

Study of the most recent conclusions of science on the subject of galaxies. Technical terminology is used, but the book is not too difficult for the layman. "The discussion of galaxies which appears in the present volume had its beginning in the preparation of a series of lectures delivered in 1935 under the auspices of the Norman Wait Harris Foundation in Northwestern University." (Editor's note)

Booklist 40:230 Mr 1 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:4 Ja '44

"As is always the case with any words from Dr. Shapley's pen, we have a volume as crystal clear as the bright stars of which he writes. If any reader feels at all lost in the infinities of space, he will be brought back to cosmic reality by the author's orderly conclusions and deductions." A. H. Compton & others
+ Scientific Bk Club R 14:1 D '43 1450w

SHARKEY, DON. White smoke over the Vatican. 172p $2 Bruce pub.

945.6 Vatican. Pius XII (Eugenio Pacelli) pope. Church and state in Italy 44-3279

"This study is presented as a series of essays, simply and briefly delineated, on the administrative and judicial functions of the Vatican, its domestic routine and its social and diplomatic relations with the outside world. . . Subjects treated include a biographical and personality portrait of the present Pope, Pius XII, the ritual of Papal election and coronation, the origin and development of the Vatican State and its diplomatic relations with the United States, the Vatican library and the valuable artistic, traditional and cultural possessions that the centuries have contributed." Book Week

Am Hist R 49:791 Jl '44 20w

"There is much material of a surprising nature for the average person that will provide valuable and informative background for interpreting the highly involved Italian theater of operations; especially since the Vatican faces imminent destruction in the path of total warfare." Albert Durant
Book Week p6 Ap 2 '44 360w

"This book—a sort of glorified guidebook and a very satisfying one at that—is as easy to read as it is informing."
+ Cath World 159:189 My '44 80w

Reviewed by M. E. Clark
Library J 69:262 Mr 15 '44 70w

SHARMAN, HENRY BURTON. Son of man; and, Kingdom of God; a critical study. 2bks in 1 145p $2.50 Harper

232.9 Jesus Christ—Person and offices. Kingdom of God 43-13346

"This work is, in a measure, a supplement to the author's The Teaching of Jesus about the Future published in 1909. In that work omission was made of the 'reputed teaching of Jesus about his rejection, sufferings, death, resurrection, and appearances after the resurrection.' Consideration is now given to the passages which deal with these matters. In Dr. Sharman's earlier work the interesting and scholarly Synoptic theory of Dr. Ernest DeWitt Burton, with its several documents, was followed. In this study the author simplifies his procedure by a division of the material into a Marcan source and a non-Marcan source. The two foci of the investigation are the elusive phrase 'son of man' and the almost equally elusive one 'kingdom of God.' . . The writer examines the relevant passages, compares the parallels, and traces the modifications of what he considers to be the original, or approximately original, tradition through the literary sources. In many of these separate studies Dr. Sharman reaches conclusions as to literary modification under theological influence which will commend themselves to most, if not to all, of his readers." Crozer Q

"The playing of source against source is too limited a technique, and not nearly as objective as it seems. One gets suspicious as in section after section the author finds one reason or another to dispose of the term 'Son of Man' entirely and to exclude a futuristic connotation of the Kingdom. Even important textual doubts are not always mentioned. The author himself aims to be scrupulously honest and objective. He will be welcomed as an ally with a new and subtle weapon by those who, for conscious or unconscious reasons, wish to escape the apocalyptic reading of the primitive message of Jesus." H. J. Cadbury
Christian Century 60:1402 D 1 '43 600w

"The patience and care of the author are admirable. It is perhaps the caution which he feels is proper in a study of these phrases which prompts him to what seems to be, at times, a too careful statement of conclusions which merit a bolder pronouncement. On occasion the conclusion is presented in the form of a rhetorical question. . . Grateful as New Testament scholars will be to Dr. Sharman for his careful study, it remains a matter of doubt as to how far his conclusions will help to a clearer understanding of these difficult matters. It is possible that a fuller use of some elements in form history might have helped the investigation." E. W. Parsons
+ — Crozer Q 21:182 Ap '44 450w

SHARP, HOWARD OAKLEY, and others. Airport engineering. 150p il $5 Wiley

629.136 Airports 44-9421

Discusses the major problems of airport construction, such as: size and site; planning the site; surveys preliminary to design; grading; drainage; soil stabilization; types of pavement; lighting; buildings; and construction and maintenance equipment. Index.

Booklist 41:148 Ja 15 '45

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 30w

"Intended for engineering students but many others interested in the future of aviation will find most helpful this up-to-date book, with its information on construction materials, designs of buildings, pavements, etc., and other pertinent details, all of which are fully illustrated with photographs and diagrams." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 14 '45 150w

SHARP, MARGERY. Cluny Brown. 270p $2.50 Little [8s 6d Collins]

44-7101

Cluny (short for Clover) Brown was a plumber's niece given to exploring by-paths beyond her own station in life. Her poor uncle, nonplussed by Cluny's behavior, shipped her off to Devonshire to service as parlormaid in a great house. There Cluny's behavior was unconventional tho not too startling until the end when she eloped with one of the guests, a very important Polish literary light.

Reviewed by Frances Woodward
Atlantic 174:135 N '44 360w

Reviewed by Edith Roberts
Book Week p5 S 3 '44 250w

Booklist 41:23 S '44

"The tale is a romp like its heroine. It's funny, affectionate, and as in all good fairy stories, truth lies just below its incredibility. For that best domestic service, laughter, this agency recommends 'Cluny Brown.' " Dorothy Hillyer
+ Boston Globe p15 Ag 30 '44 330w

"Young Cluny is our favorite heroine of the season. Margery Sharp has created a worthy—and quite different—successor to Julia of 'The Nutmeg Tree.' "
+ Boston Globe p31 N 29 '44 100w

"Besides being surprising and completely charming, the story is thought-provoking. Who, after all, can say whether or not a parlor maid may own a dog or 'look spruce' in a red snood in off hours? With not a rebellious bone in her body, Cluny just unconsciously ignores the social 'do's' and 'don'ts' and lets things take their course. And what a course they take!"
+ Cath World 160:91 O '44 200w

"Top drawer hammock reading."
+ Kirkus 12:283 Jl 1 '44 260w

"While I found Cluny Brown somewhat incredible, Miss Sharp's unfailing vivacity and ingenuity of invention give an unflagging impetus to her preposterous fairy tale." Wilfrid Gibson
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Je 9 '44 50w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 159:443 O 14 '44 70w

"Miss Sharp's characters are always amusing and whimsically drawn, but Cluny is probably the most startling of them all. Whereever Cluny appears life takes on an Alice-in-Wonderland quality, people and things behave in the strangest fashion, and through it all Cluny moves unselfconsciously, unaware of the disorderly fairy tale she is making of life." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p3 Ag 27 '44 600w

"There is circumstantial evidence that the author has read Evelyn Waugh, but the story has enough modest merits of its own, chiefly the fetching heroine after whom it is named, to make it worth the while of anyone not asking for more than entertainment."
+ New Yorker 20:67 S 2 '44 90w

"Margery Sharp's particular talents—a lighthearted but shrewd insight, a demure irreverence, an infallible sense of theatre—make this a thoroughly enjoyable book. Its profundity is by implication, mirth sweetens its mockery. Cluny herself, though at times improbable, takes her place beside Julia of 'The Nutmeg Tree' as one of Miss Sharp's most engaging ladies." S. H. Hay
+ Sat R of Lit 27:8 Ag 26 '44 750w

"Miss Sharp's admirers will know exactly what they are getting, and will probably find it very suitable bed-time reading for these nights in which some part of our attention must inevitably be reserved for noises off, in the sky." Kate O'Brien
+ Spec 173:20 Jl 7 '44 80w

"Most of us will read 'Cluny Brown' with undimmed pleasure and remember this long-legged colt of a girl with joy. Perhaps someone may be dour enough to figure out that the little yarn is rife with social significance. Such a reader deserves the utter confusion which will follow, for he, like Cluny, does not know either his 'place' or Cluny's. It is a place in the sun with a brisk wind full of salt blowing over a meadow, to enjoy and savor for a delightful hour." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d S 3 '44 390w

"Miss Sharp is pleasantly and unaffectedly entertaining. Cluny, though not very substantial, is brightly conceived, and indeed she sheds a little sunshine wherever she goes. But Miss Sharp is here working on skimpier material than is, so to speak, good for her."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p297 Je 17 '44 360w

" 'Cluny Brown' is as exhilarating as a long, refreshing drink spiked with the spirit that cheers. With the raffish gayety that is her own special gift, Miss Sharp has produced a character who is blood sister to all the lovable women who achieve distinction by the guilelessness with which they pursue their self-appointed course. . . Miss Sharp's characterization of Cluny is as joyous a bit of portraiture as has ever graced a smiling page. She is equally delightful in portraying the people among whom Cluny moves in her awkward, long-limbed gait." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ag 27 '44 600w

Reviewed by Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 34:190 autumn '44 180w

SHATTUCK, RICHARD. Said the spider to the fly. 213p $2 Simon & Schuster 44-4726

Farcical mystery story.

"Shattuck's highly humorous, easygoing and trenchant style is as entertaining as his plot. Sex as a subject of conversation is handled with a frank extroversion that will make you grin in spite of yourself. This is one of the best mysteries in the plentiful spring crop." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p8 My 28 '44 180w

"Engaging foolery."
+ Kirkus 12:203 My 1 '44 70w

"The hero is a lamb, the relatives are divertingly eccentric and the complications are amusing. Recommended for the silly season."
+ New Repub 110:690 My 15 '44 70w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 My 21 '44 100w

Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 30 '44 110w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p18 My 14 '44 70w

SHAW, ALBERT. International bearings of American policy. 492p $3.50 Johns Hopkins press [21s 6d Oxford]

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. World politics 43-17161

"Dr. Shaw founded the American Review of Reviews and edited it from 1891 to 1937, and after that for a time he edited the magazine which was formed by its merger with the Literary Digest. The chapters of the present volume are studies of various topics relating to international affairs within the period of his editorial activity. Most of them deal with the First World War, the Versailles Treaty, the League of Nations and allied themes. Others are on such subjects as the independence of Cuba, the acquisition of Hawaii and the Philippines, and our relations with Mexico and Canada." Christian Century

"In tone and manner the book is marked by the same qualities long familiar to readers of the Review of Reviews. Despite frequent disclaimers of any intention to pontificate, it has an air of near omniscience which will irritate or amuse the reader. There is also a marked propensity to make it appear that whatever course the United States took was the one which ought to have been pursued." F. M. Anderson
— Am Hist R 49:744 Jl '44 480w

"A book that is unusually helpful and stimulating." W. S. Myers
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:557 Je '44 750w

"A veteran of many controversies, Dr. Shaw still speaks with a clear voice and sounds his own note, not contentiously but, as he says, from a 'frankly personal' point of view."
+ Christian Century 61:178 F 9 '44 230w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:660 Jl '44 60w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p23 S 24 '44 450w

Social Studies 35:94 F '44 50w

"All in all, this is a disappointing book. Dr. Shaw has relied a good deal on memory, and remarkable as his memory is, it is not infallible. But more serious is a natural but crippling inability to note the way the world has moved. Again and again, Dr. Shaw makes the impression of being an enlightened Republican publicist of around 1910 or, at latest, 1920, friendly, internationally minded, but not, from the outside point of view, critical or objective."

SHAW, ALBERT—Continued
— + Times [London] Lit Sup p266 Je 3 '44 550w

SHAW, GEORGE BERNARD. Everybody's political what's what. 380w $3 Dodd [10s Constable]

320 Political science. Great Britain—Politics and government 44-9380

"An attempt by 'a very ignorant old man to communicate to people still more ignorant than himself such elementary social statics as he has managed to pick up by study and by collision with living persons and hard facts in the course of a life (long as lives go but too short for this particular job) spent largely in discovering and correcting the mistakes into which his social antecedents and surroundings led him.' Shavian essays but in a mellower mood." Library J

Reviewed by Oscar Handlin
Atlantic 174:137 D '44 600w

Reviewed by Wendell Johnson
Book Week p28 N 12 '44 550w

Booklist 41:85 N 15 '44

Boston Globe p30 N 29 '44 100w

"His book is good reading, but it is not distilled of the pure essence of wisdom. In many important aspects, it is irresponsible. But it is entertaining in the highest degree, it is vigorous throughout, it reveals an amiable and kindly nature, and its wit glitters unceasingly." Harold Hobson
+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 N 4 '44 750w

Reviewed by G. N. Shuster
Commonweal 41:177 D 1 '44 420w

"Good for small libraries not having a complete Shaw. Naturally, every other library will buy it." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 69:812 O 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by Jaques Barzun
Nation 159:521 O 28 '44 1600w

Reviewed by James Stern
New Repub 111:666 N 20 '44 1000w

Reviewed by Leonard Woolf
New Statesman & Nation 28:188 S 16 '44 850w

Reviewed by C. E. Merriam
N Y Times p3 O 29 '44 1200w

"Bernard Shaw is eighty-eight and his powers show signs of failing. There is nothing in this new book like the clear line of thought that made the 'Guide' a great piece of exposition, and nothing so eloquent as its magnificent peroration on the evils of capitalism. The 'What's What?' is not, in fact, an expository work at all in the same sense that the earlier book was. It is a treatise on a classical model that was popular in the Renaissance, when Castiglione wrote his 'Courtier' and Machiavelli his 'Prince.' Shaw might have called his book 'The Statesman,' because its subject is the education of the ideal statesman of the future. . . But even where Shaw's thinking fails somewhat in coherence, there is a kind of general wisdom that soaks through the cracks of his argument." Edmund Wilson
+ — New Yorker 20:72 O 28 '44 2000w

"'Everybody's Political What's What?' is not one of the strongest, though it is one of the most positive, of Shaw's prefaces. So what will probably be Shaw's last work is a preface, with no play to follow it. In this fact some will find a symbol of Bernard Shaw as teacher." E. R. Bentley
Sat R of Lit 27:9 O 28 '44 1550w

"As one who has read, for his own sake, every line that Mr. Shaw has ever written, including The Commonsense of Municipal Trading (I am not in favour of municipal trading) and The Quintessence of Wagnerism (I am profoundly anti-Wagnerian), I solemnly testify that this book is unreadable. I have worked through it because I have been paid to do so. It is a good thing that some should be so paid. But I am willing to bet a handsome sum that many of them will shirk their work. . . The book is entitled Everybody's Political What's What? It is not meant for everybody. Nor are any of the best bits about politics, even in the widest sense; and it gives much inaccurate information about What's What. Its real interest is in the autobiographical details which are embedded deep in the intricacies of its 364 pages. They are interesting because they are the first-hand observations of a highly intelligent man. The political observations are blurred recollections of what someone else once told him, unchecked by any personal investigation or practice, save for that brief period, about the time of the Crimean War, when Mr. Shaw was a member of a London local government body." Walter Elliot
Spec 173:268 S 22 '44 1000w

Reviewed by B. C. Sweet
Springf'd Republican p4d D 17 '44 390w

Reviewed by J. M. Brown
Theatre Arts 29:62 Ja '45 650w

"It must be twenty years since Mr. Shaw told us he was past his best: yet in his second childhood, as he calls it, his developing mind stores riches to surprise, amuse, irritate, persuade us to his and confirm us in our own convictions. In the annals of literature there is nothing quite comparable with this linked rejuvenation long drawn out; nor in English prose anything to challenge for superiority the clarity, the constantly animated and animating style save Swift's. It has the kind of dancing madness that shone in the eyes of Allan Breck: while you admire it, you also are often discomforted by this unaging instrument of effective, complex and distinctive thought."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p450 S 16 '44 2400w

"The text by itself . . . is clear, brisk, and orderly, though unspiced. But if repetition is a sign of dotage, one can see why Shaw in reading over his proofs might feel he had ended one lifespan and was beginning another. . . Today, the 400 packed pages of the 'Political What's What' bring together in a new simplified, and up-to-date form the entire Shavian system, the word and thought of half a century not only of criticism but of what amounts to constitution making. We find again the familiar conclusions and sometimes the familiar instances; the familiar predilections and prejudices; and yet it is all fresh and for the most part still unassimilated by our century." Jacques Barzun
+ Weekly Book Review p6 N 5 '44 1550w

SHAW, IRWIN. Sons and soldiers. 154p $2 Random house

812 44-4077

"This play starts with a scene in 1915 and then projects into the future as a woman dreams the life of her unborn son, every now and then returning to 1915." Weekly Book Review

Kirkus 12:166 Ap 1 '44 40w

"Hampered by a poor production this was a 1943 Broadway failure. For the reading public, however, it is recommended."
+ Library J 69:461 My 15 '44 40w

Dramatic criticism by Stark Young
— New Repub 108:669 My 17 '43 850w

Reviewed by Ruth Page
N Y Times p21 My 28 '44 550w

"The method may do in a novel, but it is too confusing on the stage, and is further lacking in illusion." W. P. Eaton
Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 30 '44 70w

SHEA, JOHN GERALD, and WENGER, PAUL NOLT. Woodworking for everybody. 192p il $2 Int. textbook

684 Woodwork

"An elementary outline of woodworking tools and methods, written for both vocational school student and layman. All types of hand woodworking tools are described together with an explanation of their use in woodworking processes. There are brief chapters on the making of lumber, joinery, woodworking machines, care of tools, and safety measures. Numerous explanatory diagrams supplement the textual material." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 69:815 O 1 '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:50 Jl '44

SHEA, MRS MARGARET MARY. Gals they left behind; il. by Bek Files. 116p $2 Washburn
44-6987

In the form of letters from the wives of two servicemen to their husbands overseas is told the story of a year's struggle on a Maine farm. The girls manage fairly well until three children are wished on them for the duration, the temperature drops to forty below, and all the animals have to be brought into the house. Even those hazards are overcome, and in due time spring arrives and a new determination to stick it out.

Book Week p8 Jl 30 '44 90w

"Slight, but pert."
Kirkus 12:291 Jl 1 '44 130w

"An amiable, good humored sort of book. Nothing much happens, but it's fun to read, just as Bek Files' illustrations aren't quite professional, but are pleasant to look at. Possibly Miss Shea plays her material for a little bit more than it's worth when, at the end of the year, she has Taffy and Jo talking in a high-minded way about Character and the virtue of Sticking Things Out. After all they didn't have to live in Maine. They could have taken defense jobs or joined the Wac. But then there would have been no book, which would be a pity." Jane Cobb
+ — N Y Times p14 S 3 '44 320w

Reviewed by Katharine Simonds
Sat R of Lit 27:21 N 4 '44 470w

"First-rate entertainment." H. J. Sloan
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 20 '44 330w

"In spite of their troubles, it is a merry story, and a heartening one." Lorine Pruette
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 20 '44 550w

SHEARING, JOSEPH, pseud. See Long, G. M. V. C.

SHEDD, MARGARET COCHRAN (MRS OLIVER MICHAEL KISICH). Inherit the earth. 354p $2.50 Harper
44-8684

Novel based on the activities of the Falangists in a Central American country, and the struggles of the peons against them. Involved in the situation is an American woman, her two small children, and the man she loves, an American recently blinded. The climax comes during a native fiesta.

"The author writes wonderfully well. She has contrived here a neat plot. . . The story also has the attributes of suspense, violence and exotic setting to make it good reading. But compared with books of last year and other years, this one has nothing new to contribute to the evidence against opportunism and misplaced power. Miss Shedd tells us again that we'll get the earth some day, but she doesn't say how." George Wiswell
— + Book Week p11 O 22 '44 400w
Booklist 41:90 N 15 '44

"Characterization and action are muted, inner and outer existence, emotion, belief are finely etched, interwoven and interlocked, making a focus of a background of the evils of pressure propaganda, the fight of the little people to achieve their freedom from domination. . . As a literary achievement—rather than a novel of action—this is as holding, as skillful as its predecessor."
Kirkus 12:379 S 1 '44 190w

"The characterizations of the small boy and girl are among the best in the book, even though the feats of the boy, a 10-year-old, do at times border on the miraculous. Excellent, too, is her handling of background. In other respects, the book leaves something to be desired. Its faults, paradoxically enough, seem to stem from the intensity of the author's hatred of injustice and oppression." Jennings Rice
+ — N Y Times p12 N 5 '44 400w
Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 130w

"Miss Shedd writes beautifully, if a shade preciously. Rarely is such sensibility and creative fecundity coupled with such neatness in observing and presenting the realistic detail. One feels that every person, every incident in the story has been known first hand or shrewdly observed or heard-tell-of by the author. Scene after scene is a little masterpiece of compression and vividness. One fault of the book, in fact, is the overneat pattern that brings into it such a vast variety of singularly pat material. The other fault—and a much more vital one—is the passionate bias that Miss Shedd displays. All of the members of the Rotos, save for one renegade, are men of entire good will, Christ-like in their love and restraint." F. H. Bullock
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 O 15 '44 950w

SHELLEY, MARY WOLLSTONECRAFT (GODWIN) (MRS PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY). Letters; ed. by Frederick L. Jones. 2v 411;410p il $12 Univ. of Okla. press
B or 92 44-9875

"Mary's position as the wife of Percy Bysshe Shelley justifies the collection and publication of these 700 letters. Half of them, most of these written after Shelley's death, have not been published before; they show Mary's association with Shelley's friends and her own career as a writer. Careful editing indicates source of letters, date, present owners, and other pertinent bibliographical information. Known letters still unavailable for publication are also listed." Booklist

"Shelley's wife was not highly talented as a letter writer. Only rarely do her letters have great interest in themselves. But for the student of Byron, Leigh Hunt, Lamb, Peacock and Shelley himself there is rich material here—and the incredibly exacting labors of the editor have been performed at once brilliantly and thoroughly." J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 D 24 '44 270w
Booklist 41:123 D 15 '44

"A large part of the correspondence has been known to scholars for many years, having been privately printed by Jane, Lady Shelley, and used by Dowden in his biography of the poet, by Mrs. Julian Marshall in her biography of Mrs. Shelley, and by various later workers in the field. Other letters have been published here or there. But never hitherto has there been a collected edition, and consequently the present volumes are very welcome. They are welcome not so much for their own merits as for their importance as documents in the history of Shelley's career and after-fame. Mrs. Shelley (as Professor Jones candidly admits) was not a good letter writer—certainly not to be numbered among the great letter writers in English literature. She was wordy and prosy, and seems often to have written in great haste and with no concern for the witty turn of phrase or the illuminating glimpse into the intimacies of private life which are characteristics of the best representatives of this kind of writing. . . But no injustice is done to her reputation by printing the letters; in fact, they are altogether creditable and serve to elevate one's estimate of her character." S. C. C.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 N 9 '44 650w

"Prepared to meet a heroine of high romance, one opens the letters written during Shelley's lifetime. Doubtfully literate, garrulous, gossipy, they reveal a dependent, over-emotional, shallow girl . . . pathetically unsuited to the role in which the accidents of birth and marriage cast her and bewildered by attending the swift course of a scarcely earthly genius through lofty ideas and strange places. Her echoes of her husband's opinions are grotesque. . . Although these letters add nothing positive to our understanding of Shelley, their negative significance is considerable. For they help to explain the despair of his final years. . . Mr. Jones has taken infinite pains in the exact reproduction and the annotation of their text, lavishing scholarly apparatus appropriate to Milton or Dante upon a mountain of chaff, when thoroughness and acumen might have been employed more profitably in extracting the scanty grain and discarding the rest." Emery Neff

SHELLEY, M. W.—Continued
N Y Times p4 Ja 14 '45 1050w

"Biographies of Shelley's second wife are numerous; this is the first attempt to bring her letters together, and the result may be regarded as another biography, perhaps the most animated and revealing of them all. Mary Shelley did not as a rule write letters except on immediate and private business, so that the general effect of the 700 now appearing is too limited to give her the epistolary rank of Fitzgerald or Gray or some of her own circle. But with the annotations of Professor Jones and occasional reference to the life by Miss Glynn Grylls (1938) they make up a chronicle of Mary's life with Shelley from the trying times of 1814 to the terrible surprise of July, 1822, and thence of her frequently dramatic if not dramatized existence through the alteration of daily life, of friendships and of problems and means until her death in 1851."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p8 Ja 6 '45 650w

"Well edited and sumptuously produced collection." G. F. Whicher
Weekly Book Review p2 D 31 '44 750w

SHENTON, EDWARD. Alphabet of the army; il. by [the author]. 64p $2 Macrae Smith co.
355 U.S.—Army 43-17400

Pictures and brief text describing the organization, tactics, and equipment of the United States army. For grades five to eight.

Booklist 40:216 F 15 '44

"Edward Shenton's 'An Alphabet of the Army' rates a place beside his previously published volume on the alphabet of aviation. It was prepared with the co-operation of the Army Bureau of Public Relations and other military advisers, and its reference value and pictorial interest are in appropriate balance." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p6 D 12 '43 120w
Wis Lib Bul 40:113 Jl '44

SHERMAN, HENRY CLAPP, and LANFORD, MRS CAROLINE (SHERMAN). Introduction to foods and nutrition. 292p il $2 Macmillan
641 Food. Nutrition. Diet 43-14660

"In this book we seek: first, to indicate the personal and public importance of the present-day knowledge of nutrition; second, to summarize the needs of normal nutrition in terms of the accepted 'yardstick'; third, to introduce in an adequately descriptive manner the articles and types of food through which our nutritional goals are to be reached; and finally, to make this unified knowledge of foods and nutrition a functional part of household management and of family life and thought." (Pref) Chapter bibliographies, glossary, index.

"This book can be understood by anyone interested in nutrition. It is the simplest of Dr. Sherman's texts on nutrition but maintains the same high standards of his previous books." F. J. Stare
+ Am J Pub Health 34:412 Ap '44 180w

"This book by two well-known and highly regarded scientists would make a good college textbook, a good reference book for either college or high school, and an interesting book for laymen." Frances Kirkpatrick
+ J Home Econ 36:362 Je '44 150w

SHERMAN, RAY WESLEY. Other Mahoney. 343p $2.75 Washburn
44-4739

The theme of this sociological story is the struggles of the American working classes; the time—the last fifty years. Peter Mahoney rises from day laborer to factory owner, and the story of his rise is told in detail. Then the author reverses the pattern and shows a glimpse of the troubles of the factory owners.

Reviewed by John Norcross
Book Week p8 My 14 '44 400w

"The style is at times lame and repetitious, and the narrative suffers from a too close association with the author's life, but in spite of this the novel is moving and sincere." N. E. Monroe
+ — Cath World 159:284 Je '44 150w

"Mr. Sherman's Irish are really only half Irish; he might just as well have selected from a number of other national strains. Whether or not he left out this element for fear of handling it badly, for reasons of tact, it does make his characters incomplete. Despite this drawback, 'The Other Mahoney' can hardly be too strongly commended for making real what the American worker has been up against when depression comes. It also well shows how ambitious workmen in the nineteenth century fought their way up to executive positions, often risking everything in the effort to establish a business of their own. The anxieties of businessmen could hardly be more feelingly depicted. The final effect of this hard-won American success story is to inspire the reader with a determination that at long last real steps be taken to end our deepening cycle of depressions. 'The Other Mahoney' is sociology in human terms."
+ — Commonweal 40:66 My 5 '44 420w
Kirkus 12:123 Mr 15 '44 130w

Reviewed by S. E. Sherman
Library J 69:355 Ap 15 '44 80w
Springf'd Republican p4d My 14 '44 270w

"In his description of the working man at the turn of the century . . . Mr. Sherman has written with sympathetic and lively insight. . . 'The Other Mahoney' is a strong and timely tract, not over-softened by its sub-theme of Dodsworth-weltschmerz. Although the writing is undistinguished, it presents a legitimate point of view fairly and clearly." Margaret Parton
+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 7 '44 450w

SHERMAN, RICHARD. Unready heart. 283p $2.50 Little [8s 6d Faber]
44-3947

A beautiful English girl, Barbara Loomis, had decided to get as much out of life as she could without getting seriously involved. Life held a good deal of pleasure for a girl like Barbara, even in wartime London, and she meant to make the most of it. Then two Americans came into her scheme of things: Paul McCarty, a famous radio commentator, and Earl, a young and impressionable airplane pilot, and Barbara found she had a heart, after all.

Reviewed by Dorothy Sparks
Book Week p7 Ag 6 '44 600w
Booklist 41:23 S '44

"If Sherman wants to write novels that cut deeper than the surface he must concentrate more on details, atmosphere and characterization. On the whole, however, the book is done with finesse and an ease that is charming."
+ — Boston Globe p15 Ag 2 '44 180w

"A neat job—unsentimentalized—amusing—moving."
+ Kirkus 12:123 Mr 15 '44 190w

Reviewed by Thelma Purtell
N Y Times p10 S 24 '44 300w

"A light, amusing, always engaging piece of work, with that expert and fluent quality within chosen limits which is fairly styled readability, and it does convey truthfully and with nice point a good deal of the atmosphere of war-time London, or at least of the London within a mile radius of Piccadilly Circus. For Mr. Sherman, whose temperamental slant seems to be in the direction of things sophisticated, has of necessity to confine his sense of intimacy to war-time occasions in restaurant, pub, night club and the rest."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p233 My 13 '44 550w

"The London broadcasting background is interesting but the plot is tenuous, so Mr. Sherman spins ten words to do the work of one." Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 13 '44 100w

SHERRIFF, ROBERT CEDRIC. Chedworth. 295p $2.75 Macmillan
44-8653

Romance of present-day England. A blinded RAF officer marries a fine young actress and takes her to live on his beautiful old estate in Cornwall. Chedworth proves to be in dire financial straits, but Sir Derek does not feel he can give up any of his obligations to his tenants. Then the great old castle is destroyed in a raid and Chedworth arises from its ashes in a more solvent condition.

Booklist 41:90 N 15 '44
Cath World 160:378 Ja '45 150w
Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 41:180 D 1 '44 550w

"Pleasant, semi-romantic, semi-sentimental story of wartime England, and the old and the new in interplay."
+ Kirkus 12:382 S 1 '44 130w

"Interest sustained without a trace of sex. Recommended." G. W. Hill
+ Library J 69:883 O 15 '44 60w

"Sherriff avoids the hackneyed generalizations about national differences, and is as fair and unimpassioned as we expect the author of 'Journey's End' to be. Few British novelists succeed so well in making their American characters credible to American readers, or in reproducing the American language convincingly and undistortedly." R. A. Cordell
+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 N 4 '44 450w
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 19 '44 60w

"Told with simple sincerity, without stacking the cards of probability." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 O 15 '44 600w

SHERRILL, LEWIS JOSEPH. Rise of Christian education. 349p $2.50 Macmillan
268 Religious education 44-3780

"There has long been need for a competent history of Christian education. This need the present volume admirably meets for the period up to the end of the fourteenth century. A second volume is projected for the modern period. . . The Rise of Christian Education is more than a history; it is a philosophy of Christian education." Christian Century

"The discussion is well documented from original sources, and there is an excellent index." W. C. Bower
+ Christian Century 61:669 My 31 '44 750w

"It is a history of our religion viewed in the light of its teaching functions, and is well worthy of a careful study." W. L. Caswell
+ Churchman 158:17 Je 1 '44 130w

"The Rise of Christian Education is a competent piece of historical writing, solidly grounded upon fact, well documented from original sources, and revealing penetrating insight into the nature of the historical process. It fills a long-felt need in the literature of religious education. From the reviewer's point of view, the author's use of the historical method and his philosophical insights into the data derived therefrom are both educationally and religiously sound and important. It is to be hoped that the second projected volume dealing with Christian education in the Reformation and subsequent periods will presently be forthcoming." W. C. Bower
+ Crozer Q 21:262 Jl '44 600w
Reviewed by T. G. Soares
J Religion 24:282 O '44 500w

"Educators, secular and religious; ministers, theological students and historians will find this book basic for an understanding of the backgrounds of Christian education."
+ Kirkus 12:68 F 1 '44 150w

"Book will be satisfactory for continuous reading only to readers trained in philosophy and theology. For special collections and very large public or university libraries." J. S. Cleavinger
+ Library J 69:159 F 15 '44 80w
Library J 69:646 Ag '44 30w

SHERROD, ROBERT. Tarawa; the story of a battle. 183p $2 Duell
940.542 Tarawa, Battle of, 1943. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-40049

Vivid firsthand account of the battle of the United States marines for Tarawa in November 1943, written by a Time reporter who was in the midst of the battle and does not pull his punches in reporting it. Contains a list of casualties reported thru January 26, 1944.

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p3 Mr 12 '44 550w
Booklist 40:249 Mr 15 '44

"Here is an eyewitness, minute-to-minute account of the capture of Tarawa by our marines—thoroughly authentic and vivid to the point of ghastliness."
Cath World 159:189 My '44 180w
Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '44
Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:659 Jl '44 20w

"If the public will read this—and read Ten Escape from Tojo—and accept these records as vital towards closing the gap between soldiers and civilians, one purpose will have been served. But it is gruesome reading—make no mistake."
Kirkus 12:88 F 15 '44 280w

"This is about as near as you can get in an armchair, to being in the midst of battle. . . Mr. Sherrod tells what the war is really like." Marcus Duffield
+ Nation 158:340 Mr 18 '44 500w
Reviewed by Malcolm Cowley
New Repub 110:383 Mr 20 '44 360w
Discussion by Malcolm Cowley
New Repub 110:412 Mr 27 '44 600w

" 'Tarawa, the Story of a Battle.' is a superlative job of reporting. It was obviously written at white heat, while the sounds of Betio still rang in his ears and the smells of it still hung in his nostrils." Foster Hailey
+ N Y Times p1 Mr 12 '44 1100w

"An altogether exceptional book to have been produced by a war correspondent. Mr. Sherrod makes no pretensions. He has no public personality to exploit. He does not even try to dramatize events; he is not even a 'colorful' writer. . . But all these negatives, in the case of Mr. Sherrod, imply some positive merits. His book has none of the vices of journalism, and it provides perhaps the best first-hand description of action that has yet come out of the war." Edmund Wilson
+ New Yorker 20:88 Mr 25 '44 850w

"Readers will find Tarawa the work of a crack reporter, the most vivid book on the Pacific war since Ira Wolfert's Torpedo 8. Many will find it stomach-turning in its horrifying depiction of battle. That was Author Sherrod's prime objective."
+ Time 43:102 Mr 13 '44 500w

"The present work, dashed off at fever heat by a correspondent who went through some of the toughest of the fighting, who landed with the fifth wave and carried his life in his hands for several days, gives a brilliant but realistic picture of the battle of Tarawa in all its terrible detail—a picture so vivid and moving that it will long remain in the mind and heart of every reader. . . 'Tarawa' is one of the most sincere and striking books the war has produced." Lincoln Colcord
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 19 '44 1550w

SHERROD, ROBERT—Continued

" 'Tarawa' was written at white heat and consequently has a few minor flaws, but these are scarcely worth mentioning. Mr. Sherrod has done what the Marines would have liked to do themselves. One night a censor showed him four different letters saying in effect: 'I wish we could give you the story of this battle without the sugar-coating you see in the newspapers.' Mr. Sherrod's book is the perfect answer to that wish." F. W. Bronson
+ Yale R n s 33:762 summer '44 420w

SHIELDS, MRS KARENA. Three in the jungle; il. by Harold Petersen. 216p $2 Harcourt
44-7487

The three children were Teddy, recently arrived from the United States; Catarina, daughter of an English rubber plantation owner; and Sac Chel, a Maya boy, who knew many of the secrets of his ancestors. The three children, lost in the jungle, were rescued by kindly Mayans and taken to a wonderful ceremony in a long lost temple, where even Sac Chel learned things he had not known.

"With an archæologist's feeling for vanished civilizations, Mrs. Shields tells an exciting story of a region in Central America, all unknown to American children, but known to her." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:380 S '44 100w

"Better than usual story of this type."
+ Kirkus 12:321 Jl 15 '44 110w

"Well-written story with little plot but maximum of atmosphere. Excellent, but for discriminating ten- to twelve-year-olds." Claire Nolte
+ Library J 69:764 S 15 '44 80w

"In her well-written book Mrs. Shields (whose own childhood was spent in Chiapas) has caught the jungle atmosphere and her story, full of jungle lore, is a welcome addition to books about the countries to the south." A. T. E.
+ N Y Times p12 N 12 '44 90w

"Mrs Shields has happily combined unusual background with realistic characterization and thrilling adventure to make an absorbing adventure story." M. L. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d S 3 '44 110w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 O 22 '44 250w

SHIH, KUO-HENG. China enters the machine age; a study of labor in Chinese war industry; supplementary chapter by Ju-K'ang T'ien; ed. and tr. by Hsiao-t'ung Fei and Francis L. K. Hsu [pub. in cooperation with the Secretariat of the Inst. of Pacific relations]. 206p $2.50 Harvard univ. press

331 Labor and laboring classes—China. China—Economic conditions A44-5416

From August 25 to November 10, 1940, a Chinese sociologist, author of this book, lived with the Chinese workers in their dormitories, discussed their problems with them and with the management, and studied the difficulties of changing an essentially agricultural personnel into factory workers. The book is his report of what he observed. Includes many brief case histories, and a chapter on women factory workers. Index.

Reviewed by H. F. MacNair
Ann Am Acad 237:212 Ja '45 700w

"Written in Chinese and translated by Chinese scholars, this book has a certain individual flavor of style which somehow enhances its firsthand, documentary quality. A chapter on Female Workers in a Cotton Mill is especially interesting." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 N 19 '44 170w

Booklist 41:134 Ja 1 '45

Reviewed by M. C. Manley
Library J 69:812 O 1 '44 60w
Nation 159:660 N 25 '44 180w

"Every once in a while, when a research worker sets out to present a technical, professional handling of the subject on which he is working, primarily as a contribution to the literature of his own profession, his work turns out to be of much wider interest. This book is an example. . . One of the most important chapters in this book is that which shows how rural overpopulation, producing such an oversupply of human labor that the work of men is even cheaper than the work of animals, resists the introduction of machines." Owen Lattimore
+ Weekly Book Review p20 N 26 '44 800w

SHILLABER, CHARLES PATTEN. Photomicrography in theory and practice. 773p il $10 Wiley

578.4 Photomicrography 44-6507

"This volume is a combination textbook and reference work on the application of photography to the compound microscope. The material given is basic and deals primarily with the actual problems encountered in this field. While the fundamental principles of microscopy are based on optics and mechanics, these subjects are treated only insofar as they have a practical value to the student of photomicrography. Such special phases as color photography, ultraviolet and infrared radiation, and polarized light are not considered." Chem & Met Eng

"In this volume the author has brought together a wealth of material from various sources dealing with the theory, construction, and characteristics of many types of microscopes in general and photomicrography in particular. . . The typographical make-up of the book is well done and printed on a quality of paper admirably suited to rendering good reproductions of the numerous illustrations used." B. J. Howard
Chem & Eng N 23:76 Ja 10 '45 600w

"All things considered, the subject has been well treated to provide a real contribution as a textbook, reference and guide." R. W. Porter
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:207 S '44 370w

"Probably the most comprehensive treatment published on the subject." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:47 Jl '44

SHIMER, HERVEY WOODBURN, and SHROCK, ROBERT RAKES. Index fossils of North America; a new work based on the complete revision and reillustration of Grabau and Shimer's North American index fossils. 837p il $20 Wiley

562 Paleontology. Invertebrates, Fossil
44-5139

"A comprehensive description of invertebrate fossils which are used to identify and date geologic formations and strata of North America. While this volume resembles the earlier one of Grabau and Shimer (1910) in general purpose and content, the extensive revision and introduction of new material actually make it a new work. The fossils are grouped into nine divisions or phyla, with a further break down by genera and species. There is a general description of each phylum, and in the case of genus and species, strategraphic range and geographic distribution are indicated. The acknowledgments of material which has been contributed by specialists or obtained from other publications provide an extensive bibliography. These are supplemented by a list of the standard reference works used for research in geology and paleontology. The illustrations and diagrams, which serve as a valuable adjunct to the text, occur in most cases after every page of text. Separate indexes to genera and species are provided." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:47 Jl '44

SHINN, EVERETT, il. Christ story. [41p] $1.50 Winston

232.92 Jesus Christ—Childhood—Juvenile literature 43-17529

The text of the King James version of the Bible, describing the birth of Christ, is here used as a basis for a picture book for children.

"I like Shinn's drawings of the gospel story. They are old-fashioned, quaint and even a trifle sentimental. But they have caught the spirit in a gentle and reverent mood." Sterling North

+ Book Week p2 D 19 '43 200w

"Pictures in soft yet glowing color and black and white, make a lovely and inexpensive edition of this ever-beautiful story for all ages. Will not replace the Petersham edition, however." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 69:73 Ja 15 '44 50w

"The drawings are even more restless and confused than those which Mr. Shinn made last year for 'The Night Before Christmas.' Bad drawings and a poorly designed book, hurriedly put together, do little credit to the artist and are unworthy of the Bible story and the festive season." A. T. Eaton

— N Y Times p53 D 5 '43 120w

SHIRLAW, GERALD BERTRAM, and JONES, LAWRENCE EVELYN. You and the peace. 177p $1.75 (6s) Macmillan

940.531 World war, 1939—Peace 44-5568

A discussion of the problems of the peace, written in informal style, by two English military men. The book was planned and the first part written by Captain Shirlaw, and when he was assigned to overseas duty, completed by Major Jones. The authors favor the establishment of a World peace force, and a World court.

Current Hist 7:227 S '44 80w

"The authors have eschewed all pomposity and set down their views with much of the unconventionality and freedom which characterize any debate over a glass of beer in the 'local.' The result is a book of unusual readability. Conviction may not be achieved, but controversy certainly will be; and that, one takes it, is what the authors really wished to do."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p146 Mr 25 '44 420w

SHNEUR, ZALMAN. Downfall. 252p $2.50 Roy pubs. 44-5462

"The story of a well-to-do merchant family of Polish Jews in Warsaw in 1915. The father's substantial business is wrecked because he refuses to let his daughter be seduced by a German officer in the army of occupation. After this financial disaster, a series of misfortunes completes the ruin of what was once a happy family." New Yorker

"It is most regrettable to report that 'Downfall,' a novel by Zalman Shneour, is a very minor work from the pen of the distinguished Hebrew and Yiddish poet and novelist, that the translation is pedestrian in quality, and that the story itself offers very little to the general reader." Louis Zara

— Book Week p11 My 28 '44 550w

Kirkus 12:179 Ap 15 '44 130w

"This is the story of ordeal and the unequal abilities of character to withstand it. The writing, even at its most ironic, is strong and direct; there is no pretentious effort to be 'literary.'" John Cournos

+ N Y Times p14 Je 18 '44 360w

New Yorker 20:83 Je 3 '44 80w

" 'Downfall,' while not a novel on the grand scale, cuts deep into tragedy. Like Reb Jacob at the end of the last war, there will be millions of men at the end of this one for whom the only spoils of victory will be the hope that their children's children can live again." Virgilia Sapieha

+ Sat R of Lit 27:25 Je 10 '44 500w

" 'Downfall' is a book not to be laid aside once it has been opened. A book worthwhile for the thoughtful reader and another depiction of the aggressive German." J. K.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Je 25 '44 380w

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock

Weekly Book Review p2 Je 4 '44 950w

SHOTWELL, JAMES THOMSON. The great decision. 268p $3 Macmillan

321.041 International cooperation. Reconstruction (1939-) 44-5891

"An important book on the problems of post-war control of international affairs. Author has had practical experience on the Council of the League of Nations, the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace and other organizations, for the prevention of war. This is a careful study of the causes of war and the efforts to secure peaceful settlement of difficulties arising between nations; all leading up to a definite plan for a federation of the states of the world." (Library J) Index.

Reviewed by H. D. Hall

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1014 O '44 550w

"The impatient may well be disappointed in the cautious historian's gradualism which looks very much like the 'old story' and not like the 'great decision.' Yet Shotwell's aim is not to paint a tempting picture of the future, but to pool in a concise and circumspect account the experiences of a lifetime. This may not make for exciting reading; it will, however, give a solid and sober perspective to the responsible citizen who has learned to accept gradual improvement as a step toward the final achievement of a lasting peace." Sigmund Neumann

+ Ann Am Acad 236:170 N '44 950w

"In spite of [some] possible sources of misgiving one can find a measure of hope and substantial enlightenment in Prof. Shotwell's comprehensive discussion of the possibilities of workable international mechanisms for the maintenance of peace. He is no amateur or journalistic star-duster. He writes out of a background of tremendous scholarship and varied practical experience. What he writes should be read seriously, before it is too late—again." Wendell Johnson

+ — Book Week p5 Jl 9 '44 700w

Booklist 40:385 Jl 15 '44

Canadian Forum 24:139 S '44 100w

Reviewed by Paul Hutchinson

Christian Century 61:1139 O 4 '44 300w

Christian Science Monitor p16 D 2 '44 650w

"Of all the peace experts in this country no one is more renowned than James T. Shotwell. He was knowledgeable enough to serve as assistant general editor of the 'Encyclopaedia Brittanica,' forty years ago in London, when that compendium of learned facts was at its peak. He was in at the birth of the League of Nations and had several important rôles at the last peace conference. For the past twenty years he has been one of the leaders of the Carnegie Foundation for International Peace—as trustee and director of the division of economics and history. He is author of a number of good books. And for his labors in the field of international relations he has been decorated by many governments. There can be no question as to the credentials of the author of 'The Great Decision.' . . It would seem, in general, that Professor Shotwell has given convincing expression to the hopes of professional peace experts. He presents a logical institutional scheme for post-war organization."

+ Commonweal 40:305 Jl 14 '44 750w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook

Current Hist 7:131 Ag '44 600w

Foreign Affairs 23:3 O '44 50w

"A sound book—but written without an ounce of passion."

+ — Kirkus 12:187 Ap 15 '44 170w

SHOTWELL, J. T.—Continued

"More comprehensive and scholarly than the majority of books on this subject recently published. Optimistic in tone. Useful in any library collection." G. E. Brown
+ Library J 69:403 My 1 '44 120w

"A remarkable compendium of a vast subject, by the very best authority." Albert Guerard
+ New Repub 111:163 Ag 7 '44 240w

"This reviewer regrets that he cannot agree with the publisher that 'this book may be a turning point in human destiny.' In his opinion, it leaves things pretty much as they are." R. L. Buell
N Y Times p3 Jl 2 '44 1120w

"His conclusion . . . will hardly startle anyone by its originality, but the structure of his argument and the lucidity of its presentation give his book an excellence that sharply separates it from most of its kind."
+ New Yorker 20:72 Jl 15 '44 180w

"Professor Shotwell among various more recent activities organized the Commission to Study the Organization of Peace, which for the past four years has been grappling with the manifold problems falling within its scope. The book before us presents, on the whole, the positions taken by this body. If then we express our disappointment with the result it is in no spirit of light-hearted criticism or with any lack of respect for the unremitting devotion of its author to the cause of peace. But such considerations should not blunt the edge of judgment when we weigh proposals directed to those policies on which the future well-being of the whole earth depends." R. M. McIver
Sat R of Lit 27:8 Jl 29 '44 950w

Reviewed by Emanuel Slotnick
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 27 '44 440w

Reviewed by C. B. Mahon
Survey G 33:424 O '44 600w

"He makes no novel analysis, startling predictions or sensational proposals. As a piece of writing 'The Great Decision' is, in fact, sober and judicious to the point of being dull. But although this book cannot be recommended to readers in search of intellectual provocation or excitement, it is, none the less, a contribution to the education of American opinion. It summarizes clearly and carefully what has already been accomplished in the building of a world order; and its suggestions for the future are the more persuasive because of the restraint, the tone of cautious optimism and the avoidance of controversial issues with which they are presented. They derive added weight from the wide experience of the author and the quarter century of patient study and labor which he has devoted to the cause of peace." H. B. Parkes
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 9 '44 1050w

Reviewed by Carl Becker
Yale R n s 34:148 autumn '44 430w

SHOUP, CARL SUMNER; FRIEDMAN, MILTON, and MACK, MRS RUTH (PRINCE). Taxing to prevent inflation. 236p $2.75 Columbia univ. press [18s 6d Oxford]

332.414 Inflation (finance). Taxation—U.S. 43-10546

"An explanation of techniques for estimating revenue requirements. It is of interest not only to economists, but also to every taxpayer who wishes a clear picture of the issues involved when Congress debates the huge wartime tax bills." (Special Libraries) Bibliography. Index.

"Each part of the book contains a valuable contribution. It would be easier for the reader to appraise the value of the book as a whole if the analysis were not built around the problem of the degree of taxation that would have been required in the summer of 1942 to prevent inflation at that time. Yet, in the present stage of historical development, certain features of a book on contemporary problems are bound to be untimely by the time the book is published." William Fellner
+ Am Econ R 34:173 Mr '44 1400w

"The volume comprises a series of exercises in economic and statistical analysis in which the authors present their conclusions after summarizing the views of earlier investigators and their findings. No doubt it will be useful to future students of the problems of taxation and inflation. They will not find here, however, a lantern which will illuminate their paths of investigation so perfectly that all darkness will be dispelled for them. Rather, they will be challenged by the present imperfect state of our knowledge to grapple again with the basic problems and to seek more light." A. G. Buehler
Ann Am Acad 231:184 Ja '44 400w

"A very able but, for laymen, rather technical work." Hans Heymann
+ Christian Century 61:1385 N 29 '44 950w
Special Libraries 34:386 S '43

SHRIBER, MRS IONE (SANDBERG). Pattern for murder. 267p $2 Farrar 44-47776

Detective story.

Kirkus 12:459 O 1 '44 90w

"Though needlessly complicated and overwritten, the story is made readable by some interesting characters." E. H.
+ — New Repub 112:158 Ja 29 '45 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p14 D 31 '44 160w

"For those who like a Bergdorf Goodman gloss on their mysteries."
New Yorker 20:56 D 30 '44 60w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p8 D 31 '44 200w

SHULMAN, MAX. Feather merchants; il. by William Crawford. 145p $2 Doubleday 44-3965

This satire on civilian life in wartime tells the story of a sergeant from Oklahoma who returns to his home in Minneapolis to find all his relatives deep in "war work"—of a decidedly phoney character, and undergoing "privations" of gas and food rationing eased by full tanks and well patronized black markets.

Reviewed by Dale Harrison
Book Week p3 Ap 23 '44 450w
Springf'd Republican p4d My 7 '44 250w

"Max Shulman, who wrote 'Barefoot Boy With Cheek,' would have created a better travesty if he had allowed the idea to develop under its own momentum. 'The Feather Merchants' is funny in spots, but it is more slapstick than satire."
— + Weekly Book Review p18 Ap 30 '44 180w

SHUMAN, JOHN THEODORE, and BARDO, LEWIS HERBERT. How to operate a lathe. 161p il $1.75 Wiley

621.94 Lathes 44-8189

"A simple, practical text of the question-and-answer type. Numerous diagrams, illustrations and tables are included." N Y New Tech Bks

Booklist 41:86 N 15 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:45 Jl '44

SHURTLEFF, BERTRAND LESLIE. AWOL: K-9 commando. 284p $2 Bobbs

Dogs—Legends and stories 44-1299

The experiences of a Doberman Pinscher rescued from a brutal Nazi and brought to the United States by an American correspondent. Later the dog becomes a hero in France, with the Rangers and commandos. For older boys and girls.

Booklist 40:252 Mr 15 '44

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p5 Ag 24 '44 170w

"Plenty of excitement and perhaps too much coincidence, but a good yarn."
+ — Kirkus 12:2 Ja 1 '44 210w

"Intensely exciting and readable story... Will harrow and delight those boys and girls who do not demand too high a degree of probability in their adventure. Provides excellent book talk material for 'reluctant readers.' Recommended." Eileen Riols
+ Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 70w

SHUSTER, GEORGE NAUMAN, and BERGSTRASSER, ARNOLD. Germany; a short history. 238p maps $2.75 Norton

943 Germany—History 44-7163

A concise history of Germany from medieval times to the beginning of World war II. The authors are president of Hunter college, and a member of the faculty of the University of Chicago. Bibliography. Index.

"Drs. Shuster and Bergstraesser wisely refrain from predictions or prescriptions for the future; but their little book should help to create an informed and constructive American opinion regarding the riddle of the Reich." F. L. Schuman
+ Ann Am Acad 237:207 Ja '45 400w

Reviewed by M. W. Fodor
Book Week p10 Ag 13 '44 200w
Booklist 41:17 S '44
Christian Science Monitor p14 S 5 '44 550w

"It is quite remarkable that while a fight for life and death with Germany is going on, such an objective story of Germany's last twenty-five years could have been written and published. A selected chronology and a very careful index augment the practical usefulness of the book." Max Fischer
+ Commonweal 40:451 Ag 25 '44 850w

"As a review of the salient points in Germany's history that have determined her present position, the book is interesting and not too scholarly for general reading." Roy Hillbrook
+ Current Hist 7:323 O '44 150w

"Written simply, its discussion of the years preceding Hitler's rise to power proves particularly interesting and emphasizes the dangerous appeal of the irrational in times of crisis. For a short book, the canvas is broad." J. H. Berthel
+ Library J 69:602 Jl '44 110w

" 'Germany, a Short History' has appeared at the psychological moment. No useful and up-to-date one-volume history of Germany exists in English. Considering this astonishing void, the intense urgency of the German problem, the many virtues of this volume and the prestige of Dr. Shuster, the book is almost certain to have an enthusiastic reception and a wide influence. In many ways Dr. Shuster and Dr. Bergstraesser have produced one of the best recent examples of learned condensation and popularization to appear in the field of modern European history." E. W. Fox
+ N Y Times p5 Ag 13 '44 900w

"The authors couldn't do much about the fact that German history, like German cooking, is a little heavy, and some of that heaviness has crept into their prose, but they have managed to produce a readable and informative summary of Germany."
New Yorker 20:64 Ag 26 '44 80w

"Without footnotes, the authors have written with such careful scholarship that almost every page or sentence, read by itself, seems at first to be dispassionate and true. Yet read together, these pages add up to a conclusion of such black and unrelieved despair that one wonders if this scholarship has not ruled out too much prejudice and hatred and confusion to be a true reflection of the reality out of which this war has grown." Joseph Barnes
+ — Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 20 '44 1150w

SHUTE, NEVIL, pseud. See Norway, N. S.

SHUTE, WILLIAM GEORGE, and others. Introduction to navigation and nautical astronomy; il. by Arthur Paul Koch. 457p $4.50 Macmillan

527 Navigation. Nautical astronomy 44-2644

"An outstanding textbook for beginners. Basic astronomy is explained before the subject of celestial navigation is introduced, and a refresher course in logarithms and plane geometry is given in the appendix. There are numerous exercises and problems, and for each type an illustrative example is worked out. No supplementary material is needed; the H. O. 211 table, tables of logarithms, excerpts from The American Nautical Almanac, and tables from The American Air Almanac are included. The authors are instructors at the Choate School." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"For those interested in either sea or air navigation and especially for men who plan to enter the United States Navy, Coast Guard, Merchant Marine, Air Transport or the Air Forces. Written in understandable language; defines and explains technical terms and phrases." L. A. Eales
+ Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:10 Ja '44

SHUTES, MILTON HENRY. Lincoln and California. 269p il $3 Stanford univ. press [18s 6d Oxford]

973.7 California—History. Lincoln, Abraham 43-8471

"The author of this volume, an attorney in Oakland, California, has in the past published several articles on the Civil War period of California history. These include a study of Lincoln and the Almaden mine controversy and biographical sketches of three Californians who rose to national prominence during the war—Edward Dickinson Baker, Henry Wager Halleck, and Joseph Hooker. With these articles as a starting point, the author has attempted an extended study of Lincoln's relations with California, of 'the many cords which bound the man and the state to each other.' " Am Hist R

"It is doubtful if the subject deserved the lengthy treatment given it here. Since the work was undertaken, however, it should have been based on more adequate research than is evident. Apparently the author was unable or unwilling to give the time and effort to the book that he had given previously to the articles. In fact, the only chapters in the book that indicate a degree of thoroughness in the preparation and writing are those based on previously published material." J. D. Carter
Am Hist R 49:317 Ja '44 700w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 21 '43 600w

SIAN-TEK, LIM. See Lim, Sian-tek

SIDGWICK, J. B. Introductory astronomy; a guide for night watchers; with a foreword by Clyde Fisher [Eng title: Astronomy for night watchers]. 137p $2.50 Philosophical lib. [5s Faber]

523 Astronomy. Constellations 44-3166

"An American reprint of a British book entitled Astronomy for night watchers (1942). It explains briefly and simply the things a beginner wants to know: the location and names of constellations, the formation of the Milky Way, the movements of comets and meteors, the phases of the moon, and the change of seasons. The appendix contains summarized data on the constellations and star diagrams." N Y New Tech Bks

N Y New Tech Bks 29:4 Ja '44

SIDGWICK, J. B.—Continued

"This small book is an excellent introduction. It is in no sense a text but is designed to interest the beginner and acquaint him with the constellations and those celestial objects which are within the reach of binoculars. For this purpose it can be enthusiastically recommended. . . Occasional errors occur. . . A few sentences on the observation of sunspots would have fitted in naturally and been a logical and desirable addition. The book contains no photographs; but possibly in view of its purpose to get one out to see the stars for oneself, this is not a drawback. Finally, it should be said that the book may be recommended." L. C. Green

+ — R of Scientific Instruments 15:265 O '44 450w

SIEGELE, HERMAN HUGO. Building forms, stairs, roofs. 210p $2 Drake, F.J.

694 Building 44-2089

"A practical book of instruction for carpenters and builders covering form building, scaffolding, finishing, plans for a small house, stair building and roof framing. Written in simple language with practical illustrations." (Subtitle) "Designed to meet the needs of the beginner in the trade and also to treat problems to be solved by the foreman or superintendent of a construction job. The drawings are mostly based on actual work performed by the author." (N Y New Tech Bks)

Library J 69:815 O 1 '4 450w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:22 Ap '44

SIEGMEISTER, ELIE, ed. Work and sing; a collection of the songs that built America; sel. and arr, with commentary, annotations and a critical bibliography; il. by Julian Brazelton. 96p pa $2.50 Scott, W. R.

784.4 Folk songs. Songs

"The actual work-song developed in the United States, the strongly accentuated rhythm rising from physical motion or the emotional outlet of cowboy or chain-gang songs, have been hitherto largely the property of adult workers or collectors. Now we have thirty such melodies, arranged with simple accompaniments, given bold action-drawings in illustration, as a book especially for young folk. They are grouped by sailors, cowboys, farmers, canals and railways, and, in a section called 'Under the El,' street cries and city songs, new and old. All the best known are here, such as John Henry, Erie Canal, Shenandoah, Boll Weevil, Good-by Old Paint." Weekly Book Review

Book Week p5 Je 4 '44 110w

Booklist 40:380 Jl 1 '44

"The sea chanteys and cowboy songs, those of the railroad and the river boats, have a rhythm and swing that children will love. The arrangement is simple and easy and the subjects belong to the American workaday world of the past and the present." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 20:289 Jl '44 70w

Kirkus 12:235 My 15 '44 110w

"Simple melodies that children will enjoy and teachers use in many ways. Breezy illustrations by Julian Brazelton." Marian Cumming

+ Library J 69:607 Jl '44 80w

"The arrangements are simple and good for group singing. The descriptive notes are fresh and informal conveying Mr. Siegmeister's enthusiasm for this music as something alive in the daily life of a people." Maria Cimino

+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Ag 19 '44 90w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 My 28 '44 270w

SIGERIST, HENRY ERNST. Civilization and disease. 255p $3.75 Cornell univ. press

610.9 Civilization. Medicine—History. Pathology SG44-31

The professor of the history of medicine in Johns Hopkins university, in a book based on the Messenger lectures on the evolution of civilization, delivered at Cornell during 1938-1939, describes the effects of disease upon man's life and actions, and how disease has influenced his creations. Partial contents: Civilization as a factor in the genesis of disease; Disease and economics; Disease and social life; Disease and the law; Disease and religion; Disease and literature; Disease and art; Civilization against disease. Index.

Reviewed by Arturo Castiglioni

Am Hist R 49:689 Jl '44 800w

Reviewed by C.-E. A. Winslow

Am J Pub Health 34:410 Ap '44 600w

Reviewed by R. E. L. Faris

Am J Soc 50:237 N 13 '44 240w

"A thoroughly readable book in one of the most fascinating fields of history." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 F 6 '44 90w

Booklist 40:298 My 1 '44

Reviewed by W. H. Stahl

Geog R 34:691 O '44 550w

"In the present book Dr. Sigerist continues to make clear, most interestingly and impressively, the great importance of social factors in health and in disease." M. F. A. Montagu

+ N Y Times p4 F 6 '44 460w

Reviewed by A. H. Compton & others

Scientific Bk Club R 15:1 Ja '44 1400w

SILL, EDWARD ROWLAND. Around the Horn; a journal, Dec. 10, 1861 to March 25, 1862; ed. with an introd. by Stanley T. Williams and Barbara D. Simison. 79p $2 Yale univ. press [10s 6d Oxford]

910.4 Voyages and travels A44-1438

Journal of a trip around Cape Horn, during the months between December, 1861 and March, 1862. The author was an American poet and teacher, who was born in Windsor, Connecticut in 1841, and died in 1886.

"The passage was fast, 105 days from New York to San Francisco, but the time lagged with the young poet, who was fresh from the diversions of New Haven, and it lags with the reader of his narrative. . . If a man planned to write a critical biography of Sill, he would want to read this volume, for it would tell him something about the poet's early prose style. But from a maritime point of view it has little significance. An introduction by Stanley T. Williams and Barbara D. Simison treats the journal more seriously than its contents warrant. The volume concludes with two letters from Sill to his friend Ralph Williams." H. C. Kittredge

New Eng Q 17:334 Je '44 210w

"It is curious to run across a fine, straightforward and often beautiful piece of writing like this, that has been so seriously misjudged by both the editors and the author himself in later life. If only young Sill's journal had been presented by itself, without the formidable introduction and foot-notes and without the absurd comments of the author grown elderly, it would be seen at once for what it is—a fine piece of writing about a sailing-ship voyage." Lincoln Colcord

+ — Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 16 '44 400w

SIM, GEORGES. See Simenon, G. pseud.

SIMENON, GEORGES, pseud. (GEORGES SIM). Affairs of destiny; tr. from the French by Stuart Gilbert. 265p $2 Harcourt [8s Routledge]

[42-23643]

Two psychological stories of murder: Newhaven—Dieppe, and The woman of the gray house.

Booklist 41:153 Ja 15 '45
Boston Globe p15 D 20 '44 60w
New Repub 111:702 N 27 '44 90w

"Although the Simenon novels are so short that his American publisher invariably publishes them two to the volume, there is more meat in them than in most full-length novels." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p35 N 26 '44 200w

"Both novels no doubt will be very successful in curdling the blood of M. Simenon's admirers."
New Yorker 20:100 N 11 '44 90w

"Rewarding—if you like your crimes stark and undiluted. Second novel is especially effective study of wilful and unpunished killer. For addicts."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:52 D 2 '44 40w

"A worthy Simenon twin offering—a novelty and a bargain." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p41 N 12 '44 160w

SIMENON, GEORGES, pseud. (GEORGES SIM). Escape in vain; tr. from the French by Stuart Gilbert. 282p $2 Harcourt [8s 6d Routledge]
44-40031

Two short psychological murder novels: The Lodger, and One Way Out.

"Through these stories and other recent Simenon books runs a disturbing theme: the neurotic, maladjusted youth of pre-war Europe, adrift, without stamina or fortitude, highly attenuated and incapable of dealing with life, doomed to frustration and death. Some of our political pundits, who have written learnedly of why France fell, should read him."
Book Week p1 Ja 2 '44 650w
Booklist 40:236 Mr 1 '44

"Crime stories, told with relentless regard for the logical consequences of human weakness and with a contained pity for its victims. From a psychological point of view 'One Way Out' . . . is the more interesting of the two." Charles Marriott
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 23 '43 130w

Reviewed by G. W. Stonier
+ New Statesman & Nation 26:44 Jl 17 '43 850w

"In both these stories Simenon again displays his uncanny ability to probe human motives and emotions and to trace crime back to its source in the characters and upbringings of the persons involved." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p10 Ja 23 '44 120w

"For everyone except those who demand the added flavor of Maigret in their Simenon."
+ New Yorker 19:68 Ja 22 '44 70w

"No detecting; no Maigret. Moving and dramatic stories of tragic little people enmeshed in problems with inevitable solutions. Grim."
Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ja 22 '44 40w

"The increasing success of M. Georges Simenon with the English reading public may well revolutionise the contemporary thriller. Simenon is a born story-teller; his characters carry conviction, his crimes, while often horrible and macabre, are plausible, never mere exercises in contrived ingenuity. Escape in Vain contains two short novels, and while both have their detectives. these are minor figures, and the psychological interest is made our first concern." John Hampson
+ Spec 171:156 Ag 13 '43 500w

"Uneasy feelings disturb the reader of 'Escape in Vain.' At length, putting down the book in order to discover what these may be, he realizes that he is in the what-on-earth-made-me-do-it mood of a fugitive murderer. Higher praise may be given to M. Simenon's subtle and persuasive realism, but people who seek amusement could hardly ask for more."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p357 Jl 24 '43 480w

Reviewed by Iris Barry
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 12 '44 500w

SIMENON, GEORGES, pseud. (GEORGES SIM). On the danger line; tr. from the French by Stuart Gilbert. 269p $2 Harcourt [8s 6d Routledge]
44-7492

Two novels: Home Town, and The Green Thermos. The first is a study in criminal psychology in which a small time criminal returns to his home town after a twenty-four years absence. His nefarious designs end in tragedy. The Green Thermos is a picture of life in the anarchist circles of Paris.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p3 O 1 '44 230w

"The precise, detailed exploration of character and circumstance that mark Simenon's works again preeminent."
+ Kirkus 12:329 Ag 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Charles Marriott
Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 14 '44 250w

"Simenon is an extraordinary product of our times. A stylist (one could spot a page of his anywhere), but the style is in the material of his books. Streets, landscapes, interiors reel by without intrusion from the writer, without trace of a literary manner. He faces his characters close-up, like the camera. He never worries them, never expatiates, never thumps. So self-denying and impartial is the attitude that we can only guess at feelings of anger, pity or love in the author. . . Nine-tenths of the [first] story—the futile attempt of a minor crook to creep back into his childhood—is brilliantly done. The end comes, I think, a little too abruptly. . . If one feels at all let down by the end of the [second] story, with the dynamite flask dropped in the river and the adherent of non-violence returning to the bosom of his family, it is only by comparison with Simenon's own highest level." G. W. Stonier
+ New Statesman & Nation 27:228 Ap 1 '44 900w

Reviewed by Jane Cobb
N Y Times p16 N 26 '44 350w

"'The Green Thermos,' picturing a prewar anarchist who balked at blowing up factories, is a fine exercise in suspense."
+ New Yorker 20:80 S 9 '44 60w

"Effective."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:23 S 2 '44 40w

"The novels of Simenon seems to demand superlatives: in these days when fiction's chief concern seems to be with the stiff upper lips of class-conscious females, they are a gift even to the most hardened reviewer, since they add spice to a dull diet. Simenon can be tough! But his toughness does not spring from an inferiority complex. . . . Sufficient to say that Simenon accomplishes all with objective brilliance." John Hampson
+ Spec 172:368 Ap 21 '44 300w
Times [London] Lit Sup p161 Ap 1 '44 360w

Reviewed by Iris Barry
Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 27 '44 500w

SIMKHOVITCH, NATASHA, il. See Merry Christmas

SIMKINS, FRANCIS BUTLER. Pitchfork Ben Tillman, South Carolinian. (Southern biography ser) 577p il $4.50 La. state univ. press
B or 92 Tillman, Benjamin Ryan 44-9640

Biography of Senator Ben Tillman, who toward the end of the last century became the leader of the revolt against the Southern aristocratic class. Critical essay on authorities. Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 D 17 '44 130w

"The author is a native of the county in South Carolina where Senator Tillman was born and reared. One might expect, in such circumstances, a tendency to magnify estimated virtues and condone admitted shortcomings. But Mr. Simkins has performed a noteworthy and generous service. He has, from available records, supplied a factual and withal an interesting story which few Northerners could have written, and which few Southerners would have cared to write." F. L. P.

SIMKINS, F. B.—Continued
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 O 24 '44 450w

"Mr. Simkins has given us a well-written, balanced, scholarly and objective portrait of 'Pitchfork Ben,' with all the warts on, and has placed him accurately and fairly in the political life of his time. There is a dearth here of information about his family life and a slight excess of detail concerning his political career, but this volume is, on the whole, an excellent performance, a graphic chapter concerning one of the notable personages who have moved across our national stage since the Civil War." Virginius Dabney
+ N Y Times p45 D 3 '44 800w

"Mr. Simkins has written a scholarly and well balanced life of this difficult man. He neither excuses his faults nor over-praises his virtues. He does, however, understand that Tillman was a very normal expression of conditions in South Carolina." Avery Craven
+ Weekly Book Review p31 N 19 '44 1100w

SIMMONS, HARRY. Successful selling for the new day. 281p $4 Harper
658.8 Salesmanship 44-8521

"This book stems directly from two previously successful books by the author, A Practical Course in Successful Selling and New Roads to Selling. Chapters have been revised, rewritten, or rearranged from both these volumes. Several new chapters have been added." Pref

Booklist 41:155 Ja 15 '45
Kirkus 12:476 O 15 '44 90w
Library J 70:35 Ja 1 '45 20w

SIMS, DOROTHY (RICE) (MRS PHILIP HAL SIMS). How to live on a hunch. 160p $2 Vanguard
817 44-2913

A volume of humorous essays on "the art of psychic living." "Among topics Dorothy Rice Sims explores are letters from Congressmen, the habits of publishers, psychic golf, department stores, Ernest Hemingway and superstitions. Also there are vignettes of Hal—the bridge expert who is her husband—and other bridge experts." (Weekly Book Review)

Reviewed by Leonard Bullen
Book Week p7 Ap 2 '44 340w

"Slaphappy humor, which is seldom very funny, in short pieces on a variety of subjects."
Kirkus 12:16 Ja 1 '44 80w

"Stimulating, provocative, amusing little book." John Cournos
+ N Y Times p6 Ap 30 '44 400w
Weekly Book Review p15 Ap 2 '44 130w

SINCLAIR, UPTON BEALL. Presidential agent. 655p $3 Viking
44-4916

In this fifth volume of the life and adventures of Lanny Budd, socialite and art expert de luxe, the hero assumes a new role—that of special secret agent to President Roosevelt. As an intimate of the great and the near-great in European diplomatic circles he can bring to the President first-hand information on the complicated political situation. The period covered is the crucial year between the summer of 1937 and the Munich agreement in 1938. In addition to his political activities he pursues his investigations of spiritualism and makes a futile search for Trudi, the fanatic anti-Nazi, whom he has secretly married.

"Historian and maker of history; world citizen and defender of world citizenship—these are but a few of the appellations which apply to Upton Sinclair, dean of American novelists. . . No wonder George Bernard Shaw refers those who would understand our century not to yellowing newspaper files, but to the Lanny Budd sequence by Upton Sinclair. Little wonder, too, that Thomas Mann finds the German chapters 'strong and truthful.' Sinclair has made history as exciting as a detective story, as beautiful as a tragic poem and as real as a personal injury." Sterling North
+ Book Week p1 Je 4 '44 1300w
Booklist 40:390 Jl 15 '44

"In spite of the liberties Mr. Sinclair has taken in recording imagined conversations with the great of this world, he has stuck very close to fact in his account of the actual events. His story is clearer than most of the purported factual records." L. A. S.
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 29 '44 550w

"The most unbelievable, absurd book I have ever read." Francis Downing
— Commonweal 40:258 Je 30 '44 750w

Kirkus 12:148 Ap 1 '44 300w

Reviewed by H. S. Taylor
Library J 69:502 Je 1 '44 110w

"Mr. Sinclair must certainly have the complete files of the New York Times or at least the Index at his elbow as he writes. His energy and good-will are beyond dispute. So are his brashness and his naivete. And the uncomplicated, eager vulgarity with which he concocts bedroom scenes between his overworked robot, Lanny Budd, and President Roosevelt leaves me gasping. . . I can't say I read the whole book, but what I did read of it was, among other things, a continuous apologetic for F. D. R. I'll take my history straight—though it should be said that any resemblance between this book and fiction is surely coincidental." Margaret Marshall
Nation 159:74 Jl 15 '44 360w

Reviewed by Allan Spalding
New Repub 111:499 O 16 '44 180w

"Mr. Sinclair's profoundest emotions are not for personal matters. . . But Mr. Sinclair does have a genuine perception, both emotional and intellectual, of the forces at work in Europe, in England, to some extent here, which assisted at the birth of nazism, allowed it to live, tolerated it, balanced it against communism, bargained with it, trembled before it, hoped to use it to offset a too aggressive democracy in their own countries—and so brought upon us World War II. One need not join in all Mr. Sinclair's condemnations. But one had better consider him for what he is—certainly, not as a novelist, but as a strong, indignant, manly voice, calling in a wilderness that is no longer quite unpopulous. One cannot read him without a new hatred of sham, hypocrisy and the evil that those qualities perpetuate. He has come into his own at a time when such a voice is needed." R. L. Duffus
+ — N Y Times p1 Je 4 '44 1300w

"Lanny is, of course, right in on all the European intrigue of the period, but although he knows that the world is heading for a terrible war and foresees all of Hitler's coups with startling exactness, the book conveys no sense of that atmosphere of imminent breakdown which was then hanging over Europe, nor is there any real exploration of the minds of the important men with whom the hero is on such easy terms."
— New Yorker 20:82 Je 3 '44 230w

"This is the fifth in the Lanny Budd Series upon which Upton Sinclair has been engaged for several years, the previous and fourth volume of which was awarded a Pulitzer Prize, and this fifth volume seems to me the apex of the series; the most masterful, the most interesting, and a very important book indeed. In fact, I do not see why it is not by far, considering its range, its implications, and its handling, the most important American novel that has been written for a long while, or that is likely to be written for a good while to come." Struthers Burt
+ Sat R of Lit 27:7 Je 10 '44 2250w

Reviewed by Lee Varley
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 11 '44 650w

Reviewed by F. T. Marsh
Weekly Book Review p3 Je 4 '44 950w
Wis Lib Bul 40:131 O '44

SITWELL, SIR OSBERT, 5th bart. Left hand, right hand! (Atlantic monthly press bk) 327p $3 Little

B or 92 Sitwell family. Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-4450

Reminiscences of the Sitwells of Renishaw in Derbyshire, where this branch of the family has had their estate since 1625. The book is a combination of family album and history of a great English estate and the kind of people who visited there. Much space is devoted to Sir Osbert's ancestors on both sides of the family. Index.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 174:127 Ag '44 420w

Reviewed by Peter De Vries
Book Week p4 My 14 '44 200w

Booklist 40:340 Je 1 '44

Boston Globe p17 Je 14 '44 200w

Reviewed by Robert Wilberforce
Cath World 159:470 Ag '44 650w

Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 22 '44 750w

Commonweal 40:158 Je 2 '44 850w

"Charming memoirs with literary and aristocratic snob appeal—sure popularity with anglophiles particularly. There's distinctive character here, the leisurely pace has a charm of its own, the portraiture is glowing and three dimensional."
+ Kirkus 12:110 Mr 1 '44 150w

"Book is gay and very well written and often searching, but it is also a little precious." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 120w

"Just as one would not miss hearing a new Shostakovich work but would not willingly hear it again, this is a book I would not for all the world miss reading once. There is beauty here, besides the 'period interest,' even great beauty, as in Sir Osbert's description of the blast furnace's illumination of the nocturnal park. But there is so much to irritate, to exasperate and anger even; the style, for example." Ralph Bates
+ — New Repub 110:791 Je 12 '44 1350w

"Sir Osbert's book, compact of charm, culture and urbanity, is something more than a skilled writer's survey of his background. It is a vivid tapestry of the English scene, as fascinating in its embroidery, its minor panels of heraldry, as in its main theme." Cecil Roberts
+ N Y Times p4 My 14 '44 1250w

"The story is as much the record of a house as of a family, and since both are uncommonly interesting, it is not at all remarkable, considering the author's skill, that he has turned the material at his disposal into an uncommonly interesting book."
+ New Yorker 20:90 My 13 '44 130w

"Fascinating and beautiful book. To those who have the requisite knowledge and predisposition, it will be irresistible, and perhaps Stendhal's few may sympathize with the introduction in its courageous repudiation of this decade of yahoos and vandals." Richard Aldington
+ Sat R of Lit 27:17 S 2 '44 1100w

"A pleasing memoir of the author's family and a part of his own life. . . Since this book is but one of the many that Sir Osbert hopes to write, it is but a part of the exciting pageant that he can tell us. Some readers may have seen some of the sections before in the Atlantic Monthly and so have had a taste of the richness of this book. Here taste is a most suitable word, for the book is like a very superior fruit cake where age, blending, richness, variety—are all together. The individuals and personalities, the anecdotes and history are the ingredients, and the family is the cake itself." Lee Varley
+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 28 '44 550w

Time 43:99 My 15 '44 1250w

Reviewed by Ernestine Evans
Weekly Book Review p3 My 14 '44 1400w

SKATTEBOL, LARS. Last voyage of the Quien Sabe. 255p $2.50 Harper

940.545 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-6829

Personal narrative of the author's experiences as "spareman" in the crew of a cargo vessel which was torpedoed on the way back to the United States from Africa. In semi-fiction form the author describes the various members of the crew, their life aboard, and the experiences of the survivors after the Quien Sabe was lost.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p3 Ag 27 '44 450w

Booklist 41:39 O 1 '44

Kirkus 12:270 Je 15 '44 210w

"This is one of the absorbing human documents of the war." M. D.
+ Nation 159:534 O 28 '44 180w

"No reader will doubt that Mr. Skattebol had set down the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, but the truth will shatter illusions, dispel legends. The reader will only be able to hope that while this is an excellent reporting job, the case of the Quien Sabe is not typical; that it is, somehow, already curiously dated though it deals with events of less than two years ago." Meyer Berger
N Y Times p4 Ag 27 '44 1250w

"The adventures of the Quien Sabe have been duplicated by many other ships in this war, and being adrift at sea has become one of the more common occurrences of our time, but Mr. Skattebol. a landlubber who does not write like one, has turned the tale of his ship into one of the very few really worth-while recent books about the merchant marine."
+ New Yorker 20:64 Ag 26 '44 130w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 3 '44 700w

"A successful narrative and a fine piece of sea literature. The honesty of the story is evident even in its technical approach." Lincoln Colcord
+ Weekly Book Review p5 D 3 '44 1050w

SKAUPY, FRANZ. Principles of powder metallurgy [tr. by Marion Lee Taylor]. 80p $3 Philosophical lib.

669 Metals, Powdered 44-7776

"A translation of the author's Metallkeramik (Berlin, 1930). The discussion is concerned mainly with the relations of grain size and shape to hardness, ductility and similar properties in the manufactured product. Typical chapter titles are: Production of the metal powders; Production of definite sizes of grain; Production [of parts] from metal powder without binding agent; Properties of 'ceramic metal' bodies; 'Ceramics' of wolfram, molybdenum, tantalum and other metals." N Y New Tech Bks

"Evidently the translator is sadly unfamiliar with metallurgical terms for not a page is lacking in one or more amusing examples of inadequate translation. Throughout the text the word 'wolfram' (or even 'wolframite') is used in place of 'tungsten.' To speak of a wire drawing die as a 'nozzle'; grain boundaries as 'points of impact'; hydrochloric acid as 'salt acid' and clamps as 'manacles' may indeed introduce the desired element of humor but hardly contributes to clarity of exposition. Perhaps something might be said to recommend the book for its historical value although this is not implied in the title. Taking all in all it does not appear to contribute anything new to the knowledge of powder metallurgy, and certainly is not to be compared with other available books dealing with this subject." W. P. Sykes
— Chem & Met Eng 51:207 S '44 200w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 10w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:28 Ap '44

SKIDMORE, HOBERT DOUGLAS. Valley of the sky. 169p $2 Houghton
44-6671

Novel of the heavy bomber, the Harpie, a veteran of many actions in the southwest Pacific, and of the men who were her crew. The substance of the book is in the thoughts, emotions, and reactions of the bomber crew.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 174:133 N '44 300w

"This brief, intense saga comes to its conclusion in a burst of writing so simple and yet so effective that it has the quality of a dream of music remembered. Realism and lyricism seldom have been so harmoniously united. This is the sort of war novel one might expect years hence when time has lent perspective. It proves once again that the finest writing of the war will come from our fliers." Sterling North
+ Book Week p2 Ag 20 '44 270w
Booklist 41:42 O 1 '44

"This is one of those memorable books which tells you what war is like inside the men who fight it. Sgt Skidmore is no commentator; he is a novelist of power. His book is poetic, realistic, intensely moving. It will rank with such war literature as 'A Farewell to Arms' and 'A Bell for Adano.' "
+ Boston Globe p15 Ag 16 '44 280w
Cleveland Open Shelf p12 Je '44

"For the mature reader."
+ Horn Bk 20:499 N '44 80w

"Highly recommended for everyone." Katharine Shorey
+ Library J 69:651 Ag '44 80w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 159:219 Ag 19 '44 120w

"The general level of 'Valley of the Sky' is that of popular magazine fiction, with occasional passages of genuine merit—notably where the author touches on the indefinable sense of personal integrity that makes the civilian soldier of the democracies a first-class fighting man. Physical action is expertly handled. The description of the two pre-invasion raids on the Japanese island base is written tautly and with a sharp realism that leaves the reader breathless." C. J. Rolo
+ — N Y Times p7 Ag 13 '44 320w

"There isn't an ounce of sentimentality in the book, but it is entirely possible that you will find yourself crying your eyes out over parts of it. Mr. Skidmore's style is marred occasionally by some very irritating bits of fine writing."
+ — New Yorker 20:62 Ag 12 '44 180w

"It is strange that we should be so glad to learn what we ought to have surmised. It is true that the specter of a nation divided (as Mr. Wakeman said) into those who had been in the war and those who had not, was a frightening one. What could they say to each other? How understand? Here at last is the kind of reassurance that counts, from a man who is in and tells us not to fear." N. L. Rothman
+ Sat R of Lit 27:18 Ag 26 '44 550w

"While the novel is perhaps too limited in scope to take a place as one of the major literary interpretations of the war, it is so far one of the finest of the recent novels keyed exclusively to the lives of men who do their fighting in the sky. If this war has done nothing else for fiction, it has done away with the idea that men go into battle fearlessly with thoughts of God and country." R. F. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 13 '44 390w

Time 44:96 Ag 28 '44 100w

" 'Valley of the Sky' is more than a distinguished novel about air combat in the South Pacific; it is a magnificent portrayal of human beings whose destinies are bound to a bomber. Their past, their hopes, their dreams about a personal life center in one absorbing purpose—the plane that makes them a unit.' " Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ag 13 '44 900w

Reviewed by Orville Prescott
Yale R n s 34:192 autumn '44 180w

SKOLSKY, SYD (COHEN). Evenings with music. 382p il $3 Dutton

780.1 Music—Analysis, interpretation, appreciation 44-8846

Twenty-seven chapters in music appreciation for the layman. Each chapter analyzes some musician and his work, or some form of music or musical instrument. Considerable historical and biographical material is included. Bbliography. Index.

"If you would have a knowledge and appreciation of classical music, make room for a batch of phonograph records, Mrs Skolsky's book, and 27 free evenings in which to study and listen." L. M. Gruss
Book Week p8 O 15 '44 250w
Christian Science Monitor p11 D 16 '44 90w

"Elementary as it is, the material is interestingly presented."
+ Kirkus 12:388 S 1 '44 110w

"While the compositions chosen as illustrations may seem hackneyed, they are ideal for the laymen, and after all, this book is written for them. Highly recommended for the public library." H. E. Bush
+ Library J 69:761 S 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by Victor Prahl
Springf'd Republican p6 S 28 '44 250w
Weekly Book Review p10 S 17 '44 220w

SKOMOROVSKY, BORIS ALEKSANDROVICH, and MORRIS, EMANUEL GOLDSMITH. Siege of Leningrad; the saga of the greatest siege of all time as told by the letters, documents and stories of the brave people who withstood it. 196p il $2.50 Dutton

940.542 Leningrad—Siege, 1941-1943 44-321

This account of the heroic life of Leningrad during its long siege by the Germans (515 days) is largely based on letters, diaries, military records, and other documents. The senior author, a native Russian, came to New York before the war between Russia and Germany opened.

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p4 Ja 23 '44 550w
Booklist 40:196 F 1 '44
Kirkus 12:41 Ja 15 '44 80w

"Disjointed in the telling, it nevertheless succeeds in making very real the spirit of the Soviets and their indomitable will to survive, to conquer and to revenge. Many photographic illustrations. Recommended." L. M. Kinloch
+ Library J 69:71 Ja 15 '44 40w

"The fall of Sevastopol was described at white heat by an eyewitness, whereas the account of Leningrad's defense is admittedly a compendium of documents and reports, doubtless first-hand and authentic, assembled by writers remote from the scenes they describe. In consequence, the reader—instead of being uplifted and stimulated—is sometimes wearied by repetition and overemphasis. To anyone familiar with modern Russia the effect is reminiscent of Intourist guides reciting Soviet achievements in industry or culture—with such a redundancy of detail and enthusiasm as to raise doubt instead of conviction. . . Nevertheless, the book is fully worth reading, if only as 'source material' for a phase of the Russo-German war whose importance may perhaps have been decisive." Walter Duranty
+ — N Y Times p4 F 6 '44 550w

Reviewed by Max Werner
Sat R of Lit 27:33 F 19 '44 650w

"The reader closes this volume with something of awe, with a deep respect for the spirit of such a people, with a prayer that our own would do as bravely in such a crisis." Edrie Van Dore
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 30 '44 500w

"The tale of the siege of Leningrad no doubt will be told and retold in its many phases in future books; perhaps a great novel will come out of it. This book is just a starter. It is illustrated with some thirty fairly good photographs." Marcus Duffield
Weekly Book Review p10 F 6 '44 430w

SLADEN, FRANK JOSEPH, ed. Psychiatry and the war. 505p $5 Thomas, C.C.

616.8 Psychology, Pathological. World war, 1939—Psychological aspects SG44-16

"Far broader in its content than its title indicates, this is 'a survey of the significance of psychiatry and its relation to disturbances in human behaviour' designed 'to help provide for the present war effort and for postwar needs.' It consists of thirty papers and the transcript of two panel discussions, representing 'the contributions of some forty leaders in the special field of psychiatry and its closely, allied interests' to a three-day conference on psychiatry held at Ann Arbor, Michigan, in October, 1942, at the invitation of the University of Michigan and the McGregor Fund. Its editor is physician in chief at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit." Scientific Bk Club R

Reviewed by G. M. Wheatley
Am J Pub Health 34:1289 D '44 600w

Reviewed by W. A. R. Leys
Christian Century 61:1025 S 6 '44 550w

Current Hist 7:135 Ag '44 40w

School & Society 60:16 Jl 1 '44 80w

"Both because of the topics considered and the scientific eminence of the many authors, this book provides a very satisfactory review of the entire psychiatric field as it has been cultivated in America in recent years and as its workers are mobilized for effective participation in the war. It will of course be read, in part if not in whole, by every alert psychiatrist, but in addition it should find many readers among psychologists, sociologists, and medical men in general. The interested layman—and there are many such—will find it as well a volume worthy of careful perusal."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 S '44 330w

"The sociologist will find [the book] a veritable gold mine of factual information." E. R. Groves
+ Social Forces 23:218 D '44 110w

"This book is a compilation of the papers read. It is unquestionably the best collection available on the subject. No one practicing or interested in psychiatry can afford not to read every word of it." F. F. Tallman
+ Survey 80:333 N '44 220w

SLAUGHTER, FRANK GILL. Battle surgeon. 265p $2.50 Doubleday 44-2816

Novel of love and war. The principals are a hard-boiled American doctor, who had been thru the Spanish war before he landed in the North African fray, and beautiful Linda Adams, America's ace woman reporter. The climax comes when the two are left behind to bury Linda's beloved younger brother.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p8 Mr 5 '44 160w

— Kirkus 12:3 Ja 1 '44 120w

"A fast-moving, romantic, none-too-credible adventure story about a field hospital unit. . . The half of the book—and luckily it is a generous half—which shows us Rick Winter at work, setting up a mobile hospital unit, operating under battle conditions, applying new techniques for the control of shock or the treatment of blast injuries, is well worth the price of admission." Margaret Wallace
+ — N Y Times p21 F 27 '44 320w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 19 '44 240w

SLICHTER, SUMNER HUBER. Present savings and postwar markets. 73p $1 McGraw

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy. Income. Investments. World war, 1939—Economic aspects 43-16503

"The book is concerned with the implications of the enormous increase in cash, bank deposits, government securities, and the debt position as these relate to governments, individuals, and business units. At war's end, debts will be greatly reduced, except the Federal debt, and businesses and individuals will have their supply of money and assets readily convertible into money augmented to all-time highs. . . The author is optimistic in the light of the accumulation of purchasing power and deferred demand for the short-run postwar period, but doubts whether adequate plans are being made for the long pull." Ann Am Acad

"While Professor Slichter's work is very suggestive and penetrating in many of its details, it is rather disappointing as a whole. Primarily this is because the conceptual framework behind the quantitative models presented is neither well-knit nor adequate. Furthermore, the handling of some of the statistics is superficial." Milton Gilbert
+ — Am Econ R 34:384 Je '44 1400w

Reviewed by E. P. Schmidt
Ann Am Acad 235:152 S '44 230w

SLOANE, ROSCOE CHESTER, and MONTZ, JOHN MCGILL. Elements of topographic drawing. 2d ed 251p il $3 McGraw

526.98 Topographical drawing 43-22845

"The great advances made in military equipment and practice, air transportation, and railway equipment and service have resulted in many changes and additions in the standard symbols used by these organizations. This edition has two primary objects: first, to revise all symbols to conform to current practice; second, to include a discussion of the use of the polar planimeter and the elements of the common forms of map projection." (Pref to the second edition) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1930.

Booklist 40:215 F 15 '44

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:8 Ja '44

SLOBODKIN, LOUIS. Friendly animals; il. by the author. [22p] $1.50 Vanguard 44-9409

Picture book with very brief text, showing the dog, the cat, the rabbit, chicks, and other familiar animals, all in friendly guise.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p18 N 12 '44 90w

Booklist 41:112 D 1 '44

Cath World 160:279 D '44 50w

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:127 N 17 '44 10w

"A large-size picture book in soft colors designed to introduce very young children, both the timid and the reckless ones, to the animals they will meet in everyday life."
+ Horn Bk 20:470 N '44 60w

"A bunny, a lamb, an elephant, a bear, and many others, look as if they had been just freshly crayoned on the pages. They are done in soft black lines and there are touches of rose and blue to set them off. The book will appeal to very little children." M. C. Skinner
+ Library J 69:862 O 15 '44 70w

"Excellent black-and-white drawings of domestic animals and the small nearby wild ones with whom children get acquainted, as well as a few they would meet at the zoo. A bit of verse leads happily from one friend to another. Little children from two to four would welcome the animals with whom they are familiar with delight." Isabel McLaughlin
+ Library J 69:1105 D 15 '44 70w

Sat R of Lit 27:29 N 11 '44 20w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 3 '44 80w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 D 31 '44 200w

SLOBODKIN, LOUIS. Magic Michael. [48p] il $1.50 Macmillan 44-6840

Picture story book about an imaginative small boy who liked to pretend he was some kind of bird or animal. Then one day his father bought him a bicycle and Michael decided to give up his idle fancies and become just a boy.

SLOBODKIN, LOUIS—Continued
Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p15 O 29 '44 200w
Booklist 41:28 S '44
Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 50w

"Both pictures and rhymes have a liveliness of creative humor that will delight youngsters from four to six." F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Ag 28 '44 100w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:375 S '44 70w

"In this first book, entirely his own, Mr. Slobodkin has evidently enjoyed picturing his son's lively imagination, and he again shows understanding and humorous tolerance of children. Result is a book of animated, playful, clever drawings in color." Sonja Wennerblad
+ Library J 69:764 S 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by M. C. Skinner
Library J 69:861 O 15 '44 70w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p26 O 29 '44 160w
New Yorker 20:83 D 16 '44 50w

"Magic Michael is a breathless adventure in action and color and laughter. How the children will revel in it. It has something of the quality of 'To Think That I Saw It on Mulberry Street.' . . In spite of war restrictions, the format and color printing of this delightful book are completely satisfying." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:28 S 23 '44 270w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 20 '44 110w

"So many transformations, none of them getting anywhere, may sate the appetite of all but children of the Michael type; the book has a short range in readers. But within this range it will be welcomed." M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 27 '44 300w

SLURZBERG, MORRIS, and OSTERHELD, WILLIAM. Electrical essentials of radio. 529p il $4 McGraw 537 Electricity. Electric engineering. Radio 44-4768

"This book represents the notes and supplementary material used by the authors for the past twelve years in teaching electricity and radio to high-school pupils and to men working in the radio and communication industry. These notes have also been used by the authors in training men in the signal corps, and in the enlisted signal corps reserve and for pre-induction courses in high school. This book is written for the reader with a limited mathematical background who is interested in studying the principles of electricity as applied to radio and electronics." (Pref) Index.

Booklist 41:13 S '44
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:503 Je 1 '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:31 Ap '44

SMART, MOLLIE STEVENS, (MRS RUSSELL COOK SMART), and SMART, RUSSELL COOK. It's a wise parent; il. by Ruth Wood. 206p $2 Scribner
649.1 Children—Management 44-47126

Information on various phases of child training by two experts in the field of child psychology. Partial contents: It's a wise parent; Let's pretend; Eating can be fun; Helping around the house; Stethoscopes and tongue depressors; Those awful children down the block; Manners at home and abroad; Brother and sister act; Setting the stage for school; Who also knows himself; Recommended books.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p4 Ja 21 '45 150w
Booklist 41:120 D 15 '44

"The foolish parent may be started on the way to parental wisdom, and the wise one made wiser still, by giving attention to the helpful suggestions pleasantly conveyed by these competent advisers. The style is informal, but the evidence accumulates, as one reads, that these authors know all they need to know about the psychological and other scientific aspects of their theme, and they certainly have an intimate firsthand acquaintance with children."
+ Christian Century 61:1419 D 6 '44 80w
Kirkus 12:462 O 1 '44 70w
Springf'd Republican p4d N 26 '44 220w
Weekly Book Review p22 Ja 21 '45 290w

SMEDLEY, MRS DOREE (OWENS), and GINN, ANN. Your career as a food specialist. 199p il $2.50 Dutton
641 Woman—Occupations 43-16111

A career book for older girls who are interested in home economics. Includes not only the field of nutritionist in hotels, restaurants, and hospitals, but also the place of trained workers on the radio, in the airlines, and in journalism. Many women successful in these fields are cited. Illustrated with photographs. Index.

Booklist 40:179 Ja 15 '44

"Biography, anecdotes, photographs serve to enliven the informative material." H. P. H.
+ J Home Econ 36:170 Mr '44 30w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1007 D 1 '43 30w
Springf'd Republican p6 N 26 '43 70w
Wis Lib Bul 40:14 Ja '44

SMITH, ARTHUR JAMES MARSHALL. News of the phoenix, and other poems. 42p $2 Coward-McCann [6s Hatchard]
811 A44-345

Volume of poems by a Canadian poet who has taught at Michigan State College.

"'Be traditional, catholic and alive,' Mr. Smith is quoted as saying; he is certainly lively; eclectic, so far, rather than catholic; he has not yet settled down to a style. He writes sonnets with Thee's and Thou's; I have read other poems by Mr. Smith, not gathered into his book, that I would rather find here than some of these. . . Mr. Smith handles satirical poetry, whose Muse cries aloud in our time for a brisk and ready wooer, with real exuberance and wit." Rolfe Humphries
+ New Repub 110:634 My 8 '44 240w

"The good poems in this volume are distinguished by a disciplined expression of bitterness and by the biting implications that result from that control. They succeed in joining venial particulars to grand universals, communicating a sense of outrage through the pressure under which they are fused. . . Beyond the three or four poems that achieve success in this expression, however, the reader finds a sort of rarefied grab-bag of unrealized, or conventional, poems which might be assigned easily to a place among the collected works of other poets, and which would rest there with an easy and marginal distinction." J. M. Brinnin
+ — Poetry 65:157 D '44 650w

SMITH, CHARD POWERS. He's in the artillery now. 256p il $2.75 McBride
355 U.S.—Army—Artillery 43-18487

Describes in detail the daily life of a typical soldier in the artillery, taking up his course week by week. Copiously illustrated. For older boys.

"Boys will delight in reading about Joe Boom and his reactions, about the details of how big guns work, of what is actually learned in each week of the course, of commando tactics and the like. . . The book is a very reassuring one." Miriam Snow
+ Library J 69:120 F 1 '44 100w
Springf'd Republican p8 Ja 24 '44 250w

Reviewed by J. I. Greene
Weekly Book Review p13 Mr 26 '44 450w

SMITH, DOUGLAS M., and CARNES, CECIL. American guerrilla fighting behind the enemy lines. 316p il $3 Bobbs

940.548173 Guerrillas. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-15530

An American officer, who saw service in the first World war, joined the French Foreign Legion, and has written this account of his experiences in guerrilla fighting in Syria and in North Africa. Index.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:492 Ap '44 20w

" 'American Guerrilla,' though now and then tinged with brash egotism, is a stirring, first-hand account of what can be accomplished by small units of skilled, highly trained, hardened soldiers behind enemy lines." P. J. Searles
+ — Weekly Book Review p20 D 12 '43 650w

SMITH, ED SINCLAIR. Automatic control engineering. 367p $4 McGraw

620.78 Engineering instruments 44-6615

"An analytical study of the principles of control with studies of various types of practical control mechanisms. Intended primarily for engineers. The appendixes occupy about half of the volume and cover such topics as: Review of basic physics; The mathematics of transients, a short review; Functions of a complex variable; The Laplace transform in practical use. Appendix E, References on control, lists books, articles and selected patents." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:653 Ag '44 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:45 Jl '44

SMITH, EDGAR WADSWORTH, ed. Profile by gaslight. 312p il $2.75 Simon & Schuster

823 Doyle, Sir Arthur Conan 44-3459

A collection of essays and poems by various hands, dealing with the "private life of Sherlock Holmes." The materials are arranged under the headings: Sherlock Holmes the legend; Sherlock Holmes the man; About Dr Watson; The Baker Street scene; The Baker Street Irregulars.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p4 Ap 9 '44 250w
Booklist 40:300 My 1 '44
Kirkus 12:56 F 1 '44 130w

" 'Profile by Gaslight' belongs to the same general field as 'Baker Street Studies,' edited by H. W. Bell and published in England in 1934, and '221-B,' compiled by Vincent Starrett and issued here four years ago. Since comparison is inevitable, it may as well be said at once that the present anthology, though substantially larger, will not supersede or supplant either predecessor in the area of higher Sherlockian criticism. This is not to say, however, that it is without ample virtue in its own right. Whereas the previous volumes addressed themselves chiefly to post-graduate students, Mr. Smith has consciously attempted to make his collection intelligible and enjoyable to the common or garden variety of Holmes lover." Howard Haycraft
+ N Y Times p1 Ap 2 '44 1950w
New Yorker 20:92 Ap 8 '44 140w

"Book-of-the-Year for aficionados, and a joy forever—even if you never heard of S. Holmes in your life. Required reading."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Ap 1 '44 40w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 9 '44 400w

"Edgar W. Smith brings the private life of Holmes and Watson, if not under the microscope, at least to the scrutiny of many eyes keen, expert, yet affectionate. What 'Baker Street Studies' began and Vincent Starrett's masterpiece of pseudo-biography brought to fine flower, this 'irregular reader' enriches." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 9 '44 220w

SMITH, EDWARD CONRAD, and ZURCHER, ARNOLD JOHN, eds. Dictionary of American politics. rev ed 358p il maps $3; (college outline ser) pa $1.25 Barnes & Noble

320.973 U.S.—Politics and government 44-8921

"A convenient quick reference tool, first published in 1888 and revised in 1924. Short definitions of terms in general use in government and politics, including slogans, nicknames, and wartime agencies in one alphabet. Numerous small maps in the text; the text of the Constitution and a list of the presidents appended." (Booklist) For earlier edition see Book Review Digest, 1924.

"The compilers of a dictionary of politics are at the outset confronted by the difficulty that the subject has no precise terminology. When the natural scientist defines a term, the possible margain of error is small and his definition is likely to give rise to little controversy among his colleagues. Similar attempts by political scientists are not likely to meet such a reception. . . So far as the reviewer can see, and keeping in mind the qualifications above, the editors have done a good job." L. W. Lancaster
Ann Am Acad 237:235 Ja 15 '45 330w
Booklist 41:155 Ja 15 '45

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 7:500 D '44 40w

SMITH, ELMER BOYD. So long ago. 35p il $2 Houghton

560 Paleontology—Juvenile literature 44-40092

In pictures and brief text Dr Peter takes his small nephew on an imaginary journey back to palaeozoic days, and brings the story of evolution thru its various stages to our own times.

"Until you look upon E. Boyd Smith's amazing drawings you won't believe that prehistoric monsters could be so thoroughly attractive and engaging. Perhaps it is the beautifully soft colors of the pictures that turn the trick. At any rate, this is a fascinating and instructive book for children from 8 up, with illustrations they will pore over for hours, and a good salting of humor, both in pictures and in text." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p10 My 14 '44 180w
Booklist 40:307 My 1 '44

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p8 Ap 24 '44 210w

"The curiosity about prehistoric monsters, felt by many children, may find satisfaction in the dramatic and amusing pictures of the early creatures seen by Bobby and his uncle in the Natural History Museum. . . The animals' behavior may not always be pictured with exactitude, for no one really can say how the strange creatures acted, but scientific authorities tell us the information is 'reasonably accurate.' " A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:205 My '44 80w

"A beautiful book. . . Any small boy or girl who is fascinated by the models and fossils in the Museum will find this absorbingly interesting and feel that it makes more sense than more exact ways of telling the story."
+ Kirkus 12:169 Ap 1 '44 130w

Reviewed by Marian Herr
Library J 69:464 My 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by M. C. Skinner
Library J 69:862 O 15 '44 60w

"Mr. Smith died last October in his eighty-third year, but although 'So Long Ago' was made during the latter part of his life it has all the gayety, the freshness, the youthful enthusiasm of his earlier books. These pictures, with their exquisite coloring, of the prehistoric animals, 'the little beginners in the mud,' the amphibians, the reptiles and the mammals, up to the zoo animals of today, suggest to a remarkable degree the wonder and beauty of a strange new world." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p22 My 7 '44 280w
New Yorker 20:58 Jl 8 '44 120w

SMITH, E. B.—Continued

"With a sprinkling of technical terms, the facts are presented so well that they make a fine introduction to such books as W. Maxwell Reed's 'The Earth for Sam,' and 'The Sea for Sam.' E. Boyd Smith has done many books for children and again his lovely full-colored drawings have a freshness and humor entirely new. Everyone who knew E. Boyd Smith will cherish this last book published after his death." M. E. S.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 30 '44 110w

"I would have adored this at eight. Well, I like it now." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 23 '44 300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:87 Je '44

SMITH, ELVA SOPHRONIA, and HAZELTINE, ALICE ISABEL, comps. Christmas book of legends and stories. 429p il $2.50 Lothrop

394.268 Christmas 44-51229

First published in 1915 with the title: Christmas in Legend and Story (Book Review Digest, 1915). "New material and two double-spread illustrations by Roger Duvoisin have been added and the type completely reset." (Booklist)

Booklist 41:157 Ja 15 '45

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:257 D 22 '44 20w

SMITH, GEORGE GEOFFREY. Gas turbines and jet propulsion for aircraft; thermal jet propulsion systems with rotary, reciprocating or combined units; a survey of steam and gas turbines driving airscrews. 80p il $1.50 Aerosphere [3s 6d Flight pub. co]

629.13435 Airplane engines. Gas turbines 44-5641

"A compilation of the articles on jet-propelled aircraft which appeared in Flight magazine from August, 1941, to August, 1943. The material is concerned chiefly with the thermal jet system of propulsion." N Y New Tech Bks

Library J 69:32 Ja 1 '44 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:25 Ap '44

"Discusses the general principles of this new and intriguing subject so clearly and interestingly that this little book, the only one yet available on jet propulsion, is enjoying deserved popularity." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 13 '44 130w

SMITH, GEORGE SMEDLEY. Lines for the canonization of Pedro Domecq. 67p $3.50; pa $2 Anderson & Ritchie

811 43-13742

"George Smedley Smith is a poet of latinity, a sort of tropical Hopkins seducing life with words. . . Lines for the Canonization of Pedro Domecq is a unique and elusive volume, wherein quadroons 'stalked by empasmic butterflies' move in a green and silver carnival. . . The poet explains his disassociation 'from everything but my own dimishing dimensions.' . . Of such a poet it is commonly said that he sacrifices meaning to music, or significance to color; of Mr. Smith it is more accurate to say that he derives meanings impressionistically and expresses significance in terms of color." Poetry

"Fantasy and originality are there—a brilliantly colored Mediterranean or Latin American imagery tossed around as a juggler tosses colored balls, with great rapidity. But there is too much rapid motion flashing before the reader's eyes: nothing really emerges except a sense of almost hysterical brightness and movement." David Daiches

New Repub 109:149 Ag 2 '43 90w

"A genuine poet, possessing a wry magic and a high originality." Nelson Algren

+ Poetry 63:52 O '43 330w

SMITH, GUY HAROLD; GOOD, DOROTHY, and MCCUNE, SHANNON BOYD-BAILEY. Japan; a geographical view. 104p maps pa $1.50 Am. geographical soc.

330.952 Japan—Economic conditions 43-17954

"This pertinent book of facts brings together 'information concerning the physical geography, resources, population and economic life of Japan,' and points to 'connections between these basic conditions and the expansionism of Japanese military leaders.' Numerous statistical tables, of reference value. Folding maps showing the population and physiography of Japan, other maps. Index." Bookmark

Bookmark 5:15 Mr '44

Current Hist 6:260 Mr '44 20w

"This handbook is a carefully selected and organized presentation of basic geographical facts and statistics concerning pre-Pearl Harbor Japan. Timeliness is one of its several recommendations, for it appears at a period when various military training programs and civilian organizations, as well as individuals both in and out of uniform, are in need of just such content as it contains. Although many of the facts and statistics concerning physical geography, resources, population, and economic life are available in piecemeal form in a number of scattered English-language publications, this is the only place where, for the latest year for which reliable statistics are available, they are brought together in easily available compact form. . . To the reviewer the single major weakness of the handbook is in the matter of illustrations. Geographical publications are distinguished and featured by the number and quality of their illustrative materials in the form of maps, sketches, and diagrams, and the American Geographical Society in particular has set national standards in this respect. The general dearth of illustrations in this geographical handbook on Japan is, therefore, a major sin of omission." G. T. Trewartha

+ — Pacific Affairs 17:120 Mr '44 700w

"[This book] is timely, and is packed with facts that have been well organized and presented in a non-technical way. Even those whose primary interest lies in the field of geography can read it with profit, and it should be invaluable for the general reader, as well as for use as a text in colleges and high schools." G. S. Noss

+ Pol Sci Q 58:633 D '43 450w

SMITH, HARRY ALLEN. Lost in the horse latitudes; il. by Leo Hershfield. 224p $2 Doubleday

817 Journalists—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-47416

A book of humorous essays, for the most part dealing with the author's experiences in Hollywood.

"Smith is a writer and phrasemaker of uncommon vividness and skill; now that he has more than established himself as a laugh producer, why could he not try to create a new book of humor with more depth and permanence?" W. F. Morse

+ — Book Week p11 O 22 '44 310w

Boston Globe p29 N 29 '44 60w

"A berserk, daffy companion to Low Man on the Totem Pole and Life in a Putty Knife Factory, which once again adds nothing to world literature or enlightenment, but considerable hilarity in the enjoyment of ribald reminiscences."

Kirkus 12:389 S 1 '44 150w

"Obviously Smith is a bawdy humorist, with a style that is fast, accurate and refreshingly vulgar. But beyond this scholastic evaluation, what is he? There are few clues in this new book; one day while we are doubled up over a Smith book his pals from Mars will move in and take us over, and it will probably be the best thing that ever happened to us." Thomas Sugrue

+ N Y Times p14 N 26 '44 440w

"The land of the false eyelash and the flying custard pie struck Mr. Smith as being very, very funny, and he tries hard—desperately hard—to match its funniness with his own. The performance is embarrassing as well as depressing, for Mr. Smith seems to share the belief of five-year-olds that it is hilariously daring to talk bathroom talk in front of company. The illustrations, by Leo Hershfield, do not help at all."

— New Yorker 20:98 N 11 '44 90w

Springf'd Republican p4d N 5 '44 220w

"H. Allen Smith is an author the tip of whose tongue is completely surrounded by cheek. That attitude inevitably won him an invitation to Hollywood, which he accepted without letting the muscles sag. He describes his experiences with impish frankness and the calculated touch of irreverence which has become the hallmark of these recitals. He tells any number of good stories, and a few that are hardly worth shelf room." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p47 N 12 '44 300w

SMITH, HARVEY HASSALL. Nine to five. 348p $2.50 Scribner

44-3243

Story of the officers and personnel in a typical American office. From the president to the stenographers and the office boy, each character is presented and something of his or her life is included. The central character is Gail Allen, one of the secretaries, who found romance as well as work on her first job.

"Nobody'll say that 'Nine to Five' is enduring literature, but it is a novel that will engage an idle hour, come one can find such in 1944." Edgar Main

+ Book Week p6 Ap 16 '44 330w

"At the start this panorama of office life seems stereotyped and obvious—already 'dated.' But gradually one gets interested in the personalities of the office staff, in their problems below the surface, behind the front, of humor and tragedy and romance and office politics."

+ Kirkus 12:28 Ja 15 '44 160w

Reviewed by Henrietta Weigel

N Y Times p13 Ap 2 '44 400w

"Harvey Smith has rung all the changes on the real inside story of an office and his novel possesses a gusty authenticity which makes it both amusing and readable." L. S. Munn

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 600w

"The author hits his target but he scatters his shots." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 26 '44 100w

SMITH, HERMAN. Kitchens near and far; il. by Eleanor Sense. 277p $2 Barrows

641.5 Cookery 44-51201

Describes the author's trip around the world. Everywhere he went he discussed good food and added to his store of recipes, and the recipes are included in this tale of his wanderings. The inspiration for this interest in cooking dates back to his youth, when Stina, friend and cook, taught him about cooking as an art. Index.

Booklist 41:134 Ja 1 '45

"Fun reading—but not applicable to the average housewife's practical needs."

Kirkus 12:542 D 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by L. M. Palmer

N Y Times p29 Ja 14 '45 150w

SMITH, LAURENCE DWIGHT. Counterfeiting; crime against the people. 254p il $3.50 Norton

332.9 Counterfeits and counterfeiting 44-4672

Study of counterfeiting, written for the layman. Includes a history of counterfeiting, showing methods of counterfeiters and the technique of government agents in tracking them down. Has a section of spotting bad money. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:372 Jl 1 '44

Kirkus 12:191 Ap 15 '44 170w

Reviewed by Fowler Hill

N Y Times p18 Jl 16 '44 440w

"A fascinating narrative, largely gleaned from government sources. . . The account of some of the more spectacular convictions is as lively as detective fiction. Mr. Smith rounds out his volume with a history of counterfeiting and gives practical instruction in naked eye and magnifying glass detection."

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Jl 16 '44 150w

SMITH, LILLIAN. Strange fruit; a novel. 371p $2.75 Reynal

44-40028

Regional novel of the deep South. It is the story of the love of an educated Negro girl for a white man, and the tragedies of murder and lynching which are the fruit of that love.

"In its light and shade, in its violent contrasts, the book is absorbing. . . And here are other scenes so coarse in word and implication that they are bound to offend. But despite the shock that is here, I find nothing in the novel that is pornographic; the effect is not to make you want to follow after Nonnie and Tracy. Without the shock, I doubt if the moral would have gone home. At the speed things are moving today, I suspect we shall be needing a new Uncle Tom's Cabin for each decade. This one comes from the South, and this time New England seems afraid of it." Edward Weeks

+ — Atlantic 173:127 My '44 450w

"One of the finest, most sensitive novels of the season. Her theme is a startling and controversial one. Her aim is to shed light not only on the problems of the South as they revolve around the race question, but also on one phase of it which has never been fully treated before, which has remained an illicit, regional dirty joke: the relations of Negro women and white men." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p3 Mr 5 '44 950w

Booklist 40:252 Mr 15 '44

"One of the literary devices she employs—shifting from present tense to past and back again without warning—confuses the reader. Most important of all, presumably for the purpose of appealing to a vulgar multitude, she sins against good taste so grossly as to make her story quite unfit for general circulation. It seems curious enough that 'the daughter of one of the South's oldest families' should . . . employ phrases which decent people regard as unprintable." Joseph McSorley

— Cath World 159:182 My '44 320w

"This is a good novel, well constructed, tense in plot, peopled with weak and puzzled and well meaning human beings, a little annoying in style at first, though one soon becomes used to the mannerisms. But no white American will be able to read it solely as a piece of fiction. . . Because of its dealing with a problem which, more than any other, threatens the future of the country it can claim to be the most important novel of the year." Cecelia Gaul

+ Christian Century 61:854 Jl 19 '44 380w

"No one taking up this novel should expect more entertainment, or easy pleasure in its reading. It is a painful book because it deals with a tremendous and a desperately dangerous subject. To many readers, the uncouth speech and licentious behavior will come as an affront. It is at least debatable whether Miss Smith could not have gained the effect she desired with somewhat less stress along just these lines. And yet one feels that it is her innate integrity, her honesty of portrayal, which has caused her to write of these people and their lives precisely as she knows them to be. As an author, she is tremendously in earnest." M. W.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 My 1 '44 650w

SMITH, LILLIAN—Continued

"No one that I know of makes more clear the personal and group frustrations of the South. No one is more anguished than she at the obscenity of the race conflict. No one has made it more artistically clear that the South is a system of spoken and unspoken caste, where human life is forfeit to the concept of 'a white man's world.' Or that it is impossible, in that part of America, to be a Christian, while every day a Negro soul is lynched. Yet, somehow, in the world of realities and of ideas the novel tends to fall to pieces in her hands. She seems to be saying that men live by symbols, and that if we but change the symbols all is well." Francis Downing

+ — Commonweal 39:626 Ap 7 '44 800w

"A difficult book to place for a market which is ill-defined. Northerners may shy away from it because of distaste; the South will resent it—but read it and deny its implications; conservatives everywhere, no matter what their social conscience will call it 'unnecessarily crude'. To me, it rang truer than Native Son; it is sensational without being melodramatic. Read it."

+ Kirkus 12:4 Ja 1 '44 300w

"Written realistically, this novel is a sympathetic, authoritative portrayal of one of America's deep problems and is recommended both for its sociological value and its literary excellence." H. G. Kelley

+ Library J 69:160 F 15 '44 70w

"'Strange Fruit' is so wide in its human understanding that its Negro tragedy becomes the tragedy of anyone who lives in a world in which minorities suffer; when it ends in a lynching, we are as sorry and frightened for the lynchers as for the victim. Indeed, we are terrified, for ourselves, at the realization that this is what we have made of our human possibility—a rare effect for the problem novel to produce. Yet Miss Smith's novel is no more than a problem novel; it is simply a very good one." Diana Trilling

+ Nation 158:342 Mr 18 '44 800w

"Since this is Lillian Smith's first novel, I expect to hear the critics describe it as 'promising.' If so, they will be talking nonsense, and not for the first time. There is less promise in 'Strange Fruit' than in dozens of books I remember, including some of those dealing with similar themes. Miss Smith seems to lack the specifically literary gifts of William Faulkner, let us say, or Carson McCullers; and it is possible that her talents will lead her eventually into some other field than the novel. But she has done something in this book that nobody did before her; she has shown that a lynching was intimately connected with the life of a whole community; that it explains and condemns a whole social order. Her book is not a promise but an achievement." Malcolm Cowley

+ — New Repub 110:320 Mr 6 '44 1300w

"One of the most rewarding first novels to come out of the South in years. . . 'Strange Fruit' is a regional novel, in the finest sense. As such, it offers a magnificently detailed picture of the small-town South, lashed by an urge for self-destruction as old as time. The author has suggested no cure for that urge: you will find no black messiahs here, no white devils. . . . But the tragedy of the South is explicit in every line." William Du Bois

+ N Y Times p1 Mr 5 '44 1400w

"It is written honestly and with a fine bitterness against the inhumanity of Southern whites to blacks and it rings some interesting changes on a theme which one might have thought had been worn threadbare. Edifying and saddening reading."

+ New Yorker 20:81 Mr 4 '44 70w

"'Strange Fruit' is a major novel whatever else you may think of it. Firmly and convincingly written, with great strength and feeling and power, it is often eloquent. The atmosphere is superb; characters—including the colored ones are seen with uncanny insight. As a matter of fact, this is the first novel I have ever read which I have felt really gives you a genuine and penetrating insight into the colored mind." Struthers Burt

+ Sat R of Lit 27:10 Mr 11 '44 1100w

Sat R of Lit 27:14 Ap 1 '44 800w (Discussion)

Reviewed by A. G. Smith

Social Forces 23:113 O '44 1350w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 5 '44 600w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen

Survey G 33:221 Ap '44 1050w

Time 43:99 Mr 20 '44 950w

"In 'Strange Fruit' Lillian Smith, a Southern white woman, has dared to say all the things that, conventionally, no Southerner must ever say or let be said in his presence concerning the tense and tangled relationship between the races. And has produced in the saying a deeply significant novel. If this fine-textured, moving account of life in a typical Georgia village near Valdosta slips past the old barriers of prejudice and fear and gets a sympathetic reading in the South, it may be a potent force in helping to free the Negro from the psychological bonds which are currently cutting so deep into his social and racial pride." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p1 Mr 5 '44 1200w

Wis Lib Bul 40:56 Ap '44

"Its portrayal of Negroes just as people with special troubles of their own is masterly. For all its violence, for all its preoccupation with weak and petty people, Strange Fruit is so sincere, so profoundly sad, so honestly impartial that it is extremely moving. It is written with much use of the stream of consciousness method and many deft time shifts. It is a very considerable achievement." Orville Prescott

+ Yale R n s 33:x spring '44 340w

SMITH, OTTO MITCHELL, and SHEERAR, LEONARD FRANCIS. Quantitative chemical methods for engineering students. 118p spir $2.50 McGraw

545 Chemistry, Analytic—Quantitative 44-5137

"A laboratory manual containing exercises in the testing and analyzing of materials used by engineers such as fuels, gases, lubricants, and metals and alloys. An introductory chapter on chemical literature is included, with library exercises to acquaint the student with the use of technical dictionaries, handbooks, indexes, periodicals, and abstract journals." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Chem & Met Eng 51:189 Jl '44 100w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 68:1008 D 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:22 Ap '44

SMITH, ROY LEMON. It all happened once before. 144p $1 Abingdon-Cokesbury

933 Jews—History 44-8218

"In [this] survey of crucial periods of Hebrew history, Dr. Smith shows that the wrong paths which nations and individuals took in those early centuries are essentially the same that they are tempted to take, and sometimes do take, in our times, and that the roads to righteousness and recovery are marked by the same signposts. Historical parallels are never perfect, but they are closest in the moral aspects of history. These Mendenhall lectures, at De Pauw University in 1943, do not force the parallels beyond the limits of their validity, but they do give a trustworthy picture of the decisive struggles of the Hebrew people, an accurate account of the guidance offered by the prophets, and a wise application of all this to the understanding of our own age and its deepest needs." Christian Century

---

Reviewed by Preston Bradley

Book Week p10 O 22 '44 320w

"A remarkably readable and critically sound interpretative survey."

+ Christian Century 61:1141 O 4 '44 130w

"There is much helpful material here for the preacher and Bible teacher."

+ Kirkus 12:497 N 1 '44 90w

SMUTS, JAN CHRISTIAAN. Toward a better world. 308p $2.75 Duell

916.8 South Africa. Reconstruction (1939-) 44-1348

"A collection of addresses on a wide variety of subjects, ranging from contemporary science to the world of the future, by the seventy-four-year-old Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, who is also a naturalist, a philosopher, and a military strategist." (New Yorker) "Preceded by an introductory biographical sketch and chronologically arranged, the speeches cover a span of over 25 years, to October 19, 1943. . . A British publication, Plans for a better world, evidently was not as inclusive as this volume, since it was published in 1942." (Booklist)

"We want to know more of Smuts' economic ideas, more about the racial problem as South Africa has handled it, more about post-war reconstruction as the Union sees it. I found his recapitulation of science in the modern world the most precise, where I had hoped to find his plans for the future the most exacting. But the volume is definitely worth reading for the picture of a fine mind which has kept up with the times." Louis Zara

+ Book Week p3 F 6 '44 450w

Booklist 40:233 Mr 1 '44

Canadian Forum 24:21 Ap '44 360w

Cath World 158:603 Mr '44 90w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:665 Jl '44 10w

"Anyone interested in Smuts or South Africa will find these speeches worth reading." J. A. Sohon

+ Library J 69:71 Ja 15 '44 40w

"This collection does not fall into the category of printed, political speeches. Instead it can be considered as a series of lectures delivered by a wise and Christian gentleman." Stuart Cloete

+ N Y Times p4 F 6 '44 600w

"Interesting throughout, despite its rather inevitable South African orientation, and written in a simple, vigorous, straightforward style that suggests a simple, vigorous, straightforward personality."

+ New Yorker 19:83 F 5 '44 90w

"'Toward a Better World' shows Smuts's holistic philosophy to be eminently practical and empirical; his unity an ever-growing, ever-changing thing. . . It also gives rewarding glimpses of a many-sided man, of mature wisdom and diverse accomplishments, with a happy gift for expression and an abiding faith in human progress." Harry Baehr

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ja 30 '44 650w

SNELL, FOSTER DEE, and BIFFEN, FRANK MOODY. Commercial methods of analysis; with photomicrographs by George Lord. 753p il $6 McGraw

545 Chemistry, Analytic—Quantitative. Chemistry, Technical 44-9052

"A collection of methods of chemical analysis for use in evaluating products found in commerce with emphasis on time saving. Chapters on 'Spot Tests,' 'Synthetic Resins,' 'Synthetic Flastomers and Emulsions' and information on tools of the analyst." Library J

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:653 Ag '44 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:41 Jl '44

SNIDER, JOHN D. I love books; why, what, how, and when we should read. rev ed 574p il $2.50 Review & H.

027 Books and reading. Bibliography—Best books 44-40030

"Simply written appreciation of books which emphasizes the inspirational values of reading. The unaffected style, the anecdotes, and quotations may lead young people to the books. A new edition of a 1942 book, with 35 pages of new material and an index added. Bibliography: p.497-502; classified reading lists." Booklist

Booklist 40:255 Mr 15 '44

"The book is mainly intended for young readers and has some merit as a guide to general literature. But the division drawn between morally good and morally bad books is rather arbitrary and the heaping up of argument in favor of good reading becomes tediously pontifical." Alan Creighton

Canadian Forum 24:242 Ja '45 100w

Cath World 160:382 Ja '45 140w

"With the whole world in turmoil, it is reassuring to read a book about books. John D. Snider's 'I Love Books' is a volume inviting in appearance and format, well indexed, and containing recommended lists of books on a variety of subjects." Nettie Wysor

+ School & Society 60:173 S 9 '44 1400w

SNOW, MRS ALICE (ROWE). Log of a sea captain's daughter. 108p il $1 Meador

910.4 Voyages and travels. Seafaring life 44-5443

The story of the author's four-years voyage with her father and mother in the British bark Russell. The time was the 1880's, and the Russell carried freight in the North and South Atlantic, the South Pacific, and the Antarctic.

"There is good travel background and a child's-eye view of adventures, nice and ingenious."

+ Boston Globe p15 Je 21 '44 110w

"Gives a livelier picture of miscellaneous trading in the eighties than many a more pretentious book." H. C. Kittredge

+ New Eng Q 17:472 S '44 70w

SNOW, EDGAR. People on our side. 324p il maps $3.50 Random house

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Russia. World war, 1939—India. World war, 1939—China 44-7321

The author, a correspondent for the Saturday Evening Post, visited some seventeen countries on his assignment, but the book is devoted mainly to his experiences in Russia, China, and India. All three countries are described as they are under the pressure of war. Index.

Reviewed by Langdon Warner
Atlantic 174:129 O '44 600w

"'People on Our Side' is by far the most comprehensive and objective job of bringing our Eastern allies closer to our understanding that has yet been done. It will go a long way to clarify the many phases of the war which until now have puzzled most Americans." John Weilburg

+ Book Week p7 S 24 '44 650w

Booklist 41:40 O 1 '44

Boston Globe p31 N 29 '44 30w

Christian Science Monitor p14 S 25 '44 550w

Reviewed by Waldemar Gurian
Commonweal 40:619 O 13 '44 500w

"A human, readable book."

+ Horn Bk 20:498 N '44 70w

"An exhilarating book to read—it gives one a feeling that with enough understanding, the chances of a better postwar world are greater. But a depressing book is the picture of ineptness, inadequacies and self interest which must be overcome. Important."

+ Kirkus 12:313 Jl 15 '44 210w

"Besides being significant, book is highly readable. Heartily recommended." Thelma Brackett

+ Library J 69:697 S 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 159:358 S 23 '44 600w

Reviewed by Agnes Smedley
New Repub 111:433 O 2 '44 1250w

"Edgar Snow's latest book . . . is important not only because it is a well-written and intelligent job by an author with a wide reputation for his energy and honesty. It is still more important because of the conclusions it draws, which, whether you agree with them or not, are timely, forthright and provocative.

SNOW, EDGAR—Continued
Anybody who is interested in exercising his rights as an American citizen to voice his say in United States post-war policies should read it. 'People on Our Side' will certainly make you think." C. L. Sulzberger
+ N Y Times p1 S 10 '44 1750w

"The author has a background of personal experience in the countries he is writing about that gives his narrative a certain knowledgeableness and clarity not common to war books, and his reflective passages, especially those on China, make very good sense. Worth looking into, even by those who think they have read all the correspondent literature they can stand."
+ New Yorker 20:81 S 16 '44 180w

Reviewed by E. C. Carter
Pacific Affairs 17:505 D '44 550w

"Edgar Snow's is a good book. It is good because its emphasis is not on personal heroics but on people—on the millions of grey, nameless individuals who in the end win or lose wars and mold history. It is good because it is lucid, readable, and honest, and because it helps, as few recent books do, to understand the people on our side." Mark Gayn
+ Sat R of Lit 27:7 S 9 '44 1150w

Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein
Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 700w

Reviewed by Joseph Barnes
Weekly Book Review p3 S 10 '44 1300w

SNYDER, HAROLD ELAM. Educational inbreeding. 160p $2.35 Teachers college

371 Teachers 44-30400

"This Ph.D. study presents an analysis of the inbreeding status of 315 city-school systems based upon reports from their superintendents, a comparative analysis of 1,387 local and nonlocal teachers on the basis of certain selected characteristics generally associated with teaching competence, and an intensive examination of nine cities to determine community characteristics that may be related to inbreeding." (School & Society) Bibliography.

"This book should provide the superintendent of schools and the members of his board with some material for guidance on the problem of employment of local teachers. The study is limited by the method of obtaining the data, by the small number of cities used, and by the fact that all the cities are in one state." C. E. Swingley
El School J 45:55 S '44 400w

School & Society 59:335 My 6 '44 40w

"It is hoped that there will be further studies in this field conducted on a broader scale but in line with the general plan outlined in this study." O. S. Heckman
Social Studies 35:330 N '44 650w

SOCKMAN, RALPH WASHINGTON. Date with destiny; a preamble to Christian culture. 157p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury

261 Civilization, Christian. Reconstruction (1939-) 44-3711

The Fondren lectures for 1943, delivered by the minister of Christ church, New York city. In book form each chapter has a clause from the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States as heading. The essays aim "to lift the enduring objectives and standards of our democratic way of life above the smoke of battle and the blueprints of postwar reconstruction."

Bookmark 5:4 My '44

"Ralph W. Sockman is widely known as an author and lecturer as well as a preacher, and the present volume is representative of his vigorous and effective style." T. L. L.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Je 24 '44 450w

"One of the special delights of this little book is in the fact that it is so characteristically Sockman. Preachers will be tempted to use some of his colorful illustrations. Phrase tasters will smile at some of his happy turns and quips. His incisive thrusts at smugness will delight the sophisticated, and his impassioned advocacy of the unmovable standards of the centuries will inspire gladness in those with a reverence for history. For its helpfulness in the realm of great purpose and for its inimitable incidental delights, many will count Date With Destiny a satisfying addition to the things which men call worthy." I. M. Rose
+ Crozer Q 21:272 Jl '44 400w

"Incisively phrased, with fresh and arresting illustration. A helpful book for laymen and clergy of all creeds."
+ Kirkus 12:140 Mr 15 '44 130w

"Dr. Sockman discusses modern man in the various personal, economic, political and international aspects of his life. He says the things which one would expect him to say, but says them with exceptional vigor and beauty and with unfailing illumination. The book is valuable quite as much for its style as for its content. It deserves and will undoubtedly have a wide reading." J. H. Holmes
+ Weekly Book Review p15 Jl 30 '44 350w

SOHN, MONTE. Your loving mother; il. by Paul Brown. 212p $2 Dodd

43-17978

Satire on the babbling type of woman who cannot seem to realize what war is about, or why her son, who went to Yale, should have to go to war anyhow. The book is in the form of letters.

"The book is exaggerated into a caricature, but the author does let the mother grow a little in her sympathies, and in her realization that the home folks must take on some of the burdens of the war. It is sometimes hilarious, always absurd, a little saddening, and always barbed with satirical wit." M. D.
Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 2 '44 440w

"Any soldier receiving letters from home that faintly resemble this collection would deserve sympathy. Although designed to amuse, they lack that vestige of validity without which caricature, no matter how well intentioned, falls short of its purpose."
— Weekly Book Review p16 F 20 '44 100w

SOIFER, MRS MARGARET K. Firelight entertainments; a handbook of campfire programs. 95p il $1.50 Assn press; Revell

793.2 Entertainments 44-6818

Handbook of campfire programs, with some modifications so that they may be used indoors as well. Outlines seventeen programs, and gives background, songs, and dances. Partial contents: Indian peace council; Pioneer encampment; Cowboy barbecue; Lumberjack campfire; Hobo jungle; The circus comes to town; Mexican fiesta; Gypsy camp; Elfin fairy ring; In Sherwood forest; Song festival.

Booklist 41:60 O 15 '44
Christian Century 61:807 Jl 5 '44 20w

SOMMERS, HOBART H. Living mathematics reviewed. 360p $2.50 Follett; Grosset

510 Mathematics 43-13057

"A review for home study of the highlights of mathematics from arithmetic to calculus, presented mainly in the form of problems completely worked out. Additional exercises with answers are given at the end of the book." N Y New Tech Bks

N Y New Tech Bks 29:27 Ap '44

"The author, principal of a Chicago high school and with experience as a naval aviation instructor, has an excellent idea of what people should know and how best to explain it to them. In this book he puts his knowledge into practice." James Stokley
+ Weekly Book Review p36 N 28 '43 150w

SONDERGAARD, MRS ARENSA. My first geography of the Pacific; il. by Cornelis. 56p $2 Little

919 Pacific ocean—Juvenile literature
44-40209

"A large picture geography that tells graphically the story of the Pacific Ocean from Balboa to December 7, 1941. Stunning map end-papers and many illustrations in color and in black and white." Sat R of Lit

Book Week p7 D 31 '44 90w

Booklist 41:128 D 15 '44

"Can be read by fourth-graders but older children will probably enjoy it more and be aroused to further reading. Recommended." A. M. Anderson

+ Library J 69:1105 D 15 '44 60w

"Early in their reading experience children begin to feel the fascination of real adventure, of far voyages and distant lands. The present geography admirably satisfies this longing." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p20 Ja 14 '45 120w

"The maps and the brilliant crayon drawings are clear and beautiful."

+ New Yorker 20:86 D 16 '44 60w

Sat R of Lit 27:48 N 11 '44 30w

"With its huge colored pictures—the book, though light to hold, is uncommonly high and wide—its maps as seen from an actual airplane, and its blend of exploration of the past and the world conflict at the present, a young person gets at first sight a vivid idea of the Pacific and its islands. An older one is likely to look over his shoulder, to learn more than he thought he would from a book for children."

+ Weekly Book Review p8 N 12 '44 270w

SORENSON, FRANK ENGLAND, and ROTTER, GEORGE E. Now we fly. 184p il $1.50 Winston

629.13 Aeronautics—Juvenile literature
44-4965

"An answer to the questions that everyone asks, either out loud or to themselves, before they make their first flight in a plane. It is definitely for the layman, and is simple enough for quite young children." Sat R of Lit

"Only the very advanced nine and ten year old could comprehend the technical aspects of this book, but the eleven and twelve year old air-minded boys will find this ideal informational material in a free, easy and personalized style. . . Teachers will find of special value the chapter Worthwhile Things To Do. Excellent for social studies."

+ Kirkus 12:279 Je 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by Marian Herr
Library J 69:654 Ag '44 70w

"The information is given in a pleasant, chatty manner and there are excellent photographs." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 Jl 8 '44 50w

SOROKIN, PITIRIM ALEKSANDROVICH. Russia and the United States. 253p $3 Dutton

327.47 Russia—Relations (general) with U.S. U.S.—Relations (general) with Russia. Russia—Civilization
44-1219

"Professor Sorokin examines the similarity between America and Russia, going far back into Russian history to prove that the country was always fundamentally democratic, universally world-minded, cooperative and religious. The book ends with a philosophical-historical discussion of the causes of war and peace." (Publisher's note) The author, a Russian himself, is chairman of the department of sociology at Harvard university. Index.

Reviewed by G. S. McClellan
Am Pol Sci R 38:582 Je '44 330w

Reviewed by D. F. White
Ann Am Acad 234:133 Jl '44 550w

Reviewed by S. I. Hayakawa
Book Week p2 Mr 5 '44 320w

Booklist 40:227 Mr 1 '44

"The chief value of the book lies on the whole in the high credibility of its author; as its weakness comes from its large dependence upon impressions and not upon a closely knit and documented presentation of factual evidence." Joseph McSorley

Cath World 158:598 Mr '44 480w

Christian Science Monitor p12 Je 24 '44 450w

Commonweal 39:472 F 25 '44 420w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:664 Jl '44 50w

"Revealing—helpful—good reading—a constructive book for better understanding."

+ Kirkus 12:93 F 15 '44 150w

"This book will arouse the usual controversy which seems to thrive over any of Dr. Sorokin's works. Stimulating; important because of the problems it discusses, this book comes as an addition to a pertinent subject. The two final chapters, devoted to a plan for permanent peace, should prove useful. Recommended." J. H. Berthel

+ Library J 69:117 F 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by A. R. Williams
New Repub 110:720 My 22 '44 250w

Reviewed by Byron Dexter
N Y Times p1 F 27 '44 650w

Reviewed by M. T. Florinsky
Pol Sci Q 59:299 Je '44 950w

Reviewed by H. W. Weigert
Sat R of Lit 27:12 Ap 8 '44 950w

"Sorokin's readable style and plausible argument, his great reputation, and his wide familiarity with Russian and American culture probably will convince many readers that Russia is not a land of savages and a potential enemy to America; that the chances for world peace are menaced if we do not cooperate with Russia; and that 'unity in diversity' and world peace are desirable and possible. These propositions seem obvious to me but I am afraid Sorokin's book will not convince many of the millions of Americans who need convincing on these points." Read Bain

Social Forces 23:105 O '44 800w

Social Studies 35:192 Ap '44 40w

"There are certain things which characterize all of the writings of Prof Sorokin: His orderly and systematic way of presenting material, his ability to set forth both sides to every debatable point, his strong idealistic convictions and his presentation of data in terms of social processes rather than by snap judgment. This book is no exception to the rule. The primary value of his presentation lies in its informative character, giving the reader a picture of prerevolutionary Russia. This book will stimulate animated discussion and strong dissent, for so strongly is the case presented for the essential democratic character of the social life of this period, one is led to wonder how a revolution ever was fomented. But in any case, Sorokin makes a strong case for friendly collaboration of Russia and the United States in the future." G. N. Eddy

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 2 '44 950w

Reviewed by Hans Kohn
Survey G 33:256 My '44 140w

Time 43:98 Ap 3 '44 130w

Wis Lib Bul 40:67 My '44

SOROKIN, PITIRIM ALEKSANDROVICH. Sociocultural causality, space, time; a study of referential principles of sociology and social science. 246p $3.50 Duke univ. [21s Cambridge]

301 Sociology. Social sciences. Space and time. Causation.
43-3136

"This volume deals mainly with three referential principles of social science and sociology: sociocultural causality, sociocultural space, and sociocultural time. The prevalent sociological conceptions of the causal relationships of sociocultural phenomena, of time, and of space are taken from the natural sciences. While adapted to a study of physicochemical and partly of biological phenomena, these concepts are far from being adequate for the study of the sociocultural world. . .

SOROKIN, P. A.—Continued
This volume shows why and in what way these principles are deficient when applied to sociocultural phenomena, and it offers a constructive modification of these principles so as to render them adequate for a study of sociocultural phenomena and their relationships... Taken as a whole, the volume aims at a liberation of sociology and the social sciences from voluntary servitude to the natural sciences." (Pref) Indexes.

Reviewed by K. H. Wolff
Am J Soc 49:481 Mr '44 3300w

Am Soc R 8:497 Ag '43 80w

"The book is open to some of the same criticisms which might be directed, and have been directed, against nearly all of Sorokin's earlier works. In spite of the fact that it is not a very large volume, the essential argument being quite compact, the style is repetitious; also it is pretentious, dogmatic, and controversial in tone... In the judgment of the reviewer, however, this monograph, is worth while, and justified as a useful supplement to the four massive volumes of Social and Cultural Dynamics." F. N. House
+ — Social Forces 22:108 O '43 1000w

SOUTHARD, RUTH. No sad songs for me. 175p $2 Doubleday
44-40004

Cas Scott was an exceptionally happily married woman, living in a midwestern town with an understanding husband and their one child, Polly. When she discovered that she had only nine months to live, because of a cancer, Cas decided to keep up her usual way of life as long as possible, and not to lean on Brad's strength. The book describes Cas's courage and good sportsmanship as she traveled along the road to her death.

Booklist 40:199 F 1 '44

"All in all, Miss Southard has made the story of Cas Scott real and warmly moving." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p5 Ja 9 '44 360w

"As the nobility of Cas and Roma is slightly exaggerated, so most of the lesser figures, especially the women, are made too dull and ignoble. The dialogue is often wooden, made unreal by the use of semi-literary words like 'dubbed' and by orations on 'the beauty of the poppies in Flanders fields' and the horrors of Munich... But whatever your adolescent self dramatizations may have been you will find it pleasant reading, since try as she will, the author never quite cracks the surface of the tragedy." Katharine Simonds
— + Sat R of Lit 27:26 F 5 '44 550w

"A deeply moving story... It is a difficult subject and under less competent hands one that would invite sentimentality or morbidity, but Miss Southard treats it with courage and sensitive gayety... What makes this book outstanding is that in spite of its preoccupation with a tragic theme, in spite of the pervasive feeling of death, it holds gayety and delight in its portrayal of a person who can face the end of a good life with a high sense of gratitude for the splendid gifts it has held." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 9 '44 650w

SOUTHMAYD, HENRY J., and SMITH, GEDDES. Small community hospitals. 182p $2 Commonwealth fund [8s 6d Oxford]

362.11 Hospitals—Management and regulation SG44-119

Study of the problems of the organization, administration, and operation of a small community hospital, sponsored by a voluntary group formed to start the hospital. Partial contents: The rural hospital as a community institution; The rural hospital and the medical team; Organization and administration; Hospital finances; The hospital plant; The hospital and the countryside. Index.

"Any criticism which may be offered of the book would be only favorable. The volume is small, but contains a wealth of material. There is need for just such a book." J. R. Hege
+ Am J Pub Health 34:1113 O '44 270w

Booklist 41:102 D 1 '44

"Hospital administrators, trustees, and staff members will find valuable material here. Those in the country will see their problems mirrored against a background of broad experience and understanding—the urban group will gain from observing the life cycle of an institution. .. A number of meaty sentences are sandwiched between the discussions of technical problems of management and professional relations, some of which might well serve as wall mottoes." C. R. Rorem
+ Survey 81:30 Ja '45 550w

SOWARD, FREDERIC HUBERT. Twenty-five troubled years, 1918-1943. 437p maps $3 Oxford

940.51 History, Modern. World war, 1939-
44-712

"The first half of this book takes a quick glance at the troublous twenty years; 1919 through 1939. The chapters are thumb-nail sketches of the between-war careers of England, France, the United States, Germany, Italy and Soviet Russia. The second half of the book gives an equally rapid account of the war from its 1939 outbreak through the early part of 1943." Weekly Book Review

"This book is extraordinarily well written and seems to me remarkably clear in vision and sound in evaluation. Written from a Canadian point of view—the author is professor of history at the University of British Columbia—it possesses a perspective on conditions, movements and individual leaders in the United States (which Prof. Soward calls 'a reluctant great power') which is especially valuable. Reading of this book will equip us with a really sound background for appreciation of the importance of the events of today and tomorrow—and will do so very pleasantly." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Je 25 '44 140w

"The volume does not aspire to be more than an introduction to the tremendous events of the past quarter-century; but within its scope it will give the reader a thoroughly sound grounding in world affairs during one of the great formative periods of history." Edgar McInnis
+ Canadian Forum 23:260 F '44 490w

Foreign Affairs 23:4 O '44 20w

"Professor Soward of the University of British Columbia has written a clear and interesting outline of the world history of the last twenty-five years. Much of the material was used as a correspondence course for Canadian service men, and the resulting book has lost nothing of the simplicity of approach and narrative skill which would be essential for such a purpose... The pleasantly printed volume contains some excellent maps, a good and useful bibliography and a complete index." Hans Kohn
+ N Y Times p16 Je 18 '44 280w

"I think all the major elements are here, presented with an admirable condensation, a clear and simple arrangement, and a careful attention to accuracy in detail. Only one thing is missing, and that is some sense of the fire, the passion, the profound political and moral issues, the clash of convictions, which wracked that disastrous quarter of a century." Walter Millis
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:15 Je 17 '44 650w

"Presumably Professor Soward writes for those who need brushing up on the war background to bring themselves up to date on the grim, fascinating serial story through which we are living. Considered as such, his book is a reliable, objective piece of work. It may not contribute new light to the broad panorama, but it is an intelligent recapitulation."
Weekly Book Review p18 Je 18 '44 200w

SOWERS, MRS PHYLLIS (AYER). Swords and sails in the Philippines; il. by Margaret Ayer. 128p $2 Whitman, A.
44-3051

Adventure story for young readers, describing the experiences of a brave young Moro boy on the island of Mindanao at the time of the Japanese invasion. Abdul and his pet monkey meet an American lieutenant and are instrumental in gaining Moro support for the Americans.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p10 My 28 '44 230w

"Patriotic courage of natives and their intense desire for independence leave reader with feeling that their loyalty and defeat may not be in vain. Island customs and tropical jungles are described from first-hand information, for both author and illustrator, Margaret Ayer, have lived in the Orient. For children from ten to twelve." Margaret Miller
+ Library J 69:608 Jl '44 100w

"Confused and manufactured story. . . Though timely and easy enough for nine-to-ten-year-olds, material has not been sufficiently digested to make a book that would be read. Not recommended." E. W. Turpin
— Library J 69:608 Jl '44 40w

"Both the author and Margaret Ayer, the artist, have lived in the Orient, so pictures as well as story portray the colorful life of these southern Filipinos, who are descendants of the fierce Moro pirates." L. B. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 21 '44 130w

SPAFFORD, IVOL OCTA, and others. Building a curriculum for general education; a description of the General college program. 353p $3 Univ. of Minn.

378 Colleges and universities—Curricula. Minnesota. University. General college
A43-3793

"The first 9 chapters, written by Miss Spafford, describe the philosophy and purposes of the General College in relation to the curriculum. Here are considered the social and educational changes that have given rise to the demand for a new kind of education. The next 10 chapters were written by faculty members. These chapters tell why, what, how much, and to what end the courses were taught in specific areas and specific fields." School & Society

Booklist 40:206 F 15 '44

Reviewed by Florence Fallgatter
J Home Econ 36:232 Ap '44 450w

Reviewed by S. M. Corey
Library Q 14:262 Jl '44 390w

N Y Times p22 Ja 16 '44 260w

Reviewed by R. J. Havighurst
Sat R of Lit 27:36 S 16 '44 340w

School & Society 58:448 D 4 '43 150w

"Organization, procedures, and the curriculum in general are described in the first nine chapters by Ivol Spafford, curriculum director in the General College. The treatment in these chapters demonstrates an admirable grasp of the whole problem in its diverse ramifications. The illuminating chapters on the various areas were prepared by persons who carried major responsibilities in each instructional area represented." L. V. Koos
+ School R 52:376 Je '44 180w

Reviewed by C. W. Mayer
Survey G 33:397 S '44 180w

SPAIN, JOHN, pseud. See Adams, C. F.

SPARGO, JOHN WEBSTER. Juridical folklore in England, illustrated by the cucking-stool. 163p $2.50 Duke univ. press [15s Cambridge]

343.2 Cucking stool. Folklore—England
44-5106

History of the use of the device known as the cucking-stool in England during the twelfth to seventeenth centuries, as a punishment for scolding women. Indexes.

"An extreme example of specialized scholarship, and yet a thoroughly interesting and human book both in substance and in style." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 Jl 16 '44 180w

"The topic branches out into a surprisingly intricate body of legal and social lore, much of which is obscure and in some of which the data leave room for conjecture and controversy. Dr. Spargo handles the evidence with sound critical judgment."
+ Christian Century 61:698 Je 7 '44 220w

SPARKES, BOYDEN. Zero storage in your home. 149p il $2.50 Doubleday

641.48 Food, Frozen 44-6095

Information on the purchase and operation of a home freezing unit, for storage of fish, fruit, vegetables and meat. The first part of the book gives a history of the invention, and the story of its success to 1944. The second part contains facts, figures, lists of equipment, types of food to be used, and other pertinent facts for owners of home freezing equipment. Index.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Rannells
Book Week p9 Ag 13 '44 400w

Booklist 41:13 S '44

Kirkus 12:190 Ap 15 '44 130w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:49 Jl '44

Reviewed by Hal Borland
N Y Times p17 Jl 16 '44 600w

SPARKS, DOROTHY. Nothing as before. 299p $2.50 Harper
44-4325

A friendly, cheerful little Illinois town, which has been a refuge to a disillusioned New Yorker for two years, is suddenly shaken to the core by the murder of the town's leading citizen. The story follows the course of the gradual breakdown of town morale, with suspicion and bickering equal to anything New York could produce. The time is 1941.

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p1 Ap 23 '44 800w

Booklist 40:342 Je 1 '44

"A good town portrait, though at times it grows over-repetitious. And good contemporary Americana."
+ — Kirkus 12:81 F 15 '44 170w

"It is a serious book. Miss Sparks has a profound affection for the people she writes about and it triumphs over a somewhat flabby style and a pattern that is often too rigidly worked out. 'Nothing As Before' could be called an effective symbol of the recent changes in the American point of view." Allan Seager
+ N Y Times p14 Ap 30 '44 500w

"Miss Sparks is so gently naïve in her surprise at finding that human nature is likely to be the same in Illinois as in Manhattan that one is tempted not to deal so severely with her innocent story as it probably deserves."
New Yorker 20:86 Ap 22 '44 150w

"'Nothing As Before' is good. If the book starts out a bit slowly, it gains interest as it progresses. It is written in an urban tempo; not slow, not fast, but moderately brisk. The subject matter, unfortunately, is not intrinsically exciting, and tends to give that same quality to an otherwise excellent book. Joper, the village dumbbell; Stoneman, the man who runs the town; and Elsa Bartlett, clubwoman are easily found in any neighborhood." Ander Hartshorn
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 30 '44 330w

"Miss Sparks keeps the surface of her tale full of familiar scenes such as train time at the depot, the ladies' quilting party, flirtations in the hay, earnest discussions at the hardware store—all so immediately recognizable as part of America's daily life. Yet under this smooth surface, she lets loose a strong flood of feeling, of the love and hate and fear which prompt all men's actions from Danfield to Chungking. Here is a novel without a caricature, without malice, yet not for one moment vainglorious." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 23 '44 950w

SPEARS, MRS RUTH (WYETH). Make and remodel home furnishings. 192p $2 Barrows

645 Handicraft. House decoration 44-5642

Contains general suggestions on how to make over old pieces of furniture, and diagrams and brief instructions on specific projects. In addition there are chapters on curtains and draperies, upholstering, decorating with stencils, painting, etc.

Booklist 40:373 Jl 1 '44

Reviewed by Helen Henley
Christian Science Monitor p9 Je 13 '44 100w
Kirkus 12:246 Je 1 '44 60w

SPEAS, R. DIXON. Airplane performance and operation; a manual for aircraft flight crews; il. by Dorman H. Smith. 121p $1.50 McGraw

629.13252 Airplanes—Piloting 43-18452

"Aims to instruct flight crews in the various technical factors affecting airplane performance and operation. Basically, the manual deals with the science of getting the most out of an airplane—of determining the conditions of engine operation that will produce a given desired result, and of determining what can be done, both with the engine and with the airframe, without infringing upon the desired margins of safety." (Publisher's note) Index.

Library J 69:119 F 1 '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:58 O '43

SPECIAL LIBRARIES ASSOCIATION. Social science group. Source list of selected labor statitistics. ltd preliminary ed 37p pa $1.50 The association

331 Labor and laboring classes—Statistics

"Seventy-five statistical series of Federal, State, and non-governmental agencies are listed and described in detail in this new Source List. Among the subjects for which statistics are thus made more easily available are farm employment and farm wage rates, employment surveys, estimated labor force, absence rates, hours and earnings, cost of living, industrial injuries, labor turnover, retail prices, strikes, employment of women, social security claims and beneficiaries, clerical salary rates." Library J

Reviewed by A. H. Kalish
Library J 69:692 S 1 '44 210w

"Exploratory work of this nature is welcome. This reviewer for one hopes that periodic supplementing of the Source List will be provided for and that later editions will be expanded to include more obscure sources of statistics." L. L. Keck
+ Library Q 15:89 Ja '45 320w

SPELL, JEFFERSON REA. Contemporary Spanish-American fiction. 323p $3 Univ. of N.C. press

863.09 Spanish American fiction 44-47664

"The purpose of this work is to introduce to English readers ten of the most important Spanish-American writers—nine novelists and one short-story writer—whose principal or entire work has been published since the outbreak of the first World War, and thereby to make possible a better understanding of the Spanish-speaking peoples in the western hemisphere. It is not a collection of secondhand comments, but is based on a personal knowledge of the countries and life discussed and on more than twenty years' teaching of Spanish and Latin-American literature. In the selection of the ten authors, quality of work has been the sole criterion." (Pref) Those considered are: Manuel Gálvez; Mariano Azuela; Carlos Loveira; Eduardo Barrios; Horacio Quiroga; José Eustacio Rivera; Ricardo Güiraldes; Rómulo Gallegos; Ciro Alegría. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 Ja 14 '45 40w

"For those interested in the subjects about which current Latin-American novelists and short story writers are concerning themselves, this is an excellent study. It is so filled with digests of story plots that there is little space for any satisfactory critical analysis."
Commonweal 41:308 Ja 5 '45 50w

"His book is not too profound for the average audience. He has apparently read everything that his chosen ten moderns have written. The book has a bibliography which lists not only titles but also translations. It is an exceedingly useful job. But it is very doubtful that this book will make a single convert to the cause of reading Spanish American fiction either for its own sake or as a way toward understanding Latin countries. In the first place, it takes the skill of a Charles Lamb to chew up another man's plots and regurgitate them in attractive form, and heaven did not so dower Professor Spell. In the second place, he has a way of turning over a man's work with one academic toe that damns it even when he seems eager to praise it." Mildred Adams
— + Nation 159:804 D 30 '44 420w

"Dr. Spell has done an admirably thorough job in his examination of contemporary Spanish-American fiction. He has studied exhaustively ten of Latin-America's leading writers. His choice is a good one. . . But there are things which thoroughness and seriousness of scholarly purpose alone are unable to give, and in these the book is lacking. Dr. Spell does not possess a good critical apparatus. His generalizations concerning Spanish-American fiction as a whole are always correct enough but rarely go to the essence of that literature's distinctiveness. He is lacking in the contagious warmth and flash of insight which make the great interpreter of one people's literature to another. . . Yet I would not give the impression that the book is lacking in real interest. Dr. Spell is so conscientious a research worker and so deeply absorbed and manifestly interested in his subject that earnestness, absorption and interest break through the barriers of style and reach the reader." B. D. Wolfe
+ — Weekly Book Review p9 D 31 '44 600w

SPELLMAN, FRANCIS JOSEPH, abp. The risen soldier. 39p $1 Macmillan

242 Consolation. Jesus Christ—Crucifixion. World war, 1939—Religious aspects 44-4646

A book of meditations on the Crucifixion combined with a message of consolation to those who have lost loved ones in this war. Author is the (Roman Catholic) Archbishop of New York who made a trip to the battlefronts last year.

Reviewed by N. E. Monroe
Cath World 159:379 Jl '44 180w
Christian Century 61:622 My 17 '44 40w
Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Je '44

"Although written by our leading Catholic prelate, this little book will be meaningful to all Christians, particularly to those who have lost a son or brother or husband in the war."
+ Kirkus 12:252 Je 1 '44 70w

"This little tone poem of the air reaches the ear of all of us. Some will have the faith to enter into the fullness of its meaning at a time when hearts are heavy with foreboding. All will be impressed by a prelate who is able to divest himself of his robes, commune with his inner self and mingle freely with his fellowmen." P. W. Wilson
+ N Y Times p6 My 7 '44 280w

"This book is not merely a call to faith—it is the utterance of one to whom faith is a way of life. His prose is almost lyrical and his style is such as to make the book one to be read and read again." H. J. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p8 Jl 14 '44 160w
Weekly Book Review p10 My 21 '44 150w

SPENCER, CORNELIA, pseud. See Yaukey, G. S.

SPENCER, JAMES. Maintenance and servicing of electrical instruments; ed. by M. F. Behar. 256p $2 Instruments pub. co, 117 Wolfendale st, Pittsburgh 12

621.37 Electric meters 44-2252

"This material, which appeared originally as a series of articles in Instruments, deals with the construction, testing, uses, operation and maintenance of numerous types of electrical instruments. It is intended to assist industrial plants in the maintenance of their own electric instruments, now that the makers, due to pressure of war work, can no longer undertake to service them. The information, obtained directly from the manufacturers, covers such types as direct-current instruments, A.C. ammeters, voltmeters, wattmeters, frequency meters, synchroscopes, power factor meters, and reactive factor meters. A final chapter by the editor of Instruments discusses the repair of pivots and bearings." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 80w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:43 Jl '44

"The trouble charts and list of tools and equipment are especially useful. The book has a style that is interesting and easy to follow, and it presents a wealth of information that will prove useful to all who use electrical instruments. It is suggested that a revision of the book should include additional sections on galvanometers, soldering, coil winding, and an extended list of references." F. D. Weaver
+ R of Scientific Instruments 15:264 O '44 350w

SPENCER, THEODORE. Act of life. 82p $2 Harvard univ. press

811 A44-1406

"Three long meditative poems, read before the Phi Beta Kappa societies at the College of William and Mary, at Tufts College and at Harvard University. Interspersed between these are two sections entitled 'Lyrics' and 'Challenges.'" N Y Times

"The trouble with Mr. Spencer's meditations is that they are too explicit, too declarative. Some sententiousness obtrudes on the humility that Mr. Spencer tries to maintain, so that there is in them neither quite the suggestiveness nor the feeling of aloneness that better meditative poets have conveyed. And his ear is so unreliable that a poem which presents itself to him with real value as a lyric comes out rugged and bumpy where it should be pure and smooth. 'Progress,' page 54, is a more ambitious effort, and, if more complex, a more successful dealing with sound; and 'The Phoenix' contains some exciting and extravagant imagery." Rolfe Humphries
— + N Y Times p24 Ap 23 '44 160w

"The chief impression one obtains from Mr. Spencer's verse is that the author has a sense of general responsibility and general intelligence, and when you come across such qualities in modern poetry they appear at first sight as refreshing. But they should not be mistaken for poetry." J. V. Healy
— + Poetry 64:229 Jl '44 360w

"As I grow older, this is the kind of poetry I find less and less among contemporaries, or among the young. I like such poetry. And if this poet is, in the present book, not particularly showing off his intellectual muscles or doing feats on the rings and bars of verbal agility, he has already proved that he can be original and brilliant in method. Now he reassures us that he really has something to say." W. R. Benét
+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Ap 29 '44 600w

"Some of Mr. Spencer's conclusions do not ring quite true: there is the feeling that morally he is whistling to keep up his spirits. At such times the verse sags or goes hollow. He is at his best when he is creating the sense of search, not of moral certainty." Elizabeth Drew
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 9 '44 380w

Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer
Yale R n s 34:345 winter '45 80w

SPERLING, ABRAHAM PAUL. Know your hay fever; with chapters on clinical applications by Arthur B. Berresford. 241p il $2 Fell

616.202 Hay fever 43-15299

"The book is quite comprehensive of all phases of hay fever and tries to answer many of the pertinent questions which are raised each year when the pollen begins to take its toll. The authors do not attempt to present material for home treatment of the disease, but rather make suggestions which may bring some hope to those who have suffered long. They include the advantages and disadvantages of various types of filters, air conditioning apparatus, drugs and injections." Springf'd Republican

Booklist 40:140 D 15 '43
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 12 '44 110w

SPERRY, ARMSTRONG. Storm canvas; il. by [the author]. 301p $2.50 Winston

44-5270

Adventures of a fifteen-year-old boy aboard an American frigate during the War of 1812. For older boys. Contains a seagoing glossary.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p18 N 19 '44 130w
Booklist 41:28 S '44
Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 40w
Cath World 160:281 D '44 50w

"Armstrong Sperry writes with knowledge of the sea and his pictures add their salty tang to the exciting story." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:289 Jl '44 100w

"A splendid story. It is well, while our boys are reading of present-day battles in the air, on the sea and on the land, to let them turn back the pages of history to battles fought in 1812. There are few good stories of that war, and Armstrong Sperry always writes a thrilling tale." M. A. Webb
+ Library J 68:608 Jl '44 70w

"A fast-moving, action-packed tale." E. L. Buell
N Y Times p14 Jl 30 '44 120w

"The author writes his tale with a flourish, packs it with intrigues, duels, and battles at sea, and adds a touch of the unusual in describing the visit of the ship's captain to the strange court of King Christophe of Haiti."
+ New Yorker 20:58 Jl 8 '44 50w

"From the moment when Jason mounts his horse to ride away from the inn to the last page, this story never falters. It is swift, convincing, dramatic. Perhaps in certain places it is a bit melodramatic! And yet, anyone who studies the incredible story of Christophe knows that it is impossible to exaggerate the 'pure theatre' of his reign." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:23 Jl 8 '44 360w

"The author comes from a seafaring family of New England and proves on every page that he knows his way afloat. He writes his story, and draws the pictures for it with clarity and vigor." G. W. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 30 '44 100w

"The story relies on stronger, finer traits of human character, tested to the utmost by the elements and the efforts of evil, making one conscious that whatever suffering comes with bravery, being brave is worth it. The drawings have decisive conviction; it is a strong book." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Je 4 '44 450w

SPERRY, WILLARD LEAROYD. Rebuilding our world; sermons in the Harvard college chapel. 157p $1.75 Harper

252 Sermons 43-16987

A collection of wartime sermons in which "the central concepts of Christianity are presented and applied to current needs in such a manner as to predispose the average young man of intelligence to give them respectful consideration." (Christian Century)

SPERRY, W. L.—Continued

"Like everything else from Dean Sperry's pen or voice, these sermons to students combine solidity of substance with attractiveness of form. . . Without oversimplification of the moral and religious problems raised by the situations in which youth finds itself, Dean Sperry gives wise guidance to thought and imparts courage and a sense of spiritual security."

+ Christian Century 60:1538 D 29 '43 70w

"A few years ago a brother minister named Sperry 'The Interpreter.' The name is well deserved, for there are few men in American pulpits who see the spiritual meaning of life with the dean's insight or speak what they see with his clarity. The particular sermons under review seem to be emanations of the spirit rather than labored productions of the conscious mind. This appearance of effortless flow is, of course, misleading. Such simplicity as Dean Sperry always achieves with either the written or the spoken word comes only by hard work. Yet, while every page bears witness that the original manuscript was stained by brain sweat, the result of each sermon is an offering of spiritual assurance and comfort." R. M. Grey

+ Crozer Q 21:172 Ap '44 1400w

"Everyone who has read Dean Sperry's earlier books or heard this distinguished preacher will be grateful to him for publishing his first volume of sermons. There are eighteen of them. They are brief, lucid, and vital." N. L. Tibbetts

+ J Religion 24:304 O '44 400w

Library J 69:646 Ag '44 20w

Reviewed by H. I. Brock

N Y Times p10 S 17 '44 400w

SPIEGLER, SAMUEL. Your life's work; a guide for youth and adults. 450p $2.50 Union of Am. Hebrew congregations

371.425 Profession, Choice of. Occupations 44-3087

"With increased emphasis being placed on rehabilitation and vocational guidance for veterans, as well as for all young people, this book comes as a welcome addition to the literature on the subject. The author has had years of experience in dealing with vocational problems as research director of the Jewish Occupational Council and in editorial work on the Occupational Index. In this book, he discusses the problem primarily from the needs of Jewish youth—from the point of view of anti-Semitic discrimination—but so comprehensive a picture is given of trades and professions that the book ought to be valuable to all men and women faced with the need of selecting a vocation." Survey

"While the writing is well done, on the whole, the author is unable to conceal his lack of enthusiasm for such hard work as that of farmers or fishermen. One of the valuable features is a short bibliography on each occupation. A useful book for any adviser of youth."

+ — Christian Century 61:465 Ap 12 '44 150w

" 'Your Life's Work' presents an excellent over-all picture of vocational possibilities. Parents and group leaders, in addition to vocational counselors and social workers, will find it helpful in introducing to young people the many occupations open to them. However, the book frankly omits taking into consideration the effect of military training and its development of skills on vocational trends and also the greater opportunities opening in the mechanical and aeronautical fields. Because of these omissions and the purposeful omission of detailed information on where to obtain necessary training, the book is limited." L. H. Brunton

+ — Survey 80:270 S '44 500w

SPINKA, MATTHEW. John Amos Comenius; that incomparable Moravian. 177p $2 Univ. of Chicago press [12s Cambridge]

B or 92 Comenius, Johann Amos A43-1584

"This work, published to commemorate the three hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of John Amos Comenius, not only features the guileless liberalism of the great Moravian educator and reformer, but also introduces us to a coterie of an international fellowship which concerned itself with the task of charting the course of education and churchmanship away from the brow-beating methods of the seventeenth-century classroom and the bigoted defenses of a wooden-headed orthodoxy. Under the pen of Professor Spinka, Comenius takes form as the prophet of modern educational reform and the evangelist of the modern ecumenical movement. Having before him the fragment of Comenius' autobiography, the author was able to bring to the printed page the pioneer educator's personal evaluation of his own work, together with an analysis of his ambitions, successes, and frustrations." Crozer Q

"This scholarly and carefully documented account of the life, dominant interests, and work of Comenius, published to commemorate the three hundred and fiftieth anniversary of his birth, presents the reader with a wealth of information and especially insight not found in earlier biographies of the 'incomparable Moravian.' " F. H. Swift

+ Am Hist R 49:707 Jl '44 550w

"Dr. Spinka's lucid and scholarly treatment —based largely upon sources inaccessible to writers who lack his unusual familiarity with the eastern European languages—clarifies the picture both of Comenius and, so far as necessary for this purpose, of the turbulent times in which he lived."

+ Christian Century 60:769 Je 30 '43 330w

"As an invaluable aid to the student of seventeenth-century church history, Professor Spinka has published in this volume a very comprehensive bibliography of the works of Comenius. . . These features added to the scholarly use of usually inaccessible manuscripts by the author make it desirable for every student of church history to acquire a copy of the volume to augment his working library. There are some characteristics of Dr. Spinka's volume which detract from its usefulness and authoritativeness, however." M. C. Westphal

+ — Crozer Q 21:78 Ja '44 500w

"This book is a valuable contribution for the English reader to the literature of an about Comenius. The fifteen pages of Bibliography contains both the more important writings of Comenius himself in Czech and in Latin—omitting chiefly works which are no longer extant—and the significant literature about Comenius in the several European languages. This bibliography will be prized by the student who has no access to the Prague publications, and usefully supplements the Table of Dates in Dr R. F. Young's Comenius in England. As far as the substance of Professor Spinka's book is concerned, its especial interest arises from the fact that he has utilised—for the first time in a biographical treatment, as is here claimed—the entire preserved fragments of Comenius's Autobiography." C. J. Wright

+ Hibbert J 43:82 O '44 1600w

"Clear in style, reliable in detail, the new biography of Comenius is to be welcomed as a remarkable contribution to the history of education and of Christian religion." Otakar Odlozilik

+ J Religion 24:71 Ja '44 550w

SPIRIT (periodical). Drink from the rock; selected poems from Spirit, a magazine of poetry; with an introd. by Helen C. White. 124p $1.50 Catholic poetry soc. of Am. inc, 386 4th av, N.Y. 16

811.08 American poetry—Collections. Roman Catholic poetry—Collections 44-5110

"For ten years the Catholic Poetry Society has sponsored the magazine, Spirit. The present volume contains the cream of the second five years. The introduction by Helen C. White —best modern interpreter of Jacopone da Todi and author of an excellent fictionized story of his life, A Watch in the Night—not only sketches the contents of the magazine and of this anthology but discusses with acumen and sensitivity the general problem of religious poetry." Christian Century

"A rewarding volume." J. J. Reilly
+ Cath World 159:376 Jl '44 450w

"Important is Miss White's proposition that 'the pious platitude might be a poetic blasphemy,' and the assertion that the editors of the magazine have 'waged unremitting war against the substitution of piety for poetry.' The volume gives proof that they have been generally successful in this endeavor. Many of the poems are distinctively Roman Catholic in content and imagery, but more are broadly Christian."
+ Christian Century 61:878 Jl 26 '44 150w

SPIVAK, LAWRENCE EDMUND, ed. See American mercury (periodical). American mercury reader

SPRAGUE, ARTHUR COLBY. Shakespeare and the actors; the stage business in his plays (1660-1905). 440p il $5 Harvard univ. press
822.33 Shakespeare, William—Stage presentation A44-2213

"Since Shakespeare did not leave a record of how he intended his plays to be acted, the actor must perforce invest a large share of his energy in the invention of 'business.' This business, as recorded in prompt-books, acting editions, reviews and the memory of performers and spectators, Professor Sprague has here set down in an elaborately documented book." N Y Times

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 D 24 '44 50w

"In this book Professor Sprague lives up to his reputation as a careful, accurate, and discriminating scholar. We observe in it the same patient and industrious research that went into his study of the plays of Beaumont and Fletcher on the stage of the Restoration period and the same meticulous attention to detail that made his volume of selections from the poetry of Samuel Daniel a model of what such a book should be."
+ Christian Science Monitor p13 Jl 29 '44 1000w

"Mr. Sprague advances few theories and indulges in few generalizations. For the most part he is content to give fact after fact, and for his purpose the method is certainly the proper one. It does not, however, make for easy reading, and his book will probably be read from beginning to end only by those who have a very deep interest in the subject. But it will be widely useful as a reference work. Nowhere else can one find in such profusion answers to questions which inevitably arise, not only when one of the great plays is to be staged but when a careful reader tries to visualize an action. In an amazing number of instances one will be able to discover what one or more of the great actors of the past did during a scene which can be interpreted in more ways than any single reader is likely to think of." J. W. Krutch
+ — Nation 159:216 Ag 19 '44 700w

"'Shakespeare and the Actors' is, naturally, mainly concerned with the accumulation of data; few generalizations emerge. But Professor Sprague is never afraid of making a judgment. . . All in all, there is probably no other single book which will give the reader so clear a picture of how the great actors of the past appeared in Shakespeare." Edward Wagenknecht
+ N Y Times p19 Jl 16 '44 600w

Reviewed by H. E. Woodbridge
Springf'd Republican p4d S 10 '44 700w

"Mr. Sprague's compilation will be both diverting and useful to the initiated and to the student of theatre history. It will not, however, explain why Kean said that the audience 'rose at him' after one of his performances or what special gift it was that made Edwin Booth seem to his contemporaries to embody the very heart and soul of Hamlet."
+ Theatre Arts 28:558 S '44 450w

"This is a sad book. It is an awful warning to the actor who sets too high a value on ingenuity; 'Give me the spirit, Mister Shallow!' But it will undoubtedly furnish good browsing for a rainy afternoon, and conjure up for the imaginative reader the old fascinating smell of grease-paint and musty painted canvas, the vision of faded threadbare velvets, pinchbeck jewelry and broken gilded crowns, the trappings of an age-old history of earnest make-believe." Margaret Webster
Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 9 '44 1200w

Reviewed by Tucker Brooke
Yale R n s 34:169 autumn '44 750w

SPRIGGE, CECIL JACKSON SQUIRE. Development of modern Italy. 216p $2.75 Yale univ. press [10s 6d Duckworth]
945.09 Italy—History. Italy—Politics and government A44-1909

A study of Italy's political history from the unification to the establishment of the Fascists under Mussolini. Author was for many years the Manchester Guardian's correspondent in Rome. Index.

"Mr. Sprigge is a careful student, trained in sound historical scholarship, with eyes open to democratic ideals, realistic in his inclusion of ideas as the weightiest of all realities. His style is compact, sometimes dense. But the unremitting attention required is effort well spent; for here is minute and accurate analysis of the many factors of Italian political life, from the miracle of the Risorgimento down to that paralytic shock which is called the March on Rome." H. R. Spencer
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:796 Ag '44 300w

Reviewed by A. W. Salomone
Ann Am Acad 235:138 S '44 700w
Commonweal 40:304 Jl 14 '44 550w
Current Hist 7:54 Jl '44 40w
Foreign Affairs 23:12 O '44 60w

Reviewed by J. E. Cross
Library J 69:403 My 1 '44 130w

"Mr. Sprigge's penetrating study of Italian history is not only a most interesting book to read; it is also a valuable guide to the interpretation of the problems that engage our anxious attention at this moment." J. L. Hammond
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 12 '44 360w

Reviewed by George De Santillana
New Repub 111:227 Ag 21 '44 800w

"Altogether, this is an excellent and stimulating treatment that can be highly recommended." Renè Albrecht-Carrié
+ Pol Sci Q 59:639 D '44 800w

"This is indeed a 'conscientious diagnosis' of the 'rise and fall of democracy' in Italy, 1848-1922, by the one-time Rome correspondent of the Manchester Guardian. . . The story is exceedingly intricate and requires the skill of a learned journalist to give it plot and meaning. On the surface, Mr. Sprigge's treatise seems to be little more than the latest chapter of Machiavellian comment on Machiavellian politics." H. W. Schneider
Sat R of Lit 27:51 Je 17 '44 1100w

Reviewed by Patrick Henson
Spec 172:36 Ja 14 '44 700w

"Mr. Cecil Sprigge, who knows and loves Italy well and ardently, has written a book, 'The Development of Modern Italy' which supplies a caution and a corrective at a time of excessive expectations. It is a warm-hearted plea for understanding, patience and forbearance during a transition which will certainly try tempers."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p601 D 18 '43 1150w

"Cecil Sprigge has written a book which is at once an excellent history of pre-Fascist Italy and a valuable aid to clear thinking on Italian post-war problems. It is specifically designed to counter the arguments of those people who, alarmed at the complexity of the Italian situation, are claiming that the most expeditious means of restoring order to Italy is to return simply to the status quo ante Fascism; and in this purpose it succeeds admirably." G. A. Craig
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 9 '44 850w

SPRING, AGNES WRIGHT. William Chapin Deming of Wyoming, pioneer publisher, and state and federal official. 531p $6 Clark, A. H.

B or 92 Deming, William Chapin 44-7884

"Mr. Deming's newspaper activity began in his native Kentucky, soon shifted to Warren, Ohio, where he earned the gratitude of Mark Hanna for support in his senatorial campaign, and continued in Cheyenne, Wyoming, where he moved in 1901. His journalistic work was interrupted by periods of public service, including one of eight years as a member of the Civil Service Commission. Always active in national and state affairs, he had a wide acquaintance with public men, from Presidents down, and played no small role in the economic, cultural and political life of his state." Christian Century

"Such a biography, even though it contains much personal and domestic detail that is of interest chiefly to the family circle, is a significant contribution to the history of the west."

+ Christian Century 61:1141 O 4 '44 200w

Christian Science Monitor p13 O 21 '44 110w

SPRING, HOWARD. Hard Facts. 283p $2.50 Viking [8s 6d Collins]

44-7464

This first volume of a projected trilogy tells the story of the founding and early years of the weekly paper, Hard Facts. Its owner and promotor, a small-time job printer, Daniel Dunkerley, is one but only one of the leading characters; others are Alec Dillworth, editor, his sister Elsie, and the young clergyman, Theo Chrystal who falls in love with Elsie. As a background to the story of these interwoven lives, is a picture of Manchester, England, in the 1880s.

"It is a leisurely book, a book which is lit with lovely descriptions and warmed by the conflict and ambitions of vigorous people. Here, as in his earlier stories, Mr. Spring resolves his more difficult situations with a Rossetti-hued melodrama. But we can certainly forgive him this in exchange for so capacious and absorbing a narrative." Edward Weeks

+ Atlantic 174:127 O '44 600w

"Despite the potentialities of its theme, 'Hard Facts' hardly achieves the emotional Sturm und Drang of 'My Son, My Son!' The author knows how to breathe some semblance of being into a complex array of characters, though he is inclined to use Dickens' method of identifying people by tags of speech or behavior. The melodramatic denouement embodying the time-honored 'wages of sin' motif is not too implausible. Though he occasionally leaves trowel marks visible to the eye of a finicky critic, Spring knows how to build a structure with the appearance of solidity and the architectural decor of the period." Jack Conroy

+ — Book Week p4 N 5 '44 500w

Booklist 41:42 O 1 '44

"Having worked for the Manchester Guardian and three other papers Mr. Spring writes with authority on the factual matters in hand. But it is straightforward yet intensive treatment of the people he deals with that makes the book memorable. This type of novel is root and branch of the best tradition of English novels, evocative of the place and the people in them." Elizabeth Watts

+ Boston Globe p19 N 8 '44 250w

Reviewed by Eleanor McNaught

Canadian Forum 24:267 F '45 350w

"The story is well knit and the characterizations very real and human."

+ Cath World 160:284 D '44 180w

Kirkus 12:302 Jl 15 '44 250w

"If everyone in Hard Facts were not so good or so bad, so beautiful or so ugly, so very rich or so very poor, it would be definitely a better yarn." J. M. Flexner

Library J 69:699 S 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Harold Brighouse

Manchester Guardian p3 Je 30 '44 220w

"Compared to the meringues and soufflés of many modern novels, this is a rich plum pudding of a book, highly flavored and crammed with the pleasure of familiar surprises." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p7 N 5 '44 750w

"It is only because of the warmth with which Mr. Spring has conceived his characters that one can forgive him for his lack of subtlety. The story is passably interesting, but even a moviegoer of twenty-five years ago would have laughed at the melodramatic ending."

— + New Yorker 20:91 N 18 '44 130w

"With every gift of the good fairies but one, contemporary English novelists seem to be wandering in a dimming mist of indirection. They write exquisitely about nothing. And that is how I feel about Howard Spring's latest book, 'Hard Facts.' It is a beautiful piece of work; it is a most excellent novel. . . But when you finish the book, the only possible question is the rude one, 'And so what?'" Struthers Burt

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:6 N 4 '44 230w

"Those who like sentimental melodrama should enjoy this novel very much." John Hampson

Spec 173:46 Jl 14 '44 170w

"This is a moving tale such as Dickens might have told with the same broad human sympathy, the same definitive characters and the same vigorous, realistic style. Howard Spring is very much at home with the period, background and people which he so skillfully portrays." C. M. Sauer

+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 19 '44 450w

"What is chiefly unsatisfactory in the novel is the superficiality—except possibly in the case of Theo—of his characterization. It is this lack of substance, no doubt, which leads him to decorate the long retrospective vistas of the tale with gaudy little patches of drama and to carry it forward by still more highly-coloured incident."

Times [London] Lit Sup p305 Je 24 '44 420w

Reviewed by Jennings Rice

Weekly Book Review p2 N 5 '44 900w

Wis Lib Bul 40:160 D '44

SPYKMAN, NICHOLAS JOHN. Geography of the peace; ed. by Helen R. Nicholl; with an introd. by Frederick Sherwood Dunn; maps by J. McA. Smiley. 66p $2.75 Harcourt

320.1 Geography. World politics 44-4373

"Here is what amounts to the last testament of the late Professor Spykman, preserved by his admiring associates. A lecture which he had intended as the basis for a new book on 'the security position of the United States' has been expanded into a handsome monograph by Miss Nicholl, in a manner faithful to the style and teachings of the master, and embellished with a considerable apparatus of maps and two-color geopolitical diagrams based upon his notes. It thus summarizes the fruits of his attempt to erect geopolitics into a science and to find in geopolitical analysis a useful guide to democratic statesmanship in the present world." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

"Professor Spykman's book, which appeared posthumously, is an excellent contribution to the study of American foreign policy." R. S. McCordock

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:806 Ag '44 110w

Reviewed by Ernest von Hartz

Book Week p4 My 7 '44 650w

Booklist 40:335 Je 1 '44

Boston Globe p17 My 3 '44 130w

Canadian Forum 24:93 Jl '44 350w

"Students of postwar possibilities will find the author's approach fresh and suggestive."

+ Christian Century 61:530 Ap 26 '44 80w

Commonweal 40:116 My 19 '44 180w

"The cooperation of the United States, Britain and Russia is essential for the security of all three, and the author's reasoning from the standpoint of geography is lucid and logical."

+ Current Hist 6:513 Je '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:656 Jl '44 50w

Reviewed by W. D. Jones
Geog R 34:674 O '44 130w

Kirkus 12:194 Ap 15 '44 90w

"This little book may help to shatter some of the complacent illusions which have dominated isolationist thinking in this country and have been widely acclaimed as realistic nationalism. 'The Geography of the Peace' will convince many that the realities of national existence in the twentieth century demand international thinking. The book applies, with common-sense clarity and realistic moderation, the method of geographical analysis to the 'most fundamental problem of our foreign policy, that of American security in the post-war world.' " Hans Kohn
+ N Y Times p4 Ap 23 '44 1100w

Reviewed by Johannes Mattern
Pol Sci Q 59:472 S '44 600w

" 'The Geography of the Peace' is a posthumous postscriptum to Spykman's 'America's Strategy in World Politics,' published in 1942 [Book Review Digest, 1942] and one of those rare books which, by the force and brilliance of its ideas and by the audacity with which it proclaimed the principles of what its author considered the geopolitics of the United States, transformed actually the political thinking of a good many people... One cannot do full justice to this book in a brief review. Spykman's geographic surgery is skilful and brilliant, but we doubt whether, under his knife, the patient mankind would survive the operation. His balance of power concept seems to me basically wrong." H. W. Weigert
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ap 22 '44 1100w

" 'The Geography of the Peace,' an outgrowth of the lectures and notes of the late Dr. Spykman, is the only positively bad work on the list. . . Unless Dr. Spykman's notes were misread by his colleagues, we must assume that his knowledge of cartography was scanty. The maps themselves were very competently executed by J. McA. Smiley, but their selection was obviously the work of those who probated Dr. Spykman's cartographic will." R. E. Harrison
— Sat R of Lit 27:5 Jl 1 '44 300w

Scientific Book Club R 15:3 My '44 170w

Time 43:100 My 15 '44 500w

"Professor Spykman was a scholar of power, and his ideas have evidently had a stimulating and energizing effect on public discussion. But this tribute to his memory still fails to make clear to one reader just what is his contribution or wherein its ultimate usefulness may lie." Walter Millis
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 23 '44 800w

Wis Lib Bul 40:125 O '44

STAFFORD, JEAN. Boston adventure. 496p $2.75 Harcourt
44-40176

Character study of Sonia Marburg, daughter of a German father and a flighty Russian mother. The story begins with Sonia's poverty-stricken childhood in a Massachusetts fishing village, and closes with the girl established as the protege of a wealthy Boston woman.

"From time to time there appears on the American literary scene an exceptional and original feminine talent. Several over the past few years have exhibited brilliant facets, but Jean Stafford is the first in many years to spread before our eyes a radiant stylistic network of dazzling virtuosity. Not since Gladys Schmidt gave us 'The Gates of Aulis' has there been a richer, more varied, more intricate or more original display of highly feminine literary story telling." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p1 S 24 '44 1600w

Booklist 41:42 O 1 '44

"Miss Stafford may indeed be a 'unique, vigorous and remarkable artist,' as a distinguished critic has stated. But to the novel readers west of Massachusetts av. and south of Boylston st., desirous of understanding the quaint customs of the Brahmins, this reviewer would recommend Henry James' 'The Bostonians,' Santayana's 'The Last Puritan,' or even the thinner works of John Marquand, rather than Miss Stafford's highly stylized and romanticized literary adventure." Mina Curtiss
Boston Globe p17 O 11 '44 600w

"There is [an] effortless, smooth quality about the whole book. Miss Stafford's most precise portrait is of Miss Pride, a symbol of provincialism and domination. That Sonia will escape those 'omniscent eyes' before she follows in her mother's footsteps is the reader's hope. A few spiritual props would not be out of place here."
+ — Cath World 160:283 D '44 230w

"The satirical treatment of Boston society is heavy and lacking in humor. . . The language of the novel is of especial interest. It is written in a graceful, skillfully handled prose, full of charming phrasings and apt expressions, and is a pleasure to read. The structure of the plot is, at times, repetitious, with perhaps a too great abundance of detail. One has a feeling that compression would have improved the narrative, although it might have weakened the impression as a whole. As a first work, this novel is a harbinger, one may hope, of even more artistic creations in the future." L. E. Cannon
+ — Christian Century 61:1255 N 1 '44 500w

"The second part of the story, after Miss Pride has taken Sonie as a companion, is a Boston story and not particularly illuminating as to Boston. There is a wonderful insane asylum, but it might be elsewhere, and there are Boston people who are Boston enough but they have been in other books before, and more interesting in those by Mr. Marquand. . . Yet this is a moving, serious and poetic novel and these [criticisms], which carelessly have alluded to its plot and setting, show only that it is very rarely useful at all to speak of plot and setting."
+ — Commonweal 40:615 O 13 '44 750w

" 'Boston Adventure' is undoubtedly the most interesting novel of the season. . . It displays considerable promise and is most notable for its literary style."
+ Commonweal 41:20 O 20 '44 70w

Kirkus 12:302 Jl 15 '44 250w

"Although the tale is tenuously extended, the characterizations are discerning and authentic." H. S. Taylor
Library J 69:651 Ag '44 50w

"I say that Miss Stafford is unable to create a 'valid' drama of maturity; I realize that she has tried to create, for the second half of her book, drama of a sort. . . As a matter of fact, I think the mature Sonie's inability to become involved with people—by which I mean, of course, her author's inability ever truly to involve Sonie with people—finally keeps 'Boston Adventure' from being the completely satisfying novel we expect it to be. Yet Miss Stafford has so much style and energy and intelligence in this first book of hers that one can be hopeful she will achieve, in her next books, this ultimate novelistic power. Even without it she is a new writer to be read, and applauded." Diana Trilling
+ — Nation 159:383 S 30 '44 1050w

"Miss Stafford is not Proust, and her method has many suggestive limitations which should be discussed at greater length. But she is an extraordinarily talented novelist, and her book will give great pleasure to sensitive readers." Alfred Kazin
+ — New Repub 111:538 O 23 '44 1500w

Reviewed by Ruth Page
N Y Times p3 S 24 '44 1350w

"A first novel which will probably invite plenty of comparison with Proust and which should stand up under it amazingly well. It presents the same ceaseless vivisection of individual experience, the same reflection of the external world at one particular person's angle of refraction, the same wealth of warmly regarded minutiae, of details never mechanically adduced but always organically absorbed in the narrative."
+ New Yorker 20:78 S 23 '44 310w

STAFFORD, JEAN—Continued

"It is no compliment to 'Boston Adventure' to say that it is a striking and original novel in a poor season; it would be a striking and original novel in any season. It is full-blooded. Its style is condensed, old-fashioned in its dignity, highly accurate as a report on the sensibilities of the 'I' who tells the story. Its events, made credible by the style and by a kind of indignant pleasure in experience, are memorable and haunting, even when they are grotesque. . . To be sure, the book is uneven. Some of the characters are cartoons; some of the episodes are merely tawdry or melodramatic. . . Miss Stafford is a commanding talent, who writes in the great tradition of the English novel; and unless her first work is a flash in the pan (and Heaven send it be not), American letters have been enriched by a unique, vigorous, and remarkable artist." H. M. Jones

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:10 S 23 '44 800w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn

Springf'd Republican p4d O 1 '44 650w

Time 45:94 Ja 22 '45 700w

"If a first novel is to be considered the proving ground of a new talent, Jean Stafford's 'Boston Adventure' has much to recommend it. It is written with intensity of feeling, it shows a sensitive and perceptive mind, it has a quality of magnetism. But, like many young writers, Miss Stafford, in an effort to make use of all the material she wishes to develop, dissipates her effort in overburdening her story with repetitious detail." Rose Feld

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 S 24 '44 650w

"An unsuccessful but ambitious first novel that reveals a considerable unorganized talent. . . It seems as if Miss Stafford, smitten by the charms of both Dostoevski and John P. Marquand, had tried to combine the best features of both in one book. . . Her satire is abusive rather than sharp. She has not fused her material into a convincing whole. But she displays much feeling, sensitivity, and a considerable amount of power." Orville Prescott

— + Yale R n s 34:190 autumn '44 270w

STAFFORD, KAY. Ling Tang and the lucky cricket; il. by Louise Zibold. (Whittlesey house publication) 79p $2 McGraw

44-9410

A little Chinese boy, Ling Tang, found a singing cricket and adopted it. Whenever the cricket was with him Ling Tang had good luck; when the cricket was not at hand, things were not so smooth. The climax comes when Ling Tang arrives safely at the home of his great grandfather in Peking, complete with cricket.

"Story is pleasant but not too convincing, taking place before China knew of war. Pictures by Louise Zibold are lovely. Recommended only for libraries that want to add to a well-stocked collection on China." Elizabeth Johnson

+ Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 70w

"The story is told with simplicity and a quiet charm that conveys much of the graciousness and kindly wisdom of the Chinese." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p20 Ja 14 '45 160w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 7 '45 130w

Weekly Book Review p12 N 12 '44 200w

STANDISH, ROBERT, pseud. Bonin. 286p $2.50 Macmillan [9s 6d Davies]

44-787

"Using historical facts found in Commodore Perry's narrative, Cholmondeley's history and in data obtained from the great-granddaughter of an original settler, author of The Three Bamboos writes an engrossing, timely novel about the Bonin Islands which lie five hundred miles south of Japan. In [1837] three English seamen deserted ship and found refuge with Nathaniel Savory on these islands claimed by Japan, Great Britain and the United States. Conflicting national claims and the adventures of three generations of descendants of mixed blood make a tale brought up-to-date with Japan in undisputed possession." Library J

"This is the true story of . . . the Japanese climb to world empire. It is well worth reading; it will help us to understand the enemy we are fighting." John Cournos

+ Book Week p6 F 6 '44 450w

Booklist 40:213 F 15 '44

"Standish's book is worth reading. Knowledge which was once commonplace has to be rebuilt, now that the records of old sailing-masters are forgotten. All these current writers, however, must be read with caution." W. F. Sands

+ Commonweal 39:500 Mr 3 '44 500w

"A well blended balance of fiction and fact and unusual material for an ultimately sad story."

+ Kirkus 11:556 D 15 '43 160w

"Recommended for small library purchase." F. A. Boyle

+ Library J 68:1006 D 1 '43 110w

"Mr. Robert Standish gives us much interesting information about a group of islands which the selfish preoccupations of England and America in the last century allowed the Japanese to secure as their first step in a projected world conquest, but his artistic gift is unequal to the task of welding fact and fiction into a coherent novel." Wilfrid Gibson

Manchester Guardian p3 N 5 '43 60w

"Mr. Standish vouches for the accuracy of the historical aspects of his book and has built it around actual people who once lived on the islands, but he has filled up the gaps in the records with such shoddy melodrama that the total effect is unreal."

+ — New Yorker 19:86 F 12 '44 130w

"'Bonin' is hardly a novel to read for pleasure, but it contains a great deal of illuminating information and it will keep your conscience raw." Thomas Sugrue

N Y Times p6 F 13 '44 550w

"Whether it is read as fiction or history 'Bonin' is an exciting, moving, and very opportune book." Robert Ellis

+ Sat R of Lit 27:20 Mr 11 '44 550w

"His novel contains much that is violent and brutal, but like so many of the 'strong-meat' school, Mr. Standish is also lavish with sentimentalities." John Hampson

Spec 171:440 N 5 '43 210w

Reviewed by R. J. Conklin

Springf'd Republican p7e F 13 '44 950w

"The stages of Japanese supremacy are punctuated by touches of novelette-ish romance that point the moral of racial and colour prejudice. Mr. Standish, though he has his merits, is instructive to excess."

Times [London] Lit Sup p593 D 11 '43 390w

Reviewed by David Tilden

Weekly Book Review p6 F 27 '44 450w

STANFORD, EDWARD BARRETT. Library extension under the WPA; an appraisal of an experiment in federal aid. (Studies in lib. science) 284p il maps $3 Univ. of Chicago press

021.83 Library extension. U.S. Work projects administration A44-1975

"While chiefly concerned with the nation-wide library project as it obtained in the spring of 1941, the study also encompasses library projects since 1933. These projects are treated on the national level and, on the state level, two case studies—South Carolina and Minnesota—have been made which illustrate two fundamentally different approaches of library extension and the manner in which a federal aid program can be applied to dissimilar states under varying social and geographic conditions. The study . . . is based primarily on original W.P.A. source material: office memoranda, official reports, operating manuals, regulations, correspondence, project statistics, interviews with W.P.A. officials and sponsors, and upon extended field observations in Washington, South Carolina and Minnesota." (Library J) Bibliography. No index.

"This well documented, statistically fortified, fully illustrated, rather repetitious, offset printed book is a model of thorough research from the viewpoint of the library profession." J. E. Briggs

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:810 Ag '44 160w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 Ag 20 '44 100w

Booklist 40:371 Jl 1 '44

"This book is an important addition to the literature on library extension. In it the author has made a systematic examination of W.P.A. library projects subsidized by federal funds. He has carefully studied them as experiments in federal aid for libraries and, in doing so, has brought together significant facts which he interprets with skill. . . Mr. Stanford has made a significant contribution in this study. It is an eminently readable book, nontechnical and interesting throughout. It should be read by every librarian, but it will be of particular interest to state and public librarians and to all students of library extension." Lee Zimmerman

+ Library J 69:600 Jl '44 500w

STAPLETON, LAURENCE. Justice and world society. 150p $2 Univ. of N.C. press

340.1 Law—Philosophy. Justice. Natural law 44-5299

The author's purpose is "to show the character of one of the oldest democratic ideas, the universal ideal of justice; to show the continuity between our way of thinking and that of the founders of America; and to anticipate the growth of this idea in a world society." (Introd) Index.

"In this highly commendable book we have in brief compass an excellent critical and historical discussion of the concept of natural law. Miss Stapleton shows in what sense the idea is and is not acceptable to the modern mind. She also shows why some common principle and ideal of justice must be accepted if freedom and order are to exist in the world, though no effort should be made to revive the old name for it. The book contains some very good writing of a semi-inspirational character, as well as intellectual history and interpretation of a high order." F. H. Knight

+ Am J Soc 50:253 N 13 '44 600w

"Since several Great Powers have openly challenged the validity of the ends to which a humane civilization should be devoted, proclaiming that 'a handful of force is worth a sackful of justice,' the study of the great moral issues of our time is by no means an academic pastime. This conflict between justice and force is brilliantly analyzed by Laurence Stapleton." David Fellman

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1037 O '44 550w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 Ag 27 '44 450w

Current Hist 7:52 Jl '44 40w

"This book is a vigorous and healthy-minded defense of a revised natural law. The book is bipartite in emphasis. It criticizes the ethical scepticism of relativism and historicism, and it seeks to de-dogmatize natural law." E. N. G.

+ J Philos 41:697 D 7 '44 600w

Reviewed by Hiram Motherwell

N Y Times p10 Ag 6 '44 440w

"In spite of its enthusiasm, and in spite of general sympathy with the goal the author has in view—democratic peace—'Justice and Society' is not a very successful book. Its chief defect is that Miss Stapleton herself is not quite sure why she has written it. The thesis stated in the introduction and the content as a whole, while obviously related, do not fit too well." C. D. Kean

— + Springf'd Republican p6 Je 26 '44 330w

"A more timely theme would be difficult to find. As associate professor of English at Bryn Mawr, Miss Stapleton helps to conduct a seminar in the theory and practice of democracy, and the reading public can now enjoy the substance of some of these illuminating and scholarly talks." Geoffrey Bruun

+ Weekly Book Review p10 S 10 '44 500w

STARCH, DANIEL. How to develop your executive ability. 267p $3 Harper

651.372 Executive ability 43-14621

"A study of the abilities through which executives have forged ahead in the business world. The book is based in large part on an analysis of the business careers of 150 present-day executives, including the top executives of 50 leading enterprises as well as 50 middle-level and 50 lower-level concerns. Dr. Starch stresses four factors which he considers essential to the development of executive talent." (Management R) Index.

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 40w

Management R 33:108 Mr '44 50w

STARK, BERNICE SUTHERLAND. Chancho; a boy and his pig in Peru; il. by Rafaello Busoni. 224p $2 Messner

44-40189

José Antonio was a Peruvian boy whose ancestors had been potters in San Sebastian for generations. When the family faced starvation and it seemed that they would have to sell José Antonio's pet pig, the boy ran away with his pet, and inadvertantly brought good fortune to the family. Grades four to six.

Booklist 41:80 N 1 '44

Horn Bk 20:486 N '44 70w

"A well-written story with little plot and much atmosphere, this will not have strong popular appeal. Recommended for large collections." Esther Plittman

+ Library J 69:938 N 1 '44 70w

STARK, WERNER. Ideal foundations of economic thought; three essays on the philosophy of economics. (Int. lib. of sociology and social reconstruction) 219p $3.50 Oxford [15s Routledge]

330.1 Economics. Sociology [A43-3773]

"An analysis and description of the social philosophy connected with, and implied in, modern economic thought. It exposes the influence which Locke and Leibnitz exerted on the conceptions and ideals of the classical economists and explains how the industrial revolution led to a violent intellectual crisis from which economics emerged with a totally different outlook and character. The new system of economic science is equally traced to its ultimate ideal foundations. The book leads up to a critical comparison of the two bodies of doctrine and thus arrives at a result which has important bearings on the discussions which at present form the center of interest." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 Ag 27 '44 90w

"It is hard to believe that any of these writers, with the obvious exception of Locke, have influenced the economic thought of any but narrow circles. What a pity that Dr. Stark has not devoted a part of his attention to the people who really do matter—to Adam Smith or Marx or Marshall. As it is, there is too absurd a contrast between the greatness of his subject and the ultra-pedantic method he has chosen for studying it." J. R. H.

Manchester Guardian p3 N 10 '43 120w

"The book is a good one, but hardly complete."

New Repub 111:381 S 25 '44 180w

"This is a book of real interest and considerable distinction; though it cannot be said that Dr. Stark has made it easy going for his readers. . . It is refreshing to see the dedication of this work to Lord Keynes, the 'great heir,' writes Dr. Stark, 'of a great tradition.' That is worthily said. Even one who differs so widely as I do in doctrine from Lord Keynes may be permitted to record his pleasure at seeing this tribute paid where it is due by a scholar who has had no part in the controversies of the last twenty-five years." H. J. Laski

+ New Statesman & Nation 26:341 N 20 '43 600w

STARK, WERNER—Continued

"The work, as a whole is an important contribution to our knowledge and understanding of the development of economic thought."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p2 Ja 1 '44 420w

STARR, JIMMY. Corpse came C.O.D. 254p $2.50 Murray & Gee

44-3883

Detective story.

"You can buy much better detective stories for two dollars, but perhaps the Hollywood glamour is supposed to be worth the extra fifty cents." Isaac Anderson

— N Y Times p8 Mr 19 '44 80w

"Highly-colored picture of filmdom, plenty of violence and rowdy goings-on. Plot not too well worked out. Time-passer."

Sat R of Lit 27:26 Ap 1 '44 30w

STARRETT, VINCENT. Case book of Jimmy Lavender. 350p $2.50 Gold label

44-5857

"In this collection we have twelve of Vincent Starrett's stories about Jimmie Lavender, private detective, recorded by Mr. Gilruth, who is Lavender's Dr. Watson." N Y Times

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p6 Ag 6 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p14 My 28 '44 80w

"Good omnibus of short stories—all of them well plotted and excellently worked out—with a few humdingers."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:32 My 20 '44 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p17 My 28 '44 150w

STARRETT, VINCENT, ed. World's great spy stories. 445p $1 World pub.

Short stories—Collections 44-8574

"Here are all kinds and conditions of spy tales, ably collected and arranged by one of our leading mystery scholars: twenty-five stories, mostly by fictioneers who are household words. . . In his learned but light foreword, the editor names 'The Traitor,' by W. Somerset Maugham, and 'Career,' by William C. White, as his two best entries. We particularly liked 'My Revelations as a Spy,' a neat spoof by Stephen Leacock. Ellery Queen and August Derleth, whom Mr. Starrett thanks for assistance in preparing the volume, are represented by stories, as are Mr. Starrett himself and [among others] Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and G. K. Chesterton." Weekly Book Review

"This is as fine a collection of short spy stories as you will ever encounter anywhere." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p6 O 15 '44 270w

Booklist 41:90 N 15 '44

"A bargain, timely and generous in content." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p20 O 15 '44 150w

STEAD, CHRISTINA. For love alone. 491p $3 Harcourt

44-8969

A psychological novel telling a story of a young girl's pursuit of love. The scene is laid first in Sydney, Australia, and later in London.

"All of the time I was reading this exceedingly long and frenziedly frank subjective novel, I kept thinking of Keats' 'huge cloudy symbols of a high romance,' knowing that this Christina Stead is one of the initiates who has glimpsed them, too. They are to be perceived throughout her book, often incomprehensible, always arresting and frequently beautiful, with that beauty which is truth or a sincere search for truth. First of all, be warned not to be deceived by the title, remarkably apt so far as the subject is concerned, but regrettably suggestive of the drugstore rental shelf. For here is a book, often rugged and confusing of contour, but with all the stature of greatness." Edith Roberts

+ Book Week p14 O 29 '44 550w

"On what Christina Stead has managed to build her reputation we are frankly at a loss to recognize. We (four of us in fact) have found her consistently difficult—yes, boring—reading. Her abstractions, her ponderously indirect approach to her characters and her stories produce an effect of bogging down, so that at the end one doesn't particularly care what she's driving at. . . For Love Alone is no exception."

— Kirkus 12:456 O 1 '44 180w

"Teresa Hawkins' passionate pilgrimage after love drags the reader through five hundred morbid pages of lust and abnormality and is not worthy of the author's literary ability. . . Neither artistic nor clinical—just dirty and dull. Not recommended." Katharine Shorey

— Library J 69:883 O 15 '44 50w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 159:535 O 28 '44 1100w

Reviewed by Marjorie Farber

New Repub 111:632 N 13 '44 650w

"It would be easy to be flippant about this book and miss its gravity, or be gross and miss its pathos. Christina Stead does not have the stature of D. H. Lawrence, but she has many of his qualities, and her new novel suggests his early and best fiction. . . Her intensity arises in part from the narrowness of her interest. . . And yet Miss Stead compels the reader's emotional attention, while at the same time he mumbles that her game is not worth the candle. This author will not endure indifference and one does not come away unscathed." Ruth Page

+ — N Y Times p12 O 29 '44 440w

"The real substance of the novel is not to be conveyed by outlining its scanty plot; it is by means of her astonishing style, her originality, and her imagination that Miss Stead achieves her effects. This time she avoids many of the excesses and eccentricities that marred her earlier novels, but, on the other hand, there is none of the wit that glittered through 'The Beauties and Furies.' "

+ — New Yorker 20:94 O 21 '44 230w

"In 'For Love Alone' Miss Stead's conspicuous talents exhibit almost as many unfortunate warps and twists as does the perverted character of Jonathan Crow, almost as much folly as is displayed by Teresa herself. And there are inconsistencies of character and action in this novel which suggest that the final draft is cluttered, here and there, with vestigial remains of other versions." B. R. Redman

Sat R of Lit 27:20 N 11 '44 1100w

"Told in subtle, lilting prose, this is a story that combines compassion with pitiless clarity of vision. The author is not intent on making out a case for her heroine, though her sympathies are always with her; the facts are allowed to speak for themselves; and as she probes deeper and deeper into the recesses of consciousness, both Teresa's character and the characters of the other major actors stand revealed in all their complexity. Miss Stead dares to tell what she knows of the human heart." Jennings Rice

+ Weekly Book Review p4 O 22 '44 900w

STEERE, DOUGLAS VAN. On beginning from within. 149p $1.50 Harper

248 Spiritual life 44-33

"At a time when mankind is pinning its faith on new plans for reorganizing society, the author quietly suggests that any enduring reform must come from within the individual. Following this theme he examines the contributions of the saints (Catholic and other) of all times, writing of: The saint and society; The authority of the saint; A new set of devotional exercises; Devotion and theology; Death's illumination of life. A suitable addition to the Lenten shelf." Wis Lib Bul

Booklist 40:261 Ap 1 '44

"These five fervent lectures by the professor of philosophy at Haverford College are an ardent appeal for personal religion. They reveal the devotion of a mystic and the zeal of a missionary and meet the real test of a religious book, for they make the reader want to search his own soul and to pray." C. D. Brodhead

+ Christian Century 61:435 Ap 5 '44 800w

Churchman 158:16 Mr 15 '44 240w

"The volume as a whole is an appeal that we develop a fresh concern with Christian nurture to offset the mass shallowness of our collectivist age. As such, it is a challenging recognition of the importance of the individual and of his part in the renewal of all social and world life. For the minister the volume will be valuable not alone for its analysis of the ways of the spiritual life, but also, from a practical point of view, for its many specific disclosures of this quality of life functioning in individual saints and apostles." G. W. Davis

+ Crozer Q 21:167 Ap '44 800w

"The style is simple, direct, warm, and inspiring. One looks forward with hunger to a further word from Dr. Steere as he explores the bearing of his central concern on the massive problems that confront our age." Howard Thurman

+ J Religion 24:284 O '44 500w

"The author is a professor of philosophy at Haverford College and a Quaker, and a philosophical approach and an emphasis upon the inward life are to be expected. Nevertheless, this book should have a much wider appeal, to all seekers of the truth."

+ Kirkus 12:65 F 1 '44 130w

Library J 69:646 Ag '44 40w

Wis Lib Bul 40:33 Mr '44

STEFANSSON, VILHJALMUR. Arctic manual; prepared under direction of the chief of the Air corps, U.S. army; with a special introd. and index. 556p il $3 Macmillan

919.8 Arctic regions 44-3335

"[This] is in a sense a reprint. It was first prepared in 1935 at the request and expense of the Army Air Force; then it was published in a very limited edition by the Government Printing Office; very shortly thereafter it was so thoroughly sold out that thousands who needed it weren't even aware of its existence. But random reports on recent new German arctic techniques seem to bear out the rumors that the enemy has made use of this book. Now the Army has given permission for the present commercial edition—to which a special introduction, a comprehensive index and a number of photographs have been added." N Y Times

---

Booklist 40:303 My 1 '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:657 Jl '44 50w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:21 Ap '44

"Meticulously detailed book. . . With its aid any literate person with the mother-wit of a tenderfoot Boy Scout can design tents, clothing, rations, sleds, dog-harnesses, sleeping bags and cookstoves that are essentially correct for the Arctic. He will also understand why they are correct and can then go out and use them." E. P. Hanson

+ N Y Times p10 Ap 23 '44 550w

Special Libraries 35:100 Mr '44

"The 'Arctic Manual' is a mine of information about the North—a practical guide for those who need one and an enjoyable reading experience for those who have succumbed at long distance to the fascination of the friendly Arctic, or are just plain curious about a region about which there is still so much to be learned." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p8 My 4 '44 350w

STEIG, WILLIAM. All embarrassed; foreword by Arthur Steig. 101p il $2 Duell

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 44-6911

Collection of cartoons, some with captions, some without, but all showing bewildered adults in the throes of embarrassing situations.

"To reduce these caustic, witty and often tragic little drawings by William Steig to descriptive words is to blunt the immediacy of their impact. 'All Embarrassed,' Steig's new book of satiric illustrations, is another sign that the ironic humor of the American cartoonist is fast developing an original art vocabulary, often more indigenous than that of the top-flight schools of painting. . . As a draughtsman Steig is a knowing sophisticate. With admirable economy of means and the assistance of only an occasional laconic caption he manages to imbue his stylized drawings with devastating meaning." Katharine Kuh

+ Book Week p9 Je 18 '44 360w

"Those who know his drawings will cherish this excellent collection; a bit savage, but piercing in its misanthropy and insight into our vagaries."

+ Commonweal 40:260 Je 30 '44 50w

"These drawings are almost cerebral interpretation of mental states of effects of and response to people and situations—and often present a truly funny rendering of an idea, and almost as often a dismaying conception. These symbolic drawings are for the epicure rather than the public popularly conditioned to caricature."

Kirkus 12:273 Je 15 '44 90w

"William Steig's little books 'About People' and 'All Embarrassed' hold a good deal more of our inner chaos than we usually care to have lying around in book form; but there is enough of the seamy side of other people's consciousness to keep our egos appeased. In Steig's symbolic drawings human nature is reduced to its psychological essence and presented with precise and deadly accuracy—which may not sound like an evening's fun until you have tried it." Isabelle Mallet

N Y Times p5 Je 18 '44 160w

"Some are funny, a few are gruesome, a good many are extremely acute philosophically."

New Yorker 20:72 Jl 15 '44 90w

"As in all the best comic or satiric art, these Steig pictures have a caustic, sobering and philosophic quality: they call upon introspection and self-judgment. And while they make us laugh or shudder, or see in some hippopotamus-like face or lax torso the fearful likeness of a neighbor, they also do a pretty thorough job of slapping the stuffing out of our own unreasonably cocky little selves. The method has changed slightly, but Steig is still a master-hand at X-raying human beings." Iris Barry

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Jl 23 '44 450w

STEIG, WILLIAM. Small fry. [128p] $1.50 Duell

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 44-51303

Collection of about a hundred drawings of children of the modern age fighting their battles, dreaming their dreams, or being "just kids." Most of the drawings first appeared in the New Yorker.

Boston Globe p32 N 29 '44 20w

Kirkus 12:543 D 1 '44 60w

"What they prove to the parents and elders is that eight-year-olds do not change from one generation to another, that the world of childhood is compounded of miniature terrors and glorious day-dreams, and that Mr. Steig—not to put too fine a point upon it—is wonderful. He is wonderful because, by what must be a combination of recollection and acute observation, he is at once funny and honest and sympathetic." J. K. Hutchens

+ N Y Times p7 N 19 '44 140w

New Yorker 20:95 N 18 '44 40w

STEIG, WILLIAM—Continued
Reviewed by W. R. Benet
Sat R of Lit 27:17 D 9 '44 140w

"These smirking gamins are glimpsed in all the foolery and fantasy that have been the prerogative of small boys from Adam's springtime; but usually the Steig kids give ancient games a hard-boiled touch that is pretty special. Even in their day-dreams they are still tough guys."
Springf'd Republican p4d D 17 '44 110w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p5 D 3 '44 40w

STEIN, RALPH. What am I laughing at? (Whittlesey house publication) [103p] $2 McGraw 940.5497 World war, 1939—Humor, caricatures, etc. Caricatures and cartoons

44-51286

Collection of Sergeant Stein's cartoons, most of which have appeared in the army weekly, Yank. They cover all branches of army life from the PX to gold bricking and the musicians.

"A book that will give us a real laugh on the home front and one which every soldier will want for his own. G. I. humor at its very best."
+ Boston Globe p32 N 29 '44 70w

"Whether he is doing camouflage, the censor, the army cook, the hand salute, living in jungles, or how similar are past and future occupations to life in the army (classification department), Stein has that rich fruitcake touch to all his depictions. Anyway, I should like to see a thousand tons of this book dropped on Germany." W. R. Benét
+ Sat R of Lit 28:15 Ja 13 '45 270w

"Sergt Stein's drawings and humor have a special flavor, though the subjects are the age-old facets of military life, from garbage detail to sergeants, from gals to generals."
+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 160w
Weekly Book Review p19 D 17 '44 70w

STEINDORFF, GEORG. Egypt [photographed by Hoyningen-Huene]. 180p $7.50 Augustin

932 Egypt—History 43-18388

"The textual contributor encompasses the millennia from Egypt's pre-dynastic period, prior to 4000 B.C., down to the Persian conquest five centuries before the Christian era, with a short chronological summary to modern times. . . The subjects of Mr. Hoyningen-Huene's illustrations, ranging from pyramids and temples of Giza and Sakkara to the magnificence of Thebes, have been selected with rare discrimination and display the slow-paced but glorious progress of sculpture and fresco from the simple tombs of pre-dynastic rulers through the massiveness of King Khufu's last resting place to the grandeur of Karnak and Luxor. In addition to superb photographs of the most imposing structures there are numerous studies of architectural details and portraits of deities and pharaohs." Weekly Book Review

Am Hist R 49:522 Ap '44 20w

"When an eminent Egyptologist combines with a photographer of distinction to produce a book on Egypt the result is an intellectual feast. Text and illustrations supplement each other. They fuse into a composite of one of the most ancient and most enduring of all civilizations. Four thousand years pass in review in word and picture with rarely encountered fluidity." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Mr 12 '44 350w

STEINER, MRS CHARLOTTE. Daddy comes home [il. by the author]. [24p] $1.25 Doubleday

44-8542

Picture story book for nursery age. It shows the activities of a little girl who is helping her mother get ready for the father who is coming home.

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:127 N 17 '44 10w
Kirkus 12:448 O 1 '44 60w

"Recommended." J. E. Wooster
+ Library J 69:1105 D 15 '44 50w

STEINER, MRS CHARLOTTE, and BURLINGHAM, MARY. Second climbing book; a pull-out book [il. in color by Charlotte Steiner]. 20p $1 Vanguard

44-8556

"Last year Betsy and Bobby made a hit with very young readers by climbing through the pages of a pull-out book to the top of a Christmas tree. This year Bobby climbs a mountain and brings a collection of animals down to the waiting Betsy." Book Week

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p22 N 12 '44 50w

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:127 N 17 '44 20w

" 'The Second Climbing Book' [has] . . . a fine, plain story and an unfolding drawing that carries on the adventure." L. M. Palmer
+ N Y Times p18 N 12 '44 20w

STENTON, FRANK MERRY. Anglo-Saxon England. (Oxford hist. of England) 748p maps $7.50 (21s) Oxford

942.01 Great Britain—History—Anglo-Saxon period, 449-1066 A44-638

"Among other subjects [this volume] deals with Old English literature, prose and poetry, law, public and private, the structure of society, place-names, the Church, the coinage; there are eight excellent maps, a bibliography, and an index (the work of Mrs. Stenton)." New Statesman & Nation

"The writer has fulfilled brilliantly, in both his own original work and interpretation and his use of recent scholarship, the expectations which have long centered in this volume. The bibliography, as in other volumes of the Oxford history, is an outstanding and valuable feature." W. A. Morris
+ Am Hist R 50:108 O '44 1050w

"This is no ordinary volume in a political series. It is the most notable contribution to English mediaeval history which has appeared for years—a classic comparable in massive and masterly strength with the first volume of Stubbe's 'Constitutional History.' " R. H. Hodgkin
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 24 '43 450w

"It is at once a pleasure and a responsibility to review so admirable a work as this. A pleasure, for, whatever may be generally believed, reviewers would rather praise than censure; and a responsibility, for one whose knowledge is but ordinary can only be modest in dealing with a book every page of which bears marks of the most consummate erudition —the fruit of twenty years' special study based on a general scholarship already remarkable enough." E. E. Kellett
+ New Statesman & Nation 27:64 Ja 22 '44 600w
Times [London] Lit Sup p66 F 5 '44 3100w

Reviewed by S. C. Chew
Weekly Book Review p15 Ap 30 '44 650w

STERLING, HELEN. Little Choo Choo; il. by Denison Budd. [28p] $1 Watts, F.

44-8035

What happened to a little engine which got bored with same old run and jumped the track and looked for excitement. For ages three to six.

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 D 11 '44 70w

"The runaway engine idea has been used often; the adventures of this engine seem too fanciful to appeal to children who like might-be-true stories. But the market for any kind of story about a train seems inexhaustible. The pictures are brightly colored and nice in pattern—the personification of the engine is not too extreme."

Kirkus 12:400 S 1 '44 130w

Reviewed by D. M. MacDonald

Library J 69:817 O 1 '44 50w

STERN, FRANCES. Applied dietetics; the planning and teaching of normal and therapeutic diets. 2d ed 265p il $4 Williams & Wilkins

613.2 Diet. Diet in disease SG44-5

"This is the second edition of Miss Stern's valuable book; the first edition was published in 1936 [Book Review Digest, 1937]. This edition has been enlarged and greatly improved to meet changing needs and in order to include newer knowledge of the application of dietetics which has resulted from the rapid advances of this science." Am J Pub Health

"The book is highly recommended for teachers of dietetics, and is a most useful reference book for physicians, hospital and clinic dietitians and all others who have a special interest in this field." O. H. Smillie

+ Am J Pub Health 34:665 Je '44 230w

"To the teacher Applied Dietetics offers indispensable tools with which to interest and motivate the student. To the student it offers indispensable tools for putting his knowledge into action." M. R. Stimpson

+ J Home Econ 36:232 Ap '44 400w

STERN, GLADYS BRONWYN (MRS G. L. HOLDSWORTH). Trumpet voluntary. 387p $2.75 Macmillan

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-5866

"Reflections and recollections covering roughly the period between 1940 when Miss Stern's home in London was destroyed by bombs until she returned to the same neighborhood three years later. Title is name of composition by early English composer and typifies for the author 'the clear tune of life itself,' which she has tried to make the theme of the book. Rambling, disjointed chapters about her acquaintances, childhood memories, wartime England, and preferences in music, pictures and books. Shows wit, facility in writing." Library J

"Trumpet Voluntary is an affirmation of Miss Stern's delight and interest in living, and its artless, unformed pattern a masterly example of how very well an author must learn to write before he dares write with what seems to the casual eye a chatty abandon." Frances Woodward

+ Atlantic 174:131 O '44 380w

Reviewed by Jack Conroy

Book Week p3 Jl 16 '44 400w

Booklist 41:14 S '44

"Yes, the publishers are right. Miss Stern is both deeply serious and slightly mad, superbly sophisticated and occasionally disarmingly juvenile—more or less like all really interesting people. She takes in everybody from Shakespeare to the Lunts, and moves on wings of the wind from Albany (not New York State) to southern France, then on to California and New York. No reviewer would be bold enough to describe such a book or really to appraise it. It is G. B. Stern. If a person likes her, he will know what to do." M. W.

Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 12 '44 800w

Commonweal 40:426 Ag 18 '44 850w

"Every bookseller—every library has some market for anything G. B. Stern writes. . . To those who liked Monogram and Another Part of the Forest this third segment of autobiography, if such it can be called, will be like a third meeting with a good friend, a meeting looked forward to—and deeply savored. I don't think I ever liked a person for her irrelevancies so definitely as I do the G. B. Stern I've met through these three books."

+ Kirkus 12:156 Ap 1 '44 280w

Reviewed by Margaret Owen

Library J 69:603 Jl '44 110w

Manchester Guardian p3 N 15 '44 200w

"Always hyper-personal, 'Trumpet Voluntary' reads like an egotistical, commonplace book, absorbed with pleasant sensations and memories, rambling with small-talk and odd facts, typical of all the charm and consequent limitations of the polite English lady authoress."

New Repub 111:670 N 20 '44 180w

Reviewed by W. P. Rilla

New Statesman & Nation 28:393 D 9 '44 380w

"Inconsequential though such writing may sometimes seem, and, in this summer of horrors, even a little callous in its unceasing preoccupation with self, 'Trumpet Voluntary' is the sort of book that needs to be published and read; for its every paragraph is a ringing reassertion of the importance and the dignity of the individual whim. Miss Stern, like everyone else, at heart is a militant egoist. Furthermore, she is unashamed of her absorption in the small affairs of everyday life, in which she is able to find so much symbolism and meaning. In a time of regimented thought and deed we need very much to be reassured of the charm of such aspects of existence." R. D. Altick

+ — N Y Times p7 Jl 16 '44 800w

"All the qualities of Miss Stern's writing are present—her highly mannered and rather bejewelled prose, her archness, her occasional acute insight into human behavior. . . Readers who enjoyed Sir Osbert Sitwell's recent 'Left Hand, Right Hand!' and W. Somerset Maugham's not-so-recent 'The Summing up' should find Miss Stern's distillation, which is of the same vintage though not drawn from the same cask, equally pleasurable."

+ New Yorker 20:58 Ag 19 '44 140w

"In all her criticisms, sound or not . . . G. B. Stern is individual and courageous. She knows what she likes, what are her books, and I found greatly to my liking her taste for books generally thought to be 'children's reading.' Nothing enrages me more than the classification of books as 'suitable to' eight or eighty year oldsters. Miss Stern herself writes an ageless kind of book, and this mixture of scrapbook, history, criticism, and fiction is the autobiographer G. B. Stern at her most representative and dearest, ready for guests of any age and most nationalities." Robert Ellis

+ Sat R of Lit 27:18 Jl 29 '44 1000w

Spec 173:490 N 24 '44 170w

"Needless to say 'Trumpet Voluntary' is no book to sit down with solemnly and to plod through conscientiously. This is a book to taste and savor and to think about. It is too heady, too brilliant and swiftly moving from scene to scene to make good steady reading. But it is a cocktail for jaded minds, full of stimulant and titivating flavor. 'Trumpet Voluntary' adds greatly to the not inconsiderable laurels of G. B. Stern." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 6 '44 380w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 21 '45 200w

"The book is uneven—uneven in parts, uneven in patches. At its best it is wise and witty, and to be both is not a usual possession. At its worst it is forced, a little shrill and strained."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p549 N 11 '44 650w

"'Trumpet Voluntary' is an amiable, amusing book. Reading Miss Stern in propria persona is rather like listening to an extremely able composer-virtuoso improvising in the twilight." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 16 '44 600w

STERN, JACQUES. French colonies, past and future. 331p maps $3 Didier pub.

325.344 France—Colonies 44-2435

"The former French Minister of Colonies, poses a challenging answer to Wendell Willkie's theories concerning the destiny of the French and the British colonial empires. He reveals

STERN, JACQUES—Continued
these empires as embryonic leagues of nations and he maintains that their continued existence is a necessity for the future peace of the world. Mr. Stern demonstrates his point with examples and parallels drawn from the French historical past." Publisher's note

---

Reviewed by Amry Vandenbosch
Ann Am Acad 234:143 Jl '44 450w

Reviewed by Hans Wieschhoff
Ann Am Acad 237:214 Ja '45 500w

Booklist 40:263 Ap 1 '44

Current Hist 7:134 Ag '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:663 Jl '44 10w

Nation 159:81 Jl 15 '44 130w

Reviewed by Eleanor Kittredge
N Y Times p23 F 13 '44 750w

Reviewed by Gaston Rueff
Pacific Affairs 17:241 Je '44 110w

"The author of this book, long active in French political life and onetime Minister of Colonies, is eminently qualified to accomplish the task which he has set himself: a brief historical sketch of French colonial activity and a survey of the present empire. . . Some minor points may be mentioned which, while relatively secondary, may provide grounds for much controversy. Granting that France has to a degree been the victim of Anglo-American shortsightedness, in addition to her own mistakes, there is little to be gained by overstating such factors as the extent of Indochinese resistance to the Japanese (p. 50) or the magnitude of the current French naval contribution (p. 344). . . The author seems to have overstated or misstated his real thought when he says that the French army now in process of building will dictate (although the French dicter does not carry the connotations of dictate) its attitude to the French people when the coming invasion of France materializes." René Albrecht-Carrié
+ — Pol Sci Q 59:285 Je '44 900w

Reviewed by Frederick Gruin
Sat R of Lit 27:15 Ap 22 '44 750w

"On the whole and with all its serious warnings against hasty optimism, Mr. Stern's book is encouraging from the point of civilization. It shows the French Empire like a League of Nations in embryo. They are schools of civilization which 'lead inevitably to self-government,' says Mr. Stern. We should only remember that the fruit must be ripe to be detached without harm from the tree." Philippe Barres
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 12 '44 1100w

STERN, MICHAEL. Into the jaws of death. 237p $2.75 McBride

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-47018

A collection of first-person narratives relating the experiences of American soldiers, marines, navy men, fliers, and merchant seamen in various theaters of war—from the South Seas to the North Atlantic.

Reviewed by Frederic Hudson
Book Week p4 My 14 '44 270w

Booklist 40:315 My 15 '44

"True adventure value."
+ Kirkus 12:56 F 1 '44 190w

Reviewed by B. R. Redman
Sat R of Lit 27:9 Je 10 '44 360w

"These stories, related with unaffected simplicity and without heroics, bring the battle lines pretty close to home." M. R. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p8 Ap 27 '44 360w

"Mr. Stern may have made some of the narrators a little more articulate and artful in phrase than heroes normally are, but that is a minor liberty to which he is entitled. These chapters make you feel the tension of combat."
+ Weekly Book Review p12 Ap 30 '44 100w

STETTINIUS, EDWARD REILLY. Lend-lease, weapon for victory. 358p il $3 Macmillan

940.5373 World war, 1939—Supplies. World war, 1939—Finance. Debts, Public—U.S. U.S.—Defenses 43-18583

"The first comprehensive account of what the author describes, quite correctly, as a weapon for victory—how it was forged, whom it has helped, and where all those billions of dollars have gone. Mr. Stettinius writes in relatively general terms, as for obvious reasons he has to, but he tells enough about lend-lease to indicate that its complete story, when finally put together, will be one of the most dramatic of the war." (New Yorker) Index.

"If the impartial specialist in world economics reads the volume he may find opportunities to criticize a book which is uncritical, but presumably intentionally so. For many laymen and perhaps for some students, the problem remains largely one of world or even domestic politics. Indeed, the plausibility of the approach, the simple, popular, journalistic style, the obvious sincerity and enthusiasm of the distinguished author, and the fascinating pictures easily make Lend-Lease: Weapon for Victory one of the most successful books of its kind, which has appeared during the war." John Donaldson
+ — Am Econ R 34:399 Je '44 850w

Reviewed by W. O. Stout, Jr.
Am Hist R 49:800 Jl '44 240w

Reviewed by W. R. West
Am Pol Sci R 38:396 Ap '44 340w

"This book gives a comprehensive and accurate account of lend-lease, and at the same time is exceedingly interesting and readable." J. P. Young
+ Ann Am Acad 234:135 Jl '44 500w

"There is nothing stuffy about this accounting of stewardship to the American people. It has, as it should have for its audience, the virtues of the best newspaper writing: good narrative flow, lots of unpublicized information, concrete illustrations, vivid glimpses behind the scenes, meaningful anecdotes, and candor. Mr. Stettinius tells about his trip to England as graphically as would a first-rate war correspondent. It is very fortunate that this book is so highly readable, for a popular understanding of Lend-Lease will affect our post-war views as well as strengthen United Nations sentiment among us while the war goes on." Gorham Munson
+ Atlantic 173:131 Mr '44 480w

"In this book Stettinius puts 'oomph' into Lend-Lease. With photographs, charts, epigrams, anecdotes and a wealth of inside information he makes Lend-Lease as entertaining as a film by Walt Disney—and as good for the morale." Sterling North
+ Book Week p2 Ja 16 '44 500w

Booklist 40:196 F 1 '44

Bookmark 5:14 My '44

"Mr. Stettinius undoubtedly enjoyed the collaboration of numerous experts in the compilation of his report. Nevertheless the volume bears the stamp of his own friendly, generous disposition. Illustrations and diagrams enhance the value of a clear, well-organized text." J. F. Thorning
+ Cath World 159:279 Je '44 330w

"Mr. Stettinius's book will be invaluable to historians and to many of us to whom the early war period now seems like a nightmare." M. H.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 18 '44 600w

Reviewed by W. P. Sears
Churchman 158:19 Mr 1 '44 260w

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '44

"This volume from the pen of its able administrator is written with an eye to the future. It is clear that the author is aware of the historic importance of the agency he has so admirably directed. While the volume bears the impress of many hands, this does not detract from its value. The important fact is that the man most intimately connected with lend-lease placed his approval upon a presentation of its case while the war is still on and before the final results of the policy can be known." J. N. Moody

+ Commonweal 39:475 F 25 '44 600w

Current Hist 6:165 F '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:495 Ap '44 60w

Kirkus 12:10 Ja 1 '44 300w

"The book provides, perhaps, the best short history of the American war effort yet published." Alan Barth
+ Nation 158:132 Ja 29 '44 900w

"The book is factual and carefully non-controversial. It is not due to the humdrum style nor to the infrequent personal revelations that its cumulative effect is inspiring. This effect is achieved by the encyclopedic world picture it paints, and the record it gives of improved strategic, military and human relationships resulting from the free exchange of goods among the Allies, with the dollar sign left off." R. L. Strout
+ New Repub 110:122 Ja 24 '44 700w

Reviewed by John MacCormac
N Y Times p1 Ja 16 '44 1300w

"It's too bad that his prose has such an air of executive hustle about it. This may be because he is what his publishers say he is, a dynamic personality, but it gives the impression that he, or a very dynamic ghost, was anxious to get the darned job over with."
New Yorker 19:78 Ja 15 '44 140w

"The American people and future historians will be indebted to Mr. Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., for his unofficial report on the operation of lend-lease. . . His straightforward, and even intimate, account of our rôle in the 'Arsenal of Democracy' before and after our belligerency is a distinct contribution to public information and understanding." R. D. Calkins
+ Pol Sci Q 59:471 S '44 450w

"The question of Reverse Lend-Lease raises one of the few areas of confusion in Mr. Stettinius's otherwise admirably clear book. There is a temptation to think of Reverse Lend-Lease as payment, in some measure, for the goods the United States has shipped abroad. . . Washington has done a bad job of informing the public as to the real nature of Lend-Lease, and Mr. Stettinius has missed his chance to drop the dollar sign in this book. . . Mr. Stettinius's book, despite [some] omissions, is a sound, comprehensive, and valuable study of Lend-Lease in action. With some surprise one notes that what might have been a tedious report is fast-paced and absorbing. Not infrequently the story Mr. Stettinius has to tell is as gripping and tense as a novel; and he tells it well." L. M. Cherne
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:3 Ja 22 '44 2250w

"It is a clear and readable and even exciting report to the people on the success of 'H. R. 1776.' " M. H. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 16 '44 500w

Reviewed by Cecil Smith
Survey G 33:185 Mr '44 700w

Times [London] Lit Sup p133 Mr 18 '44 1250w

"Mr. Stettinius has given us a factual accounting that is almost complete; certainly this well written and handsomely turned out volume, replete with excellent photographs and informative charts, is likely to answer nearly all the questions to be raised currently. It does not quite answer them all: but perhaps one has no right to be carping in the face of the heroic accomplishments recorded. . . Mr. Stettinius has done a fine job—both as administrator of Lend-Lease and as historian in the first five years of its remarkable achievement." L. M. Hacker
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ja 16 '44 1750w

Wis Lib Bul 40:54 Ap '44

"The Undersecretary of State has given us a book that is as full of facts as a government report, yet as fresh and topical as the morning newspaper and as charming in its narrative style as a best-seller." P. W. Bidwell
+ Yale R n s 33:545 spring '44 1100w

STEVENS, MONTAGUE FARQUHARD SHEFFIELD. Meet Mr Grizzly; a saga on the passing of the grizzly. 281p il $3.50 Univ. of N. Mex. press

799.2 Bears. Hunting—West 44-515

"From the title of this book, the work might reasonably be expected to be a detailed study of the natural history of the grizzly bear. It is not that. . . What the book really turns out to be is a volume of all sorts of ranch-house reminiscings, outdoors adventures, and hunting lore, now set down in his eighty-fifth year by a fine old stalwart who settled in the Datil Mountains of Western New Mexico more than sixty years ago, and who has a vast variety of yarns to spin not only about his keenest passion—hunting grizzlies—but also about broncobusting, panthers, horse-thieves, cattle rustlers, Apaches on the warpath, and other aspects of life in the old wild West." Sat R of Lit

"It is a pleasant book, full of shrewd and thoughtful observation of both beasts and men. One of its most engaging qualities is candor: Stevens relishes a joke on himself, and tells many of them." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 Ap 16 '44 280w

"For real outdoorsmen these memoirs by a genuine and uncommonly perspicacious old veteran should prove just right." Alan Devoe
+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 Ap 8 '44 600w

STEVENS, WILLIAM OLIVER. Beyond the sunset; new vistas to immortality. 119p $1.50 Dodd

237.2 Immortality 44-6538

"Introduction to field of psychical research, writer attempting to show evidence for survival of personality after death. . . Appendix contains annotated list of twenty-two titles for further reading, from popular treatment to doctor's thesis. . . Dr. Stevens was professor of English at U.S. Naval Academy for nineteen years." Library J

"Short, objectively presented, unusually absorbing. . . Whether or not author's conclusions are accepted, book is recommended for all libraries." H. F. McGaw
+ Library J 69:698 S 1 '44 70w

"It is a quiet, heartfelt book, carrying more conviction by being convinced than by piling on phenomena."
+ Weekly Book Review p31 N 19 '44 120w

STEVENSON, AUGUSTA. George Carver, boy scientist; il. by Clothilde Embree Funk. 202p $1.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Carver, George Washington—Juvenile literature 44-8284

Biography in story form of the famous Negro scientist whose life-long interest in small animals, flowers and weeds, began in boyhood. The greater part of the story deals with George's early life but a final chapter tells of his success in later years. For young readers.

"George Carver's boyhood makes exceptionally good story material, since his interest in plants, his industry and courage, showed up when he was very young. There is so much in these pages worth saying to children." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p24 N 12 '44 150w

Booklist 41:95 N 15 '44

Cath World 160:281 D '44 50w

Kirkus 12:401 S 1 '44 110w

"Parents who were fortunate enough to read Rackham Holt's outstanding biography of George Washington Carver may desire a book for their children about this same wizard with plants. Geared to the understanding of children of eight to twelve years of age, and written by the originator of the popular series, 'The Childhood of Famous Americans,' it depicts faithfully and graphically the early years of the great negro scientist."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:4 O '44 180w

Reviewed by Merrill Blum
Springf'd Republican p4d N 12 '44 70w

STEVENSON, AUGUSTA. Sam Houston, boy chieftain; il. by Paul Laune. 199p $1.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Houston, Samuel—Juvenile literature 44-3410

Portrait of Sam Houston as a boy, with one chapter on the events of his later life. For ages eight to twelve.

"One of the greatest virtues of these biographies is their readability, and 'Sam Houston' follows true to form. The print is large, without too much on a page, and the story itself is interesting and swift-moving."
+ Book Week p5 Je 4 '44 140w

"Ten- to twelve-year-olds will enjoy this." Elizabeth Johnson
+ Library J 69:405 My 1 '44 70w

STEVENSON, DOROTHY EMILY (MRS JAMES REID PEPLOE). Listening valley. 312p $2.50 Farrar

44-7488

Story of two charming sisters, living in Edinburgh in the '30s. After they grew up one sister married and went to India; but Tonia, the quiet sister, married a wealthy, elderly financier, and after his death in the London blitz, went back to Scotland. There in a beautiful old house she found both peace and romance. Some of the characters of the author's Celia's House (Book Review Digest, 1943) appear in the book.

"Here is another novel about young love in an England at war. It is by D. E. Stevenson who writes with a delicate perception reminiscent of 'Elizabeth' but without the latter's whimsy and humor." Edith Roberts
+ — Book Week p2 O 22 '44 360w

Booklist 41:42 O 1 '44

Boston Globe p19 N 8 '44 150w

"Pleasant . . . and comfortable."
+ Kirkus 12:306 Jl 15 '44 150w

"Very pleasing romantic story, recommended." S. E. Sherman
+ Library J 69:762 S 15 '44 70w

Times [London] Lit Sup p477 S 30 '44 90w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p18 S 24 '44 140w

STEWART, ALFRED WALTER (J. J. CONNINGTON, pseud). Jack-in-the-box. 262p $2 Little 43-18852

Detective story.

Booklist 40:253 Mr 15 '44

Bookmark 5:20 Ja '44

"One of the deaths is highly ingenious, and the book is worth reading. But Mr. Connington would be far more readable if he never diluted his brilliant inventions until they lose all their flavour." Ralph Partridge
+ — New Statesman & Nation 27:294 Ap 29 '44 150w

"To appreciate this story fully one should either be well grounded in science or take Sir Clinton's explanations on trust." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 Ja 23 '44 120w

"Sir Clinton Driffield, whose prosy investigations have considerable appeal for Connington readers, finally manages to figure out the device which murders rabbits and men without leaving a trace. Interesting in its own peculiar way."
New Yorker 19:79 Ja 29 '44 70w

"Well-documented blend of scientific crime, 'black-magic,' plain and fancy villainy, and careful sleuthing. Slow-moving but effective. Not for the impatient."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ja 22 '44 40w

Reviewed by John Hampson
Spec 172:180 F 25 '44 100w

"Here's a special extra item for the nicer fans—the best new detective story in sight by a wide margin, one that should be on every list for 1944 consumption." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p22 Ja 23 '44 250w

STEWART, ANNA BIRD. Two young Corsicans; a boy and his colt; il. by Catherine M. Richter. 261p $2 Lippincott

44-8267

Simple story of a boy growing up in pre-war Corsica. His pet, a much-loved pony, takes up some of Baptiste's time, but his family and friends, and his work at sheep herding come into the story also. For eleven and twelve year olds.

Cath World 160:282 D '44 10w

"Written out of discerning knowledge of the island life, Two Young Corsicans sparkles with humor and happiness."
+ Horn Bk 20:488 N '44 90w

"Good."
+ Kirkus 12:452 O 1 '44 90w

"The theme itself (that of an irresponsible boy slowly becoming more dependable) is a worthy one. Of interest to eleven- and twelve-year-old readers." Miriam Snow
+ Library J 69:938 N 1 '44 70w

"Behind the action of the story, which is exciting enough to please boys and girls, there is always a sense of the land; of the mountain meadows where the sheep graze, of the village square and fountain and the narrow, twisted streets, of the spicy scent of herbs and flowers. Miss Richter, who made the charming illustrations for 'Bibi, the Baker's Horse,' adds to this feeling of background with her drawings." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 28:33 Ja 13 '45 290w

STEWART, MRS CATHERINE POMEROY. So thick the fog. 246p $2.50 Scribner

44-7100

Story of a French family living near the coast of France during the first years of the German occupation. The title, descriptive of the night when they finally made their escape to England, is also symbolic in depicting their mental attitude toward the war and conflicting ideologies during much of the time they spent under Nazi rule.

Reviewed by J. A. Brandt
Book Week p3 S 3 '44 700w

Booklist 41:24 S '44

"A grim book—its very grimness enhanced by the realization it imposes that—though fiction—this is no doubt a true picture of what has happened to most French families in the years of occupation. . . Not pleasant relaxation, but holding—and haunting."
Kirkus 12:326 Ag 1 '44 250w

"The story is excitingly told, and the characterizations, if facile, are sharp. Throughout, Mrs. Stewart attempts to show the spirit of France still quickening beneath her physical ruin. The tale moves swiftly and quietly, as though the poor marquise who tells it were whispering the nightmare to herself. It all seems quite true." Anne Green
+ — N Y Times p13 Ag 27 '44 280w

"The story falls into an adventure pattern made familiar by both fiction and the movies, but the telling, which is restrained and often touching, sets it well above the average."
+ New Yorker 20:58 Ag 19 '44 130w

"If the story she tells were as good as the theme and the background it would have reached high distinction. Certainly all manner of disaster came to many French families. But in telling what happened to one family Mrs. Stewart piles up her tragic incidents to the point of incredibility." Rose Feld
+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 20 '44 600w

Wis Lib Bul 40:161 D '44

STEWART, ISABEL MAITLAND. Education of nurses; historical foundations and modern trends. 399p $3.50 Macmillan

610.7307 Nurses and nursing—Study and teaching 43-16056

"Miss Stewart's book gives an authoritative, condensed account of the early emergence of nursing, the development of the Nightingale system, the complicated issues and conflicts involved in establishing the education of nurses on a sound basis, the movement toward standardization of schools of nursing, the advance of the profession in sociological meaning, and the needs for inspired educational leadership." Survey

---

Reviewed by M. C. Connor
Am J Pub Health 34:664 Je '44 450w

Reviewed by J. J. Williams
Am J Soc 50:172 S '44 240w

School & Society 58:352 O 30 '43 70w

"Miss Stewart is eminently qualified to write this book by her position as a leader in the profession, her devotion to the cause of promoting greater understanding and appreciation of the problems of nursing and of its great and rewarding opportunities for those engaged in it. Her book is organized to be read as a textbook for students in nursing schools—with a summary, suggested questions, and a list of reference reading at the end of each chapter; but it is also written with a vitality and clarity which make it a good book for lay readers who wish to inform themselves concerning the nursing profession." A. C. Lloyd

+ Survey 80:64 F '44 350w

Wis Lib Bul 40:53 Ap '44

STEWART, JOHN QUINCY, and PIERCE, NEWTON LACY. Marine and air navigation. 472p il maps $4.50 Ginn

527 Navigation. Navigation (aeronautics) 44-5449

"A comprehensive introductory textbook. Special features of the work are: a generous amount of supplementary material such as tables; many reproductions of charts and photographs; eight full-page star charts in color; and the division of chapters into numbered paragraphs to facilitate cross references throughout the text." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by H. T. Stetson
Geog R 35:157 Ja '45 1000w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:29 Ap '44

Reviewed by J. M. Juran
N Y Times p3 D 17 '44 50w

"This is a comprehensive and beautifully illustrated book just the thing to send as a gift to some nautically-minded friend, in case you can separate yourself from it. It is written principally as a textbook, but an inviting one that should draw to the study of this noble subject many who may find in it their first contact with one of the sciences and useful arts. . . The book is timely and up to date. Everything is here: It remains only to master the tricks of the trade, to get a boat or an airplane, and to start out to see what is left of the world after its senseless years of war. Perhaps the navigator will find that the surface of the ocean, the state of the atmosphere, and the starry skies are pretty much the same as ever." R. M. Sutton

+ R of Scientific Instruments 15:267 O '44 500w

"Though theory is indicated, it is in such a way as to require a minimum of mathematics, and no trigonometry is used. With numerous illustrations, diagrams and excerpts from government tables, this book will be excellent for teaching in an elementary way how to guide a ship or plane to distant places." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Ag 13 '44 120w

STEWART, MAXWELL SLUTZ. Building for peace at home and abroad. 240p $2.50 Harper

338.9 U.S.—Economic policy. Reconstruction (1939-). International cooperation 43-16638

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

Reviewed by Mona Fletcher
Am Pol Sci R 38:602 Je '44 370w

Reviewed by C. S. Ascher
Ann Am Acad 233:224 My '44 330w

Bookmark 5:5 Mr '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p2 Ja '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:495 Ap '44 20w

Reviewed by W. H. Cooney
Springf'd Republican p6 F 22 '44 250w

"Mr. Stewart's book tells us what we all know vaguely, but tells it concretely. His underlying assumption is that America's most effective contribution to international peace will be the achievement of domestic peace and well being. . . And he makes it abundantly clear where the source of both domestic and foreign policy lies—with us, the voters." Hiram Motherwell

+ Survey G 33:253 My '44 80w

Wis Lib Bul 40:34 Mr '44

STIERI, EMANUELE. Aircraft instruments. 312p il $1.50 Essential bks.

629.135 Aeronautical instruments 43-17071

"Practical information on the mechanisms of aeronautical instruments, their testing and repair." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1008 D 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:58 O '43

STIERI, EMANUELE. Engine lathe. 308p il $1.50 Duell

621.94 Lathes. Measuring instruments. Machine shop practice 44-4792

"A pocket-sized manual for the beginning machinist, giving clear but brief instructions, for such jobs as cutting screw threads, drilling, reaming, and tapping. A chapter is devoted to the micrometer calipers and other measuring instruments. Machinists' tables are given in an appendix. Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:25 Ap '44

STIERI, EMANUELE. Gliders and glider training. 118p il $3 Essential bks

629.1333 Gliders (aeronautics). Gliding and soaring 44-40011

The book begins with a chapter on the history of motorless flight; then follows information on types of modern gliders, techniques, and uses. Glossary.

Booklist 40:192 F 1 '44

Bookmark 5:8 Mr '44

"This is a beautiful piece of book making and is sure to appeal to the airminded of all ages. . . There is a section on building gliders, on rules and regulations and clubs . . But—no index."

+ — Kirkus 11:571 D 15 '43 110w

Library J 68:961 N 15 '44 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:6 Ja '44

"The entire presentation is in the understandable and authoritative style of an author who knows rather more of the subject than he incorporates into his books." J. M. Juran

+ N Y Times p36 N 26 '44 80w

STILL, ALFRED. Soul of amber; the background of electrical science. 274p $2.50 Farrar

537.09 Electricity—History 44-47273

Historical account of the development of electricity from the time of Thales of Miletus, who discovered in the sixth century B.C. that amber when rubbed could attract small objects, to Faraday and Marconi. "They are all there—the great names and the great events in the history of electrical science up to the turn of the century: Gilbert, Bennet, Nicholson, Franklin, Volta, Joule, Ritter, Ampere, Faraday, Weber, and many others; the discovery of the electric circuit, the invention of condensers, the production of light by means of electric currents, the building of dynamos and motors, the first telegraphs and wireless transmitters." (Scientific Bk Club R) Chapter bibliographies. Index.

"If you are well schooled in the science of electricity you will find Still's book easy going. Otherwise it will be on the heavy side." Rufus Oldenburger

Book Week p8 Ja 14 '45 160w

"This is an interesting, brief account of the early development of electrical science, but it is also much more. There is nothing new in the history which is here recited, but the author is more than a historian and an engineer. He is a philosopher, and the chief value of his book lies in his discussions of how men learned to speculate and theorize while they were progressing from amber and lodestones to modern batteries and generators, and in his own conclusions on the subject (although it is obviously a principle with him to distrust conclusions, his own or anybody else's). 'Soul of Amber' gives richly and compactly the story of electrical discovery from Thales to the latter part of the nineteenth century." A. P. Morgan

+ N Y Times p14 Ja 21 '45 900w

"Though he has written for the general reader, Mr. Still has taken the pains to include good bibliographies at the end of his chapters, so that sources as well as conclusions can be traced. His compact general historical review even the historian of science will find useful. . . This reviewer, for one, hopes he will undertake an extension into nineteenth and twentieth century physics and thus link present with the past." Waldemar Kaempffert

+ Sat R of Lit 28:30 Ja 13 '45 360w

"An extremely interesting and illuminating account of the development of knowledge concerning electricity and its uses. . . Written for the intelligent layman, this excellent 'background of electrical science' is thoroughly documented with abundant references to the extensive literature of the subject. Running through its pages like a golden thread in a carefully designed tapestry there is a philosophical flavor which reveals the author's concern, not only with men and events but with the broader implications of the discoveries marking the progress of a science that affects the life of every man."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:4 D '44 240w

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 14 '44 150w

STILLMAN, DOROTHEA. When the New Year came in March; il. by Nedda Walker. 139p $2 Dutton

44-3155

Story of life in Connecticut, in the year 1644 and for some years later, for readers of eight to ten. It describes the building of the houses, the difficulties of keeping warm, housekeeping when there were no matches, and what happened when a fire got out of hand, as well as the part the children played in the days when the New Year came on March 25th.

Booklist 40:307 My 1 '44

Reviewed by F. C. Darling

Christian Science Monitor p12 Je 26 '44 230w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:210 My '44 80w

"Many little known customs and practices of the colonists are included in this story which will make an excellent supplementary reader for children who are studying the colonial period in American history. There is adventure and excitement enough to satisfy both boy and girl readers."

+ Kirkus 12:171 Ap 1 '44 130w

"It reads easily and though a certain quaintness of speech is somewhat overdone, it will prove a pleasant way for children of today to learn of colonial customs and life. Useful not as a story, but as a supplementary reader." Gertrude Andrus

+ Library J 69:405 My 1 '44 100w

New Yorker 20:57 Jl 8 '44 50w

"Gives the middle group of young readers a delightful story of colonial times." E. B. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 9 '44 120w

"It is the best story for giving children a picture of how the settlers of New England lived, day by day, that I have read since Enid Meadowcroft's 'The First Year,' and as the Jenner family chronicle gets under way ten years later than that, it continues without colliding." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 23 '44 300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:113 Jl '44

STIMSON, HENRY LEWIS. Prelude to invasion. See United States. War department

STIRLING, YATES. Why sea power will win the war. 319p $3 Fell

940.545 World war, 1939—Naval operations. Sea power 44-2548

An answer to the claims that air power will win the war. Rear Admiral Stirling claims that air power is to some extent dependent upon naval power, and that this war will be won by the navy or not at all. The book is based on a series of articles written for the newspapers and magazines, and deal with air power vs. sea power, Japan's naval strategy, a united air force, pro and con, etc.

"Admiral Stirling partially redeems an otherwise weak book by demonstrating that he has a remarkably keen and clear understanding of naval strategy and tactics. A large part of this book is composed of selections from Admiral Stirling's syndicated newspaper articles, often illogically connected by single sentences of introduction. . . The style is clumsy and inept; there is no adequate organization; the editing is haphazard; the typography is poor. Several chapters are devoted to refuting the arguments of an unidentified critic who favors the exclusive use of sea power. These arguments are so ridiculous that to answer them seems a waste of time for both author and reader." R. A. Brown

— + Ann Am Acad 233:235 My '44 400w

"It is old-tie Navy from stem to stern—the best old-tie Navy, I might add. It tells you forthrightly, vigorously and unequivocally that this war still will be won by the Navy—or it won't be won at all. And when you have finished, somehow or other you feel that the admiral is probably right." W. H. Fetridge

+ Book Week p10 Mr 5 '44 320w

Christian Science Monitor p16 Mr 2 '44 500w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:660 Jl '44 30w

"It seems a scissors and paste job, with little effort at coordination, further marred by an unnecessarily defensive attitude—chip on the shoulder—in regard to the Navy."

— Kirkus 12:32 Ja 15 '44 130w

"It is not a vivid book but it may be useful to small libraries that want to have under one cover material on the necessity of sea, air and land forces working together for victory." K. T. Willis

Library J 69:117 F 1 '44 50w

Reviewed by Fletcher Pratt

N Y Times p6 Mr 26 '44 400w

"To all readers who studiously seek an understanding of the war as it has thus far been fought at sea and with that as a background of the war's probable trend in the future, it is a pleasure to recommend 'Why Sea Power Will Win the War.' Admiral Stirling, now retired from active service, has for some years been a distinguished military commentator. His writings, although not those of a Mahan, have attracted attention in England as well as in this country. They are marked by their clarity, directness and force." R. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 26 '44 600w

STOLBERG, BENJAMIN. Tailor's progress. 360p il $2.75 Doubleday

331.8818712 International ladies' garment workers' union 44-5351

The story of the International ladies' garment workers' union and of the men who have guided its policies during its fifty years of existence. Contains a good deal of biographical material on David Dubinsky, present head of the union. Index.

Reviewed by Willard Shelton

Book Week p3 Je 25 '44 550w

Booklist 40:372 Jl 1 '44

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons

Boston Globe p17 Je 7 '44 320w

Christian Science Monitor p13 S 2 '44 650w

Commonweal 41:22 O 20 '44 20w

Kirkus 12:159 Ap 1 '44 150w

"Stolberg is excellent at describing the 'ups and downs' of the union, interesting and amusing when he deals with the various personalities of the organization, and a bit questionable as a social guide or critic. Nevertheless, his book can be enthusiastically recommended to all who are interested in the labor movement. Not only will they find it enlightening and entertaining, but they will learn to appreciate better the problems of maintaining an honest and efficient union, conscious of its obligation to society and to the needs of its members. Stolberg's book is worthy of its subject." Philip Taft

+ — Nation 159:103 Jl 22 '44 800w

"My feeling is that a reviewer should tell the essential facts of a book and evaluate them, not attempt to impose upon the reader his own ideas on the subject. This I have always tried to do, but with Stolberg's book I have been compelled to violate this feeling. 'Tailor's Progress' is kibitzing and there's not much a reviewer can do but kibitz about it. The factual material is excellent, for, I understand, it comes mainly from Will Herberg (research director of the New York Dress Joint Board of the ILG), who is one of the best researchers in the labor movement. But the kibitzing is all Stolberg's, and, therefore, should you bite into this book, do so with a mouthful of salt, because Stolberg is the kind of man who, if he were a baseball fan, would criticize Babe Ruth for the way he hit a homer and Lou Gehrig for the way he covered first. After all, Stolberg is not much more than a Dodger kibitzer in the labor movement." H. J. Ruttenberg

New Repub 111:19 Jl 3 '44 1150w

"Stolberg, who can write brilliantly at times, who is perhaps the leading free-lance epithetician of these days . . . might have written a local history that was both lively and important. He has done painstaking research—that is evident. Every important leader, as well as every important event, is methodically evaluated. But Stolberg remains under wraps. He brings love to his subject, but little life, with the result that his book is often flat and even dull." Walter Davenport

+ — N Y Times p4 Je 4 '44 1350w

"Mr. Stolberg, who writes briskly and entertainingly, tells the story of the I.L.G.W.U. from its beginnings up to the present and, in doing so, puts together a detailed and immensely readable account of the garment industry in the United States. Highly recommended to anyone who wants to be painlessly informed about the inner workings of the American labor movement."

+ New Yorker 20:78 Je 24 '44 100w

"Despite Mr. Stolberg's aspish gifts, and the scintillations which gleam frequently through these pages, 'Tailor's Progress' remains a dull performance. This is a pity and a surprise." Herbert Harris

— + Sat R of Lit 27:18 Ag 12 '44 800w

Springf'd Republican p6 S 7 '44 330w

"Some readers of the book will be entertained by Mr. Stolberg's barbed thrusts and panegyrics. Others may take offense at many of his statements and points of view. All readers must look elsewhere for the complete and realistic history of the union during the last decade." Lois MacDonald

— + Survey G 33:425 O '44 500w

Time 44:99 Jl 10 '44 1650w

"No single person is qualified to write an authoritative account of all, or even the most important, of so variegated a list of activities and problems. Explaining developments within the several segments of the women's clothing trades and the union's relation to them is, in itself, a separate and formidable undertaking. These difficulties Mr. Stolberg must have recognized. For he has made a wise choice in the material he selects and the themes he pursues. He has written, therefore, no traditional labor history. The book is bare of excerpts from union constitutions and convention proceedings. . . Mr. Stolberg writes about the things in which he is interested and about which, through long observation and contemplation, he regards himself as competent to speak." Leo Wolman

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Je 18 '44 1300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:125 O '44

STOLL, ELMER EDGAR. From Shakespeare to Joyce; authors and critics; literature and life. 442p $3.50 Doubleday

820.4 English literature—History and criticism 44-447

A collection of essays in literary criticism on a variety of subjects in English literature. Many of the pieces have been previously published in literary magazines but are here given in revised and extended form. Contents: Literature and life again; Belial as an example; The 'beau monde' at the Restoration; Literature and life once more: some vagaries of history and criticism; Kent and Gloster; Shakespeare's Jew; Jaques, and the antiquaries; Shakespeare forbears; Modesty in the audience; Poetry and the passions: an aftermath; Poetry and the passions again; Falstaff again; 'All's well' and 'Measure for measure'; The realistic and the unrealistic in 'King Lear'; Source and motive in 'Macbeth' and 'Othello'; Heroes and villains: Shakespeare, Middleton, Byron, Dickens; Browning's 'In a balcony'; Psychoanalysis in criticism: Dickens, Kipling, Joyce; Milton a romantic; Time and space in Milton; From the superhuman to the human in 'Paradise Lost.' Index.

Book Week p8 Mr 12 '44 140w

"It is but a poor task reviewing a book whose every essay seems to demand some special notice. Yet, in glancing over the contents, allowing for a certain habit of repetition in such a miscellany, and recalling the keen pleasure taken in perusing it, I cannot refrain from applauding such base-hits as Mr. Stoll's defense of Milton as a great romantic, and his smashing attack on the dervishes of unintelligibility like the late James Joyce, Gertrude Stein, and their horde of admirers. . . When pedantry turns nasty, as well as dull, it is high time for the authentic scholar to intervene; and Mr. Stoll's book is a refreshing sample of the intervention." Cuthbert Wright

+ Commonweal 39:380 Ja 28 '44 700w

"Strait-jacketed by his theories, Professor Stoll brings to literature such a rigid mind and conditioned sensibility that, while strongly insisting that we must judge works of art on their own terms, he happily proceeds to judge them on his." Louis Kronenberger

— Nation 158:229 F 19 '44 1500w

STOLL, E. E.—Continued

"Despite shortcomings, this miscellaneous volume contains a number of essays on Shakespeare, Milton and Restoration Comedy in which Professor Stoll has dug away and made new finds on his favourite sites. Given his own ground, he is one of the most valuable of living critics; his re-discovery of Shakespeare has caused important adjustments to be made in modern scholarship. It remains to be seen whether, with Coleridge, Goethe and Bradley on the other side, he will succeed in converting readers and audiences to his diehard view." G. W. Stonier

+ — New Statesman & Nation 27:390 Je 10 '44 900w

"A few years ago Professor Stoll published an essay called 'Criticism Criticized,' part of which, under another title, is included in the present volume; and that would be an exact description not only of this new work, but of all his work. Of present-day criticism he has an exceptionally low opinion, yet, while he laments the contemporary confusion and decay, he seems to have read few of the men one would first think of as our critics. . . Curiously, he has almost never attempted to formulate his insights independently of his quarrels with other scholars, and while, through a long series of these quarrels, he has established himself as the flushed dean of Shakespeare scholarship in America, his function has necessarily been almost wholly disciplinary." Mark Schorer

— N Y Times p7 F 6 '44 1300w

"Professor Stoll, one of our most energetic Shakespearean scholars, uses the subject-hopping, or pogo-stick, method to get from Falstaff to Finnegan. He covers a lot of territory this way, taking in most of the famous names in English literature, but he doesn't always keep his equilibrium, especially when he reaches Joyce."

New Yorker 19:67 Ja 8 '44 90w

"Perhaps the greatest of Dr. Stoll's gifts as a critic is a fundamental humility. Oh! not to other critics, nor to rubbish written in any style; but to this great material. He is impressed by the sublime, the lyrical, the lovely, the dramatic in literature and he is content to write of masterpieces, and enable those of us less well-read and less alert than he to understand and to share the noble enjoyment to be had in the spectacle of great art. That is his intention: can a critic have a better one?" R. E. Roberts

+ Sat R of Lit 27:9 Mr 4 '44 1150w

School & Society 59:352 My 13 '44 30w

Reviewed by H. E. Woodbridge

Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 650w

"The title of Professor Stoll's new work suggests a chronological record. It is nothing of the kind. It is more useful than a literary history and a dozen times more entertaining. And entertainment, in the highest and every other sense of the word, is what the professor demands from a work of art—and his criticism attains to that."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p138 Mr 18 '44 1650w

"A great merit of Mr. Stoll's work in criticism is his ardent love and profound knowledge of literature of the first rank. He needs, however, a fairly long perspective in order to discriminate among books of varying degrees of excellence. Generally he is at his least sympathetic when he is studying a work of recent date. This is very apparent in his many pages devoted to James Joyce." S. C. Chew

+ — Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 30 '44 950w

STOLZ, KARL RUF. The Church and psychotherapy; with an introd. by Elmer G. Homrighausen. 312p $2.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury

258 Psychotherapy. Faith cure. Psychology, Religious 44-3491

"In this volume the author relates the methods of psychotherapy to a deep religious philosophy and the result is very illuminating. The healing ministry of Jesus is discussed in some detail; the use of psychiatry by the church before its medical application is pointed out; the type of emotional maturity sought and the ways in which the church, especially in its ecumenical character, can contribute to this is considered at length. A consideration of the therapeutic function of preaching and the vocational neuroses of the minister is among the unique contributions of the book." (Churchman) Glossary of psychological terms. Bibliography. Index.

"I have nothing but praise for the book. It is the most adequate presentation that has come to my attention of the hygienic and healing mission of the church. In this last of his published volumes, Dean Stolz has brought to his readers the finest fruits of a disciplined mind and a rare Christian spirit in the field of his special study." C. T. Holman

+ Christian Century 60:1304 N 10 '43 600w

"This, the last book of the late Dr. Stolz, is a most useful supplement to the two which preceded it, Pastoral Psychology and The Psychology of Religious Living. The three form an excellent and exhaustive treatment of a subject which is of great concern to the clergyman." J. H. Titus

+ Churchman 158:15 F 1 '44 200w

"This is a book full of helpful information and practical suggestions for pastors and religious workers with people, regardless of their length of service in the ministry. Professor Stolz, an effective pioneer in making accessible to pastors and teachers of religion the insights and methods which have been turned up by medical and psychological workers, has given us in this, his latest book, the benefit of his recent reading and accumulated wisdom and experience." Philip Guiles

+ Crozer Q 21:88 Ja '44 450w

"Because the book covers such a range of material, the reader is likely to be confused. If he wants the book to help him become an able religious counselor, he will find much that is irrelevant. If he is looking for an objective appraisal of the therapeutic value of religion, he may not be pleased by the apologetic passages and sermonic phrases. . . The book [however] is delightful reading if one has not made up his mind too rigidly as to what he wants from it. It should be appreciated for its interesting and varied approaches to the relation of religion and psychotherapy." R. L. Sutherland

+ — J Religion 24:222 Jl '44 500w

Library J 69:646 Ag '44 20w

STONE, EUGENIA. Free men shall stand; il. by George Avison. 264p $2.50 Nelson

Zenger, John Peter—Juvenile literature 44-8527

Historical novel for young people telling the story of an early fight for freedom in New York in the 1730s. The youthful hero is a bond-boy serving the printer John Peter Zenger. In the course of the story Zenger becomes the defendant in a libel suit brought against him by the highest authorities of the province, for articles he had published in his paper.

Booklist 41:128 D 15 '44

"A potentially good story, with a new setting, bogs down a bit in over-zealous effort to teach a lesson."

+ — Kirkus 12:482 O 15 '44 90w

"Carefully drawn picture of the period with emphasis on condition of bond servants, redemptioners and apprentises. Should be useful for history classs. For grades seven to nine." Eleanor Kidder

+ Library J 70:72 Ja 15 '45 70w

"Mild and unexciting yarn. . . Not particularly recommended, but acceptable for high school age." Alice Vielehr

— + Library J 70:72 Ja 15 '45 70w

"Zenger's trial and acquittal climax a thoroughly thrilling story." N. B. B.

+ N Y Times p14 N 12 '44 100w

"Nothing could be more timely than the appearance of this story for high school age. . . Much more could be said of Zenger's part in our history, but what this story says the early teens will remember. For it comes to them through the adventures of a boy fired by Zenger's spirit to co-operation in a great historic resistance."

+ Weekly Book Review p18 N 12 '44 480w

STONE, EZRA CHAIM, and MELICK, WELDON. Coming, Major!; with drawings by Ray Inman. 267p $2 Lippincott

355.12 U.S. Army—Military life. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. Actors and actresses—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. Soldiers—Entertainment
44-9604

The creator of the role of Henry Aldrich describes his army job of keeping up the morale of the men in service. He gives a hilarious account of the founding of the Opry House players at Camp Upton, rehearsals, playing in New York, and the filming of This Is the Army.

"The book is full of anecdotes, enlivened by Ray Inman's sketches. The account moves with skilled rapidity; there is no excess verbiage, though there are occasional witticisms which fall pretty flat. The literary value of 'Coming, Major!' is nil, the entertainment value very high. Among the multitude of accounts of the light side of war, this one will hold its own, will tickle many a rib." August Derleth
+ Book Week p36 D 3 '44 360w
Booklist 41:119 D 15 '44
Boston Globe p29 N 29 '44 50w

"Anecdotes and antics which are highspirited and provide exuberant entertainment."
+ Kirkus 12:530 N 15 '44 130w

"Likely to prove as popular among readers of humorous nonfiction as among stage and film devotees. Recommended for public libraries in quantity as the circulation is likely to be large." George Freedley
+ Library J 69:999 N 15 '44 110w

"The story moves fast and is very readable as it should be with anyone as expert as Stone setting the pace, and while it tells only of Tita's tour in this country, it has its place as part of the wartime history of 'soldiers in greasepaint.' " H. O. Austin
+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 17 '44 280w

"Sergeant Stone writes with enthusiasm and earnestness, as well as humor, and even Army cooking gets his indorsement."
+ Weekly Book Review p18 D 17 '44 230w

STONE, IRVING. Immortal wife; the biographical novel of Jessie Benton Fremont. 456p $3 Doubleday

Frémont, Jessie (Benton)—Fiction 44-8140

Full-length biographical novel about Jessie Benton Frémont, the indomitable wife of the American explorer and geographer, John Frémont. Note on sources.

Reviewed by Eleanor Ruggles
Atlantic 175:130 Ja '45 480w

Reviewed by F. N. Litten
Book Week p3 O 8 '44 650w
Booklist 41:59 O 15 '44

"Here is a book which will never bear the label, 'Banned in Boston.' It's a wholeheartedly good book about a whole-hearted wife and a whole-hearted American, Jessie Benton Fremont." Dorothy Hillyer
+ Boston Globe p15 O 25 '44 550w

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 41:106 N 10 '44 1400w

"Stone has done better books, perhaps, but I don't think he has ever had a more holding subject. . . Stone has tampered slightly with history at unimportant points; he has put his own interpretation on certain incidents of which the backgrounds are not known; but in the main he has hewed to the line. And he has told a grand love story—grand adventure story—and told it well."
+ Kirkus 12:356 Ag 15 '44 300w

"Recommended as a novel of exciting historical events (accurately told), as a fine love story and as an excellent character study. For all libraries." M. P. McKay
+ Library J 69:762 S 15 '44 70w

"Altogether, this book—more biography than novel, but a good blend of the two—is to be commended to all who like authentic history vigorously and interestingly presented. Some readers will prefer their biography without an admixture of fictional elements. Some will think that if a writer of Mr. Stone's high talents undertakes a historical novel he should choose a subject where his imagination has freer play and creative effort can be more fully employed. But it is safe to say that most of those who take up this book will find their attention gripped to the end, that they will rise from it both instructed and charmed, and that they will carry away an enduring impression of one of the most remarkable stories in our national record." Allan Nevins
+ N Y Times p4 O 1 '44 900w

"Besides plenty of good, sound facts, the book has romance, adventure, and a lively style—everything, in fact, to make it the darling of the lending libraries."
+ New Yorker 20:77 S 30 '44 130w

" 'Immortal Wife' is an example of that hybrid book, the novelized biography, and it seems to me that Mr. Stone has done just about as well as one can do with it. He is obviously a competent fiction writer and also a competent investigator, which means that his production is readable enough in its way and will doubtless make over into an entertaining biographical moving picture, but that it is neither a good novel nor a good biography. It is something else, and the important question is whether that something else is worth the talents that Mr. Stone has expended on it. It is quite evident from his Note on Sources as well as from the body of the book that Mr. Stone has engaged in extensive research for 'Immortal Wife.' He ought to know as much about Jessie and John Fremont as anyone now alive, and he seems to believe that his book is a genuine contribution to our knowledge of them, that it is substantially true. Yet no one would dare to cite 'Immortal Wife' as authority for a single fact." George Genzmer
+ — Sat R of Lit 28:7 S 30 '44 1000w

Reviewed by L. B. Hill
Springf'd Republican p4d O 22 '44 700w

"Mr. Stone does an excellent and extended job of presentation. . . [His] bibliography is impressive. But naturally, and with an odd appropriateness, his main source, he says, was the writings of Jessie Fremont herself. Thus the indomitable Jessie, through an able collaborator reaches out from her very grave to expound and explain the mighty, mysterious woman that she was." F. H. Bullock
+ Weekly Book Review p3 O 1 '44 1150w
Wis Lib Bul 40:148 N '44

"Mr. Stone is a better historian than he is a novelist. Immortal Wife is better for the parts that one knows are true than it is for its fictional embellishments of dialogue and emotion. It is the fruit of much conscientious industry, and its undoubtedly provides an easy and diverting way to absorb a lot of information." Orville Prescott
+ — Yale R n s 34:384 winter '45 140w

STONE, WILLIAM STANDISH. Pépé was the saddest bird; il. by Nicolas Mordvinoff. [62p] $1.75 Knopf
44-8832

Pépé was a myna bird born on a South Sea island. Pépé, however, was not like any other myna bird because, very unfortunately, Pépé was born with a halo around his head and, of course, the angelic characteristics that go with such adornments. That made life very sad for Pépé until he finally managed to explode that halo.

"Not only is Pepe's story most amusingly told by William Stone, but the black and white illustrations by Nicolas Mordvinoff are really stunning." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p22 N 12 '44 230w

STONE, W. S.—Continued

"An amusing and appealing little story with beguiling pictures by Nicolas Mordvinoff."

+ Kirkus 12:431 S 15 '44 60w

"Book has unusual setting and subject matter which will have limited appeal. Black-and-white illustrations are cleverly adapted to story." Leota Herren

Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 70w

"The tale has a pleasant absurdity and the fine drawings have originality, charm and humor." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p12 D 24 '44 140w

STONES, ELIZABETH, ed. See Aesop. Fables

STOOPNAGLE, COLONEL LEMUEL Q., pseud. See Taylor, F. C.

STORY parade star book; a collection of modern stories for boys and girls; introd. by Hildegarde Hawthorne. 358p il $2 Winston

"Selections from the year's issues of Story Parade magazine published in attractive format. The classified index contains: About Animals; Fantasy and Humor; A Play; Poems; Stories of Early America; Stories of Modern America; Stories of the United Nations. . . Among authors included are Elizabeth Coatsworth, Mabel Leigh Hunt, Margery Bianco, May Justus. Illustrators are Armstrong Sperry, Kurt Wiese, Paul Lantz, Ellis Credle." Library J

"Recommended where short stories are needed." Phyllis Hansberger

+ Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 100w

"Here is the latest of a series that might fairly be called ideal annuals. A big book of miscellaneous items may be good or very commonplace, but something about the idea of such a book appeals to children. This one gives them not only plentiful variety but plenty of vitality." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 26 '44 200w

STOUT, REX. Not quite dead enough. 220p $2 Farrar

44-7191

Two Nero Wolfe detective stories: Not quite dead enough, and Booby trap.

Booklist 41:90 N 15 '44

"Best of the week."

+ Boston Globe p15 S 20 '44 50w

Kirkus 12:288 Jl 1 '44 80w

New Repub 111:350 S 18 '44 60w

"Both Nero and Archie are their old selves again, and all's well on the Rex Stout front. You can't afford to miss it." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p24 S 10 '44 120w

"What I found rather surprised me and let me down. Here was simply the old Sherlock Holmes formula reproduced with a fidelity even more complete than it had been by Jacques Futrelle almost forty years ago." Edmund Wilson

— New Yorker 20:78 O 14 '44 650w

"Good—as usual."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 S 9 '44 40w

"A splendid lot of Rex Stoutism." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p15 S 10 '44 100w

STOWE, LELAND. They shall not sleep. 399p $3 Knopf

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 43-22832

In a prefatory note the author says: "The major portion of the material in this book is based upon the unpublished notes in my war diary from July 1941 to December 1942. In a few chapters, however, I have rewritten incidents and data which were contained in my dispatches to the Chicago Daily News." The book is in five parts: China; The war in Burma; India; Soviet Russia; All of us.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 Ja 23 '44 750w

Booklist 40:211 F 15 '44

Bookmark 5:14 My '44

Reviewed by Paul Hutchinson

Christian Century 61:274 Mr 1 '44 550w

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:658 Jl '44 80w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin

Horn Bk 20:399 S '44 60w

"The author of No Other Road to Freedom is a powerful stylist as well as an incisive observer. . . Good reading—and worth reading."

+ Kirkus 12:9 Ja 1 '44 220w

Reviewed by J. H. Berthel

Library J 69:71 Ja 15 '44 70w

"On the whole his book is remarkably accurate, considering its scope, and one in which this writer, having himself lately visited every country Stowe describes, finds no major contention not borne out by facts." Edgar Snow

Nation 158:224 F 19 '44 900w

Reviewed by Richard Match

New Repub 110:356 Mr 13 '44 180w

"Stowe is challenging, provocative, sincere. This book should be required reading for Americans at home and G. I.'s abroad—and for many a gullible, enthusiastic war correspondent just getting his feet wet in Europe. It would improve their dispatches." Ray Brock

+ N Y Times p6 Ja 16 '44 850w

"Unlike many of his colleagues, Mr. Stowe is more interested in the story he is covering than in the story of himself, and as a result his pages read like mature journalism and not like a crossing of Frank Merriwell and Richard Harding Davis."

+ New Yorker 19:67 Ja 22 '44 140w

"Midway in the present war Leland Stowe has written a provocative and exciting book containing some material which could not be cabled when he was at the various fronts. To such material he has added in swift, brilliant passages a sort of synthesis of the several parts of the war placed in a more global setting. A minority of Chinese, British and Americans will not like some of his reporting on China, Burma and India, but he is sincerely convinced that he owed it to himself and to his friends in Asia to write with complete candor." E. C. Carter

+ Pacific Affairs 17:248 Je '44 350w

Reviewed by Mark Gayn

Sat R of Lit 27:11 Ja 29 '44 900w

"'They Shall not Sleep' is a powerful blow to smugness not only about our allies but about ourselves." M. R. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 23 '44 1000w

"There is an especial satisfaction in finding a war correspondent who holds vigorous opinions and who has no hesitancy about expressing them. The views of an intelligent, seasoned chronicler of the world's doings should be worth hearing, and they are." Marcus Duffield

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 16 '44 1450w

STRABEL, THELMA. Storm to the south. 342p $2.75 Doubleday

44-5710

A tale of love and hate and revolution in California and Peru in the early nineteenth century. The central figures are two cousins, one the daughter of a California cattle raiser, the other a Peruvian who is an ardent revolutionist.

Book Week p10 Je 18 '44 200w

Booklist 40:378 Jl 1 '44

Boston Globe p19 Jl 5 '44 220w

"Glamorous tale of a dramatic period; good escape reading, with enough substance to make it worthwhile."

+ Kirkus 12:152 Ap 1 '44 210w

"With tempo rather than tone, with conflict and emotion rather than depth, this is a swashbuckling story for readers satisfied by 'storm' effects without hurricane force." Andrea Parke

+ — N Y Times p12 Je 18 '44 320w

Reviewed by H. J. Sloan

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 25 '44 250w

"The author of 'Reap the Wild Wind' has topped that lusty item in her second book—a broader canvas in richer colors, with a more solid historical background. It unrolls like something in technicolor, which it probably will be." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p14 Je 11 '44 130w

STRAKHOVSKY, LEONID IVAN. Intervention at Archangel. 343p maps $3 Princeton univ. press

940.4385 Russia—History—Revolution, 1917- A44-878

"Subtitle of this scholarly work is 'The Story of Allied Intervention and Russian Counter-Revolution in North Russia, 1918-1920.' Sequel to author's The Origins of American Intervention in North Russia, 1918 [Book Review Digest, 1938]. Carefully prepared, fully documented study of administration of a foreign territory under military occupation. At Archangel, Allies had same type of problems they now have in Algiers, Morocco, and Sicily, and Mr. Strakhovsky points out errors committed then, with the hope that they will not be repeated. Appendix, bibliography, index." Library J

Reviewed by Michael Karpovich

Am Hist R 50:99 O '44 750w

Reviewed by C. A. Riches

Am Pol Sci R 38:817 Ag '44 380w

"Intervention at Archangel contains a wealth of interesting information, and the documents published in the Appendices add to its value. It should be widely read by all interested in the history of the Russian Revolution and Civil War." D. F. White

+ Ann Am Acad 234:148 Jl '44 850w

Booklist 41:168 F 1 '45

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:664 Jl '44 30w

"Recommended for larger libraries." H. G. Kelley

+ Library J 68:844 O 15 '43 90w

Reviewed by M. P. Price

Manchester Guardian p3 O 13 '44 300w

New Repub 111:166 Ag 7 '44 150w

Reviewed by Byron Dexter

N Y Times p3 Ap 2 '44 750w

"The compilation of facts has every appearance of having been done thoroughly, fairly, and particularly without any personal or doctrinal bias. The book's misfortune is that it has to deal with a fragmentary episode, inconclusive in all its phases because the intervention itself, at least as far as the United States was concerned, was only a necessary military adventure for definite ends, which soon were reached." E. G. Sisson

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:14 My 6 '44 800w

STRANG, RUTH MAY, and others. Gateways to readable books; an annotated graded list of books in many fields for adolescents who find reading difficult. 104p $1.25 Wilson, H.W.

028.5 Children's literature—Bibliography 44-5844

"The 700 books in this list range from fourth to ninth grade reading level, with a large majority on the fifth, sixth, and seventh grade level. They were chosen for their appeal to adolescent reading tastes, are classified according to subject, and annotated with brief descriptive notes which will help to stimulate the nonreader's interest. Estimated reading difficulty is indicated for each title, and the usual system of starring and double starring marks the most popular books. The compilers had the cooperation of English teachers, librarians, and special teachers of reading." (Booklist) Indexes.

Booklist 41:6 S '44

Reviewed by H. M. Grieder

Library J 69:878 O 15 '44 600w

"In her introduction Miss Strang makes many suggestions helpful to teachers and librarians in arousing the interest of boys and girls in books; with the help of Miss Checkovitz, Miss Gilbert and Miss Scoggin, she has given us a practical, tested, provocative list, indispensable to schools, libraries and parents." A. T. Eaton

+ N Y Times p23 Jl 23 '44 240w

Wis Lib Bul 40:156 D '44

STRAUS, NATHAN. Seven myths of housing. 314p il $2.75 Knopf

331.833 Housing 44-192

The former administrator of the United States housing authority discusses the background and development of public housing to date, refutes some of its critics, and outlines an expanded program of post-war housing. The myths which he disproves are: there really aren't any slums; people make slums; public housing does not clear slums; public housing costs too much and threatens private enterprise; and the government would fare better by bailing out the slum owners. Index.

"This is by all odds the best book on the philosophy of public housing now available. It should be on the desk of every health officer or other public health worker who wishes to be prepared to take an intelligent stand in regard to this vital health issue of the future." C.-E. A. Winslow

+ Am J Pub Health 34:409 Ap '44 650w

"The writing is simple, direct, and on the whole sweetly reasonable. Mr. Straus marshals facts in a way that should appeal to a businessman or civic leader seeking light." C. S. Ascher

+ Ann Am Acad 232:214 Mr '44 500w

Reviewed by E. E. Clarke

Book Week p8 F 27 '44 340w

Booklist 40:206 F 15 '44

Bookmark 5:5 Mr '44

"This unique book is, of course, an excellent reference for college courses, but all home economists can help further its purpose—of having all American families better housed—by recommending it to public libraries, small ones as well as large, without delay. The book will remain for some time the definitive treatment of the subject." Maud Wilson

+ J Home Econ 36:298 My '44 220w

"A book for the general public rather than for those already schooled in the subject."

+ Kirkus 12:42 Ja 15 '44 160w

"With few exceptions Straus's proposals for the post-war period are simple and attainable. He has written a useful handbook for those in the field as well as for the inquiring layman. For Congressmen who are now being deluged with housing misinformation by the real-estate pressure groups the book is mandatory." Charles Abrams

+ Nation 158:191 F 12 '44 900w

Reviewed by R. L. Duffus

N Y Times p3 Ja 23 '44 1050w

"Nathan Straus put the quintessentials of his unusual experience in private and public housing into this timely and hopeful book." Cleveland Rogers

+ Sat R of Lit 27:28 F 12 '44 700w

Reviewed by L. M. Brooks

Social Forces 22:462 My '44 1000w

"The book is popularly written, excellently documented and illustrated and filled with the facts that all students of the subject should have at their finger tips. It is permeated throughout with a fine public spirit. It is a must book for all interested in a slumless and decently housed America." H. W. Laidler

+ Survey G 33:224 Ap '44 1050w

Reviewed by Catherine Bauer

Weekly Book Review p2 F 27 '44 1000w

STRAUS, NATHAN—Continued
"This is one little book with a serious purpose, and it has succeeded in presenting a readable and convincing account of the accomplishments of the United States Housing Authority and of the arguments for an extension of the public housing program. It is undoubtedly the most important book in housing since the appearance of Catherine Bauer's classic work, Modern Housing, in 1934." Shirley Adelson
+ Yale Law J 53:593 Je '44 1500w

STREET, CECIL JOHN CHARLES (JOHN RHODE, pseud). Death invades the meeting. 258p $2 Dodd 44-2359

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p8 Ap 9 '44 90w

"Hanslet never does succeed in fastening the crime on any one of the numerous suspects, and the reader is left to draw his own conclusions. It all makes rather tiresome reading." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 Mr 5 '44 100w
Times [London] Lit Sup p185 Ap 15 '44 120w

"Mr. Rhode provides the usual fine flavor, taking his time to reach a sound conclusion." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p10 F 27 '44 200w

STREET, CECIL JOHN CHARLES (JOHN RHODE, pseud) Men die at Cyprus lodge. 246p $2 Dodd [8s 6d Collins]
44-3447

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p10 Jl 16 '44 140w

"Just spooky enough."
+ Boston Globe p15 Je 21 '44 50w

"This story is much better than the general run of the recent Dr. Priestley tales." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p12 Je 11 '44 140w

"Excellent, if too leisurely in spots."
+ New Yorker 20:80 Je 10 '44 130w

"Waghorn does customarily competent sleuthing job and learned Dr. writes capital finis to typically English detective story. Good."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:38 Je 24 '44 40w
Times [London] Lit Sup p497 O 16 '43 120w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p15 Je 11 '44 130w

STREET, JAMES HOWELL. By valour and arms. 538p $3 Dial press
44-8308

Historical novel of the South in the early years of the Civil war. The action is mainly concerned with the building and success of an ironclad, the Arkansas, which succeeded in destroying part of Farragut's fleet in 1862, and delaying the capture of Vicksburg. The chief characters are Granville, an English soldier of fortune; Ves, a Cajan with good blood somewhere in his background; Wyeth, a gunner's mate, who wanted to be a lawyer; and the women they loved. Map on end papers.

"Street is thoroughly acquainted with the South and his love for it is undisguised. There are fresh historical bones to give the book credibility and they will, no doubt, be gnawed upon avidly by Civil War enthusiasts, especially the Grays." George Wiswell
+ Book Week p3 S 24 '44 550w
Booklist 41:90 N 15 '44

"'By Valour and Arms' maintains all the high standards set by this novelist in past work. The very smell of the Mississippi pervades these pages. . . History is never permitted to nudge the story aside. Incident, action and characters speed toward the turbulent climax with the inexorable logic of a Mississippi flood."
+ Boston Globe p17 S 27 '44 160w

"Despite tremendous scholarship and intimate detail of a facet of the Civil War of which little has been written, this seems to me the least successful of James Street's sagas of the South."
— + Kirkus 12:304 Jl 15 '44 230w

"Good job on historical side, naval engagements graphic and thrilling, behind-the-line strategy and maneuvers interesting. . . Recommended." G. W. Hill
+ Library J 69:762 S 15 '44 80w

"In the course of his long and sprawling narrative, Mr. Street exhibits his heroes from enough angles to take in practically every aspect of the naval war in the great river basin. A Mississippian as well as a student of military expediency, he argues that history might have written another ending if the 'Virginia mind' had not been allowed to run the war. . . History—somewhat hand-tailored, at times, to prove this contention—comes off wonderfully well in the author's better moments." William Du Bois
+ — N Y Times p7 S 24 '44 440w

Reviewed by N. L. North
Sat R of Lit 27:59 O 14 '44 320w

"Sets a high standard as historical fiction. It tells a rattling good story concerning credible human beings, and does so without skimping or falsifying the events of the period. Mr Street in a footnote admits changing the time element of one minor matter, but essentially his novel is honest and accurate." L. B. Hill
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 15 '44 550w

"This is not the Civil War of which one reads in school books, at least in the school books which used to be passed out North of the Mason-Dixon line. It is rougher, more vivid, more understandable and pitiable. It gives a new respect for one's countrymen, South and North. And whether or not one wants to take it as history, it is an engrossing yarn." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 24 '44 800w

STRICHARTZ, M. H., ed. Marine radio manual. 518p il maps $4 Cornell maritime press, 241 W 23d st, N.Y. 11
621.3841913 Radio—Installation on ships
44-7374

"Information necessary for training men for radio service on merchant ships. Operation, maintenance, repair, laws and radio navigation are some of the subjects covered. Included also are the international Morse Code, electrical symbols, sample radio-telegrams, maps and glossaries of terms." Library J

Booklist 41:73 N 1 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:701 S 1 '44 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:48 Jl '44

STRICKER, ALBERT HENRY. Seven steps toward simplified office procedures; with a foreword by Everett Rhodes Castle. 150p il $1.75 McGraw
651 Office management 43-22874

Account of simple, tested methods for simplifying office routine, as worked out by the author and a group of associates at the General electric company plant at Nela Park, Cleveland, Ohio. Index.

Library J 69:119 F 1 '44 20w
Management R 33:67 F '44 160w

STRINGER, ARTHUR JOHN ARBUTHNOTT. The devastator. 198p $2 Bobbs
44-7333

The romance of a quiet, sensible English authoress, and a glamorous American movie star, largely given to self-glory and posturing. It takes the war to prove that something really heroic reposes under the man's glamor.

+ N Y Times p23 Ja 21 '45 300w

"Mr. Stringer is as impartial as the lawyer, and he has written a genuinely entertaining romance of contemporary international love." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p18 S 24 '44 70w

STRODE, HUDSON, ed. Spring harvest; a collection of stories from Alabama; sel, with an introduction. 200p $2.50 Knopf

Short stories—Collections 44-4716

Collection of short stories written by students of Hudson Strode at the University of Alabama. Contents: Time's end, by Robert Gibbons; Reedy and the rabbit, by Lonnie Coleman; "Mr God" Johnson, by Edward Kimbrough; History of the South, by Harriet Hassell; All Souls' day, by Gerrie Thielens; Winter's coming, by Robert Ramsey; A loaf of bread, by Robert Gibbons; Count up the years, by Phyllis Livingston; Doomsday trumpet, by Lonnie Coleman; Laughter in the courtroom, by Helen Norris; Conquistador, by Robert Ramsey; Small-town rain, by William Cannon; The blade of grass, by Lawrence Kahn; War's a man's work, by Robert Gibbons; Jubal, by Edward Kimbrough.

"It strikes me that these young authors are singularly without laughter; it strikes me that they have evinced very little real enjoyment of the people they are writing about (it is almost as if they opposed their characters rather than stayed by them); and it strikes me that although these fifteen short stories were written between August, 1941, and August, 1943, in only one of them has the surface been ruffled by the present war. It is to Professor Strode's credit that these young writers should have been so sure of phrase and so intensely preoccupied with the plight of the South." Edward Weeks

Atlantic 174:125 Jl '44 380w

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick

Book Week p2 Jl 9 '44 130w

"All but three stories have appeared periodically, some were prize winners. Together they form a distinctive contribution to the Southern literary picture, for each presents a certain distinction of style, of approach and of control of the medium of the short story. Of special interest to collectors of new writers, short story courses, etc."

+ Kirkus 12:200 My 1 '44 130w

"All but one of these stories read like contributions to a 'Mademoiselle' short-story contest (six of them are, in fact). The exception, Harriet Hassell's 'History of the South'—which won a prize from Story Magazine—is interesting enough to belong in the 'Vanderbilt Miscellany.' " Marjorie Farber

N Y Times p4 My 28 '44 60w

"An interesting and promising collection."

+ New Yorker 20:78 My 20 '44 40w

"It should first be said that the stories—all but one of which were produced between 1941 and 1943—are not student work, nor the output of accomplished amateurs or promising talents. The stories are mature; they are fulfilments. They are not even first fruits, because several of the contributors have published novels. Most of these stories have been marketed and some of them took prizes. They ask no special indulgence, nor is any required. The best of these stories are the best according to any standard." Frank Daniel

+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Je 24 '44 650w

" 'Spring Harvest' is a collection of fifteen stories by Hudson Strode's students. Every story is written with at least moderate skill. A few are beautifully handled, technically. There is sensitiveness in each author, and real talent." Lillian Smith

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Je 18 '44 600w

STRODE, HUDSON. Timeless Mexico. 436p $3.50 Harcourt

972 Mexico—History 44-8235

One-volume history of Mexico, presenting the full picture from Montezuma to the attempted assassination of President Camacho in 1944. "Here is the epic of the conquest of Mexico under Cortés, when a handful of Spaniards won the richest prize of the New World. Here is the story of Mexico's fight for freedom under Hidalgo and Juárez, and the tragic interlude of Maximilian and Carlotta. And here are the Mexicans of today, sprung from the Revolution of 1910 and still fighting for their proud and independent birthright." (Publisher's note) Bibliography. Index.

"Rarely have I read a more engaging single volume history than 'Timeless Mexico.' The author has taken great pains to be as scholarly as he is interesting, and so when you have finished the book, you are aware of having had a very pleasant time while really finding out something that you should have known all along about Mexico." J. B. Metzenberg

+ Book Week p6 O 8 '44 400w

Booklist 41:56 O 15 '44

"This is a popular but rather well-written history of Mexico. The author, a professor at the University of Alabama, has traveled widely in our neighbor republic, and has a deep feeling and sympathy for its people. The principal value of the book lies in its more or less expert recounting of the recent history of the republic, for a great deal has been written and at more length about Mexico's early times. It is only for those who have read little or nothing of Mexican history that the first chapters can serve as an introduction and a kind of outline of Mexico's troubled and confused story. Anyone who writes about Mexico, unless he be a complete fool, must write also about the Church in that country, and the sad fact is that many Church-haters have had a legitimate field day in recounting the results of their research in that country. Mr. Strode's anti-Church bias is more subtle than most. It consists in a certain emphasis, a certain choice of words and errs in omission rather than commission. . . If you can take some of Mr. Strode's book with a grain of salt, it can serve as an introduction to Mexican history, or reading preliminary to a trip across the border. In any event it is highly readable." Harry Sylvester

+ — Commonweal 41:40 O 27 '44 900w

"As good a one-volume [history] of Mexico as I can imagine being done, its shortcomings inevitable with respect to crowding of complexities into brief compass. Strode has made judicious use of material—stressing those parts of Mexico's history which will interest the most readers, I think."

+ Kirkus 12:415 S 15 '44 170w

"Highly recommended." H. P. Bolman

+ Library J 69:812 O 1 '44 110w

" 'Timeless Mexico' is one of the three or four best books I know on the subject." Stark Young

+ New Repub 111:668 N 20 '44 650w

"Mr. Strode has written a 'popular' history in one of the better senses of that term, that is to say, he prefers narration to exposition, the representative man to the generalized statistic, the dramatic clash of leading individuals to the impersonal clash of social forces. This preference has led him to write a selective rather than a systematic history, and to 'put the emphasis on the individuals who helped shape events' rather than on the events themselves. . . He has given due place to the universal bribery and corruption which is one of the two chief plagues afflicting the present Mexican State apparatus. The other basic defect, however, he has failed to analyze: namely, the fact that political parties, nomination of candidates, selection of trade union and peasant leaders, the very unions and agrarian organizations themselves, are all subsidized and controlled from the top downward. . . The work is marred by a half dozen errors in spelling Mexican names." B. D. Wolfe

+ — N Y Times p27 O 22 '44 750w

"Mr. Strode is something of an authority on Latin America and, unlike most authorities, has some notion of how to write. His book is scholarly without being pedantic, factual without being dull, and readable without being superficial. In short, an excellent one-volume survey of Mexico."

+ New Yorker 20:83 O 7 '44 70w

STRODE, HUDSON—Continued

"Let it be cheerfully admitted that Mr. Strode has done an amazingly good job in reconstructing the drama of Mexico, of bringing the chief actors to life. If the historian or the economist might quarrel with some of his statements, the fact remains that the book will help many to see and feel and taste this land and people. . . Mr. Strode's picture of current doings in Mexico is not always entirely realistic. . . But no matter. Hudson Strode has written a book which may confidently be pushed into the hands of all those of all ages headed South. The reading of it will facilitate their discovery of this timeless land." Hubert Herring

+ — Weekly Book Review p4 O 8 '44 700w

Wis Lib Bul 40:160 D '44

STROHM, JOHN L. I lived with Latin Americans. 377p il $2.50 Wilcox & Follett

918 Latin America—Description and travel [43-18446]

"One by one the Latin American republics are surveyed from an agricultural point of view by the managing editor of a Midwestern farm journal. In considering Argentina, he sees the United States policy of refusing to buy Argentine beef as paramount in obstructing good will. Though the information on the degree of agricultural development of each nation is enlightening, the author is completely innocent of political implications. His style is simple, colloquial, at times ungrammatical. Nice feeling in numerous photographs, chiefly of rural sections. End-paper maps indicate regional agricultural products." (Booklist) Index.

"I would recommend the book to those people who know nothing about Latin America and want a quick easy, all-over picture without any deep study of the soul of the people or the problems which confront them." J. B. Metzenberg

+ Book Week p6 Ja 9 '44 330w

Booklist 40:197 F 1 '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:667 Jl '44 20w

Wis Lib Bul 40:36 Mr '44

STRONG, ANNA LOUISE (MRS JOEL SHUBIN). Peoples of the USSR. 246p il $2.50 Macmillan

914.7 Russia 44-47142

A combination of history and geography dealing with the countries which go to make up present day Russia. The author has "emphasized the successful solution of the problems of many peoples, in varying stages of development, living peacefully together, fighting triumphantly together against a common enemy." (N Y Times) Copiously illustrated. Maps on end papers. No index.

Booklist 41:157 Ja 15 '45

Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 30w

"[The author's] purpose is to convey what she has seen and felt of the vigor, vitality, and importance of these many Soviet peoples. She hopes to promote a better understanding, by which she means an appreciative understanding. Criticism and detached analysis are not in her field of vision. For that reason, the earlier chapters of her book, which trace the history of Czarist Russia, the Revolution, and the building of the USSR, sound like pages from earlier American school histories. All things American are good, all else is not. So here, with the USSR. The further chapters, descriptive of the sixteen Republics that constitute the Soviet Union, are enlightening. . . This is one book about Russia to be supplemented by other reading." W. K. R.

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 2 '45 400w

"The author who knows and loves the people of whom she writes has given a clear, colorful picture in a book which is a challenge to all who are willing to face it."

+ Kirkus 12:483 O 15 '44 260w

Reviewed by Eleanor Kidder

Library J 70:72 Ja 15 '45 100w

"The book is well organized, and if the many statistics presented do not make for easy reading they are clarified considerably by constant reference to corresponding statistics in the United States."

+ N Y Times p7 N 12 '44 90w

"One can hardly recommend this book too highly. It needs no introduction other than its own pages. It tells a thrilling story of history made and in the making." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 28:34 Ja 13 '45 500w

"It is a study of ideology working out in the lives of men, whose language is adapted to a good high-school vocabulary, and whose understanding calls for no deeper background of history than high-school students have. That it is told with fire makes a further appeal to this audience, but its audience will not be limited to them." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 D 17 '44 450w

STRONG, EDWARD KELLOGG. Vocational interests of men and women. 746p il $6.50 Stanford univ. press [40s Oxford]

371.42 Vocational guidance. Interest (psychology) 43-14502

"Dr. Strong, a leader in the field of vocational interest testing, has brought together in a single volume the results of his 19 years of research concerning the measurement of interests as a means of solving practical problems." (School & Society) Index.

"This book brings up to date the work summarized by Professor Strong in 1931 in his Change of Interests with Age. It is a book for the specialist. . . Of most interest to sociologists are Strong's findings on differences of interest patterns between various social groups." R. J. Havighurst

Am J Soc 49:378 Ja '44 750w

School & Society 58:240 S 25 '43 40w

STRONG, EVERETT MILTON. Electrical engineering; basic analysis. 391p il $4 Wiley

621.3 Electric engineering 43-14107

"A text for beginning students which presupposes mathematics through calculus and one year of physics. References and questions are given at the end of each chapter but the answers to the problems are not supplied. The author is Professor of Electrical Engineering at Cornell University." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Library J 68:670 S 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:62 O '43

STRONG, LEONARD ALFRED GEORGE. All fall down. 210p $2 Doubleday [8s 6d Collins] 44-8543

Detective story.

Kirkus 12:310 Jl 15 '44 70w

New Repub 111:606 N 6 '44 110w

"Clues, in the ordinary sense of the term, are not too plentiful in the case set forth here, but that matters little to Inspector Ellis McKay, who relies more upon his skill in estimating the characters of the persons involved. His questioning of the various persons who might possibly have information pertinent to the matter in hand is nothing less than masterly. . . Inspector McKay is a welcome addition to the roster of fictional detectives." I. A.

+ N Y Times p14 O 15 '44 150w

"A plausible story, recommended for those interested in the small complexities of English village life."

+ New Yorker 20:80 S 30 '44 90w

"Above average."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:30 O 7 '44 50w

"Both the writing and the construction of 'All Fall Down' are admirable."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p41 Ja 22 '44 70w

"Mr. Strong stuffs his riddle with a nice assortment of natives and keeps the reader in touch with all the numerous possibilities, including the accident theory. Required reading." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p16 S 24 '44 110w

STROUP, HERBERT HEWITT, comp. Symphony of prayer. 247p $2.50 Am. Bapt.

264.1 Prayers 44-32416

"About one hundred and sixty modern prayers written for this book by as many ministers and other religious leaders, including many of the most eminent, and classified by subject or occasion, such as 'Brotherhood,' 'Comfort,' 'Faith,' 'Fellowship,' 'Unity of the Church.'" Christian Century

Reviewed by J. S. Dauerty

Crozer Q 21:367 O '44 250w

Christian Century 61:1258 N 1 '44 60w

STRUNSKY, SIMEON. No mean city. 285p $3 Dutton

917.471 New York (city)—Description. New York (city)—Social life and customs 44-6574

Essays on New York city by the author of the Topics of the day column of the New York Times. He probes and discusses various aspects of New York life from the people, the subways, homes of former presidents and the Central Park zoo, to Rockefeller center and movie tickets.

Booklist 41:40 O 1 '44

"A knowledgeable book, authoritative, objective, but with special appeal in the personal interpretation of trends, means, significances. A good 'city book'."

+ Kirkus 12:396 S 1 '44 60w

"Pleasant but not imperative for all libraries." K. T. Willis

+ Library J 69:698 S 1 '44 100w

New Repub 111:469 O 9 '44 130w

"For more than thirty years I have been beating my toy drum, to apparently deaf audiences, about the beauty, interest, humor and style of Mr. S.'s prose. . . To my notion, Mr. Strunsky is the perfect newspaper man. These pieces, written in the same easy style as the 'Topics,' are really an informal Baedeker of New York, full of wise information to New Yorkers and visitors to No Mean City. . . Even I, a veteran Strunskophile, am astounded at the prairie-breeze saneness of the book." F. P. Adams

+ N Y Times p7 S 10 '44 700w

"A troubadour does not always see things objectively, but Mr. Strunsky, who finds that nearly every Manhattan prospect pleases and that only those who are too severely critical of it are vile, goes a long way toward making New York seem like the wonderful place he and a lot of other people think it is."

New Yorker 20:79 S 9 '44 130w

"This extensive work, which is both a defense and a eulogy of New York, is noteworthy for its sincerity and the multiplicity of new facts and fresh ideas that it lays before the reader's eyes while simultaneously reflecting movement, sights, scenes, and ideologies of this great city. The task is a great one, but Mr. Strunsky brings to it an enormous amount of information, sensitivity, and interpretative power, based on long study and experience." Bernard Sobel

+ Sat R of Lit 27:15 S 23 '44 1100w

Reviewed by M. C. Abrams

Springf'd Republican p4d O 1 '44 550w

"Notwithstanding his wisdom, his civilized approach, and his healthy doubting quality, Mr. Strunsky in large doses makes pretty heavy going. Inattention somehow sets in after a stretch of, say, a thousand words, which is approximately the length of a newspaper column. What we are trying to say is that, although Mr. Strunsky is one of our first-rate columnists and deserves the thanks of his city and his profession, he is neither very lively nor very incisive. However, he is so much better than most of the writers of gaudy, gimcrack stuff about New York that he is, in his way, a relief." Stanley Walker

+ — Weekly Book Review p4 S 10 '44 1250w

Wis Lib Bul 40:146 N '44

STUART, GRAHAM HENRY. Latin America and the United States. 4th ed rev 509p maps lib ed $5; educ ed $4 Appleton-Century

327.73098 Latin America—Foreign relations—U.S. U.S.—Foreign relations—Latin America 43-15885

"The new edition of this book—confined to a thoroughgoing, objective, dispassionate, critical survey of the international dealings between the United States and her Latin-American neighbors—takes into consideration the momentous events of the past 5 years, since the publication of the previous revision of the book, bringing the text up to the minute in every respect." (School & Society) For third edition see Book Review Digest, 1938. Chapter bibliographies. Index.

Current Hist 6:165 F '44 40w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:667 Jl '44 10w

School & Society 58:400 N 13 '43 40w

Social Studies 35:95 F '44 30w

STUART, JESSE. Album of destiny. 255p $3 Dutton

811 44-7068

"Arranged in the cycle of the seasons, these poems about Kentucky mountains, the farmers, coal miners, visitors, hills and the harvest, have been gathered from some twenty-five periodicals such as the American Mercury, Atlantic, Commonweal, Virginia Quarterly and Poetry. Most of them are titled with the names of men and women in the community, thus inviting baseless comparison with the Spoon River Anthology." Library J

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy

Book Week p15 O 1 '44 250w

Booklist 41:74 N 1 '44

"From a moral standpoint, the verses are darkened with a heresy of naturalism and skepticism, so that the sequence as a whole is a desperate thing, touched with futility, and finally spoiled by questionable allusions to death and immortality. This attitude of skepticism often declines into sentimentality: a musical and prettified evasion of the issue. If one wishes to leave the moral problem out of the judgment of the poems—which one cannot very well do, when the poet himself constructs his work on a moral assumption—he must nevertheless admit that the book is entirely too wordy, overloaded with repetitions which almost ruin the rare passages of authentic song." John Duffy

Commonweal 40:619 O 13 '44 420w

"This collection lets down one's hopes—the sum total is a dullish collection of mediocre and repetitious verse."

— Kirkus 12:388 S 1 '44 110w

Reviewed by F. A. Boyle

Library J 69:698 S 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by Robert Hillyer

N Y Times p29 D 10 '44 100w

"Stuart is far from being another Robert Burns, but he is nevertheless an interesting phenomenon—a versifier who has tamed folk material to acceptable magazine-verse standards while retaining a certain amount of folk energy."

+ New Yorker 20:83 O 7 '44 90w

Reviewed by W. R. Benét

Sat R of Lit 27:44 O 14 '44 370w

Reviewed by Edrie Van Dore

Springf'd Republican p8 N 9 '44 270w

Reviewed by Wilbert Snow

Weekly Book Review p12 O 8 '44 400w

STUART, JESSE. Mongrel mettle; the autobiography of a dog; il. by Woodi Ishmael. 201p $2.50 Dutton

Dogs—Legends and stories 44-1282

"Jesse Stuart's latest hero talks like a Tussie and comes from the same region of Kentucky. Like them, he is a primitive creature with the deceptive simplicity of those born wise, asking from life only food, freedom and a certain amount of fun, taking it wherever available, and firmly refusing substitutes. Like them, he is under a social handicap; in his case much heavier. For in a region that knows the points of a dog, he is a singularly ill-assembled mongrel." Weekly Book Review

---

"It would not be inapropos to suggest that the first half of the book is told straight, and the last half with tongue in cheek. That puts the compromise, surely, for the naivete of the early chapters is seldom alleviated by much resembling social satire. 'Mongrel Mettle' is good fun, and dog-lovers especially should like it, if they are not too serious about dogs. In final analysis, however, 'Mongrel Mettle' is not one of Jesse Stuart's major works." August Derleth

Book Week p9 F 27 '44 500w

Booklist 40:271 Ap 1 '44

"Artless rendition of lore and fable, animal and human."

+ Kirkus 12:47 F 1 '44 160w

"This book by Jesse Stuart is unique and appealing. Ostensibly a dog story, it is likewise a satire on human relationships and not without its humor. Its illustrations by Woodi Ishmael are most attractive. Children as well as adults will enjoy the native lore and animal life in this story." R. B. Rankin

+ Library J 69:160 F 15 '44 70w

"One who starts Jesse Stuart's new book will finish it. That is inevitable, for Mr. Stuart's stuff is ever meaty and worth while. Yet 'Mongrel Mettle' leaves one somewhat bewildered. This Stuart is the man who gave us 'Taps for Private Tussie' and 'Man with a Bull-Tongue Plow.' Was his tongue deeply in his cheek when he wrote this pseudo dog-story, or did he actually strive for social satire and miss his target?" Hoffman Birney

N Y Times p12 Mr 5 '44 550w

"Amusing satire written in the engagingly simple style that Mr. Stuart has made his own."

+ New Yorker 20:86 F 26 '44 70w

Reviewed by Gay Stebbins

Springf'd Republican p7e F 20 '44 450w

"Mr. Stuart seems not altogether to have made up his mind on whether his hero is really a dog. Now and again a whiff of Purpose leads a reader to suspect that somewhere about the premises Social Significance may have been buried. It seems scarcely worth while to dig it up, considering the entertainment value in plain sight on the surface. Here is a view of humanity as observed by a self-made dog; a series of adventures gusty, lusty and down to the bone; an exercise in the survival of the fittest to survive." M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p6 F 20 '44 550w

Wis Lib Bul 40:56 Ap '44

STURGES-JONES, MARION. Babes in the wood; il. by B. Shermund. 223p $2.50 Putnam

B or 92 44-7547

Reminiscences of the author's childhood and youth, when she and her British-born mother were living part of the time in Canada and part of the time in a series of shabby genteel boarding houses in the United States. The author's charming mother was a trusting soul, who never forgot that she had once had a minor part in a stage play, and the combination of those two facts made their life exciting at times. During the period 1917-1918 they lived in Philadelphia where the daughter had a responsible war job.

"There are some amusing episodes, and on the whole the book is funny—but not very."

Book Week p8 S 24 '44 70w

Booklist 41:56 O 15 '44

"An unsophisticated period, captured in wide-eyed, restful humor."

+ Kirkus 12:312 Jl 15 '44 210w

"A thoroughly delightful book. It is inevitable, of course, that it must bring to mind Cornelia Otis Skinner's recollections of the same period, but 'Babes in the Wood' certainly does not suffer by comparison. One never feels that Mrs. Sturges-Jones stretches a point to be funny, or verges on the burlesque. Her heart is equally light and gay, but it is her own heart, and she and her mother emerge from these pages as completely engaging personalities, described with vividness and wit, with tenderness combined with an unsparing sense of humor." S. H. Hay

+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 N 18 '44 600w

"'Babes in the Wood' is brave, gay and diverting. Probably women will enjoy it more than men do, though mother's mildly madcap insouciance will please the male animal here as always." E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 O 15 '44 220w

"Miss Sturges-Jones has managed to keep her eye for proportion very well adjusted, and while none of her girlhood adventures are momentous she has the gift to turn trivialities into revelations. As a period piece, these reminiscences are highly effective, just the right amount of lemon-juice tempers the honey, and 1918 suddenly peeps forth like the face of a girl in the clothes of the time. They look ridiculous but the girl is charming, we were fond of her, and she was much more like the girl of today than we had remembered." Iris Barry

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ag 27 '44 370w

STURLEY, KENNETH REGINALD. Radio receiver design; pt. 1, Radio frequency amplification and detection. 435p $4.50 Wiley [28s Chapman]

621.384136 Radio receivers (43-7878)

"After two introductory chapters, one dealing with wave modulation, the other with tubes, the author begins with the aerial and discusses the receiver step by step. The book is partly based on lectures given by the author at the Marconi School of Wireless Communication. The treatment is aimed at advanced students and engineers. Subjects postponed until the publication of part II include radio frequency amplifiers, power supplies, frequency modulated receiver design and television receivers." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"British book. . . For communication engineers and others." L. A. Eales

Library J 68:1008 D 1 '43 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:11 Ja '44

STURZO, LUIGI. True life; sociology of the supernatural [tr. by Barbara Barclay Carter]. 312p $3 Catholic univ. of Am; St Anthony guild

261 Sociology, Christian A43-1293

"The First Part, Society in God, examines and interprets the supernatural life in each one of us and in the social formations, according to revelation and historical and mystical experience. The reader, be he sociologist or no, must not be alarmed if the chapters of this First Part are headed as though it were a spiritual work. I am trying to seize the essence of the Christian life, and therefore must enter a field essentially theological and mystical. . . The Second Part, From Earth to Heaven, considers the ethico-historical problem in the reflection of the supernatural, always so as to elucidate the sociological elements inherent in it. The last chapter too, 'New Heavens and a New Earth,' illuminates that road on which mankind is journeying, not blindly or purposelessly, but towards a historical and revealing term." (Introd) Index.

"What Don Sturzo has to say here deserves particular attention from those students of social science who are concerned with the more fundamental human problems. It is the kind of truth which may claim to be both old and new, both original in expression and sound in substance; and the Italian text has fortunately been rendered into English by the competent pen of Barbara Barclay Carter." Joseph McSorley

+ Cath World 158:502 F '44 320w

"This learned book requires much of its readers. It is not a book to be covered in a hurry, but it ought to be meditated in both of its parts: 'Society in God' and 'From Earth to Heaven.' This should not discourage any thoughtful reader. . . Those who have lost hope for Italian Christianity will find it here again, despite all that has been said by scornful or amused observers." H. A. Reinhold

+ Commonweal 39:76 N 5 '43 210w

"This book should be read for what it is rather than for what it claims to be. Taking it as an exposition of the dogmatic Catholic view of life in society, the reader will find here an excellent statement of the Catholic view of vocation, the relationship of the grace of God to man, the privative character of evil, and the interpretation of history." Paul Ramsey

+ — J Religion 24:216 Jl '44 550w

SUBA, SUSANNE, il. Spots by Suba, from the New Yorker. [54p] $1 Dutton

741.5 Drawings 44-7973

Small volume of pen and ink sketches and wash drawings which have appeared in the New Yorker during the last few years. Except for a few brief notes, there is no text.

Kirkus 12:415 S 15 '44 30w

New Yorker 20:94 N 18 '44 30w

"All are beautifully, meticulously done, and bear out what the artist says of her work, 'best I like to draw people, just people, anywhere.' These are indeed delightful spots to have before one's eyes." Charlotte Bausman

+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 8 '44 110w

SUES, ILONA RALF. Shark's fins and millet. 331p il $3 Little

915.1 China—Description and travel. World war, 1939—China 44-187

From her work for the anti-opium information bureau of the League of nations in Geneva, the author went to China to study the situation first hand. "This book is . . . a medley of everything, as unorthodox as life itself—an unconventional set of stories and anecdotes—a series of big and small events, of great and little people observed . . . with the imperfect, naked, sympathetic, twinkling human eye. . . I wish to explain that shark's fins are the crowning delicacy of sumptuous official feasts, and that millet . . . is the rice of the poor." (p. 9 & p. 10)

Reviewed by Ti Huang
Am J Soc 50:151 S '44 600w

Booklist 40:197 F 1 '44

Reviewed by Dorothy Graham
Cath World 15:599 Mr '44 430w

Reviewed by Paul Hutchinson
Christian Century 61:274 Mr 1 '44 550w

"To the exceptional reporting of Edgar Snow and Agnes Smedley must now be added this fascinating book by Ilona Ralf Sues. . . This loose-limbed book, crammed with experiences and personalities, is most readable. At the same time that it brings one to a painful realization of the limitations and inner tensions of the new China, it also leaves one with a constructive faith in the democratic ferment at work irresistibly among the Chinese masses." W. H. Melish

+ Churchman 158:17 Je 1 '44 240w

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:502 Ap '44 40w

"There are many sides to this picture of China. Miss Sues defends the democratic side, and rightly, but her reasoning is so disjointed that one finishes the book still not knowing what she really believes in. She gives a picture of one part of China—a part that has its counterpart in America, England, Italy and elsewhere. The world is now small and very, very round, as a friend of mine is wont to say." Agnes Smedley

Nation 158:452 Ap 15 '44 1150w

"It seems hardly possible that any American could read this book without thoroughly liking both the Chinese people and Miss Sues who writes about them. An impression of integrity, intelligence and good humor lightens every page of this record of a Polish woman." Helen Mears

+ New Repub 110:324 Mr 6 '44 850w

"It seems somewhat doubtful whether any group of human beings in any country could be quite so perfect as Miss Sues finds the Chinese Reds. . . The book, for the most part, is lively and entertaining, and it serves a useful purpose because of the strictness of the censorship in Chungking. Miss Sues is not the ideal commentator on Chinese political and social conditions. But when such wide areas of news and speculation are closed to correspondents on the spot, it is a good thing for American readers to read a book on modern China that is blatantly and obviously uncensored." W. H. Chamberlin

+ — N Y Times p10 Ja 30 '44 700w

New Yorker 19:67 Ja 22 '44 70w

Reviewed by Franz Michael
Pacific Affairs 17:491 D '44 350w

"Ralf Sues has made no claims of being an expert. She has done an excellent job, not of straight reporting of exterior happenings, but she has reported herself and her reactions to what she saw, as well as describing merely those sights." Emily Hahn

Sat R of Lit 27:32 F 19 '44 1000w

"Some people may call this book indiscreet, but this reviewer thinks a better word for it is courageous. It is like a breath of fresh air after some of the drivel that has been poured out of China in recent years which has done a good deal to mislead Americans genuinely trying to understand a nation to whom we owe much, and for whom we have done comparatively little. What Miss Sues writes is not all pleasant reading; but it is evident to any one who knows the persons and conditions described that her facts are correct. She is to be congratulated also on a restraint which, while it enables her to tell a story that will strengthen appreciation of the finest qualities of the Chinese people, can offer little comfort to the enemy." Edgar Snow

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 23 '44 1250w

SULLIVAN, LAWRENCE. Bureaucracy runs amuck. 318p $2 Bobbs

973.917 U.S.—Politics and government—20th century 44-1807

Study of the confusion and over-lapping in hundreds of the United States war emergency bureaus and agencies, at the present time. The author, who is head of an economic news service in Washington, D.C., lays special stress on the waste and mismanagement in the food-rationing problem. Bibliography. No index.

Reviewed by C. S. Ascher
Ann Am Acad 234:151 Jl '44 480w

Reviewed by Willard Shelton
Book Week p6 F 27 '44 380w

Kirkus 12:35 Ja 15 '44 230w

"Bureaucracy has its sins and this critic is for keeping a tight hand on the bureaucrats. But it is difficult to shift out the true indictment from Mr. Sullivan's campaign document. . . The powers of Jesse Holmes the Fool Killer—does anybody read O. Henry nowadays?—would be inadequate to deal with such enormities. Unfortunately, it is Mr. Sullivan who has rushed in." John MacCormac

N Y Times p18 Mr 5 '44 650w

Reviewed by Struthers Burt
— Sat R of Lit 27:8 Ap 1 '44 1150w

Reviewed by William Cooney
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 3 '44 380w

"There has been a real need for a serious study of the errors of American bureaucracy in war time, of the potentialities for waste and

SULLIVAN, LAWRENCE—Continued
mismanagement which are inherent in an overcentralized government which has failed to coordinate its multifarious activities. But with the publication of Mr. Sullivan's book, the need still remains. He has presented a picture of confusion, to be sure, but he has also achieved the almost impossible feat of making the picture more confused than the reality." H. W. Baehr

Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 5 '44 650w

SUMNER, BENEDICT HUMPHREY. A short history of Russia [Eng title: Survey of Russian history]. 469p il maps $3.75 Reynal [16s Duckworth]

947 Russia—History 43-17185

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

"Such a book as Mr. Sumner's 'Short History of Russia' is most welcome. It is an unbiased and penetrating study, without the sweeping conclusions which only add to confusion in the reader's mind." Helen Iswolsky

+ Commonweal 39:474 F 25 '44 500w

Current Hist 6:68 Ja '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:499 Ap '44 20w

"His exposition is neither specially novel nor illumined by the graces of historical imagination, but, unlike so much that is being written in English at the present time on Russian history, it is soundly based on knowledge. If, indeed, the original judgment or the vivid phrase is lacking in the book, Mr. Sumner can at any rate claim an informative sobriety all through." R. D. C.

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 F 11 '44 240w

"The community life in the villages and the Russian's dislike of heterodoxy were powerful reinforcements for the new order of things, and this book, which puts the revolution in its true perspective against the panorama of Russian history and thought, should be read and re-read by anybody who wants to understand modern Russia." Godfrey Wilkinson

+ Spec 172:152 F 18 '44 600w

Reviewed by G. L. Joughin

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 25 '44 950w

"A book dealing with the principal factors in Russian historical development which, unlike a good many recent volumes in English on the subject, is the work of a serious student and is based for the most part upon standard Russian references, deserves a welcome today. Mr. Sumner would lay no claim to originality of interpretation and is indeed less concerned with broad historical judgments than with thorough factual exposition, but his survey is informed and conscientious and should put the general reader in this country in possession of a serviceable store of knowledge where the essential features of the Russian past are concerned."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p98 F 26 '44 850w

"Mr. Sumner's book—both a readable and stimulating one—is not a conventional history of Russia but rather a digest of the fundamentals of Russian civilization approached from a historical angle. . . Within each of these divisions the author starts with the Soviet period and then goes backward, turning the attention to the earlier stages of Russian history in their consecutive inverted order. . . Such an approach has many advantages but also some disadvantages." George Vernadsky

+ — Weekly Book Review p10 Ap 9 '44 850w

"Much keen analysis and apposite comment are scattered through the book; yet the general effect upon the reviewer was rather like looking at the different facets of a crystal from divergent angles. This distortion is accentuated by the last section (VII, the West), where numerous disparate factors are thrown together in one basket. The disposition chosen has the additional disadvantage that it entails innumerable cross references, which tend to blur the general picture even more." R. P. Blake

+ — Yale R n s 33:553 spring '44 360w

SUMNER, JAMES BATCHELLER, and SOMERS, GEORGE FRED. Chemistry and methods of enzymes. 365p il $5 Academic press, inc, 125 E. 23d st, N.Y.

612.015 Enzymes 43-6550

"Following an introductory chapter covering general properties, the authors discuss individual enzymes in turn in hydrolytic and oxidative groupings; desmolases, hydrases and mutases; and in the last chapter, the various phases of carbohydrate metabolism. Intended for the advanced student and research worker." N Y New Tech Bks

"Here, surprisingly enough, is the first work in the English language which presents a general survey of all classes of enzymes. Several works have appeared heretofore dealing with either the oxidative or the proteolytic enzymes but none has attempted to cover the whole field. This present survey is not, however, an exhaustive one of the type to be found in the German literature. As the authors state in their preface, they have attempted to give the research worker and advanced student a general survey of enzyme chemistry without presenting too much detail on any one subject. They appear to have accomplished this aim in a highly satisfactory manner." E. G. Ball

+ Am Chem Soc J 65:1787 S '43 600w

"The book is recommended emphatically to anyone desiring access to the facts of enzyme chemistry." A. K. Balls

+ Chem & Eng N 22:473 Mr 25 '44 400w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:41 Jl '43

SUN, FO. See Sun, K.

SUN, K'O. China looks forward; with an introd. by Lin Yutang. 276p map $3 Day

951 China—Politics and government. Reconstruction (1939-)—China. China—Economic policy 44-6385

A volume of the translated speeches and articles of a son of the "Father of the Chinese Republic," Sun Yat-sen. Originally intended for home consumption, these pieces deal with Chinese internal political and social problems as well as with international affairs.

"Because the book is a collection of extemporaneous speeches, it is loose in continuity. But the lack of continuity is more than compensated for by the variety of the subject matter and the understanding way in which it is treated." C. C. Cheng

+ Book Week p7 Ag 20 '44 450w

Booklist 41:88 N 15 '44

"Sun Fo's book is crammed with material of vital importance to all who hope that the defeat of Japan may usher in a durable peace in the world of the Pacific." Paul Hutchinson

+ Christian Century 61:902 Ag 2 '44 1250w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ag 12 '44 550w

Foreign Affairs 23:16 O '44 20w

Reviewed by H. S. Taylor

Library J 69:603 Jl '44 110w

Reviewed by T. A. Bisson

Nation 159:440 O 14 '44 1100w

"Reading this mine of information and hopes, so clearly and simply written, one can readily understand why the author has been given a high position, but no power, in the Chinese government. His critical mind, his broad reading and his deep desire to see liberal democracy and a form of state socialism introduced into China are not representative of the ruling Kuomintang party, of which he is a member. The fact that he is the son of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, father of the Chinese Republic, accounts for his decorative position and for the fact that he can exercise the civil rights denied the rest of his countrymen. . . The book abounds in ideas with which progressive Americans can agree and for which they can work, though it is marred by occasional statements, e.g., one against birth control for China, with which only reactionaries can have sympathy. Despite such aberrations, however, this book will enrich the knowledge of anyone reading it." Agnes Smedley

+ — New Repub 111:224 Ag 21 '44 1650w

Reviewed by Dorothy Woodman

New Statesman & Nation 28:255 O 14 '44 750w

"This book is contemporary China at its best and is worth reading by way of perspective on one of the most important and perplexing of problems in the postwar world." Nathaniel Peffer

+ N Y Times p1 Jl 30 '44 1200w

Reviewed by J. B. Powell

Pacific Affairs 17:494 D '44 850w

Reviewed by Frederick Gruin

Sat R of Lit 27:24 S 30 '44 850w

"Those who are interested in learning what liberal and modern China thinks on many of the issues of today, and particularly what concerns the Far East, will find Sun Fo's 'China Looks Forward' a rich handbook. The appendix provides a number of important documents apropos modern China's history, including the final draft constitution of the Republic of China." Frederick Reinstein

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 20 '44 850w

"Sun Fo, the son of Sun Yat-sen, has put China's best foot forward in publishing in English a collection of his recent speeches and articles. Sun Fo is sometimes called China's 'show liberal' and there is a good deal of point just now in China's showing to America that she has a liberal among her top ranking officials. Dr. Sun is not only the son of the founder and first president of the Chinese Republic but is himself the present president of the Legislative Yuan, one of China's five governing bodies, and therefore in a sense a government spokesman." Eleanor Lattimore

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 30 '44 900w

SUTER, CHESTER MERLE. Organic chemistry of sulfur; tetracovalent sulfur compounds. 858p $10 Wiley

547.7 Sulfur compounds 44-1248

"A reference book. Chapter titles are: Esters of sulfuric acid; Aliphatic sulfonic acids; The preparation of aromatic sulfonic acids; The properties and reactions of aromatic sulfonic acids; Derivatives of aromatic sulfonic acids; Sulfones. For each type of compound such information as methods of preparation, reaction data, formulas, properties, uses and references to literature are given." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

"This book is an important addition to chemical literature; no chemical library can be complete without it." E. E. Reid

+ Am Chem Soc J 66:854 My '44 240w

"The book is a valuable addition to the chemical literature and the author is to be commended for assembling and arranging such a mass of detailed information. The title of the book is somewhat misleading in that one expects to find under such a title other organic sulphur compounds besides the derivatives of sulphuric acid. The author, however, in the preface holds out the hope that another volume may be forthcoming to include the remainder of sulphur chemistry. Such a volume is needed, and it is hoped that the author will go ahead with its preparation." R. Fanelli

+ Chem & Met Eng 51:205 My '44 300w

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Je '44

Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:12 Ja '44

SUTER, JOHN WALLACE. Prayers of the spirit. 50p $1 Harper

264.1 Prayers 44-35

"This volume contains one hundred prayers, chiefly in collect form, suitable for public or private use and especially appropriate for wartime needs. These are selected from a much larger number written by the author. He is rector of Epiphany Church in New York city, and is custodian of the official copy of the Book of Common Prayer." Christian Century

Christian Century 61:82 Ja 19 '44 70w

Reviewed by W. L. Caswell

Churchman 158:17 Mr 15 '44 120w

"For all Christians this book would be a thoughtful and appreciated Lenten gift."

+ Kirkus 12:66 F 1 '44 210w

SUTTON, MRS MARGARET. Gail Gardner wins her cap. 243p $2 Dodd

44-7188

Gail Gardner, determined to win her nurses' cap, enrolls as a U.S. cadet nurse and finds she has her hands full. There is a mystery to add to the excitement. Grades seven to nine.

Cath World 160:283 D '44 10w

"The style is forced—and the whole is second rate."

Kirkus 12:375 Ag 15 '44 60w

"Story will appeal, for it is based on the diary of the author's niece and of necessity includes a mystery. Will answer a current need only." E. A. Groves

Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 70w

"So much more goes on in this hospital than usually gets into career fiction I do not wonder the author takes pains to state that the story is based on actual diaries. They well may be, for the thrills—which include a continuing suspicion of theft, a series of ward fires and the ins and outs of a patient considered psychotic though Gail insists that she is only disoriented —are in direct line of possibility in any large city hospital. They quicken the story's pace. . . Along the way one has met types of probationers, shown with understanding of personal traits, handicaps and qualifications." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 7 '45 300w

SWEDEN: a wartime survey; ed. and pub. in Sweden with the assistance of public authorities. 250p $2 Bonnier

948.5 Sweden. World war, 1939—Sweden A44-3624

"A comprehensive factual account of Swedish political, economic and cultural life and Sweden's adjustments to her neutral status in a warring world. The chapters on wartime economic administration and on consumer cooperatives might be studied with profit by Americans. King Oscar's motto—'I have always placed first the honor, the happiness and the prosperity of Sweden'—does not, in this connection, seem an odious isolationism. The country has a remarkable degree of religious homogeneity. In a population of 6,400,000 all are rated as members of the Lutheran state church except 5,000 Roman Catholics, 7,000 Jews, and about 400,000 members of free churches and movements many of which are still related to the state church." Christian Century

Christian Century 61:82 Ja 19 '44 130w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:663 Jl '44 20w

"The book furnishes a good point of departure for further study; it also supplies interesting information to the person wishing to revise his knowledge in the light of recent events." S. V. Gustafson

+ Springf'd Republican p6 F 17 '44 300w

SWEENEY, JAMES JOHNSON. Alexander Calder. 64p il $2 Museum of modern art

B or 92 Calder, Alexander 44-2332

"An introduction to the life and work of this artist, with plates showing various examples of his work in wood, wire and other media." Current Hist

"James Johnson Sweeney is eminently suited to the task of writing a book about Alexander Calder, for he sees eye to eye with the exploring and enterprising modern artist. In his searching pages, Calder is shown as having a susceptibility to form, pattern, and rhythmical movement as they are qualified by our daily visual experience. In them, Calder appears as an artist of the present-day frontier, where engineering and mechanics dominate the popular imagination in the same way that the lands of the West dominated it a century ago." D. A.

SWEENEY, J. J.—Continued

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 S 2 '44 250w

"The biographical section and the notes on his work are of course important for the student; the plates showing his work are fascinating to anyone."

+ Current Hist 6:261 Mr '44 40w

SWEET, WILLIAM WARREN. Revivalism in America; its origin, growth and decline. 192p $2 Scribner

269 Revivals 44-6536

"In these eight lectures delivered at Florida School of Religion by the pre-eminent authority on American church history, Professor Sweet did not, he assures us, attempt to give a complete history of revivalism, but aimed rather to present an interpretation and appraisal. . . The author's attitude toward revival movements is appreciative even when it is critical. There have been abuses and excesses, but the real values in these outbursts of zeal and religious emotion loom larger than their follies in a sober appraisal." Christian Century

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 Jl 16 '44 350w

Booklist 41:7 S '44

"Within the limits of his available space [the author] has written a history packed with substance as well as vitalized by sound judgment and clear insight. . . The book is not only good American church history; it should also be provocative of serious thought about the problem of evangelism, which still persists in spite of the indubitable 'decline' of revivalism."

+ Christian Century 61·903 Ag 2 '44 300w

Reviewed by R. E. E. Harkness

Crozer Q 22:83 Ja '45 550w

"While primarily an historical study, this book has important implications for present-day religious life among the Protestant groups."

+ Kirkus 12:253 Je 1 '44 130w

"Though Dr. Sweet has been too wary in evaluating the forces of revivalism in recent American history, he has written a provocative study of a major phase of American history." T. D. Clark

+ — N Y Times p10 Ag 27 '44 550w

"Through the study of American history, as well as the study of American religion, Dr Sweet has been able to present a truly impressive picture of the church in the United States, what it has been and what he thinks it must be. His essay might well be read and pondered in many a parish." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 27 '44 650w

Weekly Book Review p22 O 1 '44 300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:124 O '44

SWENSON, OLAF. Northwest of the world; forty years trading and hunting in northern Siberia. 270p il $3 Dodd

915.7 Siberia—Description and travel. Fur trade. Hunting—Siberia 44-3280

A famous fur trader, a Michigan man who traded with Siberian natives for over forty years, recounts his experiences on his trips which put him in the million-dollar-trader class. Illustrated with photographs.

Booklist 40:316 My 15 '44

"His writing pace is slow, but he makes a whole strange land come alive because he lived with the natives and learned their languages." Sigrid Arne

+ N Y Times p6 Ap 9 '44 320w

"Those who like adventure stories in an Arctic setting may have their fill in this book. Mr. Swenson tells exciting stories about strange and weird customs in a primitive world. With relish he tells also the stories of foxes, wolves, and dogs. And, naturally, this being Siberia, he talks a lot about the weather in a country where looking at one's watch is a dangerous operation because of the necessity of baring one's wrists. . . While there is absolutely no warrant for assuming that Mr. Swenson wrote about anything but the things he saw himself, he sometimes fails to be convincing because he packs so much excitement in a single chapter that he gives the impression of trying to 'pep up' his narrative." Emil Lengyel

+ Sat R of Lit 27:28 Ap 22 '44 750w

"There is a good deal of sound and instructive ethnology in this work, all told in an incidental and often amusing way. The war has given this particular region of the Arctic an added importance. Here is a book that tells the truth about it, that needs to be read on many scores, and that will repay any reader with keen entertainment and widened knowledge." Lincoln Colcord

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 30 '44 700w

SWIGGETT, HOWARD. Most secret, most immediate. 268p $2 Houghton

44-3682

Garrett Maynard, North American head of the military intelligence section of the Free nations supply mission, is the hero. He goes to France shortly before our entrance into the war, in order to get knowledge of the underground. There he meets the Gestapo, and barely escapes with his life.

"The author is deputy director general of the British supply mission in this country. Because of his experience, he has been able to give his story the ring of authenticity. Add his skill as a writer of racing action, pointed conversation, suspense and terror, and you will see why this is one of the best." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p8 Mr 5 '44 160w

"Something pompous here, certainly flossy for this type of story."

— Kirkus 12:2 Ja 1 '44 190w

"The title, which is one of the book's chief merits, derives from the instructions on the cables which pass between the European and American offices of the mission. Unfortunately, a number of Maynard's secret moments are spent in perpetrating some of the most incredible love scenes to be found outside of soap opera. . . However, this is a fairly good book for the reader who is more interested in rapid action and the involvements of espionage than he is in memorable characterization or skillful writing." N. P. Lowenstein

+ — N Y Times p22 Ap 30 '44 200w

"Much more authentic-sounding than the usual account of this sort, and highly recommended."

+ New Yorker 20:83 Mr 4 '44 90w

"Good."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:29 Mr 11 '44 40w

"This latest work of the present deputy director-general of the British supply mission in Washington is literate, exciting, sophisticated, entertaining. And perhaps that is quite enough for most readers—if not for all." R. J. Conklin

+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 5 '44 350w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p15 Mr 19 '44 100w

SWISHER, CARL BRENT. American constitutional development. 1079p $6; student's ed $4.50 Houghton

342.739 U.S.—Constitutional history 43-16355

"This volume represents a restatement of significant facts in American constitutional history, in the hope that a fuller knowledge and better understanding of those facts will contribute to a better understanding of the problems of today and tomorrow. It is in the main a factual presentation, organized with such breadth of vision as could be brought to the task. Opinion and evaluation creep inevitably into the selection and organization of materials, and into the language of the writer, but the purpose has been not to indoctrinate the reader with a point of view, but to portray for readers of varying points of view the swelling tide of American constitutional development as it has flowed down through the years." (Introd) The author is Thomas P. Stran professor of political science at Johns Hopkins university. Bibliographical note. Index.

Reviewed by E. S. Corwin
Am Hist R 50:127 O '44 1950w

"In scope and character, the volume is not strictly comparable with others in these fields, and it should prove of distinct service. On the whole, it is well done; the authorities have been consulted and cited fully; and it is accurate. . . Following the above statement of the high value of the volume, comments may now be offered regarding improvements which may be made in a second edition. With respect to the colonial and state background of the Convention of 1787, the author does little. . . With reference to English efforts in the field of written constitutions, it may be of value to refer to Pease's work on the Leveller movement. . . The chronological analysis of developments from 1789 to 1943 necessarily involves a piecemeal discussion of the same topics in chapters throughout the volume." W. F. Dodd
+ — Am Pol Sci R 38:155 F '44 650w

Christian Science Monitor p12 F 18 '44 390w

Reviewed by J. E. Kallenbach
Columbia Law R 44:951 N '44 600w

Current Hist 7:135 Ag '44 80w

"Like all texts, this book must pass lightly over difficult questions of constitutional law which have troubled scholars for some time. Sometimes this treatment seems a bit cavalier, but as a sound outline this book will be useful to scholar and student alike."
+ — Harvard Law R 57:936 Jl '44 230w

"Professor Swisher has the distinction of presenting the first constitutional history of the United States covering the entire period of its existence. This fact in itself would not make the book notable were it not for its many good qualities. It is no mere formal analysis of judicial decisions, but a presentation, with sure grasp and maturity and impartiality of judgment, of the social forces which shape constitutional principles. Moreover, the author has a knack of exposition which greatly aids the lay reader in comprehending subject matter of considerable intrinsic difficulty. . . Apart from a few typographical slips overlooked in proofreading, the reviewer has noted no positive errors." H. C. Hockett
+ Pol Sci Q 59:116 Mr '44 1000w

Reviewed by G. F. Milton
Sat R of Lit 27:52 Ap 15 '44 700w

"Mr. Swisher's treatment of the work of the Supreme Court in the decades preceding the Civil War is excellent, as is his discussion of the constitutional problems growing out of the Bank and the slavery controversies. But he says virtually nothing about the great constitutional changes, such as the broadening of the suffrage, which were taking place in the states. . . But if I am critical of Mr. Swisher's allotment of space and attention in the part of the volume devoted to the period before the Civil War, I have great admiration for his account of the last seventy-five years. His discussion of this difficult period is marked by exceptional clarity and accuracy. It will be of value both as a text and as a book of reference. A very full and careful index adds greatly to its usefulness in the latter category." B. F. Wright
+ — Yale Law J 53:382 Mr '44 1250w

SYPHERD, WILBUR OWEN, ed. See Bible. Whole. Selections. The Book of books

SYPHERD, WILBUR OWEN; FOUNTAIN, ALVIN MARCUS, and BROWN, SHARON OSBORNE. Engineer's manual of English. rev ed 503p $2.20 Scott

808 Technical writing. English language—Rhetoric. Engineering 43-10472

"A textbook in English composition for college students in engineering. Chapter headings include: Correspondence; Report writing; Writing for technical journals; Bulletins, booklets, catalogues; Development of specifications. In this revised edition, new selections of current specimens of technical writing have replaced similar material included in the earlier edition of 1933 [Book Review Digest, 1933]. Several chapters have been rewritten, and new sections on military communications and public speaking have been added in the Appendix." (N Y New Tech Bks) Bibliography. Index.

Eng N 131:112 S 9 '43 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:63 O '43

SYRKIN, MARIE. Your school, your children; a teacher looks at: what's wrong with our schools. 224p $2.50 Fischer, L.B.

370.973 Education—U.S. Public schools—U.S. 44-40171

"An indictment of city school systems, based on the shortcomings and failures as seen by a New York High School teacher. She discusses the inhibition and timidity that are turning students to fascism, nazism, prejudice, dishonesty, laziness, subterfuge. She challenges the recognition of schools as a guiding factor in formative years; queries the soundness of vocational training; criticises adoption of progressive programs without proper equipment; outlines possibilities through smaller groups, adequate work programs as developed in the 'Springfield Plan'." Kirkus

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p6 O 1 '44 750w

Booklist 41:36 O 1 '44

Kirkus 12:440 S 15 '44 110w

"A well-written, highly personalized book." Sidney Hook
+ Nation 159:621 N 18 '44 360w

Reviewed by Hortense Powdermaker
New Repub 111:698 N 27 '44 500w

"I would like to stand on a street corner and hand out copies of this book to passersby. For the message it carries to a civilization that must either perish or educate itself about education gives to the book the character of a tract. I would hand it out with confidence. For not only is it important, but its every page is absorbing." B. W. Overstreet
+ Sat R of Lit 27:42 S 16 '44 550w

Reviewed by C. M. Sauer
Springf'd Republican p4d O 22 '44 700w

Reviewed by E. F. Barnard
Survey G 33:506 D '44 500w

"In this courageous and intelligent appraisal of our public school system, Marie Syrkin consistently faces the basic issues involved. She hits hard, but with discrimination. And while she speaks plainly, she never raises her voice in partisan petulance. 'Your School, Your Children' is the product of a lucid and disinterested mind, and of a passionate but disciplined social conscience. Best of all, it is an educator's study of education in theory and practice, yet completely free of academic jargon. Any literate American can read it with profit." Hiram Haydn
+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 24 '44 700w

SZE, SZEMING. China's health problems. [2d ed] 60p $1 Chinese medical assn, box 6096, Washington, D.C.

614.0951 China—Sanitary affairs. Public health—China [43-5661]

"This is the second edition of a volume first published in May, 1942, which sets forth in succinct form an up-to-date review of China's health problems, including sections on health education, medical education, state medicine,

SZE, SZEMING—Continued
civilian medical relief, the Army medical services, and other subjects. An excellent appendix gives briefly the present status of governmental and voluntary health agencies in China. The author, who is General Secretary of the Chinese Medical Association and Editor of the Chinese Medical Journal, is now in the United States." Am J Pub Health

Reviewed by R. M. Atwater
Am J Pub Health 33:1129 S '43 110w

"Statistical facts are set forth by Dr. Sze in a form so concise and well organized that any layman can quickly absorb them and recognize their significance." Bruno Lasker
Pacific Affairs 17:232 Je '44 180w

T

TABER, GLADYS (BAGG) (MRS F. A. TABER). Give us this day. 252p $2 Macrae Smith co.
44-4740

Novel of life in Connecticut just before and after Pearl Harbor. Livia Warren steers her way thru a multiplicity of problems: an old house, picturesque but hard to heat; a husband almost falling victim to a wily widow; and three children in their teens, each requiring a different type of handling.

Booklist 40:378 Jl 1 '44

"Easy entertainment."
Kirkus 12:122 Mr 15 '44 90w

"The novel will delight devotees of the Claudia stories." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 14 '44 120w

Wis Lib Bul 40:131 O '44

TABER, GLADYS (BAGG) (MRS F. A. TABER). Nurse in blue. 250p $2 Macrae Smith co.
43-16002

The heroine is a Navy nurse from Wisconsin. The story is of her experiences in the Brooklyn Navy yard hospital, where many of her patients were men from torpedoed ships, and of her difficulties in deciding which of her three lovers to marry.

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p30 N 21 '43 110w
Wis Lib Bul 40:56 Ap '44

TABOR, PAUL. They came to London. 365p $2.75 Macmillan [8s 6d Hodder]
43-17977

"The fictionized stories of a dozen types of refugees who came to England to fight for freedom. . . Using the invasion day as a springboard, the author dives backward into the past of his characters. He picks out the moments of crisis, in a series of news-flashes, and shows how the same force uprooted these men, the same spiritual devastation drove them all to converge upon London. As the cast to personify twelve countries at war, he has chosen the son of a French general, a Norwegian seaman, a Chinese philosopher, a gilded Italian youth, a Greek priest, a Dutch publisher, a Danish manufacturer, a German moving-picture star, a Polish doctor, a Czech engineer, a Serbian student, and an American radio commentator." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by Marion Strobel
Book Week p9 F 6 '44 380w
Booklist 40:236 Mr 1 '44
Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '44
Reviewed by Francis Downing
Commonweal 39:573 Mr 24 '44 350w
Kirkus 11:555 D 15 '43 150w

"A higher-than-average collection, superbly written and intensely interesting, presenting in one volume a well-rounded cross-section of the thoughts, feelings and actions of our allies. Highly recommended." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 68:1049 D 15 '43 100w

Reviewed by Charles Marriott
Manchester Guardian p3 Je 25 '43 40w

"A sharply focused picture of the whole war, done in terms of little people. It is startlingly moving and effective. . . 'They Came to London' should do much to bring the reader to clear understanding of the character and motives of the men of different nations who are locked in the current world struggle." Meyer Berger
+ N Y Times p5 Ja 30 '44 600w

"Mr. Tabori has written a powerful volume which better depicts Europe under the scourge of Nazism than half a dozen 'factual' books by foreign correspondents and other 'experts.' It deserves a wide circulation." C. B. Peters
+ Sat R of Lit 27:20 F 12 '44 850w

"It is a very well-intentioned book, and it rubs in the dreadful story of our time with violence—but its form imposes a dangerous monotony, and it could have been shorter by many pages." Kate O'Brien
+ — Spec 171:46 Jl 9 '43 90w

Springf'd Republican p7e F 6 '44 500w

"The scope of the book is wide and ambitious, including as it does a representative both of China and of the United States, but only occasionally does the author allow his style to become too dramatic and grandiose, as in the introduction and epilogue, when the writing is consequently inclined to jar."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p293 Je 19 '43 240w

"Hot off the wires in rhythm and style, 'They Came to London' infuses fresh life into a by now familiar and well understood theme, and together with the author, we watch with tight lips and beating hearts for the dawn of the day of liberation." Virgilia Sapieha
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 30 '44 850w

TALBOT, CONSTANCE. Complete home care of your family wardrobe. 248p il $2.75 Arco
646 Clothing and dress. Dressmaking
44-18328

"Helpful pointers on wise buying of clothing, care of accessories, jewelry, shoes and hats, home dry cleaning and spot removal, laundry and pressing, mending and remaking garments for all members of the family and re-using other home textiles such as curtains, sheets, and carpets. . . Some of the material in convenient chart form." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 40:299 My 1 '44

"The book contains many easily read charts and summaries and a well prepared index, which makes it easy to use for quick reference. Copious illustrations add to its attractive appearance. Some of the topics discussed, however, are incomplete, and the wording often is indefinite. The reader is frequently left in doubt as to the scientific principles on which statements are based. Though the book contains much good material, its popular nature will make it of more value to the average housekeeper than to the serious student." Montelle Dietrich
+ — J Home Econ 36:658 D '44 150w

"The author has compiled her material from experience in community rallies on women's household problems—and the approach is definitely practical and realistic. Her previous book, The Complete Book of Sewing, sold over 300,000 copies. This, too, is good merchandise."
+ Kirkus 12:114 Mr 1 '44 210w

TALBOT, HAKE, pseud. See Nelms, H.

TALIAFERRO, WILLIAM HAY, ed. Medicine and the war. 193p $2 Univ. of Chicago press
610.4 Medicine, Military. World war, 1939— Medical and sanitary affairs A44-678

"Historical review of war medicine precedes lectures given by faculty members of the University of Chicago's Division of the biological sciences. Though not a comprehensive coverage, they include triumphs of medicine in food, chemotherapy, malaria, modern transportation, aviation, brain injuries, psychiatric disorders, and chemical warfare. Bibliography at lecture ends. Addressed as lectures to students, they will appeal chiefly to the student with some medical background and to the intelligent layman. Not outstanding but an addition to limited literature in the field." Booklist

"The essays are intended to promote a wider dissemination among the general public and the medical profession of basic information concerning recent advances in war medicine. They cover the subjects briefly, although authoritatively, and can be recommended to public health workers who are not experts in these fields of medicine." George Baehr

+ Am J Pub Health 34:795 Jl '44 180w

"This volume is recommended to the serious reader without any qualification. It is interesting and comprehensive; it is technical enough for the medical reader, and plain enough for the lay reader. Familiarity with its contents cannot fail to make any citizen more anxious to see the benefits of wartime medicine applied with equal speed and certainty to peacetime conditions." A. P. Hitchens

+ Ann Am Acad 234:139 Jl '44 800w

"Told in clear, non-technical language. The reading of this small volume is essential for the understanding of the war and of some of its effects on generations to come." Israel Davidson, M.D.

+ Book Week p4 Mr 5 '44 360w

Booklist 40:247 Mr 15 '44

Reviewed by M. F. A. Montagu

N Y Times p12 Mr 19 '44 500w

TALL book of nursery tales; pictures by Feodor Rojankovsky. 120p $1 Harper

44-3881

Companion volume to the Tall Book of Mother Goose (Book Review Digest, 1942). Contains twenty-four traditional nursery stories, with pictures by the Russian illustrator, Rojankovsky.

"The choice of the 24 tales is excellent and it is pleasant to have all the old favorites collected in one beautiful and inexpensive volume." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p10 Ap 2 '44 110w

Booklist 40:307 My 1 '44

"It still seems to me one of the most delightful collections for small children. There are plentiful black and white drawings which combine with excellent clear type or lettering to make a pleasing pattern on the page. There is a real English flavor to the chubby children and the bits of landscape, and the animals are friendly and amusing." F. C. Darling

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 My 29 '44 300w

"Children have given whole-hearted approval to the unusual shape of The Tall Book of Mother Goose, to which this is a companion. They will undoubtedly welcome these bright lithographs full of fun and peasant flavor. The animals are in general very good, except in the story of Goldilocks and the Three Bears." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 20:205 My '44 70w

"Its long, narrow shape not only makes library shelving difficult but some kindergarten teachers feel it also makes handling itself a problem as far as small children are concerned. However, the many, many illustrations—both colored and black and white—are delightful and the stories themselves are the best-known versions with only here and there a milder rendering." Miriam Snow

+ — Library J 69:355 Ap 15 '44 70w

"Only the sourest critic will complain of the slight visual jolt that comes from the placing of tone pictures opposite those in brilliant hues. The wonder is that under wartime conditions such a generous handfull of jollity and art could be produced at all. This is a definite contribution to the almost forgotten gaiety of nations." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p7 Mr 26 '44 240w

"The selection is good and the text satisfactory, even though a few annoying changes in the traditional wordings have been made. Rojankovsky's gay pictures, in sepia and bright color, are in just the right spirit, and children like the book's odd shape, with its tall and narrow pages."

+ New Yorker 20:54 Jl 8 '44 80w

"So far as I am concerned, the twenty-four famous familiar tales in this book are now, at last, illustrated to stay that way. Whatever pictures may be hereafter made for them, I shall refer to these as the standard. For Rojankovsky's are so real that without a word of print you could identify each tale: the index itself is two dozen little pictures." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 2 '44 250w

TAMAS, ISTVAN. Students of Spalato; a novel, tr. from the Hungarian by Katherine Kovách Dohanos. 283p $2.75 Dutton

44-2698

"The story of Steve, a student in the Serb-Croatian University, in Spalato, Yugoslavia. In his efforts to earn a living he became editor of the college paper. Conflict with a competing German-dominated Fascist school led to the dismissal of Steve's class, and they set out to join the compatriots hiding and fighting in the hills." Library J

"It is one of the tragedies of the literature of today that most of the writers who attempt to interpret the Old World also attempt to entertain Americans, as they think Americans like to be entertained. . . There is a great story in the students of Spalato, but Istvan Tamas hasn't written it. He could have done it. He has the knowledge of the country and the ability, but instead of using what he has and knows, he has employed all the cheap tricks of the trade to entertain us as he thinks we like to be entertained." Konrad Bercovici

— + Book Week p6 Ap 16 '44 270w

Booklist 40:285 Ap 15 '44

"Staunch, sincerely motivated, but somehow not paced to American tastes."

+ — Kirkus 12:182 Ap 15 '44 100w

"A simple story interestingly written." J. A. Sohon

+ Library J 69:204 Mr 1 '44 50w

"Though the ending sounds grim and purposeful, this is really a pleasant novel which from first to last reflects the humor and joie de vivre of the people it describes. Carried away by his love for the scene, the author has filled the book with light, heart-warming episodes which may seem extraneous to the plot but which add immeasurably to the flavor of the book. Mr. Tamás is realistic enough to know that war does not all at once shut out the rest of life—that tragedy and comedy must go together in fiction even as in reality." Nona Balakian

+ N Y Times p7 Ap 30 '44 700w

Springf'd Republican p4d My 7 '44 220w

"'The Students of Spalato' is an intimate little story, both psychologically and in its details, of youth—not youth on the march, but youth uncertain, developing quickly, guided by its own right instincts and driven by events. Save that its denouement leads to guerrilla fighting in the Bosnian hills, and for its closer integration with world currents, it might serve almost equally well, I should think, as a picture of youth movements in Cairo, in Mexico City, in our own United States. The fundamentals are all here, beautifully presented." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 16 '44 800w

TANGYE, NIGEL. Britain in the air. (Britain in pictures: British people in pictures) 48p $1.25 Chanticleer; for sale by Hastings house [4s 6d Collins]

629.1309 Aeronautics—History A45-735

"Latest of the popular series 'Britain in Pictures,' whose feature is the number and excellence of its color plates, this brief history

TANGYE, NIGEL—Continued
of aviation in the British Isles takes in two wars, but pays quite as much attention to developments in time of peace. The reproductions of early flight watercolors, such as Dighton's of Lunardi's balloon lead into contemporary pictures of dramatic beauty, such as the grim 'September, 1940' of John Armstrong. There are, besides, many reproductions by photograph of paintings showing factories, runways and others aviation matters." Weekly Book Review

"A beautiful little book, a book to own and treasure." J. M. S.
+ Spec 173:392 O 27 '44 500w

"In this little book Wing Commander Tangye is historian and not propagandist or pamphleteer. As historian he has done his work well, but propaganda for these times is implicit in the story of those other times. A new epoch in air transport is about to open. The nation can take pride in this tale of what its sons have done and resolve that no fresh generation shall be denied the chance to carry on to new triumphs what has become part of the British tradition."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p500 O 14 '44 550w
+ Weekly Book Review p20 N 19 '44 110w

TANNER, FRED WILBUR. Microbiology of foods. 2d ed 1196p $12.50 Garrard
589.958641 Food—Bacteriology. Micro-organisms 44-7032

"A comprehensive source book on bacteriology in its application to foods, and on methods of bacteriological food analyses. Individual chapters are devoted to the microbiology of milk, cream and butter, cheese, frozen desserts, vegetables, fruits, bread, fish, meat, eggs, and miscellaneous products such as salad dressings, carbonated beverages, nut meats and spices. Also included are the chapters: Microbiological methods of assaying foods for vitamins, and Culture media and their preparation. The second edition, completely rewritten, has been expanded some 600 pages to incorporate the many advances in food technology since the author's Bacteriology and mycology of foods (1919). Chapter bibliographies and extensive footnote citations provide a key to much of the recent literature." N Y New Tech Bks

"The public health official or student cannot afford to be without this exhaustive source of reference material on foods; it will have wide use in the commercial field of food technology." F. L. Mickle
+ Am J Pub Health 35:71 Ja '45 410w

"The author should be congratulated and thanked for the preparation of a reference book which should find a welcome place in every laboratory dealing with foods." S. C. Prescott
+ Chem & Eng N 22:1617 S 25 '44 360w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:44 Jl '44

TANSILL, CHARLES CALLAN. Canadian-American relations, 1875-1911. 507p $3.50 Yale univ. press
327.730971 U.S.—Foreign relations—Canada. Canada—Foreign relations—U.S. A44-294

"This is the twenty-fourth volume in the series on Canadian-American relations. . . Within the period here considered, the relations between the United States and Canada passed through three phases: first, about twenty years of economic depression in Canada which forced her to seek more intimate contacts and freer exchanges in spite of a lingering fear of annexation; second, a period of prosperity and rapid internal development with relative indifference to closer relations; third, after the Spanish-American War an increased recognition that America's military strength and prospective position as a world power were matters of concern to the British empire and especially to its nearest member. Among the most important topics for adjustment between the countries have been the Alaskan boundary, fisheries and tariffs. The course of the negotiations on all these and other questions is traced in full detail, with thorough documentation." (Christian Century) Index.

Reviewed by A. L. Burt
Am Hist R 50:154 O '44 650w

"In a detailed diplomatic history such as this, a general knowledge of the period is assumed. Indeed, the book itself is one for the specialist alone. The story is told with full documentation from the correspondence and papers of ministers, secretaries, and negotiators, explaining their official and private opinions at the various stages of the discussions. One receives a most careful and comprehensive exposition of the considerations of the moment as they were recorded by the participants." H. McD. Clokie
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:803 Ag '44 750w

Reviewed by W. D. Overman
Ann Am Acad 233:237 My '44 460w
Booklist 40:227 Mr 1 '44

Reviewed by F. R. Scott
Canadian Forum 24:22 Ap '44 500w

"This important volume in an important series lies strictly within the field of diplomatic history. It consists in a remarkably careful and painstaking study of the fisheries question, the Alaska boundary question, the fur-seal (pelagic sealing) question, and two chapters dealing with trade relations, 'The Movement for Commercial Union' and 'Reciprocity, 1888-1911.' There is an index of thirty-eight pages, a valuable feature in a book of so detailed a nature. . . In so far as the writer is competent to judge, Professor Tansill has written the definitive book on these questions, on the first three at any rate. If he fails to give the full sweep of his subject against the background of its times, he does supply voluminous detail, tracing the ins-and-outs of negotiations with patience, clarity, and fairness." A. R. M. Lower
+ — Canadian Hist R 25:449 D '44 1150w
Christian Century 61:49 Ja 12 '44 200w

Reviewed by F. H. Soward
Pol Sci Q 59:301 Je '44 800w

TARBELL, ARTHUR WILSON. I retire to Cape Cod. 143p il $2 Daye
917.449 Cape Cod 44-40167

After thirty years of academic life, part of that time as dean of men at Carnegie Tech, the author retired to an old house on Cape Cod, there to grow old gracefully. The book is his gentle philosophizing on old houses, furniture, hobbies, and old inhabitants of the Cape.

"The book is colored by real enjoyment and a contemplative sharing of unhurried pleasures. Gentle."
+ Kirkus 12:366 Ag 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by H. C. Kittredge
New Eng Q 17:616 D '44 380w

"A charming volume of reminiscences and affectionate descriptions. . . A sweet book it is, and the reader need not be a Cape Codder to enjoy it." L. H. Robbins
+ N Y Times p6 S 24 '44 400w
Springf'd Republican p4d S 10 '44 430w
+ Weekly Book Review p19 O 1 '44 100w

TARBOUX, JOSEPH GALLUCHAT. Introduction to electric power systems. 385p il $4.50 Int. textbook
621.319 Electric power. Electric transmission 44-5475

"A one-year undergraduate textbook based on lectures given by the author to students at the University of Tennessee. The subject is treated from the point of view of students who will eventually be concerned with the operation of power lines rather than with their design. Problems for each chapter are given in the appendix, together with tables of hyperbolic, exponential and trigonometric functions, tables of cable sizes and similar related information." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:607 Jl '44 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:24 Ap '44

TATHAM, CAMPBELL. First flying book; pictures by Jeanne Bendick. [42p] $1 Franklin Watts, inc, 285 Madison av, N.Y. 17
629.13 Aeronautics—Juvenile literature 44-7755

Story of modern airplane flying told partly in pictured words, partly in print. At the beginning of each episode the more difficult pictures are explained so that young readers may recognize them.

"Recommended for larger collections." M. A. Webb
+ Library J 69:701 S 1 '44 70w

"Style is breezy, action lively, and the age limit is given as up to eight. Picture writing never goes out of fashion, or out of service, and there is no reason why the rebus, for generations past a favorite with little folks as an easy sort of puzzle, should not lend itself to early educational purposes." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 3 '44 250w
Wis Lib Bul 40:149 N '44

TAUBER, HENRY. Enzyme technology. 275p il $3.50 Wiley
661 Enzymes. Fermentation 44-22

"Treats mainly of the practical use of enzymes in industry and medicine. Sample chapter titles are: The role of enzymes in brewing; Mold fermentations; Enzymes for medicinal use; Enzymes in the meat, egg, vegetable and fruit industries; The use of enzymes in the manufacture of leather; Microbiological methods for the estimation of vitamins. The text is thoroughly documented with hundreds of references to other literature." (N Y New Tech Bks) Chapter bibliographies. Indexes.

"There are relatively few errors and the binding and printing are quite good. The book is a useful contribution to the growing field of enzyme technology. It covers a broad scope, possibly too broad, but the reader can cover the field more thoroughly with the help of the excellent collection of references given after each chapter." C. N. Frey & Sutton Redfern
+ Am Chem Soc J 66:1042 Je '44 650w

"An up-to-date presentation of practical material."
+ Chem & Eng N 22:384 Mr 10 '44 30w
Library J 69:119 F 1 '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:63 O '43

TAUS, MRS ESTHER (ROGOFF). Central banking functions of the United States treasury, 1789-1941. 313p $3.50 Columbia univ. press [17s 6d Oxford]
332.11 Banks and banking—U.S. U.S. Treasury department. Finance—U.S. A44-509

"A scholarly treatise, which both reviews and appraises American experience with federal banking control." Foreign Affairs

"I believe the author's main conclusions are sound: that the Treasury exercised important central banking powers during the pre-Federal Reserve era—even though it did not serve as a lender of last resort—and that there has long been a general, though not even, trend toward Treasury control of monetary policy. Her study helps us to understand how our banking system functioned even as well as it did during the nineteenth century, and it lets us see the Treasury's position today in clearer perspective." Elmer Wood
+ — Am Econ R 34:606 S '44 900w

Reviewed by Melchior Palyi
Am J Soc 50:257 N 13 '44 270w
Foreign Affairs 22:661 Jl '44 20w

TAYLOR, DUNCAN NORTON-. See Norton-Taylor, D.

TAYLOR, FREDERICK CHASE (COLONEL LEMUEL Q. STOOPNAGLE, pseud). You wouldn't know me from Adam; foreword by Fred Allen; with some queer il. by the author. (Whittlesey house publication) 197p $2 McGraw
817 44-4699

Colonel Stoopnagle, of the wild invention and radio fame, here sets down a few of his wildest inventions and whimsicalities for the reading public. Some of his ideas are about playing the third quarter at football first—for late arrivals; running trains backwards so people can see where they have been; etc. He has included a fictionary (unabashed) with fanciful definitions, and some of his own drawings of improbable inventions or characters.

"Those who like Col. Stoopnagle's mad nonsense on the air will fairly drool with delight over his 'You Wouldn't Know Me from Adam,' a book of utter foolishness in the colonel's best manner." Dale Harrison
Book Week p2 Ap 23 '44 320w

"The book is a side splitter. You'll want to send it to that man overseas." Elizabeth Sullivan
+ Boston Globe p17 Ap 12 '44 320w

"It's wacky, often funny, and for very unserious moods."
Kirkus 12:57 F 1 '44 110w

"Somehow it's funnier on the radio." H. G. Kelley
Library J 69:262 Mr 15 '44 90w

"Here is a volume that somewhat defies tradition. In fact, it's news. When you recall some of the books allegedly written by kilocycle wags—or, at least, signed by them—you suspect that the Nobel Prize would not be too lavish an award for a comedian who can be funny in print. . . Now and then the going gets a bit heavy. There is scarcely a laugh in the Colonel's thirteen-page dictionary, and occasionally he wanders off on a fable that smacks of an off-day radio script. But, in general, the pace holds up." J. K. Hutchens
+ — N Y Times p5 Ap 16 '44 700w

Reviewed by Thomas Sugrue
Sat R of Lit 27:29 My 13 '44 500w

"It's dangerous business for a professional zany to confine his humor to the printed page, but in 'You Wouldn't Know Me From Adam,' the redoubtable Col Stoopnagle of radio fame proved that dangerous business is his meat." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 23 '44 160w
Weekly Book Review p12 Je 25 '44 300w

TAYLOR, GEORGE EDWARD, and SAVAGE, GEORGE MILTON. The phoenix and the dwarfs; a play in three acts. 119p $2.50 Macmillan
812 44-7085

Play dealing with the Chinese point of view in the present war with Japan. There is a long introduction which explains the reactions of the tradition-loving Chinese villagers to the dwarfs—the Japanese.

Reviewed by Leonard Bullen
Book Week p4 S 3 '44 270w
Kirkus 12:293 Jl 1 '44 90w

"The play, as a play, is not good, though it is filled with potent material. The long introduction, however, is excellent, for it gives a graphic description of modern Chinese society, particularly of village life in which the landed gentry are lords, while the peasants are serfs in all but name. The guerrilla leaders hardly speak like guerrillas as this reviewer knows them, but the book is worth reading for the introduction alone." Agnes Smedley
New Repub 111:844 D 18 '44 180w

TAYLOR, G. E.—Continued

"The tale is clear, well paced, at times touching. This, of course, is a point which can be settled only by trial and error in the theatre itself." Mark Gayn

N Y Times p27 O 1 '44 400w

"The introduction to the play . . . is highly illuminating and presents a picture that is worth more than a passing glance. The play itself personalizes and enlarges upon the observations made in the introduction. . . Possibly the authors attempt to touch upon too many angles; possibly the play-form does not lend itself to so thorough an investigation. At any rate, the action becomes bogged down because of the necessity of explaining Chinese values to Americans." Helen Lowe

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 7 '44 390w

"It is not a good play, but it is well worth reading. Even more worth serious attention, reading and re-reading, is the introduction by George Taylor. . . The introduction is clear, forceful and valuable."

+ — Theatre Arts 28:747 D '44 360w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton

Weekly Book Review p10 O 8 '44 100w

TAYLOR, LOUIE S. Successful soldering; introd. by Emanuel E. Ericson. 76p il $1 McGraw

671 Solder and soldering 44-924

"Brief but useful book for home craftsmen and practical metalworkers. Discusses kinds of solder, soldering tools, and the soldering of specific metals. Includes special cases such as the soldering of aluminum and stainless steel." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:230 Mr 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '44

"Small compact manual on soldering operations, written so that even those without experience can do the work."

+ Library J 69:119 F 1 '44 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:12 Ja '44

TAYLOR, PHOEBE ATWOOD (ALICE TILTON, pseud). Dead Ernest. 218p $2 Norton 44-4329

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

— Book Week p11 Ap 30 '44 110w

Booklist 41:24 S '44

"Sixth in this amusing series, and still the pace is maintained, with entertaining dialogue and adequate plot."

+ Kirkus 12:154 Ap 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p14 My 7 '44 120w

"Highly diverting."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:33 Ap 29 '44 40w

"Mrs Tilton's yarns are highly implausible, but who cares? Her characters bear no resemblance to anyone living or dead (except of course the immortal bard) but, again who cares? 'Dead Ernest' is chuck full of incident and suspense and insanity. Serious students of mystery stories will no doubt view this book, if at all, with alarm. Who cares?" E. M. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 7 '44 140w

"When it comes to screwball mystery, Alice Tilton really delivers the goods, instead of just making futile passes in that direction. For one thing, the girl is naturally funny—which helps. . . Much more manic than depressive, a highly recommended tonic for what ails you." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p19 Ap 30 '44 130w

TAYLOR, RICHARD DENISON. The better Taylors. [112p] $2.50 Random house

741.5 Caricatures and cartoons. Humor, Pictorial 44-8587

First collection of the author's cartoons, reprinted from The New Yorker, Esquire, Colliers, etc.

"With good quota of high spots, a few just so's, there is contagious ribaldry here."

Kirkus 12:477 O 15 '44 40w

"Taylor's cartoons give his idea graphic balance by an almost gem-like arrangement of his figures. His humor varies: no single cartoon perfectly illustrates his idea of what is funny. But generally his wit tends more to an amiable emphasis of the ludicrous." Calder Willingham

N Y Times p5 O 22 '44 100w

New Yorker 20:99 O 21 '44 50w

Reviewed by W. R. Benét

Sat R of Lit 27:17 D 9 '44 230w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p5 D 3 '44 300w

TAYLOR, ROSEMARY. Ridin' the rainbow; father's life in Tucson; il. by Donald McKay. (Whittlesey house publication) 271p $2.50 McGraw 44-8950

In Chicken Every Sunday (Book Review Digest, 1943) the author painted a portrait of her mother. This time it is her father who holds the center of the stage. His joyous adventures and misadventures included a wide variety of activities from selling coffee and running a laundry, to entertaining President McKinley.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p29 N 12 '44 450w

Booklist 41:104 D 1 '44

"A companion piece to Chicken Every Sunday—and at moments it measures up to the high comedy of that. But the overall is not so consistently good—there is, for my money, too much of local politics, of the business of getting statehood for Arizona, of competition between Tucson and Phoenix."

+ — Kirkus 12:415 S 15 '44 190w

"Recommended." M. P. McKay

+ Library J 69:883 O 15 '44 70w

"'Ridin' the Rainbow' is less closely knit than 'Chicken Every Sunday,' which revolved neatly around the boarders. There are, perhaps, fewer good stories in it, although the account of McKinley's visit to Phoenix and the sojourn of old Mrs. McNiff in her tenants' cellar are not to be scorned. But, in general, it is a more interesting book." Jane Cobb

+ N Y Times p3 O 22 '44 650w

Springf'd Republican p4d N 5 '44 220w

"This book is a full-length portrait of Father, a companion piece to Mother, done with the same zest and with broader strokes. Mother's story was a deft, engaging comedy; the saga of Father's ventures is outright hilarious." Page Cooper

+ Weekly Book Review p4 O 29 '44 750w

TCHELITCHEW, PAUL. Yesterday's children; drawings; poem by Parker Tyler. [64p] $3 Harper

741.91 Drawings 44-51301

"Here are thirty sketches by the Russian-born painter Pavel Tchelitchew for his famous baroque canvas 'Hide and Seek' (on exhibit at the Museum of Modern Art, New York), with a poem by the surrealist poet Parker Tyler. . . The black-and-white sketches are, beyond doubt, magnificent samples of craftsmanship. They conjure a childhood where all things are personified, and animals become parts of things; where leaves are the cloaks of children who battle each other with spears of wheat; where, in short, reality and irreality have merged and nature turned into a dream." N Y Times

"I should be a plain fool to try to review these thirty pages of drawings by Mr. Pavel Tchelitchew. . . To capture the trembling line by which stalks of wheat rise in their growth toward the sun, rise and shake and battle in the eyes of a child, and to blow life into leaves till they and the child are one, is something too delicate and precise to convey in words. We have had Arthur Rackham and other fanciful artists, fiddling prettily with that combined world of the child and the leaf and tree and the light, but it was all, so far as I have seen it, superimposed, merely added fancy and nursery flirtation. These drawings of Mr. Tchelitchew's, though they are not like Blake's drawings, or derived from him, have something of the innate identification of nature and the imagination that is in Blake's poems." Stark Young

New Repub 112:125 Ja 22 '45 330w

Reviewed by R. R. Plant

N Y Times p17 Ja 7 '45 440w

TEICHERT, ERNEST JOHN. Ferrous metallurgy. 2d ed 3v il ea $4 McGraw

669.1 Iron—Metallurgy. Steel—Metallurgy (A44-68)

Contents: Volume I: Introduction to ferrous metallurgy; volume II: The manufacture and fabrication of steel; volume III: Metallurgy and heat treatment of steel.

Chem & Met Eng 51:204 O '44 80w

Library J 69:33 Ja 1 '44 80w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:653 Ag '44 40w (Review of v3)

N Y New Tech Bks 29:7 Ja '44

N Y New Tech Bks 29:46 Jl '44 (Review of v3)

TEILHET, DARWIN LE ORA. Odd man pays. 300p $2.50 Little 44-5032

Spy story, the time of which is the present war. Lieutenant Richard Whittington, an American airman in London, becomes involved innocently in murder, intrigue, and espionage. Only the sanity of an English girl, and finally the British Intelligence, save him.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p10 Je 4 '44 220w

"Fresh approach to a familiar plot, in a tale of hare and hounds in wartime England. . . It has pace and is developed 'on the diagonal'. Off the routine pattern adventure tale."

+ Kirkus 12:123 Mr 15 '44 130w

New Repub 111:54 Jl 10 '44 60w

"Admirers of the Teilhets will miss the imaginative humor of their detective stories, but they will find here an unusually credible espionage yarn, sugar-coating a moral. 'Odd Man Pays' contains such a sympathetic interpretation of upper-class British character and mannerisms that it might serve as an officers' handbook on Anglo-American relations." Marjorie Farber

+ N Y Times p12 My 21 '44 440w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p18 My 14 '44 80w

TEMPLE, WILLIAM, abp. of CANTERBURY. The church looks forward. 193p (7s 6d) Macmillan

283 Church of England. Sermons 44-9319

"William Temple died October 26, 1944. This volume of his principal addresses during the year and a half beginning with his 'enthronement' at Canterbury, April 23, 1942, may be considered as his last will and testament to the Anglican Church and to the whole Christian world, in which his leadership was valued and by which his memory will be cherished. The very fact that he was not consciously delivering his final message renders more significant the suitability of these utterances to occupy that place. . . In these twenty-five addresses taken together—and, one might almost say, in each of them taken separately—there is his characteristic combination of Christian conviction and theological clarity with profound and intelligent concern for the concrete business of living." Christian Century

Booklist 41:118 D 15 '44

"A study of these chapters will be amply rewarding to anyone who wishes to think soberly about the place of religion in the present stormy time and in the difficult days ahead." W. E. Garrison

+ Christian Century 61:1354 N 22 '44 1250w

"The late William Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury, may justly be viewed as one of the most broadminded, as he was certainly one of the most influential, churchmen of our time. . . 'The Church Looks Forward' is indeed an apt title for the collection of some twenty-five of Dr. Temple's sermons, speeches and radio addresses, for they bear practical witness to the breadth and incisiveness of his thought. . . Towards the close of this stimulating book, we find a chapter discussing Britain's postwar relations with Germany; and the justice which the writer stresses is seen as involving both penalties and fair dealing; while he calls for constructive education and for co-operation with German Christians." T. L. L.

+ Christian Science Monitor p13 D 23 '44 500w

"In this volume there are brought together some of the more significant addresses made by the Archbishop since his installation in 1942. They deal with a variety of subjects; church union, economic problems, education, the control of venereal disease, the church's place in the war and in the postwar world. In all of them, the reader will discover a courageous and forthright liberalism, a broad ecumenical spirit and an insistence that Christian ideals be put to work in the practical affairs of the work-a-day world."

+ Kirkus 12:503 N 1 '44 170w

Reviewed by J. M. Brittan

Library J 69:1000 N 15 '44 80w

Reviewed by P. W. Wilson

+ N Y Times p6 N 19 '44 900w

"The late Archbishop of Canterbury was probably the most effective religious orator of his time, so that the present collection of addresses will help to reveal the great loss to England which his death has been. . . It is safe to say that few prelates so genuinely great have adorned the See of Canterbury during its long history. He will be sorely missed by all Christians. As an Englishman he symbolizes everything that is most admirable in England." G. N. Shuster

+ Sat R of Lit 27:27 N 18 '44 600w

Reviewed by J. K. Mozley

Spec 173:270 S 22 '44 650w

"It is difficult for anyone who is the official head of a great institution, more or less committing that institution by his utterances, to say anything which is not more or less a platitude. It is therefore a remarkable achievement of Dr. Temple that he has been able to give us his principal speeches on great occasions since he became Archbishop of Canterbury, and that in each of them are to be found forcible expressions of his own vigorous mind, and plain indications of the policy which he would like to see the Church pursue. . . Dr. Temple's admirers and his critics will alike find abundance of intellectual food in these stimulating addresses."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p416 Ag 26 '44 750w

"In all these utterances we see pre-eminently a statesman who would grapple at first hand with the problems of this terrific time, and solve them by a rigorous application of Christian principles. . . It is tragic to contemplate in these pages the loss suffered by England, and by the world, in William of Canterbury's untimely passing." J. H. Holmes

+ Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 21 '45 400w

TENGGREN, GUSTAF. Story book. 89p il $1.50 Simon & Schuster

44-6799

"Favorite stories from Arabian nights, Dr Doolittle, Gulliver's travels, Heidi, Rip Van Winkle, Robin Hood, Robinson Crusoe, Rootabaga stories, Tom Sawyer, Treasure island, and Uncle Remus—selected and illustrated by Gustaf Tenggren." Subtitle

TENGGREN, GUSTAF—Continued
Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p21 N 12 '44 140w
Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:126 N 17 '44 10w
Kirkus 12:429 S 15 '44 130w

"After exposure to Mr. Tenggren's cuddly, grotesque Tar Baby, opulently-sleeved Aladdin and bright-faced Heidi, no child should have anything but eager anticipation for these classics." G. M. Williams
+ Library J 69:764 S 15 '44 80w

"An excellent children's book at a reasonable price."
+ Springf'd Republican p4d S 3 '44 110w

"The colors are rich and lavish and I hope the binding is as strong as it seems, for this book will have a lot of use." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 20 '44 300w

TENNYSON, ALFRED TENNYSON, 1st baron. A selection from [his] poems; sel. and with an introd. by W. H. Auden. 268p il $3 Doubleday
821 44-47606

"The anthologist emphasizes, by means of intelligent choice and arrangement, Tennyson's remarkable musical ear, his limited intellectual equipment, his melancholy and his anxiety. He thus succeeds in bringing out aspects of the poet—especially his lyric pathos—which have for a long time been partially obscured by the pervasive Victorian modishness of Tennyson's poorer works. Auden's preface links the rather provincial Englishman with Baudelaire and the European scene in general, and is an example of how modern historical and psychological concepts can be sensitively used. An early portrait and two caricatures [are included as illustrations]." New Yorker

"Tennyson's long suit was a lyrical inspiration and perfected technique, beside which the work of later poets a hundred times more intelligent reads like the lisp and stammer of a village idiot. And the selections which poet Auden has culled from the Victorian's enormous body of work are representative of his best periods. It is a collection of Tennyson more likely to get him read with pleasure and comprehension than dropped as a very dull fellow." Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p14 N 19 '44 500w
Booklist 41:150 Ja 15 '45

"In his selections Auden has done an excellent job of leaving out the ludicrous. He has had to include 'Locksley Hall,' which Thurber did such a deadly job of illustrating. But it would be impossible to leave out all the laughable in Tennyson, it is often so bound up with what is best. Perhaps no other poetry before T. S. Eliot's is quite so full of 'the tears of things'; certainly few great poets' tears have come quite so close to other people's laughter. Tennyson's genius did not include Eliot's gifts as a critic, especially of himself. As Auden puts it in a kaleidoscopically impressive Introduction: 'he had the finest ear, perhaps, of any English poet; he was also undoubtedly the stupidest; there was little about melancholia that he didn't know; there was little else that he did.' It is a real contribution to Tennyson, as to his public, to have so patiently disentangled the two strands of humor and of music." Lloyd Frankenberg
+ Commonweal 41:399 F 2 '45 2100w
Reviewed by George Mayberry
New Repub 112:24 Ja 1 '45 800w
Reviewed by F. O. Matthiessen
N Y Times p4 Ja 28 '45 650w
New Yorker 20:95 N 18 '44 130w
School & Society 60:432 D 23 '44 30w

TERHUNE, FLORENCE B. Decorating for you; il. by Jessie Robinson. 284p $3.75 Barrows
747 House decoration 44-2635

"Furniture style and arrangement, color, floors, walls, and windows discussed mainly from the traditional point of view, with a little consideration given to modern designs. On the whole, suggestions can be applied to houses run on a moderate income. Books are listed in the Test yourself section. Illustrated with a few photographs and a profusion of small drawings." (Booklist) Index.

Booklist 40:280 Ap 15 '44
Bookmark 5:9 Mr '44

"Theoretical and practical considerations in interior decoration are presented with a fresh organization and a refreshing approach, which inspires the reader with the possibilities of decorating. Very readable." Vienna Curtiss
+ J Home Econ 36:523 O '44 50w

"Here's a good basic book for the home-builder (amateur) who cannot have a whole library on matters of interior decoration."
+ Kirkus 12:115 Mr 1 '44 190w

THANE, ELSWYTH, pseud. See Beebe, E. T. R.

THARP, MRS LOUISE HALL. Champlain, northwest voyager; with il. by Charles B. Wilson. 250p $2 Little
Champlain, Samuel de—Juvenile literature 44-8471

This biographical novel tells the story of Samuel de Champlain from his boyhood to his death at sixty-eight. For young readers.

Booklist 41:128 D 15 '44
Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p6 N 9 '44 250w

"An excellent job." H. L. Binsse
+ Commonweal 41:128 N 17 '44 10w

"As exciting reading as most adventure fiction."
+ Kirkus 12:375 Ag 15 '44 130w

"Story of his many hazardous voyages and experiences with the Indians is well written and illustrated with many realistic drawings." Helen Skahill
+ Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 80w

"Tense dramatic action and plenty of dialogue make this biography read like fiction, but it is built around a core of historical fact." . . . The fine spirited drawings supplied by Charles B. Wilson add much to the book's charm."
+ N Y Times p7 N 12 '44 100w
Sat R of Lit 27:46 N 11 '44 30w

"Boys and girls, 12 to 14 years old who enjoy adventure and history, will like 'Champlain, Northwest Voyager.'" Patricia Morris
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 12 '44 110w

"Excellent 'junior biography,' one that creates, sustains and leaves behind it an impression of a character richly good. People seemed not only to respect and to trust, but to love Samuel de Champlain, and we share the sensation."
+ Weekly Book Review p14 N 12 '44 500w
Wis Lib Bul 40:163 D '44

THARP, MRS LOUISE HALL. Sounding trumpet; Julia Ward Howe and Battle hymn of the Republic; il. by Edward C. Caswell. 237p $2 McBride
B or 92 Howe, Mrs Julia (Ward)—Juvenile literature 44-3742

Biography of the beautiful, wealthy New York belle, Julia Ward, who married Dr Samuel Gridley Howe, a hero of the Greek war for independence, who was also a friend to all those in distress. This story of Julia Ward Howe's life, written for high school pupils, covers the years 1819 to 1910.

Booklist 40:324 My 15 '44

"Style and clarity of writing distinguish this biography, which will interest adults as well as young people. Attractive line drawings, by Edward C. Caswell, illustrate the book and give a feeling of the period, 1819 to 1910." H. A. Masten
+ Christian Science Monitor p10 My 11 '44 330w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:212 My '44 80w

"Lively, interesting account of Julia Ward Howe, made readable to modern children by a style almost fictionized." Gertrude Andrus
+ Library J 69:406 My 1 '44 80w

Reviewed by E. L. Buell
N Y Times p11 Jl 2 '44 150w

"Her old age was serene and gracious. This is not an entirely satisfying biography. But it is a great subject."
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:37 My 13 '44 130w

"As good a biography as this of Julia Ward Howe, for ten-or-twelve, will get into school as well as family libraries and do good there." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 My 21 '44 400w
Wis Lib Bul 40:88 Je '44

THARRATT, GEORGE. Aircraft production illustration. 201p il $3.50 McGraw

629.1341 Mechanical drawing. Airplanes—Design and construction 44-2458

"A manual of perspective layout and technical sketching. It explains the system of making simple three-dimensional pictures for the purpose of interpreting engineering drawings to assembly-line workers who are not capable of reading blueprints. In this procedure the complex designs of an airplane are 'broken down' and illustrated as manufacturing subassemblies. Each operation is depicted on a job ticket along with a description of the work to be performed and a list of the materials and tools required for the job. The book includes a brief account of the development of this technique and an explanation of its value in systematizing and speeding production." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:336 Je 1 '44
Library J 68:961 N 15 '43 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:5 Ja '44

Reviewed by J. M. Juran
N Y Times p36 N 26 '44 60w

THAYER, LEE (MRS EMMA REDINGTON [LEE] THAYER). Five bullets. 248p $2 Dodd 44-8264

Detective story.

"Best of the week."
+ Boston Globe p17 O 11 '44 60w

"There are Nazis in the offing, and you know what happens when they are up to their old tricks. Yes, there is plenty of excitement, cluttered up with perhaps a little too much romance, but then, there are those who like that sort of thing in their detective stories." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p19 O 8 '44 130w

"Agreeable."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:46 O 14 '44 40w

"'Wiggar, Clancy's veteran valet-chauffeur, carries on with poker-faced comedy and the yarn is expertly spun by Zingara Hartley, ace newspaper girl turned mystery author. This makes pleasant reading." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p23 O 1 '44 130w

THAYER, LEE (MRS EMMA REDINGTON [LEE] THAYER). Plain case of murder. 244p $2 Dodd 44-2187

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p10 Ap 2 '44 90w

"Just another Peter Clancy story, no better and no worse than those that have gone before." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p8 Mr 12 '44 60w

"Entertaining."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 Mr 4 '44 30w

"A typical Thayer puzzle, flavored with smiles and packing plenty of guesswork." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 Mr 5 '44 150w

THAYER, VIVIAN TROW. American education under fire. 193p $2.50 Harper

370.973 Education—U.S. Education—Aims and objectives 44-9523

"A searching analysis of what is wrong in American education, what are the most thorny controversial issues, and what are wise constructive measures." (School & Society) The author is educational director of the Ethical Culture schools; leader of the Society for Ethical culture, New York city; formerly chairman of the Commission on the secondary school curriculum of the Progressive education association. Index.

"Not an exciting book, but a good one." S. I. Hayakawa
+ Book Week p5 D 24 '44 450w

"This is a courageous book; it deals honestly with some of the major controversial issues in American education today. It is a wise book; it proposes solutions and remedies for these difficulties which are in accord with the best of our American tradition and heritage. It is an encouraging book; the reader will find his faith in the educational process renewed by it." K. I. Brown
+ Christian Century 61:1503 D 27 '44 1250w

"This book is intended for schools and teachers, but it is so sane in its comprehension of requirements that it would well serve the purpose of education if freely read by parents as well."
+ Current Hist 8:72 Ja '45 90w
Kirkus 12:419 S 15 '44 100w
School & Society 60:320 N 11 '44 30w

"This book is a challenging and at the same time a heartening reading experience for anyone who has been concerned for the future of American education and depressed by the defeatism implied in many of the proposed new systems." W. H. H.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 26 '44 650w

"'American Education Under Fire' seems to me considerably superior to most of its competitors. A study of the major trends in contemporary American education, it displays solid philosophical, historical roots." Hiram Haydn
+ Weekly Book Review p28 D 3 '44 650w

THEISS, LEWIS EDWIN. Tommy visits an aircraft factory. 146p il $1.50 Wilde 43-17183

Tommy rescued a test pilot whose plane crashed near his home, and the grateful pilot takes Tommy for a visit to the factory which turns out the planes he tests. For boys ten to fourteen.

Christian Century 60:1369 N 24 '43 30w

"Has no literary value, but recommended for clear explanations, ethical import and general interest for boys ten to fourteen." Maude Adams
+ Library J 69:73 Ja 15 '44 80w

THIRKELL, MRS ANGELA (MACKAIL). Growing up. 340p $2.50 Knopf [9s Hamilton, H] 44-790

Gentle comedy of manners novel, the scene of which is wartime England. The characters are mainly upper class county families and their friends and servants. The Waring mansion, or the larger part of it, has been converted into a convalescent home for soldiers, and Sir Harry and Lady Waring, living in what had once been the servants' quarters, have a hard time trying to maintain some sort of hospitality from these cramped quarters. Some of the characters are later editions of those in the author's earlier books.

Reviewed by G. H. Freitag
+ Book Week p4 F 20 '44 500w
Booklist 40:252 Mr 15 '44

THIRKELL, A. M.—Continued

"The characters are abundant and well varied, each with his or her story, moving to tears or laughter as Mrs. Thirkell narrates it deftly for our amusement." Harold Hobson

+ Christian Science Monitor p11 Ap 15 '44 160w

"A fastidious tale of the small crises that make up English country life in war time, diffused with gracious and graceful charm. Not top drawer Thirkell, but once a Thirkell fan, always a Thirkell fan—and her audience cherishes her."

+ — Kirkus 12:46 F 1 '44 160w

"Mrs. Thirkell relies throughout on her reputation for depicting life as it is lived in Barsetshire and elsewhere in these years of war. It lacks something of the vitality of its predecessors in this series." J. D. Beresford

Manchester Guardian p3 N 19 '43 100w

"Let the critics shake their heads despairingly, pointing to the tea-trays and the Nannies as symbols of a last-ditch fight. Mrs. Thirkell's laughter rings out to confound them. It has a sane, healthy indestructible sound." Isabelle Mallet

+ N Y Times p3 F 13 '44 600w

"In spite of the background of England at war, it's all rather old-fashioned and ever so Trollope, which may be taken as praise or not. This reader is admittedly on the not side."

New Yorker 20:86 F 19 '44 70w

"It is difficult to believe that a novel by Angela Thirkell could be a difficult book to finish, but, alas, it is true. That spontaneous good fun, that zest for the sly ridiculous, that deft touch with the daft, seems to have deserted her in 'Growing Up.' The imbecilities remain just imbecile, the fatuities are just fatuous, and the delightfully irrational becomes the merely silly." Elizabeth Drew

— Sat R of Lit 27:31 F 26 '44 550w

"The mixture had less plot than usual, and the fatuous low-comedy, which passes for humour, has been cut down. . . They are, naturally, some of 'the best people' to whom Mrs. Thirkell pays such very embarrassing respects." John Hampson

Spec 171:538 D 3 '43 170w

"This is a nice relaxing book. The England about which the author writes is in spite of wartime privations and discomforts, still a place where people keep up their standards. They live graciously and act courteously and their quiet lives are described with a great deal of sympathy and humor and just a touch of gentle snobbery. In other words, it's a typical Thirkell—and what more need be said?" W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 13 '44 240w

"Mrs. Thirkell is graceful and good-humoured, though the action of comedy she provides seems to have been cut down on this occasion."

Times [London] Lit Sup p564 N 20 '43 270w

"While 'Growing Up' seems a repetition of an old theme as far as Mrs. Thirkell's plots are concerned, it possesses the quality of charm and nonsense and gentle irony which makes all her books readable." Rose Feld

Weekly Book Review p4 F 13 '44 650w

Reviewed by Orville Prescott

Yale R n s 33:xiv spring '44 160w

THOBY-MARCELIN, PHILIPPE, and MARCELIN, PIERRE. Canapé-Vert; tr. by Edward Larocque Tinker. 225p $2.50 Farrar

44-1710

"This story brings something new in fiction to readers in the United States, for it is a story of Haiti told not as it would seem to an outlander or an historian but to two men who are Haitian born. . . For the sake of the wider audience, this novel was written in the standard French spoken by educated Haitians, rather than the far-different Creole of the people. It is here carried over sensitively into English by Edward Larocque Tinker, who also contributes the decorations of the book and an illuminating introduction on the background of Haitian history, demonology and language. The subject is the stuff in which tragedy is rooted under any sun—the story of a plain man driven past his endurance. Into it come the woman he cast off, the faithless girl he loves, the unscrupulous powerful man of the village (himself brought to ultimate ruin by his wrongdoing) and others in an extensive cast of black men and women who dart vividly in and out of the brief story." Weekly Book Review

---

"It is a great satisfaction to be able to say of a book about Haiti that here at last is the real thing. . . A credit to Edward La Rocque Tinker, the Louisiana author, is most essential. His translation of 'Canape-Vert' is beautiful work." Arna Bontemps

+ Book Week p4 F 27 '44 550w

Kirkus 11:557 D 15 '43 120w

"Many of the scenes are brutal and revolting to the last degree. This factor and a certain stiffness of style, due perhaps to translation, would probably limit book's popular appeal. Of value, however, to those interested in primitive folkways and an important current addition to a collection on Haiti or of Negro literature." Ernestine Rose

— + Library J 69:31 Ja 1 '44 70w

"This is said to be the first piece of Haitian fiction to be translated into English. If so, Haiti's literary debut is immensely appealing. . . The book is no conventional capsule. Its characters are lightly sketched, but very real. Its form is loose, its situations, like its Creole songs, sometimes die away in lines that repeat but do not resolve. That it won the fiction prize in the Second Latin-American Literary Competition is for many reasons surprising. Yet the slender tale haunts one's mind long after reading, and its retentive charm is out of all proportion to its slight first impression. The volume owes a great deal to its literary midwife, Edward Larocque Tinker." Mildred Adams

+ N Y Times p6 F 20 '44 550w

"The book indicates the existence in Haiti of a literary culture which is serious and not at all a mere aping of the French. It is not an irresistible novel; but it gives us an inside picture of the Negro population of Haiti which, so far as I know, is unique, and which will be of special interest to anyone with an appetite for finding out how other kinds of human beings live." Edmund Wilson

+ New Yorker 20:76 F 26 '44 1350w

"There have been some fine novels by and about American Negroes, but none will teach the white reader as much about the soul of his black brother as this brief, simple tragedy of Haitian peasant life." Thomas Sugrue

+ Sat R of Lit 27:13 Mr 25 '44 900w

"The happenings in Canapé-Vert are so violent that removing them from their context of fiction and the somber prose of the Brothers Marcelin makes the book seem more brutal than it is. Its weird setting, superb descriptions, and fine translation make it unforgettable. It illuminates the Negro peasant mind, briefly but clearly, like a scene in a jungle glimpsed in a flash of lightning."

+ Time 43:99 F 21 '44 850w

"'Canapé-Vert' is new to us in subject matter and, beyond that, original and impressive in the telling. . . For Americans to the north, it brings a new outlook on life in their hemisphere." Mary Ross

+ Weekly Book Review p2 F 20 '44 650w

THOMAS, ELBERT DUNCAN. Four fears. 189p $2 Ziff-Davis

973.917 Reconstruction (1939-)—U.S. U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Peace

44-8011

"Senator Thomas, professor of Political Science, University of Utah, vice-president of American Society of International Law and author of Thomas Jefferson—World Citizen [Book Review Digest, 1942] urges freedom from fear of idealism (Americans don't want to be hoodwinked); entangling alliances (United States of Washington's generation was not part of 'one world'); England (she shares our most prized heritages) and Russia (she will desire and need peace even more than we); and revolution (our very tradition has been one of drastic change, politically, socially and economically)." Library J

Reviewed by Harvey O'Connor
Book Week p4 O 8 '44 450w

Booklist 41:88 N 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p12 D 30 '44 550w

"Sound sense, popularly put, but one questions if more than a minimum of these post-war planning discussions can be absorbed."
+ — Kirkus 12:332 Ag 1 '44 150w

"Includes much excellent material for post-war planners. Recommended for college, university and large public libraries." H. F. McGaw
+ Library J 69:698 S 1 '44 130w

"Any disagreement with Senator Thomas must rest on a different view of human nature. If all politicians were of his stature, and if all citizens measured up to his belief in the common man, we should be ready to call a constituent assembly for a world state. Expecting less of man, it is possible to admire Senator Thomas more; but in the light of our recent experience it is difficult to be persuaded by even his faith that man obeys economic motives or may be appealed to effectively by reasonable arguments." E. W. Fox
+ — N Y Times p5 S 10 '44 1300w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 18 '45 350w

"The book is a notable one in many ways. It is written in a straightforward style calculated to appeal to the ordinary reader. It penetrates beyond the surface of current problems and exposes the principles, the prejudices and the passions that have to be reckoned with if the weight of public opinion is to be gathered to induce Congress to support an effective plan for a peaceful world. . . And finally, since it comes from a member of the Senate, its courage and candor, its absence of self-importance and pompousness, and its respect for facts, all suggest that that body may yet redeem itself and become an instrument of the aspirations of our people instead of a wrecker of its hopes." W. A. Neilson
+ Weekly Book Review p3 O 15 '44 1000w

THOMAS, GEORGE FINGER, ed. Vitality of the Christian tradition. 358p $3 Harper
270 Christianity. Civilization, Christian
44-2164

"Stating as clearly as possible the major insights and values of the Christian tradition, tracing their development from their beginnings in the Bible to the present day and dealing with some of the problems created by the wide-spread reaction against them in the modern world, the 12 contributors to this scholarly volume have as their deeper purpose the practical one of arousing thoughtful men and women to the dangers involved in the neglect of the Christian tradition in our American life, its art, literature, education and philosophy, as well as its business and politics. Adapted from the Preface." Bookmark

Booklist 40:350 Je 15 '44

"For the more intelligent general reader and the specialized student of religion."
+ Bookmark 5:3 Mr '44

"This symposium shows that liberal theology can absorb the valid insights of its critics and maintain a Christian faith that is not merely traditional but vital. The authors are teachers in our institutions of higher learning; and those pastors and parents who fear the irreligion of our colleges will do well to read the volume. . . In the historical sections careful scholarship is combined with a lively sense of the human appeal of great spiritual struggles. One can feel here the hand of the skilled teacher, keeping alive the interest of his student in material chronologically remote but still very close to the heart of life today." E. E. Aubrey
+ Christian Century 61:558 My 3 '44 850w

"Whoever was responsible for the origin of this book had an inspired moment. It was a brilliant idea, and it has been brilliantly carried out. . . Every minister, every teacher of religion, every churchman who wants to know what Christianity is all about, should possess a copy of this book." F. J. Moore
+ Churchman 158:21 Ap 15 '44 240w

"This is a volume which will be of especial interest to serious minded readers who are concerned about the wide-spread rejection of the Christian tradition in contemporary life, particularly in intellectual circles. The contributors are well known scholars, professors of philosophy and religion in well known educational institutions and these studies of the Christian tradition and its place in the modern world would be of particular interest to those who move in academic and other 'intellectual circles.' "
+ Kirkus 12:141 Mr 15 '44 150w
Library J 69:646 Ag '44 40w

THOMAS, NORMAN MATTOON. What is our destiny? 192p $2 Doubleday
940.5373 World war, 1939—U.S. Socialism
44-3812

"This book is Norman Thomas' analysis of the manner in which America can contribute to a future in which world democracy, economic and political, becomes a living reality. It is also an exercise in self-justification, shot through with phrases suggesting that Thomas was really right, and Mr. Roosevelt naturally wrong, in our pre-Pearl Harbor foreign policy. Thomas, as a veteran Socialist leader and critic of economic wrongs, ably applies his principles in discussing the stated idealisms of the war—the Atlantic Charter and Four Freedoms—and the compromises made in our French and Italian practices." Book Week

Reviewed by Willard Shelton
Book Week p7 Ap 16 '44 410w

Booklist 40:302 My 1 '44

Christian Science Monitor p12 My 6 '44 270w

"Mr. Norman Thomas adds his voice to the ever-increasing chorus (or is cacophony the word?) of articulated thought about the war and its crop of problems, and he has recorded it in a book, small in size, but 'packed with explosive issues.' Those who know Mr. Thomas will recall his never-failing ability to express moral indignation. The war and the passions aroused by it may have blunted the sensibilities of many who would otherwise share his feelings. Mr. Thomas must have been aware of this when he wrote his book, for he attacks his problems with the cold severity of an objective appraiser."
Commonweal 40:133 My 26 '44 2100w

Current Hist 6:513 Je '44 60w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:662 Jl '44 20w

"Not simply visionary, but persuasive crusading, backgrounded in distressingly convincing evidence, by a man devoted to peace."
+ Kirkus 12:57 F 1 '44 220w

Reviewed by Richard Match
New Repub 110:856 Je 26 '44 170w

"Since everything we know about Mr. Norman Thomas' background and performance demonstrates that he aspires to sow the long-term truth rather than reap immediate power, it deserves to be read with objectivity. 'Here,' a reviewer might say, 'is a man addressing posterity. His may well be the voice of the future.' It is all the sadder to record that the truth is seen as through a glass darkly and that the voice of the future, like that of the ancient oracles, speaks in no clear phrases. This criticism is not valid of Mr. Thomas' last two chapters, which concern domestic conditions in the United States." John MacCormac
— + N Y Times p3 Ap 9 '44 1000w

"I do not know of any other attempt to present a view of things from the Left which is at once so wide-ranging, so little sectarian, and so stubborn in its sincerity and candor. It . . . may really be read with profit. It will not provide you with any political certainties but it will compel you to recognize the problems, and it is full of sharp comment on matters which, of the deepest importance though they are, we have been tending to disregard: the abuse of civil liberties since we went into the war . . . and the essentially undemocratic character of the social institutions of the Soviet Union, where, it seems, under present arrangements, the disproportion in pay between officers and soldiers is greater than it is in the United States." Edmund Wilson

THOMAS, N. M.—Continued
+ New Yorker 20:77 Ap 15 '44 600w

"This frank book from the man who has been called the 'conscience of America' does credit to our tradition of free speech in war time." Frances Witherspoon
Weekly Book Review p16 Ap 16 '44 650w

Wis Lib Bul 40:85 Je '44

THOMAS, ROWAN T. Born in battle; round the world adventures of the 513th bombardment squadron. 367p il $3 Winston

940.544 U.S. Army air forces. 513th bombardment squadron. World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-4685

The adventures of the 513th bombardment squadron, as told by the young Mississippi lawyer who was a pilot captain in this heavy bomber division. Their experiences began in the Pacific, and included trips to India, Greece, North Africa, and finally Italy.

"The telling is simply done, and there wasn't much time—there is little enough, even, to keep a diary—for deep reflection on world affairs. Literary men might be inclined to pass up 'Born in Battle' on this account. But the reader won't who likes his air fights recounted in full and accurate detail." J. I. Greene
+ Book Week p4 Je 11 '44 320w

Kirkus 12:133 Mr 15 '44 190w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 Jl 16 '44 230w

"The story is a kind of microcosm of the war, at least the war in the air, and most of it is told with a surprising energy, freshness, and intelligence. . . There are a few small fly specks. Individuals mentioned are pretty well characterized and individualized but there are a good many of them and at times it gets a trifle hard to follow just who was where at what time. . . Still among war books this gets an A rating until someone can come along with a franker narrative." Fletcher Pratt
+ Sat R of Lit 27:19 Jl 1 '44 400w

"Despite an amateurish style and an ever-present touch of naivete the narrative is of interest, largely because of the straightforward account of aerial combat and partly because of the unconscious revelation of the transformation of a young Southern lawyer into a top-notch fighting aviator."
+ — Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 2 '44 250w

THOMAS, SIDNEY. Antic Hamlet and Richard III. (King's crown press bk) 92p pa $1.50 Columbia univ. press

822.33 Shakespeare, William—Hamlet. Shakespeare, William—Richard III 44-4778

"In this study Sidney Thomas points out illuminating relationships between the Hamlet of the 'wild and whirling words', the Hamlet of the 'feigned madness' and the mediaeval 'vices' or 'antics' whose characteristics are dissimulation, disguisings and what we now call double-talk. . . Mr. Thomas' study of the mediaeval 'antic' also throws new light on Richard III, that ultimate example of the 'vice dissimulation'." Theatre Arts

---

"Although this work may not interest the general public, there are many, aside from scholars, who will find this view of these important Shakespearean characters well worth consideration." Helen Lowe
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 6 '44 220w
Theatre Arts 28:440 Jl '44 150w

THOMPSON, DUNSTAN. Poems. 55p $2 Simon & Schuster

811 44-199

Poems about war, by a young American poet. "He is talking about his friends who have gone, or will go. He is talking about how lovely life was before life was broken up by khaki and navy blue. He is talking about nostalgia for things still very near and fresh. And everything he says is based upon that assumption of youth—that assumption which life so quickly disproves—the assumption that the great friendships, the deep, true loves so firmly cemented in youth will continue throughout life." (Commonweal)

"Here is a living, speaking voice of youth enmeshed in war. We have not had one before, this time. Last time, we had Rupert Brooke. Not that Dunstan Thompson is in any sense an imitator of Brooke, but rather that he is talking about much the same thing. . . Mr. Thompson merits our thanks for having given us one of the finest volumes of poetry to appear in many months."
+ Commonweal 39:376 Ja 28 '44 850w

"Dunstan Thompson's 'Poems' contain some very bad poetry, but what is important is that even at his worst Mr. Thompson writes poetry." H. P. Lazarus
— + Nation 158:519 Ap 29 '44 650w

Reviewed by Oscar Williams
New Repub 110:581 Ap 24 '44 330w

"Dunstan Thompson's first book of poems is a brilliant display of verbal fireworks. Some pages glitter like stardust. Some have the glow of dying embers. And some have nothing more than the glint of sparklers. For at his best Mr. Thompson is a poet of high talent, and at his worst he is a chanter entranced by the mere rhyming of words. There is a good deal of his best in this volume." Hal Borland
+ — N Y Times p14 Ja 23 '44 360w

"His poems scamper away with all prizes for virtuosity. He understands how to distort a sonnet, how to pepper up an ode, how to bring back outworn mythological figures, rigged out, as it were, in dominoes and ball gowns, when and where to drop the word of argot, how to manage some Elizabethan grandiloquence, how to compress in the manner of Hopkins or color up with Wallace Stevens affectations—he has it all at his finger ends. If he sometimes sounds like a schoolboy construing a knotty passage through gritted teeth . . . he can also turn a set of stanzas toward a convincing last line; his last lines are often excellent." Louise Bogan
+ — New Yorker 20:84 F 26 '44 360w

"Dunstan Thompson's poetry has lyrical and emotional sinews which prove a true maturity of style. He invests his main subject—the disparity between individual potentialities, dreams, desires, on the one hand, and reality on the other—with an immediateness and concision that are rare. Nearly every poem in the book is worth reading. The beauty of the imagery and the rhythmical qualities are apparent at once. But the meanings, which are considerably less transparent, require and reward rereading. . . Dunstan Thompson deserves the appellation poet. He has arrived at the point where his faults are integral and derive from his excellences, and that is a good place to be." Marian Castleman
+ Poetry 65:47 O '44 1000w

"As one would expect, its technical level is high. Even the slightest poems are models of construction, refined, polished, with never a loose end; and the workmanship of the longer pieces—'Largo,' for instance, and 'Images of Disaster' and 'Articles of War'—proves the author's mastery of all the tricks of the trade. And I use that shoddy phrase deliberately for, wishing to be convinced, reading and rereading with a full appreciation of and delight in the surface brilliances of these poems, I find myself surprised and disappointed, unable to sense any conviction beneath the surface." Dudley Fitts
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:25 Ap 29 '44 300w

"These are provocative pieces with a quality which immediately lifts them out of the realm of popular reading. Close examination, however, will indicate that they are studied poems, and not the kind merely dashed off to bulldoze gullible critics. . . Thompson is seldom if ever the cheerful or hopefully philosophic poet that the first World war knew. He appears to be a more artistic writer than Kilmer, Seeger and even Brooke, but he is also a more cynical one than they ever thought of being." A. M. Jakeman

+ Springf'd Republican p8 My 5 '44 160w

"Mr. Thompson gives the over-all impression of a young man self-consciously being a poet, writing to and for a very select number of other (mostly British) young poets. True, he is both clever and brilliant. . . He is inventive with verbs, expert in the use of internal rhyme, and employs difficult forms with a rare degree of excellence. But the daring image, the cleverly packed phrase, the jeweled metaphor nearly always obscure or defeat his meaning. Rhetoric has its uses, and also its obligations; pampered and uncontrolled, it may, like some matricidal monster, destroy the very poem that gave it birth." Ruth Lechlitner

— + Weekly Book Review p19 Ap 16 '44 400w

Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer
Yale R n s 34:343 winter '45 140w

THOMPSON, EDWARD JOHN. Making of the Indian princes. 304p il maps $7.50 (20s) Oxford

954 India—History. India—Kings and rulers 43-18422

"Using many unpublished documents, and the letters and secret reports of British officials, Mr. Thompson has written an extremely detailed analysis of the military and political activities of the British East India Company during the twenty-year period from 1799 to 1819." Weekly Book Review

"A great merit of this book is that it is written by a human being about human beings. . . But why must Mr. Thompson look so consistently at one side—the non-British side—of the medal? . . The Gurkha halo is not so bright, British policy is not so shady as Mr. Thompson says. All the same, this book is good scholarship and grand writing and a contribution of lasting value to our knowledge of a most important period of India's history." John Coatman

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 S 8 '43 250w

Reviewed by L. M. Schiff
New Statesman & Nation 26:126 Ag 21 '43 850w

"Here is the writing of history, accurate and impartial in every page. Edward Thompson, the author, is always a careful and conscientious compiler and his painstaking work is enriched by analysis of sources hitherto inaccessible. The elegance of his style is comparable with his meticulous honesty." John Stigall

+ Pacific Affairs 17:126 Mr '44 210w

Reviewed by L. F. Rushbrook Williams
Spec 171:197 Ag 27 '43 1100w

"The most pleasing features of this volume are the personal sketches in which it abounds. The leading company's servants come off very well. . . But the higher gentry, especially Wellesley, receive something less than justice. Wellesley's love of bombast, his despotic character, his obstinacy, his ruthless rebukes of those who ventured to oppose his decisions are set well in the foreground, while we hear little of his better qualities. His clearness of vision, his vigour of action, his zeal for improvement, pass almost unnoticed."

+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p418 Ag 28 '43 850w

"Mr. Thompson's book would be of far greater interest and value if he had included some discussion of the position of the Indian states today, inasmuch as the continued existence of these strongholds of medieval absolutism is clearly incompatible with the development of a democratic, federal government for India as a whole. In the absence of any such discussion, his study may seem to be of purely academic interest—a case history in the art of 'empire building.'" K. L. Mitchell

Weekly Book Review p14 Mr 12 '44 750w

THOMPSON, FRANK E. Diving, cutting and welding in underwater salvage operations. 214p il $2 Cornell maritime

656 Diving, Submarine. Welding. Salvage 44-47788

"The only thing of its kind in the field and definitely an addition to the welding and cutting information already published. The information on diving is confined to that used in salvage operations. The author is without question an expert and has been engaged in salvage operations at Pearl harbor and other naval stations." Booklist

Booklist 41:135 Ja 1 '45

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:607 Jl '44 20w

THOMPSON, LAWRANCE ROGER. Navy hunts the CGR 3070. 150p il $1.75 Doubleday

940.54516 Zaida (yacht). World war, 1939— Naval operations—Submarine. U.S. Coast guard 44-487

Epic of an ocean-going yacht turned into an auxiliary to the coast guard for patrol work against submarines in the Atlantic. The yacht Zaida, renamed and converted into the CGR 3070 was lost for twenty-one days in December 1942. This story of her valiant three weeks struggle is told by her lieutenant, who was not on board during the trip, but has based his book on the stories of the CGR 3070's crew who were.

Reviewed by W. H. Fetridge
Book Week p8 Mr 19 '44 360w

Booklist 40:191 F 1 '44

"A good story and a deserved tribute to the men." Austin Stevens

+ N Y Times p6 F 6 '44 700w

Springf'd Republican p7e F 13 '44 650w

Reviewed by Herbert Kupferberg
Weekly Book Review p23 Ja 23 '44 850w

THOMPSON, OSCAR, ed. See International cyclopedia of music and musicians

THOMPSON, WARREN SIMPSON. Plenty of people. (Science for war and peace ser) 246p il maps $2.50 Cattell

312.8 Population 44-4624

"Here in small compass are the essential, up-to-date facts regarding the population problem that faces this world of ours. The author is director of the Scripps Foundation for Research in Population Problems, who has written several books on this subject." Springf'd Republican

"This is a valuable discussion of the population problem by a leader in the field. It is neither an exhaustive nor a technical treatise. That the author produced in 1942 in his volume entitled 'Population Problems.' . . It is an attractive feature of this volume that it highlights the significance of population changes for human welfare." T. D. Dublin

+ Am J Pub Health 34:1193 N '44 450w

Reviewed by T. C. McCormick
Am J Soc 50:248 N 13 '44 240w

Reviewed by Willard Shelton
Book Week p9 My 21 '44 70w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 110w

"Here are many of the facts that should be known by each American citizen as he exercises his democratic privilege of participating in the planning of the strategy for peace. Here, too, are some very cogent suggestions concerning the ways in which men may harmonize their activities in accordance with the directives of nature."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:2 Ap '44 480w

THOMPSON, W. S.—Continued

"This is a very good little book and it deserves to be read by plenty of people, whether or not they have thought before about population problems." H. W. Beers

+ Social Forces 23:110 O '44 600w

" 'Plenty of People' is a book that should be read by all who are interested in the settlements which will follow the war, for the problems discussed in it are basic to the future of mankind." W. B. Kirkham

+ Springf'd Republican p4d My 7 '44 500w

THORNE, DIANA, and MORAN, CONNIE. Chips; the story of a cocker spaniel [il. by the authors]. [40p] $1.50 Winston

Dogs—Legends and stories 44-3606

Chips is a small puppy who wants a master. His brief escape from the pet shop is the preliminary to a happy home, with a small boy who needs a puppy. For ages five and six.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p11 Jl 30 '44 90w

Kirkus 12:169 Ap 1 '44 130w

"Mediocre material for the picture book age, illustrated by the authors in two colors, and certainly not up to Diana Thorne's usually fine work." Ethel Reiman

Library J 69:464 My 15 '44 70w

"The big eyes, floppy ears, recessive tail and lovely puppy awkwardness of Chips himself make pictures to which five-year-olds will be strongly attracted." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 2 '44 90w

THORNE-THOMSEN, MRS GUDRUN. Sky bed; a Norwegian Christmas; il. by Nedda Walker. 25p $1 Scribner

44-47608

Story about the traditional Christmas celebration in Norway. The grandmother's sky bed, brought down from the attic and repainted for the twins, brings dreams of the trolls. But the next day the Christmas celebration went on much as usual, except that the Yuleman could not bring many gifts on account of the war. For children seven to ten.

Reviewed by F. C. Darling

Christian Science Monitor p10 D 11 '44 60w

Reviewed by M. F. Cox

Library J 70:71 Ja 15 '45 70w

"This little sketch has more of the quality of fireside reminiscence than of a story proper as it rambles along, but it has a gentle glow of Christmas good-will and generosity." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p16 D 10 '44 100w

"The well-known Norwegian writer and story-teller has given us the very essence of the Northern Christmas in this story. It is shadowed by the war, but its spirit and tradition are as strong as ever. The Nissen still lives in the attic and the Yuleman will come again with his gifts when the war is over." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:35 D 9 '44 180w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 21 '45 50w

THORPE, MRS BERENICE (DU RAE). Reunion on Strawberry hill. 303p $2.50 Knopf

44-1340

On the forty-eighth anniversary of their parents' marriage the six grown-up Lengaards gather at Strawberry Hill. The problems of the six and their stepsister are complicated by a death and an accident before the reunion is over, but in the main this is a simple family chronicle.

Reviewed by Marion Strobel

Book Week p8 Mr 5 '44 400w

Booklist 40:236 Mr 1 '44

Bookmark 5:20 My '44

"The form of the novel particularly lends itself to contrivance and Mrs. Thorpe is not entirely proof against the temptation to tie things up a shade too neatly. In spite of this the book has a quality of genuineness. The style is at once earthily simple and poetic. Perhaps oddly, it is the poetry which seems natural; the simplicity which is sometimes rather labored." Margaret Wallace

+ N Y Times p3 Mr 5 '44 400w

"To Mrs. Thorpe I am grateful. With this her first novel, winner of the Alfred A. Knopf 1941 Fellowship in Fiction, she has made for herself a secure place in my gallery of authors, for not only has she written an extremely interesting novel, and a curiously ingratiatingly warm one, but she gave me a most pleasant surprise. And surprise followed by growing admiration is a happy combination." Struthers Burt

+ Sat R of Lit 27:16 F 26 '44 900w

" 'Reunion on Strawberry Hill' is a wise and warm novel which puts a premium on the wisdom of age and the recognition at any period of life of values that are true." F. H. Bullock

+ Weekly Book Review p6 F 20 '44 650w

Wis Lib Bul 40:56 Ap '44

THRIFT, CHARLES TINSLEY. Trail of the Florida circuit rider. ltd centennial ed 168p il maps $2 Fla. southern college press, 108 W. Poinsettia av, Lakeland, Fla.

287.6759 Methodist church in Florida

44-29973

"This little volume is intended primarily as a brief introduction to the nineteenth-century development of those groups now composing the Florida Conference of the Methodist Church." (Pref) The first Methodist preacher to enter Florida, officially, followed shortly after Andrew Jackson took charge of the territory when it was acquired from Spain in 1821. This study brings the history down to the present. Index.

"A slender volume, but a substantial and scholarly piece of historical writing based on careful research. . . The Florida Methodist conference was authorized on June 7, 1844, and met for the first time on February 6, 1845. A centennial celebration is therefore due. Dr. Thrift's sound study of early Florida Methodism, with briefer treatment of its later development, is a contribution to that celebration."

+ Christian Century 61:831 Jl 12 '44 150w

"In The Trail of the Florida Circuit Rider Mr. Thrift has given permanence and wide circulation to a thrilling and inspiring chapter in the records of significant Christian contributions to the culture of America." R. E. E. Harkness

+ Crozer Q 22:79 Ja '45 850w

THRUELSEN, RICHARD, and ARNOLD, ELLIOTT. Mediterranean sweep; air stories from El Alamein to Rome; il. by John Lavalle. 278p $3 Duell

940.544 World war, 1939—Aerial operations. World war, 1939—Mediterranean sea

44-51407

"More than fifty true stories of the human side of aerial warfare from El Alamein to the liberation of Rome . . . have been collected in this book at the instance of Lieut. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, commanding general of the Mediterranean Allied Air Forces. They range from mere wisps of anecdote to detailed, illuminating accounts of some of the major episodes of that long campaign. . . [It] is not devoted exclusively to the deeds of American or British fliers. There are tales of French pilots, like those who relentlessly bombed the airfields at Tunis even at the risk of killing their own families in near-by houses; of the South Africans and the Australians and the Yugoslavs and the Greeks. One of the best is of the adventures of the American flight nurses who were forced down in Yugoslavia and spent months with the Partisans before they were rescued." N Y Times

Book Week p6 D 10 '44 90w

Kirkus 12:543 D 1 '44 170w

"Crisply told and magnificently illustrated." F. S. Adams

+ N Y Times p6 N 19 '44 300w

"The authors know a good true adventure story when they hear one and, while this is scarcely the book that is waiting to be written about the aircraftsmen of this war, it is one of the best of the lot."

New Yorker 20:118 D 9 '44 70w

"Although we have had stories before about the plans to land airborne troops in Rome, and why the plans were called off at the last moment, this book presents the most detailed, the most gripping account of the whole abortive venture which this reviewer has read thus far." Beach Conger

+ Weekly Book Review p7 D 24 '44 600w

THURBER, JAMES. Great Quillow; il. by Doris Lee. 54p $2 Harcourt

44-8406

Fairy tale about the intelligent little toymaker, named Quillow, who outwits a troublesome giant and saves the lives of his townspeople.

"This is my favorite fairy story of the year." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p21 N 12 '44 180w

Booklist 41:95 N 15 '44

Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 40w

Cath World 160:279 D '44 20w

"This is a modern fairy tale and a good one. Pictures by Doris Lee are as fresh and spontaneous as the story." F. C. Darling

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 N 27 '44 80w

Horn Bk 20:482 N '44 60w

Horn Bk 20:469 N '44 350w

"A heartwarming story. . . This proves that Thurber as a spinner of fantasies is here to stay—that Many Moons was no flash in the pan."

+ Kirkus 12:449 O 1 '44 70w

Reviewed by P. D. Edie

Library J 69:866 O 15 '44 30w

"Excellent for the story hour. Recommended for boys and girls of eight to twelve years." A. H. McGinity

+ Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 70w

N Y Times p6 N 12 '44 70w

New Yorker 20:84 D 16 '44 90w

"It is the old folk-theme—as old as the Panchatantra—of intelligence and courage against brute force. Mr. Thurber has brought to it grace and humor and a phrasing that is an unending delight. The drawings are a delight, too. It is a book for everyone." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:29 N 11 '44 310w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 7 '45 110w

"I don't care whether the average child will like this book; no doubt he will; but it exists on its own merits and is not to be missed." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 N 12 '44 350w

TILLYARD, EUSTACE MANDEVILLE WETENHALL. The Elizabethan world picture. 108p $1.75 Macmillan [6s Chatto]

820.9 English literature—History and criticism. Cosmology 44-2030

"This short book introduces the general reader to the orthodox religio-cosmic background of Elizabethan thought. It attempts to clarify and systematize an exceedingly complicated subject: the great universal synthesis inherited from medieval scholasticism, built up through centuries from various elements of Christian, Classic and Eastern philosophy, science, religion, folklore, magic and superstition. The author coordinates material not before collected in one book—and seeks to show that the vast majority of Elizabethans, contrary to common opinion, accepted the medieval cosmos uncritically, that its ideas and symbolism were as much (perhaps more) responsible for stimulating the great age of English literature as were the rejuvenating effects of secular humanism." N Y Times

Reviewed by Frank Aydelotte

Am Hist R 50:112 O '44 440w

"The book will startle and beguile many. It is an urbane postscript to much recent inquiry, but it has fresh points of its own to make. In so short a volume not everything can be said. . . But good fare is offered nonetheless, in particular a garner of citations from the poets and essayists of the period which will seem to many a reader quite as absorbing as Dr. Tillyard's commentary." G. N. Shuster

+ — Atlantic 173:131 Ap '44 300w

Booklist 40:281 Ap 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 29 '44 500w

"Fine scholarship and interpretation—for study and reference."

+ Kirkus 12:93 F 15 '44 90w

"An informative and exciting book." H. P. Lazarus

+ Nation 158:601 My 20 '44 300w

Reviewed by Raymond Mortimer

New Statesman & Nation 25:310 My 8 '43 1000w

Reviewed by S. M. Nutt

N Y Times p18 Ap 2 '44 500w

New Yorker 20:88 F 26 '44 110w

Reviewed by H. J. C. Grierson

Spec 170:455 My 14 '43 1000w

"The book is illuminating not only in regard to Shakespeare and his contemporaries, but in regard to such later writers as Milton and Pope; and it offers interesting hints for background studies in the literature of any age. The author concludes that 'to us the Elizabethan is a very queer age,' but he goes on to suggest that if we examine our own minds closely we shall find some of that queerness. The book thus gives us a chance to consider to what extent we are still Elizabethan." H. E. Woodbridge

+ Springf'd Republican p10 Mr 24 '44 500w

Theatre Arts 28:440 Jl '44 150w

"Historians and critics have accustomed us to see medieval notions persisting into the Renaissance; and one Shakespearian at least has declared the 'spacious times' to have been times in which the mind of man was tightly hemmed in by moral and intellectual restraints. In a new and exciting book—no heavier in the writing than in its elegant war-time get-up—Dr. Tillyard carries the same idea so much farther as to make a new thing of it."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p205 My 1 '43 1300w

Reviewed by S. C. Chew

Weekly Book Review p18 My 21 '44 900w

TILTON, ALICE, pseud. See Taylor, P. A.

TIMM, JOHN ARREND. General chemistry. 692p il $3.75 McGraw

540 Chemistry 44-8347

"A readable textbook for beginning college students. It is also suitable for laymen who wish an introduction to chemistry. The main body of the book is devoted to general theories and inorganic chemistry, but three concentrated chapters on basic organic chemistry are included." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:41 Jl '44

"Though it is a text 'General Chemistry' is written in a vigorous and almost conversational style such as the author might have used in talking to his students. It can be recommended particularly to the person who wants to read on chemistry rather fully, and for whom the strictly popular works are not enough. Relations between electronics and chemistry are particularly well explained." James Stokley

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 14 '45 80w

TIREMAN, LOYD SPENCER. Baby Jack and Jumping Jack Rabbit; adapted by Evelyn Yrisarri; layout and il. by Ralph Douglass. (Mesaland ser) [47p] $1.25 Univ. of N.Mex. press
44-24564

"[The first of the] Mesaland Series of children's books, created by the University of New Mexico to tell children about animals and plants of the great Southwest. . . The hero is a baby jackrabbit who has an even smaller sister, and while the whole family is as personalized as a little child would see it, natural history is respected." Weekly Book Review

Booklist 40:360 Je 15 '44

+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 31 '44 70w

"I could almost hear a baby laughing as I read. The pictures are so lively they jump." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 19 '44 150w

TOBIN, CHESTER M. Turkey: key to the East. 170p maps $2 Putnam

949.6 Turkey—History 44-4400

In part history, in part personal observation of current affairs in Turkey, this book by an American long resident in Turkey, is an attempt "to portray to Americans the real Turks and their vibrant progressive nation" and to give "an accurate interpretation of Turkey's position" in international affairs.

Booklist 40:339 Je 1 '44

Current Hist 6:513 Je '44 80w

Foreign Affairs 23:15 O '44 10w

"An excellent 'primer' on Turkey."

+ Kirkus 12:194 Ap 15 '44 90w

"Like most writers who have long lived in the country whose story they tell, the author of this little primer is enamored of his subject. The book is an unabashed apologia for the nationalist Turkey of Kemal Ataturk and Ismet Inonu. . . On the whole, however, this is a useful introduction to modern Turkey."

New Repub 110:689 My 15 '44 150w

Reviewed by Emil Lengyel

N Y Times p10 My 14 '44 500w

"An international YMCA'er of many years' experience in the Near and Middle East, Mr. Tobin has done a stoutly opinionated portrait of 'the real Turks and their vibrant progressive nation.' The sons of Kemal Ataturk have managed their neutral affairs with such deftness and dignity, despite jogging Axis and Allied elbows, that they hardly seem to need an apologist. But Mr. Tobin apparently feels that the world of 1944 still carries over from the world of 1914 an unjust suspicion of 'the Terrible Turk.' To set the record straight, he has written this book, with unprofessorial gusto and an eye on what he calls 'historical realism.'" Frank Greeley

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:31 My 20 '44 750w

Scientific Bk Club R 15:4 My '44 120w

TOBIN, RICHARD LARDNER. Invasion journal. 223p $2 Dutton

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-8159

In April, 1944, the author was sent by the New York Herald Tribune to join the "invasion staff" in London. This journal is a detailed account of his experiences from the time his ship left the New York dock, on April —, 1944; thru his weeks in London; the invasion period; and until August 9th.

Booklist 41:75 N 1 '44

Christian Science Monitor p14 N 3 '44 220w

"There is throughout [much] human interest material—in somewhat the Ernie Pyle sense, but one does not feel that his grasp of the invasion as part of a larger campaign is an important factor in the book."

Kirkus 12:467 O 1 '44 170w

"Fairly interesting, but not too important. Very much a book of the moment." L. R. Etzkorn

Library J 69:812 O 1 '44 70w

"The bits of actual reporting are so superior to the speculation with which much of Mr. Tobin's book is filled that it is a pity there is not more of the one and less of the other." F. S. Adams

+ — N Y Times p10 O 8 '44 550w

"Most of Mr. Tobin's story is devoted to an elaborate and subjective rewrite of more or less recent news, interesting in spots and occasionally sententious as the dickens."

New Yorker 20:86 O 14 '44 90w

"Mr. Tobin's journal is not only excellent reading to supplement the exclusively military accounts of the invasion of France. He also sees clearly the importance in this war of the flying bomb and rocket, and insists on the growing significance of these weapons in future international relations. For this reason his book merits wide circulation among a people who forget readily the peril from a congenitally aggressor nation and from the self-propelled long-range projectiles that this nation has developed and is reported ready to use." Donald Armstrong

+ Sat R of Lit 27:50 O 14 '44 700w

"Mr Tobin, with his training, could not be a poor reporter if he tried. In London, war or no war, he retails the gossip at a poker game at 2 a. m., and the price of men's tweeds and the wages of a newspaper printer. And twice he is nearly hit by Hitler's secret weapon of the moment. Mr Tobin's account of his personal reaction to the dreadful robot bomb is one of the most vivid pieces to come out of that theater." G. W. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p8 O 13 '44 390w

"Mr. Tobin has managed to turn out a very human book about one segment of the war. Perhaps he didn't see or read much about actual fighting, for he concentrates on personalities from Churchill, whom he criticizes for going 'back to the Middle Ages in social planning', to the elderly colonel, whom he praises unstintedly for hitch-hiking with the first paratroopers to land in France. . . In his portraits Tobin is as sharp and clear as a good etcher. To observation and skill in portraiture there is added intensity of reaction to sights and sounds. Though 'Invasion Journal' has its faults, it is an illuminatingly personalized account of war and those who wage it." P. J. Searles

+ — Weekly Book Review p4 O 8 '44 850w

Wis Lib Bul 40:160 D '44

TODD, ANN, pseud. See Bernstein, A. R. E.

TODD, HELEN. Roots of the tree. 258p $2.50 Houghton
44-8100

Thoughtful study of a German scholar, who loved Germany but not the Nazis. He accepted a professorship in a midwestern American college, bought a house with a great oak tree in front as symbol of the tree of life, had a mild love affair which ended in disappointment, and was an influence for good in the lives of his two favorite students. The novel traces the course of Eysen's emotional changes up to the time of Dunkirk.

"In the hands of a mediocre writer this fragment of a story wouldn't have made a novel. In the hands of Helen Todd it becomes a very satisfying book. Her strength is the psychological detail, the ever-changing nuances in the relations of two or three people." R. R. Plant

+ Book Week p3 O 1 '44 650w

Booklist 41:59 O 15 '44

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt

Commonweal 41:44 O 27 '44 210w

"Portrait of a German, and an artist, which is a consistent and well developed study of conscience, though secondarily only a novel. . . Good writing, careful characterization, if without strong popular attraction."

+ — Kirkus 12:307 Jl 15 '44 150w

"The second half is sadly inferior to the first. But the early pages are so fine, so remarkably perceptive that one is inclined to forgive what is poor and forced and insist that it is a book not to be missed." J. H. Preston
+ — New Repub 111:572 O 30 '44 450w

"A soberly written, thoughtful novel which touches with perceptiveness on such portentous problems as the responsibility of the German people for Hitlerism, the reasons why this is 'our war,' and the not unrelated question of 'party line thinking'—the peculiar intellectual disease of this generation." C. J. Rolo
+ N Y Times p4 S 24 '44 500w

"Miss Todd's essentially sober style, accented by a gift for phrase-making and high-lighted by glints of humor, reminds one of the work of young Willa Cather. The book's one flaw is the introduction of an abortive romance for Eysen. Obviously the purpose is to give a pattern of normality to the psychology of the central figure. But it is under-developed and has a curiously inept, half-hearted air about it. The theme of regeneration on the intellectual level is a difficult one. Miss Todd has handled it with sensitive skill." James Gray
+ Weekly Book Review p8 O 1 '44 700w

TODRIN, BORIS. At the gates; a book of poems. 84p $2 Press of James A. Decker
811 44-36645

A volume of poems by a young American poet of Russian-Jewish antecedents. The book contains a group of short poems, two longer narrative poems, Calais, and At the gates, and a verse play, Attack at Teruel.

Reviewed by Thomas Howells
Poetry 65:160 D '44 750w

"The most interesting and significant work in the book is its concluding one-act verse play, 'Attack at Teruel.' . . It is a good poem-play, tense but flexibly paced; and good because it recalls today those men who died in Spain in 1938 for a cause and a victory that only now can be hopefully predicted." Ruth Lechlitner
+ Weekly Book Reveiw p10 Jl 23 '44 300w

TODRIN, BORIS. Out of these roots. 373p $3 Caxton printers
44-8368

East New York is the scene of this first novel. It is the portrait of a young American of Russian-Jewish descent. Nicky grows from boyhood to manhood in East New York; has a tragic love affair; is befriended by a famous poet, and has a small measure of success.

"Todrin is a writer of serious intent and his novel is one built on a rather ambitious framework. There are sections written with skill and even a measure of power. But Nick is too 'sicklied o'er with the pale cast of thought' —too high in the rare altitudes of poesy—to give the work the strength and significance latent in its material." John Norcross
+ — Book Week p2 O 1 '44 270w

"Seldom, if ever, have I read a novel which caught so vividly the pattern of life in an intellectual Jewish family transplanted from Southern Russia to New York. . . This story throbs with life. Few stories of the polyglot world of Brooklyn have had anything like as much success in recreating a neighborhood as Mr. Todrin has achieved in making East New York, and its contiguous areas, come true in the mind's eye. It has body and zest and humor and more than a little wisdom. Himself a poet, with five books of verse to his credit, he has brought to his work a sense of form I should call unusual in a man of his craft. It has faults, of course, but they can be overlooked in the sum of its merits." A. D. H. Smith
+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 O 7 '44 600w
Springf'd Republican p4d N 12 '44 270w

"Mr. Todrin is often poetic, and now and then he writes with a savage humor. You feel that he knows all about these people, and loves them enough to laugh at them occasionally. He is a writer of definite, if undisciplined, talents." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p6 S 24 '44 600w

TOKAY, ELBERT. Fundamentals of physiology; the human body: its functions and structure. (New home lib) 336p 69c Garden City pub. co.
612 Physiology 44-3466

"[This book] aims to give the reader a clear picture of the structure of the body and a clear understanding of the way in which the various bodily systems and organs work. . . Emphasis is placed on the normal physiology of the average individual." (Pref) Index.

Booklist 40:320 My 15 '44
Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 110w

TOLSON, MELVIN B. Rendezvous with America. 121p $2 Dodd
811 44-7183

Collection of short poems by an American Negro poet.

Book Week p15 N 19 '44 150w

"Here is vigor of thought with intensity of emotion but without violence; a tragic sense of life redeemed from despair and restrained from bitterness by breadth of sympathy and an unshaken faith in democracy. This is poetry which at once unveils some of the 'problems' of our society and gives magnificent expression to the spirit of America as men of vision dare to hope that it really is."
+ Christian Century 61:1078 S 20 '44 150w

"Occasionally Mr. Tolson indulges in abstractions and preachments, but with restraint. His versification is unusually deft, especially in his handling of the short line. But no skill can redeem the incorrigible one-stress line, and his 'A Song of Myself' must remain a tour de force. On the whole, 'Rendezvous With America' is an admirable collection." Robert Hillyer
+ — N Y Times p29 D 10 '44 140w

TOMASEVICH, JOZO. International agreements on conservation of marine resources; with special reference to the north Pacific. 297p il maps $3 Food research inst.
639.2 Fishery law and legislation 43-10596

"This work deals mainly with the problems of cooperation between the United States and Canada in the matter of the conservation of fur seals, halibut and sockeye salmon in the North Pacific. As stated by the author, 'The aim of this work is, first, to point out what questions of a general character are involved in international attempts at conservation of marine resources, and second, on the basis of experience with a few specific international conservation agreements, to show how international cooperation in conservation can be made effective and what can be achieved if this policy is carried out according to scientific requirements.' " (Pacific Affairs) Index.

Reviewed by R. S. McCordock
Am Pol Sci R 37:759 Ag '43 300w

"To the reviewer the book appears rather expensive in relation to the value of the contents, either for the general reader or for the scholar who will have access to the major contributions in the field. For the former, a short booklet giving a summary of data, bibliography, and reading list would serve the purpose." H. E. Gregory
Ann Am Acad 234:136 Jl '44 410w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:7 Ja '44 20w

"Dr. Tomasevich's book is a valuable supplement to S. S. Hayden's 'The International Protection of Wild Life' (1942), which also presents the approach of the social scientist but omits international fisheries, despite the comprehensiveness of the title. . . The discussion is painstakingly detailed and well documented, providing numerous enticing leads into the literature of fish conservation. Occasional expansions of economic theory as applied to conservation constitute a welcome addition to an inadequately developed phase of the subject." J. R. Whitaker

TOMASEVICH, JOZO—Continued

+ Geog R 34:343 Ap '44 450w

"The reviewer found the book very interesting reading, full of fresh ideas, and of careful exposition of complicated relations." Quincy Wright

+ J Pol Econ 52:171 Je '44 800w

Reviewed by W. A. Carrothers
Pacific Affairs 16:506 D '43 500w

TOMKINS, SILVAN SOLOMON, ed. Contemporary psychopathology; a source book; with an introd. by Henry A. Murray; contributors: Henry A. Murray [and others]. 600p $5 Harvard univ. press

132 Psychology, Pathological A43-2894

"Dr. Tomkins has gathered forty-five papers recently published in journals of psychology, psychiatry, psychoanalysis, and psychosomatic medicine and has arranged them to form a source book for courses in abnormal psychology. The range of research efforts in this field is too great to allow adequate representation of all points of view, and the editor took the legitimate step of representing a few rather restricted approaches and subjects which relate to his background and interests. Within these limits he presents a stimulating series of studies, many of which take new or partly new directions. The emphasis is on recent materials and some of the most adventurous inquiries, and the undergraduate can scarcely fail to be fascinated." (Am J Soc) Index.

"It is no reflection on this work that sociological and anthropological material is entirely omitted and that, within the fields represented, there is further arbitrary and systematic selection of points of view. But, for students who want to know other materials or who do not wish to be confined within limited schools of thought, the omitted contributions should be somehow made available." R. E. L. Faris

+ Am J Soc 50:78 Jl '44 600w

"These selections are at times too psychoanalytic—too physiological on schizophrenia. . . Contains excellent descriptive material on children giving good insights into the techniques used, a valuable collection on experimental psychology, and some stimulating theoretical papers. Emphasis on process makes the book interesting for the non-specialist."

+ — Am Soc R 9:344 Je '44 50w

Reviewed by E. R. Groves
Social Forces 23:217 D '44 100w

TORREY, MARJORIE, pseud. See Chanslor, T.

TORREY, VOLTA. You and your Congress. 280p $3 Morrow

328.73 U.S. Congress. Politics, Practical 44-1229

Criticism of American methods of electing congressmen and suggestions for their reform. The book is in four parts: Some arithmetic of politics; Some tactics of politics; Four stars of politics; How you should play politics.

Reviewed by Willard Shelton
Book Week p9 Mr 5 '44 500w

Booklist 40:246 Mr 15 '44

"It is safe to predict that his book will become a handbook for women's clubs and college classes who want to know, in this important election year, who is making their laws and why. It may even contribute directly to the defeat of some men whom the author does not hesitate to call 'nitwits' and 'dunderheads.'" M. H.

Christian Science Monitor p14 Mr 4 '44 500w

Current Hist 6:355 Ap '44 100w

Kirkus 12:14 Ja 1 '44 210w

"Of current interest especially to public libraries." F. L. D. Goodrich

Library J 69:159 F 15 '44 100w

Reviewed by Victor Riesel
Nation 159:332 S 16 '44 400w

"Mr. Torrey has written a sprightly, documented, conscientious handbook that is aimed primarily at the election just ahead. His book should be a godsend to study clubs." R. L. Strout

+ New Repub 110:388 Mr 20 '44 600w

"The coming election will be critical for this country and every voter ought to read this book, even though it suffers horribly from the shortcomings of all simplifications of complex problems. Despite its expressed hopes for the correction of abuses, the book leaves me with the uncomfortable impression that we ought to junk Congress and turn the country over to F. D. R. and the bureaucrats—an impression, I know, Mr. Torrey would be the first to deplore. But that is the effect of super-simplifications." G. H. E. Smith

N Y Times p19 Mr 5 '44 500w

"This book is a good piece of work, worth writing and worth reading: but one may finish it with the suspicion that Mr Torrey hasn't faced all the ultimate implications." Marshall Bragdon

Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 11 '44 550w

"His arguments make good reading and will be completely convincing to those who agree with him as to what kind of a Congress America should have. They will be completely unconvincing to persons who hold opposing views. For the opponents will be able to say, with justification from the book itself, that the catch in Mr. Torrey's 'propaganda' is this: If all the changes he advocates were made, if all the varied eligibles he designates should turn out and vote, if the Congress thus became 'truly representative' and if it yet contained men with the views Mr. Torrey deplores, then it's probable that Mr. Torrey wouldn't like it any better than he does now." Bert Andrews

Weekly Book Review p2 Mr 5 '44 1000w

TOSEVIC, DIMITRI J. Not Nazis but Germans. 306p il $4.50 Humphries

940.531 World war, 1939—Causes. World war, 1939—Germany. Germany—Politics and government. National characteristics, German [45-1354]

"The question of the day [is]: 'Are there any good Germans who can be separated from the bad, bad Nazis?'. . This theme is the one developed by Tosevic, a Yugoslav writer and journalist residing in Canada at present, who goes over the historical background of the German Empire and who shows, although in a sketchy manner, how and why these German people have become what they now are—a menace to the world and a curse to themselves. Not only Hitler but the entire German race stands indicted—not Nazis but Germans." Ann Am Acad

---

"What Tosevic writes is not new at all, and, furthermore, his facts have appeared in numerous other studies. But as a result the book has great value, not for the reason that he tells us nothing new, but because he possesses an amiable style and a desired knack of holding his reader's attention with his unusual ability to convey emotion with sincerity. Of course there will be those who will object to Tosevic's thesis, and who will point out his controversial and even belligerent spirit; but these people should remember that Tosevic expresses the opinion of all non-German Europeans whose convictions are based on their experiences with these 'good Germans dressed up as Nazis.'" J. S. Roucek

+ — Ann Am Acad 236:175 N '44 360w

Foreign Affairs 23:11 O '44 20w

TOUSEY, SANFORD. Little Bear's pinto pony; pictures by [the author]. 32p $1 Whitman, A. 43-15765

Story of the friendship of two boys, one an American, the other an Indian. The latter had run away from the reservation because his father was being mistreated. The boys were able to teach each other a good deal before the difficulties were cleared up and Little Bear returned to the reservation. For fourth and fifth grade readers.

"Boys in elementary school will particularly enjoy story and bright pictures. Can be used with slow readers in the junior high school. Recommended." H. M. Clark
+ Library J 69:34 Ja 1 '44 90w

"This is a fine story of western life." M. K. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p7e F 27 '44 110w

"Somewhat artificial in its plot, but with its bright pictures and simple text will attract boy readers of 4th grade and up."
Wis Lib Bul 40:57 Ap '44

TOUSEY, SANFORD. Trouble in the gulch; pictures by [the author]. 32p $1.25 Whitman, A.
44-5430

Story of two boys, one white and one an Indian, on a Western ranch. They help an old prospector pan gold, and save his life when a double-crossing former partner tries to rob the old man.

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 D 11 '44 60w

"Tousey somehow manages to appeal to the 'comics' audience with stories that have plenty of action, and more authentic feel. Try this as a book to wean a youngster who wants that sort of thing in a might-be-true western."
Kirkus 12:277 Je 15 '44 140w

Reviewed by B. W. Bell
Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 50w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p23 Jl 23 '44 150w

"Mr Tousey's attempt to write a good story of the real West falls far short of its mark." M. K. B.
— Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 80w

TOYNBEE, PHILIP. Barricades. 284p $2.50 Doubleday [8s 6d Putnam]
44-7489

"Michael Rawlins, an erratic, English schoolmaster, after years of submission to the conventional life, sets out to be an adventurer and spends a fantastic four-month interlude in the attempt. A pupil of his, David Markham, runs away from school, seeks Rawlins' help to get to Spain, and is urged not to die for a hopeless cause. He nevertheless enlists in the International Brigade, is sidetracked by a demoralizing love affair, but eventually takes his place on the barricades." N Y Times

"Just what is a novel for? To give the reader vicarious experiences? It can do this only if the characters are 'real.' In 'The Barricades,' they are little more than stereotyped attitudes and points of view, with appendages to which highball glasses and cigarettes can be attached. . . In spite of all this, there is a kind of fascination about the fragments, aspects and glimpses presented in 'The Barricades.'" Wendell Johnson
— + Book Week p7 S 3 '44 450w

"Mr. Toynbee perhaps is a young man and of course he sought to show how decadent his countrymen must have been before the awakening of the war. Mr. Toynbee is a serious, young (?) man and in this book he desired fervently to be a moralist. That is a hard thing to be and one always risks getting lost in the detail of the hated immorality one condemns. This book is a failure, yet I shall read the next book Mr. Toynbee writes." C. G. Paulding
— + Commonweal 40:521 S 15 '44 700w

"Irony and somewhat cruel comedy is the base for a novel of English bohemia of the late thirties, with sharp writing and caricature offsetting the ultimate sterility of the book and its characters."
Kirkus 12:303 Jl 15 '44 190w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 159:443 O 14 '44 120w

Reviewed by George Mayberry
New Repub 111:313 S 11 '44 360w

"Mr. Toynbee is an intellectual: supple minded, sensitive, witty, brilliant—too brilliant, one might say, for all his characters except the schoolboy, who is admirably drawn. The end of the novel is rather lame. Mr. Toynbee is too clever for the other people, and the fact is that Rawlins is not the man to bring out their real story. He is too convenient a projection of the author and does not—perhaps dare not—give the other characters a chance. They are impressions, not protagonists." V. S. Pritchett
— + New Statesman & Nation 26:404 D 18 '43 1000w

"An unusual, sometimes brilliant, yet in several ways unsatisfying, novel. . . Its not inconsiderable merit rests chiefly in the writing. At his best, Toynbee writes with sureness, a keen sense of irony, and a flair for terse description. He is on his way to possessing an accomplished and distinctive style." C. J. Rolo
+ — N Y Times p5 Ag 20 '44 400w

"'The Barricades' is a clever novel: its only serious fault is that Mr. Toynbee has chosen for his chief character Michael Rawlins, an ex-school-master in his late thirties who never betrays in a single thought or action, more than some twenty-two years. Many of this novel's finest scenes are spoiled for me because throughout the story we are compelled to contemplate Rawlins as, with nervous curiosity, he watches his own rancid adolescence melt heavily to a languid and protracted end." R. E. Roberts
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:14 O 21 '44 750w

"Mr. Toynbee's novel belongs to the kind that must either be first-rate or else thrown in the waste-paper basket. The Barricades is not first-rate; and in so far as it is 'smart,' which is always a fairly awkward thing to be in letters, it sports, alas, the smartness of yesterday, or the day before even—the surest way of all of being dowdy." Kate O'Brien
— Spec 171:604 D 24 '43 340w

"This, though potentially a fruitful comic theme, is related in a too slack and inconsequent fashion. There are interesting passages in the book. . . And some of the snatches of talk do justice, no doubt, to the state of mind of young or youngish people in the 1930's, who felt themselves politically frustrated or without faith. But the author has little imaginative grip of his material and relies far too much upon a mere assumption of irony."
— + Times [London] Lit Sup p17 Ja 8 '44 300w

"Philip Toynbee has written a fascinating novel which fits into none of the handy categories. It has a sort of baffling brilliance. Its logic is so balanced, and its varied points of view so persuasively discussed, that you are not quite certain as to your destination—or whether the novelist intended that you should arrive at one. All that you can be certain of, without reservation, is that it has been a stimulating trip." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 27 '44 300w

TREANOR, THOMAS COGHILL. One damn thing after another; the adventures of an innocent man trapped between public relations and the Axis. 294p il $2.50 Doubleday 940.5496 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Humor, caricatures, etc.

44-6781

A young correspondent from the Los Angeles Times, describes in light-hearted prose his experiences of twenty-one months at the various war fronts: North Africa, India, China, Sicily and Italy.

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p3 Ag 13 '44 450w

"Wide variety of incidents and intelligence, fresh viewpoint, often diverting, sometimes serious—and good reading."
+ Kirkus 12:268 Je 15 '44 190w

TREANOR, T. C.—Continued

"Tom Treanor, after almost two years of writing about the war, remains innocent, in the sense that he has acquired no professional veneer, none of the facile toughness or sentimentality that marks most of the war-correspondent books. Except for what he learned at first hand, he professes a cheerful ignorance of international policy, strategy and even tactics. . . We could use more reporters of Mr. Treanor's caliber; his caliber is, admittedly, small and he has the great virtue of not taking himself too seriously." Russell Maloney
+ N Y Times p4 Ag 6 '44 600w

"Much of [the book] is the cheerful yarning of an engaging man telling his friends about his trip. But every now and then he hauls off and writes and when he does you wonder why the Los Angeles Times would not pay for cabling." Kendall Foss
+ Sat R of Lit 27:25 Ag 12 '44 700w

"The young correspondent of the Los Angeles Times discloses both a knack for being places where things happen and a talent for writing about them so that the reader seems to be an actual participant." R. N. Fuller
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 6 '44 330w
Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 6 '44 120w

TREASURY of modern best sellers, abr. in the authors' own words, by the editors of Omnibook; with an introd. by Orville Prescott. 620p $3.50 Simon & Schuster

810.8 American literature—Collections 44-1598

Contents: The Human comedy, by William Saroyan; One World, by W. L. Willkie; Kings Row, by Henry Bellamann; Thirty Seconds over Tokyo, by T. W. Lawson; Junior Miss, by Sally Benson; Dragon's Teeth, by Upton Sinclair; God is My Co-pilot, by R. L. Scott; Centennial Summer, by A. E. Idell; Between the Thunder and the Sun, by Vincent Sheean; Mr and Mrs Cugat, by I. S. Rorick.

Reviewed by Russell Maloney
Book Week p3 Mr 5 '44 320w

Reviewed by Richard Match
N Y Times p27 My 28 '44 270w

TREAT, LAWRENCE, pseud. See Goldstone, L. A.

TREGASKIS, RICHARD WILLIAM. Invasion diary. 245p il $2.75 Random house

940.542 World war, 1939—Sicily. World war, 1939—Italy. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-6956

Account of the invasion of Sicily and southern Italy by the author of Guadalcanal Diary (Book Review Digest, 1943). The author, who received a head wound in November, devotes his final chapter to his experiences as a casualty. Index.

Reviewed by Cecil Brown
Book Week p1 Ag 20 '44 1200w
Booklist 41:17 S '44

"The most fascinating passages are those which concern the experiences of troops in front-line observation posts whom he and other correspondents accompanied. The language of the soldiers is vigorous and the description a bit shocking here and there, but the whole is valuable because it is an honest picture of American troops, under fire and firing, and consequently revealing."
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 S 6 '44 150w

"A blow-by-blow account of the fighting in Sicily and Southern Italy by a correspondent who gets all the sights, sounds, and smells into his writing. His close contact with the soldiers and his accounts of them give his books something of Pyle's personal appeal."
+ Horn Bk 20:498 N '44 40w
Kirkus 12:266 Je 15 '44 300w

"These notes of his experiences form a book which ranks in the same top class with Ingersoll's The Battle Is The Pay-Off, and is required reading for all who want to know how armies fight." H. G. Kelley
+ Library J 69:650 Ag '44 90w

"An excellent source book on the Italian campaign."
+ New Repub 111:382 S 25 '44 130w

"The author has maintained a nice balance of the individual achievements of small groups of fighting men, which is the front-line, and an over-all picture of the general plans and progress of the campaign. The arrangement of the material, although in diary form, builds up to a sort of climax at the point where Tregaskis is wounded. Thus the book has some of the suspense and unity of effect of fiction." N. K. Burger
+ N Y Times p7 Ag 20 '44 700w

"Mr. Tregaskis, in this account of the Italian invasion, has turned in a job on a par with his 'Guadalcanal Diary,' one of the better war books, but much that he reports, so immediate and exciting at the time it was happening, already has taken on some of the mustiness of last year's headlines. Those who haven't yet caught up with those headlines, though, or who want to know more about what lay behind them, can hardly do better than to read Mr. Tregaskis's book."
+ — New Yorker 20:63 Ag 26 '44 140w

Reviewed by Donald Armstrong
Sat R of Lit 27:8 Ag 19 '44 600w

"The last portion of the book is particularly fascinating because of the author's description of the effects of his head wound, such as any G. I. Joe might suffer. . . As a case history, he fulfills an invaluable function as a most literate and sensitive patient who is able to set down his reactions to brain injury and shock, to describe his groping for words and phrases, and his final recovery." Beach Conger
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ag 20 '44 700w

TREND, JOHN BRANDE. Civilization of Spain. (Home univ. lib.) 224p il maps $1.25 (3s) Oxford

946 Spain—Civilization 44-6002

A brief history of Spain from its discovery to the end of the Civil war.

"This book is a little gem." C. H.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 My 19 '44 280w

"The Spanish student will hardly know what to praise most about Mr. Trend's concentrated essay. That its author is master of his theme needs no saying. The lucidity, the unobstructed, almost colloquial, ease of his style permits the effortless carrying of a great quantity of fact." Ralph Bates
+ New Repub 111:630 N 13 '44 480w

"I can think of no better brief introduction to the story of Spanish civilisation than this little book, which is no more than 200 pages long. It is extremely readable. Although compressed, it does not skip what ought not to be skipped, nor does it distort. It confines itself to the implications of politics. In each period from the earliest days Professor Trend concentrates on the deposit of history rather than the making of it, the thought of the time, the achievement and the failures." V. S. Pritchett
+ New Statesman & Nation 27:408 Je 17 '44 1050w

"It is not easy to write a short history of a country whose records go back, like those of Spain, well over two thousand years. Either the author will tend to pack his book with facts, which will make it tedious, or he will deal in the commonplaces and generalities that can be drawn from the standard histories. Professor Trend has avoided both these tendencies. His book is extremely readable, it offers many new and suggestive ideas and it contains the results of the very latest research, which hitherto have been accessible only to specialists. Then—another immense merit—he does not write in the jargon of the professional historian, but like a man of letters who has lived many years in the country and is soaked in its music and literature. When he is describing a régime or an institution, he makes one see what it really was and how it worked." Gerald Brenan

+ Spec 172:409 My 5 '44 900w

"Professor Trend is successful in condensing over 2,000 years of Spanish history into 200 pages without sacrificing lucidity or continuity, which in itself is no mean achievement. Some of his judgments have the classic concision of a Castilian proverb."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p254 My 27 '44 700w

TRENT, ROBBIE. Susan; il. by Esther Waite. 152p $2 Viking

44-9333

Susan was an imaginative small girl who lived on a Kentucky farm some fifty years ago. A crisis came in Susan's life the day her stern school teacher refused to believe that Susan had written a composition, but when cross Miss Angie resigned and a new and more understanding teacher took her place, Susan found school could be a pleasant place.

"Susan is another nice girl to add to one's book friends. She has imagination and she loves books. Esther Waite's pictures make you want to know her."

+ Horn Bk 20:483 N '44 60w

Kirkus 12:403 S 1 '44 130w

"With simplicity of style author tells her story of a delightfully real little girl of fifty years ago who lived on a farm in Kentucky." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 70:72 Ja 15 '45 70w

"Author has attempted to write an appealing story, but the result lacks naturalness and spontaneity. Quality of writing varies; only now and then does story come alive. Portrayal of Susan's teachers, one very understanding, the other almost malicious, would not have a wholesome effect upon a child. Not recommended." J. E. Lynch

— + Library J 70:72 Ja 15 '45 70w

"The only trouble with Susan is that there is not enough of her. This little Kentucky country girl of fifty years ago is, to use her favorite adverb, so 'dee-cid-ed-ly' nice that we want to follow her further on her individualistic path." E. L. Buell

+ N Y Times p16 Ja 28 '45 120w

"Little girls will like this story."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:32 N 11 '44 40w

"No doubt these chapters have already been read aloud to children, for each has the right length and the right dramatic curve, and Miss Trent is a librarian. They will be just as well for family listeners and little girls past that stage will find them easy reading, for they introduce a real little girl. And I hope older people read Susan's composition, 'The Pink Dress.'" M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 7 '45 330w

TREVIRANUS, GOTTFRIED REINHOLD. Revolutions in Russia; their lessons for the western world. 303p il maps $3 Harper

947.084 Russia—History. Russia—History—Revolution, 1917-. Revolutions 44-4397

A survey of the course of Russian history during the last hundred years, by a former member of the German Reichstag, now a resident in the United States. Bibliographical notes. Index.

"Not the least of the virtues of this volume lies in the fact that it fills a currently much felt need for a layman's outline history of the Russian revolution. Other authors have attempted to supply such a need; but none has done it so ably in so brief a compass or so honestly and dispassionately." A. J. Zurcher

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1227 D '44 850w

Reviewed by S. R. Tompkins

Ann Am Acad 236:179 N '44 600w

Booklist 40:388 Jl 15 '44

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 160:277 D '44 450w

"This brief history of modern Russia is more notable as a sound summary of the leading political events of the past hundred years than as a brilliant new interpretation of the whole period. The author does well to stress the importance of the 1905 outbreak and of the Saint Petersburg Soviet of that day, for he demonstrates convincingly the formative influence of those experiences on the revolution of a dozen years later." Edward Skillin, Jr.

Commonweal 40:115 My 19 '44 420w

Current Hist 6:515 Je '44 100w

"For less popular usage than Duranty's U.S.S.R., this is a concentrated, studious history of the Russian revolutions of this century, non-partisan, analytical, if lacking in human values."

+ Kirkus 12:213 My 1 '44 110w

"Wide generalizations and inconsistencies of opinion discolor what might otherwise be a convincing account. The author seems puzzled to think that anyone in a nation of 160,000,000 'serfs' would fight to maintain the Soviet system but dismisses the Russian soldier's ability and loyalty as part of his innate mysticism. Librarians should read before buying." Rice Estes

Library J 69:203 Mr 1 '44 80w

"The first six of his ten chapters are particularly valuable as a lively and accurate narrative of the decay of autocracy, the impotence of the nobility, the dilemma of the bourgeoisie, the misery and land hunger of the peasantry and the revolutionary ardor of the proletariat through two decades of storm and strife. . . Treviranus' later chapters are less illuminating." F. L. Schuman

+ — N Y Times p8 Je 11 '44 900w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 26 '44 850w

Reviewed by E. J. Simmons

Survey G 33:466 N '44 140w

Wis Lib Bul 40:129 O '44

TREWARTHA, GLENN THOMAS. Introduction to weather and climate. 2d ed 545p il maps $4 McGraw

551.5 Climatology. Weather 43-15001

"Much of the book has been rewritten and expanded to include advances in the science since the earlier edition [See Book Review Digest, 1938]. New topics have been introduced, and a chapter on the origin and modifications of air masses and atmospheric fronts has been added. The scheme of climatic classification has been revised and a new map of world climates included. About 100 additional illustrations are given." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:149 D 15 '43

N Y New Tech Bks 29:9 Ja '44

Reviewed by James Stokley

Weekly Book Review p45 N 14 '43 70w

TRILLING, MABEL BARBARA, and WILLIAMS, FLORENCE. You and your money. 371p il $1.80 Lippincott

339.47 Consumer education 44-5054

"This is a text and reference book intended for secondary school pupils beginning their study of consumer problems. It is interestingly illustrated, contains many useful teaching aids, and is carefully indexed." Social Studies

"The book is simply written but may at times prove dull to high school students. The selection of materials for study is varied and suitable for both boys and girls. All in all, You and Your Money is a splendid book to put into the hands of a student ready to delve into the mysteries of buying." B. L. Nelson

+ — J Home Econ 36:523 O '44 150w

Social Studies 35:288 O '44 30w

"I am fearful that the text might lead many to be overly cautious in buying. Some of the intricate ways suggested by the authors of examining certain commodities before making purchases would lead to misunderstanding be-

TRILLING, M. B.—Continued
tween retail buyers and sellers and in a great many situations are not practical. One might easily become prejudiced and develop a mistrust from anyone retailing consumer material from certain suggestions made by this text. An intelligent teacher should be on his guard and add another objective, the development of good will between buyer and seller." J. B. Shore

Social Studies 36:42 Ja '45 550w

TRUAX, RHODA (MRS R. H. ALDRICH). Joseph Lister, father of modern surgery. 287p il $3.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Lister, Joseph SG44-274

Biography of the famous English surgeon, the originator of the antiseptic method of bandaging. Born a Quaker, Lister was a quiet, retiring man, who never quite outgrew his shyness, except with his own family and with young people, and all the honors heaped upon him could not change him. The story of his career, his exceptionally happy marriage, and the main events of his long life, are outlined here. Bibliography. Index.

"Everybody can understand and enjoy this charmingly written book." Israel Davidsohn
+ Book Week p18 D 3 '44 230w

Booklist 41:107 D 1 '44

Reviewed by J. McA. Kater
Commonweal 41:154 N 24 '44 450w

"Easy, popular reading if without particular character."
+ Kirkus 12:332 Ag 1 '44 130w

Reviewed by M. F. Ashley Montagu
N Y Times p25 Ja 21 '45 300w

"Mrs. Truax has done enough digging in the more obscure annals of medicine to come up with some valuable information about Lister, who seems to have been a likable man as well as a great one. But her book, largely because of its gushing style, reminds one, more than anything else, of an over-affectionate mother giving a baby a nice warm bath."
— + New Yorker 20:86 N 4 '44 90w

"High praise is due the author of this sympathetic biography of a man of whose life the general reader knows so little. For Rhoda Truax has done a truly fine job in showing Joseph Lister as he really was.'"
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:2 O '44 300w

Reviewed by H. M. Davis
Springf'd Republican p4d D 10 '44 500w

"Though so much of Lister's life was concerned with suffering, this is a happy book, happy in its record of victories over pain and death and in its portrait of the tranquil man whom the poet Henley called: . . . another Herakles. . . It should delight both the scientific reader and the layman." Mary Ross
+ Weekly Book Review p4 O 29 '44 800w

TRUEBLOOD, DAVID ELTON. Predicament of modern man. 105p $1 Harper

248 Christianity. Reconstruction (1939-). Civilization 44-7058

"In accounting for the sickness of our civilization, the author points out the inadequacy of science without religious direction, the impotence of morals without deep spiritual faith and the 'insufficiency of individual religion.' The proposed cure is 'a redemptive society,' which must differ radically from the conventional church of today, though its nature is here only vaguely described." Library J

Booklist 41:164 F 1 '45

"Dr. Trueblood's analysis of the predicament is only incidental to his discussion of the conceivable ways out. His diagnosis of the 'sickness of civilization' gives a fresh and vigorous statement of points that have become somewhat familiar in the many other discussions of the topic."
+ Christian Century 61:1027 S 6 '44 150w

Reviewed by H. P. Van Dusen
Crozer Q 22:75 Ja '45 650w

"Very well written, the book shows remarkable insight into current ethical thought but the author's prescription may be convincing only to orthodox theologians." H. F. McGaw
Library J 69:650 Ag '44 110w

TUCKER, GILBERT MILLIGAN. For the good of all; war, taxes and politics in the light of ethical principles. 126p $1.50 Revell

336.226 Single tax. Land tenure. Free trade and protection 44-6022

"The ethical principles, as well as the principles of taxation, on which the argument rests are those of Henry George's single tax. The basic idea is that every man has an absolute right to the possession of all that he produces, and that taking any part of it from him, by taxation or otherwise, is injustice. To this theoretical argument are added many practical considerations designed to prove that society's disorders, including war, will be eliminated by abolishing taxes other than those on natural resources (of which land is the chief), by rejecting all forms of 'planned economy,' by refusing to permit government to give special favors to any class, and by establishing absolute free trade." (Christian Century) No index.

"As to the economic theories involved in the question, the premises are all false. . . The falsity of the main conclusion is as evident as that of the premises. Prospective increase in value is no motive for holding any wealth idle, and taxation on the basis of potential yield will not tend to force any idle resource into use. The only argument which would have any validity in this connection is the general socialistic one that government officials are likely to direct economic activity better than private individuals, without distinction between forms of productive capacity, including labor." F. H. Knight
— Am J Soc 50:161 S '44 600w

Christian Century 61:646 My 24 '44 120w

Current Hist 6:515 Je '44 50w

TUDOR, TASHA (MRS THOMAS LEIGHTON MCCREADY) il. See Mother Goose

TUNIS, JOHN ROBERTS. Rookie of the year. 199p $2 Harcourt

44-3265

In which one of the Keystone Kids, Spike Russell, as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, guides his team up from tenth place in the league to the top and a chance at the pennant. For grade six and up.

"For the eighth time John R. Tunis has come across with a thoroughly good sports story for older boys. This time Tunis has no particular social ax to grind, except in the sense that all his books point a boy toward a true sense of values." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p10 Ap 2 '44 230w

"A top-notch baseball story both from the standpoint of the play-by-play descriptions of games, told in the vernacular, and of the problems entailed in the welding of individual players into an integrated team."
+ Booklist 40:288 Ap 15 '44

Reviewed by H. A. Masten
Christian Science Monitor p10 My 25 '44 140w

"This story is made of thinner stuff than its predecessors, but there is plenty of good swift baseball in it. Boys who have followed the ups and downs of 'The Kid from Tompkinsville' and 'The Keystone Kids' certainly won't want to miss watching the Dodgers in one of their most typical moods, winning the hard way, coming up from behind with everything it takes to make a team a fighting unit." E. L. B.
+ N Y Times p23 Ap 23 '44 190w

New Yorker 20:56 Jl 8 '44 80w

"One needs only to tell boys and girls that this story carries the Dodgers, with Spike Russell as their manager, to the World Series to create for it a wide demand. Probably their elders, if they are baseball fans, will turn to it as eagerly. It is not as good a book as 'Keystone Kids.' It is as though Mr. Tunis has written it not out of an overwhelming urge but out of a mild desire to carry Spike and his team a bit farther on in their history." M. G. D.

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:74 Ap 15 '44 180w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 2 '44 400w
Wis Lib Bul 40:88 Je '44

TUNIS, JOHN ROBERTS. Yea! Wildcats! 257p $2 Harcourt
44-8408

"The story of Don Henderson, young basketball coach who comes to an Indiana city from a country school and takes his team to the State finals, it is a book of protest which lays bare the exploitation of the whole town, including the aspirations of the boys on its basketball team, by a few unscrupulous men. It points up the dangerous tensions and mob violence which such a situation can arouse, and, more important, it shows how on their own level these conditions contain the seeds of fascism and must be fought at every turn." N Y Times

---

"I always know when I pick up a book by John Tunis that a few hours later when I put it down I will be in a state of tingling elation. 'Yea! Wildcats!' turns the trick again. . . I hope the boys and girls who read this book will do a bit of crusading and see that it gets to the ones who need it most—the grownups." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p3 N 12 '44 400w
Booklist 41:96 N 15 '44
Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 50w
Cath World 160:281 D '44 20w

"The book deserves, and will have, wide popularity."

+ Horn Bk 20:488 N '44 100w
Kirkus 12:454 O 1 '44 90w

"This is another swift-moving story of athletics by the author who successfully utilizes the sports theme to express his ideals for democratic living and true sportsmanship." M. M. Clark

+ Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 70w

"Mr. Tunis assumes that it is important for young people to realize their personal stake in democracy, and he relates Don Henderson's struggle for decency in town as well as school affairs to America's war against nazism. 'Yea! Wildcats!' has the usual brilliant Tunis sports writing—varied, vivid, swiftly paced."

+ N Y Times p7 N 12 '44 150w
Sat R of Lit 27:41 N 11 '44 30w
Springf'd Republican p4d D 17 '44 110w

"As usual, there are a succession of critical games, played with vigor gaining by suspense. It is a sport story that will last."

+ Weekly Book Review p30 N 12 '44 400w
Wis Lib Bul 40:163 D '44

TUPHOLME, CUTHBERT HARTLAND SEYMOUR. Twentieth century engineering [Eng title: Modern engineering]. 201p il $3 Philosophical lib. [15s Faber]

620.9 Engineering—History 44-3877

"A survey for the layman of some of the more outstanding achievements of British engineers and chemists during the war and immediately preceding it. Only developments that have been commercially successful are dealt with. Chapter titles: Mechanical power; Engineering workshop processes; Air-conditioning and refrigeration; Chemical and metallurgical engineering; Electrical engineering; Traction; Marine engineering; Aircraft; Physics." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:44 Jl '44

"A clearly written account, primarily intended for the layman, of outstanding recent developments in engineering which have already proved commercially successful."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p95 F 20 '43 90w

TURNER, T. ARTHUR. Microbes that cripple; written and il. under the direction of Edward L. Compere. 241p $2.50 Nat. soc. for crippled children of the U.S.A.

616.01 Micro-organisms, Pathogenic

"This authoritative work is designed for use by the average man and goes into the general field of microbiology, discussing only those disease agents that result in motor disability. The book should be of particular interest to those concerned with problems of the crippled, particularly the rehabilitation worker. Well illustrated with picture graphs; glossary of defined terms. A good bibliography lists books that would be of value to lay readers on this subject. The book should be welcomed by them." (Booklist) Index.

"Wars and elections may be with us today, but microbes are with us always. Of this fact I have run across no better reminder than this colorful and solid little book by Turner and Compere. Lured by the language and beguiled by Turner's drawings and diagrams—some in four colors—I soon found myself immersed in the strange doings of cocci, bacilli, and viruses—and stranger still, enjoying it." Sarge Ettlinger

+ Book Week p22 N 26 '44 310w
Booklist 41:148 Ja 15 '45

TURNER, WALTER JAMES, ed. Panorama of rural England; introd. by Edmund Blunden. 315p il col pl $5 Chanticleer; for sale by Hastings house

914.2 England—Description and travel. Country life—England

Six English authors discuss English rural life and customs. The many illustrations are partly colored reproductions of old water colors, partly black and white drawings and engravings. Contents: English Country Houses, by V. Sackville-West; English Gardens, by Harry Roberts; English Villages, by Edmund Blunden; English Cities and Small Towns, by John Betjeman; English Inns, by Thomas Burke; Ports and Harbours, by Leo Walmsley.

Booklist 41:138 Ja 1 '45

"One and all, the writers unite in emphasizing the peculiar relationship between English houses, villages and towns, and the English character, and in reminding the reader that England's past is still to be seen at every turn and corner. It is a past that is one long continuous present. . . John Betjeman's warning is that postwar reconstruction can conceivably be so sudden that it can do more harm than a decade of bombing. The damage of bombing is not irreparable, but the damage of ill-advised reconstruction is a long time in being corrected. The book itself is handsome, informative, and worthy of a permanent place in the library." W. K. R.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 13 '45 450w

"Anyone who knows and loves rural England will find it good reading—and fascinating as a picture book (though—to be captious, perhaps—the impression of the reproductions is that the black plate has been omitted, and the edges are dulled, the colors muted; the etchings and engravings have come out better). Definitely a book that is designed to preserve much that has passed."

+ — Kirkus 12:543 D 1 '44 120w

Reviewed by K. T. Willis
Library J 69:1000 N 15 '44 110w

"Here, in picture and gracefully worded prose, is the undying face of England, revivified by the articulate affection of her own family. . . Each

TURNER, W. J.—Continued
contribution is a study in continuity, the unbreakable filament which has bound generations of Englishmen together." Jane Martin
+ N Y Times p5 Ja 14 '45 440w

"The Chanticleer Press, whose reproductions of famous paintings have reached a high pitch of perfection, has now added to its list this picture of England's country side. . . Turning the pages of the color plates is like walking through a flowery landscape."
+ Weekly Book Review p16 Ja 7 '45 230w

TURNER, WALTER JAMES, ed. Pictorial guide to many lands [Eng title: British Commonwealth and empire]. 312p il col pl $5 Hastings house [16s Collins]

910 British empire A44-2238

A tour thru the British Empire, written by various authors, and illustrated in color and in black and white. Contents: Canada, by Lady Tweedsmuir; Australia, by Arnold Haskell; New Zealand, by Ngaio March and R. M. Burdon; South Africa, by Sarah Gertrude Millin; India, by Sir Firozkhan Noon; East Africa, by Elspeth Huxley; The British Colonial empire, by Noel Sabine.

"If you have a son or daughter overseas—or if you or your children feel the wanderlust—this book about lands where so much of the war is being fought will be truly welcome." A. C. Spectorsky
+ Book Week p4 Mr 12 '44 220w

"This book is . . . a valuable contribution to better knowledge of our fighting allies of the British Commonwealth, but is not a book of opinion, but rather one of fact. . . But the scope of the book is not sufficiently broad to permit controversial matters, and one closes it with a sense of incompleteness, of having acquired a more vivid pictorial and human sense of these great people, but of having seen only one side of the picture."
+ — Kirkus 12:53 F 1 '44 230w

"The title is a bit misleading. Mr Turner's book is more than a pictorial guide. It is a series of travelogs which take the reader to the far corners of the empire and provide information for those who would understand the geography, history, temper and national traits of those dominions and crown colonies whose peoples are today our comrades in arms. The articles are, as one would expect, not critical of Britain's relations with dominions and colonies." J. H. Fifield
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 330w

TURPIN, LAWRY. Toys you can make of wood; drawings by Fay Turpin. 152p $2.50 Greenberg

680 Toys. Woodwork 44-5691

"A book of simple modern designs for use with common hand tools, intended to provide the starting point for original work. Drawings and dimensions for about ninety pieces are given, including such toys as a jeep, a tank, and an aircraft carrier. The book is suitable for boys and for adults who are beginning toy making." N Y New Tech Bks

Booklist 40:373 Jl 1 '44
N Y New Tech Bks 29:33 Ap '44

TWENTIETH CENTURY FUND, INC. Postwar planning in the United States; an organization directory [1944.] (V3) 134p pa $1 The fund

330.973 Reconstruction (1939-)—U.S. U.S. —Economic policy

"Brief descriptions of nearly 200 organizations, both government and private, and of the work they are doing in the field of postwar problems. Includes only organizations located in the U.S., which are national or international in scope, and which are carrying on continuing, rather than occasional, activities. This is a revision of two previous editions and is based on information obtained in the early part of 1944." Booklist

"The directory can be recommended for its inclusive character." R. M. Atwater
+ Am J Pub Health 34:1287 D '44 100w
Booklist 41:25 S '44
Library J 69:1098 D 15 '44 440w

TWENTIETH CENTURY FUND, INC. Housing committee. American housing; problems and prospects; the factual findings, by Miles L. Colean; the program, by the Housing committee. 466p $3 The fund

690 Housing 44-4203

"A general survey of housing in the United States and conditions affecting the housebuilding industry as the war broke. Reports on land availability and regulation, management of the industry, finance, labor influence, standardization and influence of federal, state, and local government and the housing market are given in chapters 1-11; chapter 12 contains the conclusions and recommendations for a nationwide program that can be started now. Valuable compilation of material." (Booklist) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by C. S. Ascher
Ann Am Acad 236:209 N '44 600w
Booklist 40:337 Je 1 '44
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:607 Jl '44 40w
New Repub 111:110 Jl 24 '44 180w
Reviewed by Catherine Bauer
Weekly Book Review p14 S 24 '44 850w

TWENTIETH CENTURY FUND, INC. Power committee. Power industry and the public interest; the factual findings, Edward Eyre Hunt, ed; the program by the Power committee. 261p $2 The fund

621.3 Electric power. Industry and state 44-3081

"A summary of the results of a survey of the relations between the government and the electric power industry." (Subtitle) "This volume brings to the general public the yet unpublished report of the Power committee of the Twentieth century fund. It discusses questions of rates, government regulation, municipal ownership, federal and state projects, and the TVA. The final chapter presents the recommendations of the committee as they appear in the report." (Booklist)

"In the space assigned to this review it has not been possible to cover many points of interest in this valuable compact summary of a very comprehensive study of the electric power industry. It is to be hoped that the thousand-page report of the Research Staff will be made available as soon as possible. One point, for example, which may be covered in the comprehensive research report but which has not been given adequate consideration in this volume is the need for careful appraisals of the economic characteristics of a public utility's market as a basis for determining whether a given capital structure is sound." C. O. Ruggles
+ Am Econ R 34:628 S '44 2750w
Reviewed by Harlan Trott
Ann Am Acad 234:154 Jl '44 310w
Booklist 40:337 Je 1 '44
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 90w

"The first part of this useful volume ably summarizes the Fund's factual analysis of the electric-power industry. . . The recommendations and program of action of the Fund's 'Power Committee,' however, is another matter. The committee weighed its words carefully, yet its report, which forms the second half of the book, displays a somewhat less than unbiased attitude toward the federal government's activities in power production and regulation."
+ — New Repub 110:477 Ap 3 '44 180w

TYLER, MRS ALICE FELT. Freedom's ferment; phases of American social history to 1860. 608p il $5 Univ. of Minn.

917.3 U.S.—Social life and customs. U.S.—History—1815-1861 A44-463

The author, a professor of history at the University of Minnesota, believing that "phrenology, hydropathy, mesmerism, health and diet notions, free love, spiritual affinities," have had too much prominence in the history of the early nineteenth century, has written a new history, stressing the reform movements of that period which she considers "were the truly significant activities" of the men and women of that era in America. Bibliography. Index.

"The general student of American history will be much indebted to Mrs. Tyler's valuable achievement. And all who are in any way concerned with the values she has written about with so much tempered understanding will be grateful, especially at this time, for Freedom's Ferment. The unusually well-selected and well-reproduced illustrations add to the book's appeal." Merle Curti

+ Am Hist R 49:735 Jl '44 1100w

"This book is a very readable yet scholarly survey of American social history from the Revolution to the Civil War, with special emphasis on reform movements. It is a highly convenient and useful book, which should be not only of much value to the general reader but also extremely serviceable as assigned reading in connection with general courses in American history." H. E. Barnes

+ Ann Am Acad 235:154 S '44 950w

"It is the most thorough and complete, the broadest and most urbane study which we have yet had of the religious movements and the efforts toward social reform in the America of a century ago." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p7 Ja 16 '44 210w

Booklist 40:233 Mr 1 '44

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison

Christian Century 61:208 F 16 '44 600w

"The scope of the volume is so broad that it cannot be considered a definitive work in any sense. In many cases use is made of secondary rather than primary source material. Yet the whole work is readable and instructive and constitutes a valuable synthesis of what one might describe as the 'lunatic fringe' of America's intellectual history."

+ Commonweal 39:477 F 25 '44 140w

Kirkus 12:43 Ja 15 '44 190w

"The leading weaknesses are less those of individual performance than of the type of social history. More, perhaps, than any other variety of history, social history presents a constant challenge for the maintenance of a firm intellectual structure; and the sideshow theory is bound to taper off into antiquarianism. For all its pleasant style and useful scholarship, Freedom's Ferment may serve its main purpose by suggesting the extent to which the sideshow theory is leading up a historical blind alley." A. M. Schlesinger, Jr.

— + New Eng Q 17:313 Je '44 1400w

"A big, thoughtful, splendidly researched book. . . The author does not altogether succeed in her attempt to prove that all these movements, even the crackpot ones, were the truly significant activities of the men and women of the age, but she has written a sound, valuable, and long-overdue history of the early phases of the reform movement in America. Excellently illustrated."

+ — New Yorker 20:83 Mr 4 '44 120w

Reviewed by H. J. Haskell

Sat R of Lit 27:22 F 26 '44 2250w

"Able and extremely readable social history." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 30 '44 900w

Reviewed by Oscar Zeichner

Survey G 33:332 Jl '44 220w

"Scholarly and fascinating book. . . 'Freedom's Ferment,' for all its copious footnotes concealed in the rear and its lengthy bibliography, can be recommended to all who have a lively interest in the heritage of our progressive liberties. It is a pleasure to find a popular book on American history that doesn't expend its efforts in debunking nor sacrifice facts for the sake of a wisecrack." Richardson Wright

+ Weekly Book Review p3 F 6 '44 1250w

TYLER, KINGDON S. Modern radio; il. with drawings by James MacDonald and with photographs. 238p $2.50 Harcourt

621.384193 Radio. Television 44-8250

"Scientific story of radio simply told and well illustrated with drawings, photographs and diagrams so that even a very young reader can get from it a clear explanation of radio engineering and operation, broadcasting, studio activities, television, colored television and radar." (Library J) Index.

Booklist 41:103 D 1 '44

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse

Commonweal 41:129 N 17 '44 10w

"Extremely technical, highly specialized, with appeal only to those with more than a beginners' knowledge of the subject."

Kirkus 12:438 S 15 '44 80w

"Fascinating reading even for those not scientifically minded and should add considerably to enlightenment on all phases of radio. Chapter on radar is especially interesting and timely. Recommended for boys and girls from ten up, almost a 'must.'" Alice Vielehr

+ Library J 69:886 O 15 '44 60w

"Readable book anyone will enjoy on how radio works. . . Recommended."

+ Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:48 Jl '44

"This is 'the last word' on radio as a science and on radar. It is planned and written with great clarity and in language that anyone can understand."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:49 N 11 '44 30w

"'Modern Radio' is an all-inclusive book of a most interesting subject written for the millions who listen to radio yet know nothing of its science." M. J. J.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 O 9 '44 280w

TYLER, PARKER. Hollywood hallucination. 246p $2.50 Creative age

791.4 Moving pictures 44-4816

"Author is young poet, editor of View, writer of several cinema articles. Foreword is by Iris Barry, Museum of Modern Art Film Library curator. She calls this 'the first book in its field to deserve the name of creative criticism.' It is easy to see why Miss Barry was tempted to say this because the author has made an exhaustive study of the museum's film collection through its public showings. He has developed an interesting, usually tenable theory as to the somnambulistic effect of most of the sentimental melodramatic and outright distortion of life found in most films." Library J

"Tyler started out with the right intentions, as Iris Barry points out in her well-written introduction. But his book is too esoteric, too dogmatic and too obscure. It doesn't achieve what it sets out to do: to reveal the hidden meanings of the greatest mass-art form of our time. And, strangely enough, one is tempted to say that Tyler's book is exactly what he says Hollywood tries to be: startling and banal at once." R. R. Plant

— Book Week p2 My 21 '44 600w

"Obviously, 'The Hollywood Hallucination' is not to be recommended to everyone, certainly not to the large public known as film fans or even to the average once-a-week movie goer. But for the student of cinema and its severest critics, the book has much to offer—particularly for the reader who is willing to search and select. . . It is only natural that a book of this kind would be personal. Parker Tyler tells much, very much about himself. He is frank; and it is interesting to note that he, who frequently lapses from good taste, would so often call attention to Hollywood's tastelessness. Mr. Tyler is dogmatic in his opinions and he drags in extraneous subjects to air his views." P. T. Hartung

TYLER, PARKER—Continued

— + Commonweal 40:474 S 1 '44 750w

"Esoteric standards applied to entertainment values and media, with more than a sneer. Exaggerated abuse."

Kirkus 12:136 Mr 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by George Freedley

Library J 69:403 My 1 '44 100w

TYLER, PARKER. Yesterday's children. See Tchelitchew, P.

U

U.S.A. at war; U.S. camera, 1945; ed. by Tom Maloney; photographs selected by Edward Steichen. 304p $4.50 Duell

770.5 Photography—Yearbooks. World war, 1939—Pictorial works

"Here, in these 160 photographs, are the roar of the planes, the boom of the big guns, the stench, the silent fear and the matter-of-course courage of 'men willing to die.' . . The names are familiar. Anzio—Eniwetok—Cassino, a hundred times read and reread in communiqués, descriptions, and letters, proud names and names full of despair. . . A running commentary presents a concise history of the campaigns fought in this one year and serves to connect the photographs." Sat R of Lit

---

"This is the best picture book on the war that has been published to date. Editor Tom Maloney and his associates of U. S. Camera have had the highly appropriate idea of devoting their entire Annual for 1945 to photographs of Americans at war. The result is a more distinguished and exciting book than any of its predecessors." Roger Butterfield

+ N Y Times p5 D 17 '44 900w

"While it ought to be kept out of the children's reach, a better collection of war photographs hasn't been seen since Matthew Brady went out of business."

+ New Yorker 20:68 D 23 '44 130w

"This is a 'must' book. It is the most magnificent panorama of one year's fighting all over the world, from the ghostly desolation at Tarawa, the stinking jungle of New Guinea to the rubble in Italy and the invasion and liberation of France. It brings the war close to you, closer than anything else could short of actual participation." Eric Schaal

+ Sat R of Lit 27:7 D 23 '44 500w

"As a whole, 'The U.S.A. at War' is a memorable record of the superb photography that is catching the great struggle in all its phases, on all its fronts. . . In a real sense this is a 'must' book. Bringing together the bewildering variety of deeds and striving and endurance that adds up to global war, it is a record that men in safe hamlets and snug streets should study and ponder."

+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 220w

"This book will take its place with Brady in the nation's pictorial records of war. It is superb." R. F. Crandell

+ Weekly Book Review p2 D 10 '44 650w

UHSE, BODO. Lieutenant Bertram; a novel of the Nazi Lüftwaffe; tr. from the German by Catherine Hutter. 430p $2.50 Simon & Schuster

44-5523

"The story is divided into two parts, the first of which tells of a Hitlerite air squadron in its training days at a North Sea base; the second tells of its first employment, in the 'practice war' in Spain. . . The members of the squadron, with their women and wives, are shown in their day-to-day life around the base, with its climax of large-scale maneuvers. . . In contrast to these fliers, Uhse shows us some of the men who fight the Nazis—in Germany the Communist underground who join later, in Spain, with the Loyalist Army." N Y Times

---

"You'd better read 'Lieutenant Bertram.' It is a fascinating book and the author, Bodo Uhse, knows whereof he speaks. . . This novel has been translated from the German by Catherine Hutter. I read it first in German and I find that, rather than losing atmosphere through the translation, it has gained a certain something, a kind of measured, strange charm and force. One has the sensation of listening to an intelligent foreigner who speaks English admirably." F. Metzenberg

+ Book Week p3 Jl 23 '44 550w

"This is an extremely interesting novel, a rich and round study of character as shaped by circumstances. That the circumstance happens to be the air force of the Fuehrer just before the present conflict makes it astoundingly timely—an absorbing comment on the future." Dorothy Hillyer

+ Boston Globe p15 Ag 2 '44 380w

"A curious book, cold, shoddy rather than sordid, provoking interest rather than sympathy. This is a graphic, unprettified account of a German air squadron, written from within by a member of the anti-Nazi underground. It has greater value as a picture of Germans and the Luftwaffe than as a novel. Diffused in plot, deliberately unattractive in characterization, it seems long, wearisome reading."

— Kirkus 12:151 Ap 1 '44 190w

"Bodo Uhse, a German who reversed the too-familiar procession of Left to Right by deserting his early Nazism to become an anti-fascist, has put into his novel, 'Lieutenant Bertram,' material that might better have been employed as history or autobiography. . . The reasons for the book's recurrent failure to be as good as it continually promises to be may be primarily technical: the shift from Germany to Spain cuts the book awkwardly in half, and the devices required to keep early characters actively in the narrative too often strain belief. Fiction, of course, must be more 'verisimilitudinous' than life. 'Lieutenant Bertram' does, however, afford some real insights into modern Germany." George Mayberry

+ — New Repub 111:108 Jl 24 '44 240w

"Uhse has had first-hand experience on both sides of the great modern conflict, and out of that experience he has written a live, moving and hugely interesting book." Stanley Kauffmann

+ N Y Times p6 Jl 16 '44 1050w

"It is hard to say who is the hero of this novel, for although the author explores the mind of the rather characterless Bertram with what is at times an exasperating thoroughness, the activities of a member of the Communist underground seem, on the whole, even more important."

— + New Yorker 20:69 Jl 15 '44 180w

"The translation of Mr. Uhse's limpid and forceful German by Catherine Hutter is of high quality." F. C. Weiskopf

+ Sat R of Lit 27:18 Jl 15 '44 850w

"A mediocre novel. . . There are, especially in some of the brief descriptive scenes of the battles in Spain, some pages that are real and alive. The mechanical quality of most of the book is, therefore, all the more deplorable." Lee Varley

— + Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 16 '44 280w

"This novel is a double-exposure picture of Germany's march to war. Like all double exposures, its outlines are hazy and its characters blurred, but every so often part of the picture emerges in a form so crystal-clear that one realizes Mr. Uhse has a sharp eye for detail, even though the over-all image escapes him." Herbert Kupferberg

+ — Weekly Book Review p8 Jl 16 '44 650w

ULREICH, MRS NURA (WOODSON) (NURA, pseud). All aboard, we are off; story and pictures by Nura. [39p] $2.50 Studio

44-6705

Picture-story book about a nice old apple seller and the children who were her friends.

When the children complained about school and other childish matters the old lady took them on an airplane trip which showed them quite conclusively that home was best. For ages four to six.

Booklist 41:28 S '44

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:375 S '44 80w

Kirkus 12:341 Ag 1 '44 90w

"Expensive for value received." J. E. Wooster
Library J 69:764 S 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by M. C. Skinner
Library J 69:863 O 15 '44 70w

"The theme is one to titillate the imaginations of 4-to-6-year olds and to provoke a mood of rare contentment with things as they are." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p19 Ag 27 '44 160w

Sat R of Lit 27:29 N 11 '44 40w

"The remote innocence of Nura's children moves a grown-up mind: little children respond to it without knowing why. Hers are books to keep." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 30 '44 200w

UNDERHILL, EVELYN (MRS STUART MOORE). Letters; ed. with an introd. by Charles Williams. 344p $3.50 (10s 6d) Longmans

B or 92 A44-1202

Evelyn Underhill was an English mystic and writer on religious subjects. The letters, for the most part chronologically arranged from 1899 to 1941, are addressed to her husband and to friends.

"Because half a loaf is better than no bread, the expectant reader is hereby assured that he will get something worth having out of these three hundred pages of selected letters. They come from a tireless student and sincere teacher of holy wisdom. . . Even though the editor of this volume has obviously worked under embarassing limitations, one may nevertheless reasonably reproach him with having been parsimonious in giving the reader desirable information. The helpful footnotes inserted here and there are far too few." Joseph McSorley
+ — Cath World 159:277 Je '44 650w

Reviewed by C. D. Brodhead
Christian Century 61:695 Je 7 '44 1250w

Reviewed by E. V. R. Wyatt
Commonweal 39:600 Mr 31 '44 850w

"Some of the early letters may not be of great importance, but the interest grows steadily all through the book. No doubt that is due to two things: first, to the fact that the writer was a very beautiful and exceptional character and that that character is revealed in all she wrote; and, secondly, that many of the problems touched on are problems of to-day, for the letters come down to the days of Dunkirk. Not, perhaps, to be read straight through, but as a bedside book to be taken up again and again I can recommend the book heartily."
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ja 10 '44 300w

"A justly respected writer upon mysticism, Evelyn Underhill is revealed in this volume as a woman whose good sense and deep religious experience gave her a great personal influence. A married woman and an Anglo-Catholic, she acted as spiritual director of consciences, revealing a wisdom and skill worthy of a trained confessor. This collection of her letters is the most distinguished expression of Anglican piety that has appeared for a long while."
+ New Statesman & Nation 27:14 Ja 1 '44 70w

"One who met Evelyn Underhill at tea, toward the close of her life, felt that she was 'in the presence of the extension of the Mystery of our Lord's Transfiguration in one of the members of His Mystical Body'. This same radiance shines through her book. Devotees will prize her detailed directions for religious exercises, but the book is not for them alone." Edward Wagenknecht
+ N Y Times p10 Jl 2 '44 360w

Spec 172:320 Ap 7 '44 300w

Times [London] Lit Sup p610 D 18 '43 550w

UNITED STATES. ARMY AIR FORCES. Official guide to the Army air forces: AAF. 380p il maps $2.50 Simon & Schuster

358.4 U.S. Army air forces. Aeronautics, Miltiary 44-40155

Reference book composed of information on the United States Army air forces organization, training of personnel, planes, equipment, air bases, maintenance and supplies, and operations in this war thru March 15, 1944. Biographical sketches of thirty-one generals. Bibliography. Index.

"For an integrated picture of the entire United States Army Air Forces and a clear idea of the complicated organization into which your son, brother, cousin or former office boy has been fitted, you will do well to read the 'Official Guide' from cover to cover. It is also a valuable reference book with a complete index." G. A. Scheuer
+ Book Week p8 Jl 2 '44 320w

Booklist 40:385 Jl 15 '44

Kirkus 12:296 Jl 1 '44 60w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:606 Jl '44 40w

"So up to the minute that it contains pictures and data of the B-29 Superfortresses, 'AAF' is a fascinating and invaluable reference work, crammed with facts of all kinds that have not been known previously by the general public. . . It casts light on present and coming developments, as well as on some of historical interest that have been partially obscured by censorship until now." F. S. Adams
+ N Y Times p24 Jl 9 '44 500w

"Complete, compact, excellently arranged almanac that should serve not only as a useful guide to the operations of the A.A.F. in the various theatres of the war but as a valuable reference book. . . An excellent index."
+ New Yorker 20:60 Jl 22 '44 90w

"An exhaustive and comprehensive encyclopedia of air warfare as the Army fights it. No one will be inclined to read it through at a sitting, but it is an indispensable and exceedingly timely reference manual on all phases of Army Air Forces activities. The index is excellent and, after testing it thoroughly with the text itself, the conclusion must be reached that the answer to any reasonable question about our Army Air Forces, its materiel, its history, its supply, and maintenance, is readily discoverable." Donald Armstrong
+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 Jl 15 '44 550w

"The most comprehensive, interesting and authoritative single volume that has yet been assembled on the subject of air power—army air power—and its importance in the war. The information contained in the book is as timely and up-to-the-minute as the B-29 attack on Japan—in fact, official release of 'A.A.F.' was delayed until the bombing had been announced." George Polk
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 2 '44 1050w

UNITED STATES. OFFICE OF NAVAL OPERATIONS. Aviation training division. How to survive on land and sea; individual survival. (Naval aviation physical training manuals) 264p il $2 U.S. naval inst.

613.69 Survival (after airplane accidents, shipwrecks, etc.)

"A manual prepared to teach trainees the technique of survival in strange waters and in strange lands. Basic principles are supplemented with specific information for special areas. Subjects covered include orientation and information on traveling by water or land, water for drinking, wild plant and animal food, fire making and cooking, shelter, and hazards of weather, insects, animals, and plants. It is a kind of general outdoor book for world-wide use." (Booklist) Copiously illustrated. Glossary. Bibliography. Index.

UNITED STATES. OFFICE OF NAVAL OPERATIONS—Continued

Booklist 40:208 F 15 '44

Reviewed by E. P. Hanson
+ N Y Times p10 Ap 23 '44 440w

UNITED STATES. WAR DEPARTMENT. Prelude to invasion; an account based upon official reports, by Henry L. Stimson. 332p il $3.25 Am. council on public affairs

940.542 World war, 1939—U.S. 44-9701

"This collection consists of the statements of Secretary Stimson, made mostly to the press, from four days after Pearl Harbor until two days after the invasion of France. These plain and colorless statements afford a quick résumé of the progress on all battlefronts from December, 1941, to June, 1944, with particular reference to the accomplishments of our own troops." N Y Times

"[These] 'reports to the nation' are a sober and straightforward chronicle of the war. They do not disclose any hitherto unknown facts and there are several instances when the reader might be disappointed by the author's reluctance to deal more fully with the reasons for some of our temporary set-backs. More information and more of a critical analysis of the battles of Salerno, Cassino, and Anzio would have been desirable. It might also seem that in his accounts of the North African campaign and the collapse of Italian fascism, the author avoided too anxiously tying up the military side of the war with its political aspects." E. S. P.
+ — Christian Science Monitor p14 O 10 '44 500w

Reviewed by M. R. Werner
N Y Times p20 S 24 '44 440w

"Although the appearance of this volume has been improved by the inclusion of a good many official war department photographs, it is not a book which will interest the general reader. It is a reference volume, of interest to the contemporary who would understand what lies behind the headlines, and of value to future historians. As a reference work it is unfortunate that it has no index." R. A. Brown
Springf'd Republican p6 N 6 '44 220w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. No footprints in the bush. 213p $2 Doubleday
44-9573

Detective story.

"Not his best."
Boston Globe p15 D 13 '44 50w

"Another half-caste Detective-Inspector Bonaparte story of Central Australia, better constructed, better paced (and better written too—though at times too deliberately stilted and flowery in phraseology)."
+ — Kirkus 12:413 S 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p18 O 29 '44 120w

"A hasty and chaotic book, which will disappoint all but the most ardent admirers of the voluble little Napoleon."
— New Yorker 20:88 N 4 '44 70w

"Bony conducts himself with courage and skill among good and bad aborigines and whites and you can trust him to bring matters to a rousing climax. This is unabashed melodrama, to be read for its background we'd say." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p21 O 22 '44 130w

UPFIELD, ARTHUR WILLIAM. Winds of evil. 230p $2 Doubleday
44-3158

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p10 Mr 26 '44 90w

"Excellent set-up for a story, good caste of characters, perplexing confusion of suspects, and perceptive unravelling of tangled threads. Too bad the style still has a flavor of amateurishness."
+ — Kirkus 12:9 Ja 1 '44 110w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p16 Mr 12 '44 110w

"Below par."
— New Yorker 20:84 Mr 4 '44 70w

"Background exceptionally interesting, and 'Bony' is as clever as ever—altho' finish is slightly outside mystery canon. Agreeable."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:29 Mr 11 '44 40w

"Here's a powerful thriller with unusual background, fine detection, honest to goodness horror and a climax you won't forget so soon, all adding up to Grade A entertainment in the gooseflesh field." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 Mr 5 '44 280w

UPSON, WILLIAM HAZLETT. Botts in war, Botts in peace; earthworms can take anything. 327p $2 Farrar
44-6791

Collection of short stories about Alexander Botts, the ebullient salesman of Earthworm tractors, who has appeared in many of this author's books. Botts is the same Botts, swapping animals for tractors in depression days, or obeying orders as a captain in World war II.

"Botts' motto, like that of mehitabel in don marquis' 'archy and mehitabel,' might well be 'toujours gai!' He'll not only help win the war and have a lot of fun doing it, but he'll also live to see the day when Earthworms adorn every atoll of the blue Pacific." Tim Brennan
+ Book Week p4 Ag 27 '44 400w

Kirkus 12:264 Je 15 '44 150w

N Y Times p4 S 10 '44 200w

"There are fifteen stories in this collection, each a perfect example of the Botts-Henderson technique of eventual triumph through complete disagreement. Lovers of Botts will receive the book with purrs of contentment." Thomas Sugrue
+ Sat R of Lit 27:23 S 30 '44 380w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p14 Ag 27 '44 100w

URBAN, JOHN. Behavior changes resulting from a study of communicable diseases; an evaluation of the effects of learning on certain actions of high school pupils. 110p $1.85 Teachers college

614 Learning, Psychology of. Infection and infectious diseases 44-7537

"Although the primary purpose of Dr. Urban's study was the investigation of behavior changes which may occur as the result of educational experiences at the high school level, it has an especial interest for health workers, because the curriculum designed for the experiment was a six weeks' unit in Communcable Diseases. Comparison of the health information and behavior of the experimental group before and after the course justifies the conclusion that classroom experiences can bring about a marked improvement in such information and behavior." Am J Pub Health

Reviewed by L. D. Long
Am J Pub Health 35:72 Ja '45 180w
School & Society 60:32 Jl 8 '44 60w

URMSTON, MARY. Plain clothes Patricia. 218p $2 Doubleday
44-4096

A story for older girls. Patricia Lee received as an inheritance from a beloved aunt a trunkful of dress materials—a queer legacy but it fitted right into Patricia's needs that summer before she was to go to college—a need to be useful, to earn a little money, and to satisfy a love of dressmaking. A war mystery and a romance add interest to the tale of Patricia's early days as a "maker of plain clothes."

Kirkus 12:97 F 15 '44 90w

"A pleasant enough story for teen-age girls." Miriam Snow

+ Library J 69:356 Ap 15 '44 70w

"Girls in their teens are going to be keen about 'Plain Clothes Patricia,' with its talk about pretty clothes." Jacqueline Overton

+ Sat R of Lit 27:38 My 13 '44 180w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 My 21 '44 250w

Wis Lib Bul 40:89 Je '44

V

VAIL, MARGARET. Yours is the earth. 287p $3 Lippincott

940.548173 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—France 44-3740

A personal account of the author's experiences as the American wife of a French aristocrat. For a time after her husband went off to war in 1939 she and her baby daughter lived in the beautiful chateau which was her husband's inheritance but later came flight, to Morocco, back to France, thence to Spain and Portugal and finally to America.

"It is not for extremes of human woe and pain that one reads this narrative, but for its sustained note of ingenuity. The way Margaret Vail outmatched Teutonic arrogance, the way she consistently outsmarted the heel-clicking Germans is so delicious that it alone justifies the book. It makes diverting and fascinating reading." Edith Roberts

Book Week p8 Ap 30 '44 500w

Booklist 40:302 My 1 '44

"Although devoid of sentimentality, the book brings many tugs on the heartstrings—none more compelling than the dangerous journey on foot over the Pyrenees to freedom. The paragraphs run a bit too long, and perhaps there is overmuch detail in the book, but these are small faults. What will be remembered is the power of courage to surmount the insurmountable, as proved by Rose Hélène and her mother." Helen Hanley

+ Christian Science Monitor p9 Je 13 '44 150w

Reviewed by E. F. Kelly

Library J 69:303 Ap 1 '44 70w

"The author writes with a rather endearing simplicity, for the most part, rising to a sense of the dramatic when recounting a crucial adventure. Her narrative would be better for some judicious pruning and tightening of structure throughout, and she sometimes spoils a small anecdote by redundancy or an anticlimax. She has, however, the knack of sketching vividly a character, and of conveying local color, whether it's the lush rurality of 'Robert's country,' a département near the Gulf Stream, or the scorching furnace blast of a Moroccan summer." Emily Morison

+ — N Y Times p24 My 7 '44 480w

Reviewed by H. J. Sloan

Springf'd Republican p8 My 3 '44 330w

"Much of Mrs. Vail's book is devoted to the day-to-day processes of living in occupied France, both in the country and in Paris. But detailed as it is, her narrative does not give you any real insight into what life is like now for the deprived and dispirited multitudes of France. For her account is a personal one and reveals how much comfort, what modest freedom of movement, one could still enjoy in France if one had what it takes." F. H. Bullock

Weekly Book Review p2 Ap 30 '44 1000w

Wis Lib Bul 40:35 Je '44

VALENTINE, MRS ELSA. No mortal fire. 288p $2.50 Simon & Schuster 44-4959

A story of a family of German-Americans during the years from 1914 to 1939. The family's evil genius is the eldest daughter, half-sister to the others. A neurotic, urged on by an overwhelming nostalgia for the Fatherland, Augusta plots and plans for the family's return, causing the destruction one after another of her step-mother, her father, and two sisters, but in the end she faces defeat at the hands of the two youngest.

"At moments, I caught the frail beauty of 'The Constant Nymph' in this book, and a certain heroic splendor, even in the weaklings. The writer is sometimes passionate and powerful. It is an unusual book, a fine accomplishment. In the welter of meaningless stories and maudlin religious ones which now infest the market, this book stands out sharply and terribly, endowed with a stern loveliness. It has its moments of horrible and arresting truth, and warning. I believe it is a parable, and a symbol, and, as such, should be widely read and discussed." Taylor Caldwell

+ — Book Week p1 My 28 '44 1950w

Booklist 40:356 Je 15 '44

Kirkus 12:121 Mr 15 '44 190w

"A remarkable first novel of wide appeal." M. C. Manley

+ Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 80w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling

Nation 158:687 Je 10 '44 60w

"Augusta is not an easy character to understand. It takes keen psychological insight to make her convincing. Considering that this is her first novel, Elsa Valentine has tackled the problem remarkably well through the first half of the book. She writes with skill, in a style that flows along easily, unburdened by the rather gruesome aspects of her story. She knows what makes Augusta tick and presents her from many angles." Marianne Hauser

+ N Y Times p22 Je 4 '44 360w

"Miss Valentine knows her people; and the background, the whole atmosphere of that strange parsonage of the Fritzhoffs is remarkably well drawn. As a psychological novel the picture is somewhat blurred. . . Yet the reader's interest is held firmly through nearly three hundred well-knit pages, and he is fascinated by the story of these 'strange Fritzhoffs.' 'No Mortal Fire' would be good reading even without the deeper significance it holds, in view of the present world condition." Emily Schossberger

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:26 Je 10 '44 700w

"Actually Mrs Valentine's novel is highly artificial and emotionally overwritten. At times it betrays the awkward phrasing and the mechanics of the novice writer, but the story is definitely entertaining to the feminine viewpoint and a good variation of the cruel stepmother theme. . . Augusta is an incredible character, and as such lends an air of unreality to the entire story, until the reader remembers her prototype, Hitler, and realizes that Mrs Valentine has done a very good job of bringing a female Hitler and psychopathic bully into the confines of the family circle, and has written the only possible outcome to such a story." L. S. Munn

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d My 28 '44 600w

"There are moments in the book when Miss Valentine seems to have pressed too far for conviction the parallel between the Fritzhoffs and the European countries, Maman and the decadent aristocracy, the parson and lyrical old Germany, Febby and the artist irresponsibles, Augusta and Hitler himself. It is not always easy to believe in the tri-lingual, gifted children. . . Even Augusta, woven as she is of so many familiar strands in the devil's pattern, often does not seem credible. Yet the story somehow holds." Virgilia Sapieha

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 My 28 '44 700w

VALLANCE, ALEX, and DOUGHTIE, VENTON LEVY. Design of machine members. 2d ed 559p il $4 McGraw

621.81 Machinery—Design 43-16624

"A revision and expansion of the first edition (1938). New material on design, nonferrous metals, and plastics has been incorporated. The revision of a number of the chapters, e.g.,

VALLANCE, ALEX—Continued
the one on couplings and clutches, has been extensive. The book is intended for undergraduate students with some background in kinematics." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:287 Ap 15 '44
Library J 69:33 Ja 1 '44 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 28:65 O '43

VAN ALSTYNE, RICHARD WARNER. American diplomacy in action; a series of case studies; foreword by Graham H. Stuart. 760p $5 Stanford univ. press [22s 6d Oxford]

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations 44-3336

"This volume departs from the customary chronological and topical methods of treating American diplomatic history. Without disregarding the importance of the time sequences in history, the author advances the idea of comparative study by presenting a series of related case studies, or specific instances, all of which illustrate American diplomacy in action. . . Each case study is a historical essay which approaches the problem in question from the standpoint of an analytical narrative. Each case has its own bearing on contemporary American foreign policy. Each mobilizes the precedents which are essential to the forming of a judgment and so gives the student a real opportunity to participate actively in solving the practical problems of American diplomacy." (Publisher's note) Bibliography. Index.

"The strength of the book is its effort to examine our foreign policy as a functional part of a living organism rather than as a mass of tradition and precedent. Its weakness lies in the execution of this altogether admirable plan. Instead of 'A Series of Case Studies' showing us how particular decisions of policy evolved through the various political pressure groups, governmental institutions, and personal negotiations that constitute the democratic process, the author's chapters fall all too easily into the very grooves of diplomatic history he sets out to avoid. They consist of a series of historical surveys that compete at a disadvantage with the special studies on which they are based. They are too brief to substitute individually for the writings of such topical specialists as Dexter Perkins, Tyler Dennett, and Julius Pratt, and, in the aggregate, too elaborate in methodology to rival the clarity of text, presentation, and documentation of the general studies of Bemis and Bailey." A. W. Griswold
+ — Am Pol Sci R 38:786 Ag '44 380w

"The book becomes, I think, rather more an account of our foreign policies in general than of our diplomacy in action. As such, it is admirably complete, objective and usable." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p11 My 14 '44 180w
Foreign Affairs 22:661 Jl '44 10w

"Professor Van Alstyne has given us an original and stimulating treatment of the materials of American foreign relations which should contribute to a better understanding of problems of American foreign policy." L. M. Goodrich
+ Pacific Affairs 17:362 S '44 420w

"American Diplomacy in Action makes interesting reading. It is judicious and balanced in tone; but it does not avoid drawing conclusions where the facts dictate such a duty. It is not simply another diplomatic text, but a text with a fresh point of view, and with a contribution of its own." Dexter Perkins
+ Pol Sci Q 59:450 S '44 800w

"This volume probably represents the best possible compromise between inclusiveness, chronology, and problem study that can be achieved in a book of publishable length. Certainly the volume is teachable, and the author writes well. There is a useful bibliography and an adequate index. There are only seven maps, including those on the end sheets. In a volume using the case-study approach, more maps would seem desirable. In general, Professor Van Alstyne has made a laudable contribution to the literature available for effective teaching of American diplomatic history." C. C. Qualey
+ — Social Educ 8:278 O '44 650w

VAN BOECOP, MARIE THERESE COLETTE. See Boecop-Malye, M. T. C. barones van

VAN CLEEF, EUGENE. Geography for the businessman. 246p maps $2.75 Harper

330.9 Geography. Anthropogeography 43-15186

"This book attempts to show how modern geographical knowledge, especially the economic and commercial divisions of it, can be concretely applied to the improvement of business. Such topics as maps, markets, material resources, climate and weather, communications, international boundaries and the like are discussed in relation to specific problems of advertising, retail selling, construction, farming, price control, fairs, conventions, international trade and international boundaries." Publisher's note

Booklist 40:140 D 15 '43
Reviewed by W. E. Rudolph
Geog R 34:687 O '44 550w
Management R 33:108 Mr '44 40w
Wis Lib Bul 40:24 F '44

VANDERKLOOT, W. J. Handbook of air navigation. 333p maps $3.50 McGraw

629.1325 Navigation (aeronautics) 44-6614

"A British book designed to prepare students for a navigator's license under the standards required in Great Britain. The author believes also that it will enable students to meet the requirements to be formulated after the war by the International Committee of Air Navigation for the international transportation of airplane passengers. Two charts of trips flown by the author are included and are critically discussed in the text." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:653 Ag '44 50w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:46 Jl '44
Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 14 '45 150w

VAN DER VELDT, JAMES A. City set on a hill; the story of the Vatican. 299p il $2.50 Dodd

914.56 Vatican (city) 44-47819

The Vatican City as seen thru the eyes of a boy, supposed to be the son of an ambassador who took refuge there during the war. The book is illustrated with photographs and maps.

Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 40w

"The learned author wrote it to fill a need, avoiding the dullness of a guide book that repels, and the academicism of the scholar that confuses the young mind. He has been eminently successful. Many fine photographs add to the book's value."
+ Cath World 160:282 D '44 50w

"An excellent job if you want your children to know something about the ancient city."
+ Commonweal 41:256 D 22 '44 40w

"This is the first time I have found a book that gives everyday readers, in the form of narrative easily read, a clear idea of Vatican City in world affairs, in the history of Italy and of Europe, and in that of art and architecture. I believe it to be the first time this has been attempted." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 14 '45 300w

VAN DEVANDER, CHARLES WOOD. Big bosses. 318p $2.50 Howell, Soskin

329 Corruption (in politics). U.S.—Politics and government—20th century 44-3308

"In election year Americans will certainly want to know what is the current political situation in various sections of the country where organized politics plays a major part. This volume most competently summarizes the present situation in such places as Chicago, California, Philadelphia, New York State, Missouri, Louisiana. . . [The author] points out that we should not be shocked at any particular candidate's leaning upon boss support, for with our system every candidate does precisely this. Nor does this mean that the bosses rule him, but rather that alliances of this sort are mutually profitable." Commonweal

---

Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Mr 19 '44 270w
Booklist 40:278 Ap 15 '44

"Mr. Van Devander's account is written clearly and seems by and large accurate and up-to-date."
+ Commonweal 39:604 Mr 31 '44 120w

"Here is 'The Shame of the Cities' brought up to date. Mr. Van Devander is no Lincoln Steffens; his book is, nevertheless, a first rate over-all report to the nation on America's great political machines and the men who run them." Willard Wiener
+ New Repub 110:612 My 1 '44 420w

"Mr. Van Devander knows exactly what he's writing about. He knows almost too well. For a long time, as a newspaper man in New York and Washington, as a reporter of many political conventions and lesser shenanigans, on many a candidate's brush-beating tour of the country, he has watched the writhings of democracy in labor. Out of what must be a mere fragment of what he knows has emerged a book—'The Big Bosses.'" Walter Davenport
+ N Y Times p5 Mr 19 '44 650w

"Mr. Van Devander has an eye for the color and flavor of his subjects, but primarily he is interested in the dynamics of local politics in America. With most of the men and machines described by him, the average American reader of newspapers and news magazines will have some acquaintance. He probably lacks, however, the portrait in the round which he can find in these brief but searching essays on the more important municipal and state rings in America." W. S. Lines
+ Sat R of Lit 27:9 Ap 1 '44 380w

"Charles Van Devander, Washington correspondent for 'The New York Post,' has set out with the simple objective of telling how each of the major machines of the United States has been operating in recent years, and he has put together, fresh out of headlines, an examination which makes up what it may lack in depth with a news-story pace and interest that never lags." Don Cook
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Mr 26 '44 850w

VAN DE WATER, FREDERIC FRANKLYN. Mrs Applegate's affair. 241p $2.50 Duell
44-40105

After fourteen years of marriage Mrs Applegate was bored. The story is about one memorable summer in Vermont, while Mr Applegate was in Washington. The summer was complicated by the love affairs of Mrs Applegate's sister; by the attentions of a neighbor to herself; and by one spy and one large Newfoundland puppy, not to mention several children.

"This is an 'escape' book you simply mustn't escape. Even at such a grave time—maybe more now than ever—everyone's entitled to a laugh as big as this one." Edith Roberts
Book Week p3 My 28 '44 230w
Booklist 40:319 My 15 '44
Boston Globe p19 My 31 '44 110w
Cleveland Open Shelf p12 Je '44

"Pleasant interlude."
+ Kirkus 12:106 Mr 1 '44 170w

"Very light, amusing. For libraries that must meet demand for a great deal of light fiction." Emily Garnett
+ Library J 69:404 My 1 '44 60w

"It's all in fun and has the same easy-to-read, agreeable quality found in Mr. Van de Water's other books." Andrea Parke
+ N Y Times p18 My 21 '44 280w

Reviewed by L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 440w

"Just as soon as it's hammock time in the country 'Mrs. Applegate's Affair' is the book to take with you for an afternoon's relaxation. You'll learn something about love, life and the pursuit of happiness with a minimum of effort and a maximum of enjoyment." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 21 '44 600w

VAN DOREN, MARK. Seven sleepers, and other poems. 123p $2.50 Holt
811 44-2426

"The opening section in this, the first gathering of short poems that Mr. Van Doren has published since his 'Collected Poems' won the Pulitzer Prize, consists of a group of war poems entitled 'Our Lady Peace,' a group previously published in part but now rearranged and expanded. . . The remaining four sections of the book treat poetic themes drawn from the contemplation of man's life and death, sometimes scrutinized from a general philosophic or religious standpoint, sometimes noted as facets of personal experience. Notable among the latter are the poems arising from country life, particularly a number dealing with the ways of water; and an especially lyrical group recording human relations incident to deep family attachments." Weekly Book Review

---

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p5 Mr 19 '44 500w
Booklist 40:301 My 1 '44

"Crystalized in thought and, as always, composed with the greatest integrity and precision of workmanship, this latest collection of Mark Van Doren's short poems adds definitely to his stature. They show him less as an observer of nature, a man of minor moods, and more as a highly sensitive, if limited, poet on the spiritual and even metaphysical plane. . . Thoughtful, intense, never commonplace, this book of fine minor verse will not appeal to a wide popular audience."
+ Kirkus 12:34 Ja 15 '44 200w

"The trouble with most of the 104 poems in this collection is that the ideas are superimposed on the poems. Theme and language therefore lack logical and imaginative interconnection. The metaphors are often forced or so drawn out that they neutralize each other; and series of subordinate clauses and repetitious constructions, earmarks of hasty composition, blunt and obscure the meaning. . . Mr. Van Doren is at his best when he writes about details of intimate experience, as in some half-dozen poems in the section called The Double Life. They are charming, affecting, and lucid."
+ — Nation 158:401 Ap 1 '44 160w

Reviewed by Rolfe Humphries
New Repub 110:634 My 8 '44 350w

"What Mr. Van Doren has achieved—and this is spectacular in modern poetry—is an almost complete depersonalization. This is even true of the poems in the final section of his book—which, easier and lighter than the rest, are explicitly autobiographical. It is depersonalization of that supreme variety which gains rather than loses in tautness and passion." Mark Schorer
+ N Y Times p21 Mr 26 '44 360w
New Yorker 20:99 Mr 25 '44 50w

"Not likely to be generally popular, and exciting only in a quiet and somewhat special way, Mr. Van Doren's poetry is among the best of its kind being written now. The kind is traditional in the best sense: it is disciplined and it stays alive, because of or in spite of the somewhat hard hand of control." John Holmes
+ Poetry 64:344 S '44 600w

Reviewed by Horace Gregory
Sat R of Lit 27:22 Ap 29 '44 700w

VAN DOREN, MARK—Continued

"Mr. Van Doren in 'The Single Hero' which will inevitably be read as a tribute to Churchill in Britain's darkest hour, in 'Invincible,' and most of all in 'April, 1942', has produced war poems of very high distinction, indeed. The achievement, I think, is partly due to his mastery of modern techniques which permit a large measure of artistic abstraction. . . Mr. Van Doren beautifully exemplifies the rare type of poet who can come before the public without public emotions." G. F. Whicher

+ Weekly Book Review p3 Ap 9 '44 800w

Reviewed by Louis Untermeyer

Yale R n s 34:345 winter '45 70w

VAN DRUTEN, JOHN. Voice of the turtle; a comedy in three acts. 160p $2 Random house

822 44-40061

Drama of present-day life in New York city. There are only three characters: a soldier on leave, and two women, with one of whom the soldier falls in love.

"Small in physical scope—it is played by three characters—it has a wealth of human nature and tenderness and not too much whimsy. Depending on expression more than 'stage business,' it becomes a good library companion." H. T. Murdock

+ Book Week p4 Mr 12 '44 300w

Booklist 40:265 Ap 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '44

"Should provide excellent little theatre material."

+ Kirkus 12:54 F 1 '44 40w

"This talented writer's best comedy and his greatest success in New York. Will be in enormous demand for amateurs when released to them. Highly recommended."

+ Library J 69:264 Mr 15 '44 30w

VAN DUZER, ADELAIDE LAURA. Girl's daily life. See Girl's daily life

VAN METRE, THURMAN WILLIAM. Trains, tracks, and travel. 6th ed 417p il $3.50 Simmons-Boardman

385 Railroads—U.S. 44-6774

"The Sixth Edition of 'Trains, Tracks and Travel' is not a mere job of patching. The whole book has been revised in the light of wartime exigencies. Some chapters have been rewritten and one new chapter on 'How Our Railroads Went to War' has been added. This tells of the sudden impact of the war upon a transportation system not yet recovered from depression, and of how the demands not only of mobilization but those caused by ship sinkings were met." (Sat R of Lit) For fourth edition see Book Review Digest, 1936.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:701 S 1 '44 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:48 Jl '44

"Mr. Van Metre's book should have a large sale to fathers at Christmas time and it is my bet that many copies will disappear from the boys' shelves before the holidays are over." Roger Burlingame

+ Sat R of Lit 27:61 O 14 '44 750w

VAN NESS, LILIAN. Again in October. 262p $2.50 Doubleday

44-2893

Augusta Freer's beloved husband, John, had left her after fourteen years of married life and with four young children to raise. Fifteen years later—one early autumn day—Augusta relives her life, attempting to understand why John had left her. Woven into Augusta's story is the love story of her young relative, Lynn Freer.

"It's a fascinating, fundamental book." Edith Roberts

+ Book Week p2 Mr 19 '44 360w

Kirkus 11:557 D 15 '43 130w

"Lilian Van Ness writes in a carefully wrought style, effective and often brilliantly poetical. Whether or not you like the book will depend upon your response to her style. At times it inclines to be precious, sometimes faintly purple, but not often. There are frequent flashes of humor, bubbling or thoughtful." Beatrice Sherman

+ — N Y Times p6 F 27 '44 450w

"This brilliantly written first novel is much better by the inch than by the yard: it is not altogether clear what the author wants the book as a whole to say (and one feels it straining in the attempt to say something prodigious), but page by page it is consistently bright and amusing." R. A. Cordell

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:20 Mr 4 '44 450w

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 12 '44 380w

"'Again in October' is not a novel to which you can listen with the surface of your mind. It touches the depth of many emotions and reaches the complex core of many human relations. And once you start to read about Augusta Freer and her family, you find yourself richly rewarded in the degree that you give the story undivided absorption. As a matter of fact, 'Again in October' generates in its own magic." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p2 F 27 '44 600w

VAN ROSEN, ROSA, ed. See Arabian nights entertainments. Arabian nights

VAN SICKLE, JOHN VALENTINE. Planning for the South; an inquiry into the economics of regionalism. 255p $2.75 Vanderbilt univ. press

338.91 South—Economic conditions. Regional planning 43-9357

"'The South,' or 'Southern Region,' considered embraces the border states of Kentucky and Tennessee and all states usually classified as Southern except Texas. . . The book is described by its author as 'a plea for regionalism' as against excessive nationalism or localism in the determination of the economic and social policies of government. . . To a large extent, the study is devoted to 'an analysis of federal, state, and local interventions from a regional point of view.' Attention is confined to the inter-war period, with special reference to the New Deal; controls introduced by the present war are not considered. Many of these policies are found wanting so far as the South is concerned; other policies, not as yet attempted, are suggested in order to realize the type of planning the writer envisages." Am Pol Sci R

"Planning for the South is a serious, intellectually honest, and commendable effort, characterized by sympathetic understanding, to apply the tools of economic analysis to the problems of a region. Unconsciously, perhaps, but almost inevitably, it is also a statement of the economic creed and philosophy of the author, at times so much so as to obscure the avowed main emphasis of the book. For the reviewer to express unqualified approval of the various opinions, programs, formulas, and panaceas advanced by the author would be indiscreet, for he finds himself in disagreement on many points. This fact does not preclude the statement, however, that the reviewer considers this one of the best contributions yet made to a clearer understanding of the planning necessary to a better South." Wilson Gee

+ — Am Econ R 34:415 Je '44 1150w

"The book is, of course, special pleading. But few will deny that the South is a special economic problem. And, keeping in mind some of the programs which have been advanced for the South in the past, one may feel it fortunate that the pleading in this case comes from such a reasonable and competent source." C. H. Pritchett

+ Am J Soc 49:375 Ja '44 600w

"The array of facts presented is impressive. Much of the criticism and many of the proposals advanced are, no doubt, sound. Matters upon which intersectional misunderstandings have arisen are handled judiciously and fairly, whether or not agreement with positions taken is possible. On the whole, the writer makes a very good case throughout, while showing due regard for opposing viewpoints." O. D. Weeks

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:162 F '44 700w

"Van Sickle's book is enlightening and heartening. It should make every American who reads it aware of the problems of the region, and should provide Southern thinkers and planners food for thought as well as suggestions for action." Loyal Durand, Jr.
+ Am Soc R 9:333 Je '44 450w

Reviewed by Loyal Durand, Jr.
Geog R 35:163 Ja '45 300w

Reviewed by Rutledge Vining
J Pol Econ 52:276 S '44 1350w

VAN SINDEREN, ADRIAN. Four years. 206p $2.75 Coward-McCann

940.53 World war, 1939- 44-2891

Brief, month-by-month account of the war, including political and military events, from September 1939 thru September 1943. Fully indexed.

Booklist 40:268 Ap 1 '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:658 Jl '44 10w

"Mr. Van Sinderen is, of course, right in desiring that a short and yet precise reference text of the war's history be made available. But it must be doubted whether so condensed a chronicle as this is the answer. Several books have been published which summarize and appraise the story of the war in a lucid way. . . However, the really serious flaw of Van Sinderen's book stems from the fact that he has obviously not written his report in retrospect, four years after, but has completed his story as time went by. Thus he has not escaped the danger of relating events as they appeared on the world's stage in the dim light of the day, before later happenings clarified and corrected our view." H. W. Weigert
Sat R of Lit 27:48 Ap 15 '44 360w

"Mr. Van Sinderen's work will prove invaluable as a reference volume to any one who cannot cope with the brusque, factual style of 'The World Almanac.' "
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Mr 12 '44 200w

VAN WINKLE, MATTHEW. Aviation gasoline manufacture. 275p $3 McGraw

665.5 Gasoline A44-31

"The purpose of this book is to summarize the available information concerning the manufacture of aviation gasoline in such a form that it will serve as a reference for those who are interested in this field of refining, and to develop a fundamental discussion of aviation gasoline manufacture presented in a logical sequence that will serve as a textbook for those students and individuals who are unfamiliar or only partly familiar with the subject." (Pref) Index.

Booklist 40:280 Ap 15 '44

"The book is well written, with good diagrams and clear tables. . . There are a few minor inaccuracies, such as the use of the word 'propenes', and references to high temperatures and pressures where only one of them need be high. Also the references frequently omit names of associates of works or patents. These inaccuracies, however, are unimportant, and the book should serve as a useful reference work for the chemist, chemical engineer, and other technicians working in the petroleum industry. Its appearance at this time will be hailed by all." V. N. Ipatieff
+ — Chem & Eng N 22:384 Mr 10 '44 180w

"The increasing importance of aviation in both peace and war cannot be denied. . . Under such conditions the most that can be asked is an analysis of scattered trade or even news literature and in this respect Van Winkle does a valuable service in presenting this excellent review of important literature. Although manufacturing changes are occurring more rapidly than books can be published and although much of the information in the literature consists of proposals rather than practice, the very urgency of the situation makes any digest of double value." W. L. Nelson
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:194 Ap '44 350w

Library J 68:962 N 15 '43 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:6 Ja '44

VAN WINKLE, PAUL, ed. Aircraft mechanics handbook. $2.75 Manual arts

629.134 Airplanes—Design and construction. Airplanes—Maintenance and repair 44-5693

"A guide and reference for apprentices, students, repair mechanics, factory workers, and engineers; contains specifications on aircraft materials, technical data, and information on replacement and identification of parts and repair of aircraft structural surfaces and accessories. Based on latest Army-Navy and commercial specifications." (Subtitle) Index.

Booklist 41:13 S '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 50w

"For teachers, students, aircraft workers, repair men and aircraft engineers. Well illustrated.' L. A. Eales
+ Library J 69:654 Ag '44 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:20 Ap '44

Special Libraries 35:424 O '44

VAN ZANDT, JOHN PARKER. Geography of world air transport. (America faces the air age) 67p maps $1 Brookings

387.72 Aeronautics, Commercial 44-8984

"Under the general title 'America Faces the Air Age,' a series of small volumes, bearing particularly on aspects of international air transport, are planned for publication during the coming months. This introductory volume is limited strictly to outlining the basic setting of the world air transport problem. It reappraises our conventional ideas of geography and transportation economics, and seeks to uncover some of the bedrock of fact on which international air policy should be based." (Pref) Index.

Christian Science Monitor p13 O 7 '44 60w

Library J 69:815 O 1 '44 70w

Reviewed by Phillips Bradley
Survey G 33:460 N '44 150w

VATNSDŒLA SAGA. Vatnsdalers' saga; tr. with an introd. and notes by Gwyn Jones. 158p $2 Am-Scandinavian foundation; Princeton univ. press [10s Oxford]

839.6 44-6215

"Dr. Gwyn Jones, who is favourably known for his version of 'Four Icelandic Sagas' published by the same Foundation, has done well to undertake 'Vatnsdœla Saga,' which has not previously been translated in full. It is not one of the greater sagas. It is episodic rather than well constructed, dealing with the forebears and descendants of Ingimund, the Norwegian who settled Vatnsdal in the ninth century." Times [London] Lit Sup

"No praise is too high for the translation. It combines accuracy with liveliness and preserves the flavor of the original language without doing violence to English. With the aid of the notes, which for the most part eschew purely linguistic questions, the amateur will find this tale good entertainment and a stimulus to the imagination. Parts of the preface, with its many references to other sagas and to old Germanic customs, are likely to be beyond the reader unfamiliar with Old Icelandic, but he should read it nevertheless to discover how delightful scholarship can be."
+ Christian Century 61:306 Mr 8 '44 230w

"If the structure of the saga be loose, there is vigorous characterization, and the sidelights thrown on Icelandic religion and folklore are particularly valuable. The episodes of the Lapland witch who told Ingimund's fortune and of the wizard Thorolf Sledge and his twenty black cats are graphically told. The introduction is illuminating and well written, and the notes are useful elucidations and illustrations of the saga. The translation is accurate and idiomatic."

VATNSDŒLA SAGA—Continued
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p455 S 16 '44 240w

VEINUS, ABRAHAM. The concerto. 312p $3.50 Doubleday
785.6 Concerto 44-3495

History of the concerto which includes material on some of those who wrote in this musical form. Contents: The early concerto; The concerto grosso; The early solo concerto; The classical concerto; The Beethoven concerto; The romantic concerto; The modern concerto. The bibliography is a record list. Index.

"Whatever its shortcomings (and it has several), 'The Concerto,' by Abraham Veinus, is a 'must' book for every music lover's library." Dale Harrison
+ — Book Week p8 Ap 16 '44 450w
Booklist 40:299 My 1 '44

"Fine writing, cleancut, occasionally corrosive criticism, for a work of interest to students and musicians and connoisseurs."
+ Kirkus 11:567 D 15 '43 100w

"Sound history, intelligent evaluation and a good literary style (despite occasional lapses in all three departments) make this a valuable book. The information is not new but it is here collected, arranged and presented for the first time to readers of the English language. .. A must for your musical public." Leonard Burkat
+ — Library J 69:203 Mr 1 '44 100w

"Interesting as this discussion of origins should be to the moderately studious reader, most dippers into this book will probably skip to the great periods on the concerto grosso, Mozart, Beethoven and the romantics. In his very full treatment of these periods the author has struck what seems to be a happy balance between the discussion of individual works . . . and of general trends in the evolution of the genre. And he is more successful than most recent writers who have attempted it in tracing interestingly the effects of social and economic factors upon the course of musical history. The author's treatment of the most modern developments is more rapid, but it is sound and reasonably comprehensive. The book is excellently indexed and includes a list of phonograph recordings." Stephen Somervell
+ N Y Times p10 Je 11 '44 440w

"Mr. Veinus's 'The Concerto' is refreshing indeed. It deals with one of the important and much admired types of music which for over two hundred years has attracted musicians and public alike. . . Mr. Veinus proves to be an excellent guide entirely at home in this vast literature. . . His writing discloses a man of letters not a mere 'writer on music'; it is colorful and interesting, his information is comprehensive, and his documentation copious. 'The Concerto' represents a very valuable addition to our rising literature in musicology and should enjoy a wide acceptance." P. H. Lang
+ Sat R of Lit 27:66 Ap 15 '44 850w

VELAZQUEZ, DIEGO RODRIGUEZ DE SILVA Y. Velazquez; complete ed [by Enrique Lafuente]. (Phaidon press art bk) 33p $5.50 Oxford [20s Allen, G]
759.6 Paintings, Spanish 44-5714

Reproductions of over a hundred and fifty of the paintings of the Spanish court painter, whose work did not stop with members of the royal family. The book contains a catalog of the artist's drawings and paintings, a critical introduction, and an index of collections.

"The extraordinary boldness and richness which this Spanish master knew so well how to pattern into more than significant form, into luscious and living rhythms, are here made available for the library of any amateur. And as one glances through these plates, one realizes that Velasquez is indeed one of the greatest in our artistic heritage."
+ Commonweal 40:140 My 26 '44 120w
New Yorker 20:79 Je 10 '44 70w

VENNING, MICHAEL, pseud. See Rice, C.

VERCORS, pseud. See Bruller, J.

VERNADSKY, GEORGE. History of Russia. new rev ed 517p maps $2.75 Yale univ. press; (New home lib) 69c Garden City pub. co.
947 Russia—History A44-1910;44-40096

New edition of a work first published fifteen years ago (Book Review Digest, 1929). "A new approach to the Russian revolution has resulted in the rewriting of a large part of the book, and the history is brought down to 1943." (Booklist) Selected bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:392 Jl 15 '44
School & Society 59:384 My 27 '44 50w

"Professor Vernadsky's revision, after fifteen years, of his standard one-volume history of Russia is indeed welcome, for it brings the story to the end of 1943 in a form which will prove most useful to those who wish to make acquaintance with the basic facts presented in logical, well-defined, and objective fashion." W. C. Armstrong
+ Social Educ 8:328 N '44 600w

"The book contains some useful maps. It has a carefully selected bibliography. Its index is thorough and permits easy access to specific materials. This volume should go a long way toward helping its users to understand the Russian people, a worthy objective in the world today." R. H. McF.
+ Social Studies 35:286 O '44 150w

VESTAL, STANLEY, pseud. See Campbell, W. S.

VETTER, ERNEST G. Death was our escort. 323p il $3 Prentice-Hall
940.545 Hamilton, Edward T. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Naval operations 44-9170

An account of the experiences of Lieutenant (j.g) Edward Hamilton U.S.N.R. and his American PT boat crews among the submarines, cruisers, and transports of the Japanese fleet in the waters off New Guinea.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p12 O 29 '44 120w
Booklist 41:88 N 15 '44

"A fine tribute—a good tale well told—and holding reading."
+ Kirkus 12:461 O 1 '44 170w

"Several chapters, such as 'The Art of Sniping' and 'Hide and Seek with the Japs' are minor masterpieces in character portrayal and action under explosively dangerous circumstances. Recommended." H. S. Taylor
+ Library J 69:883 O 15 '44 80w

" 'Death Was Our Escort,' stirringly written, packed with excitement, danger, privation and superb heroism, has rarely been equalled as a narrative of the men who fought against odds and with conspicuous achievement in one of the earth's most isolated and desolate stretches." P. J. Searles
+ Weekly Book Review p2 D 10 '44 800w

VICKERS, ROY. Date with danger. 193p $2 Vanguard [7s 6d Jenkins]
44-7725

Mystery story.

Kirkus 12:265 Je 15 '44 80w
Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p24 S 10 '44 80w
"Average spy-stuff."
Sat R of Lit 27:23 S 2 '44 40w
"Soft-boiled, simple and harmless." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p15 S 10 '44 100w

VICO, GIOVANNI BATTISTA. Autobiography of Giambattista Vico; tr. from the Italian by Max Harold Fisch and Thomas Goddard Bergin. 240p $2.50 Cornell univ. press

B or 92 44-29980

"As the senior translator notes, this is the first complete English version of any of Vico's writings, and is to be followed shortly by a translation of the Scienza Nuova. The Autobiography is preceded by an informative and valuable Introduction of more than a hundred pages: the circumstances leading to Vico's self-portrayal are described, a good statement is supplied of Vico's philosophy of history, and his influence both in Europe and the United States is outlined. The Autobiography itself serves as a general survey of Vico's ideas and of the divergences between his theory of society and those of his contemporaries." J Philos

---

"The translators are to be congratulated upon an excellent performance of a task that was eminently worth doing; and students of the philosophy of history will await eagerly their publication of Vico's major work in English dress." E. N.

+ J Philos 41:614 O 26 '44 150w

"The introduction is half of the volume—and the more valuable part." Albert Guerard

N Y Times p14 Ag 13 '44 600w

"Though this book, both a critical review of the 'New Science' and a translation, with illuminating comments of the 'Autobiography,' is intended primarily for scholars, it ought to be digested by historians and students of the social sciences so that they might discover where the principles that they associate primarily with Comte, Herder, Buckle, Marx, and others actually originated. This reviewer for one is grateful for a first-class critique." Waldemar Kaempffert

+ Sat R of Lit 27:40 Je 17 '44 650w

VICTOR, JEFFREY, pseud. See Rogow, W.

VILLARD, OSWALD GARRISON. The disappearing daily; chapters in American newspaper evolution. 295p $3.50 Knopf

071 Newspapers 44-4038

"This record of the development of the American press supplements a previous study published in 1923 and republished in a revised edition in 1926. It brings up to date the situation of American journalism . . . and illustrates by its study of some of our foremost dailies and press associations the trend of what was once a profession but is now a business." (Pref) Index.

"This is an exceedingly interesting book." M. M. Willey

+ Ann Am Acad 236:220 N '44 500w

Reviewed by K. E. Olson

Book Week p5 Jl 2 '44 650w

Booklist 40:333 Je 1 '44

Bookmark 5:3 My '44

"A useful contribution to the problem of American newspapers today. Unfortunately, as Mr. Villard himself recognizes, he can offer only a few tentative suggestions toward the solution of this grave problem." E. D. Canham

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 My 15 '44 1000w

"Detailed scrutiny, by a liberal editor, publisher, writer, whose opinions on the need for leadership in the press, and the ideals of moral and political honesty have value for anyone interested in the study of journalism."

+ Kirkus 12:134 Mr 15 '44 170w

"The author's frank admission of bias is fully sustained by the character of his comment but it is a bias that frequently calls for support. With the freedom and high quality of its press, one of a country's great needs, this able and engrossing study, based on extraordinary knowledge, is one to be read thoughtfully and with appreciation. A slight flaw is that in some cases the author's concern with the actions of individuals overshadows his consideration of the journal itself." M. C. Manley

+ — Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by Keith Hutchison

Nation 158:682 Je 10 '44 1000w

Reviewed by Bruce Bliven

New Repub 111:20 Jl 3 '44 700w

Reviewed by C. M. Puckette

N Y Times p3 My 14 '44 1650w

"Mr. Villard's material is of considerably greater interest than his thesis, which, while sound enough, is not precisely original or brand-new."

+ — New Yorker 20:83 My 27 '44 140w

"Like his other books, this bears the stamp of Villard's personality. His readable and vigorous style, the gusto of his enthusiasms and dislikes, and the straightforward integrity of his judgments are all a part of the man and his book. He is still the discriminating editor, ready to crusade for good or against evil, to uphold standards and taste, and to exemplify that American journalism which he seeks to chronicle. No one can read him without feeling a new interest in newspapers and their makers." M. W. Hamilton

+ Social Studies 35:376 D '44 600w

"There is much good ore in the book along with judgments open to attack. All in all it is a fine and intelligent study, to be commended to laymen interested in this important part of the American scene. Laymen may be misled at points, but on balance they will learn much that they—and newspapermen—should know and remember." Marshall Bragdon

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Je 3 '44 650w

"For connoisseurs of newspaper history the best part of Mr. Villard's book is not his study of present-day trends or his lamentations on the shortage of brains and spirit, but his portraits of such men as Henry Watterson, William Randolph Hearst, Cyrus H. K. Curtis ('a total failure,' he calls him), E. L. Godkin, Joseph Pulitzer and the James Gordon Bennetts. It is familiar material, but still good. He is jaundiced toward the journalistic endeavors of Marshall Field, and, in a cruel world, he has several good words to say for Frank E. Gannett. Most of his heroes, however, are long since dead. But hope never dies and Mr. Villard though he has reached a considerable age, never quite gives up on his old profession." Stanley Walker

+ — Weekly Book Review p10 My 14 '44 1050w

VINAL, HAROLD. Compass eye. 94p $2.50 Comet

811 44-4855

"Followers of Harold Vinal's poetry, who look to him for something refreshing and flavored with a generous tang of Maine sea air, will not be disappointed in 'The Compass Eye.' But there is more than the nostalgic atmosphere of his native state to appeal to the wide audience the poet reaches regularly through Voices (his own highly valued quarterly) and through the many national periodicals where his poems appear." Springf'd Republican

"The poems of 'The Compass Eye' say nothing new, nor anything old in a new, arresting way. It is a book of fine, terse titles, and soft, multiderivative verses. . . A few of the poems which appear at the very back of the book do have an agreeable compactness." Leo Kennedy

— + Book Week p10 Je 4 '44 360w

Reviewed by Mona Van Duyn

Poetry 64:342 S '44 180w

"Harold Vinal is the poet of islands. In this his seventh book which is also his best and most inclusive, it is the island section, 'Jupiter and Granite,' where the blood runs closest to the surface and the pulse can be felt. That 'flower without root,' the mind, which informs the rest of the book with precise artist sincerity, with wit and sadness, allusion and astringency, has little to do with this group of poems which are themselves a chain of islands half lost in mist." L. T. Nicholl

VINAL, HAROLD—Continued
+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 N 25 '44 550w

Reviewed by A. M. Jakeman
+ Springf'd Republican p6 S 12 '44 440w

VINTON, IRIS. Laffy of the navy salvage divers; drawings by Addison Burbank. 159p il $2.25 Dodd

Dogs—Legends and stories 44-7307

Story of a friendly little dog who adopted the Navy training school (salvage) in New York, and became the mascot of the boys in training. On his first experience in the recompression chamber Laffy had trouble with his ears, until the boys taught him, in pantomime, how to "pop" his ears. And when he got lost on Broadway nearly the whole salvage school went to his rescue. For grades four to eight.

Booklist 41:44 O 1 '44
Cath World 160:282 D '44 10w
Kirkus 12:341 Ag 1 '44 110w

"Story is well written with appeal both for dog lovers and for those interested in diving. Illustrations by Addison Burbank add greatly to the spirit of the book." Elizabeth Johnson
+ Library J 69:817 O 1 '44 70w

"If you like stories of wholehearted friendships between dogs and men—and who doesn't?—this book keeps you reading, whatever your age. But a ten-year-old boy (who is, by nature, incomplete without a dog at this time of life) will read more than once this exhilarating account of a fox terrier complicated with whippet." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 3 '44 300w

VIOLICH, FRANCIS. Cities of Latin America; housing and planning to the south. 241p il $3.50 Reinhold

711.4 City planning. Cities and towns—Latin America. Housing 44-5873

"This is the travelogue of a specialist on city planning who has spent a period of ten months in Mexico and the capitals and principal cities of nine South American lands. He has studied their history and plans for the future (the latter being a more deceptive form of literature than he seems to realize); he has interviewed planning specialists and technicians, taken his bearings with a critical and sympathetic eye; enlarged his understanding of our own great cities, as well as those of Latin America, by constant comparison between them, and drawn up a number of suggestions for the improvement of urban life in both the Americas." N Y Times

"This remarkable book without predecessors contains much more than the title would make one believe. . . The constant comparison of the cities North and South, the people and the buildings, the history, the social, economic, and political problems, will probably help more to further good neighborliness than the work of many writers, who, in spite of all good purposes, often have not found the right way to approach the other Americans." Alfred Manes
+ Ann Am Acad 236:207 N '44 550w
Booklist 41:13 S '44

"We expect Violich's book will raise arguments and we hope it will. It deserves widespread reading. It is livelier than many a South American travel book and more vitally interesting than a South-of-the-Border tale of romance." E. A. Laycock
+ Boston Globe p15 Jl 19 '44 500w

"Anyone who contemplates a visit to South America some day, perhaps on the tourist dollars the author proposes, perhaps to provide the technical aid so badly wanted, will find this book entertaining and stimulating. And whoever reads it is likely to end up with the idea of some such trip in mind, whether he had it to start with or not." Catherine Bauer
+ New Repub 111:536 O 23 '44 850w

"The defects are secondary in a book that is a ground-breaking work in its field. Certainly no one interested in city planning on this continent can afford to miss what is essentially a preliminary report, while any one with a deep enough interest in the issues of Latin-American (and North American) life will find it a useful addition to his library." B. D. Wolfe
+ — N Y Times p12 Ag 6 '44 600w

"This is not an overly technical book. All the problems are posed against a broad, enlightened background of history, politics, and economics, and vitalized by keen personal observation. . . Mr. Violich's book has to do with problems rapidly growing acute in our own country, problems which will become tremendous as soon as peace returns. From it we can learn much of Latin America; we can learn much that is valuable for our own needs. It is clearly, simply, and often beautifully written, with a fresh enthusiastic and sympathetic touch throughout. The text is enhanced by copious illustrations, spectacular and well-selected, and competently commented upon." Carleton Beals
+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 S 2 '44 1100w

"Because the volume combines so nicely the technical and the sociological aspects of Latin American urbanism, because its theme is developed in terms of international democracy, and because it is interestingly written, it should have wide appeal for those who think and study about the modern western world." L. M. Brooks
+ Social Forces 23:227 D '44 550w

"Anyone interested in city planning or in civic and scenic improvement will find much information and stimulation in 'Cities of Latin America.' . . The value of the book to the general reader will come from the realization that we Americans, North, Central and South, have many things to share with and to learn from each other; and all will agree with the author that postwar exchange of ideas, technics and personnel should help make safe and comfortable living something more than wishful thinking." F. S. Conlin
+ Springf'd Republican p8 Ja 1 '45 300w

"This lively, frank, and fresh book is a true expression of what our Latin American friends, with their European training, would call urbanismo." C. S. Ascher
+ Survey 80:336 N '44 400w

"Mr. Violich evidently had a good time writing this book. The reader shares the pleasure. The author makes city building an exciting affair." Hubert Herring
+ Weekly Book Review p24 N 26 '44 350w

VISSON, ANDRE. Coming struggle for peace. 301p $3 Viking

940.53144 World war, 1939—Peace. World politics 44-5082

An analysis of the problems of the peace by a Russian-born journalist, who became familiar with many parts of Europe, particularly the Balkans and the Near East before becoming an American citizen. He considers the Polish question, the future of France, the dilemma of Finland and the Balkan states, and many other problems, all of which will have to be faced by the United Nations after the war is over. Index.

"The student of European affairs who knows Europe by living experience will learn little from this book. But since the author's presentation is correct, complete, and impartial, the volume constitutes an excellent source of information for the general public. It is, at the same time, a warning to the diplomats of the Peace Conference; it shows that the making of a just and durable peace for Europe—even apart from the basic problem of Germany—needs more than good will and high principles; it needs full knowledge and a mastery of statesmanship in finding practically acceptable solutions in a hundred concrete cases, and constitutes, therefore, at the best, a Herculean task." J. L. Kunz
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1237 D '44 700w

"The chief value of this worth-while volume is found in the careful review of the high lights of the real problems to be faced by the United Nations if they make a real peace." J. E. Harley

+ Ann Am Acad 236:169 N '44 1650w

" 'The Coming Struggle for Peace' is probably the best and most concise book about the most pressing problems of our day—the problems of peace. In a most objective fashion, without any passion or prejudice, Visson dissects all the major questions of our epoch, and he dissects them with the skillful hand of a master surgeon." M. W. Fodor
+ Book Week p5 Je 11 '44 450w
Booklist 40:375 Jl 1 '44
Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Je '44

"Andre Visson writes in an easy, readable manner. He seems content to present the difficulties and say that they must be solved. He presents the political activity of the Vatican in an understanding and favorable light, even to the extent of voicing some expectation of a Danubian or Balkan Federation of the type which he asserts to be favored by the Vatican and thus far opposed by Joseph Stalin. And he is hopeful, as are we all, of an eventual agreement between the Kremlin and the Vatican."
+ Commonweal 40:207 Je 16 '44 420w
Current Hist 7:52 Jl '44 90w
Foreign Affairs 23:3 O '44 30w

"An important book and one that makes a real contribution to the better understanding of the problems facing us now—and in the post-war settlements."
+ Kirkus 12:205 My 1 '44 130w

"This is not a work of political philosophy. Visson does not define 'the coming struggle' in terms of a broad issue. The subtitle is far more to the point—Conflicting Forces and Aspirations Which the United Nations Will Have to Face. It is a case book, the clinical description of ailments which, as the author presents them, might have no connection whatever. Let us accept it as such and be thankful." Albert Guerard
+ — Nation 159:78 Jl 15 '44 650w
New Repub 111:254 Ag 28 '44 150w

"Mr. Visson has written a much-needed book. Patiently, studiously, and with singular objectivity, he has catalogued many of the problems of the peace—not as a doctrinaire arraying evidence to prove a prior conclusion, but as a faithful journalist writing what he knows cannot be ignored if there is to be peace—a real, positive peace that will make impossible the return of another Hitlerian 'New Order,' complete with its quislings, its paladins, and its ghouls. . . And he has compressed into fewer than three hundred pages a galaxy of difficulties which is recommended reading for all, the Sunday morning planners in particular." R. G. Swing
+ N Y Times p7 Je 11 '44 1150w

"A sound, lucid, quietly intelligent analysis of some [present-day] problems."
+ New Yorker 20:77 Je 10 '44 140w

Reviewed by Norman Angell
Sat R of Lit 27:15 Je 24 '44 2250w

"Visson, in this book, comes forward as a most excellent guide through the labyrinth of issues besetting the thirty-nine nations welded together in the great coalition against the Axis. His knowledge is so encyclopedic that a reviewer can only touch upon a few of the United Nations headaches which he analyzes clearly and without prejudice in this brilliant survey of 300 pages. . . One of the best diagnoses I have seen of the maladies which inflict our sorry world. To cure them we must understand them. To their understanding Mr. Visson has made a significant contribution." W. L. Shirer
+ Weekly Book Review p3 Je 4 '44 1400w
Wis Lib Bul 40:129 O '44

VITAMINS and hormones; advances in research and applications; ed. by R. S. Harris and K. V. Thimann. (V 1) 452p il $6.50 Academic press, inc, 125 E. 23d st, N.Y.

612.015 Vitamins. Hormones (43-10535)

"The first of a series in which it is planned to present annually the results of current research. Each section is written by a well-qualified investigator. The work is intended primarily for reference use by specialists. This first volume contains subject and author indexes and extensive bibliographies." N Y New Tech Bks

---

Reviewed by E. C. Kendall
Am Chem Soc J 65:2474 D '43 800w

"No research worker who wishes to keep himself properly oriented in his field and no individual who wishes to keep abreast of these specialized subjects can well be without this volume." I. A. Manville
+ Am J Pub Health 34:199 F '44 450w

"The make up of the book is good, and there are few typographical errors. The indexes, author and subject, are extensive and very useful. The arrangement and appearance, and general content resemble very much those of the volumes of 'Ergebnisse der Vitamin—und Hormon—forschung' published by Akademische Verlagsgellschaft in Leipzig beginning in 1938. The one real criticism of this book is its price, which is so high that it will keep the book out of the hands of the younger scientists who need it most. When compared with the 'Annual Reviews of Biochemistry', this book is very expensive indeed." L. I. Smith
Chem & Eng N 21:1466 S 10 '43 320w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:13 Ja '44

VLEKKE, BERNARD HUBERTUS MARIA. Nusantara; a history of the East Indian archipelago. 439p il maps $5 Harvard univ. press

991 East Indies. Netherlands Indies
A43-3351

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

"Nusantara is one of those books of excellence that measures up to all reasonable critical tests of scholarship and literature. To read and study it is a satisfying experience." E. A. Hoebel
+ Am Anthropol 46:547 O '44 500w

"This new history will take an honored place beside the earlier study by Day. . . The earlier chapters are better than the later ones. . . The title selected for the book will strike even most Indies Netherlanders as odd. . . These criticisms are not meant to detract from the general excellence of this study. They merely suggest that this is not a perfect or definitive work. Nusantara has an assured place in the literature on the history of Western imperialism in the Far East and the beginnings of the rise of a new nation." Amry Vandenbosch
+ — Am Hist R 49:481 Ap '44 650w

"As a rule, books on the Dutch East Indies are written by specialists for specialists, or else they are superficial travellers' accounts. Bernard H. M. Vlekke's Nusantara steers a middle course. It is a history of the East Indies from prehistoric times to the Japanese conquest in 1942. It is a sound and scholarly work, and at the same time it is interestingly written. The author covers the economic as well as the political history, and his description of the governmental structure is adequate without being overburdened with detail." L. A. Mills
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:200 F '44 230w

"Vlekke is a Netherlander whose Nusantara is the most useful historical survey of the Netherland East Indies in the English language. It includes good bibliographical notes." J. S. Slotkin
+ Am Soc R 9:448 Ag '44 150w

"There is remarkably little bias in this book, and the judgments of the author are almost invariably fair. Once in a while, the reviewer detected what appeared to be a slight favoring of the Dutch record. . . There, however, are few and relatively minor points of criticism for a large volume, the general excellence of which deserves high praise. I heartily recommend Dr. Vlekke's work to students of history and general readers alike, for it is at once a thoroughly competent scholarly accomplishment

VLEKKE, B. H. M.—Continued
and an informative, engrossing recital of the story of the Indies." Raymond Kennedy
+ — Ann Am Acad 233:234 My '44 800w

Booklist 40:211 F 15 '44

"The Netherlands East Indies, despite their economic and strategic importance to the United States and to the outcome of the Pacific war, are shrouded in mystery for many Americans. This book sets the islands in perspective. It is the first complete English-language history of Nusantara—Malay word for Empire of the Islands—and as such it will be useful to Americans." S. C. M.
+ Christian Science Monitor p13 Ap 8 '44 600w

"A scholarly and instructive book."
+ Current Hist 6:163 F '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:503 Ap '44 20w

"Dr. Vlekke, formerly general secretary of the Netherlands Institute in Rome, has provided a very readable as well as authoritative and learned history of the East Indies for English readers. It is particularly valuable for its full documentation from Dutch sources, but it does not neglect the English writings and thus provides a really balanced view."
+ Nation 158:661 Je 3 '44 110w

"Crucial questions, such as land, have been given full treatment in this excellent work. Bibliographical footnotes, an excellent index and a chronological summary at the end of this volume increase its value."
+ New Repub 111:380 S 25 '44 240w

"An English reader will naturally turn first to those pages which bear on relations with the English—the early commercial rivalry when merchantmen were also men-of-war, and the period of British rule in Java under Raffles. He will find them treated with much fairness, though he might ask for the reconsideration of one or two minor points. The account of racial origins disregards the view held by many anthropologists that there is a considerable nēsiot admixture, and there is no reference to the theory that the seat of the Shrivijayan empire was in Malaya. Not infrequently the author adopts the misleading Dutch practice which lumps all Indians together. . . But minor details of this kind do not detract from the value of a book that all who are interested in the affairs of the Pacific ought to read and digest." J. S. Furnivall
+ — Pacific Affairs 17:239 Je '44 490w

"Dr. Vlekke's story of Holland's Far Eastern Empire is scholarly, interesting and fresh." J. L. Christian
+ Pol Sci Q 59:635 D '44 900w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 17 '44 380w

VON HAGEN, CHRISTINE INEZ (BROWN) (MRS VICTOR WOLFGANG VON HAGEN). Forgotten finca; il. by Nedda Walker. 164p $2.50 Nelson
44-4618

Story of the Panama coffee country. Elvia, aged ten, her father, mother, and small brother, discover an unoccupied house on a coffee plantation, while they are searching for a place to work. Elvia's father gets work on a nearby coffee plantation; the girl and her mother clean the house, and a home begins to take shape. Even when the long-absent owner returns, the little family is not dispossessed. For ages nine to twelve.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p11 Jl 16 '44 270w

Booklist 40:380 Jl 1 '44

"Mrs. Von Hagen knows Panama well and writes with the sympathetic touch shown in her earlier stories on Ecuador and Honduras. Nedda Walker's illustrations are admirably suited to the text." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:286 Jl '44 120w

"A lovely story, exquisitely told, by a real story teller, which adults will enjoy, along with the children (hence good for family reading)."
+ Kirkus 12:278 Je 15 '44 170w

"An unusually fine story. . . Both place and people come alive in a rather tender and intimate way. . . Recommended without reservation for nine- to twelve-year-old children." S. J. Johnson
+ Library J 69:556 Je 15 '44 80w

"Because it deals with the good earth and the things that grow from the earth it leaves a lasting memory of the land, of the coffee trees with their dark shining leaves and crimson berries, of the way in which coffee is grown and picked and dried. . . The illustrations are unusual. They have the quality of Nedda Walker's drawings for Don Lang's 'On the Dark of the Moon.' The one of Elvia joyously dancing when the question of the finca's ownership is settled is particularly striking. It has atmosphere and characterization as well as beauty and design." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:30 Je 10 '44 320w

"It is pleasant to find a story for children about lands to the south in which plot counts more than information. A nine-year-old learns from this one about Panama, but through following Elvia's fortunes: about coffee growing, but through the ups and downs of Papa." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p9 Je 4 '44 300w

VON MISES, LUDWIG. See Mises, L. von

VOORHIS, HORACE JEREMIAH. Beyond victory. 240p $2.50 Farrar
172.4 War. Peace. Reconstruction, 1939-
44-3304

These chapters by a Congressman from California discuss a number of economic and political problems to be faced when the war is won and peace and world reconstruction are ahead.

Reviewed by B. W. Knight
Am Econ R 34:909 D '44 550w

Reviewed by W. L. Godshall
Am Pol Sci R 38:816 Ag '44 300w

"Mr. Voorhis' recommendations for public policy are sober and realistic. His book deserves to be read widely." Ervin Hexner
+ Ann Am Acad 236:176 N '44 600w

Reviewed by Robert Lasch
Book Week p3 Ap 30 '44 310w

Booklist 40:312 My 15 '44

Canadian Forum 24:119 Ag '44 210w

"There is a multitude of books on this question, and more are to come, but here is a volume that will bear careful study. This congressman has thought through not only the framing of the peace itself but the questions and issues that underlie the peace." W. C. Williams
+ Christian Century 61:900 Ag 2 '44 900w

Reviewed by Edward Skillin, Jr.
Commonweal 40:64 My 5 '44 1050w

Kirkus 12:91 F 15 '44 130w

"Sincere and forward looking. Will not convince standpatters and pessimists. Recommended." G. W. Hill
+ Library J 69:353 Ap 15 '44 70w

"The principal weakness of the book is that it covers much too much ground to explore thoroughly all the ideas it presents or to answer many of the fairly obvious objections which might be raised to them. Many more subjects are discussed than can even be mentioned in a review of this length. Nevertheless, Mr. Voorhis has at least partially supplied the need for a critique of world problems which is uninfluenced by preconceived ideas, either conservative or radical. His approach has a fresh quality which comes from willingness to look at the world we live in without fear of any change that might bring improvement, and also without commitment to any plan of change based upon a rigid political or economic formula." C. E. Noyes
+ — Nation 158:714 Je 17 '44 750w

Reviewed by Richard Match
New Repub 110:856 Je 26 '44 120w

"Mr. Voorhis has written a thoughtful and provocative book. From the eyrie of his seat in the House of Representatives the California progressive has surveyed the antecedents of World War II and why the world lost its opportunity to build a durable peace after 1918." Louis Stark

+ N Y Times p29 My 28 '44 350w

Reviewed by R. A. Brady
Pol Sci Q 59:612 D '44 800w

"It is too easy to say yes to this book, to praise its purpose, its balance, its conclusions. It is too comfortable a book. I do not believe that a single America-Firster, anti-Semite or isolationist would change his mind as a result of reading it or feel like knocking the author down in anger and passion. With apologies to the headmasters, who are useful members of the human society, I should say it is the book of a headmaster rather than a political fighter." Egon Ranshofen-Wertheimer

Survey G 33:465 N '44 550w

"This book by the California Congressman is not notably well written or well organized, but it is a product of careful study and courageous thinking, and makes a number of proposals which deserve general consideration." H. B. Parkes

+ — Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 16 '44 500w

VRATZIAN, SIMON. Armenia and the Armenian question; tr. from the Armenian by James G. Mandalian. 106p $1 Hairenik assn, inc, 212 Stuart st, Boston 16

947.9 Armenia A44-1606

"Essentially, this brief volume is a political tract, not a scholarly note on the history of Armenia and the Armenian question. The author is a graduate of the Armenian Gevorgian Academy of Etchmiadzin and of the University of Petrograd. During the last World War he was a member of the Armenian National Bureau and of the executive committee which organized the Armenian volunteer bands. Later he was editor of the Armenian newspaper Horizon in Tiflis, and of Haratch ('Forward'), the semiofficial organ of the Independent Armenian Republic (1918-21). At one time he served as Prime Minister, but after the sovietization of Armenia he moved to Paris where he published the Armenian magazine Vem for a period of years. . . The author explains in his foreword that it is his purpose to bring the 'Armenian Question' once more to the attention of the world, under the principles of the Atlantic Charter." Ann Am Acad

---

Reviewed by H. N. Howard
Ann Am Acad 234:146 Jl '44 450w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:502 Ap '44 10w

W

WACH, JOACHIM. Sociology of religion. 412p $5 Univ. of Chicago press

201 Religion and sociology. Sociology A44-2304

"In spite of the triumph of science in the last three hundred years, religion continues to be one of the major integrating social forces in the modern world. The author, formerly a German professor but now in this country, has succeeded in presenting a succinct and surprisingly readable summary of the findings of theologians, anthropologists and social scientists on the interrelation of religion and society in different cultures and ages. Examining the part played by religion in the formation and transformation of society, and the effect of social organization and stratification on religion, the author arrives at a working typology of religious groups, their cult expression, leadership and symbols of integration." New Repub

---

"Of the readers who start in hopefully at Mr. Wach's 'Methodological Prolegomena,' few and weary will the survivors be who come at last to the appendix on 'Hierarchy.' The book is written in a vicious style—pedantry at its dullest. . . The number of footnotes is almost incredible. There are more than seventeen hundred in a text of fewer than four hundred pages. Many are superfluous and many badly chosen. But these criticisms are all of minor importance. This book breaks a new path. All students of human society are indebted to its author for a work which will prove the starting point of many future investigations. That is praise enough for any scientist." L. P. Edwards

+ — Ann Am Acad 236:217 N '44 400w

"Joachim Wach has done the first major sociology of religion in English. Everyone working in this field will have great appreciation for this outstanding contribution." S. C. Kincheloe

+ Christian Century 61:1255 N 1 '44 950w

"Among the admirable qualities of this monograph are its clear distinction between the normative (social philosophy) and the descriptive (sociology) its appreciative and critical use of Hegel's thought, its sympathetic use of the typological method, its understanding of both subjective and objective religion, and its competent evaluation of all previous work done in the field. The book is not written in the style of William James. It is prepared as a German textbook in the grand style, and its English is so compact as to require very careful study. Much of the meat of the book is in the footnotes. Unfortunately the indices (which would be more useful if consolidated into one) fail to include references to the authorities cited in the footnotes. In fact, the wealth of scholarship lavished on the footnotes is almost inaccessible for reference purposes. A full index is the most imperative essential for a second edition. . . No serious student of religion should neglect to own and study this magnum opus. Professor Wach's presence at Brown University is one of Hitler's uncovenanted mercies to American scholarship." E. S. Brightman

+ — Crozer Q 22:77 Ja '45 1000w

"The volume is distinguished by its author's careful effort to refrain from explicit value judgments in a field in which normative evaluations have been traditional obstacles to scientific insight."

+ New Repub 111:166 Ag 7 '44 150w

WACHSMAN, Z. H. Trail blazers for invasion. 284p $2.75 Ungar

940.5337 World war, 1939—Occupied territories 44-118

"The story of the underground movement in Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, France, Greece and Jugoslavia, with a chapter on Jewish resistance." Cleveland Open Shelf

---

Cleveland Open Shelf p1 Ja '44

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:492 Ap '44 20w

WADE, ARTHUR SARSFIELD. See Rohmer, S. pseud.

WADE, GLADYS I. Thomas Traherne; with a selected bibliography of criticism, by Robert Allerton Parker. 269p $3 Princeton univ. press

B or 92 Traherne, Thomas A44-2294

"Thomas Traherne (1638-74), poet, Platonist, Anglican priest, writer of devout meditations and student of 'divine philosophy,' lived out his brief span in one of the most unquiet periods of English history. . . Miss Wade is the outstanding scholar in the field of Traherne's life and work and the editor of the definitive edition of his poetry. The present work breaks new ground in its presentation of a poet who sought spiritual peace and the permanence of high truth in an age when the affairs of men were in conflict and flux." Christian Century

---

"This book, for which there has long been an imperative, if not widely recognized need, tells one of the strangest stories in literary history. The story would have been worth telling, even if it did not involve riddles whose unraveling, not yet complete, constitute a major problem in literary detection, for the seventeenth century author whom it concerns was virtually lost to human knowledge until the accidental discovery of some of his poetry in 1895. . . The task of running him to earth has been lovingly discharged by Dr. Gladys I. Wade, Australian scholar with a degree from the University of London." B. M. Kelly

WADE, G. I.—Continued

+ Cath World 159:568 S '44 700w

+ Christian Century 61:855 Jl 19 '44 110w

Reviewed by J. L. Blau
J Philos 41:642 N 9 '44 950w

"We look in vain for any light that modern psychology might throw on the nature of [Traherne's] early intuitions. And we are not told whether the new-found poem 'To bee a Monarch is a glorious thing' has any likeness to the verse in 'The Vision' beginning 'To see a Fountain is a blessed thing,' of which one would guess it to be a variant. But these are minor defects. Despite them, and despite an occasionaly naive comment, this book has a claim on anyone who wishes to get a right notion of the seventeenth century. For in Traherne, Henry Vaughan's sense of Eternity, George Fox's intensity, the devoutness of a Herbert and the learning of a Cudworth, are subtly and fragrantly blended." J. A. W. Bennett

+ — N Y Times p4 Ja 28 '45 1300w

WADSWORTH, LEDA A. Mystery at White Moccasins. 278p $2 Farrar
44-20854

Mystery story for boys and girls.

Booklist 40:324 My 15 '44

"Well enough—but not top drawer."
+ — Kirkus 12:98 F 15 '44 160w

"Characters are well enough done for this sort of thing. Recommended for all children's departments where there are never enough good mystery yarns to go around." S. J. Johnson

+ Library J 69:355 Ap 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by E. L. Buell
N Y Times p18 Ap 9 '44 120w

"A well-constructed story."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:39 My 13 '44 60w

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 25 '44 60w

WAGENKNECHT, EDWARD CHARLES, ed. Six novels of the supernatural. (Viking portable lib) 883p $2.50 Viking
44-8273

Contents: A Beleaguered City, by M. O. W. Oliphant; The Return, by Walter De La Mare; The White People, by F. H. Burnett; The Terror, by Arthur Machen; Sweet Rocket, by Mary Johnston; Portrait of Jennie, by Robert Nathan.

Booklist 41:60 O 15 '44

"A collection for spiritual, rather than sanguinary tastes, and of appeal questionable for moderns. This seems a bit outside the range of the other 'portables'."
Kirkus 12:287 Jl 1 '44 170w

"In these 883 pages of supernatural writing there are not enough moments when a soft, careless chill, or even a feeling much apart from the mundane, is likely to steal over the reader. The kind of reader who expects much to happen in ghost stories might even be tired out by the time he gets to the end of the book, from a surfeit of ghostly talk and a scarcity of the real ghost article." Eudora Welty

N Y Times p6 D 10 '44 900w

"Mr. Wagenknecht excuses some obvious omissions from his anthology because of lack of space, but he does not offer any good reason the three dullish ladies represented might not have yielded the space they occupy to their betters."

New Yorker 20:78 Ja 13 '45 200w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 3 '44 220w

WAGNER, HENRY RAUP. Rise of Fernando Cortés. (Documents and narratives concerning the discovery and conquest of Latin America. New ser) 564p il maps $12.50 Cortes soc, Bancroft lib, Univ. of Calif, Berkeley 4, Calif.

B or 92 Cortés, Hernando. Mexico—History—Conquest, 1519-1540 44-7609

"In 1942 the Cortés Society began the publication of a new series of 'Documents and Narratives Concerning the Discovery and Conquest of Latin America.'. . The present volume, the third, deals with the conquest of Mexico and the life of its Conquistador from birth to the moment when he has reached the summit of his power. Henry R. Wagner, the editor of the series, began the first slender volume by letting meager texts speak largely for themselves. . . In the present work he still carries all the documents, so to speak, at his fingers' tips, but he himself steps into the foreground as narrator of a connected tale." N Y Times

"Dr. Wagner inclines slightly toward the 'debunking school.' But he is too good a historian, too well acquainted with and too fond of the original chronicles to let his skeptical turn of mind give more than a touch of dry, acerb earthiness to his evaluation of them. This, too, handicaps his book as literature. But as historical examination, collation and evaluation of the basic source documents it has not been excelled since Prescott undertook that task a century ago. Some university press should do a reprint, for it seems a pity to see so important a work limited to 300 copies." B. W.

+ N Y Times p27 O 8 '44 440w

Weekly Book Review p11 D 24 '44 1150w

WAGONER, MRS JEAN (BROWN). Jane Addams, little lame girl; il. by Sandra James. 192p $1.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Addams, Jane—Juvenile literature
44-8093

Biography of Jane Addams for young readers. As in most of the books in this series the emphasis is on her childhood, with one chapter on the founding of Hull House.

'More of this series have dealt with boyhoods rather than girlhoods, so this girlhood of a woman who became a great leader in social work is a welcome addition."
+ Kirkus 12:373 Ag 15 '44 90w

"The decorations by Sandra James add much to this lively sympathetic tale of childhood." M. K. B.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 26 '44 40w

Wis Lib Bul 40:162 D '44

WAHL, ARTHUR MUNZENMAIER. Mechanical springs. 435p il $6 Penton

621.82 Springs (mechanism) 44-6811

"First up-to-date book on characteristics and uses of spring types, helical tension and compression springs, Belleville, flat and leaf, torsion, spiral ring, volute and rubber types covering design, selection and specifications. Tables, graphs and many illustrations." Library J

Booklist 41:149 Ja 15 '45

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:701 S 1 '44 40w

WAITE, FREDERICK CLAYTON. Western Reserve university, the Hudson era. 540p il $5 Western Reserve univ. press

378 Western Reserve university 43-12825

"Western Reserve College, founded at Hudson, Ohio, in 1826, is an example of the impact of New England theology and intellectualism upon the early Middle West. It was outstanding for several decades because of standards of scholarship comparable with those of the older New England institutions. . . This volume follows the history of Western Reserve College during its first fifty-six years, until it moved to Cleveland to become an urban university, leaving its preparatory department behind in Hudson to grow eventually into the independent Western Reserve Academy of today." Am Hist R

"There is bound to be much detail in a volume of this kind which makes rather tedious reading except for alumni, students, and friends of the school, but the author has made a conspicuous effort to relate his story to the larger educational and historical currents of the day." Carl Wittke

+ Am Hist R 49:366 Ja '44 350w

"For Professor Waite the writing of this history has been a labor of love. Born on the edge of the campus at Hudson, into a family which has been closely connected with the institution since its beginning, he has been associated with it, either as a student or as an official, almost continuously since 1886. Although his relation is sometimes too close to produce a wholly objective view, it does enable the author to write intimately and understandingly of the men whose zeal and courage founded and sustained the University." W. P. Rogers

+ New Eng Q 17:143 Mr '44 550w

WAITE, HELEN ELMIRA. Butterfly takes command; with il. by John C. Wonsetler. 297p $2 Macrae Smith co.

44-3687

Combination mystery and vocational story for older girls. The heroine was called Butterfly by her family because of her helplessness. When war shortages made it expedient for Butterfly to work in the public library, she gradually outgrew her feeling of inferiority, and helped round up a group of Nazi agents.

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 Jl 30 '44 150w

"There is a light romance, and a Nazi spy element is thrown in for good measure, but the book remains a really good career story in the library field. For girls of high school age."

+ Wis Lib Bul 40:134 O '44

WAITE, JOHN BARKER. Prevention of repeated crime. 221p $3 Univ. of Mich.

364.614 Crime and criminals. Rehabilitation. Recidivists 43-52975

"The purpose of this volume is to effect a critical analysis of the preventive theories and practices applied to already known criminals. Of the various questions Waite desires to answer herein, perhaps four illustrate the objective to be obtained. These are: (1) Upon what theories is present treatment based? (2) To what extent are these theories permitted action by statute? (3) How effective are these theories and practices? (4) By what changes can prevention of further crime by known repeaters be made more effective? A 'library study' method is used to accomplish the purpose projected." Ann Am Acad

Reviewed by Nathaniel Cantor

Am Soc R 9:701 D '44 650w

"This clearly written volume is a distinct contribution in this delimited field. The findings made are not always new. However, the logical handling of the data, plus the gathering of them into one volume, may be important enough to stimulate increased interest in this neglected area of criminology." G. K. Brown

+ Ann Am Acad 232:224 Mr '44 450w

Reviewed by P. D. Kaufman

Columbia Law R 44:592 Jl '44 550w

Reviewed by G. H. Dession

Harvard Law R 57:394 Ja '44 2650w

Reviewed by L. M. Brooks

Social Forces 22:466 My '44 650w

WAKEMAN, FREDERIC. Shore leave. 310p $2.50 Farrar

44-2718

Several war-weary veterans from the South Pacific spend their leave in San Francisco, and spend most of their time with drink and women.

"Readers who demand purposeful writing may object that it's riding on a merry-go-round —that the people and their behavior symbolize nothing but futility. Be that as it may, the book's negative implications are more thought-provoking than a great many labored positive affirmations by other authors."

Book Week p3 Mr 12 '44 600w

"It reads with intensity and immediacy, with no illusion and little prettifying, and with a certain impact—but not a book for the patient Griseldas or cautious librarians."

+ — Kirkus 12:5 Ja 1 '44 140w

"Written in military-service lingo, aimed at a military audience, rather tough and cynical in tone, a blend of war realism and melodrama. Limited in appeal and value." H. A. Wooster

Library J 69:204 Mr 1 '44 40w

"'Shore Leave' is a first report on our newest lost generation; it can be read as the spiritual parallel, from this war, to Ernest Hemingway's version of World War I. . . Of course, the fact that Mr. Wakeman studies aftermaths of war which have already been charted does not mean that he is unreliable; it simply reduces the interest of his book as a story and as a first novel of a new war." Diana Trilling

Nation 158:399 Ap 1 '44 500w

"If Mr. Wakeman has reported the conversations of his three main characters accurately, we have here another example of the way in which life, consciously or unconsciously, imitates art. Ernest Hemingway is apparently doomed to spend his declining years listening to approximations of the accents of his early characters. But where Hemingway and Fitzgerald raised their rather trivial characters to legendary figures by the authority of their art, Wakeman's humbler talent leaves his pretty much where he found them." George Mayberry

New Repub 110:416 Mr 27 '44 550w

"What happens is told in a fast-moving story with lively, incisive dialogue and amusing sequences. Mr. Wakeman does not pull his punches. Much of the language, and many of the situations, will curl the hair of the less hardened reader—while the sophisticated is apt to wonder at the forebearance shown by the management of the St. Mark. Exaggerated as these young veterans may appear to the outsider, they are far from atypical, as San Francisco will bear witness. Possibly 'Shore Leave' is a harbinger of a post-war literature that will combine the early frustration of a Wolfe with the belligerent intensity of a young Hemingway." F. J. Bell

N Y Times p4 Mr 12 '44 700w

"An open-eyed narrative style, not creative writing but good reporting. There is no attempt at probing for significance." R. L. Nathan

Sat R of Lit 27:24 Ap 1 '44 500w

"When Mr. Wakeman writes about a Frank Sinatra broadcast, when he makes his characters discourse learnedly about swing music and New York night clubs he is merely loading down his book with a lot of things that don't belong in it. An author writing a first novel ought to resist the temptation of crowding into it everything he knows about everything. After all, the uninhibited Crewson is a good deal more diverting than any novelist ever could be." Herbert Kupferberg

— + Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 12 '44 500w

"Shore Leave is vulgar and cheap by any standard, but it is fast and funny and arresting, too." Orville Prescott

Yale R n s 33:767 summer '44 200w

WALDECK, THEODORE J. Treks across the veldt; il. by Ivan T. Sanderson. 213p $2.50 Viking

799.2 Hunting—Africa. Animals, Habits and behavior of 44-4623

Account of the author's trip to Africa to bring back live specimens for zoos, menageries, and laboratories. He gives one chapter each to such animals as the leopard, chimpanzee, rhinoceros, lion, crocodile, python, badger, warthog, and elephant, explaining the technique of capturing each one. For grades seven to nine.

WALDECK, T. J.—Continued
Book Week p7 Je 4 '44 250w
Booklist 40:344 Je 1 '44
Cath World 160:282 D '44 10w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:292 Jl '44 80w
Kirkus 12:119 Mr 1 '44 110w

"These first-hand experiences are made graphic and genuinely thrilling. Recommended for older boys and girls." M. N. Miller
+ Library J 69:556 Je 15 '44 80w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p20 Je 18 '44 120w
New Yorker 20:58 Jl 8 '44 90w

"These stories are more than just hunter's tales. They are a revelation of Africa. Mr. Waldeck's feeling for it runs through every line of description and of action. Nothing could be clearer, more practical than his account of solving the problems of transportation and trapping, of his relations with the native tribes who are his trekkers and hunters, of his careful scientific preparation, his attention to the smallest detail. But, underneath all this, lies his feeling of kinship with the African veldt." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:30 Je 10 '44 400w

"Each story is different and each interests any one who looks at wild animals in a zoo and wonders how on earth they got there." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p8 Je 4 '44 300w
Wis Lib Bul 40:134 O '44

WALDMAN, LOUIS. Labor lawyer. 394p $3.50 Dutton

B or 92 Trade unions 44-5611

The autobiography of a successful New York labor lawyer, who came to this country from Ukrainia as a youth of seventeen. The book is not only the story of his life, but also an account of the labor and socialist movements in the United States. Index.

Reviewed by A. G. Taylor
Ann Am Acad 237:235 Ja '45 450w
Reviewed by T. R. Powell
Atlantic 174:135 N '44 600w
Reviewed by John Mentges
Book Week p3 Ag 27 '44 500w
Booklist 41:20 S '44

"It is an excellent volume, well planned, well indexed, well printed." J. P. Boland
+ Commonweal 40:524 S 15 '44 650w

Reviewed by A. B. Lindsay
Library J 69:650 Ag '44 80w

"Despite the pose adopted by the author, the book is full of innuendoes and the sly amalgams typical of the Communists whom the author detests but whose literary manners he copies. As the fruit of three dcades of political activity we are given some mildly interesting chit-chat, few insights, and little information of value." Philip Taft
— + Nation 159:386 S 30 '44 550w

"The whole chapters on political theory and party strife are not as pithy as his occasional comments—like the summing-up of the Little Flower in 'What Price La Guardia'—or as clear and objective as the accounts of his legal labors. The latter make up the best part of the book and it is a pity there are no more given here, for in fighting his cases Waldman, a keen, robust, hearty doer, has no misgivings and feels absolutely at home." Catharine Brody
+ — N Y Times p12 Ag 27 '44 550w

New Yorker 20:60 Ag 19 '44 140w
Reviewed by A. G. Hays
Sat R of Lit 27:33 S 23 '44 850w
Reviewed by W. J. Dunn
Springf'd Republican p6 O 3 '44 420w

"Those interested in Mr. Waldman's interpretation of the many battles he has fought as a lawyer for labor organizations will find much meat in this book. Those interested in the political battle will find the book deeply controversial. The conclusions that Louis Waldman has reached after thirty years on the labor front have point here." Harry Hansen
+ Survey G 33:394 S '44 750w
Time 44:94 Ag 28 '44 500w

"Mr. Waldman engaged in a long procession of legal battles for workers' defense and civil liberties. Of all these cases he writes with a real sense of drama. But when he discusses his purely personal life—his childhood, his early tribulations, his personal ventures, his non-political experience—his style is rather flatly narrative. He is by nature too much the lawyer and social politician. Also his keen intelligence at times deserts him when he diagnoses men with whose ideas he completely disagrees." Benjamin Stolberg
+ — Weekly Book Review p3 Ag 20 '44 1350w

WALEY, ARTHUR, tr. See Wu Ch'êng-ên (supposed author) Adventures of Monkey

WALKER, ANNE KENDRICK. Tuskegee and the black belt; a portrait of a race; introd. by Chauncey Sparks; il. from paintings of Negro life by Kelly Fitzpatrick [and others] from sculpture by Isaac Hathaway and [others] and from phot. by P. H. Polk. 180p $3 Dietz

325.26 Negroes. Tuskegee normal and industrial institute 44-6769

"Miss Walker is neither a violent Negrophile, calling in starry-eyed zeal for the immediate abolition of all racial segregation, nor a Negrophobe whose sole concern is keeping colored people 'in their place.' . . The book opens with a highly sympathetic account of Booker T. Washington's early years, and the founding of Tuskegee. . . Next comes a chapter called 'The Negro's Bill of Grievances.' . . There is an examination of the issues involved in the perennial poll tax wrangles. . . The role of the Negro in both World Wars is set forth. . . The cleavage of Southern opinion over recent efforts of the Federal authorities to obtain more jobs for colored workers in war industries is noted." N Y Times

"If all Southerners would exhibit Miss Walker's intelligent awareness of the issues that are troubling the Negro today (and fortunately more and more of them are doing so), the country would be much nearer a partial solution of the race problem than it is." Virginius Dabney
+ N Y Times p11 S 3 '44 500w

Reviewed by Alain Locke
Survey 80:334 N '44 200w

WALKER, DOROTHY PIERCE (MRS I. J. WALKER). Dr Whitney's secretary. 254p $2 Macrae Smith co.

44-4516

Novel on the doctor and nurse theme, which concerns itself with questions of public health and professional integrity.

Kirkus 12:80 F 15 '44 90w

"It's a story you can believe as well as enjoy." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 14 '44 140w
Wis Lib Bul 40:161 D '44

WALKER, EDWARD RONALD. From economic theory to policy. 273p $3 Univ. of Chicago press [18s Cambridge]

330.1 Economics. Economic policy A43-3478

"This book is concerned with the central problem of the relation of theory to reality and to policies seeking to maintain or modify existing economic structure. The basic premise is that theory is an indispensable tool both for understanding and explaining the here and now, and for advising policy-makers on how best to reach certain defined good ends or avoid possible evils. 'The chief function of economic theory emerges as the classification of the observable facts according to a significant scheme. The categories of the scheme must be given practical application for understanding specific conditions. 'In this descent from generalities to particulars, which constitutes the application of theory to practice, the rôle of theory inevitably appears as the provision of a significant list of things to look for.' " (Pol Sci Q) Index.

"The work of Professor Walker is a valuable record of the observations of an academic economist who has been serving as an adviser in the Australian state. It is to be hoped that this pioneer work will be followed by similar studies from representative American economists who have been holding key positions in the Federal Government." V. A. Mund

+ Ann Am Acad 233:243 My '44 400w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:6 Ja '44 20w

'Professor Walker, although an Australian, exhibits a keen insight into the nature of the American economy. Yet he does not dismiss entirely the theoretical approach. He underscores, rather, the need for a better theory than we have now. . . Walker recognizes 'theoretic blight' when he sees it. He knows what intellectual lumber must be discarded if the economist is to participate actively in human affairs. Yet he has been unable to present a genuine science of society of his own making." B. B. Seligman

+ — New Repub 109:856 D 13 '43 900w

"Dr. Walker's thesis is of great importance to the politician and the administrator, but his writing is for, and will chiefly be read by, the professional economist." Harvey Pinney

Pol Sci Q 59:139 Mr '44 700w

WALKER, JOHN, and JAMES, MACGILL, eds. Great American paintings from Smibert to Bellows, 1729-1924. 36p 104pl $5 Oxford

759.1 Paintings, American 43-18438

This book is designed to show the chronological development of American painting from the beginnings in Colonial days to the outbreak of the first World war. It is composed largely of plates, arranged chronologically, with an introduction, catalog notes, a bibliography, and index.

Booklist 40:192 F 1 '44

Bookmark 5:9 Mr '44

"Primarily 'Great American Paintings' is a picture book. It is really magnificently illustrated, as far as the black and white reproductions are concerned. As much cannot be said for those in color, which have that peculiar look of the oleograph so destructive of a fine painting's quality. But this is a minor criticism indeed. Here is a whole gallery of American painting covering our entire achievement up to the present generation—in other words, that part of our artistic heritage about which judgment can be fairly sure. The selection, also, is excellent. There are old favorites one does not see, but there are plenty of others to make up for their absence. What is more, the selection from each painter's output is as generous as you could ask for."

+ Commonweal 39:306 Ja 7 '44 550w

Nation 158:344 Mr 18 '44 120w

Reviewed by Christopher Lazare

N Y Times p7 Ja 23 '44 230w

"The wisdom of limiting Audubon, one of the great ones, to a single picture while displaying Mary Cassatt, a plodding eclectic, in five canvases may be questioned; and the editorial exclusion of living artists removes John Sloan and Edward Hopper from the old group of 'ash can' realists which they founded together with Henri, Bellows, Luks, and Glackens. But these are minor complaints. The book will be welcomed by all who care seriously for American art: the text is short and sensible; the catalogue notes detailed and useful; and the reproductions large and clear —unusually excellent, in fact, in these days when printing difficulties are so general." Thomas Craven

+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Ja 29 '44 380w

WALKER, MILDRED (MRS F. R. SCHEMM). Winter wheat. 306p $2.50 Harcourt

44-40006

Ellen Webb, living on a remote Montana ranch, is the heroine and narrator. She describes the life on the ranch she loves; her New England bred father and her Russian peasant mother. After college comes Gilbert, who visits them and finds the ranch and Ellen's parents dull. Gilbert goes to war and is killed, and in readjusting herself to her loss Ellen recaptures her love of her home.

"This is a regional novel, in the best sense of the term. It is not narrowly so; the universality which is the prerequisite of good books is here. Mildred Walker can make you know and feel the earth and the wheat. She can evoke almost tangible heat and cold. . . 'Winter Wheat' will inevitably be compared with 'Growth of the Soil.' Superficially, this is just; in the inexorability of nature and its influence on people who live close to it, in the hard lives of the ranchers, this is like Hamsun. But whereas Hamsun's people (in 'Growth of the Soil') were inarticulate, almost animal, in 'Winter Wheat' we find Ellen, at least, is an introspective and extremely 'conscious' intellectual woman, despite her physical and emotional closeness to the elemental forces." A. C. Spectorsky

+ Book Week p1 Ja 23 '44 1450w

Booklist 40:199 F 1 '44

"This is an unpretentious piece of work, close enough to the war to be timely, but with sufficient perspective to have more than a passing claim to attention."

+ Christian Century 61:147 F 2 '44 130w

Commonweal 39:400 F 4 '44 500w

Reviewed by M. C. Scoggin

Horn Bk 20:401 S '44 70w

"Gripping story of human conflicts and man's constant struggle to wrest a living from ruthless Nature. Highly recommended for all libraries." H. A. Carpenter

+ Library J 69:71 Ja 15 '44 80w

"Miss Walker's writing glows with a simplicity that is admirably suited to the land she loves and to the characters she portrays." Rose Feld

+ N Y Times p6 Ja 23 '44 500w

"The characters are . . . on the whole, good stuff."

+ New Yorker 19:66 Ja 22 '44 70w

"A simple, uncomplicated story, which though it lacks powerful action is full of moving incidents. In what is essentially a novel of character and place rather than plot, the creation of Ellen's mother, Anna Petrovna Webb, and the vivid sense of place and region are themselves major achievements." Bess Jones

+ Sat R of Lit 27:6 Ja 22 '44 480w

Reviewed by F. H. Bullock

Weekly Book Review p8 Ja 23 '44 500w

Wis Lib Bul 40:27 F '44

WALKER, STANLEY. Dewey; an American of this century. (Whittlesey house publication) 350p $2.50 McGraw

B or 92 Dewey, Thomas Edmund. Campaign literature, 1944 44-7939

Full-length biography of the Republican candidate for the presidency, showing the steps in his career which have led to his present position. The author is an American journalist. The last third of the book contains speeches and addresses by Mr Dewey delivered between 1937 and June, 1944. No index.

"The book possesses what appears to be a structural defect. It is, with the exception of a number of speeches, almost wholly lacking in detail as to Gov. Dewey's philosophy. One is left with the impression that the governor would bring considerable ability as an administrator to the presidency. But little light is shed upon the possible manner in which he would direct that ability. The book fails to demonstrate whether it would be used in behalf of the masses, or the classes." M. P. Akers

Book Week p6 S 24 '44 700w

WALKER, STANLEY—Continued

Booklist 41:40 O 1 '44

Commonweal 41:22 O 20 '44 20w

"Stanley Walker has done a sound job. He has not attempted to draw Dewey oversize, to give him qualities he does not possess. He has outlined his career, which has in itself enough material for dozens of detective stories, as well as the main stream of American success against a wholesome and credible American background."

+ Kirkus 12:386 S 1 '44 340w

Reviewed by McAlister Coleman

Nation 159:412 O 7 '44 850w

Reviewed by R. G. Spivack

— New Repub 111:574 O 30 '44 390w

"When it comes to the Governorship, Mr. Walker writes with less gusto and color. As an argument for the election of Dewey to the Presidency the book suffers from a hiatus in logic. Its demonstration that the Republican nominee was a brilliant public prosecutor and a competent State Executive falls short of proving that he ought to be lifted to the greatest office in the world in one of the major crises of human history." Alan Nevins

+ — N Y Times p4 S 17 '44 700w

New Yorker 20:82 S 23 '44 120w

"Far superior to the customary paean. A gifted newspaperman, Mr Walker presents Mr Dewey's career with clarity and the effectiveness of some restraint. Intellectually honest, he does not claim too much or spin out tenuous arguments in Dewey's favor. By implication, at least, he seems to admit that the New Yorker's performance in certain situations new to him can only be guessed at." Marshall Bragdon

+ Springf'd Republican p6 S 23 '44 550w

"The official biography is a standard fixture of every political campaign. It is customarily solemn, pompous and exceedingly dull. Because Stanley Walker is a writer with a lively journalistic style, this biography of Governor Dewey escapes the blight that all too often falls on similar efforts. For one thing, it does not push the case for Mr. Dewey too hard. . . Mr. Walker's account of the young District Attorney's conquest of organized crime in New York is the most interesting part of the book, but his comparison of Dewey with the picturesque William Travers Jerome, an earlier District Attorney who tilted with the dragon of New York vice, seems a little far-fetched." Marquis Childs

+ — Weekly Book Review p3 S 17 '44 1100w

WALLACE, HENRY AGARD. Democracy reborn; selected from public papers and ed. with an introd. and notes by Russell Lord. 280p il $3 Reynal

973.917 U.S.—Politics and government—20th century. U.S.—Economic policy. U.S.—Foreign relations 44-5465

"Mr. Lord, no less than Mr. Wallace himself, reveals the Vice-President in this book as a man of engaging personality—sincere, uncertain, questing among the contradictions of modern life for some compromise which will reconcile individual freedom and the common welfare; which will produce the efficiency of a planned economy without regimentation. . . The book includes a profile of Mr. Wallace by the editor; many of his speeches and excerpts from his writings, all hung on the thread of Mr. Lord's admiring but often revealing comment." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by B. E. Nelson

Ann Am Acad 237:234 Ja '45 600w

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky

Book Week p6 Jl 30 '44 950w

Booklist 40:375 Jl 1 '44

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons

Boston Globe p15 Je 21 '44 400w

Christian Science Monitor p16 Jl 5 '44 600w

"Russell Lord has done a superb piece of editing in this collection of Mr. Wallace's speeches and papers between 1933-1944. An introductory biographical sketch presents a well-rounded portrait of the man."

+ Kirkus 12:208 My 1 '44 150w

"I hope many people will read his collection of speeches, for I doubt that it would be possible in any other way to get the full impact of his belief that successful democracy must have an underpinning of religious belief, and that the future, which may be a glorious one, depends on what we in America think and feel and determine to do. He believes in individual responsibility, but he knows that unless we work for the good of the common man there is no future for any of us." Mrs F. D. Roosevelt

+ New Repub 111:165 Ag 7 '44 1450w

"There is no doubt that in this book Mr. Wallace has contributed more straight thinking than invective, and in a Presidential campaign which so far has generated more heat than light that is a useful contribution." J. B. Reston

+ N Y Times p1 Je 18 '44 1450w

"There are those who will continue to be exasperated by Mr. Wallace's concept of the brave new world—a world whose shape he is unable to define clearly—but it is apparent, on the basis of this record, that he is expressing, in large measure, the highest hopes of that common man whose foremost spokesman he has become."

New Yorker 20:77 Je 24 '44 350w

Reviewed by M. W. Childs

Sat R of Lit 27:11 S 9 '44 750w

Reviewed by L. O. Kattsoff

Social Forces 23:225 D '44 550w

"To this reviewer 'Democracy Reborn' is an impressive record of a man's growth, marked by ever harder tasks and more challenging awareness of man's difficulties and potentialities. Eleven years ago he went to Washington; now he speaks to the Chinese for America. What next? And whither?" Marshall Bragdon

+ Springf'd Republican p6 Je 17 '44 650w

Reviewed by W. D. Herridge

Survey G 33:362 Ag '44 400w

"Mr. Wallace has been a very articulate member of an articulate Administration. The whole record is not in 'Democracy Reborn' but there is enough to permit the reader to trace the development of one of the most controversial public men of the times." H. W. Baehr

Weekly Book Review p2 Je 11 '44 700w

Wis Lib Bul 40:129 O '44

WALLACE, LILY HAXWORTH. Sea food cookery. 180p $2 Barrows

641.5 Cookery 44-3303

"A complete handbook for every kind of fish cooking, with menus and suggestions for serving." (Subtitle) Partial contents: Facts about fish; Preparation and methods of cooking; Soups; Fish sauces and stuffings; Canned fish; Fish salads and sandwiches.

Booklist 40:299 My 1 '44

Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 11 '44 120w

"Brief general directions for preparing and cooking fish introduce an excellent collection of recipes. . . The recipes are definitely superior to the menus. For the most part they include ingredients which give just the right piquancy of flavor so desirable with fish. Recipes are given for fish of inland lakes and rivers as well as for those of the Atlantic and Pacific. An adequate index, a valuable addition to this type of book is also included." M. E. Kirkpatrick

+ J Home Econ 36:523 O '44 150w

Kirkus 12:137 Mr 15 '44 150w

WALLER, WILLARD WALTER. The veteran comes back. 316p $2.75 Dryden

355.115 Veterans 44-7039

A sociological study of the case of the returned soldier based on experiences in the past, and prophecy of future conditions.

Reviewed by C. C. Zimmerman
Am J Soc 50:229 N 13 '44 1250w

"This book is an interesting and provocative discussion which will appeal to the general reader as well as to the serious student." H. C. Cook
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1244 D '44 220w

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson
Book Week p3 Ag 13 '44 850w
Booklist 41:36 O 1 '44

"[The author's] proposals tend in the right direction, although an overly secular preoccupation may account for the failure to find some place in the envisioned program, for those heroic front-line unarmed chaplains whose actions in the face of daily death might invest them, in the eyes of returned veterans, with more authority as counselors than even case-workers with the latest training. This oversight need not deter the reader from complete support of the positive proposals advanced. For the general public, for all who would understand the strange ways war can change men, Veteran Comes Back is a 'must' —a plea, a program, a permanent reminder. For the specialist, it is a useful if diffuse summary, and a stimulating challenge." James Travis
+ — Cath World 160:184 N '44 600w
Christian Century 61:1106 S 27 '44 80w
Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Je '44

"An understanding, rounded presentation of a subject which should be of importance to soldier and civilian alike."
+ Kirkus 12:337 Ag 1 '44 90w

"Book should be very useful to communities and organizations planning aid to veterans and should help educators in working out courses of study to assist in readjustment. Recommended for its realistic approach to one of the major social problems of our time." Walter Hausdorfer
+ Library J 69:650 Ag '44 110w

Reviewed by E. M. Maisel
Nation 159:591 N 11 '44 600w

"The book reads like an excellent postgraduate thesis, or an enlightened government report. . . The book will not be of general help. I do not believe Professor Waller wrote it with that end in view. He himself says that he hopes 'it will be a firebell in the night—to wake up America now to the veteran problem before it descends upon us in all its fury.' And this is its greatest merit—that it may provoke thought and action." W. J. Caldwell
+ New Repub 111:437 O 2 '44 600w

"Having been shocked, Mr. Waller has reacted vigorously. Though the tone of his book is usually objective and serene, he has been at times guilty of the sins of the special pleader. He is repetitious. He frequently makes a broad statement on an early page that he has to qualify later. He has used bad evidence as well as good. . . What is more important, Mr. Waller has overstated his case. . . Whatever the shortcomings of Mr. Waller's first chapters may be, his final proposals seem none the less practical and are nearly always good." Louis Gottschalk
+ — N Y Times p3 Ag 6 '44 1300w

Reviewed by Dixon Wecter
Sat R of Lit 27:30 S 16 '44 1050w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon
Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 110w

Reviewed by Lorine Pruette
Weekly Book Review p2 Ag 13 '44 1150w
Wis Lib Bul 40:144 N '44

WALLING, ROBERT ALFRED JOHN. Corpse without a clue. 217p $2 Morrow
44-5989

Detective story.

Kirkus 12:241 Je 1 '44 40w

"Readers of the other Tolefree stories need only be told that this is one of the most puzzling crimes with which he has dealt." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p12 Ag 6 '44 120w

"Fine for those who like to linger over detail."
+ New Yorker 20:60 Ag 19 '44 90w

"O. K."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 Ag 12 '44 40w

"Mr. Walling's new story should bring the better detective scholars running. Don't go elsewhere for high, wide and handsome deducing, continuous suspense and a solution that satisfies, all in charge of the one and only Philip Tolefree, on leave from important wartime duties." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ag 6 '44 160w

WALLIS, MRS RUTH OTIS (SAWTELL). No bones about it. 209p $2 Dodd
44-6436

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p9 Jl 30 '44 140w
Booklist 41:24 S '44

"Neat and clever."
+ Boston Globe p15 Ag 2 '44 60w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p19 Jl 30 '44 110w

"Better than 'Too Many Bones,' the last mystery by this author, who is obviously on her way up."
+ New Yorker 20:64 Jl 29 '44 70w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p12 Jl 30 '44 150w

WALPOLE, HORACE, 4th earl of Orford. Correspondence with Mary and Agnes Berry, and Barbara Cecilia Seton; ed. by W. S. Lewis [and others]. (Yale ed. of Horace Walpole's correspondence, v 11-12) 2v 378;402p il $15 Yale univ. press
B or 92 A44-5562

These volumes contain the letters written to the Misses Mary and Agnes Berry, two sisters who did much to enliven Walpole's old age. They were in their early twenties when Walpole was seventy, but the correspondence continued at a lively pace from 1788-1796. The volumes are fully equipped with notes and detailed index.

"Since Walpole consciously rested his claim to justification on the chance that posterity would really be interested in what he had to say, it is Walpole who wins. He must, in Elysium, take great satisfaction in the stately procession of these volumes. If he meets the sneering Macaulay the thought of them must enable him to sneer right back. And he sneers best who sneers last." J. W. K.
+ Nation 159:530 O 28 '44 360w

"It is some seven years now since Mr. Lewis issued the first installment and it became immediately apparent that his is one of the great editions of any author as well as the best that has ever appeared of Walpole. It is beautifully printed and there are a number of hitherto unpublished letters. Even more important is the fact that the text has been examined anew and the whole annotated in so masterly a fashion that it will be an invaluable reference work for the study of many phases of the period covered." J. W. Krutch
+ N Y Times p1 O 15 '44 2000w

Reviewed by Leonard Bacon
Sat R of Lit 27:40 D 2 '44 1700w

"Mr. Lewis and his assistants have edited the volumes with the devotion and scrupulous care to which readers of this Walpole are now accustomed; the notes are a mine of information on the social history of the period. The illustrations are, as in former installments, interesting and appropriate. . . In a corpus of writing so vast as Walpole's letters there are necessarily ups and downs of interest, attractiveness and excitement. Mr. Lewis assures his readers that in this portion of the correspondence Walpole is as 'delightful as ever.' This, being a matter of taste, cannot be disputed; but there will be other readers who feel that a good deal of the old charm has evaporated, that there are reptitions of too well worn 'effects,' and that the writer often forces the note." S. C. Chew

WALPOLE, HORACE—Continued
+ — Weekly Book Review p2 O 22 '44 1400w

"Unfortunately Mary Berry's side of the correspondence is almost entirely missing. . . We may judge, however, of her quality perhaps almost as well by the character of Walpole's letters to her. For they show not only his tender and often extravagant solicitude for her health and comfort but a high regard for her judgment and intelligence. I can detect no signs of condescension to her youth or her sex. He writes to her as an intellectual equal and as one able in every way to share his tastes." Herbert Davis
+ Yale R n s 34:355 winter '45 1100w

WALSH, MARY REGINA. Molly, the rogue; il. by Henry C. Pitz. [60p] $1.50 Knopf
44-40116

Tale of Johneen O'Rory, who lived in a cottage in County Kerry, and of Molly, the bad tempered but good hearted beggar woman who came to sit by the fire, and stayed until she saved the honor of the O'Rorys. Excellent for story tellers. Grade three to five.

Booklist 40:344 Je 1 '44
Cath World 160:279 D '44 50w
Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 Ag 28 '44 100w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:284 Jl '44 80w
Kirkus 12:218 My 1 '44 130w

"Splendid for story-telling. Henry C. Pitz's illustrations catch the very rhythm of the words and are a great satisfaction. Recommended." Margaret Miller
+ Library J 69:608 Jl '44 70w

"Here is an eerie little tale of Irish mists and magic, couched in melodious rhythms and enhanced by Henry Pitz's own particular brand of illustrative wizardry, for those of the fairy-tale age." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p14 Jl 30 '44 120w

"The story needs no editing for use by professional story tellers and reading it aloud is pleasure on both sides." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p5 My 14 '44 250w

WALSH, WILLIAM THOMAS. Saint Teresa of Avila; a biography. (Science and culture ser) 592p il $5 Bruce pub.
B or 92 Teresa of Jesus, Saint 43-14534

Biography of the founder of the Order of Discalced Carmelite Nuns. Because she took the words of Christ literally St Teresa of Avila was able to endure hardship and illness without complaint, and was instrumental in launching a reform movement in her own town of Avila which spread throuout Spain, France, Italy, and beyond.

"At the same time that he disclaims the intention of doing a work of critical research, the author brings genuine scholarship to this book. One feels, too, that prayer accompanied its writing. Neither profound nor brilliant, it is conscientious in every respect, and marked by real literary charm. It ought to be widely read, for it cannot fail to stimulate or enforce admiration and love for one of the most radiant creations of the Holy Spirit of Christ." J. C. Murray
+ Cath World 158:501 F '44 1050w

"Catholic readers should welcome this biography . . . Others would do well to read of her who dared to take the words of Christ literally and who had absolute faith in his power." O. G. Lawson
+ Library J 68:668 S 1 '43 80w

WALTERS, RAYMOND. Alexander James Dallas; lawyer, politician, financier, 1759-1817. (Pennsylvania lives) 251p $2.50 Univ. of Pa. press
B or 92 Dallas, Alexander James A44-417

Biography of a Philadelphia lawyer, born in the West Indies of Scottish ancestry, and educated in England. In 1783 Alexander Dallas and his young wife arrived in Philadelphia, and in short order had decided upon America as their future home. He was later appointed Secretary of the commonwealth by Thomas Jefferson, and served as secretary of the treasury under James Madison. Bibliographical note. Index.

"The organization, content, and style of this little volume are excellent. . . This is a scholarly and readable biography. Raymond Walters, jr., well identified in educational circles by his name, has succeeded in 'integrating' the life and accomplishments of Dallas with those of his contemporaries, and he has enriched the history of the first quarter of a century after 1789. . . But to some, including the reviewer, the lack of any footnotes is a serious shortcoming. Again and again significant statements are made without indication of the location of the proofs. The meager bibliography, less than five full pages, is no substitute for adequate footnotes. The bibliography does not contain important items on this period written by Pennsylvania authors in recent years. As a result western Pennsylvania party politics and the Whiskey Insurrection are not given due emphasis. The reviewer was also disappointed in not finding a fuller revelation of Alexander Hamilton's role in regard to John Jay's famous treaty." A. P. James
+ — Am Hist R 49:750 Jl '44 550w

"Mr. Walters has performed a difficult task well in giving human dimensions to a figure known to most lawyers only as a citation."
+ Harvard Law R 57:748 My '44 650w

"This study, which is based largely on manuscript sources, sheds new light on both the local and national scene. Teachers will find it a useful reference volume." W. H. Mohr
+ Social Studies 35:332 N '44 350w

WALZ, MRS AUDREY (FRANCIS BONNAMY, pseud). Rope of sand. 250p $2.50 Duell
44-8095

Detective story.

"First class."
+ Boston Globe p15 S 20 '44 30w

"The author possesses a real gift for story-telling and mystification." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p18 S 17 '44 130w

"Recommended."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:24 S 9 '44 40w

"Here's a carefully contrived puzzle that improves as it goes along, and ends with satisfactory marks." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 S 17 '44 110w

WAMPLER, FREDERICK JACOB, ed. Principles and practice of industrial medicine; contributors: Otis L. Anderson [and others]. 579p il $6 Wood
331.822 Diseases, Industrial. Hygiene, Industrial 43-10164

"This manual—the result of the coordinated effort of 32 experts from every field of industrial medicine—offers authoritative treatments of the various factors involved in industrial health protection. The contributors outline present-day concepts of the relationship of industrial environment to physical well-being, and show how such knowledge may be applied by the plant physician to doing a better job of keeping workers well." Management R

"This book is to be highly recommended to those who desire an over-all statement of the various aspects of the now large field of industrial medicine. When one examines the content of some sections of the book in detail, it becomes apparent that certain of the authors must lack close industrial contact with the field about which they have written. . . These criticisms must not be given too much weight, however, for the book as a whole is a valuable compilation for the industrial physician and other workers interested in this important branch of public health. The format, typography, figures and photographs are of a high standard." Leonard Greenburg

+ — Am J Pub Health 34:289 Mr '44 450w

Reviewed by H. F. Smyth, Jr.
Chem & Eng N 21:1648 O 10 '43 140w
Management R 33:107 Mr '44 80w

WANDREI, DONALD. The eye and the finger. 344p $3 Arkham house, Sauk City, Wis. 44-39843

Twenty-one horror stories.

"If the sole function of a horror story is to horrify, this volume can be safely recommended to all addicts of clear conscience and strong stomach." Marjorie Farber
N Y Times p12 S 10 '44 480w

"Excessive, frequently goofy and whatnot, this collection is none the less a novelty for regulars and a necessity for horror addicts. Complete with frightening introduction, it's a real killer-diller." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p12 Ag 20 '44 150w

WANG, CHI-CHEN, tr. Contemporary Chinese stories. 242p $2.75 Columbia univ. press

Short stories, Chinese A44-726

"The contemporary stories are really contemporary. The authors, except three, are approximately forty years old. They write of war, poverty, heroism, the burden of old traditions, and the conflicts between the older and the newer ways of life and thought. Realism, though of various strains, is a quality common to all." Christian Century

Booklist 40:342 Je 1 '44

"The translator, a member of the faculty of Columbia University, evidently has a very thorough command of both languages. His English is exact and colorful."
+ Christian Century 61:436 Ap 5 '44 100w

"Will appeal to any reader interested in the art of story-telling, or to readers interested merely in good stories, for they contain a collection of excellent tales which are far more than literary curiosities. The contemporary volume will probably strike you as being the less interesting of the two."
+ Commonweal 39:596 Mr 31 '44 450w
Kirkus 12:106 Mr 1 '44 50w

Reviewed by Katharine Shorey
+ Library J 68:958 N 15 '43 40w

Reviewed by Ralph Bates
New Repub 110:475 Ap 3 '44 200w

"Entertaining and stimulating stories." W. T. Chan
+ N Y Times p5 Ap 9 '44 250w
New Yorker 20:98 Mr 25 '44 90w

"There is no better way to understand China than to read what the Chinese are writing unselfconsciously for their own public. It is not a pretty picture, but it is the authentic record of a historic period of rebirth and travail." Nym Wales
+ Sat R of Lit 27:38 Je 17 '44 450w
Spec 173:274 S 22 '44 100w

Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein
Springf'd Republican p4d My 28 '44 330w

"Like all young writers with a missionary complex, these young Chinese have sought to write powerfully by writing about unpleasant things. . . Let it be understood, however, that many of these stories are remarkably well told and that in several of them, notably those by the writer known as Lao She, there is a glimmer of that delicate, mischievous Chinese humor, with which the gossip of all classes is constantly illuminated and which will some day be exported in happier fiction than this, to the world's great delight. It is to be most sincerely hoped that, when that time comes, Mr. Chin-chen Wang is still on the job; for as a translator of his native tongue into English, he is to my mind, absolutely without peer." Rodney Gilbert
+ — Weekly Book Review p15 Ap 23 '44 470w

WANG, CHI-CHEN, tr. Traditional Chinese tales. 225p $2.75 Columbia univ. press

Short stories, Chinese A44-727

"The twenty traditional tales are from texts of the centuries from the fifth to the sixteenth. Some are from originals written in high literary Chinese such as is used in the canonized 'classics'; others, doubtless originating with wandering storytellers, whose relation to classical literature was about that of a hurdy-gurdy man to classical music, were transcribed in the vernacular. Magic and the supernatural figure prominently in both kinds. Many of the writers or tellers of these tales add plausibility to the marvels which they narrate by giving the events a definite dating at a time only a generation or so before their own. But the magical is generally a subordinate feature. The human passions, love, fidelity, and revenge, are the central themes." Christian Century

Booklist 40:342 Je 1 '44
Christian Century 61:436 Ap 5 '44 120w

"The tales from Old China are interesting on account of their age, their archaic quality, their conventionalized style; but not of compelling interest as pieces of fiction, except to the occasional reader. They follow a set form, with a stereotyped introduction and conclusion. Characterization is slight, motivation sometimes inadequate, emotion muted." W. K. R.
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 15 '44 220w
Commonweal 39:596 Mr 31 '44 450w
Kirkus 12:106 Mr 1 '44 50w

"Recommended." Katharine Shorey
+ Library J 68:958 N 15 '43 40w

Reviewed by Ralph Bates
New Repub 110:475 Ap 3 '44 200w

"Entertaining and stimulating stories." W. T. Chan
+ N Y Times p5 Ap 9 '44 250w

"A few of the selections have appeared in other anthologies, but since most of these are not readily available, the collection assembled by Mr. Wang is one that any reader interested in Chinese literature will want to own."
+ New Yorker 20:98 Mr 25 '44 90w

Reviewed by Nym Wales
Sat R of Lit 27:38 Je 17 '44 550w
Spec 173:274 S 22 '44 100w

Reviewed by Frederick Reinstein
Springf'd Republican p4d My 28 '44 330w

"While the reader may not find in these tales the kind of entertainment to which he is accustomed, he will nevertheless find them delightful literary curiosities, for most of them are told with great delicacy and adroitness. To the social archaeologist, interested in the evolution of Chinese ways, they are of course gold mines." Rodney Gilbert
+ Weekly Book Review p15 Ap 23 '44 450w

WANG, THEODORE JOSEPH. Mathematics of radio communications. 371p $3 Van Nostrand

510 Mathematics. Radio 44-1920

"This book has been written to facilitate the study of radio, electronics, and allied subjects, which are broadly classified under the heading of communications. It is designed for students who are unable to devote the required time to a preliminary study of mathematics but who desire to pursue a serious study of communications." (School & Society) Index.

Library J 69:33 Ja 1 '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:8 Ja '44
School & Society 59:80 Ja 29 '44 40w

WAR atlas for Americans. 86p maps $2.50; pa $1 Simon & Schuster

940.53 World war, 1939—Maps. Atlases
Map44-96

"Has 84 valuable new maps based on the results of work with the Office of War Information, other government agencies and the Council on Books in Wartime, with text on the war from Japan's entrance into China to today's activities in Europe. Will help radio listeners and newspaper readers to follow the course of the war. Maps in two colors." Library J

"The maps in the war atlas are crammed with information. With them are 60,000 words of text which describe what has happened in the war up to the beginning of this year. It is a history written from a geographer's point of view with the illustrations right at hand, and is the best job of the sort that has yet come out. . . So good a piece of work deserves a comprehensive index instead of a stingy little two-page listing." Marcus Duffield

+ — Atlantic p2 Je 25 '44 600w

Reviewed by F. E. Manning
Book Week p4 Jl 16 '44 310w

"From a practical point of view, 'A War Atlas for Americans' is the best volume of the three. It is exactly what the title implies, and though some of the maps are difficult to read, they are accompanied by a text that gives details of campaigns and the larger strategy against the Axis." Ernest von Hartz

+ Book Week p4 Jl 16 '44 170w

Booklist 40:354 Je 15 '44

Christian Science Monitor p14 Jl 7 '44 200w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Je '44

Current Hist 7:51 Jl '44 60w

Foreign Affairs 23:4 O '44 110w

Reviewed by W. D. Jones
Geog R 34:673 O '44 160w

Kirkus 12:185 Ap 15 '44 310w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 60w

"The 'War Atlas' maps are not always easy to read: sometimes they are confusing; they fail to cover adequately the war's first phases, however thoroughly these may be covered in the accompanying text. Yet the atlas, taken as a whole, is an achievement, a real contribution that, while it does not fill the whole need for map knowledge in wartime, is bound to be useful to most readers and just what a good many of them want." Francis Brown

+ — N Y Times p5 Je 25 '44 550w

"The 'War Atlas' is just that; inexpensive and in two colors only, it presents an excellent exposition of the geography of the war, its history and prognosis. The eighty odd maps were well executed by Emil Lowenstein and his staff. The two colors (black and gray-blue) naturally are a limiting factor at times, but the general effect is of a pleasant, well designed book. The index is woefully inadequate." R. E. Harrison

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:5 Jl 1 '44 300w

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 11 '44 160w

"An official publication, it gives Washington's interpretation of the causes of the war, the opening of hostilities, and the various campaigns prior to the spring of 1944. The text is detailed and the maps illustrate the events capitally."

Survey G 33:330 Jl '44 60w

Wis Lib Bul 40:129 O '44

WARBURG, JAMES PAUL. Foreign policy begins at home. 308p $2.50 Harcourt

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. U.S.—Politics and government. Fascism 44-9458

"Mr. Warburg's domestic conditions for peace are 1. The principle of private ownership and individual entrepreneurship is to be abandoned. . . 2. Monopoly must go. . . 3. Government must guarantee full employment. . . This is the content of the first quarter of Mr. Warburg's book. The second quarter describes earlier American foreign policy, largely in terms of Mr. Lippmann's commitments-and-power calculus; the third quarter constitutes a severe arraignment of our foreign policy during the years at war; while the fourth represents Mr. Warburg's program for a just peace." N Y Times

Reviewed by Frank Smothers
Book Week p3 N 26 '44 550w

Booklist 41:85 N 15 '44

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons
Boston Globe p35 N 29 '44 600w

"One might have expected something better from Mr. Warburg than this disappointing book. . . In the first place, the author is surprisingly careless with his historical facts. . . In the second place, the author makes a number of questionable generalizations. . . The best chapters of the book are the last two entitled 'Prospects for Peace' and 'What We Can Do.' Here Mr. Warburg is free from the problem of harmonizing a thesis with the stubborn facts of the past, and he says some sensible and helpful things about American attitudes and intellectual outlook in the years ahead. If he had left out all but the last fifty pages of his book, he would have had a useful little pamphlet. As it is, the good at the end is outweighed by the portions which precede it." J. D. Squires

— + Christian Century 61:1414 D 6 '44 950w

Christian Science Monitor p16 D 14 '44 450w

"Unfortunately, Warburg wastes much time and space in reviewing the international relations of the world without adding anything new to the well-known picture. But when he shows how modern American foreign and domestic policies are inseparable and that what we are, here at home, conditions and determines what we do as a nation outside of our own borders, he is excellent, for at this point he touches upon the field which is nearly always neglected by less thorough 'peace-planners.'" J. S. Roucek

+ — Commonweal 41:108 N 10 '44 250w

"Simple, straightforward, at times controversial, always concise and usually objective, the text challenges every reader to his own share in the molding of the world tomorrow."

+ Kirkus 12:474 O 15 '44 170w

Reviewed by Albert Guerard
Nation 159:694 D 2 '44 480w

Reviewed by R. N. Kelly
New Repub 111:664 N 20 '44 330w

"James P. Warburg has written an interesting book, and many of his observations, notably those on the political and diplomatic developments here and in Europe during the past decade, are worth pondering. His thesis is a highly controversial one, as will be seen. Too, it represents a body of opinion in this country which, while a minority one, is very articulate, very earnest and very determined. For these reasons what he has written deserves serious analysis." L. M. Hacker

+ — N Y Times p5 N 12 '44 1600w

Reviewed by C. G. Bolte
Weekly Book Review p18 N 26 '44 1000w

WARBURTON, STACY REUBEN. These things will last. 122p $1.25; pa 75c Am. Bapt.

266 Missions 44-171

"A 'book of missionary leadership for thoughtful laymen,' discussing the world mission of the church under such topics as the universal purpose of God, the universal search for God, world unity of Christianity, racial and national contributions, the evangelistic proclamation of the gospel, christianizing the Christian's world, and the future of the Christian world mission." Christian Century

Christian Century 61:49 Ja 12 '44 60w

"A very excellent volume, justifying its title." J. H. Franklin

+ Crozer Q 21:272 Jl '44 300w

WARD, ARTHUR SARSFIELD. See Rohmer, S., pseud.

WARD, MRS MARION BOSS. Boat children of Canton; il. by Helen Sewell. 92p $2 McKay

44-4095

A Chinese brother and sister, separated from their parents during a Japanese bombing, find their way eventually to the home of a wealthy uncle. There they are later joined by their father and mother. The book, for grades three to five, contains some account of Chinese life and customs.

"Particularly beautiful are the many illustrations by Helen Sewell. Both author and artist possess a firsthand knowledge of China and are able to present a completely authentic picture."
+ Book Week p5 Je 4 '44 110w
Booklist 40:344 Je 1 '44
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:287 Jl '44 80w
Kirkus 12:217 My 1 '44 90w

"Traditions and customs of old China are mingled with modern China in a good story for nine- to twelve-year olds. Recommended." Olive Brain
+ Library J 69:556 Je 15 '44 60w

"The author has lived in China and the text, together with Helen Sewell's fine illustrations, has a true flavor of the East." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p23 Jl 23 '44 100w
School & Society 59:399 Je 3 '44 30w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Ag 6 '44 170w
Wis Lib Bul 40:133 O '44

WARE, LAWRENCE ALBERT, and REED, HENRY ROUSE. Communication circuits. 2d ed 330p $3.50 Wiley

621.3192 Electric lines. Electric circuits
44-2178

"In revising the previous edition (1942) the authors have interpolated some forty pages of new material in the last six chapters. Several new topics have been introduced in the section on impedance, including the circle diagram method for determining conditions for impedance matching. A new chapter, Ultra-high-frequency transmission in wave guides, deals with practical aspects of wave guides, such as the selection of tube sizes, modes of transmission for specific purposes, and methods of excitation and detection. A textbook for engineering school courses." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:322 My 15 '44
Library J 69:33 Ja 1 '44 30w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:12 Ja '44

WARE, LEON. Crazy dog; il. by Morgan Dennis. (Whittlesey house publication) 67p $1.50 McGraw

Dogs—Legends and stories 44-8722

"Bill Pearson knew that his was the smartest dog in the world—but he had a hard time proving it. . . That was why, when the other fellows jeered at Judge's undeniably odd ways, Bill bragged that he was giving him to Dogs for Defense. . . But Fate, in the form of two Army officers, had a solution of his problem which vindicated both Bill and Judge." N Y Times

Booklist 41:128 D 15 '44

"Another good story of a boy and a dog with distinguished pictures by an artist internationally known for his portraits of dogs."
+ Cath World 160:279 D '44 20w
Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:128 N 17 '44 10w

"Good boy and dog yarn."
+ Kirkus 12:403 S 1 '44 80w

"A grand book for the intermediate grades." Leota Herren
+ Library J 69:1050 D 1 '44 70w

"A story which touches both the heartstrings and the funny-bone. For readers of 8 and up." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p18 O 22 '44 140w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 7 '45 230w

WARNER, REX. Return of the traveller [Eng title: Why was I killed?]. 208p $2 Lippincott [7s 6d Lane]

44-3948

The spirit of an English soldier, killed in the present conflict, returns to wander about the earth, searching for the answer to his question: "Why was I killed?" Among those who attempt to answer him are an English gentleman, a priest, a mother who had lost her son, a mechanic, and a man who had fought in Spain.

Book Week p7 Je 11 '44 90w
Booklist 40:378 Jl 1 '44
Cath World 159:476 Ag '44 230w
Christian Century 61:775 Je 28 '44 390w

"Briefly but vividly the author outlines the lives and emotions of each one as his narrator is envisaged as moving swiftly from scene to scene, gaining, as he goes, new insight into the causes of war and presuppositions of peace. The reader will gain much from a perusal of this thoughtful and well-written book." T. L. L.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Ag 19 '44 500w

"A detached, discriminating prose style for a thought-provoking fantasy."
Kirkus 12:222 My 15 '44 130w

"A great deal of philosophizing on a slender thread of fiction, war-prevention medicine, for the thoughtful reader." H. A. Wooster
Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 80w
Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 158:686 Je 10 '44 650w
Reviewed by William Poster
New Repub 111:84 Jl 17 '44 180w

"There is no monotony in this style, and a marvellously stimulating choice of words. I doubt whether any of Mr. Warner's contemporaries could offer better passages of imaginative prose. But I have never felt him a true master of allegory. Either he is too direct in his metaphor, too occupied with the transitory rather than the eternal in contemporary issues, or else he takes refuge in an extravagance of allegorical mysticism." Philip Toynbee
+ — New Statesman & Nation 26:304 N 6 '43 330w

"There are spots where the narrative sags a little, where the discussion is too measured and too slow. But the book belongs alongside Koestler's 'Darkness at Noon' in the seriousness and intensity of the issues raised. It belongs, too, in the tradition of Plato's 'Phaedo,' in its feeling for the way in which judgments of life are involved in discussions of death. It is not quite a novel, though it has the meat of several novels in it. It is something more, a human colloquy, tender, moving and profound, of the mortal perils and the immortal implications of a generation whose young men by the millions are dying in war." Irwin Edman
+ N Y Times p1 My 28 '44 1250w

"This novel is a subtle philosophical inquiry into the nature of sacrifice and, although none of the characters offers an answer commensurable with the urgency of the dead soldier's question, his final conclusion is, on the whole, a satisfying one. Mr. Warner writes with style that is rare in our generation."
+ New Yorker 20:82 My 27 '44 170w

"Our quarrel with the book is that the overtones and undertones of negativism are quite as inconclusive as the answers themselves. It seems to us that Mr. Warner has accumulated all the despair of history and compressed it into one book; as such, it is a first-rate accomplishment in philosophical reflection. But as a novel of and for today, we are afraid the book is lacking in much that is valuable or cogent. Certainly it lacks the biting urgency that identified 'The Professor' with the immediate moment." N. C.

WARNER, REX—Continued
— + Sat R of Lit 27:18 Je 10 '44 1050w

Reviewed by John Hampson
Spec 171:440 N 5 '43 210w

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 4 '44 140w

"Cast in the form of fiction, it is a nerveless and rather wandering piece of intellectual fancy. . . As such it expresses an intelligible enough mood, for which sympathy may fairly be claimed. Over and above that mood, however, is a great deal of random thought or make-believe that is merely trite and wordy."
Times [London] Lit Sup p509 O 23 '43 360w

"At thirty-nine, Birmingham-born, Oxford-educated Rex Warner is not so well known in America as he is in England. But 'Return of the Traveller' should increase his reputation with that portion of our reading public interested in a speculative mood and beautiful writing." Leo Lerman
+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 28 '44 550w

"Another novel by an English writer which has a message that is either obscure or disappointing is Rex Warner's Return of the Traveller. Nevertheless, although he has left his readers rather up in the air, Mr. Warner has written a thoughtful, provocative, and beautiful book." Orville Prescott
+ Yale R n s 33:765 summer '44 360w

WARNER, WILLIAM LLOYD; HAVIGHURST, ROBERT JAMES, and LOEB, MARTIN B. Who shall be educated? the challenge of unequal opportunities. 190p $2.50 Harper
370.973 Education—U.S. Class distinction
44-4389

"This book is a factual statement of the extent to which our public-school system offers a genuine equality of opportunity for all children." (School & Society) Working bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 Jl 23 '44 700w

Booklist 40:335 Je 1 '44

"The material in this book is based on a 'middletown' type of research, popularly reconstructed. It should reach a market beyond that of teachers and administrators."
Kirkus 12:90 F 15 '44 130w

"'Who Shall Be Educated?' is an objective study, done with patience and skill, of the commonly accepted belief that education in the United States offers the same opportunities to all. . . A study of 'The Negro in the American Caste System' rounds out these papers. No one who comes to this book with an open mind can well escape the conviction that our present status system in our schools must be modified if our American ideals of democracy are to beget genuine democratic living." E. C. Richards
+ N Y Times p32 N 26 '44 280w

School & Society 59:288 Ap 22 '44 30w

Reviewed by G. N. Redd
School R 52:631 D '44 1350w

Reviewed by S. L. Jackson
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 25 '44 550w

"This is an important and valuable little book, almost small enough to go into one's pocket but packed with implications for all those who in any way, as teachers, parents, students or taxpayers, are concerned with the role of education in present-day and post-war America." Margaret Mead
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Jl 16 '44 400w

WARREN, JAMES. She fell among actors. 207p $2 Doubleday [7s 6d Collins]
44-51276

Detective story.

"First class."
+ Boston Globe p15 Ja 3 '45 40w

Kirkus 12:471 O 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p32 D 3 '44 160w

"At a time when so many detective stories are demonstrating new methods it is refreshing to find one that keeps to the game of 'find the murderer.' In 'She Fell Among Actors' Mr. Warren faithfully observes all the rules."
+ Times [London] Lit Sup p477 S 30 '44 90w

"This could be a sincere British effort to concoct a screwball mystery on the American plan, complete with mirth that doesn't click and a puzzle that should interest you part of the way at least." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p14 D 10 '44 150w

WARREN, JOHN RUSSELL (GILBERT COVERACK, pseud). ATS mystery. 252p $2 Macmillan [8s 6d Hurst]
44-4873

Detective story.

"Outside of the female commandant, a character whose asininity goes somewhat beyond the believable point, you will find many people who are likable and who will, in a way, make up for the amount of this or that person's views you will have to absorb."
+ — Book Week p10 Je 18 '44 100w

Booklist 40:378 Jl 1 '44

"Top hole, you know."
+ Boston Globe p19 My 31 '44 50w

"Serviceable."
Kirkus 12:154 Ap 1 '44 70w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p10 My 21 '44 120w

"Method of telling tale is slightly confusing. Beyond that it's good British war-time brand detecting, with an affable hero. Average."
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:32 My 20 '44 40w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 My 21 '44 70w

WARREN, ROBERT PENN. Selected poems, 1923-1943. 102p $2.50 Harcourt 811
44-3743

"The scholar, editor and novelist, Robert Penn Warren, now 39, has brought together in his book all the poems of consequence which he has written in the past 20 years. It is adult American verse, rich in powerful images; it is intellectual in character, and as for origin, it emanates from the pre-Civil War Southland in which this poet has his spiritual home." Book Week

"In his poetry—which is surely among the most skillful being written in America today—Warren recreates with deep feeling and sensitive perception many happenings recalled from youth and childhood, 'Monologue at Midnight,' 'Picnic Remembered,' and others. He chafes and winces with internal personal conflict, as in his superb elegy, 'The Return'. . . By far the finest poem in the collection is his long 'Ballad of Billie Potts' which retells the old tale of the couple who lived by waylaying travelers to their death, and who finally murdered their grown-up, unrecognized son. . . This ballad surpasses, I think, Ransom's famed 'Captain Carpenter' and the best ballads of Benet." Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p6 Ap 16 '44 600w

"These poems leave me strangely cold, despite exacting craftsmanship, a rather fine hard intellectuality, and derivation from the highest sources—notably Donne and Eliot—they add up only to a wordy compilation of etiolated thought, thin terror, and obscure metaphysics. . . Robert Penn Warren has considerable standing as a novelist and editor; these poems however are not likely to command a following beyond poets, and most intellectual intellectuals."
— + Kirkus 12:129 Mr 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by F. W. Dupee
Nation 159:660 N 25 '44 650w

Reviewed by Willard Thorp
N Y Times p4 My 7 '44 600w

"Language is beautifully handled throughout, and the poet has a point of view and the courage of his convictions. The two poems 'Original Sin' and 'Crime' show his complex perceptions and the modern poetic style working brilliantly together on subjects which perceptive modern poets keep coming back to: obscure psychological guilt and corruption, sadism, obsession—dissimulated under the fixed pattern of modern life and everyday conformity." Louise Bogan
+ New Yorker 20:85 Ap 22 '44 500w

Reviewed by Dudley Fitts
Poetry 65:94 N '44 2000w

Reviewed by J. C. Ransom
Sat R of Lit 27:10 My 20 '44 2100w

"Mr. Warren is probably rather tired of hearing his poetry described as 'distinguished,' since that is an easy epithet, which may mean no more than that the critic wishes to be complimentary. Yet it does sum up very well the blend of alert and subtle intelligence, emotional precision and rigorous craftsmanship in these poems." Elizabeth Drew
+ Weekly Book Review p11 Je 25 '44 600w

"This is poetry which is expert in form, extensive in feeling." Louis Untermeyer
+ Yale R n s 34:344 winter '45 210w

WARREN, SIDNEY. American freethought, 1860-1914. 257p $3.25 Columbia univ. press
211 Free thought A43-3802

History of the freethought movement in America from the time of the Civil war to the outbreak of the first World war. Bibliography. Index.

"The monograph is a thoughtful and interesting analysis of a little-known phase of American cultural development. The account of the leaders of the movement and of the trends of thought they represented should be of great interest to those who are working in social history. The bibliography is of especial value and is evidence of an exploration of many of the byways and vagaries of American thought." A. F. Tyler
+ Am Hist R 49:737 Jl '44 550w

Reviewed by H. M. Kallen
Ann Am Acad 232:205 Mr '44 400w

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 61:209 F 16 '44 400w

Reviewed by R. H. Abrams
Crozer Q 21:174 Ap '44 900w

Reviewed by Laurence Sears
J Philos 41:245 Ap 27 '44 1500w

Reviewed by E. S. Morgan
New Eng Q 17:112 Mr '44 700w

"This book will be of great interest to all students of intellectual history, of the continuing problem of church and state, and of the post-Civil War era." R. J. Stanley
+ Social Educ 8:283 O '44 600w

"A carefully written, interesting account. . . It is carefully documented, contains an extensive bibliography and a good index."
+ Social Studies 35:144 Mr '44 30w

Reviewed by S. L. Jackson
Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 2 '44 900w

WASILEWSKA, WANDA. The rainbow; tr. by Edith Bone and ed. for the Am. ed. by Sonia Bleeker. 230p $2.50 Simon & Schuster [8s 6d Hutchinson]
44-3237

"A German-occupied Ukrainian village serves as a background for a story of Nazi sadism and the superhuman courage and endurance of Russian peasants." New Yorker

Reviewed by Jack Conroy
Book Week p4 Mr 26 '44 700w

Booklist 40:285 Ap 15 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '44

"This grim narrative is quite inferior to the artistic standard set by Russian writers." Edward Skillin, Jr.
Commonweal 39:603 Mr 31 '44 250w

"A story of cruelty and viciousness, with nothing particularly new, but sparsely told, fresh in background and pointed with espisodes that pace the story. . . A simple but holding story—with authentic feel."
+ Kirkus 12:28 Ja 15 '44 180w

"In spite of propagandistic nature, book may be useful for people here who want to learn something about horrors of present war. Recommended for public and college libraries." F. E. Hirsch
Library J 69:263 Mr 15 '44 100w

"This novel's supreme and appalling virtue is its credibility. One may mentally protest that its incidents, even if typical, could not have occurred in a single village . . . but 'Rainbow' reads factually. It touches upon Soviet ideals, that beehive Utopia which seems to some of us naïve, and the simplicity of its occasional declarations of faith serves only to endorse and to enhance the simplicity of a narrative which compels belief." Harold Brighouse
+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 6 '43 330w

Reviewed by A. R. Williams
New Repub 110:720 My 22 '44 300w

Reviewed by Philip Toynbee
New Statesman & Nation 26:204 S 25 '43 60w

" 'The Rainbow' must be accepted as we are forced to accept so many novels today: as a sort of personalized extension of the newspaper. And whatever the artistic defects of this Soviet novel, I found it at least as rewarding, through its dramatization of human courage, as most recent American novels." Robert Wetzel
+ — N Y Times p15 Mr 26 '44 550w

"Both the brutality of the Germans and the unbreakable fortitude of the women and children of the village appear grounded in horrible reality, but the record does not add up to anything like a first-rate novel."
New Yorker 20:97 Mr 25 '44 90w

"Miss Wasilewska, at present a war correspondent and the head of the Union of Polish Patriots in the USSR, winner of the Stalin Prize for Literature in 1943, writes in a virile manner. Her style is powerful, clear, and straightforward, and yet full of an inherent poetry." F. C. Weiskopf
+ Sat R of Lit 27:6 Ap 1 '44 750w

"Rainbow is a naïve piece of propaganda which in happier days could have had no place among imaginative works. But now propaganda is paramount everywhere—necessarily; and if this crudely terrible story, so innocent of art, so flagrantly of the orange-box and the market place, helps anyone's courage or does anything to increase hatred of Nazism, one can only wish it well. It has won the Stalin Prize for 1943—but clearly for reasons which have nothing to do with the writing of literature, which may indeed be an irrelevance now." Kate O'Brien
Spec 171:134 Ag 6 '43 170w

Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 6 '44 110w

"The Stalin Prize Novel is possibly one of the worst novels ever written. Its Germans are all villains. Its Russians (except a few survivors from pre-Bolshevik days) are all heroes. But as a hymn of Russian hate against Nazi Schrecklichkeit, the book is understandable. And as a fictional account of Nazi atrocities, it probably falls short of reality.'"
Time 43:100 Mr 27 '44 750w

Times [London] Lit Sup p377 Ag 7 '43 360w

Reviewed by Herbert Kupferberg
Weekly Book Review p6 Mr 26 '44 700w

WASSERMAN, LOUIS. Modern political philosophies, and what they mean. (New home lib) 287p 69c Garden City pub. co.
321 Political science 44-40163

"Mr. Wasserman gives the historical origins and the characteristic doctrines of everything from democracy to fascism, and from communism to anarchism. From this analysis there emerges a yardstick by which political conditions in any country may be measured. Then, in thirty-five pages, every country in the world is measured by this yardstick." (N Y Times). Formerly published as The Handbook of Political Isms.

WASSERMAN, LOUIS—Continued

"'Modern Political Philosophies' is a useful volume for a reader who has some knowledge of the subject already—it can add materially to his grasp. For the adult approaching such a complex subject for the first time it is hardly to be recommended, since it perpetuates and disseminates even more widely some of the most popular unhistorical notions of our time." Edward Skillin, Jr.
+ — Commonweal 40:522 S 15 '44 650w

"The book will be read not simply because it is inexpensive but because it is written simply, clearly and with a reassuring appearance of objectivity, even of finality. It has an answer for every question, and the answers are given without disturbing reservations or qualifications." R. J. Sontag
+ — N Y Times p6 Ag 27 '44 700w

"Although the treatment of this extended subject matter is necessarily very brief, it is competent. The objective in the case of each 'ism' is a clearcut description of its historical setting and a lucid statement of its principal tenets, without evaluation, criticism or refutation. The author shows a thorough familiarity with the various theories and movements of which he writes." C. B. Robson
+ Social Forces 27:230 D '44 300w
Social Studies 35:384 D '44 10w
Reviewed by W. J. Dunn
• Springf'd Republican p6 D 18 '44 170w

WATKIN, EDWARD INGRAM. Catholic art and culture. 226p il $4.50 Sheed [9s Burns]
282 Culture. Roman Catholic church—History. Christian art and symbolism
44-41840

"Mr. Watkin, perhaps the most original though not the most easily intelligible of contemporary English Catholic writers, is concerned in this new book with a problem of almost limitless complexity. How can a synthesis of culture and religious faith be effected? And to what extent has such a synthesis been achieved in the history of Catholic Europe? Mr. Watkin is forthright and uncompromising. On the one hand, a commitment to the Church is for him the only right intellectual action, intellect being understood not merely as logical faculty but as spiritual experience. On the other hand, however, men in the Church have never succeeded in making evident in their lives and thinking the true import of their commitment." Weekly Book Review

---

"Here is the most important book, in its special field, that I expect to read this year, or perhaps in some years to come." Cuthbert Wright
+ Commonweal 41:278 D 29 '44 2100w

"An intelligent book, which is from several points of view a pioneer effort of genuine significance." G. N. Shuster
+ Weekly Book Review p10 Ja 14 '45 500w

WATSON, MRS HELEN (ORR). Shavetail Sam, U.S. army mule; il. by Bernard Garbutt. 163p $2 Houghton
Mules—Legends and stories 44-9758

Story of an army mule who "graduated" from West Point, after a mischievous time on the Missouri farm where he was born, and later saw service in the Italian campaign.

Booklist 41:142 Ja 1 '45
Kirkus 12:452 O 1 '44 90w

"Will please older boys and girls who enjoy animal stories. Recommended." Eileen Riols
+ Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 40w

"The story is set against a background that is authentic and timely." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p12 D 24 '44 120w
Sat R of Lit 27:43 N 11 '44 20w
Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 21 '45 50w

WATSON, MRS HELEN (ORR). Trooper, U.S. army dog; il. by Bernard Garbutt. 173p $2 Houghton
Dogs—Legends and stories 43-16553

Story of a white shepherd dog, the possession of two young Americans who give her up to the government to be trained for an army dog. Trooper's training in America is described, and her arrival in Guadalcanal, where she is instrumental in finding her young owners' older brother.

"Of present interest to dog lovers of the middle-age group." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:36 Ja '44 50w

"Makes good reading. Will appeal to boys and girls from ten to fourteen who want both animal stories and books about World War II. Not as engrossing as the author's Chanco, A U.S. Army Homing Pigeon." E. A. Groves
Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 70w
Springf'd Republican p7e D 5 '43 80w

WATSON, VIRGINIA CRUSE. Through many waters; pictures by Jessie Robinson. 150p $2 Harper
44-9585

"A modern story of a boy who had the love of the sea in his veins. From a duck pond on a Midwestern farm he follows a stream to a lake, the lake to a river, the river to the Great Lakes, a canal to the sea where he crosses the Atlantic as cabin boy on a liner." Sat R of Lit

---

"The 'Cinderella finish' is a bit too glib—but the story holds interest throughout."
+ — Kirkus 12:434 S 15 '44 160w

"Conclusion weakens the plot, for it is a bit too plausible." Margaret Miller
Library J 69:1107 D 15 '44 70w
Sat R of Lit 27:41 N 11 '44 40w

WATTS, FRANKLIN, ed. Voices of history, 1941-1944. 3v v 1 $3.50 Franklin Watts, inc; v2-3 ea $3.50 Phoenix
909.82 History, Universal. World politics. World war, 1939—Documents, etc, sources (42-25970)

For descriptive notes for v 1 and 2 see Book Review Digest, 1943.

Foreign Affairs 23:5 O '44 10w
Reviewed by Hiram Motherwell
N Y Times p7 Jl 2 '44 700w

"Voices of History is recommended for home, school and library use."
+ Subscription Bks Bul 15:20 Ap '44 700w
Weekly Book Review p6 Ag 13 '44 200w

WAUGH, MRS ELIZABETH DEY (JENKINSON). West Point. 246p il $2.50 Macmillan
355.7 U.S. Military academy, West Point
44-5679

"[This] is the story of the Revolutionary fortress on the Hudson and of the United States Military academy that later arose on that site." Springf'd Republican

---

"In this well-printed and handsomely bound volume E. D. J. Waugh has done more than present the story of West Point. She has caught its very spirit in the telling, so that you cannot read without experiencing a surge of pride over this completely American institution where young men are taught to abhor war, but to defend the right of man to freedom." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 Ag 27 '44 320w
Booklist 41:28 S '44
Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 27 '44 220w
Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:380 S '44 80w

"A timely book, competently done."
+ Kirkus 12:198 Ap 15 '44 170w

"Worthwhile and interesting book for young people, boys and girls both, from fourteen up." Alice Vielehr
+ Library J 69:765 S 15 '44 70w

"This readable, informed account of the United States Military Academy at West Point is a timely and inspiring book and one that will prove of permanent value. Written primarily for young people, it will also interest their elders." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p12 S 3 '44 240w

"A fine interpretation of West Point." L. B. Kromer
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 10 '44 550w

"I looked in the catalogue to make sure this was for boys and girls—not because they will not find it fascinating, for they will, but because it will be just as interesting to their elders. . . Mrs. Waugh must have worked out what seems to me the best brief introduction to history and high spots of the United States Military Academy, one that has stood inspection by military authorities and will meet the demands of general readers under voting age." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 23 '44 350w
Wis Lib Bul 40:144 N '44

WAYNE, ELAINE. Bucky Bear, who would not take his nap; pictures by Leonard Weisgard. [41p] $1 Lothrop
44-2811

"Bucky woke up long before his nap should have ended and instead of rolling over and resuming, he left his mother asleep, gamboled out into the woods, and was adopted by hunters who encouraged his tendency to do tricks." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:127 N 17 '44 10w

"Nursery age brothers and sisters will want this picture story book read aloud again and again. Beginning readers will be proud that they can handle it themselves."
+ Kirkus 12:143 Mr 15 '44 130w

"Bucky will undoubtedly find a large number of sympathetic friends among young humans who don't like naps either. . . The moral is plain but not too painful for wide-awake rebels of 3 to 6 year olds who can follow this life-of-the-party's inevitable progress to somnolence in Leonard Weisgard's cheery pictures." E. L. Buell
+ N Y Times p18 Ap 9 '44 120w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 19 '44 150w

WEATHERHEAD, LESLIE DIXON. In quest of a kingdom. 268p $2 Abingdon-Cokesbury [7s 6d Hodder]
232.9 Kingdom of God. Sermons 44-5673

"This book is an attempt to help the reader to understand what Jesus meant by the phrase 'the kingdom of heaven,' or 'the kingdom of God,' and, more important, to enter it. . . The material of all the chapters has been used in sermons and addresses at the City Temple, London. This material has been rewritten to make the book a unity, but here and there the method of direct address has been maintained, and there are some few repetitions of ideas such as is inevitable in speaking continually to the same congregation. I should like to think that fellowship groups and Bible and other classes were using the twenty-three chapters as the basis of a winter's study with the relevant Biblical passages before them." (Pref) The author is the minister of the City Temple, London.

Christian Century 61:465 Ap 12 '44 150w

"The author takes liberties occasionally in matters of exegesis, and rather frequently gives play to imagination, but on the whole his treatment of the parables is enlightening and stimulating. Again and again this reviewer felt that the message was for him, and perhaps there is no better proof of the value of a book than a reader's feeling 'it found me.' . . A helpful study of the parables of Jesus, in an attempt to apply them to life today." J. H. Franklin
+ Crozer Q 21:364 O '44 500w

"This book should be inspirational to all Christians. Clergymen and other speakers will find in it a wealth of illustrative and homiletic material."
+ Kirkus 12:140 Mr 15 '44 170w
Library J 69:647 Ag '44 10w

"Mr. Weatherhead, like many another before him, adopts half measures in this exposition of the parables of the Kingdom. He has his footnotes, and has partly re-written the sermons to incorporate material which was in the background when he preached. The result is not really satisfactory, the learning and the homiletics do not fit too well. Still, Mr. Weatherhead has read widely, and the book will be appreciated by those who heard the sermons, while others who have come to look to him for Christian teaching may be led to a fresh consideration of the application of the parables to our modern tragic situation."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p107 F 26 '44 180w

WEBB, RICHARD WILSON, and WHEELER, HUGH CALLINGHAM (Q. PATRICK, PATRICK QUENTIN, JONATHAN STAGGE, pseuds). Puzzle for puppets. 262p $2 Simon & Schuster
44-9400

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p16 N 19 '44 270w
Boston Globe p15 D 20 '44 50w
Kirkus 12:459 O 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p28 N 12 '44 100w

"There's action aplenty, good dialogue, solid characterization, and a whirlwind finish that will pull you out of your armchair, cheering. As brisk a yarn as one could wish for, and as engaging, this is one of the season's best." R. N. F.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 12 '44 120w

"Lieutenant Peter Duluth and his beauteous wife Iris, an excruciatingly playful couple, perform here in a brand of wacky comedy that seems harmless enough." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p41 N 12 '44 100w

WEBBER, MRS IRMA ELEANOR (SCHMIDT). Travelers all: the story of how plants go places; drawn by the author. [31p] $1.25 Scott, W.R.
580 Seeds—Juvenile literature 44-40187

A beginner's book of nature study telling the story of the methods of the dissemination of plants of various sorts by seeds, runners, etc.

Booklist 41:80 N 1 '44

"The basic facts skillfully simplified by one who is a professional botanist and a born teacher. Vivid pictures and touches of humor."
+ Cath World 160:279 D '44 20w
Commonweal 41:256 D 22 '44 50w

"Not only the more familiar seeds, like maple keys, are included, but the travels of a coconut which often goes by water. Suggests the long journey of many seeds. An informative book which will attract the youngest. Fascinating pictures in four colors."
+ Horn Bk 20:475 N '44 60w

"Book for beginners in nature study about plants and seeds, that manages in the text, to get over a good deal of basic information about how seeds travel. The author accompanies her simple text with lovely delicate drawings in color, simple but striking, and with an extraordinary tactual sense to the drawings."
+ Kirkus 12:401 S 1 '44 60w

"A small book with lovely, clear drawings in color and brief, simple explanations." M. C. Skinner
+ Library J 69:862 O 15 '44 40w

WEBBER, I. E. S.—Continued

"This is an excellent book in nature study for the very young. . . Recommended for beginners." V. W. Schott

+ Library J 69:886 O 15 '44 50w

WEBSTER, NOAH. Biographical dictionary. 1697p $6.50 Merriam

920 43-14719

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

Bookmark 5:3 Mr '44

"Biographical dictionaries are among the most frequently used reference books, and librarians will welcome this one compiled and edited with the care they naturally expect from the publishers of the New International Dictionary. . . The inclusion and exclusion of names is as carefully done as seems practicable. . . The average person will generally find all the information he needs about anyone who is included. The careful indication of the pronunciation of each name is a most valuable feature. . . The nineteen pages of 'A Guide to pronunciation' of words in each of the languages concerned is a marvel of compactness and clarity for so complex a subject." P. L. Windsor

+ Library J 69:114 F 1 '44 700w

Manchester Guardian p3 D 27 '44 150w

"That there are still some omissions the editors grant at once, and the prowling eye can find some of them. We have Eddie Cantor but no Al Jolson, Weber and Fields but no W. C. Fields, Robert Tyre Jones but no T. A. D. Jones. Obviously, the merits of this stout volume outweigh any such lapses. It covers a vast amount of ground, marshals its material in orderly fashion, is amply cross-indexed. Its workaday utility is matched only by its fascination, which is a lot to say for a reference book." C. B. Palmer

+ N Y Times p16 F 20 '44 360w

"Webster's books of reference are of the highest quality, and this new Biographical Dictionary is no exception. It has the great advantage, as an American production, of being far more exhaustive on the American side than any of its English rivals, while being at the same time surprisingly full and comprehensive as regards eminent persons of English origin and fame."

+ Spec 173:490 N 24 '44 130w

"A brief but valuable discussion of the spelling, usage and arrangement of foreign language names (German, Hungarian, Arabic, Chinese, Japanese and Russian) is included in the explanatory notes. Pronunciation of names is an outstanding feature; that of surnames is included in the body of the book, and prenames are separately alphabetized in four pages at the back. A convenient pronunciation key is placed at the foot of each page. . . The style of Webster's is concise and condensed, but clear and comprehensive. The choice of facts included in the sketches seems to be excellent and cross references are clear and adequate. The format of the book is exceptionally good, with strong, attractive binding in brown buckram; print is even and easy to read. Webster's Biographical Dictionary is recommended."

+ Subscription Bks Bul 15:37 Jl '44 700w

Times [London] Lit Sup p623 D 23 '44 60w

WECHSLER, JAMES ARTHUR. Labor baron; a portrait of John L. Lewis. 278p $3 Morrow

B or 92 Lewis, John Llewellyn 44-6424

"James A. Wechsler, a staff writer on PM, has painted an unsympathetic portrait of the boss of the miners in 'Labor Baron.' But despite its unfavorable slant there emerges from the book a picture of a man who is a leader, who has had the power, and still may have it, to inspire other men to follow him, even if the path leads to their destruction. Mr. Wechsler makes the charge (and buttresses it with facts, figures and opinions of many other men besides himself) that Lewis is primarily a power politician—a 'labor baron' totally out of place in a democracy—an autocrat who, at times, has been fortunate enough to ride the tide of great social movements to a prominence far beyond his mental power to analyze or appreciate." (N Y Times) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 Ag 20 '44 650w

Booklist 41:20 S '44

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons

Boston Globe p15 Ag 16 '44 600w

Reviewed by J. C. Cort

Commonnweal 40:499 S 8 '44 750w

"Controversial, but well-sustained."

+ Kirkus 12:245 Je 1 '44 170w

Reviewed by Philip Taft

Nation 159:271 S 2 '44 1250w

"Mr. Wechsler has nowhere made a real objective evaluation of Mr. Lewis. His book lacks balance for that very reason. But what he has to say about the labor leader he says eloquently—so eloquently as to blur the picture. Sometimes the reader wonders whether this is a book about John L. Lewis or an exposition of Mr. Wechsler's social and political philosophies. But he is fair to Mr. Lewis on the negligible physical effect on the war of the coal strikes. He believes Mr. Lewis is sincere in his vehement protests against the charges of unpatriotism. Leaders of both labor and industry can read this book with profit if each will see the lessons that have been written plain in the life of one man." Foster Hailey

+ — N Y Times p5 Ag 6 '44 800w

"It is this reviewer's opinion that if Mr. Wechsler had spent more time in the coal camps where the din of union politics is but vaguely heard, and less time around the haunts of Washington correspondents who always think of labor in political terms, he might have painted a more faithful portrait." McAlister Coleman

Sat R of Lit 27:10 S 2 '44 1000w

Reviewed by Harry Hansen

Survey G 33:394 S '44 850w

"A forthright, arresting, very readable book that leans overmuch on Freudian catch-words and is a little cluttered with anecdotes which slow the narrative pace." Herbert Harris

+ — Weekly Book Review p1 Ag 6 '44 1600w

Wis Lib Bul 40:127 O '44

WECTER, DIXON. When Johnny comes marching home. (Life-in-America ser) 588p $3 Houghton

355.115 Veterans. U.S. Army—History 44-7507

Study of the return of the American soldiers from three wars: the Revolution, the Civil war, and the first World war, with some consideration of the problems of demobilization after the present war. Some of the material is from documents, such as letters and diaries, left by the men who fought in former wars. Index.

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson

Book Week p3 S 24 '44 800w

Booklist 41:36 O 1 '44

Reviewed by L. M. Lyons

Boston Globe p15 S 20 '44 500w

Christian Science Monitor p18 S 21 '44 350w

Commonweal 40:520 S 15 '44 700w

"A thoughtful book which is informative and good reading."

+ Kirkus 12:206 My 1 '44 340w

"An unusual approach to the coming problem of demobilization. Must book for public libraries." M. E. Clark

+ Library J 69:698 S 1 '44 70w

Reviewed by E. M. Maisel

Nation 159:592 N 11 '44 1300w

" 'When Johnny Comes Marching Home' has a pleasant, leisurely pace about it. To me the most interesting pages are the lengthy quotations from Civil War letters and diaries. It is a more human book than 'The Veteran Comes Back,' because it deals with men rather than with a problem. However, it devotes far more space to the veterans of three earlier wars—the Continentals, the boys in the Blue and the Gray, and the Doughboys, than it does to GI Joe." W. J. Caldwell

New Repub 111:437 O 2 '44 550w

Reviewed by Edward Streeter

N Y Times p5 S 17 '44 1100w

"Not that Mr. Wecter has written a sociological treatise and nothing else; there is some fascinating stuff in his book, which, like his earlier 'Saga of American Society,' is an example of how social history ought to be written."

+ New Yorker 20:81 S 16 '44 180w

"Even in a thousand-word review one cannot analyze and criticize the entire contents of a six-hundred-page volume. I can only say that in my opinion this book is, on the whole, trustworthy factually, though I do not agree with all the obiter-dicta, and that it is repaying reading for any serious-minded American who is looking to what may happen to us in the future." J. T. Adams

+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 S 30 '44 1000w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 24 '44 170w

Reviewed by Marshall Bragdon

Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 60w

"Complete, scholarly, interesting, timely." R. A. Brown

+ Survey G 33:464 N '44 180w

Time 44:99 S 18 '44 1500w

"The Civil War quickstep gives Mr. Wecter's title an overtone of frivolity that is not repeated in his book. It is a distinguished, timely book . . . and, though absorbing reading, it is not in the least frivolous or superficial." Bernard DeVoto

+ Weekly Book Review p1 S 17 '44 1500w

Wis Lib Bul 40:144 N '44

"If one is bothered in some sections by an abrupt turning from one trail to another before the end of the first is even in sight, and at times with facts and quotations which smother rather than illumine a theme, the book is none the less a 'must' for every citizen who has decided that the 'mistakes we made last time shan't happen again,' and that those who won the war shall at least have their chance in winning the peace." C. R. Walker

+ — Yale R n s 34:359 winter '45 550w

WEDGWOOD, CICELY VERONICA. William the Silent; William of Nassau, prince of Orange, 1533-1584. 256p $3 Yale univ. press [18s Cape, J]

B or 92 William I, prince of Orange
44-7864

Biography of William of Orange, who has been called the "wisest, gentlest and bravest man who ever led a nation." Index.

"This is a biography to read with delight and to keep to read again. And the founder of the independence of Holland has plenty of interest for the thoughtful reader of today." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 D 17 '44 120w

Booklist 41:152 Ja 15 '45

"Miss Wedgwood's account of one of the chief adversaries of Philip II. is thorough, honest, and well written, with a sound though limited documentation. Its chief value lies in its shrewd understanding of William and his immediate background; its chief limitation, an enormous one, that it is written from a Protestant point of view, which of necessity affords only a partial and warped comprehension of the gigantic conflict of the sixteenth century between the Church and her enemies."

+ — Cath World 160:373 Ja '45 550w

"One point only would I quarrel with. King Philip of Spain who serves as villain in the piece has been seen solely from the standpoint of the Dutch. Cruel, intolerant and narrow he may have been to them, but there was another side to the man that Spaniards knew. It is this other Philip the Prudent of R. B. Merriman and William Thomas Walsh whom one must balance against Miss Wedgwood's likeness. Those who love color and action will find it here in this book. And they will have it given them with an English style that is crystal clear and a scholarship beyond reproach." H. G. J. Beck

+ — Commonweal 41:234 D 15 '44 480w

"In fastidious prose, a careful, studied biography of William of Orange. . . Portrait of a statesman and a period, and an interesting historical study, for which the market will be limited almost wholly to scholars who are willing to cope with the poor type face."

+ — Kirkus 12:473 O 15 '44 180w

"This is an excellent biography of one of the great heroes of history. It is scholarly without pedantry, written in a prose which is direct, concise, vivid. . . It is too condensed to supersede Motley but is in itself a true contribution to historical literature. Recommended to all types of readers and libraries." F. L. D. Goodrich

+ Library J 69:1047 D 1 '44 110w

"Solid, well-constructed book. . . Miss Wedgwood is a writer of distinction, and her book is far above the usual run of biography, almost, but not quite, in the highest class." A. J. P. Taylor

+ — Manchester Guardian p3 My 24 '44 150w

"The present biography of this 'wisest, gentlest and bravest man who ever led a nation' is certainly the best existing in English and perhaps in any other language. A work of exacting scholarship, it is written in a style which makes it pleasant reading for the intelligent layman." Norbert Guterman

+ New Repub 111:811 D 11 '44 650w

"Miss Wedgwood presents William himself with the greatest sympathy and understanding —yet certainly not with more than he deserves, for he is among the noblest figures in history. He had one great quality in a supreme degree: a tenacity, a political heroism in adversity that have seldom been surpassed." Jack Simmons

+ New Statesman & Nation 27:408 Je 17 '44 1000w

"Miss Wedgwood's book makes fascinating reading. It should be engrossing as a mere story to those who have never so much as heard the name of William of Orange. And it will be rewarding reading for those who have more or less accepted William's picture as handed down in popular oversimplification. It is, moreover, the finest contribution yet made by a modern historian to the current discussion of the role of the 'hero' in history." Robert Pick

+ Sat R of Lit 27:12 D 9 '44 1500w

"Good men are notoriously hard to depict, and it is especially difficult to find the motives of a discreet man of action living in a cutthroat world who wrote no memoirs and only rarely explained what he did. This biography succeeds because Miss Wedgwood so obviously cares for the truth and for good writing. In some ways her description of William as 'belonging in spirit to an earlier, more generous and more cultured age' might be applied to herself as a historian." Phoebe Pool

+ Spec 172:480 My 26 '44 700w

"Miss Wedgwood, in selecting William as the subject of her latest work, has unquestionably chosen a fascinating and inspiring character. And it was high time that Motley was brought up to date. For this American historian wrote, like Lord Macaulay, largely in terms of nineteenth-century Liberalism and saw things in black and white, and also, as Professor Geyl pointed out, wrongly envisaged his great story as a conflict between Protestants and Catholics. Miss Wedgwood has seen that the life and actions of her hero cannot be so simplified or explained in modern political terms. Now and again she has to step back from her picture and remind us that William was still looking at his problem through the eyes of a medieval prince."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p226 My 6 '44 900w

"Miss Wedgwood, an authority on the period, has told his life story persuasively, with singular economy and charm. She has spared no toil to make smooth the reader's path; the pages are captioned with crisp, illuminating phrases, and the date of events set up for guidance. But the outstanding virtue of this biography is its judicious spirit. Superior scholarship, penetrating insight, lucid prose, these are prime assets." Geoffrey Bruun

+ Weekly Book Review p3 D 3 '44 550w

WEDGWOOD OF BARLASTON, JOSIAH CLEMENT WEDGWOOD, 1st baron. Testament to democracy; foreword by Winston Churchill. 374p $3.75 Am. chapter, Religious emergency council of Great Britain, 55 Leonard st, N.Y. 13 [8s 6d Hutchinson]

342.42 Democracy. Great Britain—Politics and government 44-525

"A Labour Peer writes both in praise and in criticism of British political institutions. His concluding chapters reveal his ideas on the shape he wishes for the world to come." Foreign Affairs

"A refreshing book, free from cliché and platitude, full of facts and faith, and rich from a lifetime of political experience." W. H. Wickwar

+ Am Pol Sci R 38:408 Ap '44 300w

"The value of the work consists in presenting to the American student of government a keen, lively, and practical analysis of the British parliamentarian system, its virtues and its dangers." Fritz Nova

+ Ann Am Acad 232:197 Mr '44 600w

"A wholesome antidote to fascism in any guise, and full of common sense politics for the average man or woman."

+ Current Hist 6:260 Mr '44 120w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 21:14 Jl '43 30w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:501 Ap '44 50w

Reviewed by Rustem Vambery

Nation 159:302 S 9 '44 800w

"The fact that some of Lord Wedgwood's notions are crusted with the patina of days that are gone (perhaps forever) detracts no more from their essential worth than from their charm. The discerning mind can translate them into the requirements of our new conditions without much difficulty. Undoubtedly government will have to do many things in the days to come that would greatly disturb the good Lord. But if we can view its acts, and our own, with that combination of faith and suspicion in mankind which he possessed, we shall be admirably equipped to meet our day as he met his." John Storck

+ N Y Times p12 Ja 23 '44 600w

"The interest and value of the book reside in the fact that it is the thinking aloud of an English parliamentarian who has stood all his life for a certain attitude of independence, of criticism, of courage, which goes to make up what an American historian has called 'the Anglo-Saxon spirit.' " Norman Angell

+ Sat R of Lit 27:7 Mr 4 '44 1750w

"Lord Wedgwood's chapters on Parliament are the more valuable portion of his volume. When later on he comes face to face with what may or may not be desirable in the post-war world, he is, like every one else, on more debatable ground. But he knows Parliament through and through, and much that he says about it ought to be the common ground for all Englishmen."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p590 D 5 '42 1000w

WEIGERT, HANS WERNER, and STEFANSSON, VILHJALMUR, eds. Compass of the world; a symposium on political geography; maps by Richard E. Harrison. 466p $3.50 Macmillan

320.1 Geopolitics. Population 44-7200

"Editors (Weigert, author of excellent recent book Generals and Geographers, Stefansson, highly esteemed for writings on Arctic region) gathered together for American public more than twenty essays by leading authorities, which are to fill some major gaps in our politico-geographical thinking. Papers some of which were published in scholarly journals before, cover wide range of topics, from refutation of Haushofer's pseudo-science of geopolitics to world airways, from North-American Arctic to inland crossroads of Asia." Library J

Reviewed by Ralph Peterson

Book Week p10 O 1 '44 650w

Booklist 41:147 Ja 15 '45

Boston Globe p31 N 29 '44 30w

"The volume is an absorbing study." Roy Hillbrook

+ Current Hist 7:323 O '44 120w

Reviewed by Andreas Dorpalen

Geog R 35:170 Ja '45 1800w

Kirkus 12:163 Ap 1 '44 150w

Reviewed by F. E. Hirsch

Library J 69:460 My 15 '44 130w

Reviewed by H. A. Littledale

N Y Times p10 Ja 21 '45 550w

"This is one of the most useful books yet published for the person who would understand the vast and strategic areas which lie in the glow of the aurora borealis." R. L. Neuberger

+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 S 23 '44 650w

"So many scholarly names are represented in this symposium that it is difficult and perhaps unfair to single out a few for particular notice. The aggregate of their work, its arrangement and the significance of the subjects are a credit to the distinguished editors of the volume, who are also among the contributors."

+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:2 Je '44 480w

"The chief values of this invaluable book are two. First, it provides new and authentic perspectives on our world. Second, its definitive destruction of the false simplifications offered by the pseudo-science of geopolitics is a corrective to easy and uncritical thinking about postwar international relations." Phillips Bradley

+ Survey G 33:460 N '44 320w

"This is an exceedingly important book. It is not week-end reading; parts of it require attentive labor. But we should be fortunate if that labor could be made mandatory for all who will be active in the political and geographical reorganization of societies. And for all who write about it." Bernard DeVoto

+ Weekly Book Review p1 S 24 '44 1450w

WEIL, MRS ANN. Pussycat's breakfast; il. by Mary Barton. [46p] $1.25 Greenberg

45-904

Picture-story book about a strange little cat which came to a farm. All the animals made an effort to feed her, but in vain. It was the little boy who knew what she needed. For ages four to seven.

"Mary Barton's pictures are attractive and Ann Weil has a worthwhile story to tell." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p7 D 24 '44 180w

"Good for telling or reading aloud, it is the type of story always enjoyed by little people. Illustrations are good, even though the blue shirt of the story is red in the picture." M. A. Webb

+ Library J 70:36 Ja 1 '45 70w

WEIL, BENJAMIN HENRY, and ANHORN, VICTOR JOHN. Plastic horizons. (Science for war and peace ser) 169p il $2.50 Cattell

668 Plastics 44-4946

"Not a book on chemistry or molding of plastics, but . . . a story of the unfolding of a plastic age. Historical background, basic raw materials, chemistry, outline of industry, production and statistics. Use of plastics by Armed Forces is told. . . Synthetic rubbers and fibers, substances closely related to plastics comprise one chapter and other chapters are 'Plastics and the Future,' 'Names, Chemical Types, and Manufacture of Familiar Plastics and Related Materials.' Drawings and diagrams add to the text." Library J

"This book will be of value to people engaged in this industry, although they already have good sources for this information, but the general public, for which the work is intended, will not take favorably to reading exceedingly tedious and superdetailed accounts of the innumerable places where the many plastics, already discovered, have found application. To these accounts most of this poorly written book is devoted." R. O.

— + Book Week p7 My 28 '44 110w

"This compact little book on plastics was written primarily for the layman. However, the authors, who are staff members of the Gulf Research and Development Co., have said a great deal that could be read with profit by the scientific and technological fraternity. . . The authors have treated their subject sanely, avoiding wild predictions of a magical plastics age. They are optimistic, but do not foresee in plastics the doom of steel and other metals. They give credit generously to various companies in the industry." Chaplin Tyler
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:207 S '44 250w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
+ Library J 69:403 My 1 '44 140w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:48 Jl '44

Reviewed by Waldemar Kaempffert
N Y Times p24 Jl 23 '44 380w

"As Paul Foote notes in the preface, the authors of this slender volume have achieved remarkable success in presenting the broad subject of plastics in a nontechnical yet thought-provoking manner."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 Je '44 420w

WEIL, FELIX JOSE. Argentine riddle; issued in cooperation with the Latin American economic institute. 297p $3.50 Day

330.982 Argentina—Economic conditions. Argentina—Politics and government 44-8598

"The present work, which covers the economic and political life of Argentina during the past ten years or so, fills what heretofore has been a complete void. . . Mr. Weil takes the feudal cattle barons and the upstart colonels and the grafting politicians of Argentina over the bumps with the gusto of a gaucho dragging a heifer to the slaughter pen. But at the same time he lets the air out of the official propagandists of the United States with quiet efficiency, takes a sideswipe at Walter Winchell's uninformed blatancy, drops the fly-by-night commentators into the river like so many foundling kittens each properly weighted with the damning fact. Altogether, he shows the how and why of Argentina, past, present, and future. It adds up to a lot of tragedy, but also much progress and hope, so far as Argentina is concerned; and pretty much absurdity so far as our own official antics are concerned." (Sat R of Lit) No index.

Reviewed by Allan Chase
Book Week p31 N 12 '44 1000w

Booklist 41:85 N 15 '44

"Dr. Weil's Argentine Riddle is a very thoughtful study of his country, well supplied with statistics. A review necessarily only suggests a few of the questions which this study raises, and it seems rather pointless to recommend it to Canadian students of their country's diplomacy when it has already been made required reading by the professor of Hispanic American history of George Washington University, and been so well received by the Nation." Josephine Hambleton
+ Canadian Forum 24:237 Ja '45 700w

Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 13 '45 500w

Kirkus 12:295 Jl 1 '44 130w

"A solid book that will admirably serve the purposes of the responsibly progressive." Ralph Bates
+ Nation 159:750 D 16 '44 360w

"Thoughtful and informative book." H. H. F. Eulau
+ New Repub 111:572 O 30 '44 900w

"Professor Weil is persuasive in his reasoning, and he presents his views frankly. . . The author has compiled an extensive bibliography and includes an addenda of many tables of statistics to show the economic and social position of Argentina. The frequent references make the book hard reading for anyone interested more in conclusions than in details but should prove invaluable to the scholar attempting an objective study of the country." F. H.
+ N Y Times p28 O 29 '44 800w

"Although parts of it are not too excitingly written, it is an accurate, authoritative work, and Mr. Weil's quiet, thorough intellectual honesty and respect for the facts make it indispensable for anyone not reading Spanish and anyone wishing to understand the present rumpus. About the only benefit from our current futile and unintelligent caterwauling at Argentina is the appearance of Mr. Weil's book. . . It is doubtful if there is anyone at all in this country who can gainsay Mr. Weil; and there is no one in Argentina who knows the facts better. He writes from the inside." Carleton Beals
+ Sat R of Lit 27:13 O 21 '44 900w

" 'Argentine Riddle' is charged with little known, startling information for the American public, baffled by political winds blowing from Argentina and anxious as to where they may be blowing us all. Dr Weil sets forth the riddle and suggests his solution with the perspective and authority of an Argentine-born economist who has studied abroad but spent years in his homeland in business, journalism and important government service." J. B. Buxton
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 29 '44 650w

"Whatever the historical accuracy of his interpretation of recent political moves may be, Weil has performed a real service by his logical presentation of certain basic truths. The book will also prove to be valuable as a work of reference; his detailed analysis of Argentine foreign trade is excellent." W. G. Fletcher
+ Yale R n s 34:365 winter '45 800w

WEINGART, GEORGE WASHINGTON. Pyrotechnics; civil and military. 220p il $5 Chemical pub. co.

662.1 Fireworks 43-17763

"Though subtitled 'Civil and Military,' only a single page at the end is devoted to pyrotechny in warfare. The book is concerned with display pieces, rockets, gerbes, parade torches, roman candles, pinwheels, etc., as well as firecrackers and cannon crackers. Special attention is paid to safety and warnings of specific risks, of which there are many, are given." (Weekly Book Review) Published 1937 under title: Dictionary and manual of pyrotechny; 1939 under title: Pyrotechny; a practical manual for manufacturers of fireworks, signals, flares and pyrotechnic displays.

"Weingart's book is a practical book by a practical man. Recognized as such, it is extremely valuable. It summarizes an experience of about fifty years. . . It contains many observations, sometimes homely but always useful, on safety, on procedure, on the properties of substances. It tells the amateur how to construct fireworks pieces, and it shows the chemist what the tricks and contrivances are by which a few rather ordinary chemical substances are made to produce some extraordinary audible and visible effects. The same devices are applied in military as in civil pyrotechnics—and Weingart's book will supply a needed acquaintance with them to anyone who may have to work with explosive and pyrotechnic instruments of war." T. L. Davis
+ Am Chem Soc J 66:851 My '44 320w

Chem & Eng N 22:200 F 10 '44 40w

Reviewed by Jules Bebie
Chem & Met Eng 51:193 Ap '44 400w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:68 O '43

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p14 F 6 '44 90w

WEISGAL, MEYER W., ed. Chaim Weizmann, statesman, scientist, builder of the Jewish commonwealth; foreword by Felix Frankfurter. 340p $3.50 Dial press

B or 92 Weizmann, Chaim 44-51274

"A collection of essays by authors of worldwide renown, such as Sholem Asch, Thomas Mann, Dorothy Thompson, and others, who have joined to pay tribute to the great statesman, scientist, and leader of the Jewish nation on the occasion of his 70th birthday." Boston Globe

Booklist 41:169 F 1 '45

"Jew or gentile, Zionist or non-Zionist, any reader conscious of the present cosmic struggle

WEISGAL, M. W.—Continued
to create a future which will no longer bar the social and cultural evolution of mankind will find 'Chaim Weizmann' very much worth while." Eveline Dienes

+ Boston Globe p15 D 13 '44 500w

Reviewed by Reinhold Niebuhr
Nation 160:50 Ja 13 '45 300w

"There are an extraordinary vitality, intimacy and a descriptive brilliance in this book. It glows with a sort of inner illumination, yet it is completely unsentimental. The many-angled descriptions of Weizmann fuse into a biographical portrait of immense distinction and fascination. Rarely does a collection of essays by various writers achieve so consistently high a level of content and expression." C. G. Stillman

+ Weekly Book Review p3 D 10 '44 1150w

WEISGARD, LEONARD. Whose little bird am I? [il. by the author]. [37p] $1 Crowell
44-7214

Picture story book for young readers, showing a small bird asking "Whose little bird am I?" and being repudiated by sixteen mother birds, until finally he is accepted by the right one.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p18 N 12 '44 50w

"A charming lesson in bird lore for the very young."

+ Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 50w

Cath World 160:278 D '44 10w

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 S 25 '44 60w

Horn Bk 20:475 N '44 20w

"Weisgard has a delightful quality in his work—and a good deal of originality."

+ Kirkus 12:428 S 15 '44 60w

"Birdlore for very young children who will enjoy the pictures that go so well with the simple little story." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 69:817 O 1 '44 70w

Reviewed by M. C. Skinner
Library J 69:862 O 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 S 17 '44 150w

WEISKOPF, FRANZ CARL. Firing squad; tr. from the German by James A. Galston. 264p $2.50 Knopf
44-5267

Portrayal of the lives of six German soldiers stationed in Prague just before and after the assassination of Heydrich. Private First Class Holler describes the reactions of each of them as they are made into a firing squad, to revenge the death of the "Cobra."

"The author's skill as a writer, acquired in the course of an outstanding career in Europe, shines in the superb characterization of the men, their friends and families, and in the descriptions of the home front and the creation of authentic atmosphere. . . This is a novel with much food for thought, excellently translated from the original German." Emily Schossberger

+ Book Week p5 Je 25 '44 410w

"Certainly not reading for entertainment, this; for critical rather than popular notice."
Kirkus 12:152 Ap 1 '44 130w

"Advise reading before purchase. Recommended for larger libraries." S. E. Sherman
Library J 69:554 Je 15 '44 70w

Reviewed by William Poster
New Repub 111:468 O 9 '44 240w

"The author has tried to combine fictitious characters with actual atrocities, but the result is far from happy. Cut to fit the factual pattern, his characters sound as though they came out of a card file of German soldier types. Previously reported, the atrocities are no longer news and are not here translated into moving art. It is commonly said that the next Nazi move after defeat will be to organize sympathy on the part of tender-hearted Americans. If their repentance inspires no more confidence than does that of Private Holler it need cause little alarm." Mildred Adams
N Y Times p7 Je 25 '44 650w

"Although you will learn nothing new about how such a squad operates (it's the same report on mass murder with which we are already tragically familiar), the author's realistic portraits of the soldiers and their friends and relations, of whom some are brutal, some mean, and some merely unpleasant, may increase your understanding of what started out to be the wave of the future. An unpleasant story, clearly and firmly written."

+ New Yorker 20:65 Jl 1 '44 90w

"Mr. Weiskopf manages to produce a highly credible, impressive picture of German depravity and German misery. There is practically nothing of the usual underground stuff in his novel, and, what is even more to his credit, his own emotion hardly ever gets the better of him." Robert Pick

+ Sat R of Lit 27:9 Jl 8 '44 650w

"The fascination of the book is in the background as much as in the characters. An atmosphere of complete reality is so carefully constructed that we see how a people eke out a living in close starvation, we see how a petty official can work the party laws for graft, we see how 'state motherhood' can be both a smutty joke and a cruel torture, we see how the papers can be forced to curb obituaries—'to ration even death.' These hundreds of details of both Prague and the homeland build up to a [cumulative] force so that the annihilation of Lidice is only a detail, only one chord in a symphony of horror." Lee Varley
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 2 '44 650w

Reviewed by Herbert Kupferberg
Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 9 '44 800w

WELLER, GEORGE ANTHONY. Bases overseas; an American trusteeship in power. 434p $3.50 Harcourt

355.45 U.S.—Defenses. U.S.—Foreign relations. World politics 44-9474

"A rather somber view of the future of international relations. Basic assumption implies that future world wars are inevitable. Developed thesis concludes that United States must prepare for its obvious future responsibilities now and immediately after this war by procuring permanent overseas bases throughout the world. Criticizes America's emphasis on the 'miracle of production' since waste of our diminishing reserves is the result." (Library J) Index.

"Weller is a phrasemaker of consummate skill, a writer of great vigor; his book is persuasive. He raises questions, and rightly, on aspects of our conduct of the war and foreign policy that we will do well to examine critically, eschewing sentiment and the urgency of the present moment. But the book must not be taken as conclusive, for the author has not thought through the full implications of bases overseas or 'what's in it for me' on the spoils of war. Would Americans be empire builders, under his conceptions, or world policemen? He has fired an opening gun in the inevitable discussion of American destiny, be it empire or whatnot. That discussion must be carried forward with careful reasoning." W. F. Morse

+ — Book Week p19 N 19 '44 550w

Booklist 41:85 N 15 '44

"Vigorous and provocative book. . . In language which is hard-hitting and richly saturated with fact and history, this book flings a challenge at Americans." J. H. Powers

+ Boston Globe p12 N 22 '44 390w

"Mr. Weller's message is worth repeating. He is a good novelist and a fine reporter; his challenge to our makers of foreign policy is presented with decided literary skill."

+ Commonweal 41:104 N 10 '44 900w

Kirkus 12:474 O 15 '44 130w

"Author writes from personal observation and with great sincerity. Argument weakened at times by questionable analogies involving youth and age of nations and by geo-politicians' belief that theirs is the only true comprehension of reality." J. H. Berthel

+ — Library J 69:935 N 1 '44 130w

"Overstuffed bore of a book. . . Mr. Weller reads, with due stylistic allowances, like a composite of Patterson and McCormick editorials, only worse. . . Mr. Weller's world is devoid of meaning; he does not mention fascism once. Nor does he speak of the aspirations of peoples. This author of 'Singapore Is Silent' has not learned the lesson of Singapore." R. N. Kelly

— New Repub 111:664 N 20 '44 300w

"This assumption of a world-future of indefinite warfare—in which the United States can protect herself only by holding scores of far-flung bases armed for instant use—amounts to a counsel of despair. A policy of base-grabbing all around the rims of Europe, Africa and the Pacific would itself do much to make future conflicts inevitable. Nowhere in his book does Mr. Weller point to the true policy: a policy of collective action for security, with world control over such bases and war-potentials as are not in the hands of peace-loving powers, a world police, and the systematic inculcation of a world tradition of disarmament and the peaceable adjustment of conflicting interests." Allan Nevins

N Y Times p4 D 17 '44 1050w

"'Bases Overseas' suffers from lack of a concise statement of the thesis and a logical development of the argument. Mr. Weller has a gift for blunt, picturesque wording but too often he rants and too often becomes long-winded and dull. However, unlike many of his colleagues, he has thought about what he has seen and he has tried to relate it with the past and the future. A provocative performance, his book deserves an audience." Robert Okin

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:8 N 25 '44 900w

Reviewed by Joseph Barnes

Weekly Book Review p11 D 17 '44 1350w

WELLES, SUMNER. The time for decision. 431p map $3 Harper

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—U.S. Reconstruction (1939-) 44-6080

The former United States under-secretary of state, who in 1940 was President Roosevelt's special representative in Europe, discusses American foreign policy and the plan for the coming peace. "Mr. Welles's book falls into three main parts: the first, historical, deals with Europe between the two wars and the changing reaction of our country and government to what was happening there, and it gives an account of Mr. Welles's mission to Rome, Berlin, Paris and London in the beginning of 1940; the second takes up the problems connected with Latin America, eastern Europe and the Near East, the Far East, the Soviets and Germany; the third contains the author's own plan for World Organization and the part to be played in it by the United States." (Weekly Book Review) Index.

Reviewed by H. B. Elliston

Atlantic 174:131 Ag '44 900w

Reviewed by Marshall Field

Book Week p1 Jl 23 '44 1600w

Booklist 41:10 S '44

"Long years of diplomatic reserve lend a certain stiffness to Mr. Welles' pen, but there is neither stiffness nor temporizing in the clarity and vigor of his thinking. This is the kind of perspective writing for which the label 'mandatory reading' is pure understatement." L. L. Marchand

+ Boston Globe p15 Ag 2 '44 360w

"Mr. Welles' book has one extremely readable section consisting of the story of his mission to the European capitals just before the blitz in 1940. . . The weakness of his book is the contrast between the realism of his treatment of Europe—whether one agrees with his German proposals or not—and the smooth correct orthodoxy of his narrative about good neighborhood in the two Americas which leaves out most of the ugly parts of the Latin-American reality. But it is a 'must' book for all students who want to understand American policy during the past twenty years." F. H. U.

+ — Canadian Forum 24:139 S '44 230w

Reviewed by Joseph McSorley

Cath World 159:565 S '44 750w

Reviewed by Paul Hutchinson

Christian Century 61:1022 S 6 '44 1100w

Cleveland Open Shelf p9 Je '44

"This book is well written by a man who speaks modestly but with authority out of his long diplomatic experience. It deals with events and plans of enormous importance, and some of its history, while not sensationally new, is absorbingly interesting. It contains much wisdom and ends with a plan for regional world organization which structurally deserves to rank with two or three of the best which have been proposed. Yet I put the book down with a profound sense of disappointment and apprehension that in so far as it has influence it will affect the peace for the worse rather than the better. . . Reading Mr. Welles's book added to my growing conviction that we shall never get peace or harness our technological equipment to the destruction of poverty until we have a faith in the possibility of great ideas and their capacity to conquer the hearts even of the peoples we now call our enemies. No people as a people is bad enough for the fate Mr. Welles would bring upon the Germans, and no people, not even of the Big Three nations . . . can or will successfully play the role of God of wrath modified by the formulae of this book." Norman Thomas

+ — Commonweal 40:354 Jl 28 '44 2000w

"Here is unquestionably one of the more important books of the day. As Under Secretary of State from 1937 to 1943, Mr. Welles was in an unrivalled position to know what was going on in American and world diplomacy. This book, though it cannot be described as indiscreet, nevertheless abounds in hitherto unpublished information."

+ Foreign Affairs 23:8 O '44 160w

"This is such an important book that it is unfortunate that Sumner Welles lacks that fire of the printed word which would impel a wide public to read and mark his thoughtful, provocative text. . . An essential book."

+ Kirkus 12:290 Jl 1 '44 170w

"Both for the wide range of his opportunities for observation and for the clarity and sanity of his comments, this is an important contribution to an understanding of world problems. . . One of the most comprehensive and authoritative statements of world political situations, an important addition to all libraries." M. C. Manley

+ Library J 69:603 Jl '44 110w

Reviewed by P. E. Corbett

Nation 159:186 Ag 12 '44 650w

Reviewed by Max Lerner

New Repub 111:135 Jl 31 '44 2450w

"Mr. Sumner Welles in his Time for Decision has written a book which is not merely a best seller but by far the most important work on American foreign policy in the last twenty-five years, and by far the most far-sighted plan for the post-war world that has emerged from World War II." W. D. C.

+ New Statesman & Nation 28:340 N 18 '44 1550w

"The unique importance of this contribution to the great current debate on foreign policy is that it is written by one of the best-informed men of our time on the interrelations of Governments. . . It is less the book of a diplomat, however, than of a policy maker. Much that it contains is news. More is comment and judgment on men and events. Underlying and informing and motivating all is an argument." A. O. McCormick

+ N Y Times p1 Jl 23 '44 2250w

New Yorker 20:59 Jl 22 '44 270w

Reviewed by Grayson Kirk

Pacific Affairs 17:507 D '44 350w

"Mr. Welles's book is important for two reasons. His account of his 1940 mission to Europe and of United States diplomacy from the fall of France to the North African invasion is a valuable document, rich in first-hand historical information; and much the same may be said of his chapter on the Good Neighbor Policy, since in this too he has an active hand. Secondly, the book contains elaborate prescriptions for world pacification and future

WELLES, SUMNER—Continued
American foreign policy, and these are undoubtedly reaching widely and influentially over the public; so that the publication of the book is in itself a notable event. The volume merits careful and critical scrutiny." R. J. S. Hoffman
+ Pol Sci Q 59:594 D '44 2550w

"The former Undersecretary of State does not command the literary skill of Walter Lippmann. His book would have benefited by editorial pruning, and his style of writing—in contrast to his eloquent speeches—retains too many overtones of formal diplomatic statements to be always effective. But his book is crammed with mature and stimulating comment on this country's foreign policy during the critical interwar years—comment offered by a man versed in the pitfalls of practical politics who does not hesitate to speak his mind on controversial questions—notably Spain and Argentina. Mr. Welles has made a major contribution to the writing of the history of our times." V. M. Dean
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:7 Jl 29 '44 1500w

Reviewed by Salvador de Madariaga
Spec 173:388 O 27 '44 1000w

" 'The time for decision' is now. On some of our decisions within the frighteningly near future rest the stability of our civilization. We should all be eternally grateful to Mr Welles for setting before us the unvarnished facts upon which we must base our decisions." R. N. Fuller
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 23 '44 1100w

"Mr. Welles writes a sprightly prose, hits straight from the shoulder when he is discussing what he considers State Department mistakes, and plants himself flat-footedly on the issues which he holds to be important."
+ Time 44:94 Jl 24 '44 750w

Times [London] Lit Sup p522 O 28 '44 3300w

"On things that have happened, Mr. Welles speaks as one having authority; his criticism is frank, temperate and without malice; his forecasts and proposals are carefully thought out and sagacious. There is no more important lesson to be learned from his account of the failures of the last peace than the necessity of preparatory planning and of establishing the main lines of settlement while the war is still going on. We are doing better this time, but Mr. Welles makes it clear that for many things it is already late, and that opportunities are daily slipping from us." W. A. Neilson
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Jl 23 '44 1400w

Wis Lib Bul 40:129 O '44

Reviewed by Carl Becker
Yale R n s 34:148 autumn '44 430w

WELLES, WINIFRED (MRS H. H. SHEARER). Shape of memory. 62p $2 Holt
811 44-2826

Collection of forty-two poems by a Connecticut writer who died in 1939. The poems, gathered by friends, and published as a memorial, are about her ancestral home in Norwich, her relatives, and the poet herself.

"Her work is perceptive and deft. A lifelong admirer of Emily Dickinson, this Connecticut poet, while scarcely approximating Dickinson's robin's-eye view of tears and eternity, still left a sufficient volume of work to ensure her position in the catalogue of America's pertinent women poets." Leonard Bullen
+ Book Week p2 Mr 19 '44 550w

Booklist 40:265 Ap 1 '44

Bookmark 5:11 My '44

Reviewed by Pearl Strachan
Christian Science Monitor p12 Jl 15 '44 150w

"These poems are delicate and sensitive; they are also grave, gay and sometimes witty."
+ Kirkus 12:93 F 15 '44 130w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer
N Y Times p21 Mr 26 '44 200w

"A surprising number of people know by heart at least one poem of Winifred Welles'. Her style was neat, compact and melodious; she specialized in preserving the small event like an embalmed lark in an Egyptian tomb. The fact that she was not always alert against sentimentality and familiar phrases only makes her stanzas easier for memory to retain. How sure are we, by the way, that a good familiar phrase is to be discarded in favor of a second-rate original one?" J. N. North
+ — Poetry 64:168 Je '44 600w

" 'The Shape of Memory' with its revery and compassion, its wit and spiritedness, is a book of American poems that will remain a possession—a distinctive contribution. What a loss it would have been if these poems had been let remain in manuscript. We owe a debt to Louise Townsend Nicholl for bringing about their publication and arranging and introducing them so sympathetically." Padraic Colum
+ Sat R of Lit 27:32 Ap 29 '44 850w

"She sings with warm affection of her shining memories and keen-edged observations of New England scenes, seasons and people. In the latter part of the book she is concerned with grave, semimystic forebodings and lonely retrospections. . . One can only conclude on reading this volume that Winifred Welles's delicate and graceful lyrics always so carefully expressed in perfect meter and rhythm deserve to gain wider recognition and appreciation than in the past." C. M. Sauer
+ Springf'd Republican p6 Mr 6 '44 600w

"In the poem which gives its name to this volume, the author speaks of 'the flower-shape of memory,' which 'exquisitely furled' dwells under the eyelids. In these poems that flower-shape is unfurled into a wide variety of scenes, character sketches, ideas and sensations, all carefully and delicately wrought into words." Elizabeth Drew
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Je 4 '44 300w

WELLMAN, PAUL ISELIN. Bowl of brass. 319p $2.75 Lippincott
44-3156

Rivalry between two towns in western Kansas in 1889 is the background. Each town wants the county seat, and the inhabitants use any methods, no matter how questionable to gain their ends. Some of the chief characters are Simeon, a religious fanatic; his much younger wife; and Til Rector, a bankrupt young farmer who goes to work for Simeon.

"Although written out of a respectable knowledge of its period and a certain insight into the political animal (genus Americana), this tale of the passions and politics of frontier Kansas remains, on the whole, rather dull gruel about stock figures in familiar situations." Peter De Vries
Book Week p4 Mr 26 '44 320w

Booklist 40:285 Ap 15 '44

Kirkus 12:78 F 15 '44 170w

"So written that characters bring to life the land and its customs with reality and intensity. Frankness in few instances will not offend most readers. Recommended." E. F. Kelly
+ Library J 69:263 Mr 15 '44 60w

"The author spreads lavishly detailed scenes and on occasion some of his characters achieve a human earthiness; otherwise he creates an unlovely world inhabited by people who are not only primitive in their reactions but meanly and grotesquely so. . . The hero and the heroine grapple after a fashion with moral values—and incidentally things come out all right for them. Not another soul on the premises seems to be aware that such values exist. All in all, it is a pretty terrible town and a pretty terrible frontier American he gives us." Ernest Haycox
N Y Times p4 Ap 2 '44 600w

"As a novel, Mr. Wellman's accurate and unsparing portrait of Kansas life in the late 1880's is no great work of art. But it has strength and authenticity to a notable degree. The counterparts of his unlovely characters really existed; indeed, they were the sort who gave western Kansas a reputation for hypocrisy, snide dealing and all-around cheapness which all the winds of decades have not entirely erased. . . A rather unpleasant business, this study, but an honest and vigorous piece of work nevertheless." Stanley Walker

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 2 '44 550w

WELLS, CARVETH. Introducing Africa. 243p $2.50 Putnam
916 Africa 44-404

A factual book in which a well-known lecturer and explorer presents data on the continent of Africa. He begins with a general description of the continent as a whole, its people, their distribution and government, and the climate, vegetation and animal life. Then the various geographical sections of the country are discussed in more detail. The appendix lists ten principal languages of Africa and where they are spoken, and the principal languages and number of speakers, by countries. Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:233 Mr 1 '44
New Yorker 19:78 Ja 29 '44 90w
Scientific Bk Club R 15:4 F '44 300w

"'Introducing Africa' really introduces it. It does no more than this, but also it does no less." Stuart Cloete
+ Weekly Book Review p10 F 20 '44 650w
Wis Lib Bul 40:36 Mr '44

WELLS, HERBERT GEORGE. Crux ansata. 113p $1.75; pa $1.25 Agora pub. co, 229 W 48th st, N.Y. 19
282 Roman Catholic church 44-6969

"An indictment of the Roman Catholic church." Subtitle

"It is a slashing rather than a judicious book. Further attention to it may be called for."
Christian Century 61:855 Jl 19 '44 110w

"Unfortunately, no supporter of Mr. Wells could sincerely claim that he has done justice to his cause. Judged even by the mediocre literary standards of our time, 'Crux Ansata' is a very poor book indeed. . . In fact, had this book been written by someone totally unknown, it would not deserve to be published at all." James Stern
— New Repub 111:600 N 6 '44 1900w

"Mr. Wells shares the singular myopia peculiar to rationalists which prevents their seeing wherein the power of the Roman Catholic Church resides. Many of the sanest intellectuals of today, who are not even Christians, are in sympathy with the Church, because, in spite of its errors and imperfections, it appears to be the ordinary man's strongest supporter against his complete domination by an exclusively materialistic State. They may be wrong in thinking this, but they will never be convinced by such an old-fashioned catalogue of past crimes as make up the bulk of Mr. Wells's book."
Spec 172:414 My 5 '44 170w

WELLS, HERBERT GEORGE. '42 to '44; a contemporary memoir upon human behaviour during the crisis of the world revolution. 212p 42s Secker & Warburg [English publication]
901 Civilization. Man [A44-2369]

"In form this book is a collection of pieces written by Mr. Wells during the past two years or so. They were written for the formation of his own ideas in a period of world crisis. They deal with the most diverse topics. The most substantial is a thesis on personality which has been accepted by the University of London for the Doctorate of Science and has been presented for publication in the Royal Society's Philosophical Transaction. . . The next most substantial piece in the book is the 'Declaration of the Rights of Man,' at which Mr. Wells has been working with a team of colleagues for some time. . . The main part of the work is divided into two sections. In the first, called 'The Heritage of the Past,' Mr. Wells faces 'the fact that the human animal, by reason of its intelligence, can be the most deliberately cruel of all living things.' The second section is called 'How We Face the Future,' but it would be more appropriately called 'The Book of the Hates of H. G. Wells.' . . Mr. Wells's personal dislikes centre most strongly in Mr. A. V. Alexander, Sir Samuel Hoare, General de Gaulle, Sir Richard Acland and Lord Vansittart." Times [London] Lit Sup

"I find this book desperately disappointing." B. I. Evans
— Manchester Guardian p3 My 17 '44 450w

Reviewed by T. C. Worsley
New Statesman & Nation 27:356 My 27 '44 950w

"Mr. Wells, angry, not always scientific, and at times a little rattled, is more worth reading than anyone else now writing." E. L. Woodward
+ — Spec 172:432 My 12 '44 1000w

"42 to 44 is Wells at his most vigorous and entertaining, lashing out at men and parties and pulling no punches."
Time 43:99 My 29 '44 1100w

"There are many different ways of growing old. Among the Fabians, Mr. G. B. Shaw has grown in grace as he has increased in years, and probably has fewer enemies now than at any time in his life. The Webbs increased in the spirit of adventure, and became mentally younger as they grew physically older. Mr. Wells entered the Fabian Society well after them, and left it early, but he may also be counted a Fabian; and the mark of his old age has been a rising intolerance, until in this memoir his pen becomes a cat-o'-nine-tails tearing the backs of his contemporaries and leaving wounds which only time will heal. The spectacle is fascinating but horrible."
Times [London] Lit Sup p232 My 13 '44 850w

WEND, MILTON. How to live in the country without farming; planning and establishing a productive country home; il. by Robert Haberstock. 316p $2.50 Doubleday
630.1 Country life. Agriculture Agr44-71

This book on how "to plan and establish a productive country home" contains chapters on: Buying country property; Food; Garden and orchard; Livestock and barns; Money-earning occupations; Finances and budgets; Transportation; Health, Safety; The weather; Neighbors and community; Family co-operation, etc. Bibliography. Index.

"It must be understood that this is not a book for the business farmer. But, for its special field, I don't see how a more useful work could be devised, and I believe Wend has earned the thanks of many country-minded Americans." J. T. F.
+ Book Week p8 Ap 16 '44 200w
Booklist 40:299 My 1 '44
Bookmark 5:8 My '44

"It is a thoroughgoing guide, honest, sometimes deliberately hardboiled about obstacles, but reasonable and seemingly practical in all matters pertaining to moving to and living in the country. From the buying of the land, repairs and improvements, indoors and out, to self-maintenance from garden, orchard, field, livestock, etc., to listing 120 money earning urban occupations that can be practised in small communities, home industries, planning, education, health—this is a commonsense manual."
+ Kirkus 12:17 Ja 1 '44 90w

"The chapter that will appeal to the man who yearns for green fields, but dares not quit the pavement and his city job for fear that he might not survive in the country, is particularly well done. It is quiet common sense, wastes no words, makes no rash promises. It lists job possibilities for both men and women who would quit the asphalt for the meadow." Meyer Berger
+ N Y Times p26 Je 4 '44 140w

Reviewed by Edrie Van Dore
Springf'd Republican p6 My 2 '44 270w

WEND, MILTON—Continued

"In spite of Mr. Wend's many practical ideas and suggestions, drawn from first-hand experiences as a worker on the land for more than forty years, his book is definitely not 'for every one who is country-minded.' It is rather for those in what economists call the middle and upper income brackets—or for people who just like to dream about having a place in the country, but never actually do anything about getting it. . . Certainly one of the book's best features are the well-chosen references at the end of each chapter; and a concluding bibliography of books, pamphlets, periodicals, bulletins, etc., should be of value to both prospective and already established country dwellers." Ruth Lechlitner

+ — Weekly Book Review p8 Ap 16 '44 360w

WENMAN, LOIS MOORE, and BALL, MRS MIRIAM OGDEN, comps. Subject headings for the information file; with notes on setting up a file of ephemera. 5th ed 110p pa $1.25 Wilson, H.W.

025.3 Subject headings 43-51336

"First published in 1917 with title: List of subject headings for information file, compiled by Mabel E. Colegrove and Margaret A. McVety." (Library of Congress card) For fourth edition by Wenman and Richardson see Book Review Digest, 1939. "War related subject headings have been added; a chapter on setting up a file of ephemera includes a source list of agencies and published materials." (Booklist)

Booklist 40:149 D 15 '43

Reviewed by M. F. Tauber

Library Q 14:269 Jl '44 390w

WENTWORTH, HAROLD. American dialect dictionary. 747p $6 Crowell

427.9 Americanisms. English language—Dialects 44-6209

"An interesting compilation of material for the great American lexicon that is yet to be. This dictionary confines itself mainly to 'localisms, regionalisms, and provincialisms.' It contains 'more than fifteen thousand terms, a large proportion of which are not now found in any other dictionary or reference work, and sixty thousand quotations.' " New Yorker

Reviewed by Louis Zara

Book Week p3 Jl 30 '44 270w

Booklist 41:10 S '44

"Broadly viewed, 'American Dialect' may doubtless be considered an exploit in the department of language study known in modern days as semantics. . . As for the material, readers will be surprised to find how much of it garners from their own homely everyday talk, no charge of slang or illiteracy implied either. The book deals, in fine, with dialect. On this score it will serve writers of regional tales and dramas for verification of the dialogue of their personages." W. P. T.

Christian Science Monitor p11 Jl 22 '44 650w

"The author is a well-known lexicographer and philologist, and has lived and studied the subject in all of the regions from which the three main dialect classifications stem. This should prove a valuable reference item."

+ Kirkus 12:296 Jl 1 '44 110w

"Here is an excellent dictionary of the homely folk speech of America. . . Mr. Wentworth's own contributions he drew from the regions with which he is most familiar—central New York and the Monongahela River Valley—and from literary sources. Mr. Wentworth's editing shows that he is a competent lexicographer. He has brought a mass of loose material into an easily managed order. His book will delight the fancier of tasty Americanisms. It will be very useful to students of dialect and to writers of tales. And it will provide a fine stimulus to further studies, even to a great all-inclusive dictionary of the English language in America." W. C. Greet

+ N Y Times p25 Jl 23 '44 1000w

New Yorker 20:64 Jl 29 '44 80w

Springf'd Republican p4d S 3 '44 50

Wis Lib Bul 40:144 N '44

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS O. TURNBULL). Clock strikes twelve. 25 $2 Lippincott

44-32

Detective story.

"Miss Wentworth's pace is measured, b her pages are well packed and her art is su enough to sustain her carefully complete narra tion." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p9 My 14 '44 180w

"Despite the absence of such thrillin episodes as are found in most detective storie this tale of Miss Silver's latest adventure sleuthing holds one's interest better than man more violent narratives." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p12 Ap 30 '44 100w

"Miss Silver's detective work will pleas readers who like their mysteries to be leisurel and very genteel."

+ New Yorker 20:88 Ap 29 '44 70w

"Romance, mystery, and murder satisfactoril mingled—for those who like their thrill pleasantly diluted with family chatter an emotional entanglements. Nice."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:33 Ap 29 '44 40w

Springf'd Republican p4d My 7 '4 150w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p19 Ap 30 '4 130w

WENTWORTH, PATRICIA, pseud. (MRS G. O TURNBULL.) The key. 221p $2 Lippincott

44-991

Detective story.

"More than satisfactory—but one wishes there were more of Miss Silver presented throughout." Elizabeth Bullock

+ Book Week p6 D 31 '44 90w

"Good suspense but unconvincing finale."

+ — Kirkus 12:413 S 15 '44 50w

"Miss Silver is not the only detective on the case, but she is the one who fits the bits of evidence together until they form a complete picture—a picture that you will thoroughly enjoy." Isaac Anderson

+ N Y Times p18 D 17 '44 140w

"Miss Wentworth has gone to town with this new Silver tale, loading it with clever gadgets and character values. Also love and plenty of quiet fun." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p8 D 31 '44 250w

WERFEL, FRANZ V. Between heaven and earth; tr. by Maxim Newmark. 252p $3 Philosophical lib.

204 Religion 44-40221

"Here, the Jewish novelist, philosopher and poet sets down his ideas on life and religion. The first three essays—rather, sections—are reprinted from German lectures delivered, 1930-1937. The last section was written after Franz Werfel fled to the United States." Library J

"It took courage for Werfel to publish this book, for he will come in for some pretty harsh criticism. Next to a brilliant flash of insight, there will be a completely obscure phrase or paragraph that even the best-intentioned cannot understand. Next to a page of superb spiritual humility in the face of the vast universe, there will be a page of name calling and dogmatic thinking little better than the atheistic and agnostic dogmatism which he takes such great pains to expose." Irving Stone

Book Week p3 D 10 '44 550w

Booklist 41:133 Ja 1 '45

"The book contains some things that are trite; other things that are trivial; and a few passages which (at any rate as they are translated) are somewhat turgid. But it should all be read, for it is full of profound and moving ideas, whose scope has hardly been indicated by the single point upon which I have touched. Especially good is its summary of some of the principal reasons—psychological, logical, moral, and esthetic—why faith in God appears necessary and unavoidable." Theodore Maynard

+ — Commonweal 41:231 D 15 '44 800w

Discussion by the author and Theodore Maynard

Commonweal 41:327 Ja 12 '45 750w

"There are beautiful passages written with characteristic artistry. There are others in which Werfel's 'inner perceptions of the Divine' is expressed too obscurely for general comprehension. Werfel—to put it bluntly—is more effective when using the novel as his medium."

Kirkus 12:544 D 1 '44 260w

"The writings are little more than notes and offer nothing that may not be gleaned, by thoughtful readers, from his novels. Not an imperative book for any library (notwithstanding the extravagant announcements)." K. T. Willis

Library J 69:935 N 1 '44 80w

Reviewed by E. R. Bentley

Nation 159:723 D 9 '44 390w

"Clearly, this is not a book for the lazy-minded nor for any seeking mere entertainment. It is a serious call for the spiritual man to become vocal and active in world renewal." H. J. Forman

, N Y Times p30 N 19 '44 800w

"I fear I shall not be able to resist treating this volume of Mr. Werfel's as an alarming symptom of a dangerous disease, not only in him but in many of the most distinguished —or popular—writers of the present era. The disease is infectious, and it seems to be a grave matter for the welfare of the whole intellectual community. The illness I should call religiosity, and I use that term to distinguish it from religion (which is arguably not a malady at all)." Irwin Edman

— Sat R of Lit 27:9 N 18 '44 1900w

"All this is splendid—the substance of a great book. But, alas, Franz Werfel has not given us this great book. What we have here is not a book at all, but the fragments of a book. . . The reason for this hodgepodge of material is obvious, and pitiful, enough. Werfel is a refugee who in his flight from the Nazis lost his manuscripts. In the compilation of his book, therefore, he was limited, as he tells us, to pamphlets already published in German and to what he has written since his arrival in America. But why a compilation of this undigested character? Why not a new, fresh work as finished in philosophy as 'The Song of Bernadette' was finished in fiction?" J. H. Holmes

Weekly Book Review p17 Ja 7 '45 700w

WERFEL, FRANZ V. Jacobowsky and the colonel; comedy of a tragedy in three acts; the original play; tr. by Gustave O. Arlt. 120p $2 Viking

832 44-4887

Original play from which S. N. Behrman made the adaptation of the Broadway play. It describes the adventures of two Poles caught in France by the German invasion, and the effects upon them of their flight and persecution.

Reviewed by Sterling North

Book Week p2 My 28 '44 600w

Booklist 40:373 Jl 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Je '44

Reviewed by Kappo Phelan

Commonweal 40:378 Ag 4 '44 1400w

Kirkus 12:188 Ap 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton

Weekly Book Review p11 Ag 6 '44 100w

WERFEL, FRANZ V. Jacobowsky and the colonel; American play based on same by S. N. Behrman [phot. by Vandamm studio]. 177p $2 Random house

832 44-40159

The American stage adaptation of the original play listed above. This is the version of the play first produced on Broadway in the spring of 1944.

"I like Bennett Cerf's suggestion to his friends at Viking Press. He suggested that they print a flyleaf for the Werfel original explaining that any similarity between it and the play now running is purely coincidental. Actually the similarities are greater than the differences. Werfel's original conception has not been violated, and the few changes are distinct improvements. For instance, the absence of St. Francis in Behrman's rendition reduces the element of fantasy, which was originally present in dangerously large proportion. Playwrights—and who isn't an incipient playwright?—will want both editions." Sterling North

Book Week p2 Jl 16 '44 150w

Booklist 40:386 Jl 15 '44

Kirkus 12:227 My 15 '44 40w

"Both versions are recommended, but this one is better for drama collections because this is the version amateurs will eventually act."

+ Library J 69:763 S 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by W. P. Eaton

Weekly Book Review p11 Ag 6 '44 100w

WERNER, JANE. Child's book of Bible stories; from the Garden of Eden to the Promised land; il. by Masha. 53p $1.50 Random house

221.95 Bible. Old Testament—Stories 44-51357

Stories from the Old Testament, retold and illustrated for children. They begin with the story of the creation and progress thru the story of Moses.

Booklist 41:157 Ja 15 '45

"Uniform in format with the other books of the series, this will be equally well liked." Marian Herr

+ Library J 70:36 Ja 1 '45 70w

"Best of an excellent series of little prayers and carols and the story of the Nativity, all illustrated by Masha, this collection of Old Testament stories runs from the Garden of Eden to the Promised Land, changing the Bible text only enough to bring the language into the everyday vocabulary of an American child. These tales can and will be read aloud even to very little children, for they have the rhythm of legendry; no attempt is made to point a moral or involve a little reader in theological detail. A little person will be able to find his way about in the Bible better, later on, for this ingratiating introduction." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 N 26 '44 330w

WERTENBAKER, CHARLES. Invasion! phot. by Robert Capa. 168p $2.50 Appleton-Century

940.54 World war, 1939—Campaigns and battles. World war, 1939—France 44-7889

"Charles Wertenbaker and Robert Capa, editorial writer and photographer for Time and Life, set out to record the story of the greatest amphibious operation of all time—the invasion of Hitler's Fortress Europe from the West. The publication of their book, less than three months after D-day, is a journalistic feat worthy of the mighty events they witnessed. In a narrative which begins with the planning stage of the operation and ends with the occupation of Cherbourg, they present an unforgettable picture of British and American soldiers, sailors and airmen mastering the most difficult military task in history." N Y Times

"There are very few 'I's' in this book. It's just the story of the invasion and of the men who took part in it. It is a very exciting book and a very honest book and a very good one." Quentin Reynolds

+ Book Week p1 S 3 '44 1150w

Booklist 41:57 O 15 '44

Reviewed by L. L. Marchand

Boston Globe p17 O 11 '44 330w

Horn Bk 20:498 N '44 20w

Kirkus 12:422 S 15 '44 60w

WERTENBAKER, Charles—Continued

"Many books will be written about the invasion, but this one, the first to be printed in the United States, will long be regarded as a superb piece of war reporting." H. A. DeWeerd

+ N Y Times p1 S 3 '44 900w

"Beginning with a lively description of the landing on the beaches, the narrative gets weaker as it goes along. It ends in an account of the American entrance into Paris that adds little to what every newspaper reader already knows. Included are brief, admiring biographies of Generals Omar Bradley and Walter Bedell Smith and a few sideswipes in the direction of General Patton."

+ — New Yorker 20:85 O 14 '44 90w

"The people of this country who crowded around their radios that June morning will never forget the tenseness and solemnity of that day and those that followed. Mr. Wertenbaker's story of what happened on the American beachheads and subsequently on the Normandy fields fulfils our most sanguine expectations of a first report on the great invasion." Donald Armstrong

+ Sat R of Lit 27:15 O 7 '44 850w

Time 44:104 S 11 '44 250w

"In addition to his careful account of the strategy and the battle, Mr. Wertenbaker has studied the leading military personalities, drawing on his knowledge of them in both North Africa and England. His sketches of General Walter B. Smith and of General Omar N. Bradley, are particularly illuminating and give some insight into the character of two of the top men under General Eisenhower who are responsible for a large part of the present Allied successes." Beach Conger

+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 3 '44 850w

WERTH, ALEXANDER. Leningrad. 189p $2.50 Knopf [10s 6d Hamilton, H]

940.542 Leningrad—Siege, 1941-1944. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, English 44-8529

This first Englishman to enter Leningrad after the breaking of the blockade, was born in the city and brought up there, so his account of his visit in September, 1943, is one of comparison. Mr Werth interviewed Red Army officers and men, factory directors and workers, actors, schoolmasters, waitresses, and musicians, among others, and from their stories has pieced together a record of life in the besieged city.

"Here is the most moving account of the epic siege of Leningrad presented so far. . . 'Leningrad,' the book, is well written, with such warmth and realism that it becomes an essential part of the reading of those who follow the annals of this war." John Weilburg

+ Book Week p11 O 29 '44 450w

Booklist 41:106 D 1 '44

"Material stretched a bit thin for book form, but Werth is a better than average reporter."

+ — Kirkus 12:477 O 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by Agnes Smedley

New Repub 111:636 N 13 '44 1050w

"Leningrad is written coolly, but from the heart. It is, for English readers, the best piece of reporting that has come out of Russia during the war." G. W. Stonier

+ New Statesman & Nation 28:29 Jl 8 '44 650w

"'Leningrad' is not only valuable as a picture of a kind of war we have never fought but as a clue to the peace which we have not yet understood." R. E. Lauterbach

+ N Y Times p5 O 29 '44 850w

"A well-written and interesting book on the siege of Leningrad, by the only British correspondent who was there during the German blockade."

+ New Yorker 20:83 O 28 '44 130w

"There is brilliant writing in this great human story, and the distinguished format of the book is worthy of it." H. C. Wolfe

+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 N 25 '44 550w

"Later there will be numberless books abou the siege of Leningrad; among them ther should be at least one masterpiece. This wi be appreciated most completely by those wh now read Mr. Werth. His book is an excellent preparation. . . He knows a great dea about both the Russians and the Germans. H is a trained observer, a sensitive recorder an a practised writer. But with all these attribute he has kept a cool head and resisted an temptation to write his subject up, knowin that this could not yet be done without impertinence. . . There could be no more suitabl introduction to this amazing story." Edwar Crankshaw

+ Spec 173:108 Ag 4 '44 700w

Reviewed by Harry Daum

Springf'd Republican p8 N 21 '44 440w

"As a recorder Mr. Werth gives an impression, as always, of an acutely observan eye and a habit of lively, informed and fair-minded good sense. Here and there, perhaps his personal testimony is spread thin; the things he saw, vivid in description though they are, necessarily contribute a good deal less to the picture he draws than the things he heard But in reproducing what was said to him . . he maintains the eye-witness note through an evident feat of imaginative sympathy."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p337 Jl 15 '44 1250w

"Here is a trained reporter to tell the story who was born and brought up in St. Petersburg and still writes English as his own language. To this superb equipment are added the eyes and the ears of an artist, a man writing with love, curiosity, humility and painstaking care. This combination makes 'Leningrad' the least pretentious and the most successful attempt so far published in English to describe the struggle of the Russian people against the German invasion." Joseph Barnes

+ Weekly Book Review p5 O 22 '44 2100w

WESLAGER, CLINTON ALFRED. Delaware's buried past; a story of archaeological adventure. 170p il $2.50 Univ. of Pa. press

913.751 Delaware—Antiquities. Indians of North America—Delaware 44-47399

The author, president of the Archaeological society of Delaware, and his fellow members of the society, have been reconstructing the life of the past in the state of Delaware from the arrowheads, scrapers, axes, and other implements which they have uncovered in the course of systematic excavations. The book contains anecdotes of their experiences and pictures of finds. Bibliography.

"Mr. Weslager's largely non-technical account of his diggings in the shell-heaps and middens of the Delmarva peninsula is more readable than many a celebrated work on similar projects. Best of all, he has managed to convey the satisfaction of the search and the digging, which for him provides the ideal outdoor exercise combined with intellectual discovery. . . That he has had writing experience on a Pittsburgh newspaper no doubt accounts for the sound sense of form that might well serve as model for much more ambitious efforts in the same department of science." E. B. Garside

+ N Y Times p12 Ja 14 '45 200w

"It is both an informal and an informative volume, a guide for the amateur archeologist and a lure and a stimulant to newcomers in that line. . . The book contains numerous suggestions for the amateur." R. B. Peck

+ Weekly Book Review p16 N 26 '44 600w

WESLAGER, CLINTON ALFRED. Delaware's forgotten folk; the story of the Moors and Nanticokes; with phot. by L. T. Alexander and drawings by John Swientochowski. 215p $2.50 Univ. of Pa. press

970.3 Nanticoke Indians 43-17544

Study of a group of people living in Delaware, called the Nanticokes and Moors. They are a mixture of White, Indian, and Negro, with a predominating strain of the Indian; and are self-respecting people with customs and characteristics marked by each of their contributing strains. Bibliography.

"Few can afford to spend the time necessary or afford the repeated visits that ethnology in the broken-down cultures of the east demands. One may query, is it worth the time? Weslager's book is the answer in the affirmative." W. N. Fenton
+ Am Anthropol 46:245 Ap '44 1850w

"The author of this interesting addition to the literature on American racial and cultural islands claims to be an amateur. Certainly one part of the job of sociology is to fill out the gaps in our knowledge of the varieties of people and culture in this country. In many countries amateurs have done much of such description and analysis of regional and local cultures. We could do with more such work in this country. And perhaps Mr. Weslager, who has evidently spent years studying these groups, will not consider his amateur standing jeopardized by the remark that he has become a connoisseur." E. C. Hughes
+ Am J Soc 49:548 My '44 650w

"Although disclaiming the title of scientist, Mr. Weslager has nevertheless made a useful and readable contribution to a relatively little known aspect of American interracial history." E. V. Stonequist
+ Am Soc R 9:214 Ap '44 350w

"As a whole this book reveals the great advance which has taken place in the last two decades in dealing with living peoples in our own country. The use of names and photographs of contemporaries is a real contribution which alone makes this publication well worth while." I. E. McDougle
+ Social Forces 22:344 Mr '44 500w
Social Studies 35:144 Mr '44 20w

"In gathering data on the ancestors and customs of these peoples, the author has contributed a great deal to our knowledge of the history of the region. He has also picked up many interesting and amusing sidelights on people's who have been touched but little changed by modern civilization. Here is a story of people who know how to live, and who refuse to lose that knowledge in the face of increasing mechanization." John Carson
+ Social Studies 35:380 D '44 550w

Reviewed by Robert Peck
Weekly Book Review p17 Mr 5 '44 550w

WEST, KEITH, pseud. See Lane, K. W.

WEST, LEVON (IVAN DMITRI, pseud). Flight to everywhere. (Whittlesey house publication) 240p il map $6 McGraw

940.548173 U.S. Army air forces. Air transport command. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Pictorial works 44-51406

"This is the pictorial record of Ivan Dmitri's flights with the United States Army Air Transport Command from New York to China by way of Africa, and from China back to New York by way of Iceland. In it there are 150 photographs in color and some 300 more in black and white. . . Accompanying the pictures is Mr. Dmitri's story of his flights, which is part travelogue, but in the main an account of the incredible accomplishments of the Army Transport Command." Weekly Book Review

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p4 D 31 '44 450w

"The text goes all the way from trivia to excitement, from the statement that many of the jewels on sale in India are precious glass to a first-hand description of the terror of an air raid on Palermo. No one can see this book without an inward swell of pride in the achievement of American aviation, and no one can see it without sensing American aviation's tremendous future." E. A. Laycock
+ Boston Globe p13 Ja 17 '45 400w

"A superb book of photography."
+ Kirkus 12:463 O 1 '44 90w

"This [is an] extraordinarily beautiful book. . . The text with which Mr. Dmitri has tied his pictures together is commonplace but adequate." F. S. Adams
+ — N Y Times p3 Ja 7 '45 900w

"All [the pictures] are good, many are splendid, and a few are magnificent. In these circumstances, it is easy to overlook the primitive nature of Mr. Dmitri's prose."
+ New Yorker 20:79 Ja 13 '45 90w

"Most of the [pictures] are superb examples of photography, either as works of art, or else for their breath-taking story of how American planes have rolled the world into a little ball." Marcus Duffield
+ Weekly Book Review p3 D 31 '44 950w

WEST, RICHARD SEDGEWICK. Gideon Welles; Lincoln's Navy department. 379p il $3.50 Bobbs

B or 92 Welles, Gideon. U.S.—History—Civil war—Naval operations 43-14667

For descriptive note see Annual for 1943.

Reviewed by C. O. Paullin
Am Hist R 49:508 Ap '44 550w

"The subtitle is the real key to this book, for Dr. West has chosen to write mainly about Welles in his role of wartime director of the Union naval efforts, or, even more precisely, about those efforts themselves. Dr. West presents a sharp, professional picture of the amateur confusion with which our Navy faced the outset of hostilities. . . The author has elected to present only casually Welles's services under Johnson. It is a pity, for a searching portrait lies implicit here of how different can be the value of a man, himself incapable of leadership, under the guidance of an inspired as against an inept commander." A. B. Miller
+ — Ann Am Acad 232:207 Mr '44 600w
Booklist 40:212 F 15 '44

"Professor West has given us an excellent biography. The one criticism that might be offered is that the author, influenced by the prejudices of his subject, gives the impression that Seward was only an intriguing and self-seeking politician. . . The author observes, 'Lincoln was a superb politician' but not gifted 'as a military strategist or as a co-ordinator.' 'Stanton, neither politician nor military strategist, was a dynamic worker. A "petty-tyrant," he drove others and, as Welles admitted, drove himself.' This may be true in details, but the picture as a whole is misleading." C. S. Alden
+ — New Eng Q 17:311 Je '44 850w

"Except for Edward Bates, Gideon Welles is the last of the major figures of Lincoln's cabinet to be the subject of a biography. For this reason, if for no other, the present volume would be welcome. But it has other considerations to its credit. It is well grounded in scholarly research and enriched by new materials that enlarge our knowledge of Welles's career and improve our understanding of the problems that confronted him as Secretary of the Navy during the war years. Furthermore, the book is readable and timely. On the other hand, little can be said in appreciation of the author's account of Welles's secretaryship under Johnson, for this important phase of his record and his nine years of retirement are dismissed in a concluding chapter of eighteen pages. Herein lies the major fault of the biography." A. H. Meneely
+ — Pol Sci Q 59:146 Mr '44 600w

"It is at once a fascinating story, a competent portrait, and a genuine contribution to a clearer interpretation of the period." R. A. Brown
+ Yale R n s 34:184 autumn '44 650w

WESTMACOTT, MARY, pseud. Absent in the spring. 250p $2.50 Farrar [7s 6d Collins] 44-7192

An Englishwoman, on her return trip after a visit with her daughter in India, is stranded for a week at a Rest House in the desert. A remembered conversation with an old school friend, starts her on a period of exploration of her past. Before the train finally comes to take her away she has momentarily had a vision of the truth—the "happy family life," "the successful career as wife and mother" were smug, hollow lies; her nature had ruined the happiness of husband and children.

WESTMACOTT, MARY—Continued

Booklist 41:42 O 1 '44

Kirkus 12:286 Jl 1 '44 190w

Reviewed by J. D. Beresford
Manchester Guardian p3 Ag 25 '44 130w

"If Miss Mary Westmacott could have found the correct technique for the complexities of her theme, she might have written a novel of unusual power and brilliance; instead, method eclipses material to the detriment of the whole." John Hampson
Spec 173:228 S 8 '44 250w

"The writer has succeeded in making this novel told in retrospect, with its many technical difficulties, very readable indeed. She has not made Joan, with her shallow, scrappy mind, sympathetic, and the other characters in the tale, seen through her eyes, lack the charm they had for each other and withheld from her."
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p401 Ag 19 '44 360w

"Miss Westmacott's novel is a gem of a psychological portrait, the writing sensitive and probing, the outlines intense and arresting." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p2 S 10 '44 700w

WESTON, GARNETT. Poldrate street. 256p $2.50 Messner
44-3414

A conspiracy between a doctor and an undertaker leads to several murders. Others are prevented only just in time by a mysterious tramp who spends three days in a Los Angeles side-street where these sinister events occur.

"I guess this is a good novel not to read. By way of a blurb, the publisher calls it a study in lust and greed. That greatly understates the case; it is a basic script for some super horror movie that would provide fat parts for the Wolf Man, the Walking Dead and Frankenstein's Monster, with all its sisters and its cousins and its aunts." Peter Quinn
— Book Week p2 My 14 '44 320p

"A grisly piece with a rather unpleasant aftertaste."
— Kirkus 12:31 Ja 15 '44 40w

"Plot and characters are fascinating enough to make the reader overlook any lack of polish in style." Beatrice Sherman
+ — N Y Times p19 My 7 '44 380w

"A story that is ingenious and intricate but so palpably improbable that it won't seriously disturb your blood pressure." Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p13 My 7 '44 110w

WESTON, MAY FORTH. The great pathfinder. 212p il $2 McBride

B or 92 Smith, Jedediah—Juvenile literature
44-8680

Biography of the American explorer, Jedediah Smith, who was one of the trail blazers of the West. Born in 1799, he traveled to Cincinnati with his family when he was thirteen, and from then until he was killed by Comanche Indians when he was in his thirties, "Diah" was always on exploration bent. For ages ten to sixteen.

Kirkus 12:436 S 15 '44 130w

"A usable addition on a neglected phase of frontier life. Fifth grade and up." A. M. Anderson
+ Library J 69:938 N 1 '44 70w

"The style is fluent and attractive, easy even for a ten-year-old to follow, and the book lasts through the age that loves stories of real path-breaking and perils of Diah's country, no longer puny but standing up on its hind legs."
+ Weekly Book Review p18 N 12 '44 330w
Wis Lib Bul 40:163 D '44

WESTPORT, CONNECTICUT. WOMAN CLUB. Connecticut cookbook; being a co of recipes from Connecticut kitchens, equal adapted for wartime and peacetime; il. 1 Connecticut artists. 261p $2.50 Harper

641.5 Cookery
44-31

Collection of recipes made up from tho used in Connecticut households. The recip represent both early American dishes ar others of foreign flavor. Among the contributors are: Lily Pons, James Melton, Clifto Fadiman, and Van Wyck Brooks. Illustrate

Reviewed by Elizabeth Rannells
Book Week p8 Jl 16 '44 360w

"This is one of the most attractive cook books available."
+ Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 60w

"Many of the recipes demand ingredient now scarce, but there are enough that ar tempting for today as well as tomorrow t prove inspiring to any specialist in experimenting. The book has an unusual flavor i the format, the charming sketches by Connecticut artists, the brief introductory comments by such people as Van Loon and Fadiman, and the clever bits of culinary wisdom scattered through the text. An introductory section gives the book very practical value fo wartime cooking."
+ Kirkus 12:91 F 15 '44 260w
Wis Lib Bul 40:107 Jl '44

WESTRATE, EDWIN VICTOR. Forward observer. 179p $2.50 Dutton

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American
44-2563

In battle forward observers work in formations of four: a commissioned officer; an instrument corporal; a wire telephone operator; and a radio man. This is the story of one such group, in the North African campaign, describing what happened to each one. The names are disguised, but the feats performed are founded on fact.

"Here is a war book in a quiet, conversational tone that makes the reader feel sharply the sound and tumult of battle." W. F. Morse
+ Book Week p11 Mr 19 '44 340w
Booklist 40:339 Je 1 '44
Kirkus 12:116 Mr 1 '44 170w

"Woven into the story is a rather puerile love interest involving a Wac officer, but fortunately it takes up only a little of this stirring and enlightening tale of American artillery men in action." Frank Adams
+ — N Y Times p12 Ap 2 '44 500w

"The book should make a highly successful movie, particularly as the actress who is to play the lead is carefully indicated. But as a book it is a waste of talent and the reader's time, for even the love passages are carved from that shabbiest of all literary materials—holly-wood." Fletcher Pratt
— + Sat R of Lit 27:24 My 20 '44 500w
Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 19 '44 220w

Reviewed by Herbert Kupferberg
Weekly Book Review p18 Ap 2 '44 550w

WETHERELL, JUNE PAT. Shut the door behind you. 255p $2.50 Dutton
44-5586

Alexandra Brainerd left her job in Minneapolis to rush out to Seattle to marry her college sweetheart. When she was asked to wait by her volatile young navy lieutenant, Alex considered herself jilted, and went back to her childhood home town, visited her fine old pioneer grandmother, and in studying her family history and her own heart, found she had outgrown her childhood and her lover.

Reviewed by Dorothy Sparks
Book Week p4 Ag 13 '44 600w
Kirkus 12:354 Ag 15 '44 150w

"Good novel, recommended for small library purchase." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 69:651 Ag '44 70w

"In spite of its deficiencies the total effect of 'Shut the Door Behind You' is a very pleasant one—easy, light reading." E. P. Werby

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d Ag 13 '44 350w

"You'll like it, especially if you have a weakness for placid uncles and acidulous grandmothers." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Ag 27 '44 80w

WEYGANDT, CORNELIUS. Heart of New Hampshire; things held dear by folks of the old stocks. 210p il $3 Putnam

917.42 New Hampshire—Social life and customs 44-5530

Essays on various phases of New Hampshire life, by a professor emeritus of English literature at the University of Pennsylvania. For twenty-five years the author has made his summer home in North Sandwich, New Hampshire, and these papers describe his New Hampshire friends, their lives and customs. Index.

Christian Science Monitor p10 N 25 '44 500w

+ Kirkus 11:570 D 15 '43 90w

"Old and colloquial expressions add pungency to style. Will be wanted by libraries interested in New England and its ways, yesterday and today." Thelma Brackett

+ Library J 69:554 Je 15 '44 70w

"A warm and appreciative book that adds to any New Englander's pride in his heritage." R. L. Duffus

+ N Y Times p8 Jl 2 '44 900w

"A writer who . . . seems well on his way to becoming [New Hampshire's] prose laureate. Mr. Weygandt probably deserves the distinction, since he writes with a sympathy that almost amounts to reverence, but his prose now and then has a way of suggesting a badly mixed concoction made up of one part Thoreau, one part E. B. White, and one part county archivist, with a dash of Robert Frost."

New Yorker 20:68 Jl 1 '44 90w

Weekly Book Review p10 Jl 9 '44 300w

WHEATLEY, DENNIS. Sword of fate. 312p $2.50 Macmillan [9s 6d Hutchinson] [41-27322]

Romantic story of the present war. A young British army officer, and a beautiful girl of Greek and Italian parentage, meet in Greece during the British expedition. They fall hopelessly in love, get mixed up in a Nazi spy ring and death for one of them ends the romance.

Book Week p6 Jl 9 '44 90w

Kirkus 12:180 Ap 15 '44 170w

N Y Times p10 Je 25 '44 130w

"Interesting and colorful summing up of warfare in North Africa and Greece. Plot rather machine made—with some exciting situations. Average."

+ Sat R of Lit 28:40 Jl 22 '44 40w

"There's Grade A entertainment in this romantic item." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p14 Je 25 '44 250w

WHEELER, MARY. Steamboatin' days; folk songs of the river packet era. 121p il $2.75 La. state univ. press

784 Folk songs, American. Negro songs

Collection of songs sung by the Negro roustabouts on the Ohio river packet steamboats. The author collected many of the songs right in and around her native Paducah, Kentucky, and some of the Negroes from whom she gathered her materials were in their eighties and nineties. Contains words and music and anecdotes of the author's experiences. Index of songs.

"Miss Wheeler supplements the songs themselves with stories of her experiences in collecting them, and sketches of the singers. I confess that the tone of these parts of her book sometimes distresses me a little. It seems at times a bit patronizing—unintentionally, I am sure—and carries a little too much emphasis on the 'quaint' and 'picturesque.' I have the feeling that there are values in both songs and men of which the author is unaware. The best parts of the book apart from the songs themselves, are the stories and explanations which Miss Wheeler quotes directly. The book as a whole is one to be grateful for." J. T. Frederick

+ — Book Week p2 Ja 7 '45 270w

"Further light is cast on many previously collected songs, others are introduced and details are supplied on steamboat building, personnel, wrecks, fires, bells and even menus. Recommended." E. L. Lewis

+ Library J 69:1000 N 15 '44 110w

WHEELER, OPAL (MRS JOHN MACRAE). Handel at the court of kings; il. by Mary Greenwalt. 135p $2 Dutton

B or 92 Handel, Georg Friedrich—Juvenile literature 43-18640

Biography of Handel written for children from the age of eight to fourteen. Includes many anecdotes of his childhood, with less stress on the later years. Contains simplified versions of some of Handel's works, suitable for young players.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p10 Ja 23 '44 180w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:105 Mr '44 80w

Reviewed by E. M. Gordon

Library J 69:74 Ja 15 '44 80w

"The bold black-and-white pictures and simple piano arrangements of the composer's music help make the book useful and attractive to quite young children."

+ New Yorker 20:59 Jl 8 '44 90w

Reviewed by Maria Cimino

Sat R of Lit 27:27 Ag 19 '44 90w

Springf'd Republican p7e Ja 16 '44 110w

"Latest of a series of introductions of famous composers to young children, this happy presentation of Handel follows procedure established by its predecessors—and, I may add, heartily approved by its public. . . Familiar stories of his childhood, such as his running after his father's coach on its way to Weissenfels because the best orchestra in the country played there, give the tale a good start and his experiences at the courts of various kings are lively enough to keep it going." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 30 '44 200w

Wis Lib Bul 40:40 Mr '44

WHEELER, OPAL (MRS JOHN MACRAE). Sing for America; il. by Gustaf Tenggren. 127p $3 Dutton

784.8 Songs 44-9708

Twenty-four American songs, with brief background descriptions and simple musical arrangements. Includes spirituals, cowboy ballads, and patriotic songs.

"All through the volume are Tenggren's decorations and lovely full-page illustrations. 'Sing for America' is a treasure for every American family." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p43 D 3 '44 130w

Booklist 41:128 D 15 '44

"One of the most beautiful of this year's books, which we would give to our very favorite child."

+ Cath World 160:280 D '44 90w

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse

Commonweal 41:129 N 17 '44 10w

"Musical arrangements are simple enough for amateur use. Gustaf Tenggren illustrations —full pages in color and charming decorative spots make this a gay picture book as well as a good combination of music and factual content."

+ Kirkus 12:520 N 15 '44 90w

WHEELER, OPAL—Continued

"Gustav Tenggren's lovely illustrations, in color and black and white, contribute greatly to the beauty and interest of the book. . . Music is simply arranged within the average voice range. Recommended." G. E. Joline

+ Library J 70:36 Ja 1 '45 70w

"Large and beautiful book. Gustaf Tenggren has supplied black-and-white and colored pictures, which have style and distinction. . . Fine for all ages." M. F.

+ N Y Times p12 N 12 '44 70w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 60w

"This book has everything the last one had and a little more on each count. The stories are livelier, there is even more music, and as an admirer of Tenggren's work who has kept track of it, I must say that to the charm of his characteristic child-pieces and the dignity with which he represents heroes, he has added a quickening of humor already greatly relished by children. There is a funny side to every picture unless it is meant to be altogether serious, and then, as in the fine full-length portrait of Francis Scott Key watching the bombardment of Fort McHenry, there is nobility."

+ Weekly Book Review p7 N 12 '44 350w

Wis Lib Bul 40:162 D '44

WHEELER, POST. India against the storm. 350p $3.50 Dutton

954 India. India—Politics and government
43-22833

"Thirty years of diplomacy have made Post Wheeler an astute observer of the international scene. His latest book is an interlacing of India's politics over the last twenty-five years, coupled with descriptions of the myriad views of the country and its people. Knowing many Indians and Colonial government figures and meeting sundry others, his analysis of their characteristics and abilities is a valuable asset to Americans anxious to understand the complicated puzzle of India's fight for independence." (Scientific Bk Club R) No index.

"Largely drawing upon his personal reminiscences, Wheeler gives his opinion on Indian Maharajas, British officials, the Hindu-Moslem problem, the Congress party, Gandhi and other topics. He is inflammably controversial, but his discussions throw no new light on any important subject." Sudhindra Bose

— Book Week p6 Ja 23 '44 270w

"Mr. Wheeler seems to justify his return to the well-worn theme of Indian history since the turn of the century by delving into the fund of anecdote and first-hand information that a veteran diplomat necessarily accumulates, and by presenting his observations in a refreshingly undiplomatic style." H. J. S.

+ Christian Science Monitor p12 Mr 25 '44 500w

Reviewed by W. F. Sands

Commonweal 39:381 Ja 28 '44 100w

Current Hist 6:355 Ap '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:666 Jl '44 20w

Kirkus 12:41 Ja 15 '44 190w

Reviewed by H. S. Taylor

Library J 69:30 Ja 1 '44 110w

New Repub 110:326 Mr 6 '44 120w

"Like every great conflict in history, the fight for India's freedom generates a literature claiming 'to tell the truth about both sides.' Invariably such books fail either because the 'truth' is hopelessly entangled in the jungle of pros and cons, or because the authors' predilections unconsciously color their judgments. Although he has written a fine book, Post Wheeler seems to fall short on both counts in his attempt to give a balanced account of the Indian problem. He knows the facts, but he does not follow them beyond a safe depth, and years of tipping the teacup has put the official slant on his judgments." G. H. E. Smith

N Y Times p12 Mr 12 '44 500w

Reviewed by Anup Singh

Pacific Affairs 17:237 Je '44 210w

"This is one of the most entertaining boo on India since Katherine Mayo's Mother Indi It contains not a single footnote to check t author's flights of imagination, is based large on opinion and hearsay, and makes many stat ments which are either incorrect or so phras as to create an erroneous impression. The a thor's perspective has been narrowed by h kindly reception at the hands of the Maharaj and British diplomats, and consequently, paints a vivid, if not objective, picture of I dia. . . The author has done a service in high lighting many little known facts, but it wou take another book to answer all his innuendos. A. E. Kane

+ — Pol Sci Q 59:634 D '44 750w

"The book is not all a wasted effort. Thoug his interpretation (to my mind) is warped, M Wheeler has gathered an amazing amount facts on India's history and leaders whic would be useful on any bookshelf. But th reader would do well to flank 'India Against th Storm' with such books as Krishnalal Shrid harani's 'My India, My America,' H. N. Brails ford's 'Subject India,' or Kate Mitchell 'India.'" Mark Gayn

— + Sat R of Lit 27:31 F 19 '44 550w

Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 F '44 360

Reviewed by H. W. Cross

Springf'd Republican p4d Je 25 '4 500w

"During the last few years there have bee as many books written on India as there ar divergent opinions on that troubled land. Pos Wheeler's 'India Against the Storm' is th latest. What emerges from Mr. Wheeler' 350 pages of brisk and informative prose i not exactly helpful to readers in search of point of view of their own, for what emerge is a picture of confusion twice confounded, o hatred, violence, failure and defeat—defeat fo every one, including the reader." Christin Weston

Weekly Book Review p6 F 6 '44 900w

"The best popular book of its kind now available. Written by a former member of the United States diplomatic service, a man with extensive background and shrewd judgment; it gives a vivid and comprehensive picture of the unfolding of Indian politics during the past thirty years, being especially informative on recent happenings. It is an absorbing narrative and deserves to find a wide public, for it could fulfil a real educational function." C. H. Driver

+ Yale R n s 33:566 spring '44 150w

WHELTON, PAUL. Death and the devil. 225p $2 Lippincott
44-7072

Mystery story.

"If you like them spicy, with sharp action and rapid-fire wise-cracking dialogue, this is for you."

+ Boston Globe p17 S 6 '44 60w

Kirkus 12:265 Je 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson

N Y Times p24 S 10 '44 90w

"Capital toughie."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:23 S 2 '44 40w

"The plot is skillfully unfolded and well paced." B. I.

Springf'd Republican p4d S 10 '44 170w

"Delinquent young women, assorted mugs, booze, bullets and plentiful casualties adorn the non-slick and slightly bewildering narrative. Mr. Whelton, a newcomer, is fast and tough." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p15 S 10 '44 100w

WHIPPLE, MRS DOROTHY. They were sisters. 354p $2.50 Macmillan [9s 6d Murray, J]
44-4328

"The sisters are Lucy, Charlotte, and Vera Field, daughters of a provincial lawyer. Their father's family were 'worthy and charmless,' their mother's 'charming and worthless,' and the blend of these characteristics in varying proportions works out to the third generation." Manchester Guardian

Reviewed by J. N. North
Book Week p3 Je 4 '44 420w
Booklist 40:342 Je 1 '44

"In the best and somewhat forgotten tradition, a substantial story of ordinary people and circumstances, adroit characterization and consistent portrayals which provide intelligent, sympathetic reading. . . Rewarding, discriminating reading."
+ Kirkus 12:124 Mr 15 '44 170w

"A novel as full of quiet realism, as unaffected and sound as Mrs. Whipple's The Priory, which is a library favorite. Highly recommended." E. L. Lewis
+ Library J 69:404 My 1 '44 70w

"A remarkably good novel of the quietly domestic kind." Charles Marriott
+ Manchester Guardian p3 D 12 '43 250w

"An exquisite and almost unbearable study in torment. . . Mrs. Whipple has brought us some memorable scenes through her insight, humor and general experience of life. But except in her portraits of Geoffrey and the children, she shows herself too respectful of the very conventions which bind her own characters. Until her sense of proportion triumphs over a basic awe of mores we must wait patiently for her Novel to End All Novels of British Country Life." Isabelle Mallet
N Y Times p6 My 21 '44 600w
New Yorker 20:78 My 20 '44 90w
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 11 '44 150w
Times [London] Lit Sup p545 N 13 '43 360w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p6 My 21 '44 300w

WHIPPLE, DOROTHY VERMILYA (MRS EVAN CLAGUE). Our American babies; the art of baby care; introd. by C. Anderson Aldrich. 367p il $2.50 Barrows
649.1 Infants—Care and hygiene SG44-52

An American doctor, the mother of several children, discusses such matters as preparation for the first baby, babies in wartime, growth and development, food, and keeping the baby well and happy. Includes one section for grandmothers. Index.

Booklist 40:265 Ap 1 '44

"Parents will be interested to know that the author is not only a doctor and noted child specialist but also the mother of several children, with experience which has given her understanding and psychological insight into the child's behavior and his relationship to his parents. They will enjoy the informal style, which has much the flavor of one mother talking to another." R. D. Morley
+ J Home Econ 36:522 O '44 200w

"All in all a good overall for the young mother. Occasionally one feels that Dr. Whipple is talking down. The book is definitely slanted for a popular and not too well-informed market."
+ — Kirkus 12:115 Mr 1 '44 80w

"To read 'Our American Babies' is to be comfortingly reassured about what parenthood involves, and to share the fun of living with children as they are growing up. It is indeed a book that every baby would want its mother to own." Karl de Schweinitz
+ Survey 80:333 N '44 320w

WHITCOMB, CATHARINE. The Malfreys. 267p $2.50 Random house
44-4958

Sophisticated story of a modern marriage in which the two principals are a remarkably beautiful but not too virtuous woman, and her jealous, sadistic husband. The narrator is a man who had known Cordelia Malfrey from her youth and was always in love with her.

"The whole thing isn't badly written; in fact if the author can write this well, she ought to write better." F. W. M.
Book Week p10 My 28 '44 90w
Boston Globe p17 Je 7 '44 90w

"The story is told with a queer detachment —a sort of examination of a specimen under a microscope, so that at no point does it involve one emotionally. Contemporary—but prewar."
Kirkus 12:27 Ja 15 '44 170w

"Well told, with excellent characterization, but in retrospect it seems unimportant." L. M. Kinloch
+ — Library J 69:160 F 15 '44 60w

"The blurbist announces, somewhat sensationally, that 'The Malfreys,' by Catherine Whitcomb is 'sophisticated and fantastic.' It is a lot better than that. Its author possesses the sensible, clear-eyed innocence of the little boy in the fairy tale who was not taken in by the emperor's non-existent new clothes. Being worldly wise, she transcends even this virtue." Jane Cobb
+ N Y Times p14 My 21 '44 280w

"In 'The Malfreys' Catherine Whitcomb achieves with vivid thoroughness and finesse a neat study in human futility. The Malfreys are close to the psychoneurotic borderline, at times well across it. Their need for each other is the need of an addict for his drug. It does not satisfy for long, is exhilarating and painful, decadent in its final effect but no whit the less indispensable." F. H. Bullock
— + Weekly Book Review p6 My 28 '44 600w

WHITE, CHARLES LANGDON, and FOSCUE, EDWIN JAY. Regional geography of Anglo-America. 898p il maps $4.75 Prentice-Hall
917 North America—Description and travel
43-1457

Economic geography of the area north of the Rio Grande, including the United States, Canada, Newfoundland and Alaska. The book written as a text to be used in colleges and universities. The treatment is divided into twenty regions, each of which has a chapter on the physical, cultural, and present-day problems. Illustrated. Index.

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:7 Ja '44 20w

"This publication concludes years of work by the authors, and they have contributed a volume which is up-to-date to the extent of considering the normal peace problems, and the contributions each area is making to the execution of the present Global War. . . The text is clearly written. At the beginning of each regional chapter is found a well-drawn locational map showing the major cities within the area under discussion. This locational map makes study easier, especially when no more detailed map is provided. The photographs are well chosen; many are aerial photos." L. O. Myers
+ Social Studies 35:92 F '44 950w

WHITE, DIMITRI FEDOTOFF. Growth of the Red army. 500p $3.75 Princeton univ. press
355 Russia—Army. Russia—History, Military A44-464

"Mr. White disclaims any intention of producing a 'definitive' history of the Red Army, but he writes as a student of military sociology. . . His work can best be described as an analysis of how the Red Army was organized, how it was affected by the conflicts and conflict situations through which it passed from 1918-39, and how it was held together by common interests and organizational structure. The author was an officer in the Imperial Navy and a supporter of Admiral Kolchak during the Civil War. He spent a brief period in a Soviet concentration camp, but these experiences did not blind him to the constant factors in Russian life or to the achievements of the Soviet regime." N Y Times

Reviewed by Alfred Vagts
Am Hist R 49:726 Jl '44 850w

"The book is based on an extensive collection of pieces of information, partly taken directly from firsthand sources, partly picked in the works of the author's predecessors. It seems to the present reviewer that, in many cases, the individual pieces of information could have been condensed or relegated to footnotes. As the book stands, the argument of the author—in other words, the relevancy of his information—almost disappears behind the superabundance of details. But, in the majority of cases, the conclusions drawn from the material are cogent." N. S. Timasheff

WHITE, D. F.—Continued
+ — Am J Soc 50:240 N 13 '44 900w

"The book is hardly for the general reader; but for a specialist it certainly represents a contribution. The author collected a wealth of materials; his quotations from the original sources are numerous; his conclusions are usually cautious, reasonable, and unbiassed." A. Grajdanzev
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:573 Je '44 650w

"For his study of the growth of the army, the author has examined a vast amount of source materials which are cited in notes appended to the text. Although he has consulted Bolshevist publications in the Library of Congress and several eastern universities, he is apparently unaware of the extensive Russian collection in the Hoover Library. Again, the author glosses over several controversial subjects and omits any reference to well-known documentary publications of American scholars on the period of the Russian Revolution and civil war. Yet Mr. White has written the most brilliant and scholarly book of all works on the Red Army." R. H. Lutz
+ — Ann Am Acad 236:178 N '44 750w

"His scholarship is surprisingly unbiased; his book a clear, forthright history, which is explicitly documented." Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p4 Ja 23 '44 140w
Booklist 40:228 Mr 1 '44
Christian Science Monitor p10 Ap 15 '44 700w
Current Hist 6:163 F '44 80w
Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:500 Ap '44 40w
Reviewed by D. F. Lucas
Library J 68:572 Jl '43 130w

"For those non-specialists who can make their civil translations Mr. White has written a book so solid, so dense with material, that, whatever one's beliefs, one must take account of it." Ralph Bates
+ Nation 158:395 Ap 1 '44 400w

"A book of permanent value. . . If Mr. White ends his account before the great trial of strength between the Red Army and the Wehrmacht, he helps prepare the reader to understand it." H. A. De Weerd
+ N Y Times p3 F 6 '44 800w
Reviewed by Donald Armstrong
+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 F 19 '44 1000w

"The story of this army and the sources of its strength are well told by the author, D. Fedotoff White, in this very readable, interesting and informative book." R. H. McF.
+ Social Studies 25:239 My '44 230w

"Here is a book which . . . will stand, I suspect, as something of a landmark—a landmark in the new and strangely belated discovery of the significance of military issues to sociological and political thought. . . As Mr. White tells it, however, it does not make easy reading. He assumes, for one thing, a much closer knowledge of general Soviet history than the ordinary reader is likely to possess. The style is often awkward, the arrangement at times confusing, the documentation technical and somewhat overwhelming. Every statement is carefully buttressed by a consideration of available evidence (drawn in very large part from Russian-language sources), and the author never allows his cool historian's judgment to be swayed by emotion." Walter Millis
+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Ap 16 '44 1300w

"'The Growth of the Red Army,' by D. Fedotoff White, is undoubtedly the most substantial piece of work on the subject that has appeared so far. . . It is a pity that the author has not made a greater effort to meet the general reader half way. As it stands, his book is not easy reading. Apart from the copious and extremely useful notes, there is, in the text itself, perhaps, an overabundance of documentation. The accumulation of evidence at times strikes one as being excessive, and occasionally the author is repetitious. Thus the volume would have gained from some condensation. These shortcomings do not, however, detract from its importance." Michael Karpovich
+ — Yale R n s 33:758 summer '44 480w

WHITE, ELIZA ORNE. When Esther was a little girl; il. by Connie Moran. 141p $2 Houghton
44-20853

Esther was a little girl in 1862 or thereabouts. She was an only child and lived with her parents in a New England village. This is the story of her life and the little excitements which made up her days. For girls eight to ten.

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan
Horn Bk 20:101 Mr '44 70w

"Dated as they seem to this reader, Eliza Orne White's books have their following. This new one makes good supplementary reading for the little girl successfully past the primer stage."
Kirkus 12:96 F 15 '44 50w

"Charm and value of the book is in its simplicity and details of 'what happens next.' There are always readers for a new Eliza Orne White." K. H. McAlarney
+ Library J 69:264 Mr 15 '44 80w

"Eliza Orne White, the little girls' novelist, has a long list of books to her credit, but the present volume is as fresh and unforced as the first one, which was published in 1894. All Miss White's little heroines, regardless of their vintage, move through her pages with delightful reality." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p6 Mr 5 '44 200w

"Miss White, now eighty-seven, has been able to write this story version of her own childhood in the eighteen-sixties. It has, amazingly, the same sure characterization of children, the same reproduction of a little girl's keen observation of her elders, the same vigor and humor of the earlier books."
+ New Yorker 20:58 Jl 8 '44 110w

"All through this story of Esther, through the changing seasons, the good times and the bad times, the picnics and the sleigh rides, the summer twilights and the long winter evenings runs a gentle, generous humor that makes the reading a delight. Eliza Orne White is old and wise now, but she remembers as clearly as ever what little girls think and feel. It is good to have this book of hers for the little girls of today." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:26 Mr 11 '44 380w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 My 21 '44 300w
Wis Lib Bul 40:72 My '44

WHITE, ELWYN BROOKS. One man's meat. new enl ed 350p $2.75 Harper
814 44-7015

A new edition of the author's book of essays which first appeared in 1942 (Book Review Digest, 1942). The ten new essays are: Songbirds; Questionnaire; Aunt Poo; Book learning; Morningtime and eveningtime; Getting ready for a cow; Bond rally; A week in November; Control; Cold weather.

"Ten years from now, the great bulk of what was written in the early days of this war will be literally unreadable; these pieces of White's will not be. This is only a small acorn of a compliment which I plant in the certainty that, like White's reputation, it will grow." Russell Maloney
+ Book Week p4 S 3 '44 360w
Booklist 41:26 S '44
Kirkus 12:244 Je 1 '44 90w
Reviewed by R. L. Duffus
N Y Times p2 Ag 27 '44 900w

"It is hard to imagine anything funnier than certain passages of this journal, but the humor is never an end in itself; it is always a by-product of feeling and ideas. Superb reading."
+ New Yorker 20:67 S 2 '44 100w
Wis Lib Bul 40:145 N '44

WHITE, HELEN CONSTANCE. Social criticism in popular religious literature of the sixteenth century. 330p $3.50 Macmillan

274.2 Great Britain—Church history. Religious thought. Great Britain—Social conditions. English literature—History and criticism 44-3902

"Examines closely the little-known, popular literature of the sixteenth century in an effort to discover to what extent the religion of the time was an instrument of social revolt and to what extent a means of social stabilization. Much evidence for both points of view is found, with possible emphasis on the stabilizing qualities as the century progresses." Library J

"Miss White writes with a warm, fluent style and organizes her abundant and diverse materials firmly and clearly. Her book is one of specialized social and literary history, to be sure, but it is also a book of positive interest and value to a wide range of readers." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 Jl 16 '44 200w

"Miss White's impeccable scholarship has produced a work that the most exacting students of social history may use with confidence, while her sureness of vision, her humor, her gracious clarity of style, should make that work appealing to a wide circle of readers." Margaret Williams

+ Cath World 160:185 N '44 450w

Current Hist 6:513 Je '44 50w

Kirkus 12:68 F 1 '44 170w

"Important, scholarly contribution which will interest students of the subject and period, but will have practically no appeal for the general reader. Recommended for college and large public libraries only." G. W. Wakefield

+ Library J 69:159 F 15 '44 120w

Reviewed by S. B. Colby

N Y Times p24 Je 18 '44 650w

"Miss White's study of these 16th century views on church and society is a careful and detailed piece of work which, however, would have benefited by a little tighter organization. Its great lack is an introductory or concluding chapter summarizing the main lines of 16th century social thought and the conclusions to be drawn therefrom." W. H. H.

+ — Springf'd Republican p8 Je 9 '44 600w

WHITE, JAMES ROBERTS. Three way plays. 165p $1.75 Harper

812 44-2912

Eight one-act, non-royalty plays, for reading aloud, for the stage, or for broadcasting.

"Recommended."

+ Library J 69:461 My 15 '44 40w

Wis Lib Bul 40:108 Jl '44

WHITE, LEIGH. Long Balkan night. 473p $3.50 Scribner

949.6 Balkan states—Politics. World war, 1939—Balkan states. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-1816

The author's personal narrative of his experiences in 1940-41 in the Balkans, together with his comments on the political situation there as it was in the past and as it may develop in the future.

Reviewed by H. N. Howard

Ann Am Acad 235:140 S '44 310w

Reviewed by J. H. Powers

Atlantic 173:125 Je '44 450w

Reviewed by H. L. Reich

Book Week p4 Mr 5 '44 550w

Booklist 40:269 Ap 1 '44

Bookmark 5:15 My '44

"Leigh White is no fellow-traveler who advocates the Russian system. He is an honest Anglo-Saxon from Vermont, who dislikes Russification and prefers a world which is ruled by common sense and fosters the development of the democratic processes. So far as this mentality enables you to understand the Balkans, where Occident and Orient and the impress of many centuries add up to a very complex reality, you will find useful information in this sober and honest book." Max Fischer

+ — Commonweal 39:523 Mr 10 '44 420w

Foreign Affairs 22:658 Jl '44 110w

Kirkus 12:36 Ja 15 '44 160w

"Mr. White's book is readable, truthful, liberal, courageous, and sincere. And the American public should read it, for though the events it covers occurred three years ago, the problems it discusses are those of tomorrow." M. W. Fodor

+ Nation 158:338 Mr 18 '44 650w

Reviewed by Bogdan Raditsa

New Repub 110:323 Mr 6 '44 1150w

"'The Long Balkan Night' is an important book, certainly the most important wartime book covering the Balkans. More importantly it looks beyond into a clouded and very dangerous future." Ray Brock

+ N Y Times p4 F 27 '44 1000w

"Mr. White is plainly in favor of using six words where one might easily do and is excessively fond of the pronoun 'I,' but, thanks to a lot of dramatic material and his own ability to keep a story moving along, his book is one of the best of its kind in recent months."

+ — New Yorker 20:83 Mr 4 '44 90w

"Mr. White has written an extremely valuable book about this turbulent region and in addition his pictures of men and places are absorbingly interesting. It is a transparently honest book and should prepare us to meet, and to cope with, the difficulties with which we shall be confronted when next the Peace Table is spread." Stephen Bonsal

+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 Mr 18 '44 900w

Reviewed by Eleanor Marindin

Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 5 '44 500w

"Mr. White has given his readers enough about himself to let them make their own discounts of his personal prejudices. And he has a good clean sense of the importance of his subject. What he learned as a reporter we shall all have to learn in some measure as citizens, so long as what happens in the Balkans can change our lives as deeply as they have already been changed by the story reported here." Joseph Barnes

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 5 '44 900w

Wis Lib Bul 40:69 My '44

WHITE, LESLIE TURNER. Look away, look away. 326p $2.50 Random house

44-702

Fictionized account—in the form of a stirring adventure story—of one phase of post-Civil war life, the emigration of thousands of Southerners to South America. The story follows the adventures of a group of aristocrats and "poor whites" who voyage to South America in an old Mississippi river boat, and there attempt to establish a colony in the Brazilian wilderness.

Booklist 40:236 Mr 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p8 Mr '44

"An interesting footnote to American history, and a good yarn of adventure in wilderness settling which illustrates the impossibility of escaping ties to the homeland, human failings when confronted by obstacles."

+ Kirkus 11:556 D 15 '43 200w

Reviewed by E. F. Kelly

Library J 69:31 Ja 1 '44 50w

"Unlike many writers of historical novels, Mr. White has not let his conscientious research on detail bog down his action. 'Look Away, Look Away' may well bid for honors as the fastest-moving thing that ever came out of Dixie—not even barring race horses." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p18 Ja 30 '44 460w

"Like so many historical novels of recent years, it adheres to a long-familiar formula in which romantic cliches are hauled out and used for the hundredth time. . . There are, of course, the customary storms, quarrels, hangings, shootings, and love affairs which are the standard equipment of every stream-

WHITE, L. T.—Continued
lined historical novel. It is a pity, too, for something good could be done in fiction on the dispersion of the Confederates after the war." P. V. Stern
— Sat R of Lit 27:25 F 19 '44 320w

"The author—who, by the way, knows his history, his boats and his Amazon locale thoroughly—tells us he has adhered so closely to facts in the present story that much of the actual dialogue has been lifted from old letters, records, etc. It does not matter. The story can stand on its own feet." Jennings Rice
+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 30 '44 700w
Wis Lib Bul 40:71 My '44

WHITE, MARGARET BOURKE. They called it Purple heart valley; a combat chronicle of the war in Italy. 182p $3 Simon & Schuster

940.542 World war, 1939—Italy. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American. World war, 1939—Pictorial works 44-51137

Photographs and text picture this American woman's five months' close-up view of the war on the Italian front. She traveled to Naples, she visited the Army engineers rebuilding the harbor, and the caves under the city where the Germans had built factories; she was piloted in reconnaissance planes, or any means of flying which presented itself; and out of her trip came some of the war's finest pictures.

Reviewed by W. F. Morse
Book Week p5 D 17 '44 180w
Booklist 41:138 Ja 1 '45

"Miss Bourke-White spent five months in Italy as a war photographer for Life, taking the hundred or more choice pictures which make up a third of the book, and writing down her experiences with a directness which is usually called feminine, but which is also the genius of Ernie Pyle. She is wise enough not to be drawn out of her special field of observation into politics and kindred complexities. The result is an ingenuous account of what she saw and felt, which also has a kind of translucent optical quality to it, the quality which an artist of warm feelings can bring to a cold, finely ground lens." S. R. D.
+ Christian Science Monitor p14 D 13 '44 360w
Kirkus 12:395 S 1 '44 170w

"Although she has many amusing incidents to relate, author does not spare us the grimmer aspects of war, and book is at once entertaining, informative and illuminating. Recommended for all public libraries." G. W. Wakefield
+ Library J 69:881 O 15 '44 130w

Reviewed by Marcus Duffield
Nation 160:50 Ja 13 '45 150w

"One of the best and most remarkable books to come out of the war. The author prefers to be known perhaps as a photographer; but this book qualifies her as a first-rate reporter, in command of a lean, hard prose that is the only true medium of description for the ordered insanity of war." Foster Hailey
+ N Y Times p7 N 26 '44 900w
New Yorker 20:68 D 23 '44 30w

"Some of Miss Bourke-White's pictures are magnificent, and all are superior. Her narrative is almost as graphic as her graphic art. She tells things straight, as they happened, and just what she saw." W. R. Benét
+ Sat R of Lit 27:8 D 16 '44 1100w

Reviewed by R. A. Brown
Springf'd Republican p4d D 17 '44 250w

"Miss Bourke-White writes as well as she photographs. Her own eyes see men and landscapes as clearly as the lenses of her finest camera. Her style is pre-eminently visual. Her gift for characterization with words is no less rapid than with her camera. She tells her story well, igniting technical facts, arranging her narrative with the skill of some one accustomed to compositions." J. M. Brown
+ Weekly Book Review p1 D 10 '44 1000w

WHITE, MRS NELIA (GARDNER). Brook Willow. 276p $2.50 Macmillan
44-883

"This story is a searching study of how two people help each other to escape from frustration by self-adjustment. It opens with the discovery by a policeman of a woman, apparently an amnesia victim, wandering alone at night along the waterfront of a large city. Interviewed at the city hospital, she reveals to Dr. Jake Blum that she is Mary Pelotti, the famous pianist. . . Mary resumes her career, but, in an effort to obtain spiritual release, begins writing Jake a series of autobiographical letters. . . Mary's letters prove as great a help to Jake as the writing of them has been to her, and when at last the two meet again they discover that each has found his spiritual Brook Willow." N Y Times

Booklist 41:124 D 15 '44
Kirkus 12:353 Ag 15 '44 230w

"It is a beautiful story, tense, dramatic, of unusual discernment; it involves a difficult technique so skillfully handled that it is made to seem simple. Mrs. White writes with keen awareness of those inner tensions that play so large a part in human relationships. Her style approaches close to poetry, both in its subtle rhythms and its power to evoke and sustain a mood." Jennings Rice
+ N Y Times p20 N 26 '44 260w

"A difficult and tenuous theme has been developed in Mrs White's novel, sometimes it is so tenuous the thread is almost lost, but the overtones remain constant. In spite of the emotion and tension 'Brook Willow' is a quiet, possessed novel; a sensitive and a beautiful story." L. S. Munn
+ Springf'd Republican p4d N 5 '44 550w

"'Brook Willow' is a book for those who enjoy discerning analysis of temperamental people, variously magnetized by ambition, creative gifts and the more primary attraction of sex. In this wide range, it says some very wise things." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 29 '44 500w

WHITE, VICTOR. Peter Domanig: morning in Vienna. 704p $3 Bobbs
44-3822

Story of a young boy, growing up in Vienna during the years 1910 to 1918.

"Set in the now colorful, now drab Vienna of the First World War, this story of an illegimate boy's struggle to improve his ostracized lot by personal achievement is told with narrative skill, fine simplicity of style, and above all with deep human understanding." R. W. Anderson
+ Atlantic 174:133 Jl '44 420w

"Peter's story is not told in vacuum, or with the background barely sketched in. There is a wealth of engrossing and brilliantly depicted detail; other characters move through the story three-dimensioned and made of blood and bone. And the setting itself is alive and important—and new and valuable to readers brought up on the cliche Vienna of waltzes, uniforms and operetta officers. The reader lives and breathes with the people in the crowded tenements, the markets, the churches, the streets of the 'outer districts,' the factories and shops. There has never been a description of Vienna like this, so sensitive and detailed, and yet so all-embracing." Emily Schlossberger
+ Book Week p7 My 7 '44 600w
Booklist 40:319 My 15 '44

"The novel is intense and clear; the deeply embedded detail, the variety of experience, and the motivation of character give the illusion of reality. Though the account of some of the boy's sex experiences, his hardships in the apprenticeship he serves, and the description of characters which have no part in the conclusion might well have been shortened, the structure as a whole is closely knit. It is not, however, a book for the young."
+ — Cath World 159:283 Je '44 180w

"A work of considerable physical (some 700 pages) and mental stature, intelligent writing, balanced and mature, but lacking the emotional qualities that would give it the substantial popular sale which the publishers expect of it."

+ — Kirkus 12:177 Ap 15 '44 210w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 158:687 Je 10 '44 10w

Reviewed by Marjorie Farber
New Repub 110:793 Je 12 '44 60w

"Victor White's first novel is an impressive attempt to dramatize the problem of the civilized personality in modern times. . . Long, and weighted as it is with detail, 'Peter Domanig' never flags in narrative interest. Yet one feels that it is limited in scope, and that because it is it cannot really fully, or even always clearly, present the human problem it attempts. Like other naturalistic novels, it labors heroically with the bulk of its material, but too often nothing beyond the material is evoked." Ruth Page

+ — N Y Times p7 Ap 30 '44 650w

"In spite of Mr. White's talent for characterization and for creating the atmosphere of the places and periods of which he writes, he never really excites the imagination and the reader never becomes very deeply involved in the development of the hero. The publishers quote several unidentified critics who variously liken the novel to the works of Stendhal, Proust, Gide, and Dostoevsky, but it would perhaps be more to the point to say that the book has something of the charm (though not the humor) of 'A Tree Grows in Brooklyn.'"

New Yorker 20:86 Ap 29 '44 250w

"Mr. White's big novel is far from being wholly satisfactory either as a psychological study or a well-balanced piece of writing. Its prime distinction lies in the minute presentation of the hero's early environment rather than in the development of its main character. Conventionally as the author's aristocrats or his 'Socialists,' are drawn, his petty bourgeois world seen through the over-wake eyes of a hapless adolescent, makes for an excellent image de moeurs. His book can be recommended first of all as a welcome departure from that stereotyped Vienna of many a recent novel where people seemed to be occupied day and night with nothing but the thought of their cultural mission." Robert Pick

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:22 My 20 '44 800w

Time 43:102 Je 26 '44 380w

"A first novel 'Peter Domanig' deserves no such cliché as 'promising.' It is a rich, mature accomplishment and its seven hundred pages seem none too many to tell the story it contains." Jennings Rice

+ Weekly Book Review p4 My 7 '44 1200w

"Peter Domanig, is enormously long, solid, humorless, needlessly detailed. But its magnificent panorama of nearly every aspect of Viennese life just before, during, and after the First World War, its wonderful capacity to communicate a sense of the bustling, tumultuous life of a great city, and its long array of solidly real, stubbornly individual characters make it an impressive achievement." Orville Prescott

+ — Yale R n s 33:766 summer '44 130w

WHITE, WENDELL. Psychology in living. 333p $2.50 Macmillan

150.13 Psychology, Applied 44-5784

This volume contains the substance of two previous publications, The Psychology of Dealing with People, and The Psychology of Making Life Interesting. The work is in two parts: Psychology in personal relationships, and Psychology in the achievement of mental health. Index.

Reviewed by J. C. De Menasce
— Commonweal 40:452 Ag 25 '44 420w

"A book on applied psychology, simplified rather than popularized, and using literary reference and example rather than casework. . . The author handles familiar problems seriously and with cleancut definition."

+ Kirkus 12:111 Mr 1 '44 170w

Reviewed by J. M. Brittan
Library J 69:403 My 1 '44 70w

WHITE, WILLIAM CHAPMAN. Made in the USSR. 159p il $2 Knopf

914.7 Russia—Social life and customs. Art industries and trade—Russia. Art, Russian. Handicraft 44-8158

"'Made in USSR,' an enlarged version of an earlier book, 'Made in Russia,' [Book Review Digest, 1932] is similar in content, containing folklore, geography and history, all told within the pattern of production in the Soviet Union. The final chapters telling the history of socially owned means of production, include an account of the conflicts which were settled, sometimes by force, in time for the Russian people to see their standard of living shooting up, and for them to fight and defeat the Germans." N Y Times

"One of the best books—for young or old—ever written about Russia." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p3 N 12 '44 300w

Booklist 41:112 D 1 '44

Reviewed by H. L. Binsse
Commonweal 41:128 N 17 '44 20w

Horn Bk 20:491 N '44 110w

Kirkus 12:454 O 1 '44 150w

"Book is both a summary of the history of Russia, and a contribution to the better understanding of the Russian people. Recommended for junior high school age. Well illustrated with photographs." Elizabeth Burr

+ Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 70w

N Y Times p7 N 12 '44 120w

"A clear and very readable account of the outstanding things made in Russia of the past and of the present."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:48 N 11 '44 40w

"If William C. White is not now teaching school, American children are short a model teacher. He has the rare knack of instructing the young simply, clearly, and interestingly. His pedagogy is effortless. It is devoutly to be hoped that there is in Russia a Soviet author who will write for his young compatriots a comparably appealing and valuable book called 'Made in the U.S.A.'" H. C. Wolfe

+ Sat R of Lit 27:15 D 30 '44 850w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 Ja 14 '45 250w

WHITEHEAD, HENRY ST CLAIR. Jumbee, and other uncanny tales. 394p $3 Arkham house, Sauk City, Wis. 44-8799

"Short stories of native magic, jumbees (zombies), etc., in West Indies." Sat R of Lit

"The Rev. Mr. Whitehead, who was born in Elizabeth, N.J., and was ordained an Episcopal minister, had a pastorate in the Virgin Islands. It is a fact that these little stories have charm —perhaps it is the gentleness of the author's personality pervading their horrifying content that makes them piquant." Eudora Welty

+ N Y Times p5 S 24 '44 280w

"Good collection for devotees of supernatural and horror stories. Rather stilted writing makes them even more effective."

+ Sat R of Lit 27:52 D 2 '44 40w

"This author won our interest by his scholarly restraint." Will Cuppy

Weekly Book Review p14 D 10 '44 100w

WHITTON, JOHN BOARDMAN, ed. The second chance; America and the peace, by Gordon A. Craig [and others]. 235p $2.50 Princeton univ. press

327.73 U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Peace A44-5381

"John B. Whitton and his seven associates offer, in their discussion of international relations and a world security organization, an analysis of American attitudes toward cooperation with other nations and of the factors which will control American commitments. The eight authors, all members of the Princeton group for the study of post-war international problems, take up in separate chapters the major aspects of American participation in an organization to prevent aggression and assure peace. These chapters deal with the development of American foreign policy, public opinion in the United States, American ideals, the treaty-making powers of the Senate, world economics, institutions of world order, and a world security organization." Weekly Book Review

WHITTON, J. B.—Continued

---

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 O 29 '44 90w

"The entire survey of present and impending problems is scholarly, dispassionate and nonpartisan."
+ Christian Century 61:1321 N 15 '44 80w
Christian Science Monitor p12 Ja 13 '45 320w

Reviewed by Roy Hillbrook
Current Hist 7:497 D '44 80w

Reviewed by R. N. Kelly
New Repub 111:664 N 20 '44 200w

Reviewed by Norman Angell
Sat R of Lit 27:5 N 25 '44 150w

Reviewed by George Polk
+ Weekly Book Review p16 D 10 '44 400w

WHO'S who in the East; a biographical dictionary of leading men and women of the eastern United States, 1942-43. 2284p $14 c1943 Larkin, Roosevelt & Larkin, Ltd, 212 Summer st, Boston 10

920 U.S.—Biography (43-18522)

"Who's Who in the East contains, according to the editors, 'upwards of 26,000 names' of 'men and women . . . who guide and control the activities and welfare of wide areas of our country, in all important avenues of private, public, business and intellectual endeavor.' (Pref) This volume should not be confused with Who's Who in the East, published in 1930 by the Mayflower Publishing Company, Washington, D. C. So far as the Committee is aware, there is no connection between the two publications. The volume under review follows, in general, the plan of content and arrangement ordinarily used in this type of biographical work. . . The editors state that admission of names has been confined to living persons and that 'not a single sketch in the book has been paid for, nor inserted for any financial consideration whatsoever.' " Subscription Bks Bul

---

"Who's Who in the East is recommended only for those needing all possible sources of biographical reference. By itself it is inadequate, but it does add some names not available in obvious sources."
— + Subscription Bks Bul 15:38 Jl '44 800w

WHYTE, WILLIAM FOOTE. Street corner society; the social structure of an Italian slum. 284p $3 Univ. of Chicago press

323.352 Gangs. Italians in the U.S. A44-347

Study of the social structure of a slum district, populated largely by Italians. The scene is an Eastern city, dubbed Cornerville, and the author lived there for a year and a half in order to get an intimate view of the situation. The result is this sociological analysis of Cornerville, its structure, leadership, the "corner boys" and their relations with rackets, the police, and political organizations. Index.

Am Hist R 49:545 Ap '44 20w

Reviewed by E. H. Sutherland
Am J Soc 50:76 Jl '44 370w

"This excellent study deserves the careful consideration of those who are working toward solving the problem of our 'slum districts.' " Belle Zeller
+ Ann Am Acad 235:170 S '44 600w

"The author has made an excellent study within very narrow limits. Yet he omits tremendous influences—the Church, the Fascist propaganda disseminated over a period of 20 years and, most important, the economic problem." G. L. Quilici
+ — Book Week p4 Ja 16 '44 360w

Booklist 40:228 Mr 1 '44
Christian Century 61:339 Mr 15 '
260w

"William Foote Whyte has written 'Stre
Corner Society' in an attempt to describe social structure he seems to have well ob served. The result of course is a full fledge sociological study with diagrams and every thing. . . There are reaches in this book-sometimes long reaches—which will be du reading for those who would prefer to con template such personages in a novel. But fo those who are able to invent their own novel starting from a knowledge of man, that is t say for those who care to meditate with th
real life of men as a starting point, M
Whyte's study provides rich material."
+ Commonweal 39:375 Ja 28 '44 1000w

Reviewed by H. M. Johnson
Pol Sci Q 59:318 Je '44 500w

"In compiling his narrative of the socia
grouping of second generation Italo-Americans
Mr. Whyte has provided sociologists with rich source book. Some readers will be pique by the emphasis placed on the street corner
the bowling alley, and the racket to the exclusion of the home, the church, the school—those other institutions which certainly must exercise great influence on the behavior patterns of these young men. They will wish also to know more of the impact of Italian fascism than is given here and of the effect of the war on Cornerville." W. S. Lynch
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:22 Ap 15 '44 800w

Reviewed by L. M. Brooks
Social Forces 23:235 D '44 600w

" 'Street Corner Society' should be read by students of community life, whether they be politicians, sociologists, newspapermen, or public administrators. It is an unusual book." S. D.
Alinsky
+ Survey 80:269 S '44 550w

WICKIZER, VERNON DALE. Tea under international regulation. 198p maps $2.50 Food research inst.

338.1 Tea A44-2268

"The first appraisal of the world tea industry under the International Tea Exports Regulation Scheme. This book analyzes developments before and after control, compares the International Tea Agreement with other commodity control schemes, and points out significant differences in the problems of regulation and in the results achieved. It seeks to answer questions of desirability and feasibility of dealing effectively with current and postwar problems of the commercial tea industry through international arrangements." (Publisher's note) Index.

"This excellent book gives a valuable insight into a subject which has hitherto received little attention." B. C. Randolph
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1032 O '44 450w

Reviewed by A. D. Taylor
Ann Am Acad 236:195 N '44 500w
Foreign Affairs 23:5 O '44 10w

WICKIZER, VERNON DALE. World coffee economy; with special reference to control schemes. 258p $3 Food research inst.

338.1 Coffee 43-14189

"A thorough study of conditions of production and marketing of a world staple, throwing much light on recent Inter-American relations and on the problem of postwar commodity control." Foreign Affairs

---

"This book is a 'must' for those interested in either Latin American economics, coffee, or international control of raw materials. The Food Research Institute is to be commended for undertaking the investigation and the Rockefeller Foundation for its financing of the project." J. S. Duncan
+ Am Econ R 34:403 Je '44 2500w

"The serious reader will not be interested in the first half of the book, which is devoted to such things as coffee characteristics, cultivation, consumption habits, and the like, but the last half, devoted to Brazilian coffee control schemes, inter-American coffee agreements, and regulation of the world coffee industry, comes to grips with major problems." F. R. Fussell

+ — Am Pol Sci R 38:405 Ap '44 400w

Reviewed by S. G. Hanson
Ann Am Acad 232:213 Mr '44 430w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:7 Ja '44 30w

WIENER, WILLARD. Four boys and a gun. 225p $2.50 Dial press

44-3946

Four young hoodlums, members of a neighborhood gang, kill a policeman during a hold-up. After this opening the author goes back and in a series of flashbacks shows the ugly home lives of the four boys, which led to their undoing.

"In language, setting, and situation, this is a rough and tough novel more or less in the James T. Farrell tradition. Wiener obviously knows his subject; there are again and again those intimate chunks of reality which come up when a man is writing about something he knows and knows well. He has without question a sensitive ear for the rhythms and nuances of dialect. . . A keen eye, a sensitive ear—but I don't think Wiener has written a first-class book." Leo Shapiro

— + Book Week p4 Ap 16 '44 350w

"Even the occasional vitality of certain bits cannot redeem its sordidness. A derivative of basic American, genuinely tough—and I mean tough. Skip it."

— Kirkus 12:182 Ap 15 '44 80w

"Taken by themselves, a number of the scenes in 'Four Boys and a Gun' are excellent either for their drama or their dialogue. But, as a whole, the novel does not build up to the power and sense of tragedy one would expect from its theme." Jerre Mangione

— + N Y Times p7 Ap 9 '44 440w

"Mr. Wiener's style is appropriately staccato, which is to say he never uses a two-syllable word where a one-syllable word will do. But he can also write in a humorous vein. . . 'Four Boys and a Gun' may have been published a little after its time. But it is a lively, well told crime story that reconstructs convincingly a demoralized era we like to think of as past." Herbert Kupferberg

+ — Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 16 '44 550w

WIER, ALBERT ERNEST. Thesaurus of the arts. 690p $5 Putnam

051 Encyclopedias and dictionaries 43-15674

" 'This volume was conceived with a definite objective—to furnish concise, non-technical information regarding the personalities, subjects and terms connected with literature, music, painting, sculpture, ballet, drama, motion pictures, and television.'—Foreword. The title page adds radio and architecture to this list. Examination shows that the empahsis in this compilation is largely biographical, although, as stated above, it is intended to serve also as a dictionary of subjects and terms." Subscription Bks Bul

Christian Science Monitor p12 S 16 '44 50w

"A dictionary of musical atrocities, architectural boners, literary omissions, sculptural and pictorial platitudes, and detailed biographical data on the denizens of Hollywood. . . The musical section, by far the largest, is an unbelievable collection of misinformation and downright stupidity. . . This handsome Thesaurus, heralded as a rich meaty stew of the arts is but an unsavory thin brew, with some particles of meat floating on the surface. But the work will be on the shelves of our college and public libraries and it will be consulted by people attracted by the enticing aroma of its title." P. H. Lang

— Sat R of Lit 26:8 N 20 '43 1400w

Discussion by the editors of Sat R of Lit
Sat R of Lit 26:16 D 11 '43 1150w

"Weakness is noted in the field of fine arts. Relatively few contemporary American artists are included. . . As a musical dictionary the work leaves much to be desired. Information on composers is, in general, accurate but very brief. . . Its coverage of contemporary artists in ballet, theater, motion pictures is, perhaps, the strongest feature of the volume. However, in many cases, the user will want fuller information than is given here. . . The format of the volume is attractive, and satisfactory for home use. Narrow margins will make library rebinding difficult. Due to the inadequacy and brevity of the information given, the omission of much information users would expect to find in this volume, and the fact that a large part of the material covered is included in general reference works, Thesaurus of the Arts is not recommended for library purchase."

— Subscription Bks Bul 15:53 O '44 550w

"No reference book containing over 8500 items and covering all of the arts (including radio and television) can be useless. But neither can it hope in some 700 pages to be reasonably comprehensive, to contain all the essential (or even the right) information a non-technical reader might want or need on any specific personality, subject or term. And when the book is the work of a single individual, the inadequacies are compounded by the person's special interests and the sheer size of the area he has tried to cover. It is hardly surprising, then, that Mr. Wier's 'thesaurus' irritates and defeats one on every page and will prove a trap for the unwary layman."

— + Theatre Arts 28:749 D '44 170w

WIERZYNSKI, KAZIMIERZ. Forgotten battlefield; il. by Zdzislaw Czermanski [tr. by Edmund Ordon] 179p $2.50 Roy pubs.

940.542 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, Polish 44-8528

"The famous Polish poet, Mr. Wierzynski, who is now in America, has met many compatriots during his four years of wandering exile who fought in the German war against Poland, and in his new book he retells their profoundly moving experiences." Weekly Book Review

"The spirit of the Poles—it is this one comprehends from a thoughtful reading of these tales. They are not meant to be history or chronology of battles, though the inclusion of a simple map with the place names mentioned indicated on it would have been an advantage. There are no atrocity accounts. As is to be expected, the sketches are somber, but occasionally there is a fleeting bit of humor. . . Sometimes the translation falls short of what it might be and in places the continued use of short sentences makes for jerkiness. On the other hand, much of the reported conversation is well done." A. S. C.

+ Christian Science Monitor p14 O 23 '44 400w

"A bitter, somewhat bloody record of heroic defiance. The line drawings by A. Czermanski do not add consistently to the appeal of the book."

+ — Kirkus 12:425 S 15 '44 110w

New Repub 111:813 D 11 '44 140w

Reviewed by Theodore Draper
N Y Times p14 O 15 '44 350w

New Yorker 20:98 O 21 '44 70w

"In these accounts, which Mr. Wierzynski has put together with affectionate simplicity, we get a part of the truth, the most significant part, about the first campaign of this war." Virgilia Sapieha

+ Weekly Book Review p2 O 1 '44 950w

WIESCHHOFF, HEINRICH ALBERT. Colonial policies in Africa. (African handbooks) 138p pa $1.50 Univ. of Pa. press [pa 7s Oxford]

325.6 Africa—Colonization 44-5178

"An introductory chapter describes the political status of the African territories. The second chapter appraises the benefits which European nations derive from their dependencies in Africa through appropriation of natural resources, unequal trade exploitation of native labor, and sometimes settlement of surplus population. The third chapter describes the factors, whether idealistic or realistic, which determine colonial policies. The fourth chapter deals with the aims of colonial policies, aims which are nonetheless sincere because there is much in the actual facts of colonial rule which is inconsistent with them. . . The final chapter is devoted to the future of colonial dependencies." Am J Soc

WIESCHHOFF, H. A.—Continued

Reviewed by H. F. Angus
Am J Soc 50:158 S '44 370w

"By and large, the author's reasoning appears sound and suggests familiarity with his subject." K. E. Knorr
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:806 Ag '44 200w

"This book is both scholarly and authoritative; in it, historical record and literary accomplishment are pleasantly blended. The bibliography is adequate; the documentation clear. Students of African affairs should keep this book close at hand. All who are interested in justice toward colonial peoples after the war should become acquainted with the facts treated in this volume." D. W. Bittinger
+ — Ann Am Acad 235:140 S '44 360w

"Although this handbook does not make any original contribution to the existing literature on the subject, it provides a useful introduction to African problems." Robin Campbell
Canadian Forum 24:66 Je '44 280w

Foreign Affairs 22:666 Jl '44 10w

Reviewed by Constant Southworth
Geog R 35:164 Ja '45 950w

WIGHT, EDWARD ALLEN. Public library finance and accounting. 137p $2.75 A.L.A.

025.11 Library finance 43-18857

Study of finance and accounting for the public library, with detailed instruction for budget making and operating. Contents: The library in the general financial setting; Revenue of the local library; Building the budget; Operating the budget; Library accounting; Cost accounting. Glossary of accounting terminology. Selected bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:189 F 1 '44

"Its greatest value will be to librarians and trustees of libraries which have not yet worked out modern budgetary and other financial procedures or are not now operating essentially as departments of municipalities which already have reasonably satisfactory financial systems to which they are required to conform. Librarians and trustees who read it will be stimulated to think out their financial problems more fully and be impressed with the importance of making full, clear and convincing statements of their financial requirements. If municipal budget officers could also be induced to read it, they would very likely gain a more enlightened view of public library problems and hence be inclined to treat library estimates more sympathetically." G. F. Bowerman
+ Library J 69:352 Ap 15 '44 1200w

"The future of the public library may depend upon the librarian's ability to demonstrate its value through the use of data which measure its services and costs. We have few such data now. Mr. Wight's book is important in directing attention to this need and in suggesting steps toward fuller accounting and analysis. It also provides a concise over-all view of library finance for the library-school student and the newly appointed executive. The chapters on budgeting should be helpful to administrators of smaller libraries in which procedures may not be formalized." Ralph Munn
+ Library Q 14:257 Jl '44 650w

WILBUR, CLARENCE MARTIN. Slavery in China during the former Han dynasty, 206 B.C.-A.D. 25. 490p il pa $4 Chicago natural hist. museum, Roosevelt rd & Field drive, Chicago 5

326.951 Slavery in China. China—History 43-6393

"Dr. Wilbur in this book endeavors to determine the character, importance and extent of slavery in one of the formative periods of Chinese history. The first part of the book proceeds in a logical manner, first sketching the historical background, discussing the sources, carefully interpreting the key Chinese words, and defining the English terms used. It then treats the conditions and legality of private and government slavery, the status of slaves, hereditary slavery and manumission, the social status of slave owners and the number of slaves, the functions of private and government slaves, and concludes with a summary of the results attained. The second part, which is as long as the first one (but unfortunately is not indexed), consists of translations from the original sources, with the Chinese text. Some of these selections are of extraordinary and even lurid sociological interest." Pacific Affairs

"This is a sound and most valuable contribution on a topic of great interest to students both of China and of economic institutions." E. A. Kracke, jr.
+ Am Hist R 49:291 Ja '44 650w

"This work is outstanding in that it arranges its material chronologically, instead of lumping together items from different centuries. In drawing conclusions, Dr. Wilbur is cautious, usually (but not always) refusing to go beyond what can be supported by adequate evidence. . . Excellent as this book is, it cannot however be considered a definitive study. The translation is competent, but not free from slips. . . Moreover, I cannot feel that Dr. Wilbur's treatment of government slaves is adequate. Han China made no distinction between private and government slaves. . . These defects are, however, minor in comparison with the great merits of this monograph. For an understanding of social conditions in ancient China, it is indispensable." H. H. Dubs
+ — Pacific Affairs 17:343 S '44 550w

WILCOX, RICHARD. Of men and battle; pictures by David Fredenthal. 124p $3 Howell, Soskin

940.5497 World war, 1939—Pictorial works. World war, 1939—New Britain (island) 44-7205

A series of pen-and-ink and wash drawings, accompanied by prose comment, describe the attack on Arawa, New Britain, in December, 1943.

Booklist 41:169 F 1 '45

"To anyone experienced in looking at such drawings they are moving and vivid notes on our men before, during and after battle in the South Pacific. Desirable in large collections for young people and adults." E. W. Turpin
+ Library J 69:818 O 1 '44 70w

"David Fredenthal and the artists in the armed forces have their full quota of clichés, but it has become a firm tradition by now that whoever works with pencil or brush practices art and has a right to the pretension and daring that go with art. So that even some of the clichés are daring. These drawings and paintings lack the vivid, immediate, upsetting truth of photography, but they describe and narrate more completely and much more connectedly. They tell you not so much what the army and navy look like as what it is like to be in them. Even Matthew Brady could not show that." Clement Greenberg
+ — Nation 159:567 N 4 '44 120w

"The pictures quite capably tell the story they set out to tell, and admirers of Fredenthal's work will find its characteristics as fully evident in these battle-done sketches as in his studio paintings. Here to the number of about sixty they give the slap of massed impact, but the general effect is of a rather messy and incoherent form, out of which a certain admirable brute force and occasional delicacy of line show up to relieve the monotony of their disorganization." E. W.
N Y Times p24 O 15 '44 120w

+ New Yorker 20:84 O 28 '44 90w

"Prose and pictures carry the heroic tale on through battle and death, the absolute fear and the blind anger, a few yards of beach taken and held. . . It closes on the face of a single anonymous soldier, one who has been through battle and will fight again tomorrow. It is a strange, not a familiar, face, and it masks much that civilians never will be able to understand or the soldier to communicate. Upon this 'Of Men and Battle' insists, and it is not the least fearful aspect of the whole picture. But then the book was nowhere meant to soothe or comfort us, and for those who elect the face of truth unveiled, its blunt tragi-heroic content will be awesomely welcomed." Iris Barry

Weekly Book Review p18 O 15 '44 450w

WILDER, ROBERT. Mr G. strings along. 217p $2.50 Putnam

44-3443

The hilarious and uninhibited adventures of one Harvey L. Grafton, of Two Forks, Cold River, North Carolina. Mr. G. made money manufacturing tin jumping frogs at home, but when the war came he wanted to help in a big way. Mr. G. had his troubles with Washington, factories, saboteurs, and beautiful women, but he made history for China—with his jumping frogs.

"To anyone still mourning the passing of the late Thorne Smith 'Mr. G. Strings Along' will be more welcome than the first day of spring. For if Robert Wilder is not as good as the best of Thorne Smith he is a great deal better than the worst, and readers will find here the same familiar and heady brew, composed of one part sex, one part fire water and the remainder things that shouldn't and couldn't happen to a dog." Bucklin Moon

+ Book Week p4 Ap 16 '44 460w

"An unblushing farce of broad and racy humor."

Kirkus 12:154 Ap 1 '44 200w

"A funny book, bawdy and slapstick, but prodigiously inventive and seldom suffering from the strain to which such humor is subject. He will, inevitably, be compared to Thorne Smith. But even those who cannot see the Old Master for sour apples will be inclined to nominate Mr. G. for the most entertaining casualty of World War II." Jane Cobb

N Y Times p7 Ap 9 '44 380w

"In completely fulfilling his obvious mission of being very amusing, Mr Wilder turns to a number of devices which but for excellent craftsmanship would be in danger of spreading at the seams. He indulges in a broad satire of government confusion without seeming at all critical or even appearing to care very much. . . And he strikes a currently popular note in having a luscious and admirably uninhibited blond pursue a bewildered, middle-aged, James Thurberish male. It's a lot of fun but nothing you'd put into a missionary barrel." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ap 16 '44 400w

" 'Mr. G. Strings Along' is off to a good start, but it runs into the same difficulty that confronts the performance of a jumping frog. To maintain it in a state of animation, Robert Wilder has to keep winding it up, winding it up. The humor is broad enough, but not deep enough. Mr. W. strings it out." Lisle Bell

+ — Weekly Book Review p11 Ap 9 '44 350w

WILEY, BELL IRVIN. Plain people of the confederacy. 104p il $1.50 La. state univ. press

973.716 Confederate states of America. South—Social conditions 44-40038

Study of the common people of the South, white and Negro, during the Civil war. The chapters are: The common soldiers; The folk at home; The colored folk. No index.

"The book is full of quotations from letters and diaries and of amusing and illuminating stories, like that of the starving soldier who shot a pig 'in self-defense.' " J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p4 F 6 '44 70w

Booklist 40:250 Mr 15 '44

Christian Century 61:564 My 3 '44 100w

Reviewed by P. V. Stern

Sat R of Lit 27:13 F 19 '44 350w

Social Studies 35:144 Mr '44 20w

Reviewed by Cyril Clemens

Springf'd Republican p6 F 28 '44 550w

"In 'The Plain People of the Confederacy' Professor Wiley writes pleasingly on a neglected topic." R. D. Meade

+ Weekly Book Review p17 Ap 16 '44 700w

WILKINS, WILLIAM VAUGHAN. Being met together. 510p $2.75 Macmillan [10s 6d Cape, J]

Fulton, Robert—Fiction. Napoleon I, emperor of the French—Fiction 44-6481

"A jumbo historical novel featuring a young American who goes abroad and becomes an agent for Napoleon. A British-hating grandmother goads him on through a quarter-million words of high adventure, which culminate in an attempt to rescue Bonaparte from St Helena in a submarine, a fictional incident which the author says is quite consistent with the possibilities, since that was precisely the trick the British were afraid of." New Yorker

"There is plenty of adventure, suspense and love interest in the book. What distinguishes it from the general run of romantic historical novels is the author's astonishing acquaintance with the period of which he writes. He is so much in his element that, although no detail is overlooked, his erudition is not obtrusive. . . Wilkins writes well, except for the mannerism of occasionally using fragmentary sentences when a completed sentence would be less irritating and more grammatical." Ralph Korngold

+ — Book Week p3 S 3 '44 450w

Booklist 41:42 O 1 '44

Boston Globe p17 S 6 '44 80w

Kirkus 12:181 Ap 15 '44 230w

"The hero is a well-intentioned young American dominated by a vengeful grandmother. Recommended for public libraries." J. L. Ross

+ Library J 69:651 Ag '44 90w

"The opening chapter is so packed with incident as to risk anti-climax, but Mr. Wilkins keeps it up with invention throughout. His principal characters, in particular the Virginian Mme. Purvis, with her consuming hate for England, are a bit highly coloured, but in view of the crowded pages this is perhaps an artistic necessity." Charles Marriott

+ Manchester Guardian p3 Ap 14 '44 100w

Reviewed by C. V. Terry

N Y Times p5 S 3 '44 480w

"Your money's worth of melodrama, but the style, full of words like 'whilst' and 'afresh' and sentences like 'He drew to him a sheet of paper,' is a considerable drag on the story."

+ — New Yorker 20:67 S 2 '44 110w

"I am still—and I confess it with some shame at my age—an easy catch for anything, good, bad or indifferent, about the Corsican. And as I believe that many people are similarly weak on that point, I imagine that this novel will be in great demand. Nevertheless, I cannot say that I have found it entertaining." Kate O'Brien

Spec 172:342 Ap 14 '44 500w

Reviewed by C. S. DuPont

Springf'd Republican p4d O 29 '44 220w

"A strange and rich and rattling good raree-show."

+ Times [London] Lit Sup p173 Ap 8 '44 1000w

"Vaughan Wilkins tells a story you will be impelled to read at top speed because of the sheer momentum of its plot and the bold, vivid and violent action it unfolds. And when you come reluctantly to the end, this being a time when more than 500 pages are not too many, you may promise yourself the pleasures of a second reading to savor again the richness of detail and character study, the wit and the subtlety of the writing." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p3 S 3 '44 600w

Wis Lib Bul 40:148 N '44

WILKINSON, PAUL H. Aircraft engines of the world, 1944. [rev ed] 320p il $8.50 The author, 216 E. 45th st, N.Y. 17

629.13435 Airplane engines 44-4434

"Complete data on 130 of the latest aircraft engines of the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, and the U.S.S.R. A full-page photograph of each engine accompanies a standardized text page giving details of construction, dimensions, weight, fuel consumption, lubrication, etc. The book has been extensively revised since the previous edition (Book Review Digest, 1941). Obsolete material has been omitted and sixty-five pages of engine data added." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:358 Je 15 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 60w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:3 Ja '44

WILLARD, HOBART HURD, and others. Short course in quantitative analysis. 253p $2.50 Van Nostrand [16s 6d Tech. press]

545 Chemistry, Analytic—Quantitative 43-16097

"The text, based on Willard and Furman's 'Elementary Quantitative Analysis' as a framework, represents a good short course of the subject matter. A number of drawings illustrate various techniques very well so that the book can be used also for self-study, i.e. in absence of a lecture course or recitation periods. If the text is to be used in the education of assistants in industrial laboratories, a short paragraph (with illustrations) on the chainomatic balances would be valuable." (Chem & Met Eng) Index.

Reviewed by J. J. Lingane
Am Chem Soc J 66:852 My '44 800w

Reviewed by F. C. Nachod
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:194 Ap '44 70w

WILLARD, WARREN WYETH. The leathernecks come through; with an introd. by Cornelius P. Van Ness. 224p $2.50 Revell

940.542 World war, 1939—Solomon islands. U.S. Marine corps. World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American 44-9964

Personal experiences of an American Protestant chaplain of marines in New Zealand and the Solomons.

Booklist 41:122 D 15 '44

"Vivid personal narrative, and a very good one, of a chaplain who was equally active in rescuing and tending the wounded under fire in the Solomons and in saving souls by evangelistic preaching and distribution of the Scriptures."
+ Christian Century 61:1356 N 22 '44 40w

"Lieutenant Willard writes stiffly and self-consciously, using every trite phrase that ever was invented. But the brave story he has to tell comes through, as does the story of the marines of whom he writes." F. H.
+ — N Y Times p20 D 10 '44 280w

WILLIAM, abp of TYRE. History of deeds done beyond the sea; tr. and annot. by Emily Atwater Babcock and A. C. Krey. 2v 556;553p $13.50 Columbia univ. press [90s Oxford]

940.18 Crusades A44-583

Scholarly translation of the history of the crusades written by the Bishop of Tyre in the twelfth century. "William of Tyre lived during the latter part of the first century of the Crusades and wrote the best contemporary account of so much of that vast and colorful movement as came within the span of his life (1130-84). More than that, he took a running start from the beginning of Islam and depicted the spread of Mohammedanism, the rise of the Turkish power, the conditions which stirred Christian Europe to rescue the holy places, the preaching of Peter the Hermit and other promoters of the First Crusade, the establishment of the Latin Kingdom of Jerusalem, and the gesta of the four kings before Amaury, with whose accession in 1163 his own intimate association with the administration began. . . His work is one of the most important bodies of source material for the history of the Crusades. Later chroniclers used it as a base upon which to build their continuations of the story." Christian Century

"The editors of this edition have produced a translation of distinguished merit, an introduction giving all that is known about William's life and work and correcting some mistakes that have been perpetuated in highly respected authorities, and an abundance of scholarly and informative notes." W. E. Garrison
+ Christian Century 61:240 F 23 '44 1200w

"The librarian and the scholar should jump for joy. William spent most of his life in Jerusalem and ended it as Archbishop of Tyre. No man knew more about the Crusades, and he was an historian trained from his youth. He understood an astonishing amount of the science of sifting evidence, and he had trained himself to write well. His work is to-day the source of sources for the Crusades, but until now there has not been a satisfactory edition of it in English. To produce one means translating well and editing well. Mrs. Babcock and Professor Krey seem between them to possess all the qualifications. Their translation is excellent and their editing competent but not too obtrusive." R. L.
+ Manchester Guardian p3 S 13 '44 200w

WILLIAM, PETER. Affair at Abu Mina. 238p $2 Macrae Smith co.

44-6839

A mystery and espionage tale of war in the African desert before the battle of El Alamein.

Booklist 41:153 Ja 15 '45

Kirkus 12:265 Je 15 '44 90w

"The adventures of Dupree and the others who are working with him border on the fantastic, but so many impossible things are done in this war that surely this kind of fiction may be permitted a little more latitude." I. A.
N Y Times p26 S 17 '44 120w

Reviewed by Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p16 S 17 '44 70w

WILLIAM J. KERBY FOUNDATION, WASHINGTON, D.C. Democracy: should it survive? 159p $2 Bruce pub.

321.8 Democracy. Totalitarianism 44-327

"Thirteen short essays collected in tribute to the memory of Dr. William J. Kerby, whose life and teachings exemplified the Christian virtues. Written by scholars, publicists and persons active in practical affairs, these essays interpret the natural rights of man in politics, science, religion, education, industry, agriculture, and in the social arrangements of our times." N Y Times

Cath World 158:605 Mr '44 180w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert
Foreign Affairs 22:656 Jl '44 40w

"Like most philosophical symposiums, this is burdened with abstractions, but readers whose special interests tend to obscure the fundamental principles will profit by seeing them interpreted in varied fields of practical life. Thus, one may turn to pieces on science and religion by Dr. Karl Herzfield; on economic life by Prof. David McCabe; to Philip Murray on labor, and to Raymond Reiss who offers an employer's point of view. Walter Lippmann's essay on American education will irritate the school masters like a hair shirt. . . In the concluding essay, written by William H. Russell, there is real insight into the true meaning of Christ and of the Christian virtues for our times." G. H. E. Smith
+ N Y Times p11 Ap 16 '44 480w

School & Society 59:223 Mr 25 '44 40w

"There is much else of interest in the book. Richard J. Purcell contributes a scholarly essay on the background of the Declaration of Independence. Karl F. Herzfeld discusses man in his relations with natural science. As a whole, the book is an interesting contribution to the literature of Christian democracy. It is a symposium of remarkably high and quite as remarkably even quality." G. N. Schuster

+ Survey G 33:254 My '44 320w

WILLIAMS, BEN AMES. Leave her to heaven. 429p $2.50 Houghton

44-40137

Psychological novel in which the character of a despicable woman is the motivating force. Ellen Berent began her psychopathic possessiveness while she was still a baby. The object of her affection was her father. After his death she successfully pursued a man who resembled her father, married him, and proceeded to ruin his life. Even after her suicide, which she arranged to resemble a murder, her evil influence was not ended.

"The plot is everything in this novel—and it is a humdinger. It has all the high suspense of a first-rate mystery story." R. W. Anderson
+ Atlantic 174:133 Ag '44 300w

Reviewed by Clare Jaynes
Book Week p1 Je 11 '44 1400w

Booklist 40:356 Je 15 '44

Reviewed by Ray McPartlin
Boston Globe p17 Je 7 '44 380w

Kirkus 12:147 Ap 1 '44 210w

"Told with restrained objectivity and morality, this may be circulated with confidence by the many libraries which rejected Strange Woman." E. L. Lewis
+ Library J 69:554 Je 15 '44 80w

"This is handled by Mr. Williams in expert fashion. All of it is readable, even when it is most unconvincing. . . When you have put this book aside, you will realize that it was overlong and incredibly contrived; that its characters were made, not born; that its open-air descriptions of the Maine woods and the New Mexican desert did not compensate for a plot as bony as a shad. For all that, Mr. Williams probably will hypnotize you until you have turned the last page." William Du Bois
N Y Times p4 Je 11 '44 550w

"None of this will tax the brain, but it will be quite satisfactory for what is known as summer reading."
New Yorker 20:77 Je 17 '44 80w

"Mr. Williams knows his Boston and its people and the people and country of the Maine woods and rivers. Some of his minor characters are excellent. It is a pity that those whose lives make his central drama lack their humanity." Jonathan Daniels
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:26 Je 24 '44 360w

"This is a dull book and a bad book. Mr. Williams should find much better fish to fry by the shores of a Maine brook." E. M. B.
— Springf'd Republican p4d Je 11 '44 280w

"Even in a novel composed of sure-fire ingredients—and this is certainly one of them—much depends on sure-fire timing. Mr. Williams has the knack of it to a high degree. . . A taut piece of fiction, with some sharp probing of feminine technique in loyalty and betrayal." Lisle Bell
+ Weekly Book Review p14 Je 11 '44 120w

Wis Lib Bul 40:131 O '44

WILLIAMS, CHANCELLOR. The raven. 562p $3.50 Dorrance

Poe, Edgar Allan—Fiction 43-17566

"[A] novel about Poe. . . Mr. Williams has endeavored to give a true interpretation of the poet's character and personality and to make his narrative conform to the facts of his life so far as these are known." Christian Century

---

Christian Century 61:20 Ja 5 '44 40w

"A novel of extraordinary quality. It is a long book, overlong in spots, and deeply felt—sometimes moving to the reader and sometimes, in its determination to communicate Poe's unbalanced and frustrated emotionalism, shading dangerously toward hysteria. Considered purely as a novel, 'The Raven' is not altogether successful. It is technically somewhat clumsy and lacking in illusion." Margaret Wallace
+ — N Y Times p26 Ja 9 '44 440w

WILLIAMS, CLIFFORD DAVID. Analysis of statically indeterminate structures. 265p $3.50 Int. textbook

624.17 Structures, Theory of 43-16844

Textbook for college engineering which presents fundamental methods of applied mechanics. The author is head of the department of structural engineering of Fenn college, and is "an authority on this class of structure." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:247 Mr 15 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 68:1008 D 1 '43 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:69 O '43

WILLIAMS, CORNELIA DECAMP (TAYLOR). These we teach; a study of General college students. 188p $2 Univ. of Minn.

378 Students. Minnesota. University. General college A43-3794

"The author conducted an intensive study of 100 boys and girls selected from the students enrolled in the year 1935-36 at the General College, University of Minnesota. Her colorful account in this volume of their lives, their parents, and their home backgrounds gives a composite picture of thousands of students before war disrupted their lives, a picture that will be valid for the coming peace." School & Society

---

Booklist 40:206 F 15 '44

Reviewed by S. M. Corey
Library Q 14:261 Jl '44 330w

Reviewed by Benjamin Fine
N Y Times p22 Ja 16 '44 260w

Reviewed by R. J. Havighurst
Sat R of Lit 27:36 S 16 '44 340w

School & Society 58:448 D 4 '43 90w

Reviewed by L. V. Koos
School R 52:376 Je '44 500w

Reviewed by C. W. Mayer
Survey G 33:397 S '44 180w

WILLIAMS, MRS GERTRUDE (ROSENBLUM). Price of social security. (Int. lib. of sociology and social reconstruction) 199p $3.75 Oxford [12s 6d Routledge]

331.112 Labor supply. Insurance, Social. World war, 1939—Economic aspects 44-6961

"After a general discussion of the dynamic nature of economic society and the growing rigidity in the economic system, Mrs. Williams considers the new social security policies embodied in the Beveridge Report and other plans for the post-war industrial world. She shows how various problems involved have been approached in Russia, the United States and Germany, and deduces the lessons to be learned from wartime labor controls. In a final chapter she discusses the reorganization of the Civil Service, and the necessity of changing the relationship of the worker to his work by developing new incentives." (Publisher's note) Index.

Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p2 D 31 '44 90w

"The title of this book is perhaps a trifle misleading. . . It mainly deals with the payment of unconditional, indefinite subsistence for the unemployed, and the 'price' which has to be paid is submission to tighter administrative control of labour. . . Within these limits, however, it is an excellent book. Mrs. Williams's attitude to the problem is thoroughly pragmatic." H. W. S.
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 Jl 7 '44 250w

"Mrs. Williams excels as an economic chronicler. This is, therefore, a better book than 'The State and the Standard of Living.' In the field of generalities she leaves the reader with an uneasy feeling of having been here before. . . But she has a gift of lucid exposition which, seen to advantage in her contribution to Dr. Robson's 'Social Security,' is at its best here."

WILLIAMS, G. R.—Continued
+ — Times [London] Lit Sup p268 Je 3 '44 1150w

WILLIAMS, GWENEIRA MAUREEN. Timid Timothy, the kitten who learned to be brave; il. by Leonard Weisgard. [68p] $1.25 Scott, W.R.
44-8336

Picture story book about a timid little kitten whose mother taught him to be brave, but not to look for trouble. For three-year-olds.

"This is a honey of a picture-book story. . . A most attractive little book with a worthwhile lesson." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p23 N 12 '44 130w
Booklist 41:80 N 1 '44
Cath World 160:279 D '44 20w

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p10 O 30 '44 100w
Commonweal 41:256 D 22 '44 20w
Horn Bk 20:475 N '44 40w

"Has the chance for the same sort of market as the Evers' books, but is more of a 'quality' appeal."
+ Kirkus 12:399 S 1 '44 50w

Reviewed by M. C. Skinner
Library J 69:863 O 15 '44 70w

"Will delight nursery and kindergarten ages." F. W. Butler
+ Library J 69:939 N 1 '44 70w

"Charming pictures illustrate a simple story."
+ N Y Times p6 N 12 '44 60w

"For pure fun, good for indefinite repetition and just as funny to adults who read aloud as to three-year-olds who listen, this kitten-story picture book is emphatically here to stay. . . The pictures on every page are charming whether you like kittens or not, and if, like most three-year-olds, you do, they are irresistible." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 22 '44 250w

WILLIAMS, JAY. Counterfeit African. 188p $2 Oxford
44-7835

An adventure-mystery story for young readers. The scene is North Africa, the time the second century B.C. during the Jugurthine war.

Booklist 41:128 D 15 '44

"Adequate adventure, with stage set accurately portrayed, but with a certain incongruity in characters, language and situations."
+ — Kirkus 12:437 S 15 '44 130w

"How the plot is defeated and a murder mystery solved makes exciting reading, but author fails to give a convincing picture of the period. Recommended for limited purchase." Dorothy Lawson
+ — Library J 69:1052 D 1 '44 70w

"The wanderings of Felix, crackling with narrow escapes, surprises concerned with the package, keep action jumping, and the style is that of a natural writer. From fourteen on is the age for it, especially if the boy studies ancient history."
+ Weekly Book Review p28 N 12 '44 400w

WILLIAMS, JAY. Stolen oracle; pictures by Frederick T. Chapman. 222p $2 Oxford 43-18430

Mystery-adventure story for boys of ten to fourteen. The scene is Rome during the reign of Augustus, and the heroes are two teen-age boys accused of starting a fire to screen the theft of the sacred books of the Sibylline oracle.

"Good mystery stories for the teen-aged are never plentiful, so 'The Stolen Oracle' should find a ready and interested audience." P. A. Whitney
+ Book Week p11 F 6 '44 180w
Booklist 40:257 Mr 15 '44

"The setting for the story and the persons who play a part are vividly and accurately drawn." A. M. Jordan
+ Horn Bk 20:42 Ja '44 70w

"Authentic background, peopled with charioteers, gladiators and even the poet, Horace, make it a valuable addition to school and public libraries." Margaret Miller
+ Library J 69:120 F 1 '44 50w

"This is not a particularly well written book, but it does accomplish something that is important. It makes the streets of Rome under Augustus Caesar as living and vital as the streets of an American city today. Moreover, it will be welcomed by boys and girls as a 'mystery story.' And it is just that." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:28 Ja 29 '44 340w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 F 6 '44 280w

WILLIAMS, JOHN HENRY. Postwar monetary plans, and other essays. 305p $2.50 Knopf
332.15 Finance. Money 44-6804

"This is a collection of essays on monetary policy and international trade theory, published in various journals over the years." N Y Times

Reviewed by C. R. Whittlesey
Ann Am Acad 237:223 Ja '45 450w
Foreign Affairs 23:5 O '44 30w

"For economists, bankers, and the postwar planning circles—a serious contribution."
+ Kirkus 12:331 Ag 1 '44 170w

"Only a limited number of readers are sufficiently versed in problems of international finance to fully appreciate these essays. Their current news interest and the vital importance of sound monetary policies in world progress, however, make the book important for large and medium sized libraries and appropriate for small libraries through interlibrary loan. The preface in its approach to the problems of such a compilation is revealing and delightful." M. C. Manley
+ Library J 69:650 Ag '44 70w

"Professor Williams is an eminent authority in these fields and his contributions are weighty and thought-provoking. The older essays are mostly technical in nature and have been carefully studied by his fellow-economists. But it was worth while collecting them; they merit rereading and they help to reveal the presuppositions and the system of thought underlying the later essays." Jacob Viner
+ N Y Times p6 Ag 20 '44 1150w

Reviewed by Dudley Dillard
Pol Sci Q 59:617 D '44 800w

Reviewed by Robert Warren
Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 20 '44 800w

WILLIAMS, JOHN LINCOLN, and HOWARD, PALMER PECKHAM. Today's American democracy. 620p il maps $1.96 Lippincott
321.8 Democracy 43-3999

"Messrs. Williams and Howard express in their Preface the hope that this single volume will serve the purpose for which many teachers now find it necessary to use several textbooks. Accordingly, in a style that is quite readable, they present an unusually wide range of topics. Among chapters not found in a number of other problems books appearing about the same time are those devoted to mental health, transportation and communication, problems of race, and use of leisure time. However, some significant areas such as housing and consumer economics suffer from inadequate treatment or even omission, and international affairs, both political and economic, are treated in too general a way to provide a basis for classroom discussion of post-war planning. The content as a whole is characterized more by an essay than a textbook type of presentation." Social Educ

---

Reviewed by K. B. Thurston and M. P. Allen
Social Educ 8:286 O '44 700w
Reviewed by G. C. Hankins
Social Studies 34:376 D '43 650w

WILLIAMS, LOU. A dipper full of stars; a beginner's guide to the heavens. 170p il $2 Follett

523.8 Stars 44-7767

Information for junior high school pupils on the stars and planets, the constellations, the milky way, meteors and comets, and the myths and legends about them which the ancients believed. Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p4 N 12 '44 180w
Kirkus 12:437 S 15 '44 60w

"Recommended for all beginners from fifth grade up." Marian Cumming
+ Library J 69:886 O 15 '44 80w

"This attractive little book is a readable, reliable introduction to astronomy for any age."
+ School & Society 60:176 S 9 '44 30w
Wis Lib Bul 40:144 N '44

WILLIAMS, MIRIAM J. Home canning made easy; il. by A. J. Reagan. 122p $1.50 Macmillan

641.4 Canning and preserving 43-10185

Recipes and methods of home canning explained step by step. Includes instructions on salting and dehydrating methods; the use of honey and corn syrup in place of sugar; and meat canning. Illustrated with line drawings.

Booklist 40:42 O 1 '43
Reviewed by M. C. Pfund
J Home Econ 36:168 Mr '44 50w

WILLIAMS, OSCAR, ed. New poems, 1944. 330p il $3 Howell, Soskin

821.08 English poetry—Collections. American poetry—Collections

Anthology of modern poetry, including work of both British and American poets. This year's volume contains a section of poems written by men in the armed forces. Portraits of some of the poets, and brief biographical data. No index.

Book Week p14 N 19 '44 320w

"Unfortunately, Oscar Williams' anthology does not altogether live up to its title. The first poems in the volume, those by Conrad Aiken, date back to 1931, though there is no acknowledgment of that fact or of several other departures of the same sort. Moreover, the book has been thrown together carelessly. There are an unnecessary number of misprints, the biographical notes are written in an absurd telegraphese, and those for eight of the poets are omitted entirely. The book still has much to offer, if hardly the interest that the editor attributes to the special section of 'Poems from the Armed Forces.' Of many of the sixteen British and twelve American poets thus included, it must simply be said that unless they were in uniform, they would not be in an anthology. . . The American poems, on the other hand—and I am confining myself to those which belong to this year—show an abundant variety of talents." F. O. Matthiessen.
— + New Repub 111:435 O 2 '44 1000w
Reviewed by Robert Hillyer
N Y Times p29 D 10 '44 200w
Reviewed by Louise Bogan
New Yorker 20:74 Ja 13 '45 500w

WILLIAMS-HELLER, MRS ANNIE (WILHELM), and McCARTHY, MRS JOSEPHINE (VERCELLI). Soybeans, from soup to nuts; with a foreword by Walter H. Eddy. 119p $1.25 Vanguard

641.5 Cookery (Soybeans) 44-3232

Recipes for various uses of soybeans as meat substitute or stretcher. Contains directions for preparing all forms of the bean: fresh, dried, sprouts, milk, curd, and flour. Index.

Booklist 40:299 My 1 '44
Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '44

"Timely recipe book. . . Most of the recipes call for dried soybeans as the basic ingredient and offer an excellent variety of flavor combinations. Conspicuously fewer in number are the recipes for the use of fresh green soybeans and soybean products—the flour and grits." M. E. Kirkpatrick
+ J Home Econ 36:596 N '44 150w
Kirkus 12:36 Ja 15 '44 100w
Reviewed by H. L. Herring
Social Forces 23:232 D '44 250w

WILLIAMSON, HAROLD FRANCIS, ed. Growth of the American economy; an introd. to the economic history of the U.S, by Robert G. Albion [and others]. 804p maps $5.35; to schools $4 Prentice-Hall

330.973 U.S.—Economic conditions 44-497

This collection of chapters by various hands is intended to comprise an introductory textbook in the economic history of the United States for college students. Though in general material is topically treated there is a partially chronological division into Colonial, pre-Civil war and post Civil-war periods. Index.

"There is much that is conventional in this new text on American economic history. . . Entirely aside from their merits, the character of the individual contributions is disturbingly diverse. Take the three chapters on the colonial era. One, a discussion of colonization as an economic process, is a compact and penetrating essay; a second, on commerce, is a deftly written sketch; but the chapter on colonial production is mere routine. Or take the three chapters on industry between the Revolution and the Civil War. In the first two, on the processing of agricultural products and the heavy industries, the various industries are carried through the whole period with clarity and vigor; in the third, on light manufactures and precision manufacturing, this procedure collides with a discussion stratified into subperiods and complicated by narratives of tariffs and industrial labor. There is inevitably a great deal of repetition." E. C. Kirkland
Am Hist R 49:771 Jl '44 850w

"This excellent collection of specialized studies by outstanding authorities should prove invaluable to the advanced student and to teachers, but it is a mistake to call it or consider it an introductory text." D. L. Kemmerer
+ Ann Am Acad 235:153 S '44 650w

"While professional in its scope, its style is simple, and the material is presented in such fashion that the reader of average intelligence will find it understandable and informative."
+ Current Hist 6:260 Mr '44 90w
Reviewed by Walter Hausdorfer
Library J 69:30 Ja 1 '44 100w

"It is a book well worth the attention of both professional economists and laymen." D. D. Lescohier
+ Survey G 33:364 Ag '44 350w

WILLIAMSON, THAMES ROSS. Far north country. (American folkways ser) 236p $3 Duell

917.98 Alaska 44-4015

"Popular narrative-type history of Alaska from prehistoric times through the battles of Attu and Kiska and including an optimistic prediction as to the importance of this territory in future world development. Author, a native of the Pacific Northwest, has spent much time in Alaska, knows the temperament of the people, the past and future value of the land. Alaska, he says, has been our problem child, not wanted at all by many, continually neglected and abused by political Washington. Gold-rush days are covered, together with such experiments as the Matanuska colony and interesting inside information about Jap fishing (and other activities) in Alaskan waters." (Library J) Index.

WILLIAMSON, T. R.—Continued

Reviewed by Alan Browne
Book Week p3 Ap 16 '44 230w

Booklist 40:316 My 15 '44

"Another volume in the American Folkways Series, which is definitely less about the people, the customs, and not quite up to the standards of its predecessors. Sympathy, and a certain romantic lyricism, add to the portrait of the northern outpost."
Kirkus 12:164 Ap 1 '44 120w

"Suitable for all libraries. Timely and readable." L. R. Etzkorn
+ Library J 69:203 Mr 1 '44 100w

Reviewed by Richard Finnie
Nation 158:660 Je 3 '44 180w

Reviewed by R. L. Weaver
New Repub 111:20 Jl 3 '44 180w

"Alaska doesn't need an exciting writer. Almost any aged sourdough, wintering in Seattle, could talk into a dictaphone with a fair chance of hitting the best-seller list. But Alaska has an exciting writer in Thames Williamson and his 'Far North Country.' The book is rich with anecdote, racy language, Bunyan-like leaps through history." Sigrid Arne
+ N Y Times p6 Ap 9 '44 650w

New Yorker 20:84 Ap 15 '44 50w

"A versatile and experienced literary craftsman has here highlighted the existing material about Alaska's history, geography, topography, and some of its people in a colorful and readable compendium. It suffers from serious errors of fact which tend to discredit the entire book. Mr. Williamson's informant on the impact of the Second World War on Alaska has shot very wide of the mark." Ernest Gruening
— + Sat R of Lit 28:39 Jl 22 '44 500w

"The American Folkways Series is a good series. But it takes more than being in a good series to make a good book. 'Far North Country,' dealing with Alaska is written with all the sprightly distinction of a drugstore novel. . . To be sure every author is entitled to disagreements with other authors. And despite the breezy treatment and the errors there is no question that Mr. Williamson loves Alaska, that he has the Alaska germ in his blood, and that he believes implicitly in the future of the territory." Ruth Gruber
— + Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 9 '44 950w

WILLKIE, WENDELL LEWIS. An American program. 58p $1; pa 25c Simon & Schuster

329.01 U.S.—Politics and government. Political parties—U.S. U.S.—Race question. U.S.—Foreign policy. Campaign literature, 1944 44-40191

"A compilation of seven articles outlining the positions Willkie believed the Republican Party should take on major issues and a suggested platform draft, written before the Chicago convention, and two articles written subsequent to the party conventions analyzing the weaknesses and evasions of the Republican and Democratic platforms on foreign policy and the issue of racial minorities." (Sat R of Lit) Contents: Federal power and states' rights; The Negro; Social security; Economy of demobilization; Labor; Tariff and international trade; Foreign policy; Proposed platform; Cowardice at Chicago; Our Negro citizens. Contains a foreword written by the author just two weeks before his death.

Booklist 41:72 N 1 '44

Reviewed by R. L. Duffus
N Y Times p1 O 29 '44 900w

New Yorker 20:99 O 21 '44 90w

"'An American Program' is not a great literary achievement. It is not too easy to read. It lacks the drama and color, the rich description, vivid characterizations, and sweeping narrative that made 'One World' one of the great books of our times. 'An American Program' is just what its author says it is: political pamphleteering. It is political pamphleteering at its best, by a man who used words forcefully to express ideas and ideals. It is the kind of political pamphleteering that laid the foundation for the Declaration of Independence, that secured the ratification of the Federal Constitution over the fears and doubts of the Tories, and that is now a cherished part of American literature." J. H. Ball
+ Sat R of Lit 27:7 O 28 '44 2250w

"This little book constitutes a campaign document of an unusual character. It is more than a campaign document. It is a tract for the non-partisan citizen of good will. The author does not support any party or candidate, but advocates a set of principles and policies, leaving it to the voters to decide through which party or candidate these principles and policies are most likely to be carried into effect. . . The author's moral and intellectual honesty is manifested in his refusal to employ any of the current slogans and catchwords of party polemics." R. B. Perry
+ Weekly Book Review p1 O 22 '44 1900w

WILLOCK, RUTH. Bring back the spring. 251p $2 Macrae Smith co.
44-996

The war marriage of an American newspaper woman in England is brought to an end by her husband's death. Back in her own country, Juliet found herself once more involved with Michael, the man who had earlier given her up for a career.

Booklist 40:253 Mr 15 '44

Kirkus 11:536 D 1 '43 90w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell
Weekly Book Review p12 Ja 30 '44 80w

WILMERDING, LUCIUS. Spending power; a history of the efforts of Congress to control expenditures. 317p $3.75 Yale univ. press [18s 6d Oxford]

336.73 Finance—U.S. U.S. Congress—Powers and duties A44-126

"Mr. Wilmerding, who is making himself an authority on the history and practices of federal appropriations and the auditing thereof, offers in this compact volume a basic, scholarly study of how Congress has spent money within its exclusive constitutional power from Washington to President Roosevelt. The practical problem attacked in this study and for the federal government's ultimate solution may be stated: 'How can Congress make real as well as nominal its right to control the expenditure of the country?'" (Commonweal) Index.

Reviewed by G. B. Galloway
Am Hist R 49:769 Jl '44 550w

"This is an important little book, and while it is not an easy book to read, this reviewer still looks forward to the next book from the pen of Mr. Wilmerding which will contain the answers to the twin questions: 1. Should Congress try to do more than provide for an independent audit which would be effective? 2. In precisely what manner can more be done if it should be done? Mr. Wilmerding gives some hint that he will have another work on this general subject." O. P. Field
+ Ann Am Acad 234:152 Jl '44 1000w

Booklist 40:263 Ap 1 '44

"This is not popular reading, but the book may well be perused by legislative and administrative officers." R. J. Purcell
+ Commonweal 40:234 Je 23 '44 650w

WILSON, CHARLES MORROW. A man's reach. 288p $2.50 Holt

Yell, Archibald—Fiction 44-5429

Novel based on the life of an early governor of Arkansas. Beginning in North Carolina when Archibald Yell was sixteen, it traces the story of his life thru its various phases: as a soldier, lawyer, settler in Arkansas, representative in Congress, governor, and finally as an officer in the Mexican War, in which he lost his life.

Book Week p6 Jl 9 '44 150w

Boston Globe p19 Jl 5 '44 170w

"Historical background novel, a good re-creation of characters and events, more masculine than most."

+ Kirkus 12:182 Ap 15 '44 150w

"Backgrounds skilfully drawn. Conservative readers will be upset by frontier language and life. Recommended for purchase, in spite of that." F. A. Boyle

+ Library J 69:554 Je 15 '44 100w

"This simple, rambling book was written about as it reads—for the fun of it." Kenneth Fearing

N Y Times p7 Je 25 '44 500w

"Mr. Wilson is comfortably at home in the period of which he writes, and he makes the story of a poor Tennessee boy, who later becomes one of Andrew Jackson's unpaid and usually unfed soldiers, both instructive and sympathetic. When, however, the hero achieves security through a political career and marriage to a niece of Jackson's wife, the narrative crumples up and becomes uninteresting and not very credible."

+ — New Yorker 20:66 Jl 1 '44 90w

"A thing which is bound to recommend itself to the serious reader in Mr. Wilson's fictionized biography, is the candid and truthful portraiture of the frontier. . . There will be complaint from some quarters perhaps that Wilson's frontier is too sordid and barren. But let him stick to his guns. He knows his time and place and the truth he writes is worthy of publication." P. I. Wellman

+ Sat R of Lit 27:11 Jl 29 '44 650w

Reviewed by Edrie Van Dore

Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 2 '44 440w

"The portrait the author draws of Arch Yell is a fully rounded one, and in presenting it he has managed also to convey vividly the feeling of the times. We get a sense of the restlessness, the crudeness and the vigor of life along the Western frontier, and we realize something of what was required of a man to make him a leader in this violent, youthful world. With the exception of St. Louis Katy, amiable but far from admirable, the women in the book are shadowy figures, hardly more than names. Arch was in love once (after a fashion) and married once, but even Maria Yell, Andrew Jackson's niece, remains as phantom-like for the reader as she seems to have been for Arch during the few years she lived to be his wife." Jennings Rice

+ — Weekly Book Review p4 Jl 9 '44 800w

WILSON, CHARLES MORROW. Middle America. 317p il $3.50 Norton

338.1 Central America. Mexico. West Indies 44-4273

"Resources, background and possible fortune of ten nations to the south of us—Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Costa Rica, Panama, Nicaragua, Dominican Republic, Haiti and Cuba. Particular emphasis is laid on their contribution in helping to replace many tropical needs since the Japanese conquests in the Pacific. Fine treatment of tropical medicine, communications by airplane and the trailblazing of migrating plant families and species for tropical crops. Resources summary for each country at the back of the book." Library J

"Within its chosen limits, this book is good journalism and deserves to be widely read; but as a good journalist, the author should have brought it up to date. A large part of it had previously been published in various magazines and he should have revised it carefully in the light of subsequent events, which have been moving fast. Among other things, he should have reconsidered the concept of 'hemispheric security,' which he would make the cornerstone of United States policy towards Middle America." A. P. Whitaker

Ann Am Acad 237:220 Ja '45 450w

Reviewed by Angel Flores

Book Week p10 My 21 '44 260w

"Better as a reference book than for cover to cover reading."

+ Commonweal 40:235 Je 23 '44 80w

Reviewed by R. G. Woolbert

Foreign Affairs 22:667 Jl '44 50w

"For the common good of the Americas, this presents a comprehensive, utilitarian picture of these countries, in terms of their rich resources, and the necessity of preventing a development of a tropical slum."

+ Kirkus 12:130 Mr 15 '44 170w

"Recommended for all libraries." J. B. Fogg

+ Library J 69:354 Ap 15 '44 100w

"This is a scholarly and interesting book. It presents an important statesman to a generation which has nearly forgotten his name and is well written in an undramatic and pleasing style." R. A. Brown

+ Nation 159:750 D 16 '44 260w

"Mr. Wilson is supremely confident that Middle America will richly repay the cost of its transformation into a continental garden spot. His sober presentation of facts, his clear reasoning and vital enthusiasm will go far toward convincing his countrymen that here is a dream which can and should come true." N. B. Baker

+ N Y Times p3 My 7 '44 1050w

"Within the scope selected by Mr. Wilson for his discussion, he has produced a volume of extreme importance, both for its vast store of intimate knowledge and for its highly intelligent point of view. No book thus far written on the resources of the region can take its place." Carleton Beals

+ Sat R of Lit 27:13 My 20 '44 900w

Reviewed by R. S. Scott

Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 8 '44 550w

"There are no politics in Mr. Wilson's book. The reader might wish that he had told us something of the ticking of the machinery in these lands of sugar and coffee and bananas. But Mr. Wilson sticks to the soil, the things which come out of the soil. After all, he cannot put everything in one book. . . Perhaps Mr. Wilson will write another good book and tell us about the politics." Hubert Herring

+ Weekly Book Review p2 Je 18 '44 600w

WILSON, DOROTHY CLARKE. The brother. 325p $2.50 Presbyterian bd.

James, brother of the Lord—Fiction 44-4715

"A portrait of James, 'the brother of our Lord.' A few lines from the Gospels coupled with the notable omission of this James from the company of disciples; statements in the Book of Acts that after the Crucifixion he became, with Peter, head of the young Jerusalem Church, and was first to die a martyr's death—from omissions and hints scant as these Miss Wilson builds up her 'son of the Commandment.' " N Y Times

"I should classify this book as devotional literature, without any sentimental and insipid platitudes. The author seems to me to have achieved one of the primary requisites of good novel writing—fidelity and accuracy in characterization. Her characters are etched with creative skill, and impressions of them remain with vividness and clarity." Preston Bradley

+ Book Week p3 My 21 '44 450w

"The blurb of this tiresome, long-winded novel is certainly misleading in asserting that the author has used 'a truly fascinating approach to the life of Christ.' On the contrary, the entire volume is a travesty of the Gospel from the first page to the last."

— Cath World 159:380 Jl '44 140w

Christian Century 61:691 Je 7 '44 20w

"The historical background is carefully worked out; the style is good; and the plot is psychologically justifiable." T. L. L.

+ Christian Science Monitor p10 Jl 22 '44 550w

"At times the book strains too hard to be modern—such things as 'Uncle Jesus' struck a false note. But on the whole, the author has succeeded in recreating the place and the times, and the Gospel characters live again."

+ — Kirkus 12:202 My 1 '44 180w

WILSON, D. C.—Continued

"Sensitive regard for difficult material and a considerable skill in dramatic narrative mark this latest novel about Jesus and his circle. Traveling a well-trodden road, but observing freshly, Dorothy Clarke Wilson has brought something arresting to her portrait of James." Frances Witherspoon

+ N Y Times p16 My 21 '44 440w

WILSON, GEORGE EVERETT. Aircraft identification for fighting airmen; with an introd. by Robert Leckie. 192p il $1.50; pa $1 McKay

623.746 Airplanes, Military. Airplanes—Identification 43-14438

"Descriptions of eighty-one airplanes, with drawings emphasizing characteristic details. Designed to help beginners, the text provides a good memory aid in its arrangement by groups according to number of engines, number of rudders, and length of the nose. British, American, German, and Japanese planes are included. Test photographs provide a check on recognition ability." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:230 Mr 1 '44

N Y New Tech Bks 28:58 O '43

Weekly Book Review p36 N 21 '43 150w

WILSON, JOHN DOVER. Fortunes of Falstaff. 143p $2.25 Macmillan [6s Cambridge]

822.33 Shakespeare, William—Characters—Falstaff 44-3518

A new study of Shakespeare's famous knight attempting not only a re-interpretation of the character of Falstaff but also a re-interpretation of the meanings of the Henry plays. The author takes issue with earlier students of Shakespeare, particularly with the nineteenth century critic, Andrew Bradley.

Booklist 40:373 Jl 1 '44

"It is ungracious to dwell on the blemishes of Dover Wilson's brilliant volume. Only when his craving for critical adventure carries him beyond the reach of Shakespeare's text is he dangerous to follow. Most of the time he sends us back to the plays with renewed curiosity and with an enriched understanding of the Fortunes of Falstaff." O. J. Campbell

+ — Nation 158:738 Je 24 '44 1150w

Reviewed by Harry Levin

New Repub 110:632 My 8 '44 1100w

Reviewed by Mark Schorer

N Y Times p4 My 7 '44 1100w

Reviewed by Edmund Wilson

New Yorker 20:82 Ap 29 '44 2350w

"This is Professor Wilson's best book on Shakespeare, and, though it does not solve every problem, it is the most satisfactory treatment of Falstaff I know." Theodore Spencer

+ Sat R of Lit 27:36 Je 17 '44 850w

"Professor J. Dover Wilson has written a most interesting and learned book on Falstaff which in the main is directed at the misconceptions of certain famous critics, including Andrew Bradley." W. J. Turner

+ Spec 171:486 N 19 '43 650w

Reviewed by H. E. Woodbridge

Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 18 '44 700w

Theatre Arts 28:440 Jl '44 170w

Times [London] Lit Sup p525 O 30 '43 450w

Reviewed by S. C. Chew

Weekly Book Review p3 My 14 '44 950w

WILSON, PHILIP WHITWELL. Bride's castle. 276p $2.50 Farrar

44-6029

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p6 Ag 6 '44 150w

Booklist 41:90 N 15 '44

"Beautifully put together and written with close attention to the necessity for injecting a bit of humor here and there."

+ Boston Globe p15 Jl 19 '44 40w

"No tension here, but atmosphere, romance, and mystery developed with cool deductive logic and skillful detail."

+ Kirkus 12:222 My 15 '44 150w

Reviewed by Isabelle Mallet

N Y Times p6 Jl 30 '44 200w

"Here's mystery and romance in the grand manner, with elegant detection, love and all else needful." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p16 Jl 23 '44 150w

WILSON, ROBERT MCNAIR (ANTHONY WYNNE, pseud). Emergency exit. 280p $2 Messner [8s 6d Hutchinson]

44-3475

Detective story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p13 Ap 23 '44 150w

Kirkus 12:9 Ja 1 '44 50w

"It is greatly to Dr. Hailey's credit that he succeeds in solving the problem, but one might wish that Anthony Wynne had told the story in fewer words." Isaac Anderson

+ — N Y Times p12 Ap 16 '44 120w

"Here's a real detective story, grownup in manner and matter. . . Anthony Wynne, who writes rings around most bafflers, here deals handsomely with the equivalent of a locked-room problem and a case of true love sorely tried." Will Cuppy

+ Weekly Book Review p18 Ap 16 '44 130w

WILTSE, CHARLES MAURICE. John C. Calhoun, nationalist, 1782-1828. 477p il map $3.75 Bobbs

B or 92 Calhoun, John Caldwell 44-8938

Biography of the South Carolina statesman who stood for states' rights and largely dominated politics in the South in the years before the Civil war. The period covered here is from Calhoun's birth in 1782 to 1828. During those years he served as a member of the State general assembly, representative to congress, secretary of war in President Monroe's cabinet, and vice president of the United States. Bibliography. Index.

"In 'John C. Calhoun, Nationalist,' Wiltse has proved that he has a real talent for the kind of biographical writing Claude Bowers made popular a few years ago. But his job is only half finished. After all, Calhoun was the high priest of secession. Now lets have an account of him in that role." P. M. Angle

Book Week p6 N 19 '44 600w

"This biography [of Calhoun] is the best yet written. It is clear, convincing, attractively written. It spreads before you the living problem of our nation's early youth." W. F. Sands

+ Commonweal 41:132 N 17 '44 550w

"An interesting and timely book."

+ Kirkus 12:359 Ag 15 '44 340w

"This is a scholarly and interesting book. It presents an important statesman to a generation which has nearly forgotten his name and is well written in an undramatic and pleasing style." R. A. Brown

+ Nation 159:750 D 16 '44 260w

"Skillfully casting his exposition into the form of biography, Charles M. Wiltse presents an impressive literary portrait, its features as clearly and pleasantly defined as they are on the revealing canvas by Rembrandt Peale." J. A. Krout

+ N Y Times p5 N 5 '44 950w

"Mr. Wiltse has faced the difficulties of his job squarely, going back to primary sources whenever possible, and the book should bring the subject some of the consideration he rightfully deserves. It is unfortunate that the author was prompted to build up a case for Calhoun as a far-seeing statesman who looked upon the doctrine of states rights as the only hope of preserving the Union. The question of states rights was rather more complicated than that and needs more critical examination than Mr. Wiltse has given it. But let's not start that argument all over again."

+ — New Yorker 20:86 N 4 '44 140w

Reviewed by L. B. Hill

Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 14 '45 750w

"Harriet Martineau . . . described Vice-President Calhoun as 'a cast-iron man, who looks as if he had never been born.' It stuck. The cast-iron man John Caldwell Calhoun has been ever since, and the cast-iron man he remains, in spite of the devoted and ingenious effort of his latest biographer to soften him into flesh and blood. Nevertheless, although it fails in its purpose, it is a good effort—so good that it brings Mr. Wiltse at a stride into the select company of important American biographers. Perhaps it falls short of being absolutely first-class, but if so it is not for lack of either technical competence or intellectual integrity on the part of the author, but rather because his respect for conventional historical methods has somewhat blunted the keenness of his perception." G. W. Johnson

+ — Weekly Book Review p5 N 5 '44 1500w

WIMBERLY, PEARL K. Child of Colombia; il. by Avery Johnson. 176p $2 Dutton

44-1215

Story of a ten-year-old peon girl who wanted an education and to live like the Americans, and what she did about it. Glossary of Spanish words.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney

Book Week p15 Mr 26 '44 200w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:102 Mr '44 80w

Kirkus 12:96 F 15 '44 80w

"There is a slight inclination to moralize, the heroine has a Dinsmore-ish tendency to quick tears and the author occasionally wavers from her other-American point of view, but on the whole the story is interesting and unusually rich in firsthand information on the flora, fauna and daily living on the edge of the jungle." Maude Adams

Library J 69:207 Mr 1 '44 90w

"Although somewhat slow and uneven at first, the story grows in feeling and rewards fourth to sixth grade readers with its natural picture of Colombian life." M. E. S.

Springf'd Republican p7e F 13 '44 170w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 F 27 '44 300w

Wis Lib Bul 40:113 Jl '44

WINGATE, MRS ISABEL (BARNUM) and others. Know your merchandise; drawings by C. Florence Valentine. 715p $2.96 Harper

339.43 Consumer education 44-6228

"Three teachers of retailing and salesmanship have written this book 'to fill the growing demand in high schools for a text suitable for courses in merchandise information.' The object has been to furnish specific information and background for the salesperson concerning the source, construction, qualities, and uses of major classes of consumer goods which make them of value to the ultimate consumer." J Home Econ

Booklist 41:10 S '44

"Know Your Merchandise should prove useful as a high school textbook and as a reference for college classes in consumer education." A. L. Edwards

+ J Home Econ 37:47 Ja '45 150w

WINN, RALPH BUBRICH, ed. Encyclopedia of child guidance. 456p $7.50 Philosophical lib.

136.7 Children—Management 43-14911

"[This work has been] written by 75 authorities on 455 topics covering problems of child rearing and training. The topics range from 'Ability,' through such entries as 'Behavior Problems,' 'Culture Conflict,' 'Eidetic Imagery,' 'Gifted Child,' 'Maturation,' 'Narcissism,' 'Personality,' and 'Thumb-sucking,' to 'Wishful Thinking.' " El School J

"Most of the items are presented simply and clearly so that they may be easily understood and applied by workers in fields other than child guidance, and the discussions are frequently followed by good bibliographies and include those of antithetical thought. On the other hand, there is an unfortunate lack of bibliography for certain items; for example, the consideration of 'castration complex' does not carry with it any bibliographical reference." M. J. E. Senn

+— Am J Pub Health 34:995 S '44 360w

Christian Science Monitor p6 Mr 11 '44 50w

"This volume should be of great value to parents and to preschool, kindergarten, and elementary-school teachers. School administrators might very well make it readily accessible to their teachers. It is not too much to suggest that all teachers in the elementary schools should have a copy on their desks. The volume is also recommended to those parents who approach the problems of child care with more than merely good intentions and reliance on the customs of the good old days." J. M. O'Rourke

+ El School J 44:492 Ap '44 800w

"A very useful volume."

+ Social Studies 35:240 My '44 90w

"Standards or outlines for the general guidance of contributors apparently were not definitely established, judging from the lack of uniformity in the treatment of similar subjects and a failure to correlate or to delimit those related. . . In general the content seems better suited, because of its presentation and the assumption of previous knowledge, to the needs of social worker and teacher than to those of parents. Larger libraries with good collections in psychology, psychiatry, child care and training have many of the sources to which this encyclopedia refers. However, small libraries lacking the special dictionaries in the fields covered might find it useful. For such libraries only Encyclopedia of Child Guidance is recommended."

— + Subscription Bks Bul 15:30 Jl '44 550w

"Workers in child guidance will want this book in their professional libraries, and teachers and students will make a much-used reference volume of it." Ethel Kawin

+ Survey 80:334 N '44 210w

WINSOR, KATHLEEN (MRS R. J. HERWIG). Forever Amber. 972p $3 Macmillan

Charles II, king of Great Britain—Fiction 44-8489

Long historical romance about England in the time of Charles II, in which the central character is a beautiful woman, Amber, of decidedly questionable morals.

"Kathleen Winsor writes without any literary distinction. Not one of her characters has more than a surface personality. Not one of them endears himself to the reader. The coincidences which stud the book would strain the credulity of a ten-year-old child. But just the same, a lot of people are going to have fun reading about Amber St. Claire. I did. I think I know, as one reader, why I did. The Watch and Ward Society might be surprised to hear that Forever Amber reminded me forcibly of a series of books I devoured when I was young—the 'Little Girl in Old New York' (or Old Baltimore, or Old Wherever) series, it was. Forever Amber is my 'Little Girl in Olde London.' " Frances Woodward

Atlantic 174:137 D '44 480w

"The novel is mainly told in dialogue—and this dialogue is somehow all wrong. The pages are liberally bespattered with 'odsfishes' and 'marry come ups,' but the body of the speech remains flatly modern and American. It's not only that it goes awry on details—with colloquialisms like 'Dad,' 'right now' and 'my heavens!'—first names for everybody—and blunders like the French 'madame' for the good, sound flavorsome English 'madam.' The matter is far more fundamental: we seek in vain the rhythms, the phrasing characteristic of the time; this simply isn't the way people must have talked in Restoration England. . . The uncritical part of the public—which is the greater part—I have no doubt will welcome Miss Winsor's heroine and her adventures with enthusiasm: the critical part scarcely needs me to caution them that 'Forever Amber' is never for them." Arthur Meeker, Jr.

WINSOR, KATHLEEN—Continued

— Book Week p1 O 15 '44 1550w

Booklist 41:78 N 1 '44

"Bad as the Restoration may have been, it can never be accused of dullness, and most of this book is incredibly dull. Although the historical details are valid, they do not as a whole suggest the seventeenth century. . . Both characters and incidents seem like the stages of a prolonged sensual fantasy. In spite of this the author can write; she uses suspense well, and her descriptions of the plague, of Newgate prison, and of an occasional household are vivid and authentic."

— + Cath World 160:379 Ja '45 200w

"The book possesses no slightest virtue of style, it is full of the most astounding fakery . . . and it simply has no plot. . . Artistically, as I have hinted rather broadly, 'Forever Amber' is a joke. And yet it possesses two characteristics which probably account for its success. In some strange and mysterious way it has action. It carries you along as you read it. . . The other characteristic is a certain ability to convey human affection." H. L. Binsse

— + Commonweal 41:282 D 29 '44 380w

"This has no pretenses of being literature—it is a fast-paced story, which—despite its undue length—does not drag. . . For the market of 'The Sun Is My Undoing'."

Kirkus 12:346 Ag 15 '44 340w

"Engrossing first novel by a natural-born storyteller whose excellent manipulation of the rich background of Restoration England lends credence to the adventures of a sixteen-year-old heroine, Amber St. Clare. . . Long and bawdy tale whose language and situations may offend readers ignorant of England under the Stuarts. This reader enthusiastic." F. A. Boyle

+ — Library J 69:884 O 15 '44 60w

"Miss Winsor is a born storyteller, for all her turgid amateur writing, her incredible sentiment and her hot-house appraisal of history. She knows how to keep that story moving—even when, as one often suspects, she hasn't the slightest idea where it is taking her, or why." William Du Bois

+ — N Y Times p7 O 15 '44 700w

New Yorker 20:97 O 21 '44 220w

"This is the bawdiest novel I have read in years. Take a dash of 'Moll Flanders,' add a cupful of Fielding and Smollett, flavor with Pepys, stir in plenty of Congreve, strengthen the mixture with liberal quantities of Restoration memoirs—and there you have Miss Winsor's salty dish. Its 300,000 or more words teem with action, color, zest, and gusto. It is sloppily written, diffuse. Its dialogue is often stilted and amateurish; again, in many passages, the conversation of its tremendous gallery of characters is stridently alive, vibrant with the color of Charles II's reign—this is particularly true of the chapters devoted to the sexual diversions of his Court. The book is incredibly vulgar, no fare for squeamish souls. But it has pace and action." A. D. H. Smith

— + Sat R of Lit 27:44 O 14 '44 700w

"While the background and the characters of 'Forever Amber' are undoubtedly the result of earnest historical research, the behavior of its heroine, her innumerable lovers, and the men and women of the court of Charles II are so outrageous to contemplate that they have as sterile an air of unreality as the most waxen of the heroes and heroines of twenty years ago. The pendulum has swung with a vengeance, but we have not gone forward an inch." H. S.

Sat R of Lit 27:16 N 4 '44 270w

"'Forever Amber' is not just a cloak and sword novel. Its attributes are far more substantial and inclusive. Miss Winsor has written a fluid and robust tale of the courts and prisons, the extravagances and the squalors of Restoration England. The smell of London is there, its fopperies and its licentiousness. History moves in full panoply, but only as a part of the story of Amber St Clair, as conniving and pretty a vixen as ever flaunted her sex in the pages of a novel. . . 'Forever Amber' will be compared to 'Gone With the Wind,' chiefly because the principals are similar, the fascinating rake and the devastating trollop. Let the resemblance end there, for Miss Winsor's novel has a vital coherence lacking in the other; and it lacks tearful sentimentalities. Her characters are bawdy, and she writes with full-bodied though feminine zest for her subject and her characters." L. S. Munn

+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 15 '44 900w

"On the whole, Miss Winsor has accomplished quite a feat, balancing Restoration history with a ledger of love." Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p2 O 15 '44 800w

"Forever Amber is a crude and superficial glorification of a courtesan and the dissolute life of Restoration England." Orville Prescott

— Yale R n s 34:384 winter '45 40w

WINTERS, YVOR. Giant weapon. [40p] $1; pa 50c New directions

811 44-3972

"Yvor Winters has held to unpopular modes of expression in poetry and criticism for many years. He has clung to what often seemed crotchets, in a time particularly unfriendly, really, to displays of determined individuality. . . In 1940 Winters printed, on his own press, all of his work he had decided he wished to keep, some hundred poems in all. The new volume is much smaller; it contains thirty-three poems, written in the past fifteen years. 'It clearly shows Winters to be one of the really significant poets of conservative tendency now writing in America,' his publisher says." New Yorker

"Mr. Winters' work is precise, scrupulous and taut; no syllable is wasted; the intellectual element does not exclude emotion, though it controls it. The metrics are formal, the rhymes strict; seldom does a word seem rhyme-fetched, rather than intended. The poet's ear is good. If his poems seem cold—or, anyway, cool—it is worth remembering that it can be with poems as with women: some like them so, at least sometimes." Rolfe Humphries

+ — N Y Times p24 Ap 23 '44 100w

"How stern and dry, how sharp and narrow these poems look on the page! Some readers, to whom the looseness of modern verse has become a norm, will be ready and waiting to pin the word 'neo-classic' to Winters' style and attitude. But when we examine this close-grained, coolly detached writing, we come upon many delicate yet firm effects which elude this small classification. . . This poetry's light, under-cutting observation, its tenderness, which keeps it on the side of life and joy even when it seems most grave, its total avoidance of cliché, its lack of sentimentality, its deep interest in themes of truth and justice—these elements separate it completely from dead formality and generalized emptiness." Louise Bogan

+ New Yorker 20:57 Jl 22 '44 800w

"Winters' manner is classic, his style and approach admittedly archaic, his rhythms often pleasing in their musical fluidity, and his ear well tuned to the right meter, the pithy conceit. He is not so much an obscure poet as he seems a dead poet—a poet writing out of the passion of things, happenings, myths and other poets long dead. . . The beauty crystallized in many of Winters' lines and achieved by a hard-sustained objectivity toward the abrasive and stubbornly enduring elements of the physical world is actually a development from the more primitive uses of Imagism earlier in the century." Edwin Honig

Poetry 65:43 O '44 1100w

WIRTH, FREMONT PHILIP, ed. See Forman, S. E. Our republic

WISE, HERBERT ALVIN, and FRASER, PHYLLIS MAURINE, eds. Great tales of terror and the supernatural. 1080p $2.95 Random house

Short stories—Collections 44-4879

Contents: La Grande Bretêche, by Honoré de Balzac; The black cat, by E. A. Poe; The facts in the case of M. Valdemar, by E. A. Poe; A terribly strange bed, by Wilkie Collins; The boarded window, by Ambrose Bierce; The three strangers, by Thomas Hardy; The interruption, by W. W. Jacobs; Pollock and the porroh man, by H. G. Wells; The sea raiders, by H. G. Wells; Sredni Vashtar, by H. H. Munro; Moonlight sonata, by Alexander Woollcott; Silent snow, secret snow, by Conrad Aiken; Suspicion, by D. L. Sayers; The most dangerous game, by Richard Connell; Leiningen versus the ants, by Carl Stephenson; The gentleman from America, by Michael Arlen; A rose for Emily, by William Faulkner; The killers, by Ernest Hemingway; Back for Christmas, by John Collier; Taboo, by Geoffrey Household; The haunters and the haunted or The house and the brain, by Edward Bulwer-Lytton; Rappaccini's daughter, by Nathaniel Hawthorne; The trial for murder, by Charles Collins and Charles Dickens; Green tea, by J. S. Le Fanu; What was it? by Fitz-James O'Brien; Sir Edmund Orme, by Henry James; The horla, by Guy de Maupassant; Was it a dream? by Guy de Maupassant; The screaming skull, by F. M. Crawford; The furnished room, by O. Henry; Casting the runes, by M. R. James; Oh, whistle, and I'll come to you, my lad, by M. R. James; Afterward, by Edith Wharton; The monkey's paw, by W. W. Jacobs; The great god Pan, by Arthur Machen; How love came to Professor Guildea, by Robert Hichens; The return of Imray, by Rudyard Kipling; "They", by Rudyard Kipling; Lukundoo, by E. L. White; Caterpillars, by E. F. Benson; Mrs Amworth, by E. F. Benson; Ancient sorceries, by Algernon Blackwood; Confession, by Algernon Blackwood; The open window, by H. H. Munro; The beckoning fair one, by Oliver Onions; Out of the deep, by Walter de la Mare; Adam and Eve and pinch me, by A. E. Coppard; The celestial omnibus, by E. M. Forster; The ghost ship, by Richard Middleton; The sailor-boy's tale, by Isak Dinesen; The rats in the walls, by H. P. Lovecraft; The Dunwich horror, by H. P. Lovecraft.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p7 My 28 '44 230w

Booklist 40:378 Jl 1 '44

"This 1,100-page anthology is the definitive work to date in this field."
+ New Repub 110:770 Je 5 '44 60w

"Most of the fifty-two entries in this, the newest anthology of ghoulies, ghosties and more earthy horrors, are great stories. Their selection, organization, the notes about the authors, are all excellent. This reader finds it far and away the best of similar anthologies." Norman Matson
+ N Y Times p7 My 28 '44 950w

Reviewed by Edmund Wilson
New Yorker 20:72 My 27 '44 3200w

"The editors of this anthology introduce it by telling us they have sought to produce a definitive volume, and it may as well be admitted at once that they have not come far short of this mark. . . With [a few] exceptions—and possibly not all readers will agree that they are exceptions—there is not a story in the collection that does not have the breath of life, achieve the full suspension of disbelief that is so particularly important in the type of fiction where nobody is going to believe a word of it ten minutes after the show is over." Fletcher Pratt
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:17 Je 10 '44 650w

"A necessity for goose-flesh fanciers." Will Cuppy
+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 21 '44 100w

WISE, LOUIS ELSBERG, ed. Wood chemistry; contributing authors: Harry P. Brown [and others]. (Am. chemical soc. Monograph ser) 900p il $11.50 Reinhold

660 Wood—Chemistry. Cellulose 44-6916

"25 chapters written by 14 authorities covering both theoretical and practical aspects of wood and cellulose chemistry. The main subjects covered are: 'Growth, Anatomy, and Physical Properties of Wood,' 'Components and Chemistry of the Cell Wall,' 'The Extraneous Substances,' 'Surface Properties of Cellulosic Materials,' 'The Chemical Analysis of Wood' and 'Wood as an Industrial Raw Material.'" Library J

"This book will be of importance to organic chemists generally, and to research workers in the pulp, paper, rayon, and other wood-chemical industries. It will undoubtedly be our standard reference text in the field for many years, and is an excellent expansion of the original work." R. S. Aries
+ Chem & Eng N 22:1872 O 25 '44 500w

"Special credit goes to Editor Wise who unified the various contributions so that in spite of the multiple authorship, the book is not an incoherent collection of papers but a uniform and highly useful treatise." F. C. Nachod
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:204 O '44 150w

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Je '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:654 Ag '44 70w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:33 Ap '44

Reviewed by James Stokley
Weekly Book Review p6 Ja 14 '45 50w

WISE, MAURICE KULBERT. Requisition in France and Italy; the treatment of national private property and services. 207p $2.75 Columbia univ. press [14s Oxford]

355.21 Requisitions, Military A44-1276

This book "limits itself to an analysis and discussion of the treatment of national private property and services by French and Italian requisitory legislation and practice of the past seventy-five years. The author, under a separate heading each for France and Italy, treats thus the power of requisition, the occasion for its exercise, its objects, the authorities empowered to requisition, the procedure followed by them, the problem of indemnity, and the jurisdictions entitled to award or to review compensations granted for the national property or services used or seized by the state. A short conclusion compares the principal points of similarity or divergence and the causes underlying French and Italian requisitory law. Two tables of relevant French and Italian legislation, a short list of selected readings, and an index complete the volume." (Am Pol Sci R)

"The study is carefully made, fully documented, well organized, and well written. Historians of twentieth century Europe will use it with confidence." W. H. Cooke
+ Am Hist R 50:123 O '44 500w

Reviewed by George Manner
Am Pol Sci R 38:811 Ag '44 380w

Current Hist 6:438 My '44 60w

"This is an interesting book on a timely subject." Joseph Du Vivier
+ Yale Law J 53:596 Je '44 1350w

WISE, THOMAS JAMES. Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn; a further inquiry into the guilt of certain nineteenth-century forgers; ed. by Fannie E. Ratchford. 591p il $7.50 Knopf

094.4 Literary forgeries and mystifications. Bibliography—First editions 44-47958

In 1934 a book called Enquiry into the Nature of Certain Nineteenth Century Pamphlets, by John Carter and Graham Pollard (Book Review Digest, 1934) startled the bibliographic minded with its accusation that some fifty reputed nineteenth century pamphlets were forgeries. The evidence pointed to Thomas J. Wise, a world famous English book collector, as the chief forger. The present volume contains the letters from Mr. Wise, who died in 1937, to an American client, John Henry Wrenn, who had in his library of "firsts" a complete file of the Wise so-called forgeries. These letters have been edited and introduced by the curator of the Wrenn collection, which now belongs to the University of Texas. The editor not only agrees that Carter and Pollard were correct in their assumption of Wise's guilt, but also implicates other well-known English men of letters. Index.

WISE, T. J.—Continued

"Miss Ratchford's book will be of interest not only to amateur and professional book collectors, but to anyone who enjoys unraveling the skeins of a literary mystery; it possesses some of the fascination of a skillfully contrived detective story." Arthur Meeker
+ Book Week p4 D 24 '44 650w
Christian Science Monitor p14 Ja 13 '45 650w

"Although the bulk of the book is devoted to the business communications which Wise sent to a notable client and victim, the chief interest of the volume lies in Miss Ratchford's long introduction, which undertakes to extend the Carter and Pollard accusation to include personages no less eminent than H. Buxton-Forman and Sir Edmund Gosse. These friends of Wise, Miss Ratchford undertakes to prove, not only accepted and advertised the bogus 'editions' but actually assisted Wise in their manufacture. The case against Buxton-Forman is substantial, the case against Gosse less so, but I am not so much concerned to weigh the evidence as to suggest that Miss Ratchford's book constitutes a corroboration of Henry James's imagination. It is, in effect, a Henry James novel in the raw." Lionel Trilling
Nation 160:47 Ja 13 '45 1250w

"The way Wise handled his client, his acid comments on 'dishonest and ignorant' booksellers, his recounting of carefully planned triumphs in the auction rooms and through private purchase, the resentment of English collectors at growing American competition—these are rich reading and alone are worth the price of admission. . . Miss Ratchford makes a notable contribution to our knowledge of the man and his methods, coupled with a welcome addition to our picture of book-collecting history, but she has not substantiated, with sufficient documentary evidence of unquestioned reliability, her charges raising the forgeries from individual crimes (Wise-Forman) to a 'national scandal'—Wise-Forman-Gosse-Clay. It is to be hoped that her book will have, as it deserves to have, extremely wide circulation and that the readers, the jury, will search their libraries and (if they are old enough) their memories for any evidence which will help clarify the extent of the activities of Thomas James Wise, forger extraordinary." D. A. Randall
+ — N Y Times p3 D 17 '44 1900w
Reviewed by Edmund Wilson
New Yorker 20:63 D 23 '44 2050w

WISH, HARVEY. George Fitzhugh; propagandist of the old South. (Southern biography ser) 360p $3 La. state univ. press
B or 92 Fitzhugh, George. Slavery 44-1762

Biography of a Virginia lawyer, famous in pre-Civil war days for his crusade for the cause of slavery, once having been characterized as the "Don Quixote of slavedom." "By 1858 he had converted majority opinion in the south to his extreme views. These views were that the political concept of freedom is an illusion—no man is really free; that attempts to conduct so-called free societies have only succeeded in putting the exploited laborers at the mercy of the ruthlessness of laissez faire; that this shows that a humanitarian society must rest on some form of slavery; and that the more openly acknowledged the slavery, the more the responsibility borne by the master and therefore the more humanitarian the resulting social order." (Christian Century) Essay on authorities. Index.

"Harvey Wish has written a splendid biography. It is thorough and sound, well balanced, and fair in treatment. He has seen the deeper meanings in Fitzhugh's work, and he has linked his thinking with that of other writers of the day. His book should serve to give Fitzhugh the place he has long deserved in the sectional conflict, and it should correct some of the mistaken ideas now current in so much American history-writing." A. O. Craven
+ Am J Soc 50:73 Jl '44 800w

"Professor Wish has turned out a scholarly work that is well documented. . . Professor Wish's George Fitzhugh should be of considerable value to political scientists." C. B. Gosnell
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:409 Ap '44 350w

"Mr. Wish has done a very careful job in running down the available material about Fitzhugh's life and writings. He has described the first and summarized the second pleasantly and accurately. He perhaps exaggerates somewhat the impact of his subject's thinking upon the South in the fifties, but he does not write of Fitzhugh and his works uncritically." B. F. Wright
+ — Ann Am Acad 232:206 Mr '44 500w
Booklist 40:234 Mr 1 '44

"Mr. Wish deals with Fitzhugh in the friendliest fashion—in this he is assisted by the genial, modest character of his subject—but he does not fail to mark the close affinity between Fitzhugh's sources and ideas and those which have produced contemporary fascism. Not even when a principal source of this incipient fascism is named Thomas Carlyle!"
+ Christian Century 60:1406 D 1 '43 550w
Reviewed by A. R. Newsome
Pol Sci Q 59:157 Mr '44 600w
Reviewed by L. L. Bernard
Social Forces 22:461 My '44 1150w

"This account makes a real contribution to an understanding of the position taken by many Southerners on the problem of slavery and democracy."
+ Social Studies 35:95 F '44 60w
Reviewed by N. G. Good
Social Studies 35:284 O '44 450w

"'George Fitzhugh' is a thorough objective study, based on exhaustive research. It presents for the first time a full-length portrait of the South's most influential slave propagandist." B. I. Wiley
+ Weekly Book Review p10 My 7 '44 1050w

WOLFBEIN, SEYMOUR LOUIS. Decline of a cotton textile city; a study of New Bedford. 179p $2.50 Columbia univ. press
338.47677 Textile industry. New Bedford, Massachusetts A44-1229

"This is the story of the decline of New England's textile industry, with New Bedford, Massachusetts, as the case for analysis. It is a painstaking analysis, with the emphasis upon economic factors. . . Mr. Wolfbein traces New Bedford's transition from whaling to textiles, the resulting boom in that industry lasting into the early twenties, and, finally, the depression which two-thirds of the city's mills failed to survive. He also discusses efforts at readjustment which have as yet failed to provide New Bedford with a secure peacetime economic base." (Am J Soc) Index.

"For anyone who wants to know what has happened to New England and why, the book is indispensable. . . But Mr. Wolfbein seems rather ill at ease when he deals with noneconomic factors. The discussion of family control of the mills is covered in seven pages, just part of a chapter entitled 'Other Factors in New Bedford's Decline.' Even there the author is reluctant to get off the economic track." W. F. Whyte
+ — Am J Soc 50:150 S '44 1050w

"The analysis of the causes that brought New Bedford low includes nothing new to the student of New England industrial changes, but Wolfbein's treatment is judicious and backs up by specific evidence the generally accepted weighting of factors. It is of unquestioned value to have in one volume a series of carefully evaluated judgments of the relative importance of the advantages of the South in its cheap and docile labor and newer equipment and the handicaps of a city like New Bedford in regard to family management of its mills or high taxation. Although New Bedford as a one-industry city is in many ways unique, the conclusions of this study hold for many other New England communities." C. M. Green

+ — J Pol Econ 52:370 D '44 1000w

"Largely because of the absence of any satisfactory general work on the recent history of the industry, the author has devoted two of his six chapters to a treatment of this background. The cotton industry is much too large and complicated, and the prelude to the present plight of New Bedford covers too long a period, to render the expenditure on these topics of a mere fifty pages at all economical, the more so when the writer does not employ discrimination. The sources consulted for these two chapters have been of the most superficial variety, and no positive collation is achieved. . . But the original error consists in the author's undertaking to inflate into a book material appropriate for an article." Seth Hammond

— New Eng Q 17:463 S '44 550w

WOLFE, DON MARION, ed. Leveller manifestoes of the Puritan revolution. 440p il $5 Nelson

342.42 Levellers. Great Britain—Constitutional history—Sources 44-5402

"The Levellers existed three centuries ago, a faction of English soldiers and citizens who deplored the disunity of Cromwell's army and who were keenly aware of the pressing necessity for an organization of the Puritan revolution and were not content to waste that brief rule of the people. . . Against the stern opposition of Cromwell and his officers the Levellers proposed a new constitution for England, to be called 'An Agreement of the People.' . . The Levellers went to prison, but they turned their cells into publishing houses and issued endless pamphlets against the Cromwellian regime. . . In his introduction to this timely collection of the early literature for freedom, Charles Beard writes: 'Nearly all the fundamentals of government and liberty had been set forth or foreshadowed in the declarations of the English Levellers.' " Book Week

" 'Leveller Manifestoes of the Puritan Revolution' is both a contribution to scholarship and a reminder to all scholars and nonscholars of the origin of that for which we now fight." Ralph Peterson

+ Book Week p6 Je 11 '44 500w

Reviewed by H. N. Brailsford

New Statesman & Nation 28:140 Ag 26 '44 650w

WOLFF, JACK L. Production conference. 179p $2.25 Houghton

658.3 Foremen. Employment management. Industrial relations 44-7300

"In his foreword and opening chapter, Mr. Wolff outlines the need for and benefits to be derived from developing a supervisory staff that is able to recognize and solve difficulties which interfere with productive efforts. In the second chapter he defines supervision and outlines the part which should be played by line supervision and the training department in developing proper understanding and attitudes. In Chapters 3 to 6, he cites examples of production conference procedure, and in the final chapter deals with the organization for and administration of a conference program. This concluding chapter outlines briefly but clearly, under the heading 'Pitfalls to Avoid,' some of the techniques which must be employed by the leader if a conference is to be productive." (Management R) No index.

Library J 69:1004 N 15 '44 30w

"Mr. Wolff's treatment of this subject can be studied profitably by training directors and by production executives who desire to avoid loss of time in formal conference programs and in departmental supervisory meetings." A. B. Gates

+ Management R 33:465 D '44 700w

WOLFF, MARY EVALINE, in religion SISTER MARY MADELEVA. Addressed to youth. 60p $1 St Anthony guild

377.82 Roman Catholic church—Education 44-4657

"These brief essays, addressed to young women in St. Mary's College by their president, commemorate the College's hundredth anniversary. They set forth the aims and advantages of a Catholic education, and the part that Catholic women are called upon to play in the modern world." Cath World

Cath World 159:573 S '44 90w

Reviewed by D. H. Moseley

Commonweal 40:210 Je 16 '44 140w

WOLLE, FRANCIS. Fitz-James O'Brien; a literary Bohemian of the eighteen fifties. 309p $2 Univ. of Colorado

B or 92 O'Brien, Fitz-James

"He was a mad and brilliant Irishman, one of America's pioneer Bohemians, with aristocratic airs and a flair for high living. A bon vivant first and foremost, and after that a poet, short story writer, satirist, playwright, critic, columnist and editor, Fitz-James O'Brien lived by his pen and became one of the most popular writers of his time. . . In a biography written with authority, though without third-dimensional analytical detail, Francis Wolle has gathered a great deal of new factual material about a figure whose place in the development of American literature was recognized not long ago by Brander Matthews in his study of the short story." N Y Times

"The book is well written, pleasant reading for all its scholarship, and gives a good picture of the whole period in which O'Brien lived and worked." J. T. Frederick

+ Book Week p2 D 10 '44 110w

Reviewed by Nona Balakian

N Y Times p21 O 8 '44 550w

WOLO, pseud. Sir Archibald [il. by the author]. 37p $2 Morrow

44-9403

A picture-story book all about a brave little monkey called Sir Archibald who went in search of the king's lost crown, and freed all the animals of fear thereby. For the very young.

" 'Sir Archibald' will live up to the highest hopes of all young Wolo fans. Like his previous books, this one carries an unforgettable lesson without the slightest moralizing." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p20 N 26 '44 200w

Commonweal 41:256 D 22 '44 10w

Kirkus 12:449 O 1 '44 90w

"There is fun in it and an underlying moral about courage and overcoming fear. Children love the Wolo pictures which are full of action. A one-fold picture book with paper-board covers, it requires prebinding for satisfactory library usage. Recommended." A. M. Anderson

+ Library J 69:1105 D 15 '44 60w

WOOD, CLEMENT. Death in Ankara. 256p $2 Arcadia

44-1212

A tale of international intrigue and present day espionage.

"If you shuck the corn of this one, you'll find the pulpy plot within fairly exciting." Elizabeth Bullock

Book Week p11 F 27 '44 70w

"This is probably the worst spy story of all time." Isaac Anderson

— N Y Times p8 Mr 5 '44 80w

Sat R of Lit 27:37 F 5 '44 40w

WOOD, CLEMENT. Death on the pampas. 255p $2 Arcadia
44-9754

Combination mystery and spy story.

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p20 O 15 '44 100w

"Optional volume." Will Cuppy
— Weekly Book Review p21 O 22 '44 80w

WOOD, FREDERICK LLOYD WHITFIELD. Understanding New Zealand. 267p il $3.75 Coward-McCann

919.31 New Zealand 44-40097

"Professor Wood's New Zealand is a land where men—not poor men, not rich men—have been working at democracy for over a century in an environment of singular natural beauty which they have found peculiarly adapted to dairying and wool production. The cow, the sheep and the pig are the fundamental bases of New Zealand's economy. . . Having discussed cows, sheep and economic security, Professor Wood writes soundly and cleverly of education, painting, writing, fine printing, sport, politics (domestic and foreign), the subtleties of attitudes both national and provincial—of all manner of things with which an alert people is inevitably concerned." N Y Times

Booklist 40:316 My 15 '44

Foreign Affairs 23:15 O '44 20w

"Interesting phrase making, critical perspective and sound knowledge make this absorbing reading."
+ Kirkus 12:59 F 1 '44 190w

"Dull in spots but valuable for up-to-date material on New Zealand. Recommended." E. H. Crowell
+ — Library J 69:354 Ap 15 '44 30w

"The best general book on the most remote and isolated of the British dominions since J. B. Condliffe's 'New Zealand in the Making' (1930). This is saying a great deal, for New Zealand has been well documented of recent years." H. Belshaw
+ Nation 159:806 D 30 '44 420w

"This is a top-notch book which should be read by all who have lately heard the words 'New Zealand' and wondered what it is like there." C. H. Grattan
+ N Y Times p3 Ap 30 '44 750w

Reviewed by J. B. Condliffe
Pacific Affairs 17:502 D '44 550w

"He might have been a bit franker about some of the natural intellectual limitations of his land. But taken as a whole this is a satisfying and enlightening volume about one of the most delightful, interesting, and (of recent years) progressive countries on the planet." Allan Nevins
+ Sat R of Lit 27:40 O 14 '44 1150w

Weekly Book Review p10 Je 25 '44 330w

WOOD, LAURA NEWBOLD (MRS CROSBY ROPER). Raymond L. Ditmars; his exciting career with reptiles, animals and insects. 272p il $2.50 Messner

B or 92 Ditmars, Raymond Lee—Juvenile literature 44-8349

Life story of Raymond Ditmars, one of the world's leading herpetologists, who died in 1942. "Always interested in producing an antivenomous serum, he experimented constantly; through his efforts progress was made in the treatment of snake bites, and eventually a laboratory for the manufacture of anti-venins in this country was established. He made many expeditions to the West Indies, Panama and South America in search of rare snakes and vampire bats." (N Y Times) Bibliography. Index.

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p8 N 12 '44 300w

Booklist 41:80 N 1 '44

"A distinguished biography. . . Miss Wood writes with literary grace and a joyous humor."
+ Cath World 160:281 D '44 50w

"A readable, amusing, stimulating book." F. C. Darling
+ Christian Science Monitor p4 N 16 '44 250w

"Miss Wood tells in amusing vein of his laughable, often alarming, experiences in building the collection housed in the Ditmars' home, and of his vacation trips to the tropics to secure rare specimens. Her own sympathy with the scientific spirit gives the biography an unusually friendly quality."
+ Horn Bk 20:479 N '44 80w

"The book records the slow but consistent development of a brilliant career—each engrossing incident—each exciting step—and makes exciting reading."
+ Kirkus 12:436 S 15 '44 170w

"Will appeal strongly to boys who know how difficult it is to win family approval in collecting snakes, toads, etc. Junior and senior high school level. . . Awarded Julia Ellsworth Ford prize for 1944." E. T. Dobbins
+ Library J 69:888 O 15 '44 60w

"A very human story of a great naturalist whose enthusiasm is contagious. Those who enjoy reptile houses in zoos, and even those who do not, will be entertained by Raymond Ditmars' early struggles to become a collector." A. T. Eaton
+ N Y Times p12 O 15 '44 200w

"Ditmars's life had never a dull moment, nor has this book, which is crammed full of good anecdotes, both funny and hair-raising."
+ New Yorker 20:92 D 16 '44 90w

"The whole story reads like a novel of adventure. There is humor in it and charm and great vitality. It is, too, a satisfactory reference book with a bibliography and a full index. Boys and girls will read it with envy and admiration . . . and it will do them good." M. G. D.
+ Sat R of Lit 27:45 N 11 '44 320w

Reviewed by Patricia Keane
Springf'd Republican p4d N 12 '44 70w

"This is his first biography; it is well that so youthful a spirit should be thus presented first to youth, but the book is solid enough to stand as source material. It well earned this year's Ford Foundation award."
+ Weekly Book Review p10 N 12 '44 450w

Wis Lib Bul 40:163 D '44

WOOD, LELAND FOSTER, and MULLEN, JOHN W., eds. What the American family faces; contributors: E. W. Burgess [and others]. (Am. family magazine bk. foundation, v 1) 254p $3.50 Eugene Hugh pubs, inc, 141 W. Jackson blvd, Chicago

392 Marriage. Family 43-13222

This volume contains papers and discussions of a symposium on marriage and family problems held at the University of Chicago in 1942 under the auspices of a group of Protestant clergymen and church agencies. Material is arranged under four main heads: The American family in the present crisis; The growth of education for family life; Counseling on marriage and family relationships; The church and the future of the family

Reviewed by Jessie Bernard
Am J Soc 50:163 S '44 1200w

"A symposium of this type is useful principally as a record of what went on at the conference, and not as an important contribution to our knowledge of the family. Groves thinks that the book can become a very valuable reference book for students (p.xii); the reviewer does not agree, and Groves himself gives the reasons: the student-reader (and perhaps some preachers and amateur counselors, too) will find therein too many bits of opinions dogmatically stated which might appear to be the magic formulas that easily and painlessly solve adjustment problems." J. E. Hulett, Jr.
Am Soc R 9:333 Je '44 700w

Booklist 40:206 F 15 '44

"The range of topics covered is impressive—and the handling of them is, in almost every instance, gratifyingly practical and down-to-earth. . . I myself finished my reading of the book with a feeling that I had equipped myself with a whole new set of psychological tools for our unfinished task of society-building." B. W. Overstreet

+ Sat R of Lit 26:12 D 18 '43 500w

WOODBURY, DAVID OAKES. Beloved scientist. (Whittlesey house publication) 358p il $3.50 McGraw

B or 92 Thomson, Elihu 44-868

"A biography of Elihu Thomson, an inventor, teacher, and research scientist, who was one of the founders of the electrical industry." (New Yorker) Bibliography. Index.

Booklist 40:234 Mr 1 '44

"This is a study of quiet, fruitful labors of a kind, generous, simple man, which will appeal almost wholly to those in the scientific field."

+ Kirkus 11:564 D 15 '43 170w

Library J 69:119 F 1 '44 40w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:4 Ja '44

"Inevitably Mr. Woodbury's book is in part a history of the electrical industry, but it never wanders too far from the remarkable man who inspired it. It testifies repeatedly to the extraordinary respect and affection with which the 'professor,' as Mr. Thomson was commonly called, was held throughout the electrical world. It is unfortunate that the author himself was so much under the spell of his subject that the biography, interesting as it is, reads more like a eulogy than a fully rounded picture of a real human being." F. S. Adams

+ — N Y Times p20 Ap 9 '44 800w

"Very earnest, very well intentioned, very dull."

New Yorker 19:87 F 12 '44 40w

"Though we have in Woodbury's book an authoritative biography in the nature of eulogy and a good portrait of a scientist, inventor, and engineer, the portrait is too carefully retouched." Waldemar Kaempffert

+ Sat R of Lit 27:32 F 26 '44 380w

"Every so often the perfect synthesis between author and subject occurs. Elihu Thomson's life is a mine of scientific achievement and rich with human kindness and generosity. David Woodbury's pen and mind are quick with appreciation and balance. Here then, in this biography, the great man lives again, brought into being by one who has loved his task and has devised a book in which the great inventor, engineer and philosopher marches on from year to year and from honor to honor." A. H. Compton & others

+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:1 F '44 1600w

Reviewed by H. M. Davis

Springf'd Republican p7e F 27 '44 440w

"David Woodbury has taken a peaceful life of impersonal ideas and revealed the exciting drama in such ideas, from the first conception through the thrilling moment when another aspect of nature is laid bare, to the vastly complex and human struggle that industrial success requires. His training as playwright was important to this project." Gerald Wendt

+ Weekly Book Review p4 F 6 '44 800w

WOODHOUSE, MRS CHASE (GOING). Big store; opportunities in department store work. 196p $1.50 Funk

658.871 Department stores. Occupations 43-15160

Comprehensive information on department store organization, summarized for young people who are thinking of entering department store work. Contains surveys of types of work, education required, personality requirements, training and salaries. There is a list of schools giving courses of special training in this line. Short bibliography. No index.

Booklist 40:160 Ja 1 '44

Wis Lib Bul 40:14 Ja '44

WOODS, RALPH LOUIS, ed. Behold the Man; an anthology of Jesus Christ. 565p $3 Macmillan

232.082 Jesus Christ 44-47470

"For many centuries men and women throughout the world have been writing of Jesus. From this vast treasury Mr. Woods has selected significant passages and grouped the quotations under subject headings, showing Christ as Man, God, Teacher, Messiah, Redeemer, Prophet and Leader. About 400 people are represented and the book is entirely nonsectarian." Boston Globe

Booklist 41:145 Ja 15 '45

Boston Globe p31 N 29 '44 70w

"The classification of the extracts cannot give more than an appearance of some slight structure in the arrangement. But any attempt to force the materials into a more formal system would have done violence to the authors and diminished the value of the book. It is, as its compiler calls it, an anthology, and one rich in materials which it is well to have at hand for reference."

+ Christian Century 62:50 Ja 10 '45 330w

Reviewed by M. S. Enslin

Crozer Q 22:94 Ja '45 300w

"This is a valuable reference book for ministers and priests and all others who have occasion to speak or write about Jesus and his significance."

+ Kirkus 12:503 N 1 '44 130w

"Comprehensive in its sweep of the Christian era, this book is also peculiarly rich in its variety of selection. Mankind's infinite variety of reactions to and beliefs about Jesus Christ are all represented, from the most traditional catholic interpretation, to that of the humanist who sees Christ as a great spiritual teacher, but nothing more." D. J. Campbell

+ Springf'd Republican p4d D 24 '44 380w

WOODWARD, ELIZABETH STOCKTON. Strictly private. 162p $2 Crowell

170 Conduct of life. Girls. Personality 44-8131

Suggestions on etiquet, dress, and personalities, for young girls, written by the sub-deb editor of the Ladies Home Journal.

Booklist 41:84 N 15 '44

Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 50w

Commonweal 41:256 D 22 '44 30w

"If swallowed and digested by the early teens —and up—parents would have little cause to worry over awkward adolescents. . . In these days of loose discussion of delinquency, here is a useful book."

+ Kirkus 12:375 Ag 15 '44 110w

"Behavior problems of the modern girl at home, school and party get sound discussion and suggestions, but in a flippant, slangy manner. This manner, which attempts to disarm the high school girl, may seem artificial to her. The slang will quickly become dated." E. W. Turpin

Library J 69:940 N 1 '44 40w

School & Society 60:224 S 30 '44 10w

" 'Strictly Private' is warmly understanding, with lots of commonsense and healthy advice." G. C. Kaynor

+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 29 '44 160w

WOODWARD, WILLIAM E. Way our people lived; an intimate American history; with a suppl. of illustrations. 402p $3.95 Dutton

917.3 U.S.—Social life and customs. U.S.—History 44-3453

This book contains eleven chapters, each partly in fiction, partly in informal essay form, depicting the life and customs of the ordinary American at various periods of American history from colonial days to 1908. Contents: Boston three hundred years ago; A Puritan village in 1680; A day in a Virginia planter's life (April 1713); When New York was young; Young MacKenzie sees the world; A Georgia town in 1807; Susan Pettigrew makes a journey; Four young men in the gold rush; Chicago —the young giant; A cotton mill village in the 1880's; New York in 1908. Bibliography.

WOODWARD, W. E.—Continued

Reviewed by A. F. Tyler
Am Hist R 50:145 O '44 750w

"An informal, readable, but not always too accurate, presentation of certain specific periods in American History from Colonial days to 1908. Recommended as an interest-catcher, but as a reference book should be used with caution."
+ — Am Soc R 9:720 D '44 40w

"It's a long book, but there isn't a dull or repetitious page in its entire length. The vignettes of common men are told with the poetry of discovery. . . Thirty-two pages of illustrations heighten the originality of Woodward's revelations and make the book warm and alive. 'The Way Our People Lived' is a sign that American history has matured, that in the future we may very well expect from historians more of the unknown, and less and less of what has already long been endless repetition. The idea of the book is novel, but never facetious. Besides we now know why Grandma was happy, even without so many flavors of ice cream." Ralph Peterson
+ Book Week p2 Ap 30 '44 600w

Booklist 40:316 My 15 '44

Boston Globe p17 My 3 '44 100w

Reviewed by E. L. Keyes
Commonweal 40:116 My 19 '44 210w

"Good reading, packed with facts, popularly presented."
+ Kirkus 12:157 Ap 1 '44 150w

"Recommended for all libraries interested in American social history." J. H. Berthel
+ Library J 69:303 Ap 1 '44 70w

"Though one may quarrel occasionally with his judgments, Woodward has given us many lively and provocative books on the American scene. This is not one of them, which is our loss, for the basic idea, while not new, is excellent—a portrait of the average American down the ages." George Willison
Nation 159:218 Ag 19 '44 430w

"Mr. Woodward has produced another engaging piece of historical writing. . . Unfortunately some of the details which the author paints in with much skill are inaccurate. . . It is only fair to say that these are the most glaring errors. Although the lack of references makes it difficult to check certain moot points, most of the details are, as far as this reviewer can judge, correct and well stated. In spite of its defects the book presents social history in a form which is painless to the layman and at the same time inoffensive to the historian. It should enjoy a wide reading." E. S. Morgan
+ — New Eng Q 17:619 D '44 350w

"Mr. Woodward excels in detailed descriptions of furniture, houses, costume and implements. His most interesting chapters deal with the excitement generated by the Gold Rush and the lusty, booming expansion of Chicago. Most charming is his description of his boyhood in Graniteville, S. C. The book has the additional merit of fixing attention on the middle and lower classes and of emphasizing the importance of women in American life. . . Errors of fact and interpretation are frequent, making the volume unreliable for reference. For example, Eli Whitney did not devise the assembly line; his contribution to mass production was the invention of interchangeable parts. . . The fictional dialogues are often stiff and don't quite come off, while the reconstructed letters contain too many modernisms to suggest the spirit of the times. Except for the person who delights in collecting the cigar bands of American history the book does not offer very lively or entertaining reading." Carl Bridenbaugh
— + N Y Times p6 My 7 '44 950w

"The result of the author's labor is lively and fairly entertaining, but the fact that the reader can never be sure where fact ends and fiction begins makes his book, as a historical record, of rather uncertain value."
+ — New Yorker 20:87 Ap 29 '44 110w

"Considering the nebulous and treacherous nature of his subject, Mr. Woodward has achieved a high standard of accuracy. Some of his statements seem a bit dubious. . . But the book covers a great deal of daily American life, and covers it with vitality and honesty. It does not furnish any study of trends or any social analysis, but that after all was beyond the intention of the author." Allan Nevins
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:9 My 13 '44 700w

School & Society 59:319 Ap 29 '44 30w

"While The Way Our People Lived has many shortcomings from the point of view of historical scholarship, it will provide an informative and enjoyable experience for those who want to get a picture of some phases of American life in the past." K. J. Rehage
+ — School R 52:505 O '44 1050w

"The data in these pages will undoubtedly acquaint the reader with the surface features of American life. Only rarely is a venture made at deeper matters of economic organization and cultural pattern. . . Teachers, who use this volume for collateral reading, will find its unsystematic character a handicap. Since New York appears with some detail in three sketches, it is possible to trace the evolution of a city in time. . . As to whether any instruction worth while can be given so painlessly, the debate between pedagogues is still on and probably always will be. Meanwhile Mr. Woodward has written an ingenious and beguiling volume." E. C. Kirkland
Social Educ 8:282 O '44 650w

"Not for a long time has a book appeared which will make the appeal to high school students of American history that this one will. Teachers and students will find this book a mine of authoritative information about the way our people lived, dressed, communicated with one another, traveled, used their leisure time, sought recreation, and other aspects of their day-by-day life." R. H. McF.
+ Social Studies 35:285 O '44 300w

Springf'd Republican p4d My 7 '44 600w

"Mr. Woodward's book is chock-full of homely and important information about daily living which the ordinary history scarcely ever mentions. It is particularly unfortunate, therefore, that its usefulness in classrooms must, of necessity, be impaired because there is no index. While the thirty-two pages of illustrations collected, in the main, from the famous Bettman Archive, are a fitting supplement to the 397 pages of text, they cannot make up for the lack of an index." Leo Huberman
+ — Survey 80:358 D '44 650w

Time 43:102 My 29 '44 250w

"This is distinctly not a juvenile book. An intelligent boy may read it with interest and no small profit, but not until he has acquired a pretty adequate knowledge of the framework of political history of the conventional sort. After all, there have been battles of armies and battles of ideas and it is essential to know something about them before turning to strictly social history. This book is rather to be recommended to business and professional men and mature women to fill in the background of a fairly comprehensive acquaintance with more conventional history. They will find it charming." G. W. Johnson
+ Weekly Book Review p1 Ap 30 '44 350w

Wis Lib Bul 40:85 Je '44

WOODWORTH, ROBERT SESSIONS, and SHEEHAN, MARY ROSE. First course in psychology. 445p il $1.80 Holt

150 Psychology 44-979

Textbook for high school students. The author's purposes are to help with vocational guidance, and to help the adolescent to think straight about his personal life and about the imponderables of life as well. Also published with title: Practical Psychology, at $2.50, by Holt.

Booklist 40:295 My 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p11 Je '44

School & Society 59:48 Ja 15 '44 10w

"This textbook is designed for a year course, but in the Preface the authors suggest a selection of portions that will be most helpful if used for a one-semester course. Pupils and teachers will find this publication an excellent introductory textbook in psychology for the secondary-school level." Leslie Quant
+ School R 52:185 Mr '44 800w

"Teachers will find this book, written by two well-known psychologists, very helpful in the teaching of psychology to adolescents."
+ Social Studies 35:144 Mr '44 60w

"Teachers and counsellors who are trying to help their pupils, through a course or through units of work, or by personal conference will find this book very helpful. It is interestingly and well-written. Each chapter is summarized and contains some provocative questions to stimulate thinking and the application of what has been learned. There is an excellent glossary of terms and a complete index of all topics." R. H. McF.
+ Social Studies 35:286 O '44 300w

WOOLF, VIRGINIA (STEPHEN) (MRS LEONARD SIDNEY WOOLF). Haunted house, and other short stories. 148p $2 Harcourt [7s 6d Hogarth]

44-40070

"Virginia Woolf, at the time of her death, had planned a volume of her collected short stories. The only book of her short stories which had appeared during her lifetime was Monday or Tuesday, published in 1921. Leonard Woolf has now carried out her intention in this volume, which includes six of the eight stories from Monday or Tuesday, seven which have appeared in magazines either in England or America, and five hitherto unpublished stories." Publisher's note

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
Book Week p3 Ap 16 '44 430w
Booklist 40:285 Ap 15 '44
Reviewed by N. E. Monroe
Cath World 159:379 Jl '44 230w
Christian Science Monitor p12 Je 24 '44 600w
Commonweal 40:112 My 19 '44 750w

"Once again evidence is given of an eclectic, highly original and creative talent, a 'delicate, flitting, feminine fancy of extraordinary sensitivity'. . . These may not stand with the best of her work, but make a complementary contribution for her audience."
+ — Kirkus 12:149 Ap 1 '44 120w

"In these fragile 'moments' Virginia Woolf is seeking an explanation for the riddle of existence. These are not part of her best work. They will be bought and read, however, by all who recognize a rare gift of creation and enjoy penetrating prose." K. T. Willis
+ — Library J 69:304 Ap 1 '44 80w

"One or two among the eighteen are difficult; others are lucid, bitter anecdotes; others again are examples of that elusive allusiveness by which Mrs. Woolf could in a few pages suggest a life story. They illustrate an imaginative writer's power to evoke imagination, but illustrate too a discontent with life more peevish than divine." Harold Brighouse
+ — Manchester Guardian p3 F 11 '44 60w

"Small as the book is, it is well worth having. Mrs. Woolf's deficiencies are obvious enough; yet her almost visionary flights of language and fancy are still a marvel. . . Even within their rather narrow limits her later stories are not by any means equally successful, though several of them are certainly masterpieces. When she attacks her subject directly and without the assistance of fantasy, she is apt to leave us merely impatient and dispirited. . . But there are at least two really unforgettable tales among Mrs. Woolf's later performances, Solid Objects and Lapin and Lappinova, each involving a fantastic and beautiful conceit and each a true fable." F. W. Dupee
+ — Nation 158:544 My 6 '44 1000w

"For some readers the chief delight of this new volume will be to trace the relations between the stories and the novels. Virginia Woolf was not primarily a short-story writer. The full statement of her vision requires a larger canvas in which several lives can be interwoven and the past, including the historic past, can be seen reflected in the present. But in these tales, as in the sketches of a great painter, we can observe the characteristic method and the characteristic quality of perception. Together they show her brilliant fantasy, her subtle sense of humour and, above all, her compassionate understanding of men and women." Joan Bennett
+ New Statesman & Nation 27:144 F 26 '44 700w

"As they exist, new stories and old, these seem as perfect, and as functional for all their beauty, as spider webs. Indeed they were made for a like purpose: to trap and dissect living morsels in the form of palpitating moments of time, instantaneous perceptions, those brief visions of others, which give us when captured—breathing, even struggling and so betraying themselves—an illusion of life. The extreme beauty of her writing is due greatly to one fact, that the imprisonment of life in the word was as much a matter of the senses with Virginia Woolf as it was a concern of the intellect." Eudora Welty
+ N Y Times p3 Ap 16 '44 1850w
New Yorker 20:82 Ap 15 '44 400w

"Trying always to match words to life, Mrs. Woolf proved through the years that she could do almost anything with words, and in these brief stories you will find her skills. Here is the imagining, fabricating novelist; the social satirist; the lyric poet and the impressionist; the associationist; the wilful mystifier; the dreamer mystified herself; the subtle psychologist; the lover and painter of word pictures; the writer who could miraculously perform the feat of translating music into words." B. R. Redman
+ Sat R of Lit 27:14 Je 24 '44 900w

"These stories and sketches collected from all the years of her writing life, will help those who ponder her, both to see her defects and to taste her strange, special quality. For all their wit, they are sorrowful writings, and those who are acquainted with grief will wince sometimes under the author's light-fingered, ghostly, searching touch." Kate O'Brien
+ Spec 172:204 Mr 3 '44 500w
Time 43:102 Ap 24 '44 550w

"Re-reading the earlier pieces—they are scarcely stories—one wonders again for a moment where unconsciously she drew the threads she wove into the experimental texture of her prose fiction. . . Looking for influences, then, in the early sketches in the volume, one seems to detect a little more sharply than before the influence of Proust in the play of thought and recollection above or below the surface of her sensibilities. But, of course, the individual essence is her own, not as yet so finely distilled as it will be, but springing as always from a delicate, flitting, feminine fancy of extraordinary sensitivity."
Times [London] Lit Sup p77 F 12 '44 1000w

"Leonard Woolf, husband of the late Virginia Woolf, has made a collection of eighteen fragments, sketches and short stories which she wrote over a period of more than twenty years. The volume, 'A Haunted House and Other Short Stories,' is small, less than two hundred pages, but it holds the essence of her art. As in her longer works, her writing has the rare quality of a precious gem, alive with light and deep with shadows. Even in fragments of three pages, such as the piece which gives the book its title, the individuality of her mind and writing come clear, the compelling arabesques of thought inspired by an object or an idea, the ascetic intensity of emotion with which she follows them." Rose Feld
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Ap 16 '44 900w

WOOLLCOTT, ALEXANDER. Letters; ed. by Beatrice Kaufman and Joseph Hennessey. 410p $3.50 Viking

B or 92 Authors—Correspondence, reminiscences, etc. 44-5812

Collection of letters to his friends, arranged chronologically, and covering the period from

WOOLLCOTT, ALEXANDER—Continued
1897, when he was ten years old, to 1943, the year of his death. Index.

Reviewed by Edward Weeks
Atlantic 174:125 Ag '44 180w
Reviewed by Sterling North
Book Week p2 Je 23 '44 500w
Booklist 40:389 Jl 15 '44
Kirkus 12:225 My 15 '44 250w

"This is a delightful collection of miscellaneous notes and letters to family and friends and is more valuable because it has biographical introduction. Libraries of all kind and sizes will buy the 'Town Crier's' letters because they are a notable contribution to his work." K. T. Willis
+ Library J 69:602 Jl '44 90w

" 'The Letters of Alexander Woollcott' is a handsome volume, even by pre-war standards. The letters are efficiently indexed, and the editors have supplied explanatory material whenever necessary. They have also supplied reproductions of three letters, and it is possible to imagine Woollcott's plump ghost heaving with laughter at their choice." Russell Maloney
+ N Y Times p5 Jl 23 '44 800w

"I have found 'The Letters of Alexander Woollcott' a great deal more enjoyable to read than anything else of his I have seen. This is not saying very much, perhaps, because I never particularly liked what he wrote. But I always had a certain respect for him, and these letters have distinctly increased it." Edmund Wilson
+ New Yorker 20:61 Jl 29 '44 400w

"This book makes fascinating reading. It obviously represents only a small portion of the thousands of letters Woollcott wrote but they have been expertly chosen to paint a faithful portrait of their author and to recreate the building, by slow degrees, of an American legend." E. M. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 23 '44 550w
+ Theatre Arts 28:555 S '44 650w
Time 44:91 Jl 31 '44 750w

" 'The Letters of Alexander Woollcott' is a good book, a highly readable book, and an amazingly good collection." F. P. Adams
+ Weekly Book Review p2 Jl 23 '44 1350w
Wis Lib Bul 40:127 O '44

WOOLLCOTT, BARBARA (MRS NATHANIEL BROOKS). None but a mule; il. by Julian Brazelton. 177p $2.50 Viking
818 Woollcott family 44-8588

A niece of Alexander Woollcott writes these gay chapters on life in the family of another Woollcott. The four Woollcott girls seem to be true scions of the old stock, and altho the Maryland Woollcotts evidently were not too popular with their New York uncle, their sense of humor seems quite recognizable.

Book Week p2 O 15 '44 420w
Booklist 41:74 N 1 '44

"Lively, unblushing reminiscences of a famous man's niece. . . Incorrigible evidence of rugged, roistering individualism, some of which has seen light of day in periodicals."
Kirkus 12:361 Ag 15 '44 170w

"A gay and invigorating book." Jane Cobb
+ N Y Times p10 O 8 '44 320w

"The author who is one of the late Alexander Woollcott's obstreperous nieces, acknowledges her family with whoops and cheers. So will many readers of her cheerful little book." E. M. P.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 29 '44 170w

"With malice toward several (for after all Barbara Woollcott is not Uncle Alec's niece for nothing) but also with a good dash of Louisa May, in 'Little Women,' and Jan Struther, in 'Mrs. Miniver,' the memoirs seal in amber many family jokes. If those Woollcotts have a taste for privacy, too bad. They have been 'shewed forth' in twenty years of domestic comedy and slapstick, their fun parceled out like loaves and fishes. Pictures by Julian Brazelton are tossed in for butter and lemon." Ernestine Evans
Weekly Book Review p2 O 8 '44 900w

WOOLLEY, CATHERINE. I like trains; pictures by Doris Spiegel. [32p] $1 Harper 44-9998

A small book telling all about trains in pictures and simple text, for preschool children.

Booklist 41:142 Ja 1 '45

"Children never seem to tire of stories about railroad trains. This new one is packed with information. It is a small book, but the pictures are very clear."
+ Boston Globe p36 N 29 '44 30w
Kirkus 12:508 N 1 '44 50w

"Simple, straight-forward text and clear-cut, graphic pictures." Dorotha Dawson
+ Library J 69:1105 D 15 '44 30w

WOOLMAN, MRS MARY (SCHENCK), and McGOWAN, MRS ELLEN AMELIA (BEERS). Textiles; a handbook for the student and the consumer. 3d ed 388p il $3.50 Macmillan
677 Textile fabrics 43-18025

"A textbook which has had a wide use during many years is revised and partly rewritten, with new chapters on rayons, new fibers and finishes." (Booklist) For first edition see Book Review Digest, 1914.

Booklist 40:215 F 15 '44

"This up-to-date revision of a standard text and reference has all the good qualities of the two former editions. . . Obsolete material has been eliminated, chapters have been reorganized, and new photographs and sketches have been substituted for old ones. Certain chapters have been omitted, and the new volume has been condensed from 572 to 388 pages. . . This new edition is an excellent reference in the field of textiles and clothing and may be used as a college text." H. M. Thompson
+ J Home Econ 36:233 Ap '44 200w
Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:206 Mr 1 '44 20w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:12 Ja '44

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (WILLIAM IRISH, pseud). After-dinner story. (Story press bk) 209p $2 Lippincott
44-8830

Collection of short stories, all of which have to do with crime and punishment. Contents: After-dinner story; The night reveals; An apple a day; Marihuana; Rear window; Murder-story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
Book Week p11 D 17 '44 50w
Booklist 41:153 Ja 15 '45

"A really superior collection of short mysteries."
+ Kirkus 12:413 S 15 '44 90w

"The collection as a whole is well worthy of the attention of all lovers of good short stories." Isaac Anderson
+ N Y Times p20 N 19 '44 150w

"Above average."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:52 D 2 '44 40w

"A collection for the less fussy customers." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p29 N 19 '44 80w

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (WILLIAM IRISH, pseud). Black path of fear. 183p $2 Doubleday
44-31051

Mystery story.

Reviewed by Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p7 Jl 9 '44 140w

"Just fair."
Boston Globe p17 Je 14 '44 50w

"Slick toughie, not hard to anticipate, but easy to go along with."
Kirkus 12:155 Ap 1 '44 80w

"A fiendishly ingenious plot and thrilling episodes." Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p14 Je 4 '44 120w

"A nicely planned story, which will keep you on the edge of your chair even though it doesn't shock you quite as much as it seems to intend to."
+ — New Yorker 20:84 Je 3 '44 90w

"Full marks."
+ Sat R of Lit 27:33 Je 10 '44 40w

" 'The Black Path of Fear' is a grim and thrilling tale of atmosphere and mordant character portraiture, laced with desperate action and suspense, crowned with vengeance—which could not bring Eve back to life, however. Mr. Woolrich holds your attention from first to last." M. H. B.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 16 '44 110w

"Mr. Woolrich employs prose running to metaphors you wouldn't believe. Amounts to a novelty up the tough alley." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p17 Je 4 '44 100w

WOOLRICH, CORNELL (WILLIAM IRISH, pseud). Deadline at dawn. 219p $2 Lippincott 44-1706

Detective story.

"These people are real, the mood of danger in the night is real and you will care very much what happens." Elizabeth Bullock
+ Book Week p9 Mr 12 '44 90w

Reviewed by Isaac Anderson
N Y Times p9 F 27 '44 80w

"Some staggering coincidences make a good deal of this hard to believe, but you'll probably find it exciting anyhow."
New Yorker 20:88 F 26 '44 80w

"This soft-boiled piece is for those who can use a little pathos with their murder." Will Cuppy
Weekly Book Review p10 F 27 '44 120w

WORTH, KATHRYN (MRS W. C. CURRY). New worlds for Josie. 207p $2 Doubleday
44-7331

Boarding school story for girls. Two American sisters enter a strict Swiss boarding school in order to learn to speak correct French. They are the only Americans in the school and are not very popular at first, but sensible little Josie discovers that they are paying for the sins of two flashy fellow Americans, who were former pupils. The sisters start a conformity campaign and their year at Savarel is a success.

Booklist 41:62 O 15 '44

Reviewed by F. C. Darling
Christian Science Monitor p14 O 12 '44 130w

"Gentle and appealing for the less modern miss, this is purely feminine adventure, romance, humor and mystery in adequate doses."
+ Kirkus 12:321 Jl 15 '44 110w

"Characteristic boarding school incidents, amusing, mischievous, surprising and perilous, with a touch of romance, make this tale one that will appeal to girls from twelve years up." E. M. Gordon
+ Library J 69:888 O 15 '44 50w

"Mrs. Worth is more sentimental and less deft with her young moderns than with her Southerners of earlier days, but her story of international friendships has some good fun in it as well as good-will." E. L. B.
N Y Times p28 N 19 '44 160w

Springf'd Republican p4d O 1 '44 110w

"A good and salutary story." M. L. Becker
+ Weekly Book Review p6 O 1 '44 400w

Wis Lib Bul 40:163 D '44

WORTH, KATHRYN (MRS W. C. CURRY). Poems for Josephine. 56p $1.50 Doubleday
811 Children's poetry 43-14765

Josephine is the author's daughter, now aged thirteen. Ever since she was quite small Josephine has made a practice of asking for poems about things which interest her—swans, ducks, water, ice, stars, circus elephants—and her mother has written the poems. This collection of Mrs Worth's poems is illustrated with photographs selected by Josephine.

"Simple meter, distinct rhyme, and the thin, pleasing format of book may attract reluctant poetry reader who avoids large anthologies. For readers of any age under twelve. Recommended for larger libraries." J. L. Sauer
+ Library J 68:672 S 1 '43 100w

Wis Lib Bul 40:12 Ja '44

WORTHINGTON, MAY. Sally, army dietitian. 210p $2 Dodd
44-4722

Sally Merrill, of Sally and Her Kitchens (Book Review Digest, 1939) carves out a new career for herself to fill in the time while her husband is in the South Pacific. She becomes dietitian in an Army camp hospital somewhere in California. Food information, menus and recipes are a part of this vocational story for older girls.

"As a story it seems completely inane and dull, but in spite of this the picture of life in a large army hospital is excellent."
+ — Kirkus 12:173 Ap 1 '44 60w

"Some drama is added by her struggle to win over the old Army mess sergeant to the new wrinkles in diets and menus but the story has little interest apart from the career angle. Not at all essential but of some value to a vocational guidance collection." M. C. Scoggin
Library J 69:608 Jl '44 90w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p6 Jl 23 '44 100w

Wis Lib Bul 40:134 O '44

WRIGHT, C. W. How to speak in public. 238p $2 Crown
808.5 Public speaking 43-18279

"Those fundamentals to good speechmaking, preparation, confidence, and delivery, are capably covered from assembling material to controlling the gathered assemblage. Speeches for special occasions and some helpful hints are thrown in for good measure. No index. First publication of a new Canadian firm, Ambassador books, ltd., handled in this country by Crown publishers." Booklist

Booklist 40:193 F 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p4 Ja '44

WRIGHT, ETHEL BELLE. Saturday flight [il] by Richard Rose. [20p] spir $1 Scott, W.R.
44-4441

Combined with large clear pictures the brief text describes the activities of two small children on their first airplane ride. For ages two to four.

"This isn't up to Saturday Walk and seems almost too elementary for even the picture book age. But the difficulty of bringing content material down to that level makes it quite an achievement, as in pictures and captions, step by step they follow what happens when one travels by plane."
Kirkus 12:216 My 1 '44 60w

"For preschool collections in those libraries that can make use of books in spiral bindings." E. G. Mullan
Library J 69:556 Je 15 '44 80w

"The pictures have no artistic merit, but with their bright colors and clear outlines will be easily understood by the youngest children." A. T. Eaton
N Y Times p21 My 21 '44 120w

WRIGHT, GEORGE ERNEST. Challenge of Israel's faith. 108p $1.50 Univ. of Chicago press
296 Bible. Old Testament—Theology. Jews—Religion A44-1354

"Professor Wright has made a number of significant contributions to the study of the Bible in the field of biblical archæology. . . In this present volume he has attempted to present a popular view of the theology of the Old Testament. It is directed to the layman who does not have training in the matters of technical criticism. He is concerned with the problem of finding a relevance to modern life in the religious literature of the Old Testament." (Crozer Q) Index.

WRIGHT, G. E.—Continued

Reviewed by W. E. Garrison
Christian Century 61:998 Ag 30 '44 1200w

"Judged by the standards of conservative scholarship his interpretation of the matter from the Old Testament with which he deals is acceptable. One is aware that behind the sometimes sweeping statements—with some of which the critical reader would beg to take exception—there is an understanding of the problems involved. Especially praiseworthy is his first chapter which deals with the meaning of inspiration. His definition is sane and liberal. The interpretation of the faith of Israel is marred somewhat by the intrusion of the author's own theological position, a position which can be defended from the Old Testament, as well as refuted thereby." J. B. Pritchard
+ — Crozer Q 21:270 Jl '44 600w

"Many good things are found in this volume. Its objective is practical, and its chapters read like homilies. The reproof of sentimentalism, the critique of mysticism and trends in worship, the insistence on correct methods of interpretation, and the significance of Israel's covenant and moral earnestness are highly commendable. Bibliolatry is proved untenable, owing to mutually exclusive statements and false conclusions. Much, however, is open to question." I. G. Matthews
+ — J Religion 24:221 Jl '44 300w

WRIGHT, LUELLA MARGARET. Peter Melendy; the mind and the soil. 360p il $2 Iowa state hist. soc.
B or 92 Melendy, Peter 43-13256

Biography of one of the early leading citizens of Cedar Falls, Iowa, and a founder of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, at Ames, Iowa.

Am Hist R 49:368 Ja '44 250w
Reviewed by J. T. Frederick
Book Week p12 N 21 '43 100w

WRISTON, HENRY MERRITT. Strategy of peace. 159p $1; pa 50c World peace
327.73 Peace. U.S.—Foreign relations. World war, 1939—Peace 44-8597

"In this volume, President Wriston considers the broad strategy which the United States should follow in order to attain the general purposes of its participation in the war. We recognize the need of a sound strategy for the successful prosecution of the war. This book assumes that a sound strategy for the winning of the peace is just as necessary. In Part I, the author offers a new approach to the relation of war to peace. . . Against this general background, President Wriston considers the position of the United States in terms of interests and commitments. . . In his concluding part, President Wriston faces up to the problem which we will have to face sooner or later of making peace with the defeated powers." Pref

Booklist 41:165 F 1 '45

"On the whole, Dr. Wriston has been careful to apply the tests of practicability as well as desirability to his peacemaking. 'Strategy of Peace' is a superior contribution to public discussion of the vital problems that lie on the other side of military victory." H. M.
+ Christian Science Monitor p12 D 27 '44 400w
Reviewed by Hans Kohn
N Y Times p20 Ja 7 '45 600w
Reviewed by Norman Angell
Sat R of Lit 27:5 N 25 '44 90w

"This work facilitates clear thinking about our greatest present problem. However, it seems a little too idealistic at some points." S. C. Phelps
+ — Springf'd Republican p6 Ja 9 '45 330w
Reviewed by H. B. Parkes
Weekly Book Review p30 N 19 '44 600w

WRITERS' CONGRESS, LOS ANGELES, 1943. Proceedings of the conference. 663p $5 Univ. of Calif.
810.8 Authors. World war, 1939—Literature and the war. World war, 1939—Art and the war A44-3435

"Held under the sponsorship of the Hollywood Writers' mobilization and the University of California." (Subtitle) "The papers and seminars reported in the Proceedings . . . leave the reader in no doubt as to the sober earnestness with which the members of the Hollywood Writers' Mobilization wish to accept their responsibilities to the people and to force the entertainment industry to a new view of the writer's function. The papers on minority groups, Latin-American relations, documentaries, and training films are particularly forceful." (N Y Times) Index.

"I wish that I could buy a thousand copies of this fat book and place them in the hands of young writers of promise all over the country. It is worth more than a score of books on 'how to write.' To a remarkable degree, it answers in terms of today and tomorrow the far deeper question of 'what to write.'" J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p2 O 8 '44 850w
New Repub 111:669 N 20 '44 130w
Reviewed by W. McN. Lowry
N Y Times p25 S 24 '44 440w
Reviewed by Kenneth MacGowan
Weekly Book Review p42 N 12 '44 850w

WRITERS' PROGRAM, NORTH CAROLINA. Bundle of troubles, and other Tarheel tales; ed. by W. C. Hendricks; il. by Hilda Ogburn. 206p $2.50 Duke univ.
398.2 Folklore—North Carolina. Tales, American 44-439

Old tales and new collected in North Carolina. They are tall tales, ghost stories, animal tales, a story about John Henry, witch stories, and fishing and hunting stories: the kind told in country stores, by family firesides, or around hunters' campfires.

"The book is at once a definite contribution to American folklore and a fine piece of reading." J. T. Frederick
+ Book Week p4 F 6 '44 130w
Booklist 40:246 Mr 15 '44
New Repub 110:422 Mr 27 '44 90w
Reviewed by C. L. Snyder
N Y Times p18 Mr 12 '44 220w

"Occasionally there comes from one of the university presses a book that would delight many readers and sell widely if it were offered —and promoted—by a commercial publisher. Such a book is 'Bundle of Troubles and Other Tarheel Tales.'" Marshall Bragdon
+ Springf'd Republican p6 F 5 '44 600w

WRITERS' PROGRAM, PENNSYLVANIA. Aluminum. 44p il 50c Whitman, A.
669.7 Aluminum—Juvenile literature 43-16714

Covers discovery, history, and modern methods of production of aluminum. For young readers.

"Makes interesting home or school leisure reading."
+ Christian Science Monitor p6 Mr 11 '44 30w

"[The] manuscript [was] reviewed for accuracy by a specialist in the field, and the vocabulary has been checked against standard lists." Marguerite Smith
+ Library J 69:120 F 1 '44 50w

WRITER'S PROGRAM, PENNSYLVANIA. Oil and gas. (Elementary science ser) 48p il 50c Whitman, A.

665.5 Petroleum—Juvenile literature
44-34753

"One of a series of elementary science readers. . . This one is a brief discussion of petroleum—its discovery, refining and uses." Springf'd Republican

"Another of this excellent Elementary Science Readers—which again succeeds in putting over a great many facts, presented in straightforward, unsugared form, simple enough for eight and nine year olds, but never written down to them."
+ Kirkus 12:299 Jl 1 '44 80w

"An informative and enlightening account for the child of today who is interested in the world about him. It is clear and understandable, with vocabulary within range of fourth grade. Not too technical, with good illustrations." Marguerite Jester
+ Library J 69:654 Ag '44 40w
Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 70w

WU CH'ENG-EN (supposed author). Adventures of Monkey; adapted from the translation made from the Chinese, by Arthur Waley; il. by Kurt Wiese. 143p $1.75 Day

895.13 Monkeys—Legends and stories
44-8092

"The text of this book consists of the first seven chapters of Arthur Waley's translated version of the traditional Chinese tale. These chapters form the section which has most appealed to the children of China." Publisher's note

Reviewed by P. A. Whitney
Book Week p24 N 12 '44 40w
Booklist 41:94 N 15 '44
Horn Bk 20:477 N '44 90w
Kirkus 12:429 S 15 '44 90w
Reviewed by K. H. McAlarney
Library J 69:1005 N 15 '44 40w

"This is a brilliant and easy-going story, with the authentic sound of a classic in its action and language."
+ N Y Times p7 N 12 '44 60w
Sat R of Lit 27:30 N 11 '44 250w

"Chinese children have loved this classic story for centuries and now, fortunately, the first seven chapters are available for American children. Parts of the story may seem difficult but close association with this ridiculous monkey through reading or telling will endear him to all ages." M. E. S.
+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 22 '44 220w
Reviewed by M. L. Becker
Weekly Book Review p5 S 24 '44 250w

WYLIE, PHILIP. Fish and tin fish; Crunch and Des strike back. 300p $2.50 Farrar
44-958

Collection of short stories about fishing and fishermen. All fifteen stories are about the activities of a Miami fishing boat captain and his clients.

"Especially in a war year, when the ubiquitous A card relegates most fishing trips to the realm of fantasy, does Wylie's skill perform a splendid stint in keeping the morale of amateur fishermen high and hollering." Peter Quinn
+ Book Week p8 F 20 '44 270w
Booklist 40:252 Mr 15 '44

"Crunch and Des (is there an armchair angler in America who is yet to cruise on the Poseidon?) will find ample proof of this statement in 'Fish and Tin Fish.' The sport will always be thrilling with these two intrepid boatmen to run home the gaff, whether they are stalking a blue marlin, a manta ray—or merely a floating mine." William Du Bois
+ N Y Times p18 F 27 '44 440w

"This collection of short stories will be standard bedside tackle for anyone who has ever 'soaked a line in salt water,' but it is good lively reading even for those who fight their tuna with a salad fork and don't know a marlin from a bowsprit." Phil Stong
+ Sat R of Lit 27:12 F 19 '44 290w

"The stories are packed with information which fishermen understand and welcome, and even a landlubber who confines his salt-water activities to pulling stone-crabs from their holes will be thrilled at the descriptions of game fishing in the blue waters of the Gulf Stream. Being expertly written, with most of the uncomfortable situations ignored and all endings contrived happily, this book is a sort of pin-up for the boys whose tackle is gathering dust while they man a Garand or sweat with the swing shift." Thomas Sugrue
+ Weekly Book Review p6 Ap 2 '44 350w

WYLIE, PHILIP. Night unto night. 372p $2.75 Farrar
44-8153

Philosophical novel in which a number of people—a bride, a scientist, an artist, and a nurse—study the enigma of death and come to varying conclusions. The time is the present; the place Florida.

Reviewed by A. C. Spectorsky
Book Week p3 O 8 '44 1100w
Booklist 41:59 O 15 '44
Cath World 160:189 N '44 180w
Kirkus 12:306 Jl 15 '44 230w
Reviewed by Marjorie Farber
New Repub 111:633 N 13 '44 300w

"If Philip Wylie's purpose and insight in this novel had been of a piece with his techniques, the results would have been intolerable. But actually his evangelical earnestness and the basic rightness of his dramatic situation have triumphed. Along with the slick and fictional goes a real sense of psychic breadth and depth, and along with too much pretentious talk intermittent flashes of genuine inner light." R. G. Davis
+ — N Y Times p5 S 24 '44 900w

"Mr. Wylie is deadly serious about all this and he has managed to produce what is in spots a readable novel. The rest is simply a very moral ghost story with fuzzy psychological trimmings."
— + New Yorker 20:77 S 30 '44 170w

"After gathering together all of the thoughts that a bio-chemist, an artist who hated science, and a psychiatrist could utter about the grim reaper, Mr. Wylie's novel returned, full circle, whence it started. Is it a successful novel from the standpoint of a critic of literature? I doubt it, but I do not believe for a moment that Mr. Wylie expected, or wanted, it to be so. But he has, I believe, achieved his purpose. He has created a group of characters whom the reader will not forget in a hurry, and has placed them in the midst of a situation as daring as the thought behind it. He has been able to exercise his remarkable talents and his brilliant gift for writing volcanic prose, and he will not leave many of his readers untouched." Harrison Smith
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:9 S 23 '44 2150w

"In his preface the author says the reader may want to skip the interjected paragraph on conviction from Gaunt's book. Don't do it; the portion dealing with what Christianity might have become by adopting a dynamic instead of a static dogma is not to be missed. In fact the entire book, from its first brief and purposely misleading sentence, to its last fragmentary phrase, is not to be missed. What it says has meaning for every one who expects to live another day." Thomas Sugrue
+ Weekly Book Review p4 S 24 '44 1250w

WYLIE, PHILIP, and others. Fifth mystery book. See Fifth mystery book

WYNN, EDGAR J. Bombers across. 178p il $2.50 Dutton

940.544 World war, 1939—Personal narratives, American
44-5124

Reminiscences of an American flyer who became a captain in the transatlantic ferry command. He begins with his early love for flying, describes his barnstorming days in the '30's, his training with the RCAF, and continues with his experiences in flying planes, men, and bombers to fields of action in many lands.

WYNN, E. J.—Continued

"Capt. Wynn astutely figured that his own adventures in flying bombers and supplies across the ocean would give readers an idea of what all the ferry command is like. Whether his experiences are average, or better, I can't say, but that they are worth writing a book about is proved to the hilt." W. F. M.
+ Book Week p6 Jl 9 '44 80w
Booklist 40:375 Jl 1 '44
Cleveland Open Shelf p10 Je '44
Kirkus 12:248 Je 1 '44 170w

"Recommended." F. A. Boyle
+ Library J 69:502 Je 1 '44 110w

Reviewed by Francis Scott
N Y Times p20 Jl 30 '44 440w

"Captain Wynn is objective enough about his mechanical facts to satisfy a mathematician; but he has no sooner stated that the pool was two feet long and three feet wide than he is off into the subjective with an incomparable energy and a keenness of observation of the facts beneath facts that make this one of the most readable of war books." Fletcher Pratt
+ Sat R of Lit 27:10 Ag 12 '44 360w

"The author writes in an easy personal style that is readily understandable despite the fact that the book contains many technical phrases and slang flying expressions. The reader shares Captain Wynn's boredom, worries and fears on long and dangerous flights and the thrill of accomplishment that comes from delivering a plane intact." George Polk
+ Weekly Book Review p2 S 10 '44 500w

WYNNE, ANTHONY, pseud. See Wilson, R. M.

WYNNER, EDITH, and LLOYD, GEORGIA. Searchlight on peace plans; choose your road to world government. 532p maps $5 Dutton
321.041 International cooperation. Peace 44-4272

"Starting with premise that 'there is nothing new under the sun,' authors outline leading theoretical plans to unite nations dating from 1306 to [the present.] Major portion of work given to analysis of peace plans drafted since 1914, presented in form of charts, under following headings: 1) Type; 2) Membership; 3) Organs of government; 4) Tranfers of jurisdiction; 5) Methods of enforcement; 6) Immediate steps; 7) Territorial changes; 8) Ratification. Types of plans: universal (federal and confederate), United Nations, regional, ideological, court plans, advisory disarmament conference, international air force, samples of world public works projects. Under 'practical attempts' are listed plans dating from 1375 B.C. to 1918. Part 5 is devoted to charts of confederate and federal constitutions." (Library J) Definitions of technical terms. Index.

"The salient points of all plans that have been suggested for an international government based on the confederation, federation, and union types are given in concise form. Such a compilation is helpful." R. S. McCordock
+ Am Pol Sci R 38:1017 O '44 80w

"Two brilliant American girls have scooped the leading universities in producing a comprehensive and concrete work that should have been produced long ago. Their Searchlight on Peace Plans will become a valuable guide to both the average reader and the social scientist in finding their way quickly through the immensely complicated network of peace plans that seek to map the present and the future of the world. Theirs was a stupendous task, requiring no doubt several years of close research." Ely Culbertson
+ Ann Am Acad 236:174 N '44 700w

"These are the things that try editors' souls, and make readers wonder. An important book like this should rightly have been done by scholars in the field—say, a Quincy Wright or Merle Curti—or, failing that, such scholars should at least have had a hand in checking the book, and integrating its contents for the casual reader. Because of this lack of integration, I fear that our poor bewildered friend, the Common Man, will be as sadly confused at all these plans as he was before picking up the book." Leo Shapiro
— Book Week p7 Ag 27 '44 550w
Booklist 40:352 Je 15 '44
Kirkus 12:213 My 1 '44 110w

"For research or historical collections and larger reference collections." L. R. Etzkorn
Library J 69:354 Ap 15 '44 140w

"Most of the plans presented here date since 1914, but the Misses Wynner and Lloyd—who are workers in peace and other 'progressive' movements—have also given brief accounts of proposals going as far back as 1306, and these older plans provide some of the most interesting reading in the book." W. R. Deuel
N Y Times p24 Je 4 '44 650w

"An extremely valuable reference and source book for all who are trying to think scientifically about the organization of the postwar world."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 Je '44 90w
Springf'd Republican p6 Jl 26 '44 280w

"In a recent newspaper advertisement entitled 'Books to Help Win the Peace,' about thirty-five titles were mentioned. I have not read all of them, but I have looked through the majority. I believe that 'Searchlight on Peace Plans' belongs at the top of the list. It should be in the kit of those who sit at the peace table, and is required reading for the rest of us who have more than a passing interest in a decent and durable peace." L. M. Birkhead
+ Survey G 33:332 Jl '44 360w
Wis Lib Bul 40:107 Jl '44

Y

YANG, YUNG-CH'ING. China's religious heritage. 196p $1.50 Abingdon-Cokesbury
290 China—Religion 43-8734

"President Yang, of Soochow University, knows his own people well and gives a very good account of contemporary Confucianism, Buddhism, and Taoism. He describes these religions, not from the viewpoint of their history, but as they appear today. They have all changed greatly since they were founded. This account is valuable because it represents their contemporary state." Crozer Q

Christian Century 60:771 Je 30 '43 70w

"In these days when we need to understand our great ally across the Pacific, President Yang's book should be read by intelligent Americans." H. H. Dubs
+ Crozer Q 21:86 Ja '44 600w
Library J 69:647 Ag '44 20w

YARBOROUGH, MRS CHARLOTTE (AIKEN). Insurgent summer. 250p $2.50 Harper
44-4614

To Mary Fanning lying on her death bed, the nature of her young son's character was no secret. Years later in the summer of 1939, Galton Fanning forces, to a bitter climax, his overruling desire to govern and dominate the lives of those about him; sister, wife and son are all lost to him at the end.

Book Week p10 My 28 '44 140w
Booklist 40:342 Je 1 '44

"Indirect, discreet and very delicate writing for a first novel of discordances in human relationship, and a book which, if not important, offers charm and grace."
+ Kirkus 12:105 Mr 1 '44 110w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 158:687 Je 10 '44 30w

"It is too bad that an author who can write such good, clear-headed prose, which at moments attains real authority, should slip so readily into the groove of commercial writing. She cheapens her book irrevocably by her use of such forced, hand-me-down situations as Michael's improbable near-drowning, which seems to be placed in the book only to make a hero of the man who rescues him." E. S. Holsaert

+ — N Y Times p21 My 28 '44 300w

"A moderately successful first novel. . . One gets the impression that Mrs. Yarborough can and will do better things."

New Yorker 20:90 My 13 '44 70w

"This novel deftly handled, builds up to a suspenseful climax, although this reviewer feels that the omission of far-too-frank love scenes would improve the general character of the story and would do much toward lifting the first novel far above the average." H. J. Sloan

+ — Springf'd Republican p4d My 21 '44 550w

"It is not a story which can be shredded into synopsis, it must be experienced. You will argue about it and find some of it curiously baffling, but you will be enriched by it, for it has insight and creative touch." Lisle Bell

+ Weekly Book Review p6 My 14 '44 420w

YARMOLINSKY, AVRAHM, ed. Treasury of great Russian short stories; Pushkin to Gorky. 1018p $4 Macmillan

Short stories—Collections 44-1281

Contains short stories by Alexander Pushkin, Nikolay Gogol, Ivan Turgenev, Fyodor Dostoevsky, Nikolay Leskov, Leo Tolstoy, Anton Chekhov, Vladimir Korolenko, Alexander Kuprin, Maxim Gorky.

Reviewed by Louis Zara

Book Week p2 Mr 12 '44 550w

Booklist 40:252 Mr 15 '44

"It is over-generous on the Chekhow side, but it is a good collection competently edited. These tales show convincingly that no one in recent times has been able to touch the Russians for sheer narrative art."

+ Commonweal 39:573 Mr 24 '44 80w

Kirkus 12:4 Ja 1 '44 150w

"Mr. Yarmolinsky has given 'story' a most liberal interpretation. It is not easy to determine what principle he has followed in making his choices. They are, on the whole, substantial and safe. . . On other grounds there are not many objections to this book. In its completeness it is superior to most anthologies. Mr. Yarmolinsky's introductory essay contains all the rudimentary facts in good order." Saul Bellow

+ — N Y Times p6 F 27 '44 550w

Reviewed by Edmund Wilson

New Yorker 20:92 Mr 18 '44 130w

"Mr. Yarmolinsky's anthology is timely not alone because of the present interest in Soviet Russia but for the reason of the speed with which one can read some of the tales. They are invaluable entertainment and instruction at this hectic period of our activities, particularly for those who have no leisure to get involved in the reading of a novel." Manya Gordon

+ Sat R of Lit 27:22 My 27 '44 550w

"Dr. Yarmolinsky is surely well qualified as editor of this collection. He has done much translating of Russian literature and includes some examples of his own work here. He depends in a large part, for all the Chekhov, for example, on Constance Garnett's translations. This is perhaps a little unfortunate for no matter how skillful a translator is, there always results an inflexibility of style that cannot be avoided. And slightly unfortunate, too, is the fact that Dr. Yarmolinsky has confined himself only to the work of the greatest figures. He is a little more venturesome in the selections he chooses from each man. He has prefaced the section on each author with brief, matter-of-fact biographical sketches." Lee Varley

+ — Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 5 '44 500w

YATES, DORNFORD, pseud. See Mercer, C. W.

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. Boy and a motor; il. with phot. and drawings by the author. 111p $2 Harper

621.313 Electric motors—Juvenile literature 44-2179

Explains simply how motors work and how to construct several types of small but practical motors. Contains an introductory chapter on the historical development of electric motors. For grades six to eight.

Booklist 40:257 Mr 15 '44

"Instructive and informing, like other books by Raymond Yates." A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:213 My '44 70w

Reviewed by Dorotha Dawson

Library J 69:465 My 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by M. L. Becker

Weekly Book Review p5 Mr 5 '44 180w

Wis Lib Bul 40:73 My '44

YATES, RAYMOND FRANCIS. Young men and machines; career guidance for the machine tool and mass production industries. 196p il $2 Dodd

621.9 Machinery. Machine shop practice 44-1309

"Simple and informal explanation of basic machine tools precedes summary of the work of tool designers, makers, operators, foremen, and inspectors. Apprenticeship and opportunities in the machine industries also discussed. For high school age and older. No index." Booklist

Booklist 40:247 Mr 15 '44

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 30w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:26 Ap '44

YAUKEY, MRS GRACE (SYDENSTRICKER) (CORNELIA SPENCER, pseud). China; il. by Rafaello Busoni. (Lands and peoples) 25p $1 Holiday

915.1 China—Civilization

"Another background book in the series [Lands and peoples]. This presents China—its people, country, art, language—briefly but colorfully." Booklist

Booklist 41:157 Ja 15 '45

"A picture done with the fine point of poetry. . . Schools, libraries, bookshops."

+ Kirkus 12:511 N 1 '44 100w

"Recommended for fifth to seventh grades." V. W. Schott

+ Library J 70:71 Ja 15 '45 50w

Reviewed by A. T. Eaton

N Y Times p10 Ja 7 '45 70w

YAUKEY, MRS GRACE (SYDENSTRICKER) (CORNELIA SPENCER, pseud). The exile's daughter; a biography of Pearl S. Buck. 228p $2.50 Coward-McCann

B or 92 Buck, Pearl (Sydenstricker) 44-8280

Biography of Pearl Buck, beginning with her babyhood and bringing the record down to the nineteen forties. A greater proportion of the book is devoted to her life in China, and to her parents, about whom Pearl Buck has written in The Exile. Bibliography.

"The book is solid rather than brilliant. It lacks critical objectivity. But for young readers and Pearl Buck enthusiasts it furnishes a mine of information concerning life on both sides of the Pacific." Sterling North

Book Week p2 S 10 '44 450w

Booklist 41:80 N 1 '44

"The material is all there. The style is forced, and just a trifle condescending."

Kirkus 12:437 S 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by L. E. Cathon

Library J 69:818 O 1 '44 70w

Sat R of Lit 27:46 N 11 '44 20w

YAUKEY, G. S.—Continued

"It is all pleasantly and simply told and the woman who emerges is one whom all can admire and respect. Miss Spencer has not gone far below the surface (and even on the surface she sometimes seems unduly reticent) but she is a portrait painter, not a psychoanalyst, and within her self-imposed limits she has done a good job with her material." W. H. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p6 S 14 '44 280w

"Special importance attaches to this book for the teens; it is here to stay; whatever bibliographies are compiled for Pearl Buck, whatever biographies written, one must include it and the other draw upon it. For this is source material in the form of that 'first biography' that, if not determining the architecture, at least lays the foundation for later writing." M. L. Becker

+ Weekly Book Review p5 S 17 '44 500w

YODER, ROBERT MCAYEAL. There's no front like home; endpapers by Alain. 115p $2 Houghton

817 World war, 1939—Humor, caricatures, etc. 44-2403

Collection of sprightly articles on the trials and tribulations of the American civilian in wartime. Partial contents: Drop that raise!; Come live with me, and be my maid; Taxes will beat the Axis, or, I'm a little beat myself; Out of gas; Seed 'em and weep; Around the peace table: it better be big; Eat strenuously; Should a lady thumb, and other issues; The crisis in seating.

"Robert M. Yoder, the 'Wonder Boy from Gibson City, Ill.,' who used to wear paint off Eugene Field's old chair at the Chicago Daily News, is one of the smoothest cracker-barrel philosophers since Finley Peter Dunne. Unlike Pegler, his gripes about the income tax are funny, his remarks on the servant question are sufficiently good-humored to preclude arsenic in his soup, and his perilous adventures on the home front are always well this side of what is considered sedition." Sterling North

+ Book Week p2 Mr 5 '44 230w

Booklist 40:265 Ap 1 '44

Cleveland Open Shelf p7 Mr '44

"Open humor which will find general commiseration and which provides some amusement. In the great dearth of humorous relief, this has its place."

Kirkus 12:59 F 1 '44 80w

"The professional Glad Girls and Boys—the ones who keep writing little pieces saying what fun gas rationing is, and how nice not to have any money, and how enriching not to be able to get away from home—are among his pet peeves, along with advertisers who cash in on the war effort, photographers who make Human Documents of Typical American Families, and motorists who somehow happen to get six hundred miles away from home on an A card. He is also good and sore at people who make fun of Henry Wallace." Jane Cobb

N Y Times p8 Ap 2 '44 120w

"Mr Yoder happily is not the Pollyanna kind of humorist who insists on laughing through his tears. His sardonic views seem more of the Yankee type, for while there are plenty of things he doesn't regard as essentially humorous he is very funny in talking about them." R. F. H.

+ Springf'd Republican p7e Mr 12 '44 550w

"Mr. Yoder polishes off such topics as gas rationing, Victory gardens, taxes and the vitamin cult. It's a book you can safely chuckle over without getting into difficulties with the F.B.I."

+ Weekly Book Review p14 My 14 '44 170w

Wis Lib Bul 40:68 My '44

YORCK, RUTH L., pseud. Sixty to go. 215p $2.50 Messner

44-3246

Story of the workings of the underground on the French Riviera. A group of seemingly gay pleasure-lovers are really smuggling people out of France into Spain. Into their midst come Bill, an American isolationist, and Esther, a Polish nurse, and the unexpected happens.

"Varnished but pleasant—sometimes romantic, sometimes exciting story of France under the Axis. . . Light entertainment value."

+ Kirkus 12:6 Ja 1 '44 170w

"Not outstanding in characterization or element of suspense which is so important to this type of story. Reader whose chief diet is spy stories will want faster pace, but this is good reading. Recommended for libraries that buy a great deal of fiction." Emily Garnett

+ Library J 69:160 F 15 '44 60w

"R. L. Yorck has a spare, staccato, oblique style: and it is excellent in conveying the tension under which these conspirators live. It is not so good in the passages where Tarner tries to explain to Bill how and why Texas is concerned with this 'foreign war.'. . . That final scene is melodramatic, not entirely credible as fact, but it has a distorted symbolic power. It is like a passionate caricature which gives the truth more clearly than would a careful, minutely life-like portrait." R. E. Roberts

+ — Sat R of Lit 27:25 Ap 1 '44 320w

"R. L. Yorck writes with gusto and an intimate knowledge of famous names, places and every-day existence in 1940 France. Although some of her characters are shadowy, Bill is memorable." Leo Lerman

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Mr 12 '44 550w

YOST, DON M., and RUSSELL, HORACE. Systematic inorganic chemistry of the fifth-and-sixth-group nonmetallic elements. 423p $6; to schools $4.60 Prentice-Hall

546.1 Chemistry, Inorganic 44-5072

"A new type of text and reference book. Instead of being merely descriptive as has been customary in many inorganic works, the authors have critically selected data from the literature and in stressing the physico-chemical approach to inorganic chemistry, have provided for a very useful book. The subject matter comprises the chemistry of nitrogen, phosphorus, oxygen, sulphur, selenium and tellurium. Three appendixes containing a bibliography, general constants, and the periodic system add to the value." Chem & Met Eng

"The book contains a wealth of information, much of which is presented in the form of neat tables of data or clearly drawn curves and diagrams. The point of view throughout is critical and the choice of subject matter carefully made. References to the original literature are numerous and are given in the running text rather than in footnotes or chapter bibliographies. . . There are very few typographical errors. This work immediately will become one of the standard reference books in the field of inorganic chemistry." W. C. Fernelius

+ Chem & Eng N 22:1616 S 25 '44 360w

"A great number of excellent textbooks exists in the field of metals, but non-metals have been treated quite frequently as step-children, and thus the work by Drs. Yost and Russell will find enthusiastic reception. . . The book will be equally important to the research worker, the teacher, and the student. It can be recommended without reservation." F. C. Nachod

+ Chem & Met Eng 51:189 Jl '44 150w

"Altogether this excellent book can be recommended enthusiastically to the attention of all teachers and students of chemistry." F. H. MacDougall

+ J Phys Chem 48:426 N '44 900w

Library J 69:815 O 1 '44 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:41 Jl '44

YOST, EDNA. Normal lives for the disabled; in collaboration with Dr Lillian M. Gilbreth. 298p $2.50 Macmillan

331.86 Disabled—Rehabilitation, etc. 44-9382

"Presents techniques to be used by the 'handicapped' individual; by family and friends; by people and agencies whose job is rehabilitation; by business and industry, which must furnish most of the necessary jobs, and by the public, which must understand and cooperate." (Introd) Index.

"A scholarly and more extensive book deliberately calculated to aid 'everyone who has a physical handicap of any kind.' "
+ Book Week p28 N 12 '44 180w
Booklist 41:85 N 15 '44

"This is terribly important, and is going to be more so as more injured men get home. Clip out this notice and paste it where you can find it. The book can be given to any injured veteran or civilian without offense. It is sane and practical, as well as encouraging."
+ Christian Century 61:1321 N 15 '44 110w

"Written for the handicapped (whether civilian or veteran), and by two experienced people in the field, this gives unsentimentalized assurance as well as complete coverage of the emotional, vocational and medical factors to be faced. . . For the disabled, their families, and therapists."
+ Kirkus 12:312 Jl 15 '44 170w

"Timely, readable book full of warm, human stories of men and women who have overcome physical handicaps and, through vocational and social adjustment, have achieved economic independence, social desirability and emotional happiness. . . Recommended." G. O. Kelley
+ Library J 69:698 S 1 '44 100w
Library J 70:35 Ja 1 '45 50w

Reviewed by Richard Match
N Y Times p4 N 5 '44 550w
School & Society 60:288 O 28 '44 50w

"Unique, in that it is addressed directly to the disabled person himself, this book is a most practical guide to anyone handicapped by war or by injuries in civilian life."
+ Scientific Bk Club R 15:3 D '44 300w

"This book should be read and re-read by every disabled person and by every person, professional or otherwise, who, as friend or counselor, wants to assist them. To the new worker especially it will be a 'Bible.' It is to be hoped it will find its way into every hospital library and every doctor's waiting room." Henry Redkey
+ Survey 81:29 Ja '45 320w

YOUNG, JAMES FREDERICK, ed. Materials and processes. 628p il $5 Wiley

620.18 Metals. Plastics. Metal work 44-3468

"In textbook form with review questions appended to the chapters, but intended both for students of engineering design and for engineers concerned with the design and manufacture of electromechanical devices. Part I, Materials, treats of such subjects as Alloys; Mechanical properties of metals; Corrosion; Electrical insulation; Plastics and their molding. Part II, Processes, treats of such topics as Casting processes; Powder metallurgy; Welding and allied processes; Gaging, inspection and quality control. Partly based on lectures given in a course in the Advanced engineering program of the General Electric Company." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:314 My 15 '44

"The book is primarily meant as a guide and should not be relied upon as comprehensive information for any given problem. So only 26 pages are devoted to corrosion phenomena. However, the book should be of value to the engineer, the designer and the draftsman if the limitations pointed out are kept in mind."
+ Chem & Met Eng 51:190 Jl '44 250w

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:306 Ap 1 '44 40w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:7 Ja '44

YOUNG, MARGUERITE. Moderate fable [poems]. 50p $2 Reynal

811 44-7153

"In the seven years since the publication of 'Prismatic Ground,' the poetry of Marguerite Young has not only taken a complete change of direction, it has even established itself on a higher (and a more nebulous) plane. Her earlier book was made up of graceful but perhaps excessively simple lyrics, lit by flashes of Millay and Wylie. She has since deserted these models for others more experimental and difficult. Her technique, apparently following her own inner development, has worked toward greater subtlety and complexity, longer lines, more diffused and varied rhythms. She is concerned with such weighty themes as perfection, flaw, time, probability, reality, and illusion." Sat R of Lit

Reviewed by Leo Kennedy
+ Book Week p2 O 8 '44 450w

"Spontaneity is entirely lacking, and the whole resolves itself into a pattern too affected and strained to be rewarding reading."
— Kirkus 12:292 Jl 1 '44 120w

Reviewed by Oscar Williams
New Repub 111:534 O 23 '44 150w

Reviewed by F. C. Flint
N Y Times p13 S 3 '44 500w

"Marguerite Young is another who does not seem quite to have come into her own. She scatters her powers unduly among metaphysical concepts and a semi-surrealist technique. Under this virtuosity of surface, however, she appears to be experiencing authentic emotions and making imaginative observations." Louise Bogan
+ — New Yorker 20:92 O 21 '44 50w

"Of Marguerite Young's distinguished position among the younger poets, of her memorable lines, of her chromatic and flexible verse forms, those who have followed these poems separately, in the magazines, are already aware. Since Prismatic Ground, in 1937, her skill has developed steadily. Now that the organic unity of her new poems is established, she stands firmly among the mature poets whose art serves expertly the search for wisdom." Jeremy Ingalls
+ Poetry 65:215 Ja '45 900w

"Miss Young is a fine and important poet, worthy of being judged not by those standards by which we praise much contemporary verse—applying only these, one would have to speak feelingly of her achievements. Her work is strong enough to be submitted to more austere and absolute standards. By such criteria, there is a good deal that might be questioned in 'Moderate Fable.' It is an arduous book to read; little is direct or passionate; always the whimsy and the indirection, the delicate evasion, the escape into fancy." J. F. Nims
+ — Sat R of Lit 27:22 N 25 '44 400w

Reviewed by Ruth Lechlitner
Weekly Book Review p4 Ja 28 '45 500w

YOUNG, MICHAEL, pseud. Trial of Adolf Hitler. 221p $2.50 Dutton

Hitler, Adolf—Fiction 44-3667

"For those who desire to refresh their minds as to events in Europe since March, 1938, when Hitler rode triumphantly into Vienna, here is a fiction-coated chronicle which emerges from history and plunges into speculation. . . Mr. Young fixes the day of victory over Germany with calendar precision—November 9, 1944—and his summary of what will happen to Germany and her satellites is nothing if not specific. In the following year Madam Chiang presides at the trial which is Hitler's spectacular finish—a bizarre and fantastic flight of invention." Weekly Book Review

"In my opinion, the book lacks unity. The first half is a very realistic, extremely dramatic account of the sufferings and privations of the Schneidermann refugee family from Vienna, while the second part abruptly changes into a prophetic fantasy." H. L. Reich
— + Book Week p5 Ap 23 '44 600w

"Passionate propaganda and fustian prose for a story which is at best an idea, and should never have been embodied in written—let alone printed—words. One can make a bow to the author's social consciousness, humanitarianism, and the stunt value of the title—but that is all."
— + Kirkus 12:183 Ap 15 '44 90w

YOUNG, MICHAEL—Continued

"An odd combination of story, melodrama and conjecture, with little to recommend it." J. C. Shipman

— Library J 69:204 Mr 1 '44 120w

Reviewed by John Cournos

N Y Times p25 Ap 30 '44 280w

"The publishers hint that Mr Young has a wealth of inside knowledge which he has woven into this semifantasy. That may be so; but in total effect his effort seems to fall between two stools. As fiction it is only mildly entertaining; as prophecy it seems unconvincing; and if it offers a serious message, it is weakened by the obvious oversimplification of the whole problem of modern war and peace." C. C.

— Springf'd Republican p4d Jl 9 '44 300w

Reviewed by Lisle Bell

Weekly Book Review p13 Ap 23 '44 150w

YOUNG, MRS MIRIAM (BURT). Mother wore tights; il. by Howard Williamson. (Whittlesey house publication) 255p $2.50 McGraw

792.2 Vaudeville. Burt, Myrtle (McKinley). Burt, Frank A. 44-8281

The daughter of a pair of old-time vaudeville troupers recalls the story of the heyday of that type of entertainment as evidenced in the lives of her father and mother.

"Mrs. Young has a large and rich fund of amusing experiences from which to draw, and she has used this material to excellent advantage." John Norcross

+ Book Week p9 O 8 '44 360w

Booklist 41:87 N 15 '44

Boston Globe p17 S 27 '44 330w

"Italicized, but not overly sentimentalized—cognizant of the absurdities of these past times—, this is a loving, appreciative account of the author's parents, vaudeville and vaudevillians."

+ Kirkus 12:333 Ag 1 '44 180w

"The author evidently has a deep admiration for the talents of her parents and fond memories of a happy childhood spent backstage, in boarding schools, on Pullmans, in big and little hotels. . . She has a fine stock of humorous incidents showing the kindly nature and propensity for kidding of show people. But she has no great gift for making her story anything more than a daughter's pleasant retelling of oft-told tales of the family vaudeville life." B. S.

+ — N Y Times p26 N 12 '44 280w

"Mrs. Young has no more idea of how to write than the man in the moon but, simply by loading her book with the detail of backstage life, she manages to capture much of the gaslit atmosphere and Floradora feeling of the era she describes. Vaudeville fanciers should have fun with this one."

+ — New Yorker 20:78 S 30 '44 60w

"To those who recall vaudeville with nostalgic affection this book will offer many memories. The author has an excellent sense of timing and the gift of story telling. While many of the reminiscences are as pointed as a vaudeville gag they don't detract from the easy rhythm of her tale. Leaving the impression that she could have told much more, her story is delightful reading, a pleasant reminder of an entertainment era which for many the movies will never replace." H. O. Austin

+ Springf'd Republican p4d O 22 '44 440w

Weekly Book Review p14 O 1 '44 200w

Wis Lib Bul 40:145 N '44

YOUNG, STANLEY. Mayflower boy; il. by Edward Shenton. 272p $2 Farrar 44-6540

The hero of this story for grades four to six is Giles Hopkins, one of the youthful members of the Plymouth colony. Beginning when the captain of the Mayflower had just sighted land, the story follows the adventures of the members of the little colony up to the first Thanksgiving.

Booklist 41:28 S '44

Reviewed by F. C. Darling

Christian Science Monitor p12 O 26 '44 100w

Reviewed by A. M. Jordan

Horn Bk 20:380 S '44 90w

"Exciting fiction and authentic fact, with Pilgrim and Indian enchantment reborn."

+ Kirkus 12:298 Jl 1 '44 130w

"Author has drawn characters in such a way that they come alive for every school boy and girl. . . Recommended for ages ten to twelve." S. J. Robinson

+ Library J 69:764 S 15 '44 60w

Reviewed by P. D. Edie

Library J 69:867 O 15 '44 70w

"Their conversation is lively and natural and there are gleams of sly humor in the portrayal of the goodly company. Yet somehow, in spite of the humanizing of these historical figures, Mr. Young seems to have missed something of the greatness of their stark endeavor. There are exciting incidents, but the whole is lacking in a certain dramatic continuity. Nevertheless, this is an honest story, clinging close to the historic facts, which brings those sturdy people closer within our comprehension." E. L. Buell

+ — N Y Times p24 O 8 '44 200w

"It is, on the whole, an unusually lively and readable record of a year that has been 'done to death' in the history books. The chapter headings and decorations in black and white are effectively reproduced." M. G. D.

+ Sat R of Lit 27:31 O 21 '44 360w

YOUNGER, JOHN ELLIOTT, and others. Airplane maintenance; a textbook for airplane mechanics. new 2d ed 361p il $3 McGraw

629.13 Airplanes—Maintenance and repair 44-3477

"A practical introduction for mechanics preparing to repair and maintain commercial and military airplanes. The text has been expanded a few pages, and new tables, references and review questions added. Except for these changes the book is the same as the previous edition [Book Review Digest, 1938]." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Reviewed by L. A. Eales

Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 50w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:40 Jl '44

YURCHAK, PETER P. Club leader's handbook. 166p $2 Harper

367 Clubs 43-17209

"This manual for use in clubs, lodges and churches, and in leading business community, labor and political groups, begins with general training for leadership of any sort and ways and means by which one may train himself. Public speaking is treated at length, and parliamentary procedure brought to close range. For each chapter there is an unusually full reading list for further study." Weekly Book Review

Booklist 40:178 Ja 15 '44

Weekly Book Review p16 D 12 '43 80w

Wis Lib Bul 40:34 Mr '44

Z

ZATURENSKA, MARYA ALEXANDROVNA (MRS HORACE GREGORY). Golden mirror. 73p $1.75 Macmillan

811 44-7184

"Tones and over-tones of sadness haunt this volume of poems: the elegiac strain is insistent. . . Memories of the past, the formal beauties of eighteenth century furniture and painting, the magic of evanescent loveliness in landscape or garden, the vision of candle-lit figures dancing to the music of Chopin or Lully—all these are evoked in clear colors and soft shadows and skillfully phrased rhythms." Weekly Book Review

Book Week p15 N 19 '44 150w

Booklist 41:167 F 1 '45

"These are the poems of a sentimental woman. They have little or no command of form; they convey no particular idea, sense of locale, or even strong feeling, other than a vague slavic nostalgia and 'sense of life.' . . At best they say little to me; but at least I must admit that Miss Zaturenska, presumably a woman of grace and charm, seems not to be choking on the black, bitter apple of the modernists."

— + Kirkus 12:192 Ap 15 '44 90w

Reviewed by F. W. Dupee

Nation 159:662 N 25 '44 120w

Reviewed by Oscar Williams

New Repub 111:534 O 23 '44 180w

"Miss Zaturenska's [book] seems to me pleasant and even what is called 'distinguished' without being distinctive. She writes with a delicate sedateness. In one place she says: 'The language that I speak, The lucid dream is there.' I agree about the lucidity, but I glean only slight intimations of any dream." F. C. Flint

— + N Y Times p13 S 3 '44 200w

"This is by far the best written of Miss Zaturenska's volumes. She now moves at ease in her world of literary, artistic, and spiritual references. The poems reflect charming thoughts and irreproachable sentiments, or celebrate delicate, ambiguous occasions. If it all bears some relation to the genteel arrangements of a bibelot collection, one or two direct and poignant poems redeem the literariness and make-believe of the whole." Louise Bogan

+ New Yorker 20:92 O 21 '44 110w

"In the golden mirror we gaze into a world where the light has grown hard and dazzling as a jewel, where opposites are transmuted into a unity, 'cold into warmth, twixt fire and ice still burning,' and time grows sluggish—as inclusive, abstract, and dangerous as eternity. Miss Zaturenska gives us her vision of this world in verses whose limpidity, elegance and purity are a constant delight. These are pastoral poems, but the best of them are not simple or naive ones." A. J. M. Smith

+ — Poetry 65:150 D '44 800w

Springf'd Republican p6 Ag 28 '44 330w

"'The Encounter,' 'The Visitation of Angels' and 'Variations on a Theme by George Herbert' are poems which show Marya Zaturenska at her best. They are simple, sensuous and passionate, and use fresh and unusual images to give new poetic reality to the experiences of a deeply felt personal faith." Elizabeth Drew

+ Weekly Book Review p4 Ag 27 '44 600w

ZELOMEK, A. WILBERT. Here comes tomorrow. 131p $2 Ziff-Davis

330.973 U.S.—Economic policy 44-47247

"To-the-point observations on economic expectations following the war's end. Covering with much more brevity and with much less picturesqueness of language than Cherne's The Rest of Your Life [Book Review Digest, 1944] such considerations as inflation, housing, jobs, and taxation, the author feels that we have learned sufficient from our last postwar experience to avoid making all the same mistakes again but that there is, nevertheless, difficult ground to be covered." (Booklist) Index.

Reviewed by Harvey O'Connor

Book Week p3 D 31 '44 450w

Booklist 41:119 D 15 '44

"Not a pretty picture, but likely to be close to the facts."

Current Hist 8:71 Ja '45 90w

Kirkus 12:465 O 1 '44 90w

"His book is unimaginatively optimistic. Too much credence is given to the notion that a vast backlog of deferred demand will sustain a decade of high production. He is even quite sanguine about our ability to reconvert to a peacetime economy without attendant political and social strains. Yet he does admit that there will be large numbers of unemployed who may create serious problems. Mr. Zelomek's forecast of postwar political relations seems considerably more justifiable than his economic prognosis; the imperialistic overtones are accurately described."

+ — New Repub 112:94 Ja 15 '45 150w

"Mr. Zelomek has trained himself to write succinctly and clearly. He treats his subject soberly and thoughtfully. The result is a readable book best described as restrainedly optimistic, with pessimistic overtones. It is a book largely without a program of action even where the author's predictions are on the pessimistic side. The author conceives of himself as a forecaster, not a planner. . . Though it is difficult to quarrel with the general reasoning by which Mr. Zelomek arrives at his main conclusions as to the level of business activity after the war, it is equally difficult to be as complacent as he seems to be about those conclusions. . . Happily the day will come when it will be not merely appropriate to think about the first ten postwar years but vitally necessary to do so. At that time 'Here Comes Tomorrow' will deserve to be widely read as the thoughtful product of an intelligent and informed mind, a mind remarkably free from wishful thinking, and not at all given to confusing economic cliches with economic thought." P. M. O'Leary

+ — Sat R of Lit 28:11 Ja 13 '45 1000w

ZEMANSKY, MARK WALDO. Heat and thermodynamics; an intermediate textbook for students of physics, chemistry, and engineering. 2d ed 390p $4 McGraw

536 Heat. Thermodynamics 43-14942

New edition of a textbook first published in 1937 (Book Review Digest, 1938). "The scope, limitations, and unified point of view of the original edition of this book have been maintained in the second edition. Some of the old material has been rewritten in order to bring it up to date or to make it more rigorous, and some new material has been added." (Pref. to second edition) Index.

Library J 68:962 N 15 '43 30w

"All in all, I know of no better book in its own field, and it should have a wide use." P. W. Bridgman

+ R of Scientific Instruments 15:104 Ap '44 500w

ZEPLER, E. E. Technique of radio design. 312p $3.50 Wiley [21s Chapman]

621.384136 Radio receivers 43-12072

"A British text dealing with the engineering problems that arise in the development and testing of radio receiving apparatus. Partial contents: Transfer of energy from the aerial; The amplifier stage; Problems of detection and frequency changing; Principles of screening; Undesired feedback; Hum, spurious beats; Distortion; Parasitic resonances; Power supply; Routine measurements; Fault finding." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:299 My 1 '44

Library J 69:33 Ja 1 '44 20w

N Y New Tech Bks 29:11 Ja '44

ZEYDEL, EDWIN HERMANN, tr. See Brant, S. Ship of fools

ZIFF, WILLIAM BERNARD. The gentlemen talk of peace. 530p $3 Macmillan

940.531 World war, 1939—Peace. World politics 44-47163

"Ziff argues that a more realistic approach to the basic problems of the world is essential before peace can be achieved. He proceeds to analyze the situation in which the major countries find themselves, problems of adjusting aging forms of society to new needs. He sees governments forced to enter business—collectivism inevitably spreading—obsolete political systems collapsing. He shows how only radical action can serve if we are to avoid chaos ahead. He surveys various treaties, pacts, coalitions; he discusses panaceas for peace and the barriers to world federation, world policing, world government and their advocates. He appraises the various methods suggested for dealing with our defeated enemies, claiming that Japan is a simple problem compared with Germany. But his main thesis is concerned with the argument in favor of a five part world, each section composed of Federated Power Aggregates, loosely joined into a world order, each a self-sustaining unit, which would eliminate cause for friction." (Kirkus) Index.

ZIFF, W. B.—Continued

"Mr. Ziff is noisy and intemperate. He will not allow two adjectives to do where four can be squeezed in. His book abounds in slickness and generalities. And he exaggerates grossly and pulls some factual boners. Yet the impact of all his accumulated fact about the state of the world today is undeniable. Most of it is right and so is most of his interpretation." Sam Halper

— + Atlantic 175:129 Ja '45 420w

Reviewed by Friedrich Roetter

Book Week p4 D 17 '44 650w

Booklist 41:151 Ja 15 '45

Christian Science Monitor p18 D 7 '44 550w

Current Hist 8:69 Ja '45 220w

"Ziff argues his case with less than the conviction of his Coming Battle of Germany. But any presentation, honestly projected, which opens our eyes to the intricacy of the problems ahead serves to stimulate further discussion and awakened interest."

+ — Kirkus 12:531 N 15 '44 260w

"This is an important book. It puts the problem of peace-making on the level on which it belongs, beyond the discussion of grandiose blueprints, ingenious gadgets of peace machinery and 'diplomatic shadow-boxing' into the very midst of the complex and dynamic forces of our international society. Not that this view is new, but here it finds a most forceful presentation, packed with crucial facts and thought-provoking insights. It is written with that cold-blooded realism and sweeping punch in style which made Ziff's earlier 'Coming Battle for Germany' a best seller. It is a sincere book, radical in the truest sense, going to the roots of the present conflict." Sigmund Neumann

+ N Y Times p4 N 26 '44 1750w

"Mr. Ziff, in the course of his five-hundred-and-twenty-page riot of awesome omniscience, says many intelligent things; the voice rays that reach us from his stratospheric pulpit often vibrate with considerable good sense. The static, though is something awful."

New Yorker 20:100 N 25 '44 180w

Reviewed by Norman Angell

Sat R of Lit 27:5 N 25 '44 130w

"This book talks of peace, too, but there is nothing gentle about it. It is a long, free-swinging catalogue of the world's ills, listed with the passion of an old-fashioned revivalist, and an ambitious plan to achieve peace by complete rearrangement of the map. Mr. Ziff is neither over-subtle in his analysis of what ails us, nor timid in his proposals for cure. This is blood-and-thunder preaching. . . This kind of juggling with the world makes interesting, possibly educational and wholly unconvincing reading. Mr. Ziff never takes up the problem of political power, assuming instead that intelligent men can, if they only wish to, 'establish a reasoned and logical world backed by a total faith in the destiny of those things we hold to be true.' Who is to tie the bell around the cat is still the question." Joseph Barnes

Weekly Book Review p2 N 19 '44 700w

ZIM, HERBERT SPENCER, and COOPER, ELIZABETH K. Minerals; their identification, uses, and how to collect them. 368p $3 Harcourt

549 Mineralogy 43-15150

"A simple introduction to mineralogy, with clear and explicit directions for starting and building up a collection. Accompanied by illustrations which will set the young collector on the right track." Wis Lib Bul

"The authors have taken a technical subject and by simple language have made it understandable and interesting, even to a novice in the realms of science." Edwin Goldberger

+ Book Week p10 Ja 23 '44 230w

Booklist 40:118 D 1 '43

Bookmark 5:15 Ag '44

"The chapters are not only illuminating as a means of identifying rocks, but they are also valuable to boys and girls who wish to set up collections in the best possible way. We unreservedly recommend this book." A. M. Jordan

+ Horn Bk 19:417 N '43 100w

N Y New Tech Bks 28:66 O '43

Wis Lib Bul 40:13 Ja '44

ZIMMERMAN, MRS NAOMA. The party dress; il. by Margaret Gardner and the author. 28p $1.25 Ziff-Davis

44-47775

Picture-story book about a little girl who had a new party dress for her birthday, and what she did to keep it clean until the proper time to wear it.

"Wide-awake and lots of fun. . . Both the story and the pictures, which Margaret Gardner and the author have worked out together, are charming. Of course a worthwhile lesson is painlessly taught." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p5 N 12 '44 150w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 17 '44 90w

ZIMMERMAN, MRS NAOMA. The sleepy forest; il. by Joe W. Tillotson and the author. [24p] $1.25 Ziff-Davis

44-47870

Picture-story book about sleepy animals and especially a wide-awake little duckling who finally went to sleep. For bedtime reading for very small children.

"A lovely book, a bedtime book that will give any little boy or girl a beautifully drowsy, falling-asleep feeling." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p5 N 12 '44 120w

"Regardless of fact that it is written with a purpose, it is a very attractive and colorful little picture storybook that any child between the ages of two and four will enjoy." D. M. MacDonald

+ Library J 70:71 Ja 15 '45 70w

"The suggestions for reading found on the cover will be helpful to many a weary putter-to-bed." L. R. S.

+ Springf'd Republican p4d Ja 21 '45 110w

ZIMMERMAN, MRS NAOMA. Timothy-Tick-Tock; il. by Margaret Gardner and the author. [25]p $1.25 Ziff-Davis

44-47777

A picture-story book designed to teach little children to tell time, and the reasons for importance of clocks.

"Here is a practical little book which will help children to learn not only to tell time but to understand why their lives must run on a basis which pays due respect to the clock. . . Excellent diagrams which designate the hour hand as a tortoise and the minute hand as a hare, explain simply and understandably, how this business of telling time really works." P. A. Whitney

+ Book Week p10 D 10 '44 130w

Springf'd Republican p4d D 17 '44 90w

ZIPPRICH, ANTHONY E. Freehand drafting; a text and problem book of engineering sketching; with an introd. by Carl L. Svensen. 2d ed 149p $1.75 Van Nostrand

744.4 Drawing 43-15050

"The new material consists of a chapter on Assembly views, comprising four pages of text, and twenty new plates that modernize the book with outlines of tanks and aircraft. Apart from these additions, it is practically the same as the previous edition (1924)." (N Y New Tech Bks) Index.

Booklist 40:149 D 15 '43

N Y New Tech Bks 28:42 Jl '43

"Freehand Drafting is of especial value to those who do not find it convenient or who do not have the time to make drawings with instruments and, as a consequence, this book is designed for mechanics, salesmen, executives, and for students in evening and trade schools. It includes about 170 problems and exercises, besides clear-cut sketches which illustrate every step and operation in freehand drafting."

+ School Arts 44:11a N '44 80w

ZISTEL, ERA, comp. Treasury of cat stories; il. by Peggy Bacon. 278p $2.50 Greenberg

Cats—Legends and stories. Short stories—Collections 44-40074

Contents: A conversation with a cat, by Hilaire Belloc; The slum cat, by E. T. Seton; The kitten's tailor, by Peggy Bacon; Tobias, by Alan Devoe; Tobermory, by Saki (H. H. Munro); The birthday present, by M. M. Scott; Cat's cruise, by Mazo de la Roche; "If she had the family—", by Ibby Hall; Broomsticks, by Walter de la Mare; Biography, by Era Zistel; Cats will be cats, by P. G. Wodehouse; Ginger: an outlaw, by F. G. Turnbull; The cat that knew hell, by D. Manners-Sutton; The cat, by M. E. W. Freeman; The cat of the cane-brake, by F. S. Greene; Sukey, by E. B. Simmons; The identity of Diddums, by Caroline Marriage; The totem of Amarillo, by Emma-Lindsay Squier; Gato mio!, by A. E. Wilson; The undoing of Morning Glory Adolphus, by N. M. Campbell; The cat and the cobra, by A. W. Smith; Calvin, the cat, by C. D. Warner; How a cat played Robinson Crusoe, by C. G. D. Roberts; A black affair, by W. W. Jacobs; To Jake, wherever he may be! by Morys Gascoyen.

Reviewed by America Chapel
Book Week p6 Ap 9 '44 230w

Booklist 40:285 Ap 15 '44

Kirkus 12:102 Mr 1 '44 90w

Reviewed by Marian Cumming
Library J 69:465 My 15 '44 80w

"Anyone who likes animals, or in fact anyone who enjoys a good short story, should find Era Zistel's collection of cat stories an enjoyable book." Beatrice Sherman

+ N Y Times p12 My 7 '44 490w

"Stories about cats are probably designed for people who love cats, and such people will undoubtedly, as the publishers cheerily suggest, be delighted by this collection. Whether it will delight those who love good short stories is another matter, in spite of the inclusion among some rather undistinguished material of a gem like Saki's 'Tobermory' and a pleasing little essay by Charles Dudley Warner."

New Yorker 20:83 Ap 15 '44 110w

Reviewed by Helen Lowe
Springf'd Republican p4d Je 4 '44 330w

ZOLOTOW, MRS CHARLOTTE (SHAPIRO). Park book; pictures by H. A. Rey. [29p] $1.75 Harper 44-9471

Picture-story book describing for small readers one whole day in a city park.

Booklist 41:112 D 1 '44

"A book that could be used with pre-school children or given to first graders as a primer."

+ Kirkus 12:479 O 15 '44 150w

Reviewed by R. O. Bostwick
Library J 69:1106 D 15 '44 70w

"New York children know New York parks more intimately than most of us do, and this pleasing book is the perfect gift for any city child from three to six years old."

+ New Yorker 20:80 D 16 '44 70w

Sat R of Lit 27:29 N 11 '44 20w

+ Weekly Book Review p7 N 12 '44 250w

ZOLOTOW, MAURICE. Never whistle in a dressing room; or, Breakfast in bedlam. 319p $2.75 Dutton

920 New York (city)—Social life and customs 44-2425

"Author is well-known magazine writer. Many of these articles about Broadway and its denizens appeared in The Saturday Evening Post. . . These include Broadway Rose, the famous panhandler, Lou Walters, the night-club king, Charles Atlas, 'the mail order muscle king,' Howard S. Cullman, Broadway favorite, famous angel, Crosby Gaige, producer and gourmet, the USO-Camp Shows, Abe Ellis, the hat check entrepreneur." Library J

"Never Whistle in a Dressing Room should amuse those who enjoy fantastic behavior." Schuyler Watts

Atlantic 173:131 My '44 360w

Booklist 40:314 My 15 '44

Boston Globe p29 N 29 '44 60w

Cleveland Open Shelf p6 Mr '44

Kirkus 12:109 Mr 1 '44 150w

"His style is rousing, even racy, and quite in keeping with his subjects. . . Admittedly trivial but nonetheless fascinating, this book is recommended for general non-fiction collections of large libraries." George Freedley

+ Library J 69:262 Mr 15 '44 80w

"His stuff is meaty with facts and good, swift reading all the way." Earl Wilson

+ N Y Times p6 Ap 16 '44 800w

Theatre Arts 28:747 D '44 360w

"The Zolotow studies are undistinguished, and he seldom digs below the surface, but they do give an accurate idea of what the tinsel Main Stem is like. The author has a wholesome respect for facts, unusual among Broadway's historians and greatly to his credit."

+ Weekly Book Review p16 My 28 '44 340w

ZUCKER, PAUL, ed. New architecture and city planning; a symposium. 694p il $10 Philosophical lib.

720.82 Architecture. City planning. Housing 44-9508

"This symposium of sixty specialists, all qualified to say at least a few worth-while things in their fields, presents an enormous range of problems and contexts—from prisons to national parks, from ships to the administration of regional authorities; farms, fairs, new materials, factories, railroads, etc. All this is the physical plant of society. . . The general tone of the symposiasts is progressive without startling changes, even as regards plastics, electronics and aircraft." N Y Times

Booklist 41:136 Ja 1 '45

"This is a book, not only for the architect who is willing to break with the past and begin to design homes on the basis of modern needs, and not only for the planner struck by the obsolescence of American cities, but also for the average, potential home-owner who would protect his major investment by at least a basic understanding of what lies ahead in home building." W. C. H.

+ Christian Science Monitor p16 Ja 13 '45 650w

Reviewed by Paul Goodman
N Y Times p10 Ja 14 '45 900w

ZWEIG, STEFAN. The royal game; tr. by B. W. Huebsch [and] Amok [and] Letter from an unknown woman [tr. by Eden and Cedar Paul]. 187p $2.50 Viking 44-3264

Three novelettes, two of which have been previously published in separate volumes: Amok, and Letter From an Unknown Woman. The title story is a psychological study of an Austrian doctor, a refugee, who had been a Nazi captive. While in solitary confinement the doctor had learned chess in order to keep his sanity. On the boat to South America he played his last game.

ZWEIG, STEFAN—Continued

"It has been said truly that Zweig was murdered by the Fascists as surely as if he had been beaten to death in a concentration camp or had been slain in battle. These novelettes give some indication of the deeply emotional and keenly sensitive quality of a storm-tossed mind which finally reached an extremity of torture it could not endure." Jack Conroy
Book Week p3 Ap 16 '44 550w

"There's a strange note of morbidity—but a certain fascination in all three tales."
Kirkus 12:7 Ja 1 '44 200w

"Brilliant writing marks these fine short novels. Recommended." M. P. McKay
+ Library J 69:304 Ap 1 '44 70w

Reviewed by Diana Trilling
Nation 158:547 My 6 '44 260w

Reviewed by Kenneth Fearing
N Y Times p7 Ap 9 '44 700w

"All three stories are in the late Herr Zweig's irreproachable, overstuffed manner."
New Yorker 20:83 Ap 15 '44 110w

"All three of the stories are intellectually morbid, and by erasing all excesses of emotionalism they actually create an intense stimulation and nervous excitement in the mind of the reader. Zweig's style definitely belongs to a generation which was intellectually aware of all the passions of mind and body, and at the same time magnificently conscious of writing as an abstract expression of art rather than of reality. Such writing is apart from this world, and it is very easy to understand why such a writer could find no place for himsel and why his suicide was an intellectual rathe than a spiritual tragedy." L. S. Munn
Springf'd Republican p4d My 14 '4 650w

"In every way—in conception, realization, in power and meaning and in technique, with the single reservation of the inconclusive ending o 'The Royal Game'—these stories by Stefan Zweig belong with the best of their form, in that small, distinguished company of perfec novelettes." F. H. Bullock
+ Weekly Book Review p5 Ap 9 '44 550w

ZWENG, CHARLES A., and ZWENG, ALLAN C. Airline transport pilot rating. 493p il pa $4 Pan Am. navigation service, 12021 Ventura blvd, N. Hollywood, Calif.

629.1325 Navigation (aeronautics). Aeronautics—Examinations, questions, etc.
44-4966

"This text for airmen preparing to take the government transport pilot examinations, covers four main topics; navigation, use of instruments, meteorology, and civil air regulations. The last section, occupying half the volume, includes material on airworthiness and aircraft dispatcher certificates, air traffic rules, and airport traffic control. The final chapter lists examples of multiple choice questions given in the government tests." N Y New Tech Bks

Reviewed by L. A. Eales
Library J 69:504 Je 1 '44 60w
N Y New Tech Bks 29:39 Jl '44

Subject and Title Index

To Author Entries, March, 1944—February, 1945

Owing to the fact that the Book Review Digest year does not correspond to the calendar year, running instead from March to March, index entries for January and February of each year refer to the volume dated the previous year; i.e., January and February 1945 will be found in the 1944 Annual. These entries are thus indicated in the index; (Ja '45) (1944 Annual); (F '45) (1944 Annual).

A.L.A. catalog, 1937-1941. (S '44)
ATS mystery. Warren, J. R. (Ag '44)
AWOL: K-9 commando. Shurtleff, B. L. (Ag '44)
Ability, influence of age on
  Cole, L. W. Attaining maturity. (S '44)
Absent in the spring. Westmacott, M. (O '44)
Abt, Isaac Arthur
  Abt, I. A. Baby doctor. (Ap '44)
Accidents
Prevention
  Berman, H. H., and McCrone, H. W. Applied safety engineering. (Ap '44)
Account rendered. Brittain, V. M. (D '44)
Accounting
  Lasser, J. K., ed. Handbook of accounting methods. (Ap '44)
  May, G. O. Financial accounting. (Ag '44)
Acrobats and acrobatism
  Horne, V. L. Stunts and tumbling for girls. (Ap '44)
Act of life. Spencer, T. (Je '44)
Actors and actresses
  Marks, E. B. They all had glamour. (Je '44)
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Stone, E. C., and Melick, W. Coming, Major! (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Adams, Dorothy
  Adams, D. We stood alone. (O '44)
Addams, Jane
Juvenile literature
  Wagoner, J. B. Jane Addams, little lame girl. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Addendum to The chemistry of the amino acids and proteins. Schmidt, C. L. A., ed. (O '44)
Addressed to youth. Wolff, M. E. (D '44)
Adhesives
  Perry, T. D. Modern wood adhesives. (S '44)
Administration of the American public library. McDiarmid, E. W. and J. (Je '44)
The admiral. Healy, L. H., and Kutner, L. (S '44)
Adolescence
  Jones, H. E., and others. Development in adolescence. (Je '44)
Adventure and adventurers
  Allan, D. Lightning strikes once. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Adventure in Vermont. Pratt, W. M. (Ap '44)
Adventure in world order. Nash, P. C. (S '44)
Adventures in symphonic music. Downes, E. (S '44)
Adventures of Baron Munchausen. Munchausen. (D '44)
Adventures of Jack Ninepins. Averill, E. (D '44)
Adventures of Monkey. Wu Chêng-ên (N '44)
Adventures of the young soldier in search of the better world. Joad, C. E. M. (N '44)
Advertising
  Clark, T. B. Advertising smoke screen. (D '44)
Churches
  Brodie, W. A. Keeping your church informed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Colleges and universities
  Butterfield, W. H. How to use letters in college public relations. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Advertising smoke screen. Clark, T. B. (D '44)
Aerodynamics
  Cowley, W. L. Aerodynamics of the aeroplane. (Je '44)
  Nikolsky, A. A. Notes on helicopter design theory. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Aerodynamics of the aeroplane. Cowley, W. L. (Je '44)
Aeronautical instruments
  Irvin, G. E. Aircraft instruments. (My '44)
  Redfield, H. L. Instrument flying and radio navigation. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Stieri, E. Aircraft instruments. (Ag '44)
Aeronautics
  Johnston, S. P. Wings after war. (Je '44)
  Merriam, H. G., and others, eds. Reading for an air age. (My '44)
  Paust, G. H. Here's how to fly. (D '44)
Dictionaries
  Aviation research associates, incorporated. Illustrated aviation encyclopedia. (O '44)
  Lanz, J. E. Aviation dictionary in nine languages. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Neville, L. E., ed. Aviation dictionary for boys and girls. (D '44)
Examinations, questions, etc.
  Hubbard, R., and Dilworth, A. Airplane engine mechanics. (O '44)
  Zweng, C. A. and A. C. Airline transport pilot rating. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Flights
  Heinmuller, J. P. V. Man's fight to fly. (O '44)
History
  Bishop, W. A. Winged peace. (D '44)
  Heinmuller, J. P. V. Man's fight to fly. (O '44)
  Tangye, N. Britain in the air. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Juvenile literature
  Chapelle, G. L. M. How planes get there. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Chapelle, G. L. M. Planes in action. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Dunn, M. L., and Morrisett, L. N. Wings for America. (Ag '44)
  McClintock, M. Airplanes and how they fly. (Ap '44)
  Neville, L. E., ed. Aviation dictionary for boys and girls. (D '44)
  Roan, C. M. Wings on the air. (S '44)
  Sorenson, F. E., and Rotter, G. E. Now we fly. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Tatham, C. First flying book. (O '44)
Pictorial works
  Paust, G. H., and Lancelot, M. Fighting wings. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Yearbooks
  Aircraft annual, 1944. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Aeronautics, Commercial
  Bishop, W. A. Winged peace. (D '44)
  Cleveland, R. M., and Neville, L. E. Coming air age. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Hinkel, R. E., and Baron, L. Educational guide in air transportation. (D '44)
  Johnston, S. P. Wings after war. (Je '44)
  Josephson, M. Empire of the air. (My '44)
  Van Zandt, J. P. Geography of world air transport. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Aeronautics, Military
Bishop, W. A. Winged peace. (D '44)
Elton, W. W. Navy in the sky. (My '44)
Elton, W. W., and others. Guide to naval aviation. (Je '44)
Gauvreau, E. H. Wild blue yonder. (O '44)
Michie, A. A. Keep the peace through air power. (S '44)
Schnapper, M. B., ed. U.S. aviation in wartime. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States. Army air forces. Official guide to the Army air forces: AAF. (S '44)

Aeronautics as a profession
Chapelle, G. L. M. Girls at work in aviation. (Mr '44)

Aesthetic process. Morris, B. (Ag '44)
Affair at Abu Mina. William, P. (O '44)
Affair of the dead stranger. Knight, C. (D '44)
Affairs of destiny. Simenon, G. (D '44)

Africa
Wells, C. Introducing Africa. (Mr '44)

Civilization
Orizu, A. A. N. Without bitterness. (N '44)

Colonization
Wieschhoff, H. A. Colonial policies in Africa. (N '44)

Discovery and exploration
Sanceau, E. Land of Prester John. (Je '44)

Africa, Central

Description and travel
Busoni, R. Stanley's Africa. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

African languages
MacDougald, D. Languages and press of Africa. (N '44)

After a fashion. Hall, M. (Ap '44)
After-dinner story. Woolrich, C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Again in October. Van Ness, L. (Ap '44)
Against a background on fire. Clapp, F. M. (Ag '44)
Against oblivion. Birkenhead, S. B. S. (S '44)

Agricultural administration

Russia
Bienstock, G., and others. Management in Russian industry and agriculture. (Ag '44)

Agricultural chemistry
Browne, C. A. Source book of agricultural chemistry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Agriculture
Graham, E. H. Natural principles of land use. (Ag '44)
Greenburg, D. B., and Corbin, C. So you're going to buy a farm. (Ag '44)
Wend, M. How to live in the country without farming. (My '44)

Economic aspects
Pearson, F. A., and Paarlberg, D. Food. (My '44)
Prentice, E. P. Food, war and the future. (Ag '44)

Juvenile literature
Rifkin, L. When I grow up I'll be a farmer. (My '44)

Africa
Githens, T. S., and Wood, C. E. Food resources of Africa. (Je '44)

Germany
Gerschenkron, A. Bread and democracy in Germany. (My '44)

Macedonia
Allen, H. B. Come over into Macedonia. (Mr '44)

Palestine
Lowdermilk, W. C. Palestine. (My '44)

South
Bullock, B. F. Practical farming for the South. (N '44)

Agriculture, Cooperative
Infield, H. F. Cooperative living in Palestine. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Aids to worship. Palmer, A. W., ed. (N '44)
Air acrobatics are easy. Brimm, D. J. (My '44)

Air compressors
Graham, F. D. Audels pumps, hydraulics, air compressors. (Ap '44)

Air conditioning
Anderson, E. P. Audels refrigeration and air conditioning guide. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Jennings, B. H., and Lewis, S. R. Air conditioning and refrigeration. (O '44)

Air conditioning and refrigeration. Jennings, B. H., and Lewis, S. R. (O '44)
Air force surgeon. Furman, A. L. (My '44)
Air forces reader. Carlisle, N. V., and others, eds. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Air gunner. Hutton, B., and Rooney, A. A. (D '44)
Air heraldry. Mann, C. (S '44)
Air navigation made easy. Naidich, J. (D '44)

Airborne troops
Ayling, K. They fly to fight. (Ag '44)

Aircraft engines of the world, 1944. Wilkinson, P. H. (S '44)
Aircraft identification for fighting airmen. Wilson, G. E. (Je '44)
Aircraft instruments. Irvin, G. E. (My '44)
Aircraft instruments. Stieri, E. (Ag '44)
Aircraft mechanics handbook. Van Winkle, P., ed. (O '44)
Aircraft production illustration. Tharratt, G. (Ag '44)
Aircraft production standards. Leavell, S., and Bungay, S., eds. (Ap '44)
Aircraft sheet metal blueprint reading. Coxen, H. H., and others. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Aircraft sheet metal work. LeMaster, C. A. (My '44)
Airline girl. O'Malley, P. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Airline transport pilot rating. Zweng, C. A. and A. C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Airman's wife. Shann, R. (D '44)

Airplane carriers
Miller, M. Daybreak for our carrier. (Ag '44)

Airplane engine mechanics. Hubbard, R., and Dilworth, A. (O '44)

Airplane engines
Griffiths, H. Mathematics for aircraft engine mechanics. (O '44)
Hubbard, R., and Dilworth, A. Airplane engine mechanics. (O '44)
Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Transportation and power. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Jordanoff, A. Power and flight. (My '44)
Smith, G. G. Gas turbines and jet propulsion for aircraft. (O '44)
Wilkinson, P. H. Aircraft engines of the world, 1944. (S '44)

Airplane industry and trade
Bowman, C. Slacks and callouses. (O '44)
Gray, R. D. Systematic wage administration in the southern California aircraft industry. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Airplane maintenance. Younger, J. E., and others. (D '44)

Airplane models
Hamburg, M. C., and Beddow, F. A. Riding on air. (S '44)

Airplane performance and operation. Speas, R. D. (Ag '44)
Airplane propeller principles. Nelson, W. C. (Je '44)

Airplanes
Arnhym, A. A. Comfortization of aircraft. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Markley, J. M. Fundamentals for the aircraft mechanic. (Ap '44)
Ott, L. Transport aircraft of the world. (D '44)

Design and construction
Blommel, W. R., and others. Elementary rivet theory. (Je '44)
Coxen, H. H., and others. Aircraft sheet metal blueprint reading. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
De Selm, B. H., ed. Manual of aircraft production. (Ap '44)
Leavell, S., and Bungay, S., eds. Aircraft production standards. (Ap '44)
LeMaster, C. A. Aircraft sheet metal work. (My '44)
Lesley, H. G. Basic airplane mechanics. (O '44)
Liming, R. A. Practical analytic geometry with applications to aircraft. (Ag '44)

Michelon, L. C. Composite aircraft manufacture and inspection. (N '44)
Peterson, R. A., and Erickson, R. E. Basic aircraft construction. (Ap '44)
Roth, M. G. Manual of aircraft riveting. (Ap '44)
Tharratt, G. Aircraft production illustration. (Ag '44)
Van Winkle, P., ed. Aircraft mechanics handbook. (O '44)

Identification

Schnapper, M. B., ed. U.S. aviation in wartime. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wilson, G. E. Aircraft identification for fighting airmen. (Je '44)

Inspection

Michelon, L. C. Composite aircraft manufacture and inspection. (N '44)

Juvenile literature

Aviation research associates, incorporated. Types of planes. (Je '44)

Maintenance and repair

Handbook of airplane maintenance and operation. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Van Winkle, P., ed. Aircraft mechanics handbook. (O '44)
Younger, J. E., and others. Airplane maintenance. (D '44)

Materials

Clancey, V. J. St. C. Chemistry and the aeroplane. (Ag '44)

Piloting

Brimm, D. J. Air acrobatics are easy. (My '44)
Hoyt, J. R. Safety after solo. (O '44)
Langewiesche-Brandt, W. E. Stick and rudder. (My '44)
McIntosh, C. H. Long-range flight. (O '44)
Redfield, H. L. Instrument flying and radio navigation. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Speas, R. D. Airplane performance and operation. (Ag '44)

Airplanes, Military
Andrews, P., and Engel, L., eds. Navy yearbook. (S '44)
Ayling, K. Bombers. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wilson, G. E. Aircraft identification for fighting airmen. (Je '44)
Airplanes and how they fly. McClintock, M. (Ap '44)
Airport engineering. Sharp, H. O., and others. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Airports
De Longe, M. E. Modern airfield, planning and concealment. (My '44)
Sharp, H. O., and others. Airport engineering. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Al Schmid, marine. Schmid, A. A. (Ap '44)
Alacoque, Marguerite Marie, Saint
Ghéon, H. Secrets of the saints. (N '44)
Alarum and excursion. Perdue, V. (O '44)
Alaska
Williamson, T. R. Far north country. (My '44)

Description and travel

Griffin, H. Alaska and the Canadian Northwest. (Ap '44)
Helmericks, C. We live in Alaska. (S '44)

Juvenile literature

Quinn, V. Picture map geography of Canada and Alaska. (Je '44)

Economic conditions

Kizer, B. H. U.S.-Canadian Northwest. (My '44)

Alaska and the Canadian Northwest. Griffin, H. (Ap '44)
Alaska highway
Lanks, H. C. Highway to Alaska. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Alberoni, Giulio, cardinal
Harcourt-Smith, S. Cardinal of Spain. (Je '44)
Alberoni. Eng title of: Cardinal of Spain. Harcourt-Smith, S. (Je '44)
Album of American history: Colonial period. Adams, J. T., ed. (Ap '44)
Album of destiny. Stuart, J. (O '44)

Alfred the Great, king of England

Fiction

Farnol, J. King liveth. (Je '44)
Algonquin provincial park, Ontario
Robins, J. D. Incomplete anglers. (Ag '44)
Alibi for Isabel. Rinehart, M. R. (S '44)
Aliens

United States

Cable, J. L. Loss of citizenship. (Ag '44)
All aboard, we are off. Ulreich, N. W. (O '44)
All about feeding children. Senn, M. J. E., and Newill, P. K. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
All dogs go to heaven. Brown, B. (Je '44)
All embarrassed. Steig, W. (S '44)
All fall down. Strong, L. A. G. (O '44)
All for the love of a lady. Brown, Z. J. (My '44)
All in a twilight. Evans, A. R. (Mr '44)
All in good time. Allis, M. (My '44)
All over but the shooting. Powell, R. P. (Ag '44)
All the year round. Gall, A. C., and Crew, F. H. (N '44)
Allen, Horace Newton
Harrington, F. H. God, mammon, and the Japanese. (My '44)
Alphabet of the army. Shenton, E. (Ap '44)
Altar and the world. Bell, B. I. (My '44)
Aluminum

Juvenile literature

Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Aluminum. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Amazing Bob Davis. Mathias, F. S. (O '44)
Amen. Amen. Constantino, S. A. (Mr '44)
America

History

Drama

MacLeish, A. American story. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Relations (general) with Australia

Greenwood, G. Early American-Australian relations. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
America. Benét, S. V. (Ag '44)
America and the Americas. Herring, H. C. (D '44)
America and two wars. Perkins, D. (S '44)
America in literature. McDowell, T., ed. (O '44)
America unlimited. Johnston, E. A. (My '44)
The American. Adams, J. T. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
American botany. Rodgers, A. D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
American caravan. Frost, F. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
American Catholic opinion in the slavery controversy. Rice, M. H. (S '44)
American character. Brogan, D. W. (N '44)
American citizen. Boyle, K. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
American constitutional development. Swisher, C. B. (Ap '44)
American dialect dictionary. Wentworth, H. (S '44)
American dilemma. Myrdal, G., and others. (Mr '44)
American diplomacy in action. Van Alstyne, R. W. (O '44)
American drama

Collections

Cerf, B. A., and Cartmell, V. H., comp. S. R. O. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mantle, B., ed. Best plays of 1943-44. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
American economic history. Faulkner, H. U. (Ag '44)
American education under fire. Thayer, V. T. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
American freethought, 1860-1914. Warren, S. (Ap '44)
American guerrilla fighting behind the enemy lines. Smith, D. M., and Carnes, C. (My '44)
American heroes of the war in the air. Mingos, H. L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
American historical societies. Dunlap, L. W. (D '44)
American history in schools and colleges. Committee on American history in schools and colleges. (My '44)
American house. Chase, V. (Mr '44)

American housing, problems and prospects. Twentieth century fund, inc. Housing committee. (S '44)
American library laws. Foutts, J. C., ed. (My '44)
American literature
  Jackson, E. Faith and fire within us. (D '44)
  Collections
  American mercury (periodical). American mercury reader. (N '44)
  Beatty, R. C., ed. Vanderbilt miscellany, 1919-1944. (S '44)
  Frederick, J. T., ed. Out of the Midwest. (My '44)
  Jackson, J. H., ed. Continent's end. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  McDowell, T., ed. America in literature. (O '44)
  Merriam, H. G., and others, eds. Reading for an air age. (My '44)
  Seaver, E., ed. Cross-section. (Ag '44)
  Treasury of modern best sellers. (Ag '44)
  History and criticism
  Adams, J. D. Shape of books to come. (D '44)
  Brooks, V. World of Washington Irving. (N '44)
  De Voto, B. A. Literary fallacy. (My '44)
  Gohdes, C. L. F. American literature in nineteenth-century England. (Ag '44)
  Jones, H. M. Ideas in America. (S '44)
American literature in nineteenth-century England. Gohdes, C. L. F. (Ag '44)
American mercury reader. American mercury (periodical). (N '44)
American Negro slave revolts. Aptheker, H. (Ap '44)
American paddle steamboats. Lane, C. D. (Ap '44)
American peace. MacNeil, N. (D '44)
American poetry
  Collections
  Five young American poets, third series, 1944. (D '44)
  Moult, T., ed. Best poems of 1943. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Spirit (periodical). Drink from the rock. (S '44)
  Williams, O., ed. New poems, 1944. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
American political parties. Binkley, W. E. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
American political system. Eng title of: Government of the people. Brogan, D. W. (N '44)
American problem. Eng title of: American character. Brogan, D. W. (N '44)
An American program. Willkie, W. L. (N '44)
American republics
  Prewett, V. Americas and tomorrow. (Ap '44)
American rifle for hunting and target shooting. Hagie, C. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
American Senate and world peace. Colegrove, K. W. (Mr '44)
American society in wartime. Ogburn, W. F., ed. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual) American story. MacLeish, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
American tanks and tank destroyers. Conger, E. M. (O '44)
American way. Roosevelt, F. D. (Ag '44)
American woman. Groves, E. R. (Je '44)
Americanisms
  Adams, R. F. Western words. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Dictionary of American English on historical principles. (O '44)
  Kenyon, J. S., and Knott, T. A., eds. Pronouncing dictionary of American English. (N '44)
  Wentworth, H. American dialect dictionary. (S '44)
Americas and tomorrow. Prewett, V. (Ap '44)
America's maritime history. Denison, A. C. (Ag '44)
Amethyst spectacles. Crane, F. K. (O '44)
Amino acids
  Schmidt, C. L. A., ed. Addendum to The chemistry of the amino acids and proteins. (O '44)
Ammunition
  Johnson, M. M., and Haven, C. T. Ammunition. (Ap '44)
Amusements
  Cleveland, R. Stay-at-home book for boys and girls. (Je '44)
  Mapes, M. A. Fun with your child. (Mr '44)
Amy Ferraby's daughter. Ford, E. (Ap '44)
Analysis of statically indeterminate structures. Williams, C. D. (Ap '44)
Analytical chemistry of industrial poisons, hazards, and solvents. Jacobs, M. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Anatomy
  History
  Ashley-Montagu, M. F. Edward Tyson. (O '44)
Ancient and medieval dyes. Leggett, W. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Ancient Greece in modern America. Macarthur, J. R. (Je '44)
And God was there. Brink, E. C. (Ag '44)
And now to live again. Barton, B. (D '44)
And pass the ammunition. Forgy, H. M. (Ag '44)
And the deep blue sea. Knotts, R. (Je '44)
Anecdotes
  Cerf, B. A., comp. Try and stop me. (D '44)
Angel with the trumpet. Lothar, E. (My '44)
Angelo, the naughty one. Garrett, H. (D '44)
Angels can't do better. De Vries, P. (O '44)
Anglo-Saxon England. Stenton, F. M. (Ag '44)
Anglo-Saxon literature
  History and criticism
  Atkins, J. W. H. English literary criticism. (O '44)
Anglo-Saxon poetry
  Kennedy, C. W. Earliest English poetry. (S '44)
Anglo-Saxon race
  Baldwin, L. D. God's Englishman. (Mr '44)
Angola
  Description and travel
  Cushman, M. F. Missionary doctor. (D '44)
Animal faces. Perkins, R. M. (Je '44)
Animal painting and illustration
  Hogeboom, A. Dogs and how to draw them. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Animal pictures
  Brown, M. W. They all saw it. (O '44)
  Perkins, R. M. Animal faces. (Je '44)
Animal stories. Duplaix, G. (D '44)
Animals, Habits and behavior of Chaffee, A. Western wild life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Doyle, F. C. Smoky ridge. (Ag '44)
  Fleischer, M. Noah's shoes. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Waldeck, T. J. Treks across the veldt. (Ag '44)
Animals, Legends and stories of
  Campbell, S. A. Too much Salt and Pepper. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Duplaix, G. Animal stories. (D '44)
  Eaton, A. T., ed. Animals' Christmas. (D '44)
  Fenton, C. L. Weejack and his neighbors. (Je '44)
  Gall, A. C., and Crew, F. H. All the year round. (N '44)
Animals' Christmas. Eaton, A. T., ed. (D '44)
Ann Bartlett in the south Pacific. Lansing, E. H. (O '44)
Anna and the King of Siam. Landon, M. D. M. (S '44)
Anthropogeography
  Markham, S. F. Climate and the energy of nations. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Van Cleef, E. Geography for the businessman. (Ap '44)
Anthropology
  Malinowski, B. Scientific theory of culture. (D '44)
Antic Hamlet and Richard III. Thomas, S. (S '44)
Antipathies and prejudices
  Powdermaker, H. Probing our prejudices. (N '44)
Antiques
  Drepperd, C. W. Primer of American antiques. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Robacker, E. F. Pennsylvania Dutch stuff. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Robsjohn-Gibbings, T. H. Good-bye, Mr. Chippendale. (My '44)
Anything a horse can do. Gregory, H. F. (O '44)
Apple must be bitten. Colby, F. S. (Ap '44)
Apple rush. Keeler, K. S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Applegreen cat. Crane, F. K. (Mr '44)
Applications. Koehler, W. A. (Je '44)
Applied dietetics. Stern, F. (Ag '44)
Applied safety engineering. Berman, H. H., and McCrone, H. W. (Ap '44)
Approaches to world peace. Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. (O '44)
Arab heritage. Faris, N. A., ed. (Ag '44)
Arabia
History
Faris, N. A., ed. Arab heritage. (Ag '44)
Arabian nights; il. by Oscar Fabres. Arabian nights entertainments. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Arabs
Bing, E. J. World of the Arabs. (My '44)
Arbitration, Industrial
Braun, K. Settlement of industrial disputes. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Kaltenborn, H. S. Governmental adjustment of labor disputes. (Ap '44)
Arc and acetylene welding. Kerwin, H. (D '44)
Architecture
Zucker, P., ed. New architecture and city planning. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
France
Frenkley, A. Stones of glory—stones of France. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Architecture, American
Hamlin, T. F. Greek revival architecture in America. (Mr '44)
Architecture, Greek
Hamlin, T. F. Greek revival architecture in America. (Mr '44)
McDonald, W. A. Political meeting places of the Greeks. (Ag '44)
Architecture, Roman
Nash, E. Roman towns. (S '44)
Arctic manual. Stefansson, V. (Je '44)
Arctic regions
Gruber, R. I went to the Soviet Arctic. (D '44)
Stefansson, V. Arctic manual. (Je '44)
Arena of love. Eliat, H. (Ag '44)
Argall, Phyllis
Argall, P. My life with the enemy. (Ap '44)
Argentina
Josephs, R. Argentina diary. (S '44)
Constitutional law
Amadeo, S. P. Argentine constitutional law. (My '44)
Economic conditions
Phillips, H. A. Argentina. (S '44)
Weil, F. J. Argentine riddle. (D '44)
Politics and government
Phillips, H. A. Argentina. (S '44)
Weil, F. J. Argentine riddle. (D '44)
Argentina. Phillips, H. A. (S '44)
Argentine constitutional law. Amadeo, S. P. (My '44)
Argentine diary. Josephs, R. (S '44)
Argentine riddle. Weil, F. J. (D '44)
Arithmetic
Hooper, A. Arithmetic refresher. (S '44)
Arithmetic or revolution. Dunn, A. (S '44)
Arithmetic refresher. Hooper, A. (S '44)
Armchair companion. Furman, A. L., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Armenia
Vratzian, S. Armenia and the Armenian question. (S '44)
Armenia and the Armenian question. Vratzian, S. (S '44)
Armistice, 1918. Rudin, H. R. (D '44)
Armistices of 1918. Maurice, F. B. (Ag '44)
Army and the law. Glenn, G. (Ap '44)
Army of shadows. Kessel, J. (S '44)
Army surgeon. Fox, G. M. (Ap '44)
Arnold, Benedict
Drama
Kastner, G. C. Benedict Arnold. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Fiction
Gessner, R. Treason. (Je '44)
Juvenile literature
Nolan, J. C. Treason at the Point. (D '44)
Around the Horn. Sill, E. R. (S '44)
Arrow pointing nowhere. Daly, E. (Mr '44)
Art
Belmont, I. J. Modern dilemma in art. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Schoen, M., ed. Enjoyment of the arts. (N '44)
Juvenile literature
Parker, K. P. What and what-not. (D '44)
Philosophy
Morris, B. Aesthetic process. (Ag '44)
Canada
Colgate, W. Canadian art. (D '44)
Art, American
Crane, A., ed. Art in the armed forces. (D '44)
Art, Commercial
Biegeleisen, J. I. Careers in commercial art. (Je '44)
Art, Greek
Markman, S. D. Horse in Greek art. (S '44)
Art, Rococo
Kimball, S. F. Creation of the rococo. (Ap '44)
Art, Russian
White, W. C. Made in the USSR. (D '44)
Art and religion
Bailey, A. E., ed. Arts and religion. (N '44)
Art criticism
Heyl, B. C. New bearings in esthetics. (S '44)
Art in the armed forces. Crane, A., ed. (D '44)
Art industries and trade
Russia
White, W. C. Made in the USSR. (D '44)
Art museum comes to the school. Powel, L. B. (S '44)
Art of illusion. Mulholland, J. (My '44)
Artist at war. Biddle, G. (S '44)
Artist in Iowa. Garwood, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Artists
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Pissarro, C. J. Letters to his son Lucien. (S '44)
Arts and religion. Bailey, A. E., ed. (N '44)
As a cavalryman remembers. Rodney, G. B. (N '44)
As much as I dare. Johnson, B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
As the child grows. Pryor, H. B. (Ag '44)
As we go marching. Flynn, J. T. (Mr '44)
Ashley book of knots. Ashley, C. W. (S '44)
Asia
Cressey, G. B. Asia's lands and peoples. (Ag '44)
Description and travel
Olschki, L. Marco Polo's precursors. (Ap '44)
Politics
Panikkar, K. M. Future of south-east Asia. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Asia's lands and peoples. Cressey, G. B. (Ag '44)
Assistant hero. Coughlin, E. F. P. (N '44)
Astoria (cruiser)
Custer, J. J. Through the perilous night. (S '44)
Astronomy
Jeans, J. H. Universe around us. (N '44)
Sidgwick, J. B. Introductory astronomy. (D '44)
Astronomy for night watchers. Eng title of: Introductory astronomy. Sidgwick, J. B. (D '44)
At ease! Leopold, J. (Mr '44)
At the gates. Todrin, B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Atlas of global geography. Raisz, E. J. (Ag '44)

Atlases
  Hammond, C. S. and company. Hammond's new world loose-leaf atlas service. (Je '44)
  Harrison, R. E. Look at the world. (S '44)
  Raisz, E. J. Atlas of global geography. (Ag '44)
  War atlas for Americans. (Ag '44)
Atoms
  Gamow, G. Mr Tompkins explores the atom. (My '44)
Atonement
  Clark, H. W. Cross and the eternal order. (D '44)
Attaining maturity. Cole, L. W. (S '44)
Attitude (psychology)
  Cole, L. W. Attaining maturity. (S '44)
Audels marine engineers handy book. Anderson, E. P. (S '44)
Audels pumps, hydraulics, air compressors. Graham, F. D. (Ap '44)
Audels refrigeration and air conditioning guide. Anderson, E. P. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Augustus drives a jeep. Henderson, Le G. (S '44)
Augustus flies. Henderson, Le G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Austen, Jane
  Kaye-Smith, S., and Stern, G. B. Speaking of Jane Austen. (Je '44)
Australia
  Johnston, G. H. Pacific partner. (Mr '44)
  Lohse, C., and Seaton, J. Mysterious continent. (D '44)

Description and travel

  Foote, K. S. Walkabout Down under. (N '44)

Foreign relations

  Australian institute of international affairs. Australia and the Pacific. (S '44)

Relations (general) with America

  Greenwood, G. Early American-Australian relations. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Australia and the Pacific. Australian institute of international affairs. (S '44)
Authority
  Benne, K. D. Conception of authority. (O '44)
Authors
  Writers' congress, Los Angeles. Proceedings of the conference. (N '44)

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

  Coe, C. F. Never a dull moment. (Ag '44)
  Hahn, E. China to me. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Holton, E. A. Yankees were like this. (O '44)
  Johnson, B. As much as I dare. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Rothery, A. E. Fitting habitation. (Ap '44)
  Sitwell, O. Left hand, right hand! (Je '44)
  Stern, G. B. Trumpet voluntary. (S '44)
  Woollcott, A. Letters. (S '44)
Author's choice. Kantor, M. (N '44)
Authorship
  Campbell, W. S. Writing non-fiction. (S '44)
Autobiography of Giambattista Vico. Vico, G. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Automatic control engineering. Smith, E. S. (D '44)
Automobile engines
  Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Transportation and power. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Automobiles

History

  Cohn, D. L. Combustion on wheels. (D '44)
Avalanche. Boyle, K. (Mr '44)
Aviation dictionary for boys and girls. Neville, L. E., ed. (D '44)
Aviation dictionary in nine languages. Lanz, J. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Aviation gasoline manufacture. Van Winkle, M. (Ap '44)
Aviators
  Felsen, G. Pilots all. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Mingos, H. L. American heroes of the war in the air. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Awareness. Garrett, E. J. L. (Ap '44)
Axis rule in occupied Europe. Lemkin, R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Babes in the wood. Sturges-Jones, M. (O '44)
Baby bears. Charushin, E. I. (Ag '44)
Baby doctor. Abt, I. A. (Ap '44)
Baby flat-top. McCracken, K. D. (S '44)
Baby in the ash can. Shane, S. (Mr '44)
Baby Jack and Jumping Jack Rabbit. Tireman, L. S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Baby manual. Bundesen, H. N. (O '44)
Baby Orang and Junior. Garbutt, K. K. (S '44)
Bachelor. Gibbons, S. (O '44)
Bacterial warfare
  Newman, B. M. Japan's secret weapon. (N '44)
Balkan journal. Archer, L. (My '44)
Balkan states
  Parker, R. B. Headquarters Budapest. (S '44)

Politics

  White, L. Long Balkan night. (Ap '44)
Ballistics
  Bliss, G. A. Mathematics for exterior ballistics. (Je '44)
Bancroft, George
  Nye, R. B. George Bancroft. (S '44)
Banks and banking
  Campbell, D. E. Careers for women in banking and finance. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Rodkey, R. G. Sound policies for bank management. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Germany

  Nathan, O. Nazi war finance and banking. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

United States

  Taus, E. R. Central banking functions of the United States treasury. (D '44)
Banzai Noel! Graham, G. (My '44)
Baranov, Aleksandr Andreevich

Fiction

  McNeilly, M. M. Heaven is too high. (My '44)
Barnaby and Mr O'Malley. Leisk, D. J. (O '44)
Barnes, Thomas
  Hudson, D. Thomas Barnes of the Times. (My '44)
Barney's barges. Aspden, D. (D '44)
Barricades. Toynbee, P. (S '44)
Barrymore, John
  Fowler, G. Good night, sweet prince. (Mr '44)
Baruch, Bernard Mannes
  Field, C. Bernard Baruch. (N '44)
Baseball
  Grayson, H. They played the game. (D '44)
  Lieb, F. G. St Louis Cardinals. (O '44)
Bases overseas. Weller, G. A. (D '44)
Bashful woman. Horan, K. O. (O '44)
Basic air navigation. Blackburn, E. F. (Je '44)
Basic aircraft construction. Peterson, R. A., and Erickson, R. E. (Ap '44)
Basic airplane mechanics. Lesley, H. G. (O '44)
Basic book collection for elementary grades. Joint committee of the American library association, National education association and National council of teachers of English. (Ap '44)
Basic chicken guide for the small flock owner. Jones, R. E. (D '44)
Basic English
  Johnsen, J. E., comp. Basic English. (Ap '44)
Basic history of the United States. Beard, C. A. and M. R. (O '44)
Basic marine navigation. Bok, B. J., and Wright, F. W. (O '44)
Basic mathematics for engineers. Andres, P. G., and others. (Je '44)
Basic mathematics for war and industry. Daus, P. H., and others. (My '44)
Basic radio. Boltz, C. L. (Je '44)
Basic structures. Shanley, F. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Basic teachings of the great psychologists. Sargent, S. S. (Ag '44)
Basque provinces
  Aguirre, J. A. de. Escape via Berlin. (D '44)
Bataan, the judgment seat. Ind, A. (My '44)
Batrachia
  Morris, P. A. They hop and crawl. (N '44)
Battle against isolation. Johnson, W. (D '44)
Battle of the oceans. Armstrong, W. (Ag '44)
Battle report. Karig, W., and Kelley, W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Battle surgeon. Slaughter, F. G. (Ap '44)
Battles. Elting, M., and others. (S '44)
Baudelaire, Charles Pierre
Bennett, J. D. Baudelaire. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Bay of silence. Mallea, E. (Ap '44)
Bears
Stevens, M. F. S. Meet Mr Grizzly. (Je '44)

Legends and stories

Charushin, E. I. Baby bears. (Ag '44)
Montgomery, R. G. Big Brownie. (Je '44)
Beast in view. Rukeyser, M. (O '44)
Beaumont, William

Fiction

Fox, G. M. Army surgeon. (Ap '44)
Beckoning paths. Heiner, J. M. (N '44)
Bedford village. Allen, H. (Ap '44)
Bedside bonanza. Owen, F., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Bee in her bonnet. Kristoffersen, E. M. (Je '44)
Beerbohm, Sir Max

Bibliography

Gallatin, A. E. Sir Max Beerbohm. (N '44)
Beginning of Christianity. Craig, C. T. (Ap '44)
Beginnings of Catholicism in South Dakota. Duratschek, M. C. (Je '44)
Behavior changes resulting from a study of communicable diseases. Urban, J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Behaviorism (psychology)
Clayton, A. S. Emergent mind and education. (O '44)
Hull, C. L. Principles of behavior. (Ag '44)
Behind the battle of France. Lorraine, J. (Je '44)
Behind the lines in the southern confederacy. Ramsdell, C. W. (Ap '44)
Behind the microphone. Floherty, J. J. (D '44)
Behind the steel wall. Fredborg, A. (Mr '44)
Behold the Jew. Jackson, A. P. (O '44)
Behold the Man. Woods, R. L., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Behold thy mother. Oxnam, G. B. (Ag '44)
Behold trouble. Hicks, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Being met together. Wilkins, W. V. (O '44)
Belgium

History

German occupation, 1940-

Goffin, R. White brigade. (Mr '44)
Goris, J. A. Belgium in bondage. (Mr '44)

Belgium in bondage. Goris, J. A. (Mr '44)
Bell for Adano. Hersey, J. R. (Mr '44)
Bellamy, Edward
Morgan, A. E. Edward Bellamy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bells of Leyden sing. Coblentz, C. C. (O '44)
Bells of Saint Ivan's. Carr, R. S. (Je '44)
Beloved scientist. Woodbury, D. O. (Mr '44)
Bequest of wings. Duff, A. (My '44)
Bering, Vitus Jonassen
Goodhue, C. Journey into the fog. (Mr '44)

Juvenile literature

MacDonald, L. S. Bering's potlatch. (Je '44)
Bering's potlatch. MacDonald, L. S. (Je '44)
Berlin hotel. Eng title of: Hotel Berlin '43. Baum, V. (My '44)
Bermuda calling. Garth, D. (S '44)
Berries
Maril, L. Savor and flavor. (Je '44)
Berta and Elmer Hader's picture book of Mother Goose. Mother Goose. (N '44)
Beside the Point. Maguire, J. S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Best American short stories, 1944. Foley, M., ed. (O '44)
Best cartoons of the year 1944. Lariar, L., ed. (N '44)
Best one-act plays of 1943. Mayorga, M. G., ed. (My '44)
Best plays of 1899-1909. Mantle, B., and Sherwood, G. P., eds. (Ap '44)
Best plays of 1943-44. Mantle, B., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Best poems of 1943. Moult, T., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Better men for better times. Catholic university of America. Commission on American citizenship. (Ag '44)
Better Taylors. Taylor, R. D. (D '44)
Between earth and sky. MacNeil, M. G. (N '44)
Between heaven and earth. Werfel, F. V. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Beware the hoot owl. Rutledge, N. (My '44)
Beyond all fronts. Jordan, M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Beyond the call of duty. Reck, F. M. (D '44)
Beyond the dark. Abbey, K. (Ap '44)
Beyond the sunset. Stevens, W. O. (D '44)
Beyond victory. Voorhis, H. J. (Je '44)
Bible. Whole

Selections

Bible. Whole. Book of books. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hogner, D. C. Bible story. (Ap '44)

About the Bible

Criticism, interpretation, etc.

Rowley, H. H. Relevance of the Bible. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Dictionaries and encyclopedias

Davis, J. D. Westminster dictionary of the Bible. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Introductions

Chase, M. E. Bible and the common reader. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bible. Old Testament

About the Old Testament

Stories

Werner, J. Child's book of Bible stories. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Theology

Wright, G. E. Challenge of Israel's faith. (S '44)

Parts of the Old Testament

Prophetical books

Scott, R. B. Y. Relevance of the prophets. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Single books

Ezekiel

Irwin, W. A. Problem of Ezekiel. (My '44)
Bible. New Testament

Texts

Bible. New Testament. New Testament of our lord and savior Jesus Christ. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Greek

Metzger, B. M. Saturday and Sunday lessons from Luke in the Greek Gospel lectionary. (D '44)

About the New Testament

Scott, E. F. Varieties of New Testament religion. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Criticism, interpretation, etc.

Johnston, G. Doctrine of the church in the New Testament. (Ag '44)

History of biblical events

Craig, C. T. Beginning of Christianity. (Ap '44)

Parts of the New Testament

Gospels

Chapman, J. Four Gospels. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Epistles

Hawkins, R. M. Recovery of the historical Paul. (My '44)

Single books

St Mark

Grant, F. C. Earliest Gospel. (Ap '44)

Corinthians

Poteat, G. We preach not ourselves. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Bible and the common reader. Chase, M. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bible as literature
Chase, M. E. Bible and the common reader. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bible story. Hogner, D. C. (Ap '44)

Bibliography
Best books
A.L.A. catalog, 1937-1941. (S '44)
Snider, J. D. I love books. (S '44)
First editions
Wise, T. J. Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Bicycle commandos. Farmer, W. (D '44)
Big book of Halloween entertainments. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Big bosses. Van Devander, C. W. (My '44)
Big Boy. Robinson, W. W. (S '44)
Big Brownie. Montgomery, R. G. (Je '44)
Big store. Woodhouse, C. G. (Ag '44)
Big time. Hayes, A. (Je '44)
Bimbâshi Barûk of Egypt. Rohmer, S. (My '44)
Biographical dictionary. Webster, N. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Biography (individual)
Abt, I. A. Baby doctor. (Ap '44)
Adams, D. We stood alone. (O '44)
Angoff, C. Palestrina, savior of church music. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Argall, P. My life with the enemy. (Ap '44)
Ashburn, F. D. Peabody of Groton. (D '44)
Ashley-Montagu, M. F. Edward Tyson. (O '44)
Axelrad, J. Anatole France. (O '44)
Bailey, K. P. Thomas Cresap. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Baker, N. B. Garibaldi. (D '44)
Batcheller, T. B. Soul of a queen. (My '44)
Bates, E. W. Edwin Arlington Robinson and his manuscripts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Bathe, G. and D. Jacob Perkins. (O '44)
Batten, J. M. John Dury. (N '44)
Belfrage, C. Faith to free the people. (N '44)
Benét, L. Washington Irving, explorer of American legend. (D '44)
Bergmann, L. N. Music master of the Middle West. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Birkenhead, S. B. S. Against oblivion. (S '44)
Blake, K. D., and Wallace, M. L. Champion of women. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bloom, S. Our heritage. (N '44)
Boardman, P. L. Patrick Geddes. (N '44)
Bowen, C. S. D. Yankee from Olympus. (My '44)
Braswell, W. Melville's religious thought. (My '44)
Brimlow, G. F. Cavalryman out of the West. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Brockway, S. Sarah and I. (N '44)
Brooks, A. L. Walter Clark, fighting judge. (My '44)
Bruun, G. Clemenceau. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Burton, J. Heyday of a wizard. (My '44)
Burton, K. K. Mother Butler of Marymount. (O '44)
Busch, N. F. What manner of man? (S '44)
Cailliet, E. Clue to Pascal. (My '44)
Canby, H. S. Walt Whitman, an American. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Chang, H. H. Chiang Kai-shek. (S '44)
Clemens, C. My chat with Thomas Hardy. (Je '44)
Coe, C. F. Never a dull moment. (Ag '44)
Comfort, W. W. William Penn. (My '44)
Connolly, J. B. Sea-borne. (S '44)
Connolly, T. L. Francis Thompson. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Coulton, G. G. Fourscore years. (Ag '44)
Cowdrey, B., and Williams, H. W. William Sidney Mount. (N '44)
Crafford, F. S. Jan Smuts. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Cummings, H. M. Richard Peters. (O '44)
Davis, E. Esmé of Paris. (Je '44)
DeJong, D. C. With a Dutch accent. (Mr '44)
De Tolnay, C. Youth of Michelangelo. (Ag '44)
Diamond, W. Economic thought of Woodrow Wilson. (O '44)
Diaz Lozano, A. Enriqueta and I. (Je '44)
Douglas, R. L. Leonardo da Vinci. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Duffus, R. L. Innocents at Cedro. (Mr '44)
Duncan, D. Partner in three worlds. (N '44)
Duncan, K., and Nickols, D. F. Mentor Graham. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Dunham, D. C. Envoy unextraordinary. (O '44)
Earhart, M. Frances Willard. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Elliott, M. R. A. My Aunt Louisa and Woodrow Wilson. (D '44)
Enters, A. Silly girl. (Ap '44)
Evlanoff, M. Nobel—prize donor. (Ap '44)
Fichter, J. H. James Laynez, Jesuit. (S '44)
Field, C. Bernard Baruch. (N '44)
Fisher, W. B. H. Frederick Bohn Fisher, world citizen. (My '44)
Fitzpatrick, E. A. McCarthy of Wisconsin. (My '44)
Flanner, J. Pétain: the old man of France. (S '44)
Flexner, A. Henry S. Pritchett. (My '44)
Floyd, O. B. Doctora in Mexico. (My '44)
Forbes, R. T. Gypsy in the sun. (N '44)
Fowler, G. Good night, sweet prince. (Mr '44)
Franklin institute. Meet Dr Franklin. (O '44)
Fries, A. L. Road to Salem. (My '44)
Frisbie, R. D. Island of Desire. (S '44)
Garwood, D. Artist in Iowa. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gayn, M. J. Journey from the East. (My '44)
Gegenheimer, A. F. William Smith. (Ag '44)
George, R. E. G. Carmelite and poet. (Je '44)
Goodhue, C. Journey into the fog. (Mr '44)
Goodrich, L. Winslow Homer. (N '44)
Gordon, G. S. Letters, 1902-1942. (S '44)
Graham, F. McGraw of the Giants. (Je '44)
Gregg, J. Diary and letters [bk2]. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hahn, C. China to me. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hall, L. S. Hawthorne. (S '44)
Harcourt-Smith, S. Cardinal of Spain. (Je '44)
Harmon, T. D. Pilots also pray. (D '44)
Harrington, F. H. God, mammon, and the Japanese. (My '44)
Hatch, A. General Ike. (D '44)
Hatch, A. Young Willkie. (My '44)
Healy, L. H., and Kutner, L. The admiral. (S '44)
Healy, T. More lives than one. (Ag '44)
Hebert, W. H. Fighting Joe Hooker. (D '44)
Henry, R. S. "First with the most" Forrest. (D '44)
Henson, H. H. Retrospect of an unimportant life, v 2. (Ag '44)
Holton, E. A. Yankees were like this. (O '44)
Honig, E. Garcia Lorca. (My '44)
Howard, G. Walkin' preacher of the Ozarks. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Howe, W. D. Charles Lamb and his friends. (Ap '44)
Hudson, D. Thomas Barnes of the Times. (My '44)
Jackson, J. H. Jean Jaurès. (Ag '44)
Jenkins, T. Man of Alaska. (Mr '44)
Johnson, B. As much as I dare. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Johnson, G. W. Woodrow Wilson. (S '44)
Jones, V. C. Ranger Mosby. (O '44)
Kempe, M. B. Book of Margery Kempe. (O '44)
Knott, M. O., and Cooper, P. Gone away with O'Malley. (D '44)
Koch, A. Philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Korngold, R. Citizen Toussaint. (O '44)
Kraus, R. Old master. (Je '44)
Kraus, R. Winston Churchill in the mirror. (D '44)
Krutch, J. W. Samuel Johnson. (D '44)
Lawrence, A. A. James Moore Wayne, Southern Unionist. (Ap '44)
Lehmann-Haupt, H. Terrible Gustave Doré. (Ap '44)
Lewis, D. B. W. Ronsard. (O '44)
Longaker, J. M. Ernest Dowson. (N '44)
Lovelace, D. W. General Ike Eisenhower. (D '44)
Loveridge, A. Many happy days I've squandered. (S '44)
Ludwig, E. Mackenzie King. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Maass, E. Dream of Philip II. (N '44)
McAuliffe, H. J. Father Tim. (S '44)
Mackenzie, C. Mr Roosevelt. (My '44)
Maclean, C. M. Born under Saturn. (My '44)
Mandonnet, P. F. St Dominic and his work. (D '44)
Manning, M. Ladies now and then. (Je '44)
Marianoff, D., and Wayne, P. Einstein. (S '44)
Marston, W. M., and Feller, J. H. F. F. Proctor, vaudeville pioneer. (Ap '44)

Maynard, T. Orestes Brownson. (Mr '44)
Meserve, F. H., and Sandburg, C. Photographs of Abraham Lincoln. (Mr '44)
Miller, F. T. Eisenhower, man and soldier. (S '44)
Moloney, M. F. John Donne. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Moore, G. You're only human once. (Ap '44)
More, L. T. Life and works of the Honourable Robert Boyle. (Ap '44)
Morgan, A. E. Edward Bellamy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Morosco, O. Life of Oliver Morosco. (O '44)
Moscow. Institut Marksa-Engel'sa-Lenin. Vladimir I. Lenin. (Ap '44)
Mott, F. L. Jefferson and the press. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Murrett, J. C. Tar heel apostle. (N '44)
Nabokov, V. V. Nikolai Gogol. (O '44)
Nicolay, H. China's first lady. (Je '44)
Nord, S. Logger's odyssey. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Núñez Cabeza de Vaca, A. Power within us. (Ag '44)
Nye, R. B. George Bancroft. (S '44)
O'Neill, J. J. Prodigal genius. (D '44)
Osborn, V. M. There were two of us. (N '44)
Parsons, L. O. Gay illiterate. (Mr '44)
Pauly, K. B. Bricker of Ohio. (My '44)
Peck, M. G. Carrie Chapman Catt. (S '44)
Peers, E. A. Spirit of flame. (Mr '44)
Pepper, G. W. Philadelphia lawyer. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Petre, M. D. M. Alfred Loisy. (N '44)
Pissarro, C. J. Letters to his son Lucien. (S '44)
Pitkin, W. B. On my own. (S '44)
Pohl, F. J. Amerigo Vespucci, pilot major. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Poling, D. A. Your daddy did not die. (O '44)
Power, M. J. In the name of the bee. (My '44)
Pratt, H. E., ed. Concerning Mr Lincoln. (Je '44)
Price, G. W. Giraud and the African scene. (Je '44)
Rider, F. Melvil Dewey. (Je '44)
Riggs, T. L. Saving angel. (S '44)
Riveloup, A. Truth about De Gaulle. (S '44)
Rodgers, A. D. John Merle Coulter, missionary in science. (S '44)
Rodney, G. B. As a cavalryman remembers. (N '44)
Rothery, A. E. Fitting habitation. (Ap '44)
Ruggles, E. Gerard Manley Hopkins. (S '44)
Sachs, H. Freud; master and friend. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sackville-West, V. M. Eagle and the Dove. (Mr '44)
Safránek, M. Bohuslav Martinů. (O '44)
Santayana, G. Persons and places. (Mr '44)
Schriftgiesser, K. Gentleman from Massachusetts: Henry Cabot Lodge. (O '44)
Schubert, L. Hawthorne, the artist. (S '44)
Shelley, M. W. G. Letters. (F '45 (1944 Annual)
Simkins, F. B. Pitchfork Ben Tillman. (D '44)
Sitwell, O. Left hand, right hand! (Je '44)
Spinka, M. John Amos Comenius. (Ap '44)
Spring, A. W. William Chapin Deming. (N '44)
Stern, G. B. Trumpet voluntary. (S '44)
Sturges-Jones, M. Babes in the wood. (O '44)
Sweeney, J. J. Alexander Calder. (O '44)
Truax, R. Joseph Lister. (D '44)
Underhill, E. Letters. (Ap '44)
Vico, G. B. Autobiography of Giambattista Vico. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wade, G. I. Thomas Traherne. (O '44)
Wagner, H. R. Rise of Fernando Cortés. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Waldman, L. Labor lawyer. (O '44)
Walker, S. Dewey. (O '44)
Walpole, H. Correspondence with M. and A. Berry and B. C. Seton. (N '44)
Walsh, W. T. Saint Teresa of Avila. (Ag '44)
Walters, R. Alexander James Dallas. (S '44)
Wechsler, J. A. Labor baron. (S '44)
Wedgwood, C. V. William the Silent. (D '44)
West, R. S. Gideon Welles. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Wiltse, C. M. John C. Calhoun, nationalist. (D '44)
Wish, H. George Fitzhugh. (Mr '44)
Wolle, F. Fitz-James O'Brien. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Woodbury, D. O. Beloved scientist. (Mr '44)
Woollcott, A. Letters. (S '44)
Wright, L. M. Peter Melendy. (Ap '44)
Yaukey, G. S. Exile's daughter. (O '44)

Juvenile literature

Baker, R. First woman doctor. (My '44)
Ewen, D. Tales from the Vienna woods. (D '44)
Fenton, A. H. Oliver Hazard Perry. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Garst, D. S. Custer. (Ag '44)
Garst, D. S. Jack London, magnet for adventure. (D '44)
Graham, S., and Lipscomb, G. D. Dr George Washington Carver. (Je '44)
Humphreys, D. On wings of song. (Je '44)
Lewiton, M. John Philip Sousa. (Ap '44)
Long, L. Fuss 'n' feathers. (D '44)
Monsell, H. A. Dolly Madison, Quaker girl. (S '44)
Nolan, J. C. O. Henry. (Mr '44)
Stevenson, A. George Carver, boy scientist. (D '44)
Stevenson, A. Sam Houston, boy chieftain. (Ag '44)
Tharp, L. H. Sounding trumpet. (Je '44)
Wagoner, J. B. Jane Addams, little lame girl. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Weston, M. F. Great pathfinder. (D '44)
Wheeler, O. Handel at the court of kings. (Mr '44)
Wood, L. N. Raymond L. Ditmars. (N '44)

Biography (collective)
Bartlett, R. M. They work for tomorrow. (Mr '44)
De Weerd, H. A. Great soldiers of World war II. (N '44)
Dunlap, O. E. Radio's 100 men of science. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Embree, E. R. 13 against the odds. (Mr '44)
Ewen, D. Men of popular music. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Fritchman, S. H. Men of liberty. (S '44)
Ghéon, H. Secrets of the saints. (N '44)
Harding, B. L. Lost waltz. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Harriman, M. C. Take them up tenderly. (N '44)
Hart, W. E. Hitler's generals. (Je '44)
Kuo, C. Giants of China. (O '44)
Lotz, P. H., ed. Rising above color. (Ap '44)
Overmyer, G. Famous American composers. (S '44)
Prochnow, H. V., ed. Great stories from great lives. (Ag '44)
Webster, N. Biographical dictionary. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Who's who in the East. (O '44)
Wier, A. E. Thesaurus of the arts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Juvenile literature

Acker, H. Three boys of old Russia. (Ag '44)
Burch, G. Famous pianists, for boys and girls. (O '44)
Elms, F. R. Builders of our nation. (O '44)
Biography of a cathedral. Anderson, R. G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Biological chemistry
Bull, H. B. Physical biochemistry. (Ap '44)
Birds
Dubkin, L. Murmur of wings. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
North America
Hausman, L. A. Illustrated encyclopedia of American birds. (Je '44)
Birth is farewell. Laing, D. B. (N '44)
Birthdays for Robin. Sewell, H. (Ap '44)
Black and white. Brown, M. W. (S '44)
Black dawn. Kenyon, T. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Black gods of the metropolis. Fauset, A. H. (Je '44)
Black honeymoon. Little, C. and G. (Mr '44)
Black mail. Hoke, H. R. (O '44)
Black path of fear. Woolrich, C. (Ag '44)
Blackbirds on the lawn. Morton, J. (Je '44)
Blackwell, Elizabeth

Juvenile literature

Baker, R. First woman doctor. (My '44)
Blake, Mrs Lillie (Devereux)
Blake, K. D., and Wallace, M. L. Champion of women. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Blaze Allan. Ross, L. B. (D '44)

Blessed are the meek. Kossak-Szczucka, Z. (Ap '44)
Blind spots. Leiper, H. S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Blindness
Dahl, B. M. I wanted to see. (Ap '44)
Pierce, R. It was not my own idea. (D '44)

Prevention

Hathaway, W. P. Education and health of the partially seeing child. (S '44)
Blitzkrieg and bluff. Lessner, E. C. (My '44)
Blood upon the snow. Lawrence, H. (S '44)
Blowing engines
Church, A. H. Centrifugal pumps and blowers. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Blue Ridge mountains
Peattie, R., ed. Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Blueprint reading. Nicholson, F. S., and Jones, H. F. (Je '44)
Blueprints
Coxen, H. H., and others. Aircraft sheet metal blueprint reading. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Nicholson, F. S., and Jones, H. F. Blueprint reading. (Je '44)
Boat children of Canton. Ward, M. B. (Ag '44)
Bolinvars. Bayliss, M. F. (Je '44)
Bolivia

Description and travel

Hewlett, J. Thunder beats the drum! (N '44)
Bomber pilot. Harkins, P. (N '44)
Bombero. Levy, H. (Ap '44)
Bombers. Ayling, K. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Bombers across. Wynn, E. J. (S '44)
Bonfire. Carneiro, C. J. (S '44)
Bonin. Standish, R. (Mr '44)
Book of books. Bible. Whole. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Book of common prayer
Davies, D. R. Down peacock's feathers. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Book of Margery Kempe. Kempe, M. B. (O '44)
Book of naturalists. Beebe, W., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Book of the dead. Daly, E. (S '44)
Book of the Navy. Roberts, W. A., and Brentano, L. eds. (Ap '44)
Books

Reviews

Macfarland, C. S. Survey of religious literature. (Ag '44)
Books and reading
A.L.A. catalog, 1937-1941. (S '44)
Duff, A. Bequest of wings. (My '44)
Hazard, P. Books, children and men. (Je '44)
Snider, J. D. I love books. (S '44)
Books, children and men. Hazard, P. (Je '44)
Booksellers and bookselling

Directories

Adams, S., comp. O.P. market. (Ap '44)
Boomerang. Chambliss, W. C. (S '44)
Boot. Bailey, G. P. (Ag '44)
Boot and saddle in Africa. Lambie, T. A. (O '44)
Border command. Rister, C. C. (Je '44)
Border in colour. Mansfield, T. C. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Boris Godunoff. Musorgskii, M. P. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Born in battle. Thomas, R. T. (S '44)
Born under Saturn. Maclean, C. M. (My '44)
Borrowed night. Farkas, A. A. (D '44)
Bosco, Giovanni, Saint
Ghéon, H. Secrets of the saints. (N '44)
Boston (archdiocese)
Lord, R. H., and others. History of the archdiocese of Boston. (D '44)
Boston adventure. Stafford, J. (O '44)
Botanists
Rodgers, A. D. American botany. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Botany
Rodgers, A. D. American botany. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Botts in war, Botts in peace. Upson, W. H. (O '44)
Boughs bend over. French, M. P. (Ap '44)
Boundaries
Peattie, R. Look to the frontiers. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bountiful cow. Czaja, H. M. (O '44)
Bowker lectures on book publishing. (Je '44)
Bowl of brass. Wellman, P. I. (My '44)
Boy and a dog. Henry, M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Boy and a motor. Yates, R. F. (Ap '44)
Boy meets pony. Chaffee, L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Boy scouts
Coe, R. Little scouts in action. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Levy, H. P. Building a popular movement. (N '44)
Boyle, Robert
More, L. T. Life and works of the Honourable Robert Boyle. (Ap '44)
Boys and girls at worship. Powell, M. C. (My '44)
Boys in men's shoes. Burroughs, H. E. (My '44)
Brainstorm. Brown, C. (F '45) (1944 Annal)
Brannan, Samuel

Fiction

Scott, R. L. H. Samuel Brannan and the golden fleece. (Ag '44)
Brant, Joseph (Thayendanegea)

Fiction

Chalmers, H. West to the setting sun. (Ap '44)
Brave men. Pyle, E. T. (D '44)
Brave ships of World war II. Leeming, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Brazil

History

Cunha, E. da. Rebellion in the backlands. (Mr '44)

Industries and resources

Cooke, M. L. Brazil on the march. (O '44)

Relations (general) with the United States

Cooke, M. L. Brazil on the march. (O '44)
Brazil on the march. Cooke, M. L. (O '44)
Bread
De Gouy, L. P. Bread tray. (D '44)
Jacob, H. E. Six thousand years of bread. (My '44)
Bread and democracy in Germany. Gerschenkron, A. (My '44)
Bread tray. De Gouy, L. P. (D '44)
Bread upon the waters. Pesotta, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Breaking the academic lock step. Aydelotte, F. (Ap '44)
Breathe upon these. Lewisohn, L. (Ap '44)
Brent, Margaret

Fiction

Grant, D. F. Margaret Brent, adventurer. (D '44)
Bricker, John William
Pauly, K. B. Bricker of Ohio. (My '44)
Bride in the Solomons. Johnson, O. H. L. (N '44)
Bride's castle. Wilson, P. W. (S '44)
Bridge to Brooklyn. Idell, A. E. (D '44)
Bridges, Iron and steel
Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. Movable and long-span steel bridges. (O '44)
Bridges, Movable
Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. Movable and long-span steel bridges. (O '44)
Bridging the Atlantic. Gibbs, P. H., ed. (My '44)
Brief glory. Du Jardin, R. N. (D '44)
Bring back the spring. Willock, R. (Ap '44)
Britain in the air. Tangye, N. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
British Commonwealth. Grigg, E. W. M. (Ag '44)
British Commonwealth and empire. Eng title of: Pictorial guide to many lands. Turner, W. J., ed. (My '44)
British empire
Turner, W. J., ed. Pictorial guide to many lands. (My '44)
British Far Eastern policy. Hubbard, G. E. (Ag '44)

British finance, 1930-1940. Morton, W. A. (Ag '44)

Brockway, Sylvia
  Brockway, S. Sarah and I. (N '44)
Broken arc. Meyneng, M. B. (Ap '44)
Broken river. Hawkins, J. and W. (Ap '44)
Brook Willow. White, N. G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Broolin. Mack, G. D. (My '44)
The brother. Wilson, D. C. (Je '44)

Brown, William Carey
  Brimlow, G. F. Cavalryman out of the West. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Brownson, Orestes Augustus
  Maynard, T. Orestes Brownson. (Mr '44)

Buck, Pearl (Sydenstricker)
  Yaukey, G. S. Exile's daughter. (O '44)
Buckeye boy. Medary, M. (O '44)
Bucky Bear. Wayne, E. (My '44)
Buffalo coat. Brink, C. R. (D '44)
Bugles in the afternoon. Haycox, E. (Mr '44)
Bugs and bullets. Bayne, J. B. (O '44)
Builders of our nation. Elms, F. R. (O '44)

Building
  Siegele, H. H. Building forms, stairs, roofs. (N '44)

Handbooks, manuals, etc.
  Graf, D. T. Data sheets. (O '44)

Repair and reconstruction
  Mezerik, A. G. Care and repair of buildings and equipment. (Ag '44)
Building a curriculum for general education. Spafford, I. O., and others. (Ap '44)
Building a popular movement. Levy, H. P. (N '44)
Building for peace at home and abroad. Stewart, M. S. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Building forms, stairs, roofs. Siegele, H. H. (N '44)

Building laws
  McGoldrick, J. D., and others. Building regulation in New York city. (O '44)

Building materials

Dictionaries
  Brady, G. S. Materials handbook. (Je '44)

Testing
  Muhlenbruch, C. W. Testing of engineering materials. (O '44)
Building of Jalna. De La Roche, M. (N '44)
Building regulation in New York city. McGoldrick, J. D., and others. (O '44)

Bulgaria

Politics and government
  Black, C. E. Establishment of constitutional government in Bulgaria. (Je '44)
Bulldozers come first, by W. G. Bowman [and others]. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bullets for the bridegroom. Dodge, D. (O '44)
Bullfighter's son. Chambers, M. C. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bundle of troubles. Writers' program, North Carolina. (Mr '44)
Buonarroti, Michelangelo. See Michelangelo Buonarroti
Bureaucracy. Juran, J. M. (Je '44)
Bureaucracy. Mises, L. von. (N '44)
Bureaucracy runs amuck. Sullivan, L. (Ap '44)
Bureaucrat. Crider, J. H. (S '44)

Buriat Mongolia
  Pomus, M. I. Buriat Mongolia. (S '44)
Burma diary. Geren, P. (Ap '44)

Burroughs newsboys foundation, Boston
  Burroughs, H. E. Boys in men's shoes. (My '44)

Burt, Frank A.
  Young, M. B. Mother wore tights. (N '44)

Burt, Myrtle (McKinley)
  Young, M. B. Mother wore tights. (N '44)

Burton, Robert
  Evans, B., and Mohr, G. J. Psychiatry of Robert Burton. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bury the hatchet. Long, M. (Je '44)
Busted range. Drago, H. S. (Ap '44)

Butler, Mother Joseph
  Burton, K. K. Mother Butler of Marymount. (O '44)
Butterfly takes command. Waite, H. E. (D '44)
Button, button. Bramhall, M. (S '44)
Buy an acre. Corey, P. (Je '44)
By sea and by land. Burton, E. (S '44)
By valour and arms. Street, J. H. (O '44)

Cabala
  Blau, J. L. Christian interpretation of the cabala in the renaissance. (N '44)
Cabin. Childs, M. W. (Ag '44)
Caesar and Christ. See Durant, W. J. The story of civilization, v3. (N '44)

Calculus
  Franklin, P. Methods of advanced calculus. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Klaf, A. A. Calculus refresher for technical men. (S '44)

Calculus, Operational
  Churchill, R. V. Modern operational mathematics in engineering. (O '44)
Calculus refresher for technical men. Klaf, A. A. (S '44)

Calder, Alexander
  Sweeney, J. J. Alexander Calder. (O '44)

Calendar
  Achelis, E. Calendar for everybody. (My '44)
Calendar for everybody. Achelis, E. (My '44)

Calhoun, John Caldwell
  Wiltse, C. M. John C. Calhoun, nationalist. (D '44)

California
  Jackson, J. H., ed. Continent's end. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Description and travel
  Gregg, J. Diary and letters [bk2]. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Gold discoveries
  Bruff, J. G. Gold rush. (D '44)

History
  Cleland, R. G. From wilderness to empire. (My '44)
  Shutes, M. H. Lincoln and California. (Ag '44)

Juvenile literature
  McNeer, M. Y. Story of California. (D '44)
Call it North country. Martin, J. B. (Je '44)

Camels

Legends and stories
  Nesbitt, N. S. Cobi camel. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Camouflage (military science)
  De Longe, M. E. Modern airfield, planning and concealment. (My '44)
Camp follower. Klaw, B. V. (O '44)

Campaign literature, 1944
  Gaer, J. First round. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Kingdon, F. That man in the White House. (My '44)
  Pauly, K. B. Bricker of Ohio. (My '44)
  Walker, S. Dewey. (O '44)
  Willkie, W. L. American program. (N '44)

Camping
  Carhart, A. H. Outdoorsman's cookbook. (My '44)
Can do! Huie, W. B. (O '44)
Can we win the peace? Fleming, D. F. (Ag '44)

Canada

Description and travel
  Hunter, R. Quebec to Carolina in 1785-1786. (S '44)
  Saunders, H. A. S. Pioneers! O pioneers! (S '44)

Juvenile literature
  Quinn V. Picture map geography of Canada and Alaska. (Je '44)

Economic conditions
  Kizer, B. H. U.S.-Canadian Northwest. (My '44)

Economic policy
  Brady, A., and Scott, F. R., eds. Canada after the war. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Johnsen, J. E., comp. Canada and the western hemisphere. (N '44)

Canada—Continued
Foreign relations
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Canada and the western hemisphere. (N '44)
United States
Tansill, C. C. Canadian-American relations, 1875-1911. (Ap '44)
History
Creighton, D. G. Dominion of the north. (My '44)
Peck, A. M. Pageant of Canadian history. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Politics and government
Brady, A., and Scott, F. R., eds. Canada after the war. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Ryerson, S. B. French Canada. (N '44)
Relations (general) with United States
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Canada and the western hemisphere. (N '44)
Social conditions
Brady, A., and Scott, F. R., eds. Canada after the war. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Canada after the war. Brady, A., and Scott, F. R., eds. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Canada and the western hemisphere. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (N '44)
Canadian-American relations, 1875-1911. Tansill, C. C. (Ap '44)
Canadian art. Colgate, W. (D '44)
Canadian poetry
Collections
Gustafson, R., ed. Little anthology of Canadian poets. (Ap '44)
History and criticism
Brown, E. K. On Canadian poetry. (Je '44)
Canal town. Adams, S. H. (My '44)
Canals, Interoceanic
Mack, G. Land divided. (My '44)
Canapé-Vert. Thoby-Marcelin, P., and Marcelin, P. (Mr '44)
Cancer
Oberling, C. Riddle of cancer. (My '44)
Podolsky, E. War on cancer. (Ap '44)
Cane-patch mystery. Cunningham, A. B. (O '44)
Canning and preserving
Williams, M. J. Home canning made easy. (Ag '44)
Cape Cod
Tarbell, A. W. I retire to Cape Cod. (N '44)
Capitalism
Johnston, E. A. America unlimited. (My '44)
Captain Millett's island. Burt, K. N. (S '44)
Captain Retread. Hough, D. (Je '44)
Cardinal of Spain. Harcourt-Smith, S. (Je '44)
Cards
MacDougall, M. Danger in the cards. (Ap '44)
Morehead, A. H. Modern Hoyle. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Care and handling of cats. Bryant, D. (N '44)
Care and repair of buildings and equipment. Mezerik, A. G. (Ag '44)
Careers for women in banking and finance. Campbell, D. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Careers in commercial art. Biegeleisen, J. I. (Je '44)
Caricatures and cartoons
Arno, P. Man in the shower. (N '44)
Coe, R. Little scouts in action. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Dahl, F. W. What! more Dahl? (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Goldberg, R. L. Plan for the post-war world. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hoff, S. Feeling no pain. (D '44)
Lariar, L., ed. Best cartoons of the year 1944. (N '44)
Leisk, D. J. Barnaby and Mr O'Malley. (O '44)
Nevins, A., and Weitenkampf, F. Century of political cartoons. (My '44)
Partch, V. F. It's hot in here. (Ag '44)
Price, G. Is it anyone we know? (D '44)
Rea, G. Gentleman says it's pixies. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Reyher, R., ed. Stork run. (Ag '44)
Reynolds, L. I feel like a cad. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Saturday evening post (periodical). Laugh it off. (N '44)
Steig, W. All embarrassed. (S '44)
Steig, W. Small fry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stein, R. What am I laughing at? (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Taylor, R. D. Better Taylors. (D '44)
Carl. Mélançon, A. (D '44)
Carlyle, Thomas
Bentley, E. R. Century of hero-worship. (N '44)
Carmelite and poet. George, R. E. G. (Je '44)
Carnegie corporation and college libraries. Barcus, T. R. (Ag '44)
Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching
Flexner, A. Henry S. Pritchett. (My '44)
Carol on Broadway. Boylston, H. D. (S '44)
Carols
Rey, H. A. We three kings. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Carrier combat. Mears, F. (Mr '44)
Cartels. See Trusts, Industrial Cartography
Church, E. F. Elements of aerial photogrammetry. (N '44)
Carver, George Washington
Juvenile literature
Graham, S., and Lipscomb, G. D. Dr George Washington Carver. (Je '44)
Stevenson, A. George Carver, boy scientist. (D '44)
Case book of Jimmy Lavender. Starrett, V. (S '44)
Case for examinations. Brereton, J. L. (Je '44)
Case of the black-eyed blonde. Gardner, E. S. (D '44)
Case of the crooked candle. Gardner, E. S. (Je '44)
Case of the dowager's etchings. King, R. (Je '44)
Case of the eighteenth ostrich. Curzon, C. (Ap '44)
Case of the giant-killer. Branson, H. C. (Ap '44)
Case of the perfumed mouse. Du Bois, T. M. (O '44)
Casey Jones and locomotive no. 638. Shapiro, I. (Je '44)
Cat club. Averill, E. (My '44)
Cat wears a noose. Hitchens, D. B. (My '44)
Cataloging
Akers, S. G. Simple library cataloging. (N '44)
New York (city). Public library. Style manual for preparation of catalogue copy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Rider, F. Scholar and the future of the research library. (O '44)
Cathode ray tubes
Puckle, O. S. Time bases. (Je '44)
Catholic art and culture. Watkin, E. I. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Cats
Bryant, D. Care and handling of cats. (N '44)
Legends and stories
Averill, E. Cat club. (My '44)
Bacon, F. E. A. Kitty come down. (Je '44)
Nesbitt, P. Nicholas Needlefoot. (O '44)
Newberry, C. T. Pandora. (D '44)
Zistel, E., comp. Treasury of cat stories. (My '44)
Pictures, illustrations, etc.
Newberry, C. T. Pandora. (D '44)
Cat's whisker. Bailey, H. C. (D '44)
Catt, Mrs Carrie (Lane) Chapman
Peck, M. G. Carrie Chapman Catt. (S '44)
Cauliflower heart. Champagne, M. M. G. (Ap '44)
Causation
Craik, K. J. W. Nature of explanation. (Je '44)
Kelsen, H. Society and nature. (Ag '44)
Sorokin, P. A. Sociocultural causality, space, time. (Ag '44)
Cavalryman out of the West. Brimlow, G. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Cellulose
- Heuser, E. Chemistry of cellulose. (Je '44)
- Ott, E., ed. Cellulose and cellulose derivatives. (Ag '44)
- Wise, L. E., ed. Wood chemistry. (N '44)

Cellulose and cellulose derivatives. Ott, E., ed. (Ag '44)

Central America
- Wilson, C. M. Middle America. (Je '44)

Description and travel
- Rothery, A. E. Central American roundabout. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Central American roundabout. Rothery, A. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Central banking functions of the United States treasury. Taus, E. R. (D '44)

Central Europe
- Jordan, P. Central union of Europe. (N '44)

Central union of Europe. Jordan, P. (N '44)

Centrifugal pumps
- Church, A. H. Centrifugal pumps and blowers. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Century of hero-worship. Bentley, E. R. (N '44)
Century of Jewish life. Elbogen, I. (N '44)
Century of Latin-American thought. Crawford, W. R. (N '44)
Century of political cartoons. Nevins, A., and Weitenkampf, F. (My '44)
Century with youth. Eddy, G. S. (Je '44)
Certain blind man. Fitch, R. E. (My '44)

Cézanne, Paul
- Loran, E. Cézanne's composition. (Ap '44)

Chaim Weizmann. Weisgal, M. W., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Chaliapin, Feodor Ivanovich

Juvenile literature
- Acker, H. Three boys of old Russia. (Ag '44)

Challenge of Israel's faith. Wright, G. E. (S '44)
Champion of women. Blake, K. D., and Wallace, M. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Champlain, Samuel de

Juvenile literature
- Tharp, L. H. Champlain, northwest voyager. (D '44)

Chancho. Stark, B. S. (D '44)
Change of heart. Baldwin, F. (N '44)
Characteristics of the American Negro. Klineberg, O., ed. (Ap '44)

Charles II, king of Great Britain

Fiction
- Winsor, K. Forever Amber. (N '44)

Charles Lamb and his friends. Howe, W. D. (Ap '44)
Checkmate to murder. Rivett, E. C. (O '44)
Chedworth. Sherriff, R. C. (N '44)
Chemical dictionary. Hackh, I. W. D. (D '44)

Chemical engineering
- Davis, D. S. Chemical engineering nomographs. (O '44)

Apparatus and supplies
- Riegel, E. R. Chemical machinery. (S '44)

Chemical engineering nomographs. Davis, D. S. (O '44)
Chemical engineering thermodynamics. Dodge, B. F. (O '44)

Chemical industries
- Landis, W. S. Your servant the molecule. (D '44)

Juvenile literature
- Perry, J. Chemical industry. (N '44)

Chemical industry. Perry, J. (N '44)
Chemical machinery. Riegel, E. R. (S '44)

Chemical reactions
- Organic reactions, v2. (O '44)

Chemicals

Manufacture and industry
- Gregory, T. C., ed. Uses and applications of chemicals and related materials, v2. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Chemistry
- Clancey, V. J. St C. Chemistry and the aeroplane. (Ag '44)
- Deming, H. G. General chemistry. (Je '44)
- Landis, W. S. Your servant the molecule. (D '44)
- Offner, M. M. Fundamentals of chemistry and their applications in modern life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Timm, J. A. General chemistry. (D '44)

Dictionaries
- Hackh, I. W. D. Chemical dictionary. (D '44)

Juvenile literature
- Freeman, M. B. and I. M. Fun with chemistry. (D '44)

Chemistry, Analytic
- Jacobs, M. B. Analytical chemistry of industrial poisons, hazards and solvents. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Quantitative
- Booth, H. S., and Damerell, V. R. Quantitative analysis. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Kolthoff, I. M., and Sandell, E. B. Textbook of quantitative inorganic analysis. (Je '44)
- Smith, O. M., and Sheerar, L. F. Quantitative chemical methods for engineering students. (O '44)
- Snell, F. D., and Biffen, F. M. Commercial methods of analysis. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Willard, H. H., and others. Short course in quantitative analysis. (O '44)

Chemistry, Inorganic
- Ephraim, F. Inorganic chemistry. (Ag '44)
- Kolthoff, I. M., and Sandell, E. B. Textbook of quantitative inorganic analysis. (Je '44)
- Yost, D. M., and Russell, H. Systematic inorganic chemistry of the fifth-and-sixth-group nonmetallic elements. (N '44)

Chemistry, Medical and pharmaceutical
- Jenkins, G. L., and Hartung, W. H. Chemistry of organic medicinal products. (Je '44)

Chemistry, Organic
- Fieser, L. F. and M. A. P. Organic chemistry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Jenkins, G. L., and Hartung, W. H. Chemistry of organic medicinal products. (Je '44)
- Organic reactions, v2. (O '44)

Synthesis
- Dreher, E. Chemistry of synthetic substances. (Je '44)

Chemistry, Physical and theoretical
- Bull, H. B. Physical biochemistry. (Ap '44)
- Eyring, H., and others. Quantum chemistry. (Je '44)

Chemistry, Technical
- International society of leather trades' chemists. British section. Emulsion technology. (Ag '44)
- Landis, W. S. Your servant the molecule. (D '44)
- Offner, M. M. Fundamentals of chemistry and their applications in modern life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Read, W. T. Industrial chemistry. (Ap '44)
- Schoengold, M. D., ed. Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. (O '44)
- Snell, F. D., and Biffen, F. M. Commercial methods of analysis. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Dictionaries
- Gregory, T. C., ed. Uses and applications of chemicals and related materials, v2. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Tables, etc.
- Lange, N. A., and Forker, G. M., eds. Handbook of chemistry. (Ag '44)

Chemistry and industry of starch. Kerr, R. W. E., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Chemistry and methods of enzymes. Sumner, J. B., and Somers, G. F. (Je '44)
Chemistry and technology of food and food products. Jacobs, M. B., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Chemistry and the aeroplane. Clancey, V. J. St C. (Ag '44)
Chemistry of cellulose. Heuser, E. (Je '44)
Chemistry of organic medicinal products. Jenkins, G. L., and Hartung, W. H. (Je '44)
Chemistry of synthetic substances. Dreher, E. (Je '44)
Cherry harvest. Clements, E. H. (My '44)
Cherrystones. Farjeon, E. (O '44)

Chess
- Cordingly, E. G. R. Next move is. . . (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Chia and the lambs. Phelps, M. (S '44)

Chiang, Kai-shek
- Chang, H. H. Chiang Kai-shek. (S '44)

Chiang, Mei-ling (Sung) (Mme Chiang Kai-shek)
- Nicolay, H. China's first lady. (Je '44)

Chicago

History
- Hayes, D. Chicago. (My '44)

Chicken raising made easy. Chapman, P. W. (Ap '44)

Child development. Breckenridge, M. E., and Vincent, E. L. (D '44)

Child of Colombia. Wimberly, P. K. (Ap '44)

Child study
- Baker, H. J. Introduction to exceptional children. (My '44)
- Blatz, W. E. Understanding the young child. (Ag '44)
- Bowley, A. H. Guiding the normal child. (O '44)
- Breckenridge, M. E., and Vincent, E. L. Child development. (D '44)
- Burlingham, D. T., and Freud, A. Infants without families. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Hurlock, E. B. Modern ways with children. (Ap '44)
- Levy, D. M. Maternal overprotection. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Pryor, H. B. As the child grows. (Ag '44)
- Ribble, M. A. Rights of infants. (Ag '44)

Childbirth without fear. Read, G. D. (My '44)

Children

Care and hygiene
- Hathaway, W. P. Education and health of the partially seeing child. (S '44)

Charities, protection, etc.
- Burlingham, D. T., and Freud, A. Infants without families. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Burroughs, H. E. Boys in men's shoes. (My '44)
- Hopkirk, H. W. Institutions serving children. (N '44)

Diseases
- Bauer, W. W. Contagious diseases. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Management
- Baruch, D. W. Primer for and about parents: Parents can be people. (D '44)
- Bowley, A. H. Guiding the normal child. (O '44)
- Hurlock, E. B. Modern ways with children. (Ap '44)
- Levy, D. M. Maternal overprotection. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Perry, R. D. Children need adults. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
- Smart, M. S. and R. C. It's a wise parent. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Winn, R. B., ed. Encyclopedia of child guidance. (Je '44)

Nutrition
- Senn, M. J. E., and Newill, P. K. All about feeding children. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Children, Abnormal and backward
- Baker, H. J. Introduction to exceptional children. (My '44)
- Hathaway, W. P. Education and health of the partially seeing child. (S '44)

Children, Gifted
- Baker, H. J. Introduction to exceptional children. (My '44)

Children need adults. Perry, R. D. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Children of light and the children of darkness. Niebuhr, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Children's literature (books about)
- Duff, A. Bequest of wings. (My '44)

Bibliography
- Joint committee of the American library association, National education association and National council of teachers of English. Basic book collection for elementary grades. (Ap '44)
- Strang, R. M., and others. Gateways to readable books. (O '44)

History and criticism
- Hazard, P. Books, children and men. (Je '44)

Children's literature (individual titles)
- Acker, H. Three boys of old Russia. (Ag '44)
- Adshead, G. L. What Miranda knew. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Aesop. Fables. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Alegria, F. Lautaro. (D '44)
- Allee, M. H. The house. (D '44)
- Allen, M. P. White feather. (O '44)
- Alofsin, D. Stream of Jewish life. (My '44)
- Andersen, H. C. Fairy tales. (My '44)
- Andersen, H. C. Thumbelina. (S '44)
- Anderson, C. W. Heads up—heels down. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Angelo, V. Rooster club. (D '44)
- Arabian nights entertainments. Arabian nights; il. by Oscar Fabres. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Aspden, D. Barney's barges. (D '44)
- Atkinson, M. F. How to raise your puppy. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Aulaire, I. M. d' and E. P. d'. Wings for Per. (D '44)
- Austin, M. Lutie. (O '44)
- Averill, E. Adventures of Jack Ninepins. (D '44)
- Averill, E. Cat club. (My '44)
- Avison, G. Uncle Sam's army. (Mr '44)
- Avison, G. Uncle Sam's marines. (D '44)
- Avison, G. Uncle Sam's navy. (O '44)
- Bacon, F. E. A. Kitty come down. (Je '44)
- Bailey, B. F. Youngest WAC overseas. (O '44)
- Bailey, C. S. Pioneer art in America. (D '44)
- Baker, R. First woman doctor. (My '44)
- Bannon, L. Gregorio and the white llama. (D '44)
- Barne, K. Three and a pigeon. (Ap '44)
- Barnett, G. T. and O. E. Mystery at Yogo creek. (Ap '44)
- Barnouw, A. J. Land of William of Orange. (Je '44)
- Bartman, M. Yank in Africa. (O '44)
- Beaty, J. Y. Mountain book. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. Dulcie and her donkey. (O '44)
- Beim, L. L. and J. Igor's summer. (Je '44)
- Beim, L. L. and J. Sasha and the samover. (N '44)
- Beistle, A. S. I spy. (O '44)
- Bell, M. E. Danger on Old Baldy. (O '44)
- Bendick, J. Electronics for boys and girls. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Bernhard, J. B. Lullaby; why the pussy-cat washes himself so often. (S '44)
- Bernstein, A. R. E., and Slocum, R. Time for swapping. (O '44)
- Best, A. C. Hearthstone in the wilderness. (Ag '44)
- Bianco, M. W. Forward, Commandos! (N '44)
- Bird, D. M. Granite harbor. (N '44)
- Blackstock, J. Island on the beam. (Ag '44)
- Blumenthal, G. Tit for tat Tommy. (N '44)
- Boesel, A. S. Singing with Peter and Patsy. (S '44)
- Boulter, H. W. India. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Boylston, H. D. Carol on Broadway. (S '44)
- Boyton, N. That Silver fox patrol. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Bradbury, B. Muggins. (S '44)
- Brenner, A. I want to fly.(Ag '44)
- Bright, R. Georgie. (O '44)
- Brink, C. R. Magical melons. (D '44)
- Brock, E. L. Mr. Wren's house. (My '44)
- Brock, E. L. Uncle Bennie goes visiting. (D '44)
- Bronson, W. S. Hooker's holiday. (N '44)
- Brooks, W. R. Freddy and Mr Camphor. (N '44)
- Brown, H. M., and Bailey, H. M. Our Latin American neighbors. (D '44)
- Brown, M. W. Black and white. (S '44)
- Brown, M. W. Horses. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Brown, M. W. Little chicken. (Ap '44)
- Brown, M. W. They all saw it. (O '44)
- Brown, M. W., and Campbell, R. Willie's walk to grandmama. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
- Brown, P. Hi Guy, the Cinderella horse. (D '44)
- Brown, R. J. Two children and their jungle zoo. (N '44)
- Buck, P. S. Dragon fish. (N '44)
- Bullard, M. R. Co-pilot Trott. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
- Burlingame, C. Lord of London. (D '44)
- Burt, O. W. Peter's story goes to press. (Ap '44)

Campbell, S. A. Too much Salt and Pepper. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Carlisle, N. V. Marines in review. (Ap '44)
Carr, D., and Parrott, I. J. Now daddy's in the army. (N '44)
Cavanah, F. Private Pepper of Dogs for defense. (Mr '44)
Cavanna, B. Puppy stakes. (S '44)
Chaffee, L. Boy meets pony. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Chalmers, A. I had a penny. (N '44)
Chambers, M. C. M. Bullfighter's son. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Chan, P. and C. Magic monkey. (O '44)
Chandler, A. C. Dragons on guard. (Je '44)
Chanslor, T. Penny. (O '44)
Chapelle, G. L. M. How planes get there. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Chapelle, G. L. M. Planes in action. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Charushin, E. I. Baby bears. (Ag '44)
Chiang, Y. Chin-pao and the giant pandas. (Je '44)
Choate, F., and Curtis, E. Five gold sovereigns. (Ag '44)
Chute, B. J. Shift to the right. (N '44)
Clymer, E. Here comes Pete. (My '44)
Coatsworth, E. J. Trudy and the tree house. (Je '44)
Cobb, M. R., and Hudson, H. Joan chooses occupational therapy. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Coblentz, C. C. Bells of Leyden sing. (O '44)
Colby, H. Where is Johnny? (D '44)
Colman, E. Portugal, wharf of Europe. (N '44)
Conger, E. M. American tanks and tank destroyers. (O '44)
Corey, P. Red tractor. (N '44)
Cormack, M. Road to Down under. (Ag '44)
Costantino, J. and J. Pepito at Capistrano. (Ap '44)
Coté, P. N. Rabbit-go-lucky. (D '44)
Crawford, P. Second shift. (Mr '44)
Crocker, C. H. Let's build. (My '44)
Culbertson, M. H. Peter "PT." (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Czaja, H. M. Bountiful cow. (O '44)
Dalgliesh, A. Silver pencil. (D '44)
Davis, L. R. Spinney and Spike and the B-29. (S '44)
Dean, G. M. Riders of the Gabilans. (D '44)
Dean, L. W. Green Mountain boy. (Ap '44)
De Angeli, M. L. Turkey for Christmas. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
De Angeli, M. L. Yonie Wondernose. (N '44)
De Leeuw, C. Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. (Mr '44)
Deming, D. Penny and Pam, nurse and cadet. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Desmond, A. C. Sea cats. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Disney, W. Surprise package. (O '44)
Dobbs, R. No room. (N '44)
Dolbier, M. Jenny, the bus that nobody loved. (N '44)
Donahey, W. Teenie Weenie days. (Ap '44)
Doyle, F. C. Smoky ridge. (Ag '44)
Duncombe, F. Clarinda. (S '44)
Dunlop, A. M. R. Disappearing island. (Ap '44)
Dunn, M. L., and Morrisett, L. N. Power for America. (Ag '44)
Duplaix, G. Animal stories. (D '44)
Dustin, A. B. Deerwander farm. (Ag '44)
Duvoisin, R. A. They put out to sea. (Mr '44)
Dyer, C. Tale of two houses. (D '44)
Eaton, A. T., ed. Animals' Christmas. (D '44)
Eaton, J. Lone journey. (N '44)
Eberle, I. Nurse! (Ag '44)
Edelstadt, V. Young fighters of the Soviets. (N '44)
Edmonds, W. D. Wilderness clearing. (D '44)
Enright, E. Then there were five. (O '44)
Epstein, S., and Williams, B. New Broome experiment. (D '44)
Epstein, S., and Williams, B. Water to burn. (Je '44)
Erdman, L. G. Separate star. (My '44)
Estes, E. Hundred dresses. (D '44)
Ets, M. H. In the forest. (N '44)
Eulenspiegel. Merry adventures of Till Eulenspiegel. (Je '44)
Evers, H. and A. Fussbunny. (S '44)
Ewen, D. Tales from the Vienna woods. (D '44)
Felsen, G. Some follow the sea. (Je '44)
Fenner, P. R., ed. Princesses and peasant boys. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Fenton, A. H. Oliver Hazard Perry. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Fenton, C. L. Weejack and his neighbors. (Je '44)
Fenton, C. L. and M. A. Land we live on. (S '44)
Ferris, H. J. Tommy and his dog, Hurry. (S '44)
Field, R. L. Prayer for a child. (D '44)
Fish, H. D. Little book of colors. (D '44)
Fitch, F. M. One God. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Flory, J. How many? (N '44)
Foote, K. S. Walkabout Down under. (N '44)
Foster, G. S. Abraham Lincoln's world. (N '44)
Fox, G. M. Army surgeon. (Ap '44)
Freeman, M. B. and I. M. Fun with chemistry. (D '44)
Friskey, M. Corporal Crow. (Ag '44)
Friskey, M. Tad Lincoln and the green umbrella. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Frost, F. M. American caravan. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gaer, J. Everybody's weather. (S '44)
Gall, A. C., and Crew, F. H. All the year round. (N '44)
Garbutt, K. K. Baby Orang and Junior. (S '44)
Gardiner, F. M. Dynamite Duncan, U.S.N. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Garrett, H. Angelo, the naughty one. (D '44)
Garst, D. S. Custer. (Ag '44)
Garst, D. S. Jack London, magnet for adventure. (D '44)
Gates, D. Trouble for Jerry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gatti, A. Mediterranean spotlights. (D '44)
Gilbert, P. T. Egbert and his marvelous adventures. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gleitsmann, H. Pierre keeps watch. (S '44)
Gollomb, J., and Taylor, A. Young heroes of the war. (My '44)
Gossett, M. Children's picture cookbook. (D '44)
Graham, A. P. Thirty-one roads to the White House. (N '44)
Grannan, M. E. Just Mary stories. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Green, M. M. Everybody has a house. (Ag '44)
Greer, B. Thunder's tail. (Je '44)
Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Fairy tales, complete edition; il. by Joseph Scharl. (D '44)
Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Hansel and Gretel. (D '44)
Hader, B. H. and E. Little stone house. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hall, M. After a fashion. (Ap '44)
Hanna, P. R., and Krug, E. A. Marketing the things we use. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hanna, P. R., and others. Making the goods we need. (My '44)
Harkins, P. Bomber pilot. (N '44)
Harper, W., comp. Uncle Sam's story book. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Havighurst, W., and Boyd, M. M. High prairie. (Ag '44)
Hawkins, Q. Don't run, Apple! (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Haywood, C. Here's a Penny. (O '44)
Heal, E. Dogie boy. (Ap '44)
Henderson, Le G. Augustus drives a jeep. (S '44)
Henderson, Le G. Augustus flies. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Henius, F., comp. and tr. Stories from the Americas. (O '44)
Henry, M. Boy and a dog. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hewes, A. D. Two oceans to Canton. (D '44)
Heyliger, W. Top lineman. (Ap '44)
Hill, M. B. Roddy meets the circus. (O '44)
Hoffmann, E. Sierra Sally. (Ag '44)
Hogan, I. Nappy planted a garden. (Je '44)
Hogan, I. Twin colts. (O '44)
Hogner, D. C. Bible story. (Ap '44)
Hogner, D. C. Reward for Brownie. (N '44)
Hoke, H. L. Doctor, the puppy who learned. (D '44)
Hoke, H. L. Shep and the baby. (D '44)

Children's literature (individual titles)—Cont.
Holberg, R. L. Michael and the captain. (D '44)
Howard, E. Dorinda. (Je '44)
Huff, D. Pictures by Pete. (Je '44)
Hunt, M. L. Young man of the house. (S '44)
Ives, V. Russia. (Mr '44)
Jacobs, A. G., comp. Chinese-American song and game book. (Ag '44)
Johnson, M. S. and H. L. Rex of the coast patrol. (Ag '44)
Johnson, S. Encyclopedia for boys and girls. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Jones, M. A. Tell me about Jesus. (D '44)
Jordan, M. A. Shoo-fly pie. (Ag '44)
Judson, C. I. They came from Scotland. (N '44)
Justus, M. Jerry Jake carries on. (Ag '44)
Justus, M. Lizzie. (Ag '44)
Kalashnikoff, N. Jumper. (D '44)
Kane, H. B. Tale of the white-faced hornet. (Je '44)
Keats, M. Sancho and his stubborn mule. (Ag '44)
Keeler, K. S. Apple rush. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Keeler, K. S. Dog days. (O '44)
Kelen, I. Yussuf, the ostrich. (Je '44)
Kelly, E. P. From star to star. (D '44)
King, D. N. Fix the toys. (N '44)
Knox, E. M. Flags of dawn. (Je '44)
Kristoffersen, E. M. Bee in her bonnet. (Je '44)
Lansing, E. H. Ann Bartlett in the south Pacific. (O '44)
Lansing, E. H. Nancy Naylor, flight nurse. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lasher, M. H. Logging chance. (S '44)
Lathrop, W. Northern trail adventure. (O '44)
Lattimore, E. F. First grade. (O '44)
Lawson, R. Rabbit hill. (N '44)
Leaf, M. Gordon the goat. (D '44)
Leaf, M. 3 and 30 watchbirds. (Ap '44)
Lenski, L. Let's play house. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lenski, L. Puritan adventure. (O '44)
Lent, H. B. PT boat. (Je '44)
Lent, H. B. Seabee. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Levy, H. Bombero. (Ap '44)
Lewiton, M. John Philip Sousa. (Ap '44)
L'Hommedieu, D. K. Skippy, the little Skye terrier. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lim, S. Folk tales from China. (S '44)
Lippincott, J. W. Wilderness champion. (D '44)
Litten, F. N. Sinister Island squadron. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lohse, C., and Seaton, J. Mysterious continent. (D '44)
Long, L. Fuss 'n' feathers. (D '44)
Lovelace, D. W. General Ike Eisenhower. (D '44)
Lowrey, J. S. In the morning of the world. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lowrey, J. S. Lavender cat. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
McClintock, M. Airplanes and how they fly. (Ap '44)
McCracken, H. Son of the walrus king. (N '44)
McCracken, R. Elegant elephant. (D '44)
MacDonald, G. Red light, green light. (N '44)
McDonald, L. S. Bering's potlatch. (Je '44)
McGinley, P. Horse that lived upstairs. (D '44)
MacIntyre, E. Susan who lives in Australia. (Ap '44)
Mack, G. D. Broolin. (My '44)
MacKaye, D. L. and J. J. G. We of Frabo stand. (D '44)
McMeekin, I. M. Juba's new moon. (D '44)
McNeer, M. Y. Covered wagon. (O '44)
McNeer, M. Y. Gold rush. (N '44)
McNeer, M. Y. Story of California. (D '44)
MacNeil, M. G. Between earth and sky. (N '44)
Mallette, G. E. Wenderley. (Mr '44)
Maloy, L. Yankee sails to China. (Ap '44)
Mann, M. Nathan Hale, patriot. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Maril, L. Savor and flavor. (Je '44)
Marshak, I. I., and Segal, E. A. Ring and a riddle. (Ag '44)
Mason, M. E. Little Jonathan. (N '44)
Mason, M. E. Timothy has ideas. (Mr '44)
Mason, V. Pilots, man your planes. (S '44)
Maynard, S. K. C. Rose of America. (My '44)
Meader, S. W. Long trains roll. (N '44)
Meadowcroft, E. L. Silver for General Washington. (S '44)
Means, F. C. Peter of the mesa. (S '44)
Medary, M. Buckeye boy. (O '44)
Meese, M. F. Mary Carstens, M.D. (Mr '44)
Metcalfe, J. M. Copper, the red metal. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Milhous, K. First Christmas crib. (D '44)
Milius, W. Here comes daddy. (D '44)
Molloy, A. G. Decky's secret. (N '44)
Monsell, H. A. Dolly Madison, Quaker girl. (S '44)
Montgomery, E. R. Story behind great inventions. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Montgomery, R. G. Last cruise of the Jeannette. (S '44)
Mother Goose. Berta and Elmer Hader's picture book of Mother Goose. (N '44)
Mother Goose. Mother Goose, comp. by W. R. Benét. (Mr '44)
Mother Goose. Mother Goose; seventy-seven verses il. by Tasha Tudor. (D '44)
Mother Goose. Old Mother Goose nursery rhyme book. (My '44)
Nesbitt, N. S. Cobi camel. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Nesbitt, P. Nicholas Needlefoot. (O '44)
Newberry, C. T. Pandora. (D '44)
Nicholson, S. H. Peter, the adventures of a chorister. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Nolan, J. C. O. Henry. (Mr '44)
Nolan, J. C. Treason at the Point. (D '44)
Norling, J. S. and E. R. Pogo's train ride. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Norton, A. M. Sword is drawn. (My '44)
Norton, M. Magic bed-knob. (My '44)
Nourse, M. A., and Goetz, D. China, country of contrasts. (D '44)
Orton, H. F. Winding river. (N '44)
Osgood, H. E. K. Yukon River children. (Ag '44)
Pannell, L., and Henry, R. Chuggety chug. (N '44)
Parker, K. P. What and what-not. (D '44)
Pauli, H. E. Story of the Christmas tree. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Paullin, E. This little boy went to kindergarten. (N '44)
Payne, E. Katy no-pocket. (O '44)
Payne, J. B. Once there was Olga. (O '44)
Pease, J. V. This is the world. (D '44)
Perry, J. Chemical industry. (N '44)
Phelps, M. Chia and the lambs. (S '44)
Philbrook, E. Far from Marlborough street. (My '44)
Pinkerton, K. S. G. Farther north. (Ap '44)
Pollock, K. G. Sky ride. (O '44)
Porazinska, J. In Voytus' little house. (N '44)
Porazinska, J. My village. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Poston, M. L. Girl without a country. (D '44)
Potter, B. Wag-by-Wall. (D '44)
Powers, A. Hannibal's elephants. (N '44)
Pratt, M., and others. When I grow up I'll be a teacher. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Rathbone, A. D. He's in the sub-busters now. (Ap '44)
Reno, E. W., and Weisgard, L. Pick the vegetables. (O '44)
Rey, H. A. Humpty Dumpty and other Mother Goose songs. (Ap '44)
Rey, H. A. We three kings. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Rey, M. E. W. Pretzel. (D '44)
Rickard, J. A. Old Aztec story teller. (Je '44)
Ridgway, M. V. Night-night. (S '44)
Rifkin, L. When I grow up I'll be a farmer. (My '44)
Riggs, I. B. Little champion. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Roan, C. M. Wings on the air. (S '44)
Robinson, G. Fox fire. (O '44)
Robinson, W. W. Big boy. (S '44)
Rogow, W. Let's find Skipper. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Rohmer, A. E. Ivan, the iron horse. (N '44)
Ross, M. I. Farm in the family. (My '44)
Rothery, A. E. Central American roundabout. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Rush, W. M. Rocky Mountain ranger. (N '44)
Savage, A. H. Eben the crane. (D '44)
Savery, C. Good ship Red Lily. (O '44)

Sawyer, R. Christmas Anna Angel. (D '44)
Schoenen, H. Story behind steel. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Scholz, J. V. Pigskin warriors. (O '44)
Scott, W. R. This is the milk that Jack drank. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sewell, H. Birthdays for Robin. (Ap '44)
Seymour, A. H. On the edge of the fjord. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Shackelford, J. D. My happy days. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Shapiro, I. Casey Jones and locomotive no. 638. (Je '44)
Shapiro, I. Yankee thunder. (My '44)
Shenton, E. Alphabet of the army. (Ap '44)
Shields, K. Three in the jungle. (O '44)
Shinn, E., il. Christ story. (Ap '44)
Shurtleff, B. L. AWOL: K-9 commando. (Ag '44)
Siegmeister, E., ed. Work and sing. (Ag '44)
Slobodkin, L. Friendly animals. (D '44)
Slobodkin, L. Magic Michael. (O '44)
Smith, C. P. He's in the artillery now. (Ap '44)
Smith, E. B. So long ago. (Je '44)
Smith, E. S., and Hazeltine, A. I., comps. Christmas book of legends and stories. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sondergaard, A. My first geography of the Pacific. (D '44)
Sorenson, F. E., and Rotter, G. E. Now we fly. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sowers, P. A. Swords and sails in the Philippines. (Ag '44)
Sperry, A. Storm canvas. (S '44)
Stafford, K. Ling Tang and the lucky cricket. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stark, B. S. Chancho. (D '44)
Steiner, C. Daddy comes home. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Steiner, C., and Burlingham, M. Second climbing book. (D '44)
Sterling, H. Little Choo Choo. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stevenson, A. George Carver, boy scientist. (D '44)
Stevenson, A. Sam Houston, boy chieftain. (Ag '44)
Stewart, A. B. Two young Corsicans. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stillman, D. When the New Year came in March. (My '44)
Stone, E. Free men shall stand. (D '44)
Stone, W. S. Pépé was the saddest bird. (D '44)
Sutton, M. Gail Gardner wins her cap. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Tall book of nursery tales. (My '44)
Tatham, C. First flying book. (O '44)
Tenggren, G. Story book. (O '44)
Tharp, L. H. Champlain, northwest voyager. (D '44)
Theiss, L. E. Tommy visits an aircraft factory. (Ap '44)
Thorne, D., and Moran, C. Chips. (S '44)
Thorne-Thomsen, G. Sky bed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Thurber, J. Great Quillow. (D '44)
Tireman, L. S. Baby Jack and Jumping Jack Rabbit. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Tousey, S. Little Bear's pinto pony. (My '44)
Tousey, S. Trouble in the gulch. (S '44)
Trent, R. Susan. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Tunis, J. R. Rookie of the year. (My '44)
Tunis, J. R. Yea! Wildcats! (D '44)
Ulreich, N. W. All aboard, we are off. (O '44)
Urmston, M. Plain clothes Patricia. (Je '44)
Vinton, I. Laffy of the navy salvage divers. (N '44)
Von Hagen, C. I. B. Forgotten finca. (Ag '44)
Wagoner, J. B. Jane Addams, little lame girl. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Waite, H. E. Butterfly takes command. (D '44)
Waldeck, T. J. Treks across the veldt. (Ag '44)
Walsh, M. R. Molly, the rogue. (Ag '44)
Ward, M. B. Boat children of Canton. (Ag '44)
Ware, L. Crazy dog. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Watson, H. O. Shavetail Sam, U.S. army mule. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Watson, H. O. Trooper, U.S. army dog. (Mr '44)
Watson, V. C. Through many waters. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wayne, E. Bucky Bear. (My '44)
Webber, I. E. S. Travelers all. (N '44)
Weil, A. Pussycat's breakfast. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Weisgard, L. Whose little bird am I? (O '44)
Werner, J. Child's book of Bible stories. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Weston, M. F. Great pathfinder. (D '44)
Wheeler, O. Handel at the court of kings. (Mr '44)
White, E. O. When Esther was a little girl. (Ap '44)
Williams, G. M. Timid Timothy. (N '44)
Williams, J. Counterfeit African. (D '44)
Wimberly, P. K. Child of Colombia. (Ap '44)
Wolo. Sir Archibald. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wood, L. N. Raymond L. Ditmars. (N '44)
Woolley, C. I like trains. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Worth, K. New worlds for Josie. (N '44)
Worthington, M. Sally, army dietition. (S '44)
Wright, E. B. Saturday flight. (S '44)
Writers' program, Pennsylvania. Aluminum. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Writer's program, Pennsylvania. Oil and gas. (D '44)
Wu Chêng-ên. Adventures of Monkey. (N '44)
Yates, R. F. Boy and a motor. (Ap '44)
Yaukey, G. S. China. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Young, S. Mayflower boy. (O '44)
Zimmerman, N. Party dress. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Zimmerman, N. Sleepy forest. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Zimmerman, N. Timothy-Tick-Tock. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Zolotow, C. S. Park book. (D '44)

Mystery stories
Chapman, M. Secret of Wild Cat cave. (N '44)
Farmer, W. Bicycle commandos. (D '44)
Girvan, H. M. White tulip. (Ap '44)
Honness, E. H. Great gold piece mystery. (N '44)
Jacobs, E. A. Secret spring. (D '44)
Keating, L. A. Highview mystery. (Ag '44)
Pease, H. Thunderbolt house. (My '44)
Queen, E. Green turtle mystery. (O '44)
Roberts, T. Mystery schooner. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wadsworth, L. A. Mystery at White Moccasins. (My '44)
Williams, J. Stolen oracle. (Ap '44)

Children's literature (collective)
Bennett, D. A. Golden almanac. (Je '44)
Harper, W., comp. Yankee yarns. (My '44)
Story parade star book. (My '44)
Children's picture cookbook. Gossett, M. (D '44)
Children's plays
Jagendorf, M. A., comp. 25 non-royalty holiday plays. (Ag '44)
Mayorga, M. G., ed. World's a stage. (Ap '44)
Children's poetry
Farjeon, E. Cherrystones. (O '44)
Ferris, H. J., comp. Love's enchantment. (O '44)
Worth, K. Poems for Josephine. (Ag '44)
Children's prayers
Field, R. L. Prayer for a child. (D '44)
Children's songs
Herbert, V. Songs for children. (Ap '44)
Rey, H. A. Humpty Dumpty and other Mother Goose songs. (Ap '44)
Child's book of Bible stories. Werner, J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Chin-pao and the giant pandas. Chiang, Y. (Je '44)
China
China. Ministry of information. China handbook, 1937-1943. (Mr '44)
Crow, C. China takes her place. (D '44)

Biography
Kuo, C. Giants of China. (O '44)

Civilization
Pratt, J. T. China and Britain. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Yaukey, G. S. China. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Commerce
Abend, H. Treaty ports. (O '44)

China—Commerce—Continued

United States

Hewes, A. D. Two oceans to Canton. (D '44)

Description and travel

Clayton, E. H. Heaven below. (S '44)
Sues, I. R. Shark's fins and millet. (Mr '44)

Economic conditions

MacNair, H. F., ed. Voices from unoccupied China. (Je '44)
Shih, K. China enters the machine age. (D '44)

Economic policy

Sun, K. China looks forward. (S '44)

Foreign relations

Abend, H. Treaty ports. (O '44)
Chou, K. Winning the peace in the Pacific. (Mr '44)

History

Hahn, E. China to me. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lattimore, O. and E. H. Making of modern China. (Ap '44)
Rosinger, L. K. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Seeger, E. Pageant of Chinese history. (S '44)
Wilbur, C. M. Slavery in China during the former Han dynasty. (D '44)

Juvenile literature

Nourse, M. A., and Goetz, D. China, country of contrasts. (D '44)

Politics and government

Rosinger, L. K. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sun, K. China looks forward. (S '44)

Relations (general) with Great Britain

Pratt, J. T. China and Britain. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Religion

Yang, Y. C. China's religious heritage. (Ap '44)

Sanitary affairs

Sze, S. China's health problems. (Ag '44)

Social conditions

MacNair, H. F., ed. Voices from unoccupied China. (Je '44)

China. Yaukey, G. S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
China and Britain. Pratt, J. T. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
China, country of contrasts. Nourse, M. A., and Goetz, D. (D '44)
China enters the machine age. Shih, K. (D '44)
China handbook, 1937-1943. China. Ministry of information. (Mr '44)
China looks forward. Sun, K. (S '44)
China takes her place. Crow, C. (D '44)
China to me. Hahn, E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
China's first lady. Nicolay, H. (Je '44)
China's health problems. Sze, S. (Ag '44)
China's religious heritage. Yang, Y. C. (Ap '44)
China's struggle for railroad development. Chang, C. (O '44)
China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. Rosinger, L. K. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Chinese-American song and game book. Jacobs, A. G., comp. (Ag '44)

Chinese industrial cooperatives
Hogg, G. A. I see a new China. (S '44)

Chinese language

Writing

Quong, R. Chinese wit, wisdom and written characters. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Chinese wit, wisdom and written characters. Quong, R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Chips. Thorne, D., and Moran, C. (S '44)
Christ of the American road. Jones, E. S. (O '44)
Christ story. Shinn, E., il. (Ap '44)
Christian adult education in rural Asia and Africa. Sailer, T. H. P. (My '44)

Christian art and symbolism
Watkin, E. I. Catholic art and culture. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Christian behaviour. Lewis, C. S. (Ap '44)
Christian counter-attack. Martin, H., and others. (Ag '44)

Christian ethics
Constantino, S. A. Amen, Amen. (Mr '44)
Jones, E. S. Christ of the American road. (O '44)
Knudson, A. C. Principles of Christian ethics. (Ap '44)
Lewis, C. S. Christian behaviour. (Ap '44)
McBride, T. G. Christian ethics and economics. (N '44)

Christian ethics and economics. McBride, T. G. (N '44)
Christian interpretation of the cabala in the renaissance. Blau, J. L. (N '44)

Christian life
Brown, C. R. Dreams come true. (Je '44)
Hunter, A. A. Say yes to the light. (O '44)
McGarrigle, F. J. My Father's will. (N '44)

Christian state. Osgniach, A. J. (Ag '44)
Christian way in a modern world. Pittenger, W. N. (S '44)

Christianity
Craig, C. T. One God, one world. (S '44)
Eakin, F., and Moody, M. O. Let's think about our religion. (N '44)
Heering, G. J. Fall of Christianity. (My '44)
Johnston, G. Doctrine of the church in the New Testament. (Ag '44)
Miller, R. C., and Shires, H. H., eds. Christianity and the contemporary scene. (Je '44)
Pittenger, W. N. Christian way in a modern world. (S '44)
Plumpe, J. C. Mater ecclesia. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Raven, C. E. Good news of God. (S '44)
Thomas, G. F., ed. Vitality of the Christian tradition. (Je '44)
Trueblood, D. E. Predicament of modern man. (O '44)

Philosophy

Boodin, J. E. Religion of tomorrow. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Johnson, J. G. Highroads of the universe. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lyman, E. W. Religion and the issues of life. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Christianity and classical culture. Cochrane, C. N. (D '44)
Christianity and democracy. Maritain, J. (Ag '44)

Christianity and other religions

Judaism

Blau, J. L. Christian interpretation of the cabala in the renaissance. (N '44)

Christianity and politics
Maritain, J. Christianity and democracy. (Ag '44)

Christianity and the contemporary scene. Miller, R. C., and Shires, H. H., eds. (Je '44)

Christiansen, Frederik Melius
Bergmann, L. N. Music master of the Middle West. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Christmas
Eaton, A. T., ed. Animals' Christmas. (D '44)
Merry Christmas! (Je '44)
Smith, E. S., and Hazeltine, A. I., comps. Christmas book of legends and stories. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Christmas Anna Angel. Sawyer, R. (D '44)
Christmas book of legends and stories. Smith, E. S., and Hazeltine, A. I., comps. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Christmas poetry
Eaton, A. T., ed. Animals' Christmas. (D '44)

Christmas stories
Milhous, K. First Christmas crib. (D '44)
Sawyer, R. Christmas Anna Angel. (D '44)

Chronicle of dawn. Sender, R. J. (Ap '44)
Chuggety chug. Pannell, L., and Henry, R. (N '44)

Church
Buckner, G. W. Concerns of a world church. (Ap '44)
Jalland, T. G. Church and the papacy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Church and education
Elwell, C. E. Influence of the enlightenment on the Catholic theory of religious education in France. (Ag '44)
Moehlman, C. H. School and church: the American way. (Ag '44)

Church and psychotherapy. Stolz, K. R. (Ap '44)
Church and social problems
  Davies, D. R. Down peacock's feathers. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Oxnam, G. B. Preaching in a revolutionary age. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Church and state in education. Bower, W. C. (Ag '44)
Church and state in Italy
  Sharkey, D. White smoke over the Vatican. (My '44)
Church and state in Russia
  Anderson, P. B. People, church and state in modern Russia. (Ag '44)
Church and the liberal society. Hughes, E. J. (My '44)
Church and the papacy. Jalland, T. G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Church and the war. Barth, K. (S '44)
Church history
  Dunney, J. A. Church history in the light of the saints. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Jalland, T. G. Church and the papacy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Johnston, G. Doctrine of the church in the New Testament. (Ag '44)
  Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity: v6, Great century in northern Africa. (My '44)
Primitive and early church
  Cochrane, C. N. Christianity and classical culture. (D '44)
  Craig, C. T. Beginning of Christianity. (Ap '44)
  Durant, W. J. Story of civilization; v. 3, Caesar and Christ. (N '44)
  Plumpe, J. C. Mater ecclesia. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sources
  Bettenson, H. S. ed. Documents of the Christian church. (Je '44)
Church history in the light of the saints. Dunney, J. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Church looks forward. Temple, W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Church of England
  Temple, W. Church looks forward. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Liturgy and ritual
  Morison, S. English prayer books. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Church work
  Brodie, W. A. Keeping your church informed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Churchill, Winston Leonard Spencer
  Kraus, R. Winston Churchill in the mirror. (D '44)
Cincinnati
Economic conditions
  Berry, T. S. Western prices before 1861. (Ap '44)
Circus. Mills, C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cities and towns
Latin America
  Violich, F. Cities of Latin America. (O '44)
Cities of Latin America. Violich, F. (O '44)
Citizen, plan for peace! Bush, M. E., and others. (My '44)
Citizen Toussaint. Korngold, R. (O '44)
Citizenship
United States
  Cable, J. L. Loss of citizenship. (Ag '44)
Citizenship. Johnson, S. P., and Alexander, W. M. (N '44)
City planning
  Violich, F. Cities of Latin America. (O '44)
  Zucker, P., ed. New architecture and city planning. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
City set on a hill. Van der Veldt, J. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Civil rights
  Fraenkel, O. K. Our civil liberties. (Ag '44)
Civil service
United States
  Crider, J. H. Bureaucrat. (S '44)
Civilization
  Malinowski, B. Freedom and civilization. (D '44)
  Sigerist, H. E. Civilization and disease. (Mr '44)
  Trueblood, D. E. Predicament of modern man. (O '44)
  Wells, H. G. '42 to '44. (S '44)
History
  Durant, W. J. Story of civilization; v. 3, Caesar and Christ. (N '44)
  Fischer, E. Passing of the European age. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Jacob, H. E. Six thousand years of bread. (My '44)
  Kahler, E. Man the measure. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Mumford, L. Condition of man. (Je '44)
Philosophy
  Cassirer, E. Essay on man. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Civilization, Arabic
  Faris, N. A., ed. Arab heritage. (Ag '44)
Civilization, Christian
  Cochrane, C. N. Christianity and classical culture. (D '44)
  Laski, H. J. Faith, reason and civilization. (Ag '44)
  Sockman, R. W. Date with destiny. (S '44)
  Thomas, G. F., ed. Vitality of the Christian tradition. (Je '44)
Civilization, Greco-Roman
  Cochrane, C. N. Christianity and classical culture. (D '44)
Civilization, Greek
  Jaeger, W. W. Paideia. (My '44)
  Macarthur, J. R. Ancient Greece in modern America. (Je '44)
Civilization and disease. Sigerist, H. E. (Mr '44)
Civilization of Spain. Trend, J. B. (N '44)
Clarinda. Duncombe, F. (S '44)
Clark, Walter
  Brooks, A. L. Walter Clark, fighting judge. (My '44)
Class distinction
  Warner, W. L., and others. Who shall be educated? (Ag '44)
Classical education
  Foerster, N., ed. Humanities after the war. (Ag '44)
Classification and pay plans for libraries in institutions of higher learning. American library association. Board on salaries, staff, and tenure. (Ag '44)
Clemenceau, Georges Eugène Benjamin
  Bruun, G. Clemenceau. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Clergy
  Calkins, R. Romance of the ministry. (My '44)
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Howard, G. Walkin' preacher of the Ozarks. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cleric's secret. Deeping, W. (My '44)
Climate and the energy of nations. Markham, S. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Climatology
  Haurwitz, B., and Austin, J. M. Climatology. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Markham, S. F. Climate and the energy of nations. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Trewartha, G. T. Introduction to weather and climate. (Ag '44)
Clipper ship men. Laing, A. K. (D '44)
Clipper ships
  Laing, A. K. Clipper ship men. (D '44)
Clock strikes twelve. Wentworth, P. (Je '44)
Clocks and watches
  Kelly, H. C. Practical course in horology. (Ag '44)
  Rawlings, A. L. Science of clocks and watches. (O '44)
Clothing and dress
  Girl's daily life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Talbot, C. Complete home care of your family wardrobe. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cloud and weather atlas. Grant, H. D. (D '44)
Cloudless May. Jameson, S. (My '44)
Clouds
  Grant, H. D. Cloud and weather atlas. (D '44)

Club leader's handbook. Yurchak, P. P. (Ap '44)
Clubs
Yurchak, P. P. Club leader's handbook. (Ap '44)
Clue to Pascal. Cailliet, E. (My '44)
Clues to Christabel. Fitt, M. (O '44)
Cluny Brown. Sharp, M. (S '44)
Coal industry. Perry, J. (My '44)
Coal mines and mining
Juvenile literature
Perry, J. Coal industry. (My '44)
Coal preparation
Mitchell, D. R., ed. Coal preparation. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cobi camel. Nesbitt, N. S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cobwebs and clues. Malan, E., and Ledig, A. K. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Coe, Charles Francis
Coe, C. F. Never a dull moment. (Ag '44)
Coffee
Wickizer, V. D. World coffee economy. (Je '44)
Colcorton. Pope, E. (My '44)
Collected works of Mrs Peter Willoughby. Plummer, M. E. (Ap '44)
Collective bargaining
Dunlop, J. T. Wage determination under trade unions. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Collectors and collecting
Rigby, D. and E. Lock, stock and barrel. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Colleges and universities
Henderson, A. D. Vitalizing liberal education. (Ap '44)
Curricula
Spafford, I. O., and others. Building a curriculum for general education. (Ap '44)
Honors work
Aydelotte, F. Breaking the academic lock step. (Ap '44)
Colonial policies in Africa. Wieschhoff, H. A. (N '44)
Colonies
Hailey, M. H. Future of colonial peoples. (My '44)
Colorimeters and colorimetry
Sandell, E. B. Colorimetric determination of traces of metals. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Colorimetric determination of traces of metals. Sandell, E. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Columnists. Fisher, C. (My '44)
Combat correspondent. Lucas, J. G. (O '44)
Combustion on wheels. Cohn, D. L. (D '44)
Come over into Macedonia. Allen, H. B. (Mr '44)
Comenius, Johann Amos
Spinka, M. John Amos Comenius. (Ap '44)
Comfortization of aircraft. Arnhym, A. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Coming air age. Cleveland, R. M., and Neville, L. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Coming, Major! Stone, E. C., and Melick, W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Coming struggle for peace. Visson, A. (Ag '44)
Commandments, Ten
Klein, I. Ten commandments in a changing world. (Je '44)
Commerce
Machlup, F. International trade and the national income multiplier. (Ag '44)
Commercial methods of analysis. Snell, F. D., and Biffen, F. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Commercial policy
Feis, H. Sinews of peace. (D '44)
Commercial products
Graham, B. World commodities and world currency. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Dictionaries
Brady, G. S. Materials handbook. (Je '44)
Common thread. Seide, M. (Ap '44)
Commonsense religion. Aiken, J. R. R. (Ag '44)
Communication and traffic
Mance, H. O. International telecommunications. (N '44)
Communication circuits. Ware, L. A., and Reed, H. R. (Je '44)
Communism
Laidler, H. W. Social-economic movements. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Palestine
Infield, H. F. Cooperative living in Palestine. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Russia
Dallin, D. J. Real Soviet Russia. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Laski, H. J. Faith, reason and civilization. (Ag '44)
United States
Gellermann, W. Martin Dies. (S '44)
Comparative economic systems. Blodgett, R. H. (D '44)
Compass, Gyrostatic
Rawlings, A. L. Theory of the gyroscopic compass and its deviations. (Ag '44)
Compass eye. Vinal, H. (O '44)
Compass of the world. Weigert, H. W., and Stefansson, V., eds. (O '44)
Complete home care of your family wardrobe. Talbot, C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Complete photographer. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Completion of independence. Krout, J. A., and Fox, D. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Composite aircraft manufacture and inspection. Michelon, L. C. (N '44)
Conception of authority. Benne, K. D. (O '44)
Concerning Mr Lincoln. Pratt, H. E., ed. (Je '44)
Concerns of a world church. Buckner, G. W. (Ap '44)
Concerto
Veinus, A. Concerto. (My '44)
Concrete, Reinforced
Billig, K. Pre-stressed reinforced concrete. (Je '44)
Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. Reinforced concrete and masonry structures. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Concrete construction
Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. Reinforced concrete and masonry structures. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Condition of man. Mumford, L. (Je '44)
Conduct of life
Banning, M. C., and Culkin, M. L. Conduct yourself accordingly. (O '44)
Daly, M. Smarter and smoother. (My '44)
Girl's daily life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Miller, J. H. Take a look at yourself. (Ag '44)
Osgood, P. E. Say I to myself. (Ap '44)
Woodward, E. S. Strictly private. (D '44)
Juvenile literature
Leaf, M. 3 and 30 watchbirds. (Ap '44)
Conduct yourself accordingly. Banning, M. C., and Culkin, M. L. (O '44)
Conducting (music)
Finn, W. J. Conductor raises his baton. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Conductor raises his baton. Finn, W. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Cone of silence. MacLiesh, A. F. (Mr '44)
Confederate states of America
Patrick, R. W. Jefferson Davis and his cabinet. (D '44)
Ramsdell, C. W. Behind the lines in the southern confederacy. (Ap '44)
Wiley, B. I. Plain people of the confederacy. (Ap '44)
Biography
Freeman, D. S. Lee's lieutenants; v. 3, Gettysburg to Appomattox. (N '44)
Congress of industrial organizations. Political action committee
Gaer, J. First round. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Conjuring
Mulholland, J. Art of illusion. (My '44)
Parrish, R. H. For magicians only. (S '44)
Connecticut cookbook. Westport, Connecticut. Woman's club. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Connecting ships' wiring. Nowlin, G. A. (D '44)
Connolly, James Brendan
Connolly, J. B. Sea-borne. (S '44)
Conqueror inn. Punshon, E. R. (Mr '44)
Consciousness
Garrett, E. J. L. Awareness. (Ap '44)

Conselheiro, Antonio Vicente Mendes Maciel, called
  Cunha, E. da. Rebellion in the backlands. (Mr '44)
Conservation in the United States. Gustafson, A. F., and others. (D '44)
Conservation of resources
  Gustafson, A. F., and others. Conservation in the United States. (D '44)
Conserving marriage and the family. Groves, E. R. (N '44)
Consolation
  Spellman, F. J. Risen soldier. (Je '44)
Constellations
  Barton, S. G. and W. H. Guide to the constellations. (O '44)
  Sidgwick, J. B. Introductory astronomy. (D '44)
Constituents of wheat and wheat products. Bailey, C. H. (O '44)
Constitution and world organization. Corwin, E. S. (Je '44)
Consumer education
  Dameron, K., ed. Consumer problems in wartime. (Ag '44)
  Trilling, M. B., and Williams, F. You and your money. (N '44)
  Wingate, I. B. and others. Know your merchandise. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Consumer problems in wartime. Dameron, K., ed. (Ag '44)
Consumption (economics)
  Dameron, K., ed. Consumer problems in wartime. (Ag '44)
Contagious diseases. Bauer, W. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Contemporary Chinese stories. Wang, C., tr. (My '44)
Contemporary Italy. Sforza, C. (Ap '44)
Contemporary psychopathology. Tomkins, S. S., ed. (S '44)
Contemporary Spanish-American fiction. Spell, J. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Contemporary thinking about Jesus. Kepler, T. S., comp. (My '44)
Continent's end. Jackson, J. H., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Contract bridge
  Goren, C. H. Standard book of bidding. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Contribution of Holland to the sciences. Barnouw, A. J., and Landheer, B., eds. (Mr '44)
Control of electric motors. Harwood, P. B. (Je '44)
Control of Germany and Japan. Moulton, H. G., and Marlio, L. (N '44)
Convalescence
  Jensen, F., and others. Medical care of the discharged hospital patient. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Conveying machinery
  Hudson, W. G. Conveyors and related equipment. (O '44)
Conveyors and related equipment. Hudson, W. G. (O '44)
Cookery
  Bradley, A. Menu-cook-book. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Brown, C. L. B., and others. Country cookbook. (Je '44)
  Carhart, A. H. Outdoorsman's cookbook. (My '44)
  Coffin, R. P. T. Mainstays of Maine. (O '44)
  Corban, E. B., and others. Eat to live. (Ap '44)
  De Gouy, L. P. Bread tray. (D '44)
  Howard, J. G. G. Fifty years in a Maryland kitchen. (S '44)
  Keating, L. A. Men in aprons. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Smith, H. Kitchens near and far. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Wallace, L. H. Sea food cookery. (Je '44)
  Westport, Connecticut. Woman's club. Connecticut cookbook. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
    Juvenile literature
  Gossett, M. Children's picture cookbook. (D '44)
Cookery (game)
  Beard, J. Fowl and game cookery. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cookery (poultry)
  Beard, J. Fowl and game cookery. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cookery (soybeans)
  Williams-Heller, A. W., and McCarthy, J. V. Soybeans, from soup to nuts. (Ag '44)
Cookery, Near Eastern
  Mardikian, G. Dinner at Omar Khayyam's. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Cooperation
  Carpenter, J. H. Peace through co-operation. (S '44)
    Dictionaries
  Bogardus, E. S. Dictionary of cooperation. (Ag '44)
Cooperative living in Palestine. Infield, H. F. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Co-operative organisations and post-war relief. International labor office. (O '44)
Cooperative societies
  International labor office. Co-operative organisations and post-war relief. (O '44)
Copernicus, Nicolaus
    Juvenile literature
  Kelly, E. P. From star to star. (D '44)
Co-pilot Trott. Bullard, M. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Copper
    Juvenile literature
  Metcalfe, J. M. Copper, the red metal. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Copper, the red metal. Metcalfe, J. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cornell red book of marine engineering. Paterson, W. B., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Cornell university
  Becker, C. L. Cornell university: founders and the founding. (Je '44)
Corporal Crow. Friskey, M. (Ag '44)
Corpse came C.O.D. Starr, J. (My '44)
Corpse de ballet. Cores, L. M. (Je '44)
Corpse without a clue. Walling, R. A. J. (S '44)
Corruption (in politics)
  Abrahams, L. It's all politics. (D '44)
  Van Devander, C. W. Big bosses. (My '44)
Cortés, Hernando
  Wagner, H. R. Rise of Fernando Cortés. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cosmogony
  Jeans, J. H. Universe around us. (N '44)
Cosmology
  Tillyard, E. M. W. Elizabethan world picture. (My '44)
Cost and standard of living
  Fleddérus, M. L., and Van Kleeck, M. Technology and livelihood. (My '44)
Costa Rica
    Social life and customs
  Biesanz, J. B. and M. Costa Rican life. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Costa Rican life. Biesanz, J. B. and M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Costume design
  Featherstone, M., and Maack, D. H. Elementary costume design. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Cotton manufacture
  Lahne, H. J. Cotton mill worker. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Cotton mill worker. Lahne, H. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Coulter, John Merle
  Rodgers, A. D. John Merle Coulter, missionary in science. (S '44)
Coulton, George Gordon
  Coulton, G. G. Fourscore years. (Ag '44)
Counterfeit African. Williams, J. (D '44)
Counterfeiting. Smith, L. D. (S '44)
Counterfeits and counterfeiting
  Smith, L. D. Counterfeiting. (S '44)
Counterpoint
  Fux, J. J. Steps to Parnassus. (Ap '44)
Country colic. Lawson, R. (My '44)
Country cookbook. Brown, C. L. B., and others. (Je '44)
Country life
  Clark, T. D. Pills, petticoats and plows. (My '44)

Country life—Continued
Corey, P. Buy an acre. (Je '44)
Lawson, R. Country colic. (My '44)
Parsons, A. B. Mountain. (Mr '44)
Pratt, W. M. Adventure in Vermont. (Ap '44)
Wend, M. How to live in the country without farming. (My '44)

England

Turner, W. J., ed. Panorama of rural England. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Country neighborhood. Coatsworth, E. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Courage stout. Raine, W. M. (My '44)
Couriers of the sky. Bonner, M. G. (N '44)
Courts

United States

Commager, H. S. Majority rule and minority rights. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Covered wagon. McNeer, M. Y. (O '44)
Coverts and casts. Schaldach, W. J. (Mr '44)
Cowboys
Adams, R. F. Western words. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Crab apple jelly. O'Connor, F. (N '44)
Craftsman prepares to teach. Jackey, D. F., and Barlow, M. L. (My '44)
Cranes

Legends and stories

Savage, A. H. Eben the crane. (D '44)
Crazy dog. Ware, L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Crazy like a fox. Perelman, S. J. (Ag '44)
Crazy weather. McNichols, C. L. (Ap '44)
Creation
Ferris, T. P. This created world. (Mr '44)
Creation of the rococo. Kimball, S. F. (Ap '44)
Creative delivery of sermons. Kirkpatrick, R. W. (Je '44)
Cresap, Thomas
Bailey, K. P. Thomas Cresap. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Crime and criminals
Waite, J. B. Prevention of repeated crime. (My '44)

United States

Glueck, S. and E. T. Criminal careers in retrospect. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Crime and the human mind. Abrahamsen, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Crime on my hands. Sanders, G. (N '44)
Criminal anthropology
Glueck, S. and E. T. Criminal careers in retrospect. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Criminal careers in retrospect. Glueck, S. and E. T. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Criminal investigation
Collins, F. L. Homicide squad. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Criminal psychology
Abrahamsen, D. Crime and the human mind. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lindner, R. M. Rebel without a cause. (S '44)
Crisis of the national state. Friedmann, W. (Je '44)
Criticism
Peyre, H. M. Writers and their critics. (D '44)
Crockett, David

Juvenile literature

Shapiro, I. Yankee thunder. (My '44)
Crooking finger. Adams, C. F. (Je '44)
Cross and the arrow. Maltz, A. (O '44)
Cross and the eternal order. Clark, H. W. (D '44)
Cross-section. Seaver, E., ed. (Ag '44)
Crucifixion. Miller, M. B. (My '44)
Crusades
William, abp of Tyre. History of deeds done beyond the sea, 2v. (N '44)
Crux ansata. Wells, H. G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Cry murder. Howie, E. (D '44)
Crying at the lock. Rumsey, A. (D '44)
Cucking stool
Spargo, J. W. Juridical folklore in England. (S '44)
Culture
Malinowski, B. Scientific theory of culture. (D '44)
Watkin, E. I. Catholic art and culture. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Current American government. Howard, L. V., and Bone, H. A. (Ap '44)
Current conceptions of democracy. Beery, J. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Curtain rises. Reynolds, Q. J. (Ap '44)
Custer, George Armstrong

Fiction

Haycox, E. Bugles in the afternoon. (Mr '44)

Juvenile literature

Garst, D. S. Custer. (Ag '44)
Cypress man. Beynon, J. (My '44)
Czechoslovakia
Beneš, V. Vanguard of the "drang nach Osten." (Je '44)
Czechoslovakia fights back. Czechoslovakia. Ministerstvo zahraničních věcí. (Ap '44)

D day. Gunther, J. (Ap '44)
D. A. calls a turn. Gardner, E. S. (Mr '44)
Daddy comes home. Steiner, C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Daladier, Edouard
Géraud, A. Gravediggers of France. (O '44)
Dale, Katherine (Neel)
Floyd, O. B. Doctora in Mexico. (My '44)
Dallas, Alexander James
Walters, R. Alexander James Dallas. (S '44)
Damage control. Kelly, T. J. (D '44)
Damned to glory. Scott, R. L. (N '44)
Dancing

Folk and national dances

Fox, G. I., and Merrill, K. G. Folk dancing in high school and college. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Danger in the cards. MacDougall, M. (Ap '44)
Danger on Old Baldy. Bell, M. E. (O '44)
Dangling man. Bellow, S. (My '44)
Dante Alighieri

Fiction

Schachner, N. Wanderer. (D '44)
Danube basin and the German economic sphere. Basch, A. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Danubian countries
Basch, A. Danube basin and the German economic sphere. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Dark glass. Charles, J. (Ag '44)
Dark page. Fuller, S. M. (O '44)
Dark street. Cheyney, P. (N '44)
Dark tunnel. Millar, K. (N '44)
Dark voyage. Addis, H. (S '44)
Darkness of slumber. Kutak, R. (D '44)
Darkness over Germany. Buller, E. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Data sheets. Graf, D. T. (O '44)
Date with danger. Vickers, R. (O '44)
Date with destiny. Sockman, R. W. (S '44)
Davis, Esme
Davis, E. Esmé of Paris. (Je '44)
Davis, Jefferson
Patrick, R. W. Jefferson Davis and his cabinet. (D '44)
Davis, Robert Hobart
Mathias, F. S. Amazing Bob Davis. (O '44)
Davy Jones, I love you. Buckley, F. R. (Je '44)
Day and night. Livesay, D. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Day is coming. Cameron, W. (Ag '44)
Day of deliverance. Benét, W. R. (O '44)
Day of fire. Bacon, L. (Ap '44)
Daybreak for our carrier. Miller, M. (Ag '44)
Dead Ernest. Taylor, P. A. (Je '44)
Dead man's float. Dean, A. (S '44)
Dead to the world. Baker, N., and Bolton, W. (Mr '44)
Deadline at dawn. Woolrich, C. (Ap '44)
Deaf and dumb
Best, H. Deafness and the deaf in the United States. (Ap '44)
Deafness
Best, H. Deafness and the deaf in the United States. (Ap '44)
Dear baby. Saroyan, W. (D '44)
Dear dead mother-in-law. Hill, K. (Ap '44)
Dear dead professor. LaRoche, K. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Dear sir; Lowell, J. (O '44)
Death and the devil. Whelton, P. (O '44)
Death at the depot. Hastings, D. G. (N '44)
Death by design. Nash, A. (Ag '44)
Death comes as the end. Christie, A. M. (N '44)
Death defies the doctor. Muir, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Death drops Delilah. Mario, Q. (S '44)
Death has a will. Long, A. R. (My '44)
Death in Ankara. Wood, C. (Ap '44)
Death invades the meeting. Street, C. J. C. (Ap '44)
Death of a nobody. Romains, J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Death on the pampas. Wood, C. (N '44)
Death stops the frolic. Bellairs, G. (Mr '44)
Death strikes at Heron house. O'Neil, K. (S '44)
Death was our escort. Vetter, E. G. (D '44)
Deaths of Lora Karen. McDougald, R. (Mr '44)

Debates and debating
  Phelps, E. M., ed. University debaters' annual, v29. (S '44)
  Phelps, E. M., ed. University debaters' annual, 1943-44, v30. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Debts, Public
Greece, Modern
  Levandis, J. A. Greek foreign debt and the great powers. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States
  Stettinius, E. R. Lend-lease, weapon for victory. (Mr '44)

Decky's secret. Molloy, A. G. (N '44)
Decline of a cotton textile city. Wolfbein, S. L. (N '44)
Decline of liberalism as an ideology. Hallowell, J. H. (Ap '44)
Decorating for you. Terhune, F. B. (Je '44)

Decorations of honor
  Reck, F. M. Beyond the call of duty. (D '44)
Deep delta country. Kane, H. T. (D '44)
Deep river. Henkle, H. (N '44)
Deerwander farm. Dustin, A. B. (Ag '44)
Defensible spending for public schools. Burke, A. J. (Ap '44)
Defy the tempest. Dannett, S. G. L., and Bennett, E. (S '44)

De Gaulle, Charles Andre Joseph Marie. See Gaulle, C. A. J. M. de

DeJong, David Cornel
  DeJong, D. C. With a Dutch accent. (Mr '44)

Delaware
Antiquities
  Weslager, C. A. Delaware's buried past. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Delaware's buried past. Weslager, C. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Delaware's forgotten folk. Weslager, C. A. (Ap '44)
Delay is the song. Haas, R. (My '44)
Delicate ape. Hughes, D. B. F. (Ap '44)

Deming, William Chapin
  Spring, A. W. William Chapin Deming. (N '44)

Democracy
  Allen, C. K. Democracy and the individual. (Je '44)
  Beery, J. R. Current conceptions of democracy. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Biddle, F. B. Democratic thinking and the war. (My '44)
  Commager, H. S. Majority rule and minority rights. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Conference on the scientific spirit and democratic faith. Scientific spirit and democratic faith. (N '44)
  Lincoln, A. Abraham Lincoln, selections from his writings. (S '44)
  Malinowski, B. Freedom and civilization. (D '44)
  Merriam, C. E. Public and private government. (Je '44)
  Niebuhr, R. Children of light and the children of darkness. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Reiser, O. L., and Davies, B. Planetary democracy. (N '44)
  William J. Kerby foundation. Democracy. (My '44)
  Williams, J. L., and Howard, P. P. Today's American democracy. (N '44)
Democracy. William J. Kerby foundation. (My '44)
Democracy and the individual. Allen, C. K. (Je '44)
Democracy begins at home. Perry, J. (N '44)
Democracy reborn. Wallace, H. A. (S '44)
Democratic thinking and the war. Biddle, F. B. (My '44)

Dempsey, Timothy
  McAuliffe, H. J. Father Tim. (S '44)

Department stores
  Woodhouse, C. G. Big store. (Ag '44)
Descriptive geometry for engineers. Bradley, H. C., and Uhler, E. H. (Ag '44)
Design in diamonds. Knight, K. M. (Mr '44)
Design of machine members. Vallance, A., and Doughtie, V. L. (Je '44)
Destination Tokyo. Fisher, S. G. (Ap '44)
Devastator. Stringer, A. J. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Development in adolescence. Jones, H. E., and others. (Je '44)
Development of higher education in Mexico. Sánchez, G. I. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Development of modern Italy. Sprigge, C. J. S. (Je '44)
Development of the colonial newspaper. Kobre, S. (N '44)
Devil and the deep. Dixon, C. M. (Ap '44)
Devil on his trail. Hawkins, J. and W. (O '44)
Devious way. Morrison, T. (N '44)

Dewey, George
  Healy, L. H., and Kutner, L. The admiral. (S '44)

Dewey, Melvil
  Rider, F. Melvil Dewey. (Je '44)

Dewey, Thomas Edmund
  Walker, S. Dewey. (O '44)
Diagnosis of our time. Mannheim, K. (Je '44)
Dialogue with God. Doppelt, F. A. (My '44)
Diary and letters [bk 2]. Gregg, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Diaz Lozano, Argentina
  Diaz Lozano, A. Enriqueta and I. (Je '44)

Dickinson, Emily
  Power, M. J. In the name of the bee. (My '44)
Dictator and the devil. Johnson, S. (Ap '44)

Dictionaries, Polyglot
  Duden pictorial encyclopedia. (O '44)
Dictionary of American English on historical principles. (O '44)
Dictionary of American politics. Smith, E. C., and Zurcher, A. J., eds. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Dictionary of cooperation. Bogardus, E. S. (Ag '44)
Dictionary of sociology. Fairchild, H. P., ed. (Je '44)

Dies, Martin
  Gellermann, W. Martin Dies. (S '44)
  Ogden, A. R. Dies committee. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Dies (metal-working)
  Crane, E. V. Plastic working of metals and non-metallic materials in presses. (Je '44)
Dies committee. Ogden, A. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Diesel engines
  Draney, J. Diesel locomotives: electrical equipment. (Ap '44)
  Draney, J. Diesel locomotives: mechanical equipment. (Ap '44)

Diet
  Rose, M. D. S. Foundations of nutrition. (Ag '44)
  Sherman, H. C., and Lanford, C. S. Introduction to foods and nutrition. (Ag '44)
  Stern, F. Applied dietetics. (Ag '44)

Diet in disease
  Stern, F. Applied dietetics. (Ag '44)

Differential equations
  Churchill, R. V. Modern operational mathematics in engineering. (O '44)
  Ince, E. L. Ordinary differential equations. (N '44)
  Rainville, E. D. Intermediate course in differential equations. (My '44)
Dinner at Omar Khayyam's. Mardikian, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Dipper full of stars. Williams, L. (O '44)
Direct-current circuits. Morecock, E. M. (D '44)

Direction finding apparatus
  Bond, D. S. Radio direction finders. (O '44)
Dirigo Point. Foster, E. (Mr '44)

Disabled

Rehabilitation, etc.

Barton, B. And now to live again. (D '44)
Davis, J. E. Principles and practice of rehabilitation. (Ap '44)
England, R. Discharged. (S '44)
MacDonald, M. E. Federal grants for vocational rehabilitation. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Neuschutz, L. M. Jobs for the physically handicapped. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Yost, E. Normal lives for the disabled. (D '44)

Disappearing daily. Villard, O. G. (Je '44)
Disappearing island. Dunlop, A. M. R. (Ap '44)

Disasters
Kraus, H. International relief in action, 1914-1943. (S '44)

Discharged. England, R. (S '44)

Discoveries (in geography)

Juvenile literature

Duvoisin, R. A. They put out to sea. (Mr '44)

Discovering the Boy of Nazareth. Kirkland, W. M. (Ag '44)

Diseases, Industrial
Wampler, F. J., ed. Principles and practice of industrial medicine. (My '44)

Displacement of population in Europe. Kulischer, E. M. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual) Dissidence of dissent. Mineka, F. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Ditmars, Raymond Lee

Juvenile literature

Wood, L. N. Raymond L. Ditmars. (N '44)

Divine-human encounter. Brunner, H. E. (My '44)

Diving, Submarine
Thompson, F. E. Diving, cutting and welding in underwater salvage operations. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Diving, cutting and welding in underwater salvage operations. Thompson, F. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Divorce
Groves, E. R. Conserving marriage and the family. (N '44)

Dr Christian's office. Knight, R. A., and Hersholt, J. (O '44)
Doctor, the puppy who learned. Hoke, H. L. (D '44)
Dr Whitney's secretary. Walker, D. P. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Doctora in Mexico. Floyd, O. B. (My '44)
Doctrine of the church in the New Testament. Johnston, G. (Ag '44)
Doctrine of the Trinity. Hodgson, L. (N '44)
Documents of the Christian church. Bettenson, H. S., ed. (Je '44)
Dog days. Keeler, K. S. (O '44)
Dogie boy. Heal, E. (Ap '44)

Dogs
Hogeboom, A. Dogs and how to draw them. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Juvenile literature

Atkinson, M. F. How to raise your puppy. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Legends and stories

Bartman, M. Yank in Africa. (O '44)
Cavanah, F. Private Pepper of Dogs for defense. (Mr '44)
Henry, M. Boy and a dog. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hoke, H. L. Doctor, the puppy who learned. (D '44)
Hoke, H. L. Shep and the baby. (D '44)
Johnson, M. S. and H. L. Rex of the coast patrol. (Ag '44)
L'Hommedieu, D. K. Skippy, the little Skye terrier. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lippincott, J. W. Wilderness champion. (D '44)
Shurtleff, B. L. AWOL: K-9 commando. (Ag '44)
Stuart, J. Mongrel mettle. (Mr '44)
Thorne, D., and Moran, C. Chips. (S '44)
Vinton, I. Laffy of the navy salvage divers. (N '44)
Ware, L. Crazy dog. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Watson, H. O. Trooper, U.S. army dog. (Mr '44)

Pictures, illustrations

Hogeboom, A. Dogs and how to draw them. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Dogs, War use of Going, C. G. Dogs at war. (D '44)

Dogs and how to draw them. Hogeboom, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Dogs at war. Going, C. G. (D '44)
Dogwatch. Coffin, C. (S '44)
Dolly Madison, Quaker girl. Monsell, H. A. (S '44)

Dominic, Saint
Mandonnet, P. F. St Dominic and his work. (D '44)

Dominicans
Mandonnet, P. F. St Dominic and his work. (D '44)

Dominion of the north. Creighton, D. G. (My '44)

Donne, John
Moloney, M. F. John Donne. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Don't look behind you! Rogers, S. (O '44)
Don't run, Apple! Hawkins, Q. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Don't wait up for spring. Mergendahl, C. (N '44)
Doom in the midnight sun. Boyd, E. M. (My '44)

Doré, Gustave
Lehmann-Haupt, H. Terrible Gustave Doré. (Ap '44)

Dorinda. Howard, E. (Je '44)
Dove brings peace. Hagopian, R. (My '44)
The dove flies South. Hyland, J. A. (S '44)
Down north. MacDonald, M. (O '44)
Down peacock's feathers. Davies, D. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Down to earth. Greenhood, D. (S '44)
Downfall. Shneur, Z. (Ag '44)

Dowson, Ernest Christopher
Longaker, J. M. Ernest Dowson. (N '44)

Doyle, Sir Arthur Conan
Smith, E. W., ed. Profile by gaslight. (My '44)

Parodies, travesties, etc.

Queen, E., ed. Misadventures of Sherlock Holmes. (My '44)

Dragon fish. Buck, P. S. (N '44)
Dragons on guard. Chandler, A. C. (Je '44)
Dragonwyck. Seton, A. (Mr '44)
Drake's refrigeration service manual. Manly, H. P. (D '44)

Drama

History and criticism

Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1943-1944. (N '44)

Dramas
Collis, M. Motherly and Auspicious. (My '44)
Franken, R. D. L. Outrageous fortune. (Je '44)
Gordon, R. Over twenty-one. (O '44)
Hammerstein, O. Oklahoma! (N '44)
Hellman, L. Searching wind. (O '44)
Herbert, F. H. Kiss and tell. (Ag '44)
Housman, L. On stage! (Je '44)
Kastner, G. C. Benedict Arnold. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
O'Casey, S. Red roses for me. (Mr '44)
Priestley, J. B. Four plays. (N '44)
Reines, B. J. For country and mankind. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Rice, E. L. New life. (Je '44)
Saroyan, W. Get away old man. (Ag '44)
Shaw, I. Sons and soldiers. (Je '44)
Taylor, G. E., and Savage, G. M. Phoenix and the dwarfs. (O '44)
Van Druten, J. Voice of the turtle. (Ap '44)
Werfel, F. V. Jacobowsky and the colonel [original play, pub. by Viking]. (S '44)
Werfel, F. V. Jacobowsky and the colonel [adapted by] S. N. Behrman. (S '44)
White, J. R. Three way plays. (O '44)

Collections

Cerf, B. A., and Cartmell, V. H., comp. S. R. O. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Cerf, B., and Cartmell, V. H., eds. Thirty famous one act plays. (Ap '44)
Mantle, B., ed. Best plays of 1943-44. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mantle, B., and Sherwood, G. P., eds. Best plays of 1899-1909. (Ap '44)

Mayorga, M. G., ed. Best one-act plays of 1943. (My '44)
Mayorga, M. G., ed. Plays of democracy. (My '44)
Drawing
De Tolnay, C. History and technique of old master drawings. (Mr '44)
Lawson, P. J. Practical perspective drawing. (Je '44)
Drawings
De Tolnay, C. History and technique of old master drawings. (Mr '44)
Holme, B., ed. Master drawings. (My '44)
New York. Museum of modern art. Modern drawings; ed. by Monroe Wheeler. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Puyvelde, L. van. Dutch drawings in the collection of his majesty the king at Windsor castle. (S '44)
Suba, S., il. Spots. (D '44)
Tchelitchew, P. Yesterday's children. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Zipprich, A. E. Freehand drafting. (D '44)
Dream of Philip II. Maass, E. (N '44)
Dreams come true. Brown, C. R. (Je '44)
Dressmaking
Talbot, C. Complete home care of your family wardrobe. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Drilling and surfacing practice. Colvin, F. H., and Stanley, F. A. (O '44)
Drink from the rock. Spirit (periodical). (S '44)
Duden pictorial encyclopedia. (O '44)
Duel in the sun. Busch, N. (Mr '44)
Duffus, Robert Luther
Duffus, R. L. Innocents at Cedro. (Mr '44)
Dulcie and her donkey. Bechdolt, J. E., and Merwin, D. (O '44)
Dunham, Donald Carl
Dunham, D. C. Envoy unextraordinary. (O '44)
Durable peace. Hoffman, R. J. S. (S '44)
Dury, John
Batten, J. M. John Dury. (N '44)
Dutch drawings in the collection of his majesty the king at Windsor castle. Puyvelde, L. van. (S '44)
Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. De Leeuw, C. (Mr '44)
Dutch in the United States
DeJong, D. C. With a Dutch accent. (Mr '44)
Dwellings
Corey, P. Buy an acre. (Je '44)
Dyes and dyeing
Leggett, W. F. Ancient and medieval dyes. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Dyess story. Dyess, W. E. (My '44)
Dynamite Duncan, U.S.N. Gardiner, F. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Eagle and the Dove. Sackville-West, V. M. (Mr '44)
Earliest English poetry. Kennedy, C. W. (S '44)
Earliest Gospel. Grant, F. C. (Ap '44)
Early American-Australian relations. Greenwood, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Earth and high heaven. Graham, G. (N '44)
East (Far East)
Carpenter, F. Pacific. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Gayn, M. J. Journey from the East. (My '44)
Lasker, B. Peoples of southeast Asia. (Ap '44)
Panikkar, K. M. Future of south-east Asia. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
East by southwest. La Farge, C. (S '44)
East Indies
Vlekke, B. H. M. Nusantara. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
East of Malta, west of Suez. Ritchie, L. A. D. (S '44)
Eastern question (Far East)
Chou, K. Winning the peace in the Pacific. (Mr '44)
Harrington, F. H. God, mammon, and the Japanese. (My '44)
Morrison, I. Our Japanese foe. (Ap '44)
Eastern question (Near East)
Archer, L. Balkan journal. (My '44)
Bing, E. J. World of the Arabs. (My '44)
Eastern shore, Maryland
Footner, H. Rivers of the Eastern shore. (D '44)
Eat to live. Corban, E. B., and others. (Ap '44)
Eben the crane. Savage, A. H. (D '44)
Economic conditions
Garrett, G. Time is born. (Je '44)
Polanyi, K. Great transformation. (My '44)
Economic control of the motion picture industry. Huettig, M. D. (O '44)
Economic development of French Indo-China. Robequain, C. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Economic efficiency and social welfare. Macfie, A. L. (Ag '44)
Economic policy
Becker, C. L. How new will the better world be? (Ap '44)
Dunn, A. Arithmetic or revolution. (S '44)
Hayek, F. A. Road to serfdom. (N '44)
Landauer, K. Theory of national economic planning. (My '44)
Lerner, A. P. Economics of control. (O '44)
Nourse, E. G. Price making in a democracy. (N '44)
Walker, E. R. From economic theory to policy. (My '44)
Economic thought of Woodrow Wilson. Diamond, W. (O '44)
Economics
Adriance, R. I. Using the wealth of the world. (Je '44)
Ayres, C. E. Theory of economic progress. (S '44)
Blodgett, R. H. Comparative economic systems. (D '44)
Clark, F. G., and Rimanoczy, R. S. How we live. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lerner, A. P. Economics of control. (O '44)
Macfie, A. L. Economic efficiency and social welfare. (Ag '44)
Stark, W. Ideal foundations of economic thought. (S '44)
Walker, E. R. From economic theory to policy. (My '44)
History
Polanyi, K. Great transformation. (My '44)
Study and teaching
O'Connor, M. J. L. Origins of academic economics in the United States. (O '44)
Economics of control. Lerner, A. P. (O '44)
Economics of demobilization. Howenstine, E. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Economics of military occupation. Bloch, H. S., and Hoselitz, B. F. (My '44)
Edible wild plants of eastern North America. Fernald, M. L., and Kinsey, A. C. (Ap '44)
Education
Mannheim, K. Diagnosis of our time. (Je '44)
Aims and objectives
Livingstone, R. W. On education. (Ag '44)
Thayer, V. T. American education under fire. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Encyclopedias and dictionaries
Rivlin, H. N., and Schueler, H., eds. Encyclopedia of modern education. (O '44)
Philosophy
Clayton, A. S. Emergent mind and education. (O '44)
Ortega y Gasset, J. Mission of the university. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Great Britain
Burton, H. M. Education of the countryman. (O '44)
Dent, H. C. Education in transition. (S '44)
Mexico
Sánchez, G. I. Development of higher education in Mexico. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
United States
Adams, J. T. Frontiers of American culture. (Ag '44)
Redden, J. D., and Ryan, F. A. Freedom through education. (D '44)
Syrkin, M. Your school, your children. (O '44)
Thayer, V. T. American education under fire. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Warner, W. L., and others. Who shall be educated? (Ag '44)

Education, Greek
Jaeger, W. W. Paideia. (My '44)

Education, Higher
Foerster, N., ed. Humanities after the war. (Ag '44)
Henderson, A. D. Vitalizing liberal education. (Ap '44)
Miller, J. H., and Brooks, D. V. N. Rôle of higher education in war and after. (O '44)
Nash, A. S. University and the modern world. (My '44)
Ortega y Gasset, J. Mission of the university. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sánchez, G. I. Development of higher education in Mexico. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Education and health of the partially seeing child. Hathaway, W. P. (S '44)
Education in transition. Dent, H. C. (S '44)

Education of adults
Adams, J. T. Frontiers of American culture. (Ag '44)
Flesch, R. Marks of readable style. (My '44)
Sailer, T. H. P. Christian adult education in rural Asia and Africa. (My '44)

Education of children
Baker, H. J. Introduction to exceptional children. (My '44)
Duff, A. Bequest of wings. (My '44)
Hathaway, W. P. Education and health of the partially seeing child. (S '44)
Lane, R. H. Principal in the modern elementary school. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Perry, R. D. Children need adults. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Education of nurses. Stewart, I. M. (Ap '44)
Education of T. C. Mits. Lieber, L. R. (My '44)
Education of the countryman. Burton, H. M. (O '44)
Educational guide in air transportation. Hinkel, R. E., and Baron, L. (D '44)
Educational inbreeding. Snyder, H. E. (O '44)
Edward's fancy. Dickens, M. (Mr '44)

Efficiency, Industrial
Rautenstrauch, W. Principles of modern industrial organization. (Ap '44)

Egbert and his marvelous adventures. Gilbert, P. T. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Egypt

History

Steindorff, G. Egypt. (Je '44)

Egyptian nights. Eng title of: Bimbâshi Barûk of Egypt. Rohmer, S. (My '44)
Eighteen poems. Boyd, J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Einstein, Albert
Marianoff, D., and Wayne, P. Einstein. (S '44)

Eisenhower, Dwight David
Hatch, A. General Ike. (D '44)
Lovelace, D. W. General Ike Eisenhower. (D '44)
Miller, F. T. Eisenhower, man and soldier. (S '44)

Elastic and creep properties of filamentous materials and other high polymers. Leaderman, H. (Ag '44)

Electric apparatus and appliances
Kottke, F. J. Electrical technology and the public interest. (D '44)

Electric circuits
Morecock, E. M. Direct-current circuits. (D '44)
Pender, H., and Warren, S. R. Electric circuits and fields. (Ap '44)
Ware, L. A., and Reed, H. R. Communication circuits. (Je '44)

Electric circuits and fields. Pender, H., and Warren, S. R. (Ap '44)

Electric controllers
Harwood, P. B. Control of electric motors. (Je '44)

Electric currents
Morecock, E. M. Direct-current circuits. (D '44)

Electric engineering
Pender, H., and Warren, S. R. Electric circuits and fields. (Ap '44)
Slurzberg, M., and Osterheld, W. Electrical essentials of radio. (O '44)
Strong, E. M. Electrical engineering. (Ag '44)

Electric generators
Newman, L. E., ed. Modern turbines. (Je '44)

Electric lines
Ware, L. A., and Reed, H. R. Communication circuits. (Je '44)

Electric meters
Spencer, J. Maintenance and servicing of electrical instruments. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Electric motors
Harwood, P. B. Control of electric motors. (Je '44)

Juvenile literature

Yates, R. F. Boy and a motor. (Ap '44)

Electric power
Tarboux, J. G. Introduction to electric power systems. (O '44)
Twentieth century fund, incorporated. Power industry and the public interest. (Ag '44)

Electric transmission
Tarboux, J. G. Introduction to electric power systems. (O '44)

Electric waves
Ramo, S., and Whinnery, J. R. Fields and waves in modern radio. (N '44)

Electric welding
James F. Lincoln arc welding foundation. Maintenance arc welding. (N '44)
Kerwin, H. Arc and acetylene welding. (D '44)
Sacks, R. J. Theory and practice of arc welding. (Ag '44)

Electric wiring, Interior
Nowlin, G. A. Connecting ships' wiring. (D '44)

Electrical essentials of radio. Slurzberg, M., and Osterheld, W. (O '44)
Electrical technology and the public interest. Kottke, F. J. (D '44)

Electricity
Slurzberg, M., and Osterheld, W. Electrical essentials of radio. (O '44)

History

Still, A. Soul of amber. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Electricity in agriculture
Muller, F. W. Public rural electrification. (D '44)

Electricity on ships
Nowlin, G. A. Connecting ships' wiring. (D '44)

Electrochemistry
Koehler, W. A. Applications. (Je '44)

Electrolytics
Harned, H. S., and Owen, B. B. Physical chemistry of electrolytic solutions. (Ap '44)

Electromagnetism
Ramo, S., and Whinnery, J. R. Fields and waves in modern radio. (N '44)

Electron-optics. Hatschek, P. (Je '44)

Electronics
Caverly, D. P. Primer of electronics. (Je '44)
Cockrell, W. D. Industrial electronic control. (S '44)
Grimes, D. Meet the electron. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mills, J. Electronics. (O '44)

Juvenile literature

Bendick, J. Electronics for boys and girls. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Electronics for boys and girls. Bendick, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Elegant elephant. McCracken, R. (D '44)
Elegant journey. Selby, J. (D '44)
Elementary costume design. Featherstone, M., and Maack, D. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Elementary rivet theory. Blommel, W. R., and others. (Je '44)
Elementary statistical methods. Neiswanger, W. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Elementary statistics, with general applications. Blair, M. M. (D '44)
Elementary topography and map reading. Greitzer, S. L. (Ap '44)
Elements of aerial photogrammetry. Church, E. F. (N '44)
Elements of mechanics. Leyson, B. W. (Je '44)
Elements of topographic drawing. Sloane, R. C., and Montz, J. M. (Ap '44)

Elephants
  Richards, R. Life with Alice. (Je '44)
Elizabethan world picture. Tillyard, E. M. W. (My '44)
Eloges. Leger, A. S.-L. (My '44)
Embarrassment of riches. Fischer, M. (Ap '44)
Embryology
  Corner, G. W. Ourselves unborn. (N '44)
Emergency exit. Wilson, R. M. (My '44)
Emergent mind and education. Clayton, A. S. (O '44)
Emperor's physician. Perkins, J. R. (S '44)
Empire of the air. Josephson, M. (My '44)
Employees' magazines
  Bentley, G. How to edit an employee publication. (My '44)
Employment management
  Alford, L. P., and Bangs, J. R., eds. Production handbook. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  McMurry, R. N. Handling personality adjustment in industry. (Ap '44)
  Wolff, J. L. Production conference. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Emulsion technology. International society of leather trades' chemists. British section. (Ag '44)
Emulsions
  International society of leather trades' chemists. British section. Emulsion technology. (Ag '44)
Encyclopedia for boys and girls. Johnson, S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Encyclopedia of child guidance. Winn, R. B., ed. (Je '44)
Encyclopedia of modern education. Rivlin, H. N., and Schueler, H., eds. (O '44)
Encyclopedia of sports. Menke, F. G. (N '44)
Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. Schoengold, M. D., ed. (O '44)
Encyclopedias and dictionaries
  Home university encyclopedia. (O '44)
  Lincoln library of essential information. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Wier, A. E. Thesaurus of the arts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Juvenile literature
  Johnson, S. Encyclopedia for boys and girls. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
End of all men. Ramuz, C. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Endure no longer. Albrand, M. (My '44)
Endymion in England. LeComte, E. S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Enemies' fighting ships. Launer, J. (My '44)
Engine lathe. Stieri, E. (O '44)
Engineering
  Johnson, W. C. Mathematical and physical principles of engineering analysis. (D '44)
  Sypherd, W. O., and others. Engineers' manual of English. (Ag '44)
Dictionaries
  Robb, L. A. Engineer's dictionary. (My '44)
History
  Tupholme, C. H. S. Twentieth century engineering. (D '44)
Tables, calculations, etc.
  Mackey, C. O. Graphical solutions. (O '44)
Engineering inspection practice. King, A. T. (O '44)
Engineering instruments
  Smith, E. S. Automatic control engineering. (D '44)
Engineers
  McIver, M. E., and others, eds. Technologists' stake in the Wagner act. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Engineer's dictionary. Robb, L. A. (My '44)
Engineer's manual of English. Sypherd, W. O., and others. (Ag '44)
England
Description and travel
  Turner, W. J., ed. Panorama of rural England. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
English domestic or homiletic tragedy, 1575 to 1642. Adams, H. H. (Ag '44)
English drama
History and criticism
  Adams, H. H. English domestic or homiletic tragedy, 1575 to 1642. (Ag '44)
English language
Dialects
  Hermann, L. and M. S. Manual of foreign dialects for radio, stage and screen. (S '44)
  Wentworth, H. American dialect dictionary. (S '44)
Dictionaries
  Dictionary of American English on historical principles. (O '44)
Errors—Use of words
  Opdycke, J. B. Say what you mean. (Ag '44)
Grammar
  Opdycke, J. B. Say what you mean. (Ag '44)
Pronunciation
  Greet, W. C. World words. (S '44)
  Kenyon, J. S., and Knott, T. A., eds. Pronouncing dictionary of American English. (N '44)
Rhetoric
  Sypherd, W. O., and others. Engineer's manual of English. (Ag '44)
Slang
  Adams, R. F. Western words. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
English literary criticism. Atkins, J. W. H. (O '44)
English literature
  Jackson, E. Faith and fire within us. (D '44)
History and criticism
  Atkins, J. W. H. English literary criticism. (O '44)
  Stoll, E. E. From Shakespeare to Joyce. (Mr '44)
  Tillyard, E. M. W. Elizabethan world picture. (My '44)
  White, H. C. Social criticism in popular religious literature of the sixteenth century. (Ag '44)
English poetry
Collections
  Ferris, H. J., comp. Love's enchantment. (O '44)
  Moult, T., ed. Best poems of 1943. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Poems from the desert. (O '44)
  Williams, O., ed. New poems, 1944. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
History and criticism
  Gregory, H. Shield of Achilles. (My '44)
English prayer books. Morison, S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
English translations from the Spanish, 1484-1943. Pane, R. U. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Englishman and his history. Butterfield, H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Enjoy your house plants. Jenkins, D. H., and Wilson, H. V. (O '44)
Enjoyment of the arts. Schoen, M., ed. (N '44)
Enough and to spare. Mather, K. F. (N '44)
Enriqueta and I. Diaz Lozano, A. (Je '44)
Enterprise (airplane carrier)
  Burns, E. Then there was one. (Je '44)
Enters, Angna
  Enters, A. Silly girl. (Ap '44)
Entertaining
  Geister, E. Keep them laughing. (D '44)
Entertainments
  Soifer, M. K. Firelight entertainments. (N '44)
Envoy unextraordinary. Dunham, D. C. (O '44)
Enzyme technology. Tauber, H. (Ap '44).
Enzymes
  Sumner, J. B., and Somers, G. F. Chemistry and methods of enzymes. (Je '44)
  Tauber, H. Enzyme technology. (Ap '44)
Epigrams
  Fuller, E., ed. Thesaurus of epigrams. (Mr '44)
Epitaph for lemmings. Gibbs, H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Ernst, Anna Catharina (Antes)
  Fries, A. L. Road to Salem. (My '44)
Errors, Theory of
  Deming, W. E. Statistical adjustment of data. (Ag '44)
Eruptive rocks. Shand, S. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Escape from Königstein. (S '44)
Escape in vain. Simenon, G. (Mr '44)
Escape the night. Eberhart, M. G. (Je '44)
Escape the thunder. Coleman, W. L. (S '44)
Escape via Berlin. Aguirre, J. A. de. (D '44)
Escape while I can. Marlett, M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Esmé of Paris. Davis, E. (Je '44)
Essay on man. Cassirer, E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Essays
  Gill, E. It all goes together. (Ag '44)
  Green, P. Hawthorn tree. (Ap '44)
  Johnson, T. H., ed. Return to freedom. (O '44)
  Miller, H. Sunday after the war. (D '44)
  Shaw, G. B. Everybody's political what's what. (N '44)
  White, E. B. One man's meat. (O '44)
Essentials of aerial surveying and photo interpretation. Abrams, T. (O '44)
Essentials of precision inspection. Mollard, W. (My '44)
Establishment of constitutional government in Bulgaria. Black, C. E. (Je '44)
Esthetics
  Heyl, B. C. New bearings in esthetics. (S '44)
  Morris, B. Aesthetic process. (Ag '44)
  Schoen, M., ed. Enjoyment of the arts. (N '44)
Et cetera. Kirby, L. P. (Ag '44)
Eternal city. Holisher, D. (Je '44)
Eternal mountain. Covert, A. L. (S '44)
Ethics
  Eby, L. S. Quest for moral law. (O '44)
Ethiopia
  Sanceau, E. Land of Prester John. (Je '44)
Ethnology
Alor (island)
  Du Bois, C. A. People of Alor. (N '44)
Etiquet
  Banning, M. C., and Culkin, M. L. Conduct yourself accordingly. (O '44)
  Daly, M. Smarter and smoother. (My '44)
Eucharist. Mauriac, F. (My '44)
Europe
Civilization
  Fischer, E. Passing of the European age. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Description and travel
  Hiett, H. No matter where. (My '44)
  Rajchman, M. Europe. (D '44)
Economic conditions
  Basch, A. Danube basin and the German economic sphere. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
History
  Gershoy, L. From despotism to revolution. (S '44)
  Hall, W. P. World wars and revolutions. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Maps
  Rajchman, M. Europe. (D '44)
Politics
  Duggan, S. P. H. Professor at large. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Jordan, W. M. Great Britain, France and the German problem, 1918-1939. (Ag '44)
  Marriott, J. A. R. Federalism and the problem of the small state. (Ag '44)
Population
  Kulischer, E. M. Displacement of population in Europe. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Princeton university. Office of population research. Future population of Europe and the Soviet Union. (N '44)
Europe. Rajchman, M. (D '44)

European war, 1914-1918
Aerial operations
  Paust, G. H., and Lancelot, M. Fighting wings. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Armistices
  Maurice, F. B. Armistices of 1918. (Ag '44)
  Rudin, H. R. Armistice, 1918. (D '44)
Hospitals, charities, etc.
  Bane, S. L., and Lutz, R. H., eds. Organization of American relief in Europe, 1918-1919. (My '44)
Medical and sanitary affairs
  Bayne, J. B. Bugs and bullets. (O '44)
Peace
  Burlingame, R., and Stevens, A. Victory without peace. (Ap '44)
Personal narratives, Australian
  Healy, T. More lives than one. (Ag '44)
Secret service
  Hall, W. R., and Peaslee, A. J. Three wars with Germany. (S '44)
United States
  Bailey, T. A. Woodrow Wilson and the lost peace. (S '44)
  Hall, W. R., and Peaslee, A. J. Three wars with Germany. (S '44)
European war, 1939-. See World war, 1939-
Europe's children. Bonney, T. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Even Jericho. Hall, W. (D '44)
Evenings with music. Skolsky, S. (O '44)
Everybody has a house. Green, M. M. (Ag '44)
Everybody's political what's what. Shaw, G. B. (N '44)
Everybody's weather. Gaer, J. (S '44)
Evil star. Adams, C. F. (My '44)
Evolution
  Hofstadter, R. Social Darwinism in American thought. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Howells, W. W. Mankind so far. (My '44)
Examinations
  Brereton, J. L. Case for examinations. (Je '44)
Excess profits tax
  Curran, K. J. Excess profits taxation. (My '44)
Excess profits taxation. Curran, K. J. (My '44)
Executive ability
  Starch, D. How to develop your executive ability. (Ag '44)
Exercise
  Rathbone, J. L. Relaxation. (Ag '44)
Exile's daughter. Yaukey, G. S. (O '44)
Expatriation
  Cable, J. L. Loss of citizenship. (Ag '44)
Expectantly yours. Castallo, M. A., and Walz, A. (Je '44)
Experimental spectroscopy. Sawyer, R. A. (S '44)
Explorers
  Lohse, C., and Seaton, J. Mysterious continent. (D '44)
Juvenile literature
  Duvoisin, R. A. They put out to sea. (Mr '44)
Exploring we would go. Gatti, E. M. W. (Je '44)
Explosions
  Robinson, C. S. Explosions. (S '44)
Explosives
  Meyer, M. Science of explosives. (Ap '44)
Extrusion (metals)
  Pearson, C. E. Extrusion of metals. (O '44)
Extrusion of metals. Pearson, C. E. (O '44)
Eye
  Fox, S. A. Your eyes. (O '44)
Care and hygiene
  Fox, S. A. Your eyes. (O '44)
Diseases and defects
  Kuhn, H. S. Industrial ophthalmology. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Eye and the finger. Wandrei, D. (O '44)
Eye for a tooth. Mercer, C. W. (Ap '44)

Fables
Aesop. Fables. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Face in the aspic. Mario, T. (Ap '44)
Face of things. Ritner, A. K. G. (My '44)
Factory management
Maynard, H. B., and Stegemerten, G. J. Guide to methods improvement. (My '44)
Rautenstrauch, W. Principles of modern industrial organization. (Ap '44)
Fair fantastic Paris. Ettlinger, H. (O '44)
Fair stood the wind for France. Bates, H. E. (Je '44)
Fairfax, Beatrice. See Manning, Marie
Fairy tales
Andersen, H. C. Fairy tales. (My '44)
Fenner, P. R., ed. Princesses and peasant boys. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Fairy tales, complete edition; il. by Joseph Scharl. (D '44)
Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. Hansel and Gretel. (D '44)
Faith and fire within us. Jackson, E. (D '44)
Faith cure
Stolz, K. R. Church and psychotherapy. (Ap '44)
Faith of our fighters. Nance, E. C., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Faith, reason and civilization. Laski, H. J. (Ag '44)
Faith to free the people. Belfrage, C. (N '44)
Fall of Christianity. Heering, G. J. (My '44)
Family
Wood, L. F., and Mullen, J. W., eds. What the American family faces. (Ap '44)
Famous American composers. Overmyer, G. (S '44)
Famous pianists, for boys and girls. Burch, G. (O '44)
The fancy. Eng title of: Edward's fancy. Dickens, M. (Mr '44)
Far from Marlborough street. Philbrook, E. (My '44)
Far north country. Williamson, T. R. (My '44)
Far on the ringing plains. Rodger, G. (Mr '44)
Farewell to Tharrus. Maclean, C. M. (Je '44)
Farm in the family. Ross, M. I. (My '44)
Farm life
Haystead, L. Meet the farmers. (My '44)
Farmers
Haystead, L. Meet the farmers. (My '44)
Farms
Greenberg, D. B., and Corbin, C. So you're going to buy a farm. (Ag '44)
Farther north. Pinkerton, K. S. G. (Ap '44)
Fascism
Flynn, J. T. As we go marching. (Mr '44)
Warburg, J. P. Foreign policy begins at home. (D '44)

United States

Hoke, H. R. Black mail. (O '44)
Father Meany and the Fighting 69th. Jenkins, B. A. (O '44)
Father Tim. McAuliffe, H. J. (S '44)
Fatigue
Rathbone, J. L. Relaxation. (Ag '44)
Fats and oils. Kirschenbauer, H. G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Feather merchants. Shulman, M. (Je '44)
Federal grants for vocational rehabilitation. MacDonald, M. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Federalism and the problem of the small state. Marriott, J. A. R. (Ag '44)
Federation. Eaton, H. O., and others. (Ap '44)
Feeling no pain. Hoff, S. (D '44)
Fermentation
Tauber, H. Enzyme technology. (Ap '44)
Ferrous metallurgy. Teichert, E. J. (Je '44)
Feudalism
Painter, S. Studies in the history of the English feudal barony. (My '44)
Fiction

Adolescence

Chambers, M. C. M. Two eagles. (Ap '44)
Childs, M. W. Cabin. (Ag '44)
Cronin, A. J. Green years. (D '44)
Feuchtwanger, L. Simone. (S '44)
Gardner, M. Mom counted six. (Je '44)
Herbert, F. H. Meet Corliss Archer. (Ag '44)
Kroll, H. H. Waters over the dam. (My '44)
McCormick, R. de F. Little coquette. (S '44)
McNichols, C. L. Crazy weather. (Ap '44)
Tamás, I. Students of Spalato. (My '44)
White, V. Peter Domanig. (Je '44)

Adventure

De Voto, B. A. Woman in the picture. (Ap '44)
Fischer, M. Embarrassment of riches. (Ap '44)
Hughes, D. B. F. Johnnie. (S '44)
MacInnes, H. While still we live. (My '44)
Powell, R. P. All over but the shooting. (Ag '44)
Rohmer, S. Bimbâshi Barûk of Egypt. (My '44)

Americans in Brazil

White, L. T. Look away, look away. (Mr '44)

Amnesia

Massie, C. Love letters. (N '44)

Animal stories

Bears

Montgomery, R. G. Big Brownie. (Je '44)

Cats

Zistel, E., comp. Treasury of cat stories. (My '44)

Dogs

Brown, B. All dogs go to heaven. (Je '44)
O'Brien, J. S. Return of Silver Chief. (Ap '44)

Antique shop

Holton, E. A. Silver crescent. (My '44)

Armenians in the United States

Hagopian, R. Dove brings peace. (My '44)

Automobile industry

Horan, K. O. Bashful woman. (O '44)

Aviation

Lindbergh, A. S. M. Steep ascent. (Ap '44)
O'Malley, P. Airline girl. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Aviators

Gann, E. K. Island in the sky. (S '44)
Norway, N. S. Pastoral. (O '44)
Skidmore, H. D. Valley of the sky. (S '44)
Uhse, B. Lieutenant Bertram. (S '44)

Banks and banking

Downing, J. H. Harvest is late. (Mr '44)

Biblical stories

Mann, T. Joseph the provider. (S '44)
Murphy, E. F. Scarlet lily. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Perkins, J. R. Emperor's physician. (S '44)
Wilson, D. C. The brother. (Je '44)

Biographical novels

Baranov, Aleksandr Andreevich

McNeilly, M. M. Heaven is too high. (My '44)

Brannan, Samuel

Scott, R. L. H. Samuel Brannan and the golden fleece. (Ag '44)

Brant, Joseph (Thayendanegea)

Chalmers, H. West of the setting sun. (Ap '44)

Brent, Margaret

Grant, D. F. Margaret Brent, adventurer. (D '44)

Custer, George Armstrong

Haycox, E. Bugles in the afternoon. (Mr '44)

Dante Alighieri

Schachner, N. Wanderer. (D '44)

Flinders, Matthew

Hill, E. My love must wait. (Mr '44)

Frémont, Jessie (Benton)

Stone, I. Immortal wife. (N '44)

Lafarge, Mme Marie Fortunée (Cappelle) Pouch-

Long, G. M. V. C. Lady and the arsenic. (Mr '44)

Lincoln, Thomas

Longstreth, T. M. Tad Lincoln. (S '4)

Fiction—Biographical novels—Continued

Mary Magdalen, Saint

Murphy, E. F. Scarlet lily. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Milton, John

Fuller, E. John Milton. (D '44)
Graves, R. Wife to Mr Milton. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Poe, Edgar Allan

Williams, C. Raven. (Ag '44)

Yell, Archibald

Wilson, C. M. Man's reach. (S '44)

Business

Palmer, W. B. 272 Maple avenue. (S '44)

Character studies

Almedingen, M. E. von. Frossia. (My '44)
Baldwin, F. Change of heart. (N '44)
Barrett, R. B. Truant. (O '44)
Beck, W. Final score. (O '44)
Bellamann, H. Victoria Grandolet. (Mr '44)
Boulton, A. Road is before us. (N '44)
Brandon, M. Nonce. (Mr '44)
Bromfield, L. What became of Anna Bolton. (My '44)
Busch, N. They dream of home. (D '44)
Croome, H. M. S. O western wind. (Ap '44)
Ford, E. Amy Ferraby's daughter. (Ap '44)
Gunn, N. M. Man goes alone. (Ag '44)
Hawkins, J. and W. Devil on his trail. (O '44)
Hichens, R. S. Young Mrs. Brand. (D '44)
Hicks, G. Behold trouble. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Huntington, H. Remember Matt Boyer. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hurst, F. Hallelujah. (Mr '44)
Kaup, E. D. Seed of the Puritan. (Ap '44)
Langley, D. Wait for Mrs Willard. (My '44)
Lawrence, C. A. Narrowing wind. (D '44)
MacLeish, A. F. Cone of silence. (Mr '44)
Mally, E. L. Mocking bird is singing. (My '44)
Maugham, W. S. Razor's edge. (My '44)
Meyer, G. E. Magic circle. (My '44)
Nash, E. A. Footnote to life. (N '44)
Ogilvie, E. High tide at noon. (My '44)
Plummer, M. E. Collected works of Mrs Peter Willoughby. (Ap '44)
Pope, E. Colcorton. (My '44)
Raynolds, R. May Bretton. (Ag '44)
Ritner, A. K. G. Face of things. (My '44)
Romains, J. Work and play. (Mr '44)
Sharp, M. Cluny Brown. (S '44)
Southard, R. No sad songs for me. (Mr '44)
Stafford, J. Boston adventure. (O '44)
Todrin, B. Out of these roots. (N '44)
Valentine, E. No mortal fire. (Ag '44)
Westmacott, M. Absent in the spring. (O '44)
White, N. G. Brook Willow. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Yarborough, C. A. Insurgent summer. (Je '44)

Children, Stories about

Best, H. Young'un. (N '44)
Gardner, M. Mom counted six. (Je '44)
Gilbert, S. Landslide. (Mr '44)
Linklater, E. Wind on the moon. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mélançon, A. Carl. (D '44)
Obermeyer, R. Golden apples of the sun. (Mr '44)

Clergy

Deeping, W. Cleric's secret. (My '44)

Clock and watch making

Allis, M. All in good time. (My '44)

Communistic communities

Hedden, W. T. Wives of High Pasture. (S '44)

Convent life

Hard, M. S. This is Kate. (S '44)

Country life

Childs, M. W. Cabin. (Ag '44)

Courage

Southard, R. No sad songs for me. (Mr '44)

Crete, Battle of, 1941

Roberts, C. Labyrinth. (Je '44)

Crime and criminals

Burnett, W. R. Nobody lives forever. (Mr '44)
Davis, C. B. Rebellion of Leo McGuire. (S '44)
Roeburt, J. Jigger Moran. (Ag '44)
Simenon, G. On the danger line. (S '44)
Wiener, W. Four boys and a gun. (My '44)
Woolrich, C. After-dinner story. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Death

Wylie, P. Night unto night. (O '44)

Desert life

Robertson, W. Oasis. (O '44)

Drunkards

Adams, P. On such as we. (My '44)
Jackson, C. R. Lost weekend. (Mr '44)

Erie canal

Adams, S. H. Canal town. (My '44)

European war, 1914-1918

Shneur, Z. Downfall. (Ag '44)

Experimental forms

De Vries, P. Angels can't do better. (O '44)

Factories

Perventsev, A. A. Ordeal. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Family chronicles

Boecop-Malye, M. T. C. King tree. (Mr '44)
Caldwell, J. T. Final hour. (My '44)
Crichton, K. S. Proud people. (Ap '44)
De La Roche, M. Building of Jalna. (N '44)
Horan, K. O. Bashful woman. (O '44)
Lothar, E. Angel with the trumpet. (My '44)
Powell, D. My home is far away. (D '44)
Sale, E. My mother bids me bind my hair. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Selby, J. Elegant journey. (D '44)
Taylor, R. Ridin' the rainbow. (D '44)
Whipple, D. They were sisters. (Je '44)

Family life

Bellamann, H. Victoria Grandolet. (Mr '44)
Farnham, M. H. Tollivers. (N '44)
Gardner, M. Mom counted six. (Je '44)
Greene, W. What they don't know. (S '44)
Hueston, E. P. Mother went mad on Monday. (O '44)
Idell, A. E. Bridge to Brooklyn. (D '44)
Innis, M. E. Q. Stand on a rainbow. (Je '44)
Kapelner, A. Lonely boy blues. (O '44)
McVicker, D. A. Queen was in the kitchen. (My '44)
Moser, E. Wedding day. (My '44)
Palmer, W. B. 272 Maple avenue. (S '44)
Panetta, G. We ride a white donkey. (O '44)
Runbeck, M. L. Time for each other. (S '44)
Taber, G. B. Give us this day. (S '44)
Thorpe, B. D. Reunion on Strawberry hill. (Ap '44)
Valentine, E. No mortal fire. (Ag '44)

Fantasies

Beymer, W. G. 12:20 P.M. (D '44)
Frings, K. H. God's front porch. (Ap '44)
Gilbert, S. Landslide. (Mr '44)
Lewis, C. S. Perelandra. (My '44)
Linklater, E. Wind on the moon. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Obermeyer, R. Golden apples of the sun. (Mr '44)
Young, M. Trial of Adolf Hitler. (My '44)

Farm life

Colver, A. M. R. Fourways. (O '44)
Downing, J. H. Harvest is late. (Mr '44)
Wellman, P. I. Bowl of brass. (My '44)

Fascism

Chase, A. Five arrows. (O '44)
Shedd, M. C. Inherit the earth. (D '44)

Fishing

Wylie, P. Fish and tin fish. (Mr '44)

Frontier and pioneer life

Best, H. Young'un. (N '44)
Busch, N. Duel in the sun. (Mr '44)
Evans, A. R. All in a twilight. (Mr '44)
French, M. P. Boughs bend over. (Ap '44)

Gordon, V. A man should rejoice. (Je '44)
Pettibone, A. Johnny Painter. (D '44)
Wilson, C. M. Man's reach. (S '44)

Fur trade

Best, H. Young'un. (N '44)

Future, Novels of the

Ardrey, R. Worlds beginning. (O '44)
Hughes, D. B. F. Delicate ape. (Ap '44)
Lessner, E. C. Phantom victory. (N '44)

Germans in the United States

Todd, H. Roots of the tree. (N '44)
Valentine, E. No mortal fire. (Ag '44)

Ghost stories

Wise, H. A., and Fraser, P. M., eds. Great tales of terror and the supernatural. (Ag '44)

Gipsies

Obermeyer, R. Golden apples of the sun. (Mr '44)

Historical novels

Judah, C. B. Tom Bone. (Ag '44)

Austria

Lothar, E. Angel with the trumpet. (My '44)

Brazil

White, L. T. Look away, look away. (Mr '44)

California

Strabel, T. Storm to the South. (S '44)

Canada

French, M. P. Boughs bend over. (Ap '44)

China

Lane, K. W. Winter Cherry. (N '44)

Corsica

Eaton, E. S. M. In what torn ship. (S '44)

Crete

Aldridge, J. Sea Eagle. (Mr '44)
Roberts, C. Labyrinth. (Je '44)

Crusades

Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Blessed are the meek. (Ap '44)

Egypt

Mann, T. Joseph the provider. (S '44)

England

Farnol, J. King liveth. (Je '44)
Graves, R. Wife to Mr Milton. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Reznikoff, C. Lionhearted. (N '44)

England—Restoration

Winsor, K. Forever Amber. (N '44)

France

Wilkins, W. V. Being met together. (O '44)

Georgia

Henkle, H. Deep river. (N '44)

Germany—Nazi movement

Kernan, T. D. Now with the morning star. (N '44)

Maryland

Grant, D. F. Margaret Brent, adventurer. (D '44)

Mexico

Madariaga, S. de. Heart of jade. (My '44)

Napoleonic wars

Costain, T. B. Ride with me. (O '44)

New York (state)

Best, H. Young'un. (N '44)

Palestine

Hartley, J. M. The way. (N '44)

Peru

Strabel, T. Storm to the south. (S '44)

Russia

Almedingen, M. E. von. Frossia. (My '44)
McNeilly, M. M. Heaven is too high. (My '44)

Spanish civil war, 1936-1939

Toynbee, P. Barricades. (S '44)
Uhse, B. Lieutenant Bertram. (S '44)

Texas

Barrett, M. Sun in their eyes. (N '44)

United States

Haycox, E. Bugles in the afternoon. (Mr '44)
Pennell, J. S. History of Rome Hanks. (S '44)
Wilkins, W. V. Being met together. (O '44)

United States—Colonial period

Allen, H. Bedford village. (Ap '44)
Fletcher, I. C. Lusty wind for Carolina. (N '44)

United States—Revolution

Gessner, R. Treason. (Je '44)
Jacobs, H. H. Storm against the wind. (My '44)
Lancaster, B. Trumpet to arms. (Ag '44)

United States—Constitutional period, 1789-1809

Mudgett, H. P. Seas stand watch. (Ap '44)
Pridgen, T. West goes the road. (S '44)

United States—Nineteenth century

Wilson, C. M. Man's reach. (S '44)

United States—1815-1861

Adams, S. H. Canal town. (My '44)
Robertson, C. N. Fire bell in the night. (My '44)

United States—Civil war

Beebe, E. T. R. Yankee stranger. (O '44)
Bennett, J. H. van S. So shall they reap. (Mr '44)
Ferrell, E. and M. Full of thy riches. (Je '44)
Street, J. H. By valour and arms. (O '44)

United States—Reconstruction period, 1865

Fast, H. M. Freedom road. (O '44)
Kenyon, T. Black dawn. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Horror tales

Derleth, A. W., ed. Sleep no more. (O '44)
Wandrei, D. Eye and the finger. (O '44)
Wise, H. A., and Fraser, P. M., eds. Great tales of terror and the supernatural. (Ag '44)

Hospitals and sanatoriums

Meese, M. F. Mary Carstens, M.D. (Mr '44)

Humor

Caldwell, E. Tragic ground. (N '44)
Germann, R. F. Jitter run. (Mr '44)
Gilpatric, G. Mr Glencannon ignores the war. (O '44)
Lasswell, M. High time. (N '44)
Lederer, V. Married at leisure. (N '44)
Munchausen. Adventures of Baron Munchausen. (D '44)
Panetta, G. We ride a white donkey. (O '44)
Self, M. C. Those Smith kids. (O '44)
Upson, W. H. Botts in war, Botts in peace. (O '44)
Wilder, R. Mr G. strings along. (My '44)

Indian tales and legends

Barbeau, C. M. Mountain Cloud. (O '44)

Indians of North America

Chalmers, H. West to the setting sun. (Ap '44)
McNichols, C. L. Crazy weather. (Ap '44)

Insane hospitals

Brown, C. Brainstorm. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Insanity

Brown, C. Brainstorm. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Farkas, A. A. Borrowed night. (D '44)

Intermingled lives

Boulton, A. Road is before us. (N '44)
Lewis, C. Pathfinders. (Je '44)

International intrigue

Burke, R. Frightened pigeon. (Je '44)
Chase, A. Five arrows. (O '44)
Hughes, D. B. F. Delicate ape. (Ap '44)
Leffingwell, A. Last secret. (Mr '44)
Schmidt, J. N. Inch of time. (Mr '44)
Wood, C. Death in Ankara. (Ap '44)

Interplanetary adventures

Lewis, C. S. Perelandra. (My '44)

Interracial marriages

Graham, G. Earth and high heaven. (N '44)

Irish in the United States

Murphy, C. F. Glittering hill. (N '44)

Italians in the United States

De Capite, M. No bright banner. (O '44)
Panetta, G. We ride a white donkey. (O '44)

Jews and Jewish life

Hutter, C. Outnumbered. (Ap '44)
Reznikoff, C. Lionhearted. (N '44)
Seide, M. Common thread. (Ap '44)

Jews in Germany

Lewisohn, L. Breathe upon these. (Ap '44)

Journalism

Spring, H. Hard Facts. (O '44)

Journalists

Hutchison, B. Hollow men. (N '44)
St John, R. It's always tomorrow. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Labor and laboring classes

Norris, C. G. Flint. (Mr '44)
Sherman, R. W. Other Mahoney. (Je '44)

Law and lawyers

Gross, F. L. What is the verdict? (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Legends and folk tales

Mary Catherine, Sister. Once in Cornwall. (Ap '44)

Letters (stories in letter form)

Halsey, M. Some of my best friends are soldiers. (N '44)
Shea, M. M. Gals they left behind. (O '44)
Sohn, M. Your loving mother. (Ap '44)

Locality

Africa, French West

Segre, A. Mahogany. (Ap '44)

Africa, North

Heym, S. Of smiling peace. (N '44)
Slaughter, F. G. Battle surgeon. (Ap '44)

Alabama

Coleman, W. L. Escape the thunder. (S '44)
Kroll, H. H. Waters over the dam. (My '44)

Alaska

Gabriel, G. W. I got a country. (O '44)
Hall, W. Even Jericho. (D '44)
McNeilly, M. M. Heaven is too high. (My '44)

Argentina

Mallea, E. Bay of silence. (Ap '44)

Arizona

Heal, E. This very sun. (D '44)
McNichols, C. L. Crazy weather. (Ap '44)
Taylor, R. Ridin' the rainbow. (D '44)

Australia

Cormack, M. Road to Down under. (Ag '44)
Grey, Z. Wilderness trek. (S '44)
Stead, C. For love alone. (N '44)

Austria

Hutter, C. Outnumbered. (Ap '44)
Mercer, C. W. Eye for a tooth. (Ap '44)

Austria (Vienna)

White, V. Peter Domanig. (Je '44)

Bermuda

Garth, D. Bermuda calling. (S '44)

Bonin islands

Standish, R. Bonin. (Mr '44)

Brazil

Carneiro, C. J. Bonfire. (S '44)

California

Robertson, W. Oasis. (O '44)
Ross, L. B. Blaze Allan. (D '44)

California (Hollywood)

Lederer, V. Married at leisure. (N '44)

California (San Francisco)

Mitchell, R. C. They shall come again. (Je '44)
Norris, C. G. Flint. (Mr '44)
Scott, R. L. H. Samuel Brannan and the golden fleece. (Ag '44)
Wakeman, F. Shore leave. (Ap '44)

Canada

Barbeau, C. M. Mountain Cloud. (O '44)
Evans, A. R. All in a twilight. (Mr '44)
Hard, M. S. This is Kate. (S '44)
Innis, M. E. Q. Stand on a rainbow. (Je '44)

Canada (British Columbia)

Hutchison, B. Hollow men. (N '44)

Canada (Montreal)

Graham, G. Earth and high heaven. (N '44)

Canada (northwestern)

O'Brien, J. S. Return of Silver Chief. (Ap '44)

Canada (Ontario)

De La Roche, M. Building of Jalna. (N '44)

Carolinas

Burt, K. N. Captain Millett's island. (S '44)

Central America

Shedd, M. C. Inherit the earth. (D '44)

Channel islands

Goudge, E. Green Dolphin street. (O '44)

China

Kuo, C. Westward to Chungking. (O '44)
Schmidt, J. N. Inch of time. (Mr '44)

Colorado

Pratt, T. Thunder mountain. (My '44)

Connecticut

Allis, M. All in good time. (My '44)
Taber, G. B. Give us this day. (S '44)

Czechoslovakia

Weiskopf, F. C. Firing squad. (S '44)

England

Dickens, M. Edward's fancy. (Mr '44)
Myers, E. Well full of leaves. (Je '44)
Ronald, J. Night is ending. (Je '44)

England (provincial and rural)

Ashton, H. Joanna. (O '44)
Cameron, W. Day is coming. (Ag '44)
Clements, E. H. Cherry harvest. (My '44)
Deeping, W. Cleric's secret. (My '44)
Gibbons, S. Bachelor. (O '44)
Lofts, N. R. Golden Fleece. (Mr '44)
Norway, N. S. Pastoral. (O '44)
Sharp, M. Cluny Brown. (S '44)
Thirkell, A. M. Growing up. (Mr '44)
Whipple, D. They were sisters. (Je '44)

England (Cornwall)

Sherriff, R. C. Chedworth. (N '44)

England (Devonshire)

Pedler, M. B. No gifts from chance. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

England (Kent)

Johnson, P. H. Winter quarters. (Ag '44)

England (London)

Cameron, W. Day is coming. (Ag '44)
Dale, C. Least of these. (O '44)
Sherman, R. Unready heart. (S '44)
Stead, C. For love alone. (N '44)

England (Manchester)

Spring, H. Hard Facts. (O '44)

Europe

MacLiesh, A. F. Cone of silence. (Mr '44)

Florida

Pope, E. Colcorton. (My '44)

France
Bates, H. E. Fair stood the wind for France. (Je '44)
Burke, R. Frightened pigeon. (Je '44)
Jameson, S. Cloudless May. (My '44)
Long, G. M. V. C. Lady and the arsenic. (Mr '44)
McCormick, R. de F. Little coquette. (S '44)
Meyneng, M. B. Broken arc. (Ap '44)
Romains, J. Work and play. (Mr '44)

France (provincial and rural)
Stewart, C. P. So thick the fog. (O '44

France (Marseilles)
Seghers, A. Transit. (Je '44)

France (Paris)
Maugham, W. S. Razor's edge. (My '44)

France (Riviera)
Yorck, R. L. Sixty to go. (Ap '44)

Georgia
Caldwell, E. Tragic ground. (N '44)
Miller, C. P. Lebanon. (S '44)
Smith, L. Strange fruit. (Ap '44)

Germany
Albrand, M. Endure no longer. (My '44)
Hoellering, F. Furlough. (O '44)
Maass, J. Magic year. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Maltz, A. Cross and the arrow. (O '44)
Mann, H. Small town tyrant. (Je '44)

Germany (Berlin)
Baum, V. Hotel Berlin '43. (My '44)

Greece
Wheatley, D. Sword of fate. (S '44)

Haiti
Thoby-Marcelin, P., and Marcelin, P. Canapé-Vert. (Mr '44)

Hawaiian Islands
Mackay, M. M. Homeward the heart. (Je '44)

Idaho
Brink, C. R. Buffalo coat. (D '44)

Illinois
Sparks, D. Nothing as before. (My '44)

Illinois (Chicago)
Jaynes, C. These are the times. (My '44)
Lawrence, C. A. Narrowing wind. (D '44)

India
Hinkson, P. Golden rose. (O '44)
Maugham, W. S. Razor's edge. (My '44)

Iowa
Ford, E. Amy Ferraby's daughter. (Ap '44)

Ireland
Gilbert, S. Landslide. (Mr '44)
Hoagland, K. Fiddler in the sky. (Je '44)
O'Connor, F. Crab apple jelly. (N '44)
Purcell, P. Hanrahan's daughter. (Ap '44)
Robertson, E. A. Signpost. (Mr '44)

Kansas
Wellman, P. I. Bowl of brass. (My '44)

Kentucky
Morton, J. Blackbirds on the lawn. (Je '44)

Long Island
Greene, W. What they don't know. (S '44)

Louisiana
Bellamann, H. Victoria Grandolet. (Mr '44)
Carter, H. Winds of fear. (N '44)

Louisiana (New Orleans)
Mally, E. L. Mocking bird is singing. (My '44)
Roberts, W. A. Royal street. (N '44)

Maine
Chase, V. American house. (Mr '44)
Foster, E. Dirigo Point. (Mr '44)
Hallet, R. M. Foothold of earth. (D '44)
Ogilvie, E. High tide at noon. (My '44)
Shea, M. M. Gals they left behind. (O '44)
Williams, B. A. Leave her to heaven. (Ag '44)

Massachusetts
Colver, A. M. R. Fourways. (O '44)
Holton, E. A. Silver crescent. (My '44)

Massachusetts (Boston)
Doner, M. F. O distant star! (Mr '44)

Massachusetts (Cape Cod)
Bassett, S. W. Heart's haven. (S '44)

Mexico
Chambers, M. C. M. Two eagles. (Ap '44)
Magdaleno, M. Sunburst. (Mr '44)

Michigan
Banér, S. V. Latchstring out. (My '44)
Doner, M. F. O distant star! (Mr '44)
Horan, K. O. Bashful woman. (O '44)

Mississippi
Gaither, F. O. J. Red cock crows. (Je '44)

Montana
Savage, T. The pass. (My '44)
Walker, M. Winter wheat. (Mr '44)

Montana (Butte)
Murphy, C. F. Glittering hill. (N '44)

New England
Adams, F. R. When I come back. (Je '44)
Guérard, A. J. Hunted. (Mr '44)
Kelland, C. B. Heart on her sleeve. (My '44)

New Hampshire
Hayes, M. Homer's hill. (Ap '44)

New Mexico
Bright, R. Life and death of little Jo. (Mr '44)
Crichton, K. S. Proud people. (Ap '44)

New York (city)
Dixon, C. M. Devil and the deep. (Ap '44)
Panetta, G. We ride a white donkey. (O '44)
Roeburt, J. Jigger Moran. (Ag '44)
Seton, A. Dragonwyck. (Mr '44)

New York (city) (Brooklyn)
Idell, A. E. Bridge to Brooklyn. (D '44)
Seide, M. Common thread. (Ap '44)
Todrin, B. Out of these roots. (N '44)

New York (state)
Havill, E. Low road. (Mr '44)
Hedden, W. T. Wives of High Pasture. (S '44)
Seton, A. Dragonwyck. (Mr '44)
Sherman, R. W. Other Mahoney. (Je '44)

New York (state) (Syracuse)
Robertson, C. N. Fire bell in the night. (My '44)

New Zealand
Goudge, E. Green Dolphin street. (O '44)

North Carolina
Fast, H. M. Freedom road. (O '44)

Palestine
Perkins, J. R. Emperor's physician. (S '44)

Pennsylvania
Caldwell, J. T. Final hour. (My '44)

Poland
Gronowicz, A. Four from the old town. (D '44)
MacInnes, H. While still we live. (My '44)

Russia
Almedingen, M. E. von. Frossia. (My '44)
Carr, R. S. Bells of Saint Ivan's. (Je '44)
Grossman, V. No beautiful nights. (Ag '44)
Perventsev, A. A. Ordeal. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Scotland
Gunn, N. M. Man goes alone. (Ag '44)
Maclean, C. M. Farewell to Tharrus. (Je '44)
Stevenson, D. E. Listening valley. (O '44)

Scotland (Edinburgh)
Cleaton, I. Outsider. (Mr '44)

Siberia
Leonov, L. M. Road to the ocean. (D '44)

Fiction—Locality—Continued

Sicily

Hersey, J. R. Bell for Adano. (Mr '44)

South America

Chase, A. Five arrows. (O '44)
Schrott, E. Heaven is for the angels. (Ap '44)

South Carolina

Puckette, C. C. Old Mitt laughs last. (My '44)

South Dakota

Downing, J. H. Harvest is late. (Mr '44)

South Sea islands

Hall, J. N. Lost island. (Ag '44)
La Farge, C. East by southwest. (S '44)

Spain

Laverty, M. No more than human. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sender, R. J. Chronicle of dawn. (Ap '44)

Sumatra

Boecop-Malye, M. T. C. King tree. (Mr '44)

Switzerland

Boyle, K. Avalanche. (Mr '44)

Tennessee

Gordon, C. Women on the porch. (Je '44)

Texas

Goodwyn, F. Magic of Limping John. (S '44)
Mally, E. L. Mocking bird is singing. (My '44)
Perry, G. S. Hackberry cavalier. (Mr '44)

United States (middlewestern)

Beck, W. Final score. (O '44)
Feikema, F. F. Golden bowl. (N '44)
Powell, D. My home is far away. (D '44)
Todd, H. Roots of the tree. (N '44)

United States (northwestern)

Binns, A. Timber beast. (Je '44)
Gardner, M. Mom counted six. (Je '44)
Hawkins, J. and W. Broken river. (Ap '44)

United States (southern)

Germann, R. F. Jitter run. (Mr '44)
McCoy, J. P. Swing the big-eyed rabbit. (Mr '44)

United States (southwestern)

Busch, N. Duel in the sun. (Mr '44)

United States (western)

Drago, H. S. Busted range. (Ap '44)
Field, P. Smoking iron. (Mr '44)
Raine, W. M. Courage stout. (My '44)

Vermont

Van de Water, F. F. Mrs Applegate's affair. (Je '44)

Virginia

Bayliss, M. F. The Bolinvars. (Je '44)
Jacobs, H. H. Storm against the wind. (My '44)

Washington (state)

Wetherell, J. P. Shut the door behind you. (O '44)

Washington (state) (Tacoma)

Sale, E. My mother bids me bind my hair. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

West Indies

Gellhorn, M. E. Liana. (Mr '44)

West Virginia

Ferrell, E. and M. Full of thy riches. (Je '44)

Wisconsin

Du Jardin, R. N. Brief glory. (D '44)

Yugoslavia

Tamás, I. Students of Spalato. (My '44)

Love stories

Bassett, S. W. Heart's haven. (S '44)
Berlin, E. M. Land I have chosen. (S '44)
Cornwell, D. They dare not go a-hunting. (N '44)
Covert, A. L. Eternal mountain. (S '44)
Foster, E. Dirigo Point. (Mr '44)
Holton, E. A. Silver crescent. (My '44)
McFee, W. Ship to shore. (O '44)
Meyneng, M. B. Broken arc. (Ap '44)
Nichols, M. G. Portrait of love. (Je '44)
Pedler, M. B. No gifts from chance. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Shann, R. Airman's wife. (D '44)
Stringer, A. J. A. Devastator. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wetherell, J. P. Shut the door behind you. (O '44)

Lumber industry

Binns, A. Timber beast. (Je '44)
Hawkins, J. and W. Broken river. (Ap '44)

Marriage problems

Brush, K. I. This man and this woman. (N '44)
Colby, F. S. Apple must be bitten. (Ap '44)
Colver, A. M. R. Fourways. (O '44)
Du Jardin, R. N. Brief glory. (D '44)
Gordon, C. Women on the porch. (Je '44)
Lane, M. Where Helen lies. (N '44)
Langley, D. Wait for Mrs Willard. (My '44)
Lees, H. Till the boys come home. (O '44)
Marks, P. Shade of Sycamore. (Mr '44)
Moore, I. It's time to say goodbye. (My '44)
Van Ness, L. Again in October. (Ap '44)
Whitcomb, C. Malfreys. (Je '44)

Marriage versus a career

Baldwin, F. He married a doctor. (Ap '44)
Willock, R. Bring back the spring. (Ap '44)

Merchant marine

Dixon, C. M. Devil and the deep. (Ap '44)

Mexicans in the United States

Bright, R. Life and death of little Jo. (Mr '44)
Goodwyn, F. Magic of Limping John. (S '44)

Miscegenation

Gellhorn, M. E. Liana. (Mr '44)
Pope, E. Colcorton. (My '44)
Smith, L. Strange fruit. (Ap '44)

Monks

Kernan, T. D. Now with the morning star. (N '44)

Mothers and daughters

Baldwin, F. Change of heart. (N '44)

Mothers and sons

Adams, P. On such as we. (My '44)

Murder stories

Beynon, J. Cypress man. (My '44)
Hays, H. R. Lie down in darkness. (O '44)
Henderson, D. L. Mr Bowling buys a newspaper. (Mr '44)
Moore, H. F. S. Shed a bitter tear. (S '44)
Simenon, G. Affairs of destiny. (D '44)
Simenon, G. Escape in vain. (Mr '44)
Sparks, D. Nothing as before. (My '44)
Weston, G. Poldrate street. (Je '44)

Murder trials

Long, G. M. V. C. Lady and the arsenic. (Mr '44)

Mystery and detective stories

Abbey, K. Beyond the dark. (Ap '44)
Adams, C. F. Crooking finger. (Je '44)
Adams, C. F. Evil star. (My '44)
Addis, H. Dark voyage. (S '44)
Bailey, H. C. Cat's whisker. (D '44)
Bailey, H. C. Queen of spades. (Mr '44)
Baker, N., and Bolton, W. Dead to the world. (Mr '44)
Barry, J. Lady of night. (Mr '44)
Bayer, O. W. No little enemy. (My '44)
Bellairs, G. Death stops the frolic. (Mr '44)
Bellairs, G. Murder of a quack. (O '44)
Bogart, W. Murder is forgetful. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Booth, C. G. Mr Angel comes aboard. (Je '44)
Boyd, E. M. Doom in the midnight sun. (My '44)
Brackett, L. No good from a corpse. (Ap '44)
Bramhall, M. Button, button. (S '44)
Bramhall, M. Murder solves a problem. (Mr '44)
Branson, H. C. Case of the giant-killer. (Ap '44)

Brown, Z. J. All for the love of a lady. (My '44)
Burns, M. L. Murder at Crawford notch. (My '44)
Burton, M. Shadow on the cliff. (Je '44)
Carr, J. D. He wouldn't kill Patience. (Mr '44)
Carr, J. D. Till death do us part. (O '44)
Carter, F. W. Old Mrs. Camelot. (N '44)
Cheyney, P. You can't keep the change. (Mr '44)
Childerness, G. Too many murderers. (Ag '44)
Christie, A. M. Death comes as the end. (N '44)
Christie, A. M. Towards zero. (Ag '44)
Clark, D. Narrow cell. (My '44)
Clift, D. H. Spy in the room. (N '44)
Coffin, C. Dogwatch. (S '44)
Cohen, O. R. Romance in the first degree. (Ag '44)
Colter, E. Gull cove murders. (Je '44)
Cores, L. M. Corpse de ballet. (Je '44)
Coxe, G. H. Groom lay dead. (Ag '44)
Crane, F. K. Amethyst spectacles. (O '44)
Crane, F. K. Applegreen cat. (Mr '44)
Cumberland, M. Knife will fall. (S '44)
Cunningham, A. B. Cane-patch mystery. (O '44)
Curzon, C. Case of the eighteenth ostrich. (Ap '44)
Dale, V. Nan Thursday. (My '44)
Daly, E. Arrow pointing nowhere. (Mr '44)
Daly, E. Book of the dead. (S '44)
Dannett, S. G. L., and Bennett, E. Defy the tempest. (S '44)
Davis, F. C. Let the skeletons rattle. (Mr '44)
Dean, A. Dead man's float. (S '44)
Dean, E. Murder a mile high. (My '44)
Derleth, A. W. Mischief in the lane. (S '44)
Dewey, T. B. Hue and cry. (D '44)
Diamond, F. Murder in five columns. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Dodge, D. Bullets for the bridegroom. (O '44)
Doyle, A. C. Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson. (My '44)
Dresser, D. Michael Shayne's long chance. (Mr '44)
Dresser, D. Murder and the married virgin. (N '44)
Du Bois, T. M. Case of the perfumed mouse. (O '44)
Eberhart, M. G. Escape the night. (Je '44)
Echard, M. If this be treason. (N '44)
Fair, A. A. Give 'em the ax. (O '44)
Farjeon, J. J. Greenmask. (Je '44)
Fenisong, R. Jenny kissed me. (My '44)
Fenwick, E. P. Murder in haste. (S '44)
Fifth mystery book. (Mr '44)
Fischer, B. Hornets' nest. (Ap '44)
Fischer, B. Quoth the raven. (N '44)
Fitt, M. Clues to Christabel. (O '44)
Footner, H. Unneutral murder. (S '44)
Fouts, E. L. Fish for murder. (My '44)
Fouts, E. L. Needle's eye. (D '44)
Fuller, S. M. Dark page. (O '44)
Furman, A. L., ed. Second mystery companion. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the black-eyed blonde. (D '44)
Gardner, E. S. Case of the crooked candle. (Je '44)
Gardner, E. S. D. A. calls a turn. (Mr '44)
Goldstone, L. A. Leather man. (D '44)
Grafton, C. W. Rope began to hang the butcher. (Ap '44)
Gregg, C. F. 2 died at 3. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hastings, D. G. Death at the depot. (N '44)
Heard, G. Great fog. (O '44)
Heberden, M. V. Murder of a stuffed shirt. (N '44)
Heberden, M. V. Secret of the SPA. (Je '44)
Heberden, M. V. To what dread end. (Mr '44)
Hecht, B. I hate actors! (O '44)
Hill, K. Dear dead mother-in-law. (Ap '44)
Hitchens, D. B. Cat wears a noose. (My '44)
Hopkins, S. Parchment key. (My '44)
Hoster, G. Trial by murder. (Je '44)
Howie, E. Cry murder. (D '44)
Hughes, D. B. F. Delicate ape. (Ap '44)
Hull, E. T. Murder lays a golden egg. (My '44)
Hurley, G. Have you seen this man? (N '44)
King, R. Case of the dowager's etchings. (Je '44)
Knight, C. Affair of the dead stranger. (D '44)
Knight, K. M. Design in diamonds. (Mr '44)
Knotts, R. And the deep blue sea. (Je '44)
Kootz, S. M. Puzzle in petticoats. (S '44)
Kutak, R. Darkness of slumber. (D '44)
Lariar, L. Man with the lumpy nose. (My '44)
LaRoche, K. A. Dear dead professor. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lawrence, H. Blood upon the snow. (S '44)
Lee, M. V., and Saunders, C. C. Measured for murder. (Ap '44)
Lewis, M. C. M. Green for danger. (O '44)
Liebeler, J. M. You, the jury. (O '44)
Little, C. and G. Black honeymoon. (Mr '44)
Little, C. and G. Great black Kanba. (D '44)
Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. Killing the goose. (Mr '44)
Lofts, N. R. Golden Fleece. (Mr '44)
Long, A. R. Death has a will. (My '44)
Long, A. R. Symphony in murder. (S '44)
Long, G. M. V. C. Lady and the arsenic. (Mr '44)
Long, M. Bury the hatchet. (Je '44)
Lyon, D. It's my own funeral. (Ap '44)
McCloy, H. Panic. (N '44)
McDougald, R. Deaths of Lora Karen. (Mr '44)
Mainwaring, D. Six silver handles. (Ag '44)
Malan, E., and Ledig, A. K. Cobwebs and clues. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Malleson, L. B. Spy for Mr Crook. (Mr '44)
Malleson, L. B. Thirty days to live. (D '44)
Mannon, M. M. Murder on the program. (My '44)
Mario, Q. Death drops Delilah. (S '44)
Marion, E. Keys to the house. (My '44)
Marlett, M. Escape while I can. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Martin, A. E. Sinners never die. (O '44)
Mason, S. E. House that hate built. (S '44)
Millar, K. Dark tunnel. (N '44)
Millar, M. Fire will freeze. (My '44)
Moore, H. F. S. Shed a bitter tear. (S '44)
Muir, D. Death defies the doctor. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Nash, A. Death by design. (Ag '44)
Nelms, H. Rim of the pit. (S '44)
Odlum, J. Morgue is always open. (Je '44)
Offord, L. G. Glass mask. (O '44)
O'Neil, K. Death strikes at Heron house. (S '44)
People, G. C. Race with the sun. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Perdue, V. Alarum and excursion. (O '44)
Popkin, Z. So much blood. (Ag '44)
Powell, R. P. All over but the shooting. (Ag '44)
Punshon, E. R. Conqueror inn. (Mr '44)
Punshon, E. R. Night's cloak. (Ag '44)
Queen, E., ed. Misadventures of Sherlock Holmes. (My '44)
Randau, C., and Zugsmith, L. Visitor. (Mr '44)
Reilly, H. K. Opening door. (Mr '44)
Reisner, M. House of cobwebs. (My '44)
Rice, C. Home sweet homicide. (Mr '44)
Rice, C. Jethro Hammer. (S '44)
Rivett, E. C. Checkmate to murder. (O '44)
Roden, H. W. Too busy to die. (O '44)
Roden, H. W. You only hang once. (Mr '44)
Rogers, S. Don't look behind you! (O '44)
Roos, K. Sailor, take warning! (Mr '44)
Rowe, A. Too much poison. (D '44)
Rutledge, N. Beware the hoot owl. (My '44)
Sage, D. Moon was red. (My '44)
Sanders, G. Crime on my hands. (N '44)
Scott, D. Murder makes a villain. (Mr '44)
Shane, S. Baby in the ash can. (Mr '44)
Shattuck, R. Said the spider to the fly. (Je '44)
Shriber, I. S. Pattern for murder. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Starr, J. Corpse came C.O.D. (My '44)
Starrett, V. Case book of Jimmy Lavender. (S '44)
Stewart, A. W. Jack-in-the-box. (Mr '44)
Stout, R. Not quite dead enough. (O '44)
Street, C. J. C. Death invades the meeting. (Ap '44)
Street, C. J. C. Men die at Cyprus lodge. (Ag '44)
Strong, L. A. G. All fall down. (O '44)
Taylor, P. A. Dead Ernest. (Je '44)
Thayer, L. Five bullets. (N '44)
Thayer, L. Plain case of murder. (Ap '44)

Fiction—Mystery and detective stories—Cont.

Upfield, A. W. No footprints in the bush. (N '44)
Upfield, A. W. Winds of evil. (Ap '44)
Vickers, R. Date with danger. (O '44)
Walling, R. A. J. Corpse without a clue. (S '44)
Wallis, R. O. S. No bones about it. (S '44)
Walz, A. Rope of sand. (N '44)
Warren, J. She fell among actors. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Warren, J. R. ATS mystery. (Ag '44)
Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. Puzzle for puppets. (D '44)
Wentworth, P. Clock strikes twelve. (Je '44)
Wentworth, P. Key. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Whelton, P. Death and the devil. (O '44)
Wilson, P. W. Bride's castle. (S '44)
Wilson, R. M. Emergency exit. (My '44)
Wood, C. Death on the pampas. (N '44)
Woolrich, C. Black path of fear. (Ag '44)
Woolrich, C. Deadline at dawn. (Ap '44)

Negro life

Coleman, L. Escape the thunder. (S '44)

Negro problem

Carter, H. Winds of fear. (N '44)
Fast, H. M. Freedom road. (O '44)
Hyland, J. A. The dove flies South. (S '44)
Lucas, C. Flour is dusty. (Ap '44)

Negro stories

Puckette, C. C. Old Mitt laughs last. (My '44)

Northwest mounted police

O'Brien, J. S. Return of Silver Chief. (Ap '44)

Nurses and nursing

Conrad, B. Girl with a golden bar. (Ag '44)
Lansing, E. H. Nancy Naylor, flight nurse. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Taber, G. B. Nurse in blue. (My '44)

Office workers

Smith, H. H. Nine to five. (My '44)

Peasant life

Magdaleno, M. Sunburst. (Mr '44)

Philosophical novels

Huxley, A. L. Time must have a stop. (O '44)
Lindbergh, A. S. M. Steep ascent. (Ap '44)
Romains, J. Death of a nobody. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wylie, P. Night unto night. (O '44)

Physicians

Adams, S. H. Canal town. (My '44)
Arey, J. S. There was no yesterday. (Ap '44)
Baldwin, F. He married a doctor. (Ap '44)
Brink, C. R. Buffalo coat. (D '44)
Jaynes, C. These are the times. (My '44)
Knight, R. A., and Hersholt, J. Dr Christian's office. (O '44)
Meese, M. F. Mary Carstens, M.D. (Mr '44)
Slaughter, F. G. Battle surgeon. (Ap '44)
Walker, D. P. Dr Whitney's secretary. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Politics

Kaup, E. D. Seed of the Puritan. (Ap '44)
Lipton, L. In secret battle. (D '44)
Sinclair, U. B. Presidential agent. (Ag '44)

Prehistoric times

Fisher, V. Golden rooms. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Prisons and prisoners

Escape from Königstein. (S '44)

Prize fighting

Naidish, T. Watch out for Willie Carter. (S '44)

Psychological novels

Bellow, S. Dangling man. (My '44)
Beynon, J. Cypress man. (My '44)
Boulton, A. Road is before us. (N '44)
Brittain, V. M. Account rendered. (D '44)
Charles, J. Dark glass. (Ag '44)
Donath, S. F. Lord is a man of war. (Ap '44)
Duncan, D. Remember the shadows. (Je '44)
Farkas, A. A. Borrowed night. (D '44)
Gordon, C. Women on the porch. (Je '44)
Guérard, A. J. Hunted. (Mr '44)
Hays, H. R. Lie down in darkness. (O '44)
Heal, E. This very sun. (D '44)
Holmes, O. W. Psychiatric novels. (Je '44)
Jackson, C. R. Lost weekend. (Mr '44)
MacLiesh, A. F. Cone of silence. (Mr '44)
Marion, E. Keys to the house. (My '44)
Massie, C. Love letters. (N '44)
Myers, E. Well full of leaves. (Je '44)
Reisner, M. House of cobwebs. (My '44)
Rumsey, A. Crying at the lock. (D '44)
Simenon, G. Affairs of destiny. (D '44)
Simenon, G. Escape in vain. (Mr '44)
Simenon, G. On the danger line. (S '44)
Stead, C. For love alone. (N '44)
Westmacott, M. Absent in the spring. (O '44)
Williams, B. A. Leave her to heaven. (Ag '44)
Zweig, S. Royal game. (My '44)

Race problems

Halsey, M. Some of my best friends are soldiers. (N '44)

Railroads

Leonov, L. M. Road to the ocean. (D '44)

Ranch life

Walker, M. Winter wheat. (Mr '44)

Refugees

Croome, H. M. S. O western wind. (Ap '44)
Donath, S. F. Lord is a man of war. (Ap '44)
Lewisohn, L. Breathe upon these. (Ap '44)
Morris, I. V. Liberty street. (Mr '44)
Pick, R. Terhoven file. (O '44)
Seghers, A. Transit. (Je '44)
White, L. T. Look away, look away. (Mr '44)
Young, M. Trial of Adolf Hitler. (My '44)

Religious psychology

Hutter, C. Outnumbered. (Ap '44)
Mann, T. Joseph the provider. (S '44)

Sabotage

Bayer, O. W. No little enemy. (My '44)
Kelland, C. B. Heart on her sleeve. (My '44)

Satire

Bemelmans, L. Now I lay me down to sleep. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Gibbons, S. Bachelor. (O '44)
Hecht, B. I hate actors! (O '44)
Sharp, M. Cluny Brown. (S '44)
Shulman, M. Feather merchants. (Je '44)
Sohn, M. Your loving mother. (Ap '44)

School and college life

Champagne, M. M. G. Cauliflower heart. (Ap '44)
McCoy, J. P. Swing the big-eyed rabbit. (Mr '44)

Sea stories

Buckley, F. R. Davy Jones, I love you. (Je '44)
Hawkins, J. and W. Devil on his trail. (O '44)
Laing, A. K. Sea Witch. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Marmur, J. Sea duty. (N '44)
White, L. T. Look away, look away. (Mr '44)

Secret service

Creasey, J. Legion of the lost. (D '44)

Servants

McVicker, D. A. Queen was in the kitchen. (My '44)

Short stories

Bromfield, L. World we live in. (N '44)
Burnett, W., ed. Seas of God. (My '44)
Caldwell, E. Stories. (O '44)
Chute, B. J. Shift to the right. (N '44)
Collier, J. Touch of nutmeg. (Mr '44)
Cooper, L. F. Love and admiration. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Derleth, A. W., ed. Sleep no more. (O '44)
Farrell, J. T. To whom it may concern. (Ag '44)
Fischer, M., and Humphries, R., eds. Pause to wonder. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Foley, M., ed. Best American short stories, 1944. (O '44)
Freund, P. Young Greek and the Creole. (N '44)
Gross, F. L. What is the verdict? (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Harper's bazaar. It's a woman's world. (My '44)

Heard, G. Great fog. (O '44)
Hemingway, E. Hemingway; ed. by Malcolm Cowley. (N '44)
James, H. Stories of writers and artists. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Kantor, M. Author's choice. (N '44)
Kelley, R. F., ed. Sportsman's anthology. (D '44)
La Farge, C. East by southwest. (S '44)
Lewis, W., ed. Fighting words. (S '44)
Lincoln, V. E. Grandmother and the comet. (S '44)
Marmur, J. Sea duty. (N '44)
O. Henry memorial award. Prize stories of 1944. (N '44)
O'Connor, F. Crab apple jelly. (N '44)
Owen, F., ed. Bedside bonanza. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Perry, G. S. Hackberry cavalier. (Mr '44)
Porter, K. A. Leaning tower. (O '44)
Riesenberg, F. Phantom freighter. (S '44)
Rinehart, M. R. Alibi for Isabel. (S '44)
Rohmer, S. Bimbâshi Barûk of Egypt. (My '44)
Runyon, D. Runyon a la carte. (S '44)
Saroyan, W. Dear baby. (D '44)
Seide, M. Common thread. (Ap '44)
Starrett, V., ed. World's great spy stories. (N '44)
Strode, H., ed. Spring harvest. (Ag '44)
Tabor, P. They came to London. (Mr '44)
Upson, W. H. Botts in war, Botts in peace. (O '44)
Wandrei, D. Eye and the finger. (O '44)
Wang, C., tr. Contemporary Chinese stories. (My '44)
Wang, C., tr. Traditional Chinese tales. (My '44)
Whitehead, H. S. Jumbee, and other uncanny tales. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wise, H. A., and Fraser, P. M., eds. Great tales of terror and the supernatural. (Ag '44)
Woolf, V. S. Haunted house. (Ap '44)
Woolrich, C. After-dinner story. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wylie, P. Fish and tin fish. (Mr '44)
Yarmolinsky, A., ed. Treasury of great Russian short stories. (Ap '44)
Zistel, E., comp. Treasury of cat stories. (My '44)

Sisters

Stevenson, D. E. Listening valley. (O '44)
Whipple, D. They were sisters. (Je '44)

Slavery

Gaither, F. O. J. Red cock crows. (Je '44)
Henkle, H. Deep river. (N '44)

Small town life

Brink, C. R. Buffalo coat. (D '44)
Downing, J. H. Harvest is late. (Mr '44)
Farnham, M. H. Tollivers. (N '44)
Hallet, R. M. Foothold of earth. (D '44)
Peattie, M. R. Return. (Mr '44)
Sparks, D. Nothing as before. (My '44)

Social conditions and problems

Ardrey, R. World's beginning. (O '44)
Caldwell, E. Tragic ground. (N '44)
Cameron, W. Day is coming. (Ag '44)
Miers, E. S. Grass roots. (Je '44)
Romains, J. Work and play. (Mr '44)
Spring, H. Hard Facts. (O '44)

Socialism

Cameron, W. Day is coming. (Ag '44)

Spies

Boyle, K. Avalanche. (Mr '44)
Burt, K. N. Captain Millett's island. (S '44)
Charteris, L. Saint on guard. (Ap '44)
Cheyney, P. Dark street. (N '44)
Coffin, C. Dogwatch. (S '44)
Garth, D. Bermuda calling. (S '44)
Gibbs, H. Epitaph for lemmings. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Groom, A. J. P. Mohune's nine lives. (Mr '44)
Hall, W. Even Jericho. (D '44)
Heym, S. Of smiling peace. (N '44)
Knight, K. M. Intrigue for empire. (S '44)
MacInnes, H. While still we live. (My '44)
Powell, R. P. All over but the shooting. (Ag '44)
Riesenberg, F. Phantom freighter. (S '44)
Starrett, V., ed. World's great spy stories. (N '44)
Swiggett, H. Most secret, most immediate. (Ap '44)
Teilhet, D. Le O. Odd man pays. (Je '44)
Wheatley, D. Sword of fate. (S '44)
Yorck, R. L. Sixty to go. (Ap '44)

Sports

Chute, B. J. Shift to the right. (N '44)
Kelley, R. F., ed. Sportsman's anthology. (D '44)

Submarines

Fisher, S. G. Destination Tokyo. (Ap '44)

Supernatural phenomena

Fischer, M., and Humphries, R., eds. Pause to wonder. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Heard, G. Great fog. (O '44)
Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. Six novels of the supernatural. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Whitehead, H. S. Jumbee, and other uncanny tales. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wise, H. A., and Fraser, P. M., eds. Great tales of terror and the supernatural. (Ag '44)

Surrealist novels

Dali, S. Hidden faces. (Ag '44)

Swedes in the United States

Banér, S. V. Latchstring out. (My '44)

Teachers

Mann, H. Small town tyrant. (Je '44)

Tennis

Barrett, R. B. Truant. (O '44)

Translated stories

Chinese

Wang, C., tr. Contemporary Chinese stories. (My '44)
Wang, C., tr. Traditional Chinese tales. (My '44)

Danish

Lindemann, K. House with the green tree. (S '44)

French

Bruller, J. Silence of the sea. (Ap '44)
Dumas, A. Journal of Madame Giovanni. (Mr '44)
Eliat, H. Arena of love. (Ag '44)
Ramuz, C. F. End of all men. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Romains, J. Death of a nobody. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Romains, J. Work and play. (Mr '44)
Simenon, G. Affairs of destiny. (D '44)
Simenon, G. Escape in vain. (Mr '44)
Simenon, G. On the danger line. (S '44)
Thoby-Marcelin, P., and Marcelin, P. Canapé-Vert. (Mr '44)

German

Feuchtwanger, L. Simone. (S '44)
Mann, H. Small town tyrant. (Je '44)
Mann, T. Joseph the provider. (S '44)
Munchausen. Adventures of Baron Munchausen. (D '44)
Seghers, A. Transit. (Je '44)
Uhse, B. Lieutenant Bertram. (S '44)
Weiskopf, F. C. Firing squad. (S '44)

Hungarian

Tamás, I. Students of Spalato. (My '44)

Polish

Gronowicz, A. Four from the old town. (D '44)

Portuguese

Carneiro, C. J. Bonfire. (S '44)

Russian

Grossman, V. No beautiful nights. (Ag '44)
Leonov, L. M. Road to the ocean. (D '44)
Wasilewska, W. Rainbow. (My '44)
Yarmolinsky, A., ed. Treasury of great Russian short stories. (Ap '44)

Spanish

Magdaleno, M. Sunburst. (Mr '44)
Mallea, E. Bay of silence. (Ap '44)
Sender, R. J. Chronicle of dawn. (Ap '44)

Fiction—Continued
Travel
Bemelmans, L. Now I lay me down to sleep. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Tuberculosis
Robertson, W. Oasis. (O '44)
Voyages and travels
Dumas, A. Journal of Madame Giovanni. (Mr '44)
War
Brittain, V. M. Account rendered. (D '44)
Warner, R. Return of the traveller. (Je '44)
Women
Harper's bazaar. It's a woman's world. (My '44)
Women in industry
Kelland, C. B. Heart on her sleeve. (My '44)
World war, 1939-
Adams, F. R. When I come back. (Je '44)
Aldridge, J. Sea Eagle. (Mr '44)
Ashton, H. Joanna. (O '44)
Bates, H. E. Fair stood the wind for France. (Je '44)
Baum, V. Hotel Berlin '43. (My '44)
Boyle, K. Avalanche. (Mr '44)
Brophy, J. Target island. (S '44)
Brown, H. P. M. Walk in the sun. (S '44)
Bruller, J. Silence of the sea. (Ap '44)
Buckley, F. R. Davy Jones, I love you. (Je '44)
Burke, R. Frightened pigeon. (Je '44)
Burt, K. N. Captain Millett's island. (S '44)
Busch, N. They dream of home. (D '44)
Carr, R. S. Bells of Saint Ivan's. (Je '44)
Chambliss, W. C. Boomerang. (S '44)
Cheyney, P. Dark street. (N '44)
Clements, E. H. Cherry harvest. (My '44)
Colver, A. M. R. Fourways. (O '44)
Creasey, J. Legion of the lost. (D '44)
Dickens, M. Edward's fancy. (Mr '44)
Donath, S. F. Lord is a man of war. (Ap '44)
Downey, F. D. Jezebel the jeep. (Ag '44)
Dunsany, E. J. M. D. P. Guerrilla. (O '44)
Escape from Königstein. (S '44)
Farkas, A. A. Borrowed night. (D '44)
Feuchtwanger, L. Simone. (S '44)
Fisher, S. G. Destination Tokyo. (Ap '44)
Furman, A. L. Air force surgeon. (My '44)
Gabriel, G. W. I got a country. (O '44)
Garth, D. Bermuda calling. (S '44)
Gilpatric, G. Mr Glencannon ignores the war. (O '44)
Gronowicz, A. Four from the old town. (D '44)
Groom, A. J. P. Mohune's nine lives. (Mr '44)
Grossman, V. No beautiful nights. (Ag '44)
Hall, J. N. Lost island. (Ag '44)
Hawkins, J. and W. Devil on his trail. (O '44)
Heym, S. Of smiling peace. (N '44)
Hoellering, F. Furlough. (O '44)
Hunt, H. Limit of darkness. (Je '44)
Jameson, S. Cloudless May. (My '44)
Johnson, P. H. Winter quarters. (Ag '44)
Kessel, J. Army of shadows. (S '44)
La Farge, C. East by southwest. (S '44)
Lees, H. Till the boys come home. (O '44)
Lewis, C. Pathfinders. (Je '44)
Lewis, W., ed. Fighting words. (S '44)
Lewisohn, L. Breathe upon these. (Ap '44)
Lipton, L. In secret battle. (D '44)
MacInnes, H. While still we live. (My '44)
Mackay, M. M. Homeward the heart. (Je '44)
Maltz, A. Cross and the arrow. (O '44)
Mitchell, R. C. They shall come again. (Je '44)
Moore, I. It's time to say goodbye. (My '44)
Norway, N. S. Pastoral. (O '44)
Pedler, M. B. No gifts from chance. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Perventsev, A. A. Ordeal. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Riesenberg, F. Phantom freighter. (S '44)
Roberts, C. Labyrinth. (Je '44)
Robertson, E. A. Signpost. (Mr '44)
Rohmer, S. Bimbâshi Barûk of Egypt. (My '44)
St John, R. It's always tomorrow. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Seghers, A. Transit. (Je '44)
Sender, R. J. Chronicle of dawn. (Ap '44)
Sherman, R. Unready heart. (S '44)
Sherriff, R. C. Chedworth. (N '44)
Skidmore, H. D. Valley of the sky. (S '44)
Slaughter, F. G. Battle surgeon. (Ap '44)
Stewart, C. P. So thick the fog. (O '44)
Tabor, P. They came to London. (Mr '44)
Wakeman, F. Shore leave. (Ap '44)
Wasilewska, W. Rainbow. (My '44)
Weiskopf, F. C. Firing squad. (S '44)
Wheatley, D. Sword of fate. (S '44)
William, P. Affair at Abu Mina. (O '44)
Yorck, R. L. Sixty to go. (Ap '44)
Young, M. Trial of Adolf Hitler. (My '44)
Zionism
Lewisohn, L. Breathe upon these. (Ap '44)
Fiddler in the sky. Hoagland, K. (Je '44)
Fields and waves in modern radio. Ramo, S., and Whinnery, J. R. (N '44)
Fifth mystery book. (Mr '44)
Fifty-two days. Chaplin, W. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Fifty years in a Maryland kitchen. Howard, J. G. G. (S '44)
Fightin'est ship. Morris, C. G., and Cave, H. B. (Ag '44)
Fighting, Hand-to-hand
Mendell, B. I. Protect yourself. (S '44)
Fighting Americans of today. Cook, D. (Je '44)
Fighting fitness. Crampton, C. W. (Ap '44)
Fighting fleets. Rimington, C. (N '44)
Fighting ships of the U.S.A. Blakeslee, V. F. (Ap '44)
Fighting wings. Paust, G. H., and Lancelot, M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Fighting words. Lewis, W., ed. (S '44)
Final hour. Caldwell, J. T. (My '44)
Final score. Beck, W. (O '44)
Finance
Williams, J. H. Postwar monetary plans. (O '44)
Germany
Nathan, O. Nazi war finance and banking. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Great Britain
Morton, W. A. British finance, 1930-1940. (Ag '44)
Greece, Modern
Levandis, J. A. Greek foreign debt and the great powers. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States
Fine, S. M. Public spending and postwar economic policy. (O '44)
Hansen, A. H., and Perloff, H. S. State and local finance in the national economy. (S '44)
Taus, E. R. Central banking functions of the United States treasury. (D '44)
Wilmerding, L. Spending power. (S '44)
Financial accounting. May, G. O. (Ag '44)
Fire bell in the night. Robertson, C. N. (My '44)
Fire extinction
McCarthy, J. J. Science of fighting fire. (Ap '44)
Fire will freeze. Millar, M. (My '44)
Firearms
Lenz, E. C. Muzzle flashes. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Firelight entertainments. Soifer, M. K. (N '44)
Fireworks
Weingart, G. W. Pyrotechnics. (Ap '44)
Firing squad. Weiskopf, F. C. (S '44)
First aid in illness and injury
Fishbein, M., and Irwin, L. W. Health and first aid. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
First Christmas crib. Milhous, K. (D '44)
First course in psychology. Woodworth, R. S. and Sheehan, M. R. (Ap '44)
First fleet. Ingraham, R. (My '44)
First flying book. Tatham, C. (O '44)
First grade. Lattimore, E. F. (O '44)
First Lincoln campaign. Luthin, R. H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
First of the many. McCrary, J. R., and Scherman, D. E. (D '44)
First round. Gaer, J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
"First with the most" Forrest. Henry, R. S. (D '44)
First woman doctor. Baker, R. (My '44)
Fish and tin fish. Wylie, P. (Mr '44)
Fish for murder. Fouts, E. L. (My '44)

Fisher, Frederick Bohn, bp.
Fisher, W. B. H. Frederick Bohn Fisher, world citizen. (My '44)
Fishery law and legislation
Tomasevich, J. International agreements on conservation of marine resources. (Je '44)
Fishing
Schaldach, W. J. Coverts and casts. (Mr '44)
Ontario
Robins, J. D. Incomplete anglers. (Ag '44)
Fitch, John
Flexner, J. T. Steamboats come true. (O '44)
Fitting habitation. Rothery, A. E. (Ap '44)
Fitzhugh, George
Wish, H. George Fitzhugh. (Mr '44)
Five arrows. Chase, A. (O '44)
Five bullets. Thayer, L. (N '44)
Five gold sovereigns. Choate, F., and Curtis, E. (Ag '44)
Five young American poets, third series, 1944. (D '44)
Fix the toys. King, D. N. (N '44)
Flags of dawn. Knox, E. M. (Je '44)
Flight above cloud. Pudney, J. (Ag '44)
Flight into darkness. Gustafson, R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Flight to everywhere. West, L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Flights to glory. Purcell, J. F. (My '44)
Flinders, Matthew
Fiction
Hill, E. My love must wait. (Mr '44)
Flint. Norris, C. G. (Mr '44)
Florida
Description and travel
Barbour, T. That vanishing Eden. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Flour is dusty. Lucas, C. (Ap '44)
Flower drum. Chen, C. Y. and S. (Mr '44)
Flowers
Foley, D. J. Garden flowers in color. (S '44)
Mansfield, T. C. Border in colour. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Flying leathernecks. Hubler, R. G., and DeChant, J. A. (D '44)
Folk art
Pennsylvania
Robacker, E. F. Pennsylvania Dutch stuff. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Folk dancing in high school and college. Fox, G. I., and Merrill, K. G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Folk songs
Siegmeister, E., ed. Work and sing. (Ag '44)
Folk songs, American
Jackson, G. P. White and Negro spirituals. (Je '44)
Wheeler, M. Steamboatin' days. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Folk songs, Chinese
Jacobs, A. G., comp. Chinese-American song and game book. (Ag '44)
Folk tales from China. Lim, S. (S '44)
Folklore
England
Spargo, J. W. Juridical folklore in England. (S '44)
Latin America
Henius, F., comp. and tr. Stories from the Americas. (O '44)
North Carolina
Writers' program, North Carolina. Bundle of troubles. (Mr '44)
Folklore, American
Botkin, B. A., ed. Treasury of American folklore. (Je '44)
Food
Graubard, M. A. Man's food its rhyme or reason. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Sherman, H. C., and Lanford, C. S. Introduction to foods and nutrition. (Ag '44)
Analysis
Jacobs, M. B., ed. Chemistry and technology of food and food products. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Bacteriology
Tanner, F. W. Microbiology of foods. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Food, Frozen
Sparkes, B. Zero storage in your home. (O '44)
Food. Pearson, F. A., and Paarlberg, D. (My '44)
Food for postwar Europe. Bennett, M. K. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Food resources of Africa. Githens, T. S., and Wood, C. E. (Je '44)
Food supply
Prentice, E. P. Food, war and the future. (Ag '44)
Africa
Githens, T. S., and Wood, C. E. Food resources of Africa. (Je '44)
Europe
Bennett, M. K. Food for postwar Europe. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States
Pearson, F. A., and Paarlberg, D. Food. (My '44)
Food, war and the future. Prentice, E. P. (Ag '44)
Foothold of earth. Hallet, R. M. (D '44)
Footnote to life. Nash, E. A. (N '44)
For country and mankind. Reines, B. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
For love alone. Stead, C. (N '44)
For magicians only. Parrish, R. H. (S '44)
For the good of all. Tucker, G. M. (O '44)
For the time being. Auden, W. H. (O '44)
For we have this treasure. Scherer, P. E. (N '44)
Forbes, Rosita
Forbes, R. T. Gypsy in the sun. (N '44)
Foreign influences in American life. Bowers, D. F., ed. (N '44)
Foreign maps. Olson, E. C., and Whitmarsh, A. (D '44)
Foreign policy begins at home. Warburg, J. P. (D '44)
Foremen
Wolff, J. L. Production conference. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Forever Amber. Winsor, K. (N '44)
Forgotten battlefield. Wierzynski, K. (N '44)
Forgotten finca. Von Hagen, C. I. B. (Ag '44)
Forrest, Nathan Bedford
Henry, R. S. "First with the most" Forrest. (D '44)
Fortunes of Falstaff. Wilson, J. D. (Je '44)
'42 to '44. Wells, H. G. (S '44)
Forward, Commandos! Bianco, M. W. (N '44)
Forward observer. Westrate, E. V. (My '44)
Foster home care for mental patients. Crutcher, H. B. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Foundation of phenomenology. Farber, M. (S '44)
Foundations
Chellis, R. D. Pile-driving handbook. (S '44)
Foundations of nutrition. Rose, M. D. S. (Ag '44)
Four boys and a gun. Wiener, W. (My '44)
Four fears. Thomas, E. D. (N '44)
Four from the old town. Gronowicz, A. (D '44)
Four Gospels. Chapman, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
400 salads. Cowles, F. A., and Harris, F. L. (Ag '44)
Four Jills in a jeep. Landis, C. (Ap '44)
Four plays. Priestley, J. B. (N '44)
Four-ply yarn. Eng title of: Shadow on the cliff. Burton, M. (Je '44)
Four years. Van Sinderen, (My '44)
Fourscore years. Coulton, G. G. (Ag '44)
Fourways. Colver, A. M. R. (O '44)
Fowl and game cookery. Beard, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Fox fire. Robinson, G. (O '44)
France, Anatole
Axelrad, J. Anatole France. (O '44)
France
Church history
Anderson, R. G. Biography of a cathedral. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Colonies
Stern, J. French colonies, past and future. (Ap '44)

France—Colonies—Continued

West Indies

Crouse, N. M. French struggle for the West Indies. (My '44)

Economic policy

Cole, C. W. French mercantilism, 1683-1700. (My '44)

Foreign relations

Jordan, W. M. Great Britain, France and the German problem, 1918-1939. (Ag '44)

Free French movement

Davis, H. Half past when. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gaulle, C. A. J. M. de. Speeches. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

History

Fernand-Laurent, C. J. Gallic charter. (S '44)
Marriott, J. A. R. Short history of France (My '44)

Revolution—Historiography

Farmer, P. France reviews its revolutionary origins. (Ag '44)

German occupation, 1940-

Cot, P. Triumph of treason. (My '44)

History, Military

Parker, H. T. Three Napoleonic battles. (S '44)

Politics and government

Cot, P. Triumph of treason. (My '44)
Fernand-Laurent, C. J. Gallic charter. (S '44)
Lorraine, J. Behind the battle of France. (Je '44)
Micaud, C. A. French Right and Nazi Germany. (Ap '44)

France in sunshine and shadow. Batcheller, T. B. (N '44)
France reviews its revolutionary origins. Farmer, P. (Ag '44)

Francis of Assisi, Saint

Fiction

Kossak-Szczucka, Z. Blessed are the meek. (Ap '44)

Juvenile literature

Milhous, K. First Christmas crib. (D '44)

Franklin, Benjamin
Franklin institute. Meet Dr Franklin. (O '44)

Frazer, Sir James George
Malinowski, B. Scientific theory of culture. (D '44)

Freddy and Mr Camphor. Brooks, W. R. (N '44)
Free enterprise. Duryee, M. B. (Ap '44)
Free men shall stand. Stone, E. (D '44)

Free thought
Warren, S. American freethought, 1860-1914. (Ap '44)

Free trade and protection
Tucker, G. M. For the good of all. (O '44)

Free will and determinism
Berdîaev, N. A. Slavery and freedom. (O '44)

Free world theatre. Oboler, A., and Longstreet, S., eds. (O '44)
Freedom and civilization. Malinowski, B. (D '44)
Freedom from fear. Pink, L. H. (O '44)
Freedom road. Fast, H. M. (O '44)
Freedom through education. Redden, J. D., and Ryan, F. A. (D '44)
Freedom's ferment. Tyler, A. F. (Ap '44)
Freehand drafting. Zipprich, A. E. (D '44)

Fremont, Jessie (Benton)

Fiction

Stone, I. Immortal wife. (N '44)

French Canada. Ryerson, S. B. (N '44)

French Canadians
Ryerson, S. B. French Canada. (N '44)

French colonies, past and future. Stern, J. (Ap '44)

French fiction

History and criticism

Maurois, A. Seven faces of love. (Mr '44)

French impressionists and their contemporaries represented in American collections. (N '44)

French in the West Indies
Crouse, N. M. French struggle for the West Indies. (My '44)

French literature

History and criticism

Gide, A. P. G. Imaginary interviews. (N '44)

French mercantilism, 1683-1700. Cole, C. W. (My '44)
French Right and Nazi Germany. Micaud, C. A. (Ap '44)
French struggle for the West Indies. Crouse, N. M. (My '44)

Freud, Sigmund
Brill, A. A. Freud's contribution to psychiatry. (N '44)
Sachs, H. Freud; master and friend. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Freud's contribution to psychiatry. Brill, A. A. (N '44)
Friendly animals. Slobodkin, L. (D '44)

Friends, Society of
Curtis, A. L. Quakers take stock. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Frightened pigeon. Burke, R. (Je '44)

Frisbie, Robert Dean
Frisbie, R. D. Island of Desire. (S '44)

From art to theatre. Kernodle, G. R. (D '44)
From despotism to revolution. Gershoy, L. (S '44)
From economic theory to policy. Walker, E. R. (My '44)
From science to God. Schmidt, K. (S '44)
From Shakespeare to Joyce. Stoll, E. E. (Mr '44)
From star to star. Kelly, E. P. (D '44)
From the Volga to the Yukon. Henderson, D. M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
From wilderness to empire. Cleland, R. G. (My '44)

Frontier and pioneer life
Havighurst, W. Upper Mississippi. (Je '44)

California

Bruff, J. G. Gold rush. (D '44)

United States

Ross, N. W. Westward the women. (N '44)

Frontiers of American culture. Adams, J. T. (Ag '44)
Frossia. Almedingen, M. E. von. (My '44)

Fruit culture
Hedrick, U. P. Fruits for the home garden. (N '44)

Fruits for the home garden. Hedrick, U. P. (N '44)
Der Fuehrer. Heiden, K. (Mr '44)
Full of thy riches. Ferrell, E. and M. (Je '44)

Fulton, Robert
Flexner, J. T. Steamboats come true. (O '44)

Fiction

Wilkins, W. V. Being met together. (O '44)

Fun with chemistry. Freeman, M. B. and I. M. (D '44)
Fun with clay. Leeming, J. (N '44)
Fun with your child. Mapes, M. A. (Mr '44)
Fundamentals for the aircraft mechanic. Markley, J. M. (Ap '44)
Fundamentals of chemistry and their applications in modern life. Offner, M. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Fundamentals of indeterminate structures. Plummer, F. L. (O '44)
Fundamentals of mechanical inspection for trainees and junior inspectors. Jenkins, R. (Je '44)
Fundamentals of physiology. Tokay, E. (Ag '44)
Fundamentals of radio communications. Frey, A. R. (Je '44)
Fundamentals of telephony. Albert, A. L. (Ap '44)

Fur trade
Swenson, O. Northwest of the world. (My '44)

Furlough. Hoellering, F. (O '44)
Fuss 'n' feathers. Long, L. (D '44)
Fussbunny. Evers, H. and A. (S '44)
Future economic policy of the United States. Brown, W. A. (Je '44)
Future Germany. Minshall, T. H. (N '44)

Future of colonial peoples. Hailey, M. H. (My '44)
Future of south-east Asia. Panikkar, K. M. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Future population of Europe and the Soviet Union. Princeton university. Office of population research. (N '44)

G—for Genevieve. Herbert, J. M. (Ag '44)
G.I. laughs. Hersey, H. B., ed. (Ap '44)
G. I. songs. Palmer, E. A., ed. (S '44)
Gail Gardner wins her cap. Sutton, M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Galaxies. Shapley, H. (Ap '44)
Gallery of great paintings. Crane, A., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gallic charter. Fernand-Laurent, C. J. (S '44)
Gals they left behind. Shea, M. M. (O '44)

Gambling
MacDougall, M. Danger in the cards. (Ap '44)

Gamelin, Maurice Gustave
Géraud, A. Gravediggers of France. (O '44)

Games
Jacobs, A. G., comp. Chinese-American song and game book. (Ag '44)
Leeming, J. Games to make and play at home. (My '44)
Morehead, A. H. Modern Hoyle. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Games to make and play at home. Leeming, J. (My '44)

Gangs
Whyte, W. F. Street corner society. (Ap '44)

Garcia Lorca, Federico
Honig, E. Garcia Lorca. (My '44)
Garden flowers in color. Foley, D. J. (S '44)

Gardening
Rockwell, F. F., ed. 10,000 garden questions answered by 15 experts. (Ag '44)

Garibaldi, Giuseppe
Baker, N. B. Garibaldi. (D '44)

Gas and oil engines
Jennings, B. H., and Obert, E. F. Internal combustion engines. (O '44)
Gas chemists' manual of dry box purification of gas. Seil, G. E. (Je '44)

Gas manufacture and works
Seil, G. E. Gas chemists' manual of dry box purification of gas. (Je '44)

Gas turbines
Smith, G. G. Gas turbines and jet propulsion for aircraft. (O '44)
Gas turbines and jet propulsion for aircraft. Smith, G. G. (O '44)

Gasoline
Van Winkle, M. Aviation gasoline manufacture. (Ap '44)
Gateway to Asia: Sinkiang. Norins, M. R. (S '44)
Gateways to readable books. Strang, R. M., and others. (O '44)
Gauging public opinion. Cantril, H. (My '44)

Gaulle, Charles André Joseph Marie de
Riveloup, A. Truth about De Gaulle. (S '44)
Gay illiterate. Parsons, L. O. (Mr '44)

Gayn, Mark J.
Gayn, M. J. Journey from the East. (My '44)

Geddes, Sir Patrick
Boardman, P. L. Patrick Geddes. (N '44)
General chemistry. Deming, H. G. (Je '44)
General chemistry. Timm, J. A. (D '44)
General Ike. Hatch, A. (D '44)
General meteorology. Byers, H. R. (O '44)

Generals
De Weerd, H. A. Great soldiers of World war II. (N '44)
Hart, W. E. Hitler's generals. (Je '44)
Genius of public worship. Heimsath, C. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Gentleman from Massachusetts: Henry Cabot Lodge. Schriftgiesser, K. (O '44)
Gentleman says it's pixies. Rea, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gentlemen of Japan. Haven, V. S. (N '44)
Gentlemen talk of peace. Ziff, W. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Geography
Case, E. C., and Bergsmark, D. R. Modern world geography. (Je '44)
Hankins, G. C. Our global world. (D '44)
Key to the universe. (Je '44)
Packard, L. O., and others. Our air-age world. (N '44)
Raisz, E. J. Atlas of global geography. (Ag '44)
Renner, G. T., ed. Global geography. (S '44)
Spykman, N. J. Geography of the peace. (My '44)
Van Cleef, E. Geography for the businessman. (Ap '44)
Geography for the businessman. Van Cleef, E. (Ap '44)
Geography of the peace. Spykman, N. J. (My '44)
Geography of world air transport. Van Zandt, J. P. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Geology
Seward, A. C. Geology for everyman. (Je '44)

North America

Hussey, R. C. Historical geology. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Geology for everyman. Seward, A. C. (Je '44)

Geometry, Analytic
Liming, R. A. Practical analytic geometry with applications to aircraft. (Ag '44)

Geometry, Descriptive
Bradley, H. C., and Uhler, E. H. Descriptive geometry for engineers. (Ag '44)

Geometry, Solid
Kern, W. F., and Bland, J. R. Geometry with military and naval applications. (Ap '44)
Geometry with military and naval application. Kern, W. F., and Bland, J. R. (Ap '44)

Geopolitics
Fifield, R. H., and Pearcy, G. E. Geopolitics in principle and practice. (S '44)
Gyorgy, A. Geopolitics. (N '44)
Weigert, H. W., and Stefansson, V., eds. Compass of the world (O '44)
Geopolitics in principle and practice. Fifield, R. H., and Pearcy, G. E. (S '44)
Georgie. Bright, R. (O '44)
German army. Rosinski, H. (Je '44)

German literature

Collections

Crippen, H. R., ed. Germany. (Je '44)
German radio propaganda. Kris, E., and Speier, H. (S '44)
Germans and the Jews. Bienenfeld, F. R. (N '44)

Germans in Pennsylvania
Robacker, E. F. Pennsylvania Dutch stuff. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Germany
Croce, B. Germany and Europe. (S '44)

Army

Hart, W. E. Hitler's generals. (Je '44)
Lessner, E. C. Blitzkrieg and bluff. (My '44)
Rosinski, H. German army. (Je '44)

Description and travel

Buller, E. A. Darkness over Germany. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Economic conditions

Gerschenkron, A. Bread and democracy in Germany. (My '44)
Moulton, H. G., and Marlio, L. Control of Germany and Japan. (N '44)

Economic policy

Basch, A. Danube basin and the German economic sphere. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Miller, D. P. Via diplomatic pouch. (Ag '44)
Nathan, O., and Fried, M. Nazi economic system. (S '44)

Foreign relations

Jordan, W. M. Great Britain, France and the German problem, 1918-1939. (Ag '44)

History

Brecht, A. Prelude to silence. (S '44)
Hermens, F. A. Tyrants' war and the peoples' peace. (O '44)
Rudin, H. R. Armistice, 1918. (D '44)
Shuster, G. N., and Bergsträsser, A. Germany. (S '44)

Germany—History—Continued

Allied occupation, 1918-1930

Fraenkel, E. Military occupation and the rule of law. (D '44)

Navy

Launer, J. Enemies' fighting ships. (My '44)

Nazi movement

Buller, E. A. Darkness over Germany. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Heiden, K. Der Fuehrer. (Mr '44)
Hitler, A. Hitler's words. (S '44)
Mises, L. von. Omnipotent government. (Je '44)
Riess, C. Nazis go underground. (S '44)

Drama

Brecht, B. Private life of the master race. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Politics and government

Crippen, H. R., ed. Germany. (Je '44)
Frank, K. B. Germany after Hitler. (Mr '44)
Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Minshall, T. H. Future Germany. (N '44)
Schultz, S. L. Germany will try it again. (Mr '44)
Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. Germany: to be or not to be? (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Tosevic, D. J. Not Nazis but Germans. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Religion

Martin, H., and others. Christian counterattack. (Ag '44)

Germany. Pihl, G. T. (S '44)
Germany, a winter's tale, 1844. Heine, H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Germany after Hitler. Frank, K. B. (Mr '44)
Germany and Europe. Croce, B. (S '44)
Germany: to be or not to be? Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Germany will try it again. Schultz, S. L. (Mr '44)

Gestalt (psychology)
Leeper, R. Lewin's topological and vector psychology. (Ag '44)
Get away old man. Saroyan, W. (Ag '44)
Getting acquainted with Jewish neighbors. Eakin, M. O. M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Ghost stories
Halifax, C. L. W. Lord Halifax's ghost book. (S '44)
Ghost talks. Michelson, C. (Je '44)
Giant weapon. Winters, Y. (S '44)
Giants of China. Kuo, C. (O '44)

Giraud, Henri Honore
Price, G. W. Giraud and the African scene. (Je '44)
Giraud and the African scene. Price, G. W. (Je '44)
Girl mechanic's manual. Brimm, D. J., and Scheifele, E. (Ap '44)
Girl with a golden bar. Conrad, B. (Ag '44)
Girl without a country. Poston, M. L. (D '44)

Girls
Girl's daily life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Woodward, E. S. Strictly private. (D '44)
Girls at work in aviation. Chapelle, G. L. M. (Mr '44)
Give 'em the ax. Fair, A. A. (O '44)
Give Joan a sword. Mary Thérèse, Sister. (S '44)
Give us this day. Taber, G. B. (S '44)
Glass mask. Offord, L. G. (O '44)

Gliders (aeronautics)
Stieri, E. Gliders and glider training. (Ap '44)
Gliders and glider training. Stieri, E. (Ap '44)

Gliding and soaring
Andrews, J. P. Gliding and soaring. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stieri, E. Gliders and glider training. (Ap '44)
Glittering hill. Murphy, C. F. (N '44)
Global geography. Renner, G. T., ed. (S '44)
Global politics. Fitzgibbon, R. H., ed. (S '44)

Globes
Fisher, I., and Miller, O. M. World maps and globes. (S '44)
Glory of God. Harkness, G. E. (S '44)

Glue
Perry, T. D. Modern wood adhesives. (S '44)

Gobi desert
Cable, M., and French, F. L. Gobi desert. (Ag '44)

God
Ferris, T. P. This created world. (Mr '44)
Hocking, W. E. Science and the idea of God. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Laird, J. Mind and deity. (D '44)
God and these times. Chidley, H. J. (N '44)
God, mammon, and the Japanese. Harrington, F. H. (My '44)
God's Englishman. Baldwin, L. D. (Mr '44)
God's front porch. Frings, K. H. (Ap '44)

Gogol, Nikolaĭ Vasil'evich
Nabokov, V. V. Nikolai Gogol. (O '44)

Gold
Hobbs, F. Gold, the real ruler of the world. (N '44)
Gold rush. Bruff, J. G. (D '44)
Gold rush. McNeer, M. Y. (N '44)
Gold, the real ruler of the world. Hobbs, F. (N '44)
Golden almanac. Bennett, D. A. (Je '44)
Golden apples of the sun. Obermeyer, R. (Mr '44)
Golden bowl. Feikema, F. F. (N '44)
Golden Fleece. Lofts, N. R. (Mr '44)
Golden mirror. Zaturenska, M. A. (O '44)
Golden rooms. Fisher, V. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Golden rose. Hinkson, P. (O '44)
Gone away with O'Malley. Knott, M. O., and Cooper, P. (D '44)
Good news of God. Raven, C. E. (S '44)
Good night, sweet prince. Fowler, G. (Mr '44)
Good ship Red Lily. Savery, C. (O '44)
Good-bye, Mr. Chippendale. Robsjohn-Gibbings, T. H. (My '44)

Gordon, George Stuart
Gordon, G. S. Letters, 1902-1942. (S '44)
Gordon the goat. Leaf, M. (D '44)
Gore and glory. Crawford, W. (S '44)

Gorky, Maxim, pseud (Alexei Maximovich Pyeshkoff)

Juvenile literature

Acker, H. Three boys of old Russia. (Ag '44)
Government of the people. Brogan, D. W. (N '44)

Government ownership
Gordon, M. How to tell progress from reaction. (N '44)
Governmental adjustment of labor disputes. Kaltenborn, H. S. (Ap '44)

Graham, Mentor
Duncan, K., and Nickols, D. F. Mentor Graham. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Grandmother and the comet. Lincoln, V. E. (S '44)
Granite harbor. Bird, D. M. (N '44)

Graphic methods
Hall, R. O. Handbook of tabular presentation. (Ap '44)
Mackey, C. O. Graphical solutions. (O '44)
Graphical constructions for vacuum tube circuits. Preisman, A. (Je '44)
Graphical solutions. Mackey, C. O. (O '44)
Grass roots. Miers, E. S. (Je '44)
Gravediggers of France. Géraud, A. (O '44)

Gray, Asa
Rodgers, A. D. American botany. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Great American paintings from Smibert to Bellows. Walker, J., and James, M., eds. (Mr '44)
Great answer. Runbeck, M. L. (My '44)
Great Black Kanba. Little, C. and G. (D '44)

Great Britain. Parliament
Ross, J. F. S. Parliamentary representation. (N '44)

Great Britain

Church history

Plum, H. G. Restoration puritanism. (Ag '44)
White, H. C. Social criticism in popular religious literature of the sixteenth century. (Ag '44)

Civilization

Baldwin, L. D. God's Englishman. (Mr '44)

Colonies, dominions, etc.

Clarke, M. P. Parliamentary privilege in the American colonies. (Ap '44)

Grigg, E. W. M. British Commonwealth. (Ag '44)

India

Coupland, R. Indian problem. (O '44)

Constitutional history

Sources

Wolfe, D. M., ed. Leveller manifestoes of the Puritan revolution. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Economic policy

Foster, H. W., and Bacon, E. V. Wealth for welfare. (Ag '44)
Morrison, H. S. Prospects and policies. (Ag '44)

Foreign policy

Grigg, E. W. M. British Commonwealth. (Ag '44)

Foreign relations

Jordan, W. M. Great Britain, France and the German problem, 1918-1939. (Ag '44)

East (Far East)

Hubbard, G. E. British Far Eastern policy. (Ag '44)

History

Klingberg, F. J. Main currents in English history. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Anglo-Saxon period, 449-1066

Stenton, F. M. Anglo-Saxon England. (Ag '44)

Peerage

Painter, S. Studies in the history of the English feudal barony. (My '44)

Politics and government

Butterfield, H. Englishman and his history. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Painter, S. Studies in the history of the English feudal barony. (My '44)
Plum, H. G. Restoration puritanism. (Ag '44)
Shaw, G. B. Everybody's political what's what. (N '44)
Wedgwood of Barlaston, J. C. W. Testament to democracy. (Ap '44)

Relations (general) with China

Pratt, J. T. China and Britain. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Relations (general) with Greece

Casson, S. Greece and Britain. (S '44)

Relations (general) with Russia

Crankshaw, E. Russia and Britain. (S '44)

Relations (general) with United States

Gibbs, P. H., ed. Bridging the Atlantic. (My '44)

Social conditions

White, H. C. Social criticism in popular religious literature of the sixteenth century. (Ag '44)

Great Britain, France and the German problem, 1918-1939. Jordan, W. M. (Ag '44)
Great century in northern Africa and Asia. See Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity, v6. (My '44)
Great decision. Shotwell, J. T. (S '44)
Great fog. Heard, G. (O '44)
Great gold piece mystery. Honness, E. H. (N '44)
Great Lakes
Hatcher, H. H. Great Lakes. (D '44)
Great pathfinder. Weston, M. F. (D '44)
Great Quillow. Thurber, J. (D '44)
Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge. Peattie, R., ed. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Great Smoky mountains
Peattie, R., ed. Great Smokies and the Blue Ridge. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Great soldiers of World war II. De Weerd, H. A. (N '44)
Great stories from great lives. Prochnow, H. V., ed. (Ag '44)
Great tales of terror and the supernatural. Wise, H. A., and Fraser, P. M., eds. (Ag '44)
Great time to be alive. Fosdick, H. E. (D '44)
Great transformation. Polanyi, K. (My '44)
Greece

Antiquities

McDonald, W. A. Political meeting places of the Greeks. (Ag '44)

Politics and government

McDonald, W. A. Political meeting places of the Greeks. (Ag '44)

Relations (general) with Great Britain

Casson, S. Greece and Britain. (S '44)

Greece, Modern

History

Levandis, J. A. Greek foreign debt and the great powers. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Greece and Britain. Casson, S. (S '44)
Greek foreign debt and the great powers. Levandis, J. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Greek literature
Jaeger, W. W. Paideia. (My '44)

History and criticism

Greene, W. C. Moira. (N '44)

Translations into English

Oates, W. J., and Murphy, C. T., eds. Greek literature in translation. (Je '44)

Greek literature in translation. Oates, W. J., and Murphy, C. T., eds. (Je '44)
Greek revival architecture in America. Hamlin, T. F. (Mr '44)
Green continent. Arciniegas, G., ed. (O '44)
Green Dolphin street. Goudge, E. (O '44)
Green for danger. Lewis, M. C. M. (O '44)
Green Mountain boy. Dean, L. W. (Ap '44)
Green turtle mystery. Queen, E. (O '44)
Green vistas. Coblentz, S. A. (O '44)
Green years. Cronin, A. J. (D '44)
Greenmask. Farjeon, J. J. (Je '44)
Gregg, Josiah
Gregg, J. Diary and letters [bk2]. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gregorio and the white llama. Bannon, L. (D '44)
Groom lay dead. Coxe, G. H. (Ag '44)
Group experience. Baxter, B., and Cassidy, R. F. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Group relations and group antagonisms. MacIver, R. M., ed. (Ag '44)
Group work
Baxter, B., and Cassidy, R. F. Group experience. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Growing up. Thirkell, A. M. (Mr '44)
Growth
Pryor, H. B. As the child grows. (Ag '44)
Growth of American thought. Curti, M. E. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Growth of the American economy. Williamson, H. F., ed. (Je '44)
Growth of the Red army. White, D. F. (Ap '44)
Guerrilla. Dunsany, E. J. M. D. P. (O '44)
Guerrillas
Smith, D. M., and Carnes, C. American guerrilla fighting behind the enemy lines. (My '44)
Guidance and personnel services in education. Reed, A. Y. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Guidance of learning activities. Burton, W. H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Guide for the bedevilled. Hecht, B. (My '44)
Guide to methods improvement. Maynard, H. B., and Stegemerten, G. J. (My '44)
Guide to naval aviation. Elton, W. W., and others. (Je '44)
Guide to naval strategy. Brodie, B. (D '44)
Guide to public opinion polls. Gallup, G. H. (S '44)
Guide to the constellations. Barton, S. G. and W. H. (O '44)
Guiding the normal child. Bowley, A. H. (O '44)
Gull cove murders. Colter, E. (Je '44)
Gums and resins, Synthetic
Morrell, R. S., ed. Synthetic resins and allied plastics. (Ag '44)
Gunsmithing
Lenz, E. C. Muzzle flashes. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Guys on the ground. Friendly, A. (S '44)
Gypsy in the sun. Forbes, R. T. (N '44)

Hackberry cavalier. Perry, G. S. (Mr '44)

Hahn, Emily
Hahn, E. China to me. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Haiti

History

Korngold, R. Citizen Toussaint. (O '44)

Hale, Nathan

Juvenile literature

Mann, M. Nathan Hale, patriot. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Half past when. Davis, H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Hallelujah. Hurst, F. (Mr '44)

Halloween
Big book of Halloween entertainments. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Hamilton, Edward T.
Vetter, E. G. Death was our escort. (D '44)

Hammond's new world loose-leaf atlas service. Hammond, C. S. and company. (Je '44)

Handbook of accounting methods. Lasser, J. K., ed. (Ap '44)

Handbook of air navigation. Vanderkloot, W. J. (D '44)

Handbook of airplane maintenance and operation. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Handbook of chemistry. Lange, N. A., and Forker, G. M., eds. (Ag '44)

Handbook of labor unions. Peterson, F. (Je '44)

Handbook of salamanders. Bishop, S. C. (Ap '44)

Handbook of tabular presentation. Hall, R. O. (Ap '44)

Handbook on designing for quantity production. Chase, H., ed. (Je '44)

Handel, Georg Friedrich

Juvenile literature

Wheeler, O. Handel at the court of kings. (Mr '44)

Handel at the court of kings. Wheeler, O. (Mr '44)

Handicraft
Cleveland, R. Stay-at-home book for boys and girls. (Je '44)
Spears, R. W. Make and remodel home furnishings. (S '44)
White, W. C. Made in the USSR. (D '44)

Handling personality adjustment in industry. McMurry, R. N. (Ap '44)

Hannibal's elephants. Powers, A. (N '44)

Hanrahan's daughter. Purcell, P. (Ap '44)

Hansel and Gretel. Grimm, J. L. K. and W. K. (D '44)

Hapsburg, House of Harding, B. L. Lost waltz. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Harbors

China

Abend, H. Treaty ports. (O '44)

Hard Facts. Spring, H. (O '44)

Hardy, Thomas
Clemens, C. My chat with Thomas Hardy. (Je '44)

Harmon, Thomas Dudley
Harmon, T. D. Pilots also pray. (D '44)

Harvard dictionary of music. Apel, W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Harvest in the desert. Samuel, M. (S '44)

Harvest is late. Downing, J. H. (Mr '44)

Hatha yoga. Bernard, T. (O '44)

Haunted house. Woolf, V. (Ap '44)

Have you seen this man? Hurley, G. (N '44)

Hawaiian Islands
MacDonald, A. W. Revolt in paradise. (O '44)

Hawthorn tree. Green, P. (Ap '44)

Hawthorne, Nathaniel
Hall, L. S. Hawthorne. (S '44)
Schubert, L. Hawthorne, the artist. (S '44)

Hay fever
Sperling, A. P. Know your hay fever. (My '44)

Hazlitt, William
Maclean, C. M. Born under Saturn. (My '44)

He married a doctor. Baldwin, F. (Ap '44)

He wouldn't kill Patience. Carr, J. D. (Mr '44)

Headquarters Budapest. Parker, R. B. (S '44)

Heads up—heels down. Anderson, C. W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Health and first aid. Fishbein, M., and Irwin, L. W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Health and hygiene. Ackerman, L. (S '44)

Health counseling for girls. Leonard, M. L. (O '44)

Health for the having. Emerson, W. R. P. (Ap '44)

Healy, Tim
Healy, T. More lives than one. (Ag '44)

Heart of jade. Madariaga, S. de. (My '44)

Heart of New Hampshire. Weygandt, C. (S '44)

Heart on her sleeve. Kelland, C. B. (My '44)

Hearthstone in the wilderness. Best, A. C. (Ag '44)

Heart's haven. Bassett, S. W. (S '44)

Heat
Zemansky, M. W. Heat and thermodynamics. (Je '44)

Heat and thermodynamics. Zemansky, M. W. (Je '44)

Heaven below. Clayton, E. H. (S '44)

Heaven is for the angels. Schrott, E. (Ap '44)

Heaven is too high. McNeilly, M. M. (My '44)

Helena (cruiser)
Morris, C. G. and Cave, H. B. Fightin'est ship. (Ag '44)

Helicopters
Gregory, H. F. Anything a horse can do. (O '44)
Macauley, C. B. F. Helicopters are coming. (Ap '44)
Nikolsky, A. A. Notes on helicopter design theory. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Helicopters are coming. Macauley, C. B. F. (Ap '44)

Helldiver squadron. Olds, R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Helmets and lipstick. Haskell, R. G. (My '44)

Helmont, Jean Baptiste van
Pagel, W. Religious and philosophical aspects of van Helmont's science and medicine. (D '44)

Henry, O., pseud. See Porter, W. S.

Henson, Herbert Hensley
Henson, H. H. Retrospect of an unimportant life, v 2. (Ag '44)

Here comes daddy. Milius, W. (D '44)

Here comes Pete. Clymer, E. (My '44)

Here comes tomorrow. Zelomek, A. W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Here's a Penny. Haywood, C. (O '44)

Here's how to fly. Paust, G. H. (D '44)

Heritage of Spain. Adams, N. B. (Ap '44)

Heroes
Bentley, E. R. Century of hero-worship. (N '44)

Heroes of the Pacific. Shane, T. (Je '44)

He's in the artillery now. Smith, C. P. (Ap '44)

He's in the cavalry now. Ramey, R. S. (S '44)

He's in the destroyers now. Exton, W. (My '44)

He's in the sub-busters now. Rathbone, A. D. (Ap '44)

Heyday of a wizard. Burton, J. (My '44)

Hi Guy, the Cinderella horse. Brown, P. (D '44)

Hidden faces. Dali, S. (Ag '44)

High pavement. Eng title of: Old Mrs Camelot. Carter, F. W. (N '44)

High prairie. Havighurst, W., and Boyd, M. M. (Ag '44)

High tide at noon. Ogilvie, E. (My '44)

High time. Lasswell, M. (N '44)

Highroads of the universe. Johnson, J. G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Highview mystery. Keating, L. A. (Ag '44)

Highway to Alaska. Lanks, H. C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Hiker's handbook. Leechman, J. D. (Je '44)

Hippocrates
Edelstein, L. Hippocratic oath. (D '44)

Hippocratic oath. Edelstein, L. (D '44)

Historians

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc

Coulton, G. G. Fourscore years. (Ag '44)

Historical atlas of the United States. Lord, C. L. and E. H. (My '44)

Historical geology. Hussey, R. C. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Historical societies
Dunlap, L. W. American historical societies. (D '44)
History, Modern
Soward, F. H. Twenty-five troubled years, 1918-1943. (S '44)
History, Universal
Kahler, E. Man the measure. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Key to the universe. (Je '44)
Watts, F., ed. Voices of history, 1941-1944. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Juvenile literature

Foster, G. S. Abraham Lincoln's world. (N '44)
History and technique of old master drawings. De Tolnay, C. (Mr '44)
History of deeds done beyond the sea. 2v. William, abp of Tyre. (N '44)
History of Latin America for schools. Inman, S. G., and Castañeda, C. E. (O '44)
History of Rome Hanks. Pennell, J. S. (S '44)
History of Rome to 565 A.D. Boak, A. E. R. (Ag '44)
History of the expansion of Christianity: v6, Great century in northern Africa. Latourette, K. S. (My '44)
History of the new deal, 1933-1938. Rauch, B. (D '44)
Hitler, Adolf
Heiden, K. Der Fuehrer. (Mr '44)

Cartoons, satire, etc.

Klein, A. M. Hitleriad. (N '44)

Fiction

Beymer, W. G. 12:20 P.M. (D '44)
Young, M. Trial of Adolf Hitler. (My '44)
Hitleriad. Klein, A. M. (N '44)
Hitler's generals. Hart, W. E. (Je '44)
Hitler's words. Hitler, A. (S '44)
Hoisting machinery
Hudson, W. G. Conveyors and related equipment. (O '44)
Holidays
Jagendorf, M. A., comp. 25 non-royalty holiday plays. (Ag '44)
Hollow men. Hutchison, B. (N '44)
Hollywood hallucination. Tyler, P. (Je '44)
Holmes, Oliver Wendell, 1841-1935
Bowen, C. S. D. Yankee from Olympus. (My '44)
Holmes family
Bowen, C. S. D. Yankee from Olympus. (My '44)
Holton, Edith Austin
Holton, E. A. Yankees were like this. (O '44)
Home, Daniel Dunglas
Burton, J. Heyday of a wizard. (My '44]
Home canning made easy. Williams, M. J. (Ag '44)
Home economics
Mezerik, A. G. Care and repair of buildings and equipment. (Ag '44)
Home sweet homicide. Rice, C. (Mr '44)
Home university encyclopedia. (O '44)
Homer, Winslow
Goodrich, L. Winslow Homer. (N '44)
Homer's hill. Hayes, M. (Ap '44)
Homeward the heart. Mackay, M. M. (Je '44)
Homicide squad. Collins, F. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hooker, Joseph
Hebert, W. H. Fighting Joe Hooker. (D '44)
Hooker's holiday. Bronson, W. S. (N '44)
Hopkins, Gerard Manley
Ruggles, E. Gerard Manley Hopkins. (S '44)
Hormones
Vitamins and hormones, v 1. (Je '44)
Hornets. See Wasps
Hornets' nest. Fischer, B. (Ap '44)
Horse in Greek art. Markman, S. D. (S '44)
Horse that lived upstairs. McGinley, P. (D '44)
Horsemanship
Anderson, C. W. Heads up—heels down. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Horses
Hogner, D. C. Our American horse. (S '44)
Knott, M. O., and Cooper, P. Gone away with O'Malley. (D '44)

Legends and stories

Brown, M. W. Horses. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Brown, P. Hi Guy, the Cinderella horse. (D '44)
Kalashnikoff, N. Jumper. (D '44)
Horses. Brown, M. W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Horses in art
Markman, S. D. Horse in Greek art. (S '44)
Hospital in modern society. Bachmeyer, A. C., and Hartman, G. G. F., eds. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Hospitals
Bachmeyer, A. C., and Hartman, G. G. F., eds. Hospital in modern society. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Management and regulation

Southmayd, H. J., and Smith, G. Small community hospitals. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hotel Berlin '43. Baum, V. (My '44)
Hour of triumph. Eliot, G. F. (My '44)
House decoration
Robsjohn-Gibbings, T. H. Good-bye, Mr. Chippendale. (My '44)
Spears, R. W. Make and remodel home furnishings. (S '44)
Terhune, F. B. Decorating for you. (Je '44)
The house. Allee, M. H. (D '44)
House of cobwebs. Reisner, M. (My '44)
House of Macmillan. Morgan, C. (Ag '44)
House plants
Jenkins, D. H., and Wilson, H. V. Enjoy your house plants. (O '44)
Post, K. Plants and flowers in the home. (S '44)
House that hate built. Mason, S. E. (S '44)
House with the green tree. Lindemann, K. (S '44)
Housing
Straus, N. Seven myths of housing. (Mr '44)
Twentieth century fund, inc. Housing committee. American housing, problems and prospects. (S '44)
Violich, F. Cities of Latin America. (O '44)
Zucker, P., ed. New architecture and city planning. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Los Angeles

Hanson, E., and Beckett, P. Los Angeles. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Houston, Samuel

Juvenile literature

Stevenson, A. Sam Houston, boy chieftain. (Ag '44)
How dear to my heart. Kimbrough, E. (D '44)
How many? Flory, J. (N '44)
How Nazi Germany has controlled business. Hamburger, L. (Je '44)
How new will the better world be? Becker, C. L. (Ap '44)
How planes get there. Chapelle, G. L. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
How to develop your executive ability. Starch, D. (Ag '44)
How to edit an employee publication. Bentley, G. (My '44)
How to end the German menace. (O '44)
How to live in the country without farming. Wend, M. (My '44)
How to live on a hunch. Sims, D. R. (My '44)
How to operate a lathe. Shuman, J. T., and Bardo, L. H. (D '44)
How to pass radio license examinations. Drew, C. E. (O '44)
How to raise your puppy. Atkinson, M. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
How to run a sales meeting. Hegarty, E. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
How to speak in public. Wright, C. W. (Ap '44)
How to survive on land and sea. United States. Office of naval operations. Aviation training division. (O '44)
How to tell progress from reaction. Gordon, M. (N '44)
How to think about war and peace. Adler, M. J. (Mr '44)

How to use letters in college public relations. Butterfield, W. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
How we live. Clark, F. G., and Rimanoczy, R. S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Howard, Guy
  Howard, G. Walkin' preacher of the Ozarks. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Howe, Mrs Julia (Ward)
Juvenile literature
  Tharp, L. H. Sounding trumpet. (Je '44)
Hue and cry. Dewey, T. B. (D '44)
Humanism
20th century
  Reiser, O. L., and Davies, B. Planetary democracy. (N '44)
Humanities
  Foerster, N., ed. Humanities after the war. (Ag '44)
Humanities after the war. Foerster, N., ed. (Ag '44)
Humor
  Cerf, B. A., comp. Try and stop me. (D '44)
  Heimer, M. L. World ends at Hoboken. (N '44)
  Leon, B. Two girls on a ladder. (O '44)
  Mario, T. Face in the aspic. (Ap '44)
  Perelman, S. J. Crazy like a fox. (Ag '44)
  Sims, D. R. How to live on a hunch. (My '44)
  Smith, H. A. Lost in the horse latitudes. (D '44)
  Taylor, F. C. You wouldn't know me from Adam. (Je '44)
Humor, Pictorial
  Arno, P. Man in the shower. (N '44)
  Coe, R. Little scouts in action. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Dahl, F. W. What! more Dahl? (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Goldberg, R. L. Plan for the post-war world. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Hoff, S. Feeling no pain. (D '44)
  Leisk, D. J. Barnaby and Mr O'Malley. (O '44)
  Partch, V. F. It's hot in here. (Ag '44)
  Price, G. Is it anyone we know? (D '44)
  Rea, G. Gentleman says it's pixies. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Reyher, R., ed. Stork run. (Ag '44)
  Reynolds, L. I feel like a cad. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Saturday evening post (periodical). Laugh it off. (N '44)
  Steig, W. All embarrassed. (S '44)
  Steig, W. Small fry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Taylor, R. D. Better Taylors. (D '44)
Humpty Dumpty and other Mother Goose songs. Rey, H. A. (Ap '44)
Hundred dresses. Estes, E. (D '44)
Hunted. Guérard, A. J. (Mr '44)
Hunting
  Hagie, C. E. American rifle for hunting and target shooting. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Schaldach, W. J. Coverts and casts. (Mr '44)
Africa
  Waldeck, T. J. Treks across the veldt. (Ag '44)
Siberia
  Swenson, O. Northwest of the world. (My '44)
West
  Stevens, M. F. S. Meet Mr Grizzly. (Je '44)
Huron, Lake
  Landon, F. Lake Huron. (My '44)
Husserl, Edmund
  Farber, M. Foundation of phenomenology. (S '44)
Hydraulics
  Graham, F. D. Audels pumps, hydraulics, air compressors. (Ap '44)
Hydrogen sulfide
  Seil, G. E. Gas chemists' manual of dry box purification of gas. (Je '44)
Hygiene
  Ackerman, L. Health and hygiene. (S '44)
  Emerson, W. R. P. Health for the having. (Ap '44)
  Fishbein, M., and Irwin, L. W. Health and first aid. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Girl's daily life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Johnson, H. J. Invitation to health. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Study and teaching
  Leonard, M. L. Health counseling for girls. (O '44)
Hygiene, Industrial
  Kuhn, H. S. Industrial ophthalmology. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Wampler, F. J., ed. Principles and practice of industrial medicine. (My '44)
Hypnotism
  Lindner, R. M. Rebel without a cause. (S '44)
  Salter, A. What is hypnosis? (S '44)

I feel like a cad. Reynolds, L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
I got a country. Gabriel, G. W. (O '44)
I had a penny. Chalmers, A. (N '44)
I hate actors! Hecht, B. (O '44)
I lied to live. Janta-Połczynski, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
I like trains. Woolley, C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
I lived with Latin Americans. Strohm, J. L. (Mr '44)
I love books. Snider, J. D. (S '44)
I never left home. Hope, B. (S '44)
I retire to Cape Cod. Tarbell, A. W. (N '44)
I see a new China. Hogg, G. A. (S '44)
I spy. Beistle, A. S. (O '44)
I want to fly. Brenner, A. (Ag '44)
I wanted to see. Dahl, B. M. (Ap '44)
I went to the Soviet Arctic. Gruber, R. (D '44)
Idea of nationalism. Kohn, H. (Je '44)
Ideal foundations of economic thought. Stark, W. (S '44)
Idealism
  Bingham, A. M. Practice of idealism. (My '44)
  Laird, J. Mind and deity. (D '44)
Ideas in America. Jones, H. M. (S '44)
If this be treason. Echard, M. (N '44)
Igor's summer. Beim, L. L. and J. (Je '44)
Iliad; tr. by Smith and Miller. Homer. (N '44)
Illustrated aviation encyclopedia. Aviation research associates, incorporated. (O '44)
Illustrated encyclopedia of American birds. Hausman, L. A. (Je '44)
Illustrated technical dictionary. Newmark, M. (Je '44)
Imaginary interviews. Gide, A. P. G. (N '44)
Immortal wife. Stone, I. (N '44)
Immortality
  Stevens, W. O. Beyond the sunset. (D '44)
Impressionism (art)
  French impressionists and their contemporaries represented in American collections. (N '44)
In quest of a kingdom. Weatherhead, L. D. (My '44)
In secret battle. Lipton, L. (D '44)
In the forest. Ets, M. H. (N '44)
In the morning of the world. Lowrey, J. S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
In the name of the bee. Power, M. J. (My '44)
In this our day. Pierce, E. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
In Voytus' little house. Porazinska, J. (N '44)
In what torn ship. Eaton, E. S. M. (S '44)
Inch of time. Schmidt, J. N. (Mr '44)
Income
  Machlup, F. International trade and the national income multiplier. (Ag '44)
  Slichter, S. H. Present savings and postwar markets. (O '44)
Incomplete anglers. Robins, J. D. (Ag '44)
Index fossils of North America. Shimer, H. W., and Shrock, R. R. (D '44)
India
  Hartog, M. H. K. India in outline. (S '44)
  Hoyland, J. S. Indian crisis. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Moraes, F. R., and Stimson, R. Introduction to India. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Muir, P. This is India. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Wheeler, P. India against the storm. (Mr '44)
Civilization
  Nichols, B. Verdict on India. (D '44)
Description and travel
  Nichols, B. Verdict on India. (D '44)

History
Goshal, K. People of India. (Ag '44)
Thompson, E. J. Making of the Indian princes. (Ag '44)

Juvenile literature
Boulter, H. W. India. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Kings and rulers
Thompson, E. J. Making of the Indian princes. (Ag '44)

Politics and government
Coatman, J. India. (Je '44)
Coupland, R. Indian problem. (O '44)
Goshal, K. People of India. (Ag '44)
Gunther, F. F. Revolution in India. (S '44)
Wheeler, P. India against the storm. (Mr '44)

Social conditions
Emerson, G. Voiceless India. (S '44)

Social life and customs
Emerson, G. Voiceless India. (S '44)

India. Boulter, H. W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
India. Coatman, J. (Je '44)
India against the storm. Wheeler, P. (Mr '44)
India in outline. Hartog, M. H. K. (S '44)
Indian crisis. Hoyland, J. S. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Indian in American life. Lindquist, G. E. E., and others. (Je '44)
Indian problem. Coupland, R. (O '44)
Indians are people, too. Bronson, R. M. (O '44)

Indians of North America
Bronson, R. M. Indians are people, too. (O '44)
Lindquist, G. E. E., and others. Indian in American life. (Je '44)

Religion and mythology
Oakes, M. Where the two came to their father. (Je '44)

Wars
Rister, C. C. Border command. (Je '44)

Delaware
Weslager, C. A. Delaware's buried past. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Indo-China, French
Robequain, C. Economic development of French Indo-China. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Industrial arts
Fleddérus, M. L., and Van Kleeck, M. Technology and livelihood. (My '44)

Study and teaching
Jackey, D. F., and Barlow, M. L. Craftsman prepares to teach. (My '44)

Industrial chemistry. Read, W. T. (Ap '44)
Industrial electronic control. Cockerell, W. D. (S '44)

Industrial management
Knowles, A. S., and Thomson, R. D. Industrial management. (My '44)

Industrial ophthalmology. Kuhn, H. S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Industrial radiology and related phenomena. Muncheryan, H. M. (Je '44)

Industrial relations
McIver, M. E., and others, eds. Technologists' stake in the Wagner act. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wolff, J. L. Production conference. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Industrial research
Kottke, F. J. Electrical technology and the public interest. (D '44)

Industry

Organization, control, etc.
Alford, L. P., and Bangs, J. R., eds. Production handbook. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Rautenstrauch, W. Principles of modern industrial organization. (Ap '44)

Postwar organization
Kaplan, A. D. H. Liquidation of war production. (O '44)

Industry and state
Mises, L. von. Bureaucracy. (N '44)
Twentieth century fund, incorporated. Power industry and the public interest. (Ag '44)

Germany
Hamburger, L. How Nazi Germany has controlled business. (Je '44)

Industry and trade
Groves, H. M. Production, jobs and taxes. (S '44)

Infants
Ribble, M. A. Rights of infants. (Ag '44)

Care and hygiene
Bundesen, H. N. Baby manual. (O '44)
Carrington, W. J. Safe convoy. (N '44)
Castallo, M. A., and Walz, A. Expectantly yours. (Je '44)
Garland, J. Youngest of the family. (Ag '44)
Whipple, D. V. Our American babies. (N '44)

Clothing
Hardy, K. Sewing for the baby. (O '44)

Diseases
Abt, I. A. Baby doctor. (Ap '44)

Nutrition
Garland, J. Youngest of the family. (Ag '44)
Senn, M. J. E., and Newill, P. K. All about feeding children. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Infants without families. Burlingham, D. T., and Freud, A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Infection and infectious diseases
Bauer, W. W. Contagious diseases. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Urban, J. Behavior changes resulting from a study of communicable diseases. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Inflation (finance)
Baxter, W. J. No inflation coming! (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Wage stabilization and inflation. (Ag '44)
Shoup, C. S., and others. Taxing to prevent inflation. (My '44)

Influence of the enlightenment on the Catholic theory of religious education in France. Elwell, C. E. (Ag '44)
Infrared spectroscopy. Barnes, R. B., and others. (Ag '44)
Inherit the earth. Shedd, M. C. (S '44)
Innocents at Cedro. Duffus, R. L. (Mr '44)
Inorganic chemistry. Ephraim, F. (Ag '44)

Insane

Care and treatment
American psychiatric association. One hundred years of American psychiatry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Crutcher, H. B. Foster home care for mental patients. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Institutions serving children. Hopkirk, H. W. (N '44)
Instrument flying and radio navigation. Redfield, H. L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Insurance, Life
McCahan, D., ed. Life insurance. (Ag '44)

Insurance, Social
Pink, L. H. Freedom from fear. (O '44)
Williams, G. R. Price of social security. (N '44)

Insurgent summer. Yarborough, C. A. (Je '44)

Intellectual cooperation
Duggan, S. P. H. Professor at large. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Kandel, I. L. Intellectual cooperation. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Intention of Jesus. Bowman, J. W. (Ag '44)

Interest (psychology)
Strong, E. K. Vocational interests of men and women. (Ag '44)

Intermediate course in differential equations. Rainville, E. D. (My '44)
Internal combustion engines. Jennings, B. H., and Obert, E. F. (O '44)
International agreements on conservation of marine resources. Tomasevich, J. (Je '44)
International bearings of American policy. Shaw, A. (Ag '44)

International cooperation
Adler, M. J. How to think about war and peace. (Mr '44)
Bartlett, R. J. League to enforce peace. (S '44)
Bush, M. E., and others. Citizen, plan for peace! (My '44)

International cooperation—Continued
  Dunn, A. Arithmetic or revolution. (S '44)
  Fike, L. R. No nation alone. (O '44)
  Fitzgibbon, R. H., ed. Global politics. (S '44)
  Fox, W. T. R. Super-powers. (S '44)
  Freud, A. World without nations. (Ja '45) (1944 Annnal)
  Friedmann, W. Crisis of the national state. (Je '44)
  Gill, C. A. World republic. (N '44)
  Harley, J. E. Woodrow Wilson still lives. (O '44)
  Huszar, G. B. de, ed. New perspectives on peace. (D '44)
  Kelsen, H. Peace through law. (D '44)
  Nash, P. C. Adventure in world order. (S '44)
  Pink, L. H. Freedom from fear. (O '44)
  Reiser, O. L., and Davies, B. Planetary democracy. (N '44)
  Sadler, W. S. Prescription for permanent peace. (N '44)
  Shotwell, J. T. Great decision. (S '44)
  Stewart, M. S. Building for peace at home and abroad. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Wynner, E., and Lloyd, G. Searchlight on peace plans. (Ag '44)
International cyclopedia of music and musicians, ed. by O. Thompson. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
International federation
  Eaton, H. O., and others. Federation. (Ap '44)
  Marriott, J. A. R. Federalism and the problem of the small state. (Ag '44)
International ladies' garment workers' union
  Pesotta, R. Bread upon the waters. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Stolberg, B. Tailor's progress. (Ag '44)
International law and relations
  Freeman, H. A., ed. Peace is the victory. (O '44)
  Garner, J. W. Studies in government and international law. (Je '44)
  Kelsen, H. Peace through law. (D '44)
  Schwarzschild, L. Primer of the coming world. (S '44)
  Sereni, A. P. Italian conception of international law. (Je '44)
International police. See Police, International
International police force. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (O '44)
International relief in action, 1914-1943. Kraus H. (S '44)
International telecommunications. Mance, H. O. (N '44)
International trade and the national income multiplier. Machlup, F. (Ag '44)
Intervention at Archangel. Strakhovsky, L. I. (My '44)
Into the jaws of death. Stern, M. (Je '44)
Intrigue for empire. Knight, K. M. (S '44)
Introducing Africa. Wells, C. (Mr '44)
Introduction to electric power systems. Tarboux, J. G. (O '44)
Introduction to exceptional children. Baker, H. J. (My '44)
Introduction to foods and nutrition. Sherman, H. C., and Lanford, C. S. (Ag '44)
Introduction to India. Moraes, F. R., and Stimson, R. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Introduction to naval architecture. Comstock, J. P. (O '44)
Introduction to navigation and nautical astronomy. Shute, W. G., and others. (Je '44)
Introduction to reference work. Hutchins, M. (D '44)
Introduction to steel shipbuilding. Baker, E. (Ap '44)
Introduction to weather and climate. Trewartha, G. T. (Ag '44)
Introductory astronomy. Sidgwick, J. B. (D '44)
Invasion! Wertenbaker, C. (O '44)
Invasion diary. Tregaskis, R. W. (O '44)
Invasion journal. Tobin, R. L. (N '44)
Inventing for fun and profit. Collins, A. F. (Ap '44)
Inventions
  Carlisle, N. V., and Latham, F. B. Miracles ahead! (Je '44)
  Collins, A. F. Inventing for fun and profit. (Ap '44)
  Cooley, D. G. Your world tomorrow. (Je '44)
    Juvenile literature
  Montgomery, E. R. Story behind great inventions. (Ja '45) (1944 Annnal)
Invertebrates, Fossil
  Shimer, H. W., and Shrock, R. R. Index fossils of North America. (D '44)
Investments
  Slichter, S. H. Present savings and postwar markets. (O '44)
Investments, Foreign
  Feis, H. Sinews of peace. (D '44)
Invitation to health. Johnson, H. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Irish poetry
    History and criticism
  Alspach, R. K. Irish poetry from the English invasion to 1798. (My '44)
Irish poetry from the English invasion to 1798. Alspach, R. K. (My '44)
Iron
    Metallurgy
  Teichert, E. J. Ferrous metallurgy. (Je '44)
Irving, Washington
    Juvenile literature
  Benét, L. Washington Irving, explorer of American legend. (D '44)
Is it anyone we know? Price, G. (D '44)
The island. Merillat, H. L. (D '44)
Island in the sky. Gann, E. K. (S '44)
Island of Desire. Frisbie, R. D. (S '44)
Island on the beam. Blackstock, J. (Ag '44)
Islands of the East Indies. Daniel, H. (O '44)
Islands of the Pacific
  Osborn, F., ed. Pacific world. (S '44)
  Price, W. D. Japan's islands of mystery. (My '44)
It all goes together. Gill, E. (Ag '44)
It all happened once before. Smith, R. L. (D '44)
It can be done this time. Palmer, F. (O '44)
It was not my own idea. Pierce, R. (D '44)
Italian conception of international law. Sereni, A. P. (Je '44)
Italians in the United States
  Whyte, W. F. Street corner society. (Ap '44)
Italy
    Civilization
  Sforza, C. Contemporary Italy. (Ap '44)
    Description and travel
  Gatti, A. Mediterranean spotlights. (D '44)
    Fascist movement
  Serner, G. Twilight of the gladiators. (S '44)
    Foreign relations
  Sereni, A. P. Italian conception of international law. (Je '44)
    History
  Sforza, C. Contemporary Italy. (Ap '44)
  Sprigge, C. J. S. Development of modern Italy. (Je '44)
    Politics and government
  Sereni, A. P. Italian conception of international law. (Je '44)
  Sforza, C. Contemporary Italy. (Ap '44)
  Sprigge, C. J. S. Development of modern Italy. (Je '44)
It's a wise parent. Smart, M. S. and R. C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
It's a woman's world. Harper's bazaar. (My '44)
It's all politics. Abrahams, L. (D '44)
It's always tomorrow. St John, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
It's hot in here. Partch, V. F. (Ag '44)
It's my own funeral. Lyon, D. (Ap '44)
It's time to say goodbye. Moore, I. (My '44)
Ivan, the iron horse. Rohmer, A. E. (N '44)

Jack-in-the-box. Stewart, A. W. (Mr '44)
Jacobowsky and the colonel [original play, pub. by Viking]. Werfel, F. V. (S '44)
Jacobowsky and the colonel [adapted by] S. N. Behrman. Werfel, F. V. (S '44)
Jails. Robinson, L. N. (Je '44)
James, brother of the Lord
    Fiction
  Wilson, D. C. The brother. (Je '44)

James, Henry
Matthiessen, F. O. Henry James: the major phase. (D '44)
Japan
Brines, R. Until they eat stones. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Morris, J. Traveller from Tokyo. (S '44)
Morrison, I. Our Japanese foe. (Ap '44)
Civilization
Lamott, W. C. Nippon. (Ag '44)
Colonies
Price, W. D. Japan's islands of mystery. (My '44)
Economic conditions
Moulton, H. G., and Marlio, L. Control of Germany and Japan. (N '44)
Smith, G. H., and others. Japan. (Je '44)
Foreign relations
Haven, V. S. Gentlemen of Japan. (N '44)
Netherlands Indies
Mook, H. J. van. Netherlands Indies and Japan. (S '44)
United States
Grew, J. C. Ten years in Japan. (Je '44)
History
Sansom, G. B. Japan. (Je '44)
Industries and resources
Carus, C. D., and McNichols, C. L. Japan. (Je '44)
Navy
Launer, J. Enemies' fighting ships. (My '44)
Politics and government
Grew, J. C. Ten years in Japan. (Je '44)
Haven, V. S. Gentleman of Japan. (N '44)
Japan. Carus, C. D., and McNichols, C. L. (Je '44)
Japan. Sansom, G. B. (Je '44)
Japanese in Korea
Harrington, F. H. God, mammon, and the Japanese. (My '44)
Japanese in the United States
McWilliams, C. Prejudice. (N '44)
Japan's islands of mystery. Price, W. D. (My '44)
Japan's secret weapon. Newman, B. M. (N '44)
Jaures, Jean Leon
Jackson, J. H. Jean Jaurès. (Ag '44)
Jazz. Goffin, R. (Ap '44)
Jazz book. Esquire (periodical). (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Jazz music
Esquire (periodical). Jazz book. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Goffin, R. Jazz. (Ap '44)
Jeanne d'Arc, Saint
Riggs, T. L. Saving angel. (S '44)
Jefferson, Thomas
Koch, A. Philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Mott, F. L. Jefferson and the press. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Jefferson and the press. Mott, F. L. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Jefferson Davis and his cabinet. Patrick, R. W. (D '44)
Jenny kissed me. Fenisong, R. (My '44)
Jenny, the bus that nobody loved. Dolbier, M. (N '44)
Jerry Jake carries on. Justus, M. (Ag '44)
Jesus Christ
Eddy, G. S. Portrait of Jesus. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Kepler, T. S., comp. Contemporary thinking about Jesus. (My '44)
Woods, R. L., ed. Behold the Man. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Art
Crite, A. R. Were you there when they crucified my Lord? (D '44)
Biography
Cutler, E. They told about Jesus. (D '44)
Lowrie, W. Short story of Jesus. (Ap '44)
Childhood
Kirkland, W. M. Discovering the Boy of Nazareth. (Ag '44)
Crucifixion
Crite, A. R. Were you there when they crucified my Lord? (D '44)
Spellman, F. J. Risen soldier. (Je '44)
Poetry
Miller, M. B. Crucifixion. (My '44)
Fiction
Perkins, J. R. Emperor's physician. (S '44)
Juvenile literature
Jones, M. A. Tell me about Jesus. (D '44)
Shinn, E., il. Christ story. (Ap '44)
Person and offices
Bowman, J. W. Intention of Jesus. (Ag '44)
Sharman, H. B. Son of man. (My '44)
Teaching
Curtis, W. A. Jesus Christ the teacher. (Ag '44)
Jesus Christ the teacher. Curtis, W. A. (Ag '44)
Jethro Hammer. Rice, C. (S '44)
Jew in our day. Frank, W. D. (O '44)
Jews
Eakin, M. O. M. Getting acquainted with Jewish neighbors. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Frank, W. D. Jew in our day. (O '44)
History
Elbogen, I. Century of Jewish life. (N '44)
Smith, R. L. It all happened once before. (D '44)
Juvenile literature
Alofsin, D. Stream of Jewish life. (My '44)
Political and social conditions
Gittelsohn, R. B. Modern Jewish problems. (My '44)
Hecht, B. Guide for the bedevilled. (My '44)
Livingston, S. Must men hate? (S '44)
Religion
Wright, G. E. Challenge of Israel's faith. (S '44)
Jews in Germany
Bienenfeld, F. R. Germans and the Jews. (N '44)
Jews in Palestine
Samuel, M. Harvest in the desert. (S '44)
Jews in Poland
Black book of Polish Jewry. (Mr '44)
Jews in the United States
Frank, W. D. Jew in our day. (O '44)
Jezebel the jeep. Downey, F. D. (Ag '44)
Jigger Moran. Roeburt, J. (Ag '44)
Jitter run. Germann, R. F. (Mr '44)
Joan chooses occupational therapy. Cobb, M. R., and Hudson, H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Joanna. Ashton, H. (O '44)
Joanna at Littlefold. Eng title of: Joanna. Ashton, H. (O '44)
Job analysis
Barnes, R. M. Work methods manual. (Je '44)
Gray, R. D. Systematic wage administration in the southern California aircraft industry. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Jobs for the physically handicapped. Neuschutz, L. M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
John of the Cross, Saint (Juan de Yeppes)
George, R. E. G. Carmelite and poet. (Je '44)
Peers, E. A. Spirit of flame. (Mr '44)
Johnnie. Hughes, D. B. F. (S '44)
Johnny Painter. Pettibone, A. (D '44)
Johnson, Burges
Johnson, B. As much as I dare. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Johnson, Samuel
Krutch, J. W. Samuel Johnson. (D '44)
Joseph (patriarch)
Fiction
Mann, T. Joseph the provider. (S '44)
Joseph the provider. Mann, T. (S '44)

Journal of Madame Giovanni. Dumas, A. (Mr '44)
Journalism
  Kobre, S. Development of the colonial newspaper. (N '44)
  Mott, F. L., ed. Journalism in wartime. (O '44)
  Mott, F. L. Jefferson and the press. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Juvenile literature
  Burt, O. W. Peter's story goes to press. (Ap '44)
Journalism in wartime. Mott, F. L., ed. (O '44)
Journalists
  Fisher, C. Columnists. (My '44)
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Gayn, M. J. Journey from the East. (My '44)
  Hiett, H. No matter where. (My '44)
  Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Manning, M. Ladies now and then. (Je '44)
  Parsons, L. O. Gay illiterate. (Mr '44)
  Riess, C., ed. They were there. (S '44)
  Smith, H. A. Lost in the horse latitudes. (D '44)
Journey from the East. Gayn, M. J. (My '44)
Journey into the fog. Goodhue, C. (Mr '44)
Journey through chaos. Meyer, A. E. E. (O '44)
Journey to work. Liepmann, K. K. (S '44)
Joyce, James
Finnegans Wake
  Campbell, J., and Robinson, H. M. Skeleton key to Finnegans wake. (S '44)
Juan de Yeppes. See John of the Cross, Saint
Juba's new moon. McMeekin, I. M. (D '44)
Jumbee, and other uncanny tales. Whitehead, H. S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Jumper. Kalashnikoff, N. (D '44)
Juridical folklore in England. Spargo, J. W. (S '44)
Just Mary stories. Grannan, M. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Justice
  Stapleton, L. Justice and world society. (S '44)
Justice and world society. Stapleton, L. (S '44)

Katy no-pocket. Payne, E. (O '44)
Keats, John
  Birkenhead, S. B. S. Against oblivion. (S '44)
  Ford, G. H. Keats and the Victorians. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Keats and the Victorians. Ford, G. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Keep the peace through air power. Michie, A. A. (S '44)
Keep them laughing. Geister, E. (D '44)
Keeping your church informed. Brodie, W. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Kempe, Margery
  Kempe, M. B. Book of Margery Kempe. (O '44)
Key. Wentworth, P. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Key to the universe. (Je '44)
Keys to the house. Marion, E. (My '44)
Killing the goose. Lockridge, F. L. D. and R. (Mr '44)
King, William Lyon Mackenzie
  Ludwig, E. Mackenzie King. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual
King liveth. Farnol, J. (Je '44)
King tree. Boecop-Malye, M. T. C. (Mr '44)
Kingdom of God
  Sharman, H. B. Son of man. (My '44)
  Weatherhead, L. D. In quest of a kingdom. (My '44)
Kiss and tell. Herbert, F. H. (Ag '44)
Kitchens near and far. Smith, H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Kitty come down. Bacon, F. E. A. (Je '44)
Knife will fall. Cumberland, M. (S '44)
Knots and splices
  Ashley, C. W. Ashley book of knots. (S '44)
Knott, Middleton O'Malley
  Knott, M. O., and Cooper, P. Gone away with O'Malley. (D '44)
Know your hay fever. Sperling, A. P. (My '44)
Know your merchandise. Wingate, I. B., and others. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Knudson, Albert Cornelius
  Brightman, E. S., ed. Personalism in theology. (D '44)
Kongo, Belgian
  Gatti, E. M. W. Exploring we would go. (Je '44)
Korea
  Grajdanzev, A. J. Modern Korea. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Oliver, R. T. Korea. (N '44)
Foreign relations
  Harrington, F. H. God, mammon, and the Japanese. (My '44)

Labor (obstetrics)
  Read, G. D. Childbirth without fear. (My '44)
Labor and laboring classes
  Gordon, M. How to tell progress from reaction. (N '44)
Statistics
  Special libraries association. Social science group. Source list of selected labor statistics. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Transportation
  Liepmann, K. K. Journey to work. (S '44)
China
  Shih, K. China enters the machine age. (D '44)
New York (state)
  Hurwitz, H. L. Theodore Roosevelt and labor in New York state. (Je '44)
Shanghai
  Hinder, E. M. Life and labour in Shanghai. (N '44)
United States
  Lahne, H. J. Cotton mill worker. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Northrup, H. R. Organized labor and the Negro. (My '44)
  Patterson, S. H. Social aspects of industry. (O '44)
  Pesotta, R. Bread upon the waters. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Labor baron. Wechsler, J. A. (S '44)
Labor courts
  Braun, K. Settlement of industrial disputes. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Labor in America. Faulkner, H. U., and Starr, M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Labor laws and legislation
  Lorch, A. Trends in European social legislation between the two world wars. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States
  McIver, M. E., and others, eds. Technologists' stake in the Wagner act. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Labor lawyer. Waldman, L. (O '44)
Labor supply
  Williams, G. R. Price of social security. (N '44)
Labor turnover
  Myers, C. A., and Maclaurin, W. R. Movement of factory workers. (S '44)
Laboratory manual of spot tests. Feigl, F. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Labyrinth. Roberts, C. (Je '44)
Ladies now and then. Manning, M. (Je '44)
Lady and the arsenic. Long, G. M. V. C. (Mr '44)
Lady of night. Barry, J. (Mr '44)
Lafarge, Mme Marie Fortunee (Cappelle) Pouch
Fiction
  Long, G. M. V. C. Lady and the arsenic. (Mr '44)
Laffy of the navy salvage divers. Vinton, I. (N '44)
Lainez, Diego
  Fichter, J. H. James Laynez, Jesuit. (S '44)
Lake Huron. Landon, F. (My '44)
Lake Michigan. Quaife, M. M. (O '44)

Lake Superior. Nute, G. L. (S '44)
Lamb, Charles
Howe, W. D. Charles Lamb and his friends. (Ap '44)
Land divided. Mack, G. (My '44)
Land I have chosen. Berlin, E. (S '44)
Land of Prester John. Sanceau, E. (Je '44)
Land of the free. Hockett, H. C., and Schlesinger, A. M. (N '44)
Land of the Russian people. Nazaroff, A. I. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Land of unlikeness. Lowell, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Land of William of Orange. Barnouw, A. J. (Je '44)
Land tenure
Tucker, G. M. For the good of all. (O '44)
Land utilization
Graham, E. H. Natural principles of land use. (Ag '44)
Land we live on. Fenton, C. L. and M. A. (S '44)
Lands and peoples. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lands away. Marlatt, E. B. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Landslide. Gilbert, S. (Mr '44)
Language and languages
Bodmer, F. Loom of language. (Ap '44)
Pei, M. A. Languages for war and peace. (My '44)
Languages and press of Africa. MacDougald, D. (N '44)
Languages for war and peace. Pei, M. A. (My '44)
Laplace transformation
Churchill, R. V. Modern operational mathematics in engineering. (O '44)
Last cruise of the Jeannette. Montgomery, R. G. (S '44)
Last poems. Branch, A. H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Last secret. Leffingwell, A. (Mr '44)
Last voyage of the Quien Sabe. Skattebol, L. (O '44)
Latchstring out. Banér, S. V. (My '44)
Lathe operations. King, L. E. (Je '44)
Lathes
King, L. E. Lathe operations. (Je '44)
Shuman, J. T., and Bardo, L. H. How to operate a lathe. (D '44)
Stieri, E. Engine lathe. (O '44)
Latin America
Arciniegas, G., ed. Green continent. (O '44)
Cutright, P., and others. Latin America. (S '44)

Civilization

Crawford, W. R. Century of Latin-American thought. (N '44)

Description and travel

Severin, K. and Sorsby, L. To the south. (D '44)
Strohm, J. L. I lived with Latin Americans. (Mr '44)

Economic conditions

Rippy, J. F. Latin America and the industrial age. (S '44)

Foreign relations
United States

Herring, H. C. America and the Americas. (D '44)
Sands, W. F., and Lalley, J. M. Our jungle diplomacy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stuart, G. H. Latin America and the United States. (Ap '44)

History

Inman, S. G., and Castañeda, C. E. History of Latin America for schools. (O '44)

Industries and resources

Rippy, J. F. Latin America and the industrial age. (S '44)

Intellectual life

Crawford, W. R. Century of Latin-American thought. (N '44)

Juvenile literature

Brown, H. M., and Bailey, H. M. Our Latin American neighbors. (D '44)

Latin America. Cutright, P., and others. (S '44)
Latin America and the industrial age. Rippy, J. F. (S '44)
Latin America and the United States. Stuart, G. H. (Ap '44)
Laugh it off. Saturday evening post (periodical). (N '44)
Laughter of my father. Bulosan, C. (My '44)
Laundry
Ahern, E. New washday. (S '44)
Lautaro, Araucanian chief

Juvenile literature

Alegria, F. Lautaro. (D '44)
Lautaro. Alegria, F. (D '44)
Laval, Pierre
Géraud, A. Gravediggers of France. (O '44)
Lavender cat. Lowrey, J. S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Law
Pound, R. Task of law. (O '44)

Philosophy

Stapleton, L. Justice and world society. (S '44)
Lawful action of state military forces. Beckwith, E. R., and others. (S '44)
Layman's guide to naval strategy, 3d ed. See Brodie, B. Guide to naval strategy. (D '44)
Laynez, James. See Lainez, Diego
Leadership
Baxter, B., and Cassidy, R. F. Group experience. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Laird, D. A. and E. C. L. Technique of building personal leadership. (O '44)
Leadership and isolation. Jennings, H. H. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
League of nations
Bonsal, S. Unfinished business. (Mr '44)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Reconstituting the League of nations. (Mr '44)
League to enforce peace
Bartlett, R. J. League to enforce peace. (S '44)
Leaning tower. Porter, K. A. (O '44)
Learning, Psychology of
Burton, W. H. Guidance of learning activities. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Urban, J. Behavior changes resulting from a study of communicable diseases. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Least of these. Dale, C. (O '44)
Least squares
Deming, W. E. Statistical adjustment of data. (Ag '44)
Leather man. Goldstone, L. A. (D '44)
Leathernecks come through. Willard, W. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Leave her to heaven. Williams, B. A. (Ag '44)
Lebanon. Miller, C. P. (S '44)
Lectures on the inorganic nutrition of plants. Hoagland, D. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lee's lieutenants; v. 3, Gettysburg to Appomattox. Freeman, D. S. (N '44)
Left hand, right hand! Sitwell, O. (Je '44)
Legends

United States

Blair, W. Tall tale America. (N '44)
Legion of the lost. Creasey, J. (D '44)
Legislative bodies
Clarke, M. P. Parliamentary privilege in the American colonies. (Ap '44)
Lend-lease, weapon for victory. Stettinius, E. R. (Mr '44)
Lenin, Nikolai
Moscow. Institut Marksa-Engel'sa-Lenina. Vladimir I. Lenin. (Ap '44)
Leningrad

Siege, 1941-1944

Skomorovsky, B. A., and Morris, E. G. Siege of Leningrad. (Mr '44)
Werth, A. Leningrad. (N '44)
Leningrad. Werth, A. (N '44)
Leonardo da Vinci
Douglas, R. L. Leonardo da Vinci. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Leonowens, Mrs Anna Harriette (Crawford)
Landon, M. D. M. Anna and the King of Siam. (S '44)
Let the skeletons rattle. Davis, F. C. (Mr '44)

Let's all grow vegetables. Keen, G. G., and Hutchins, A. E. (S '44)
Let's build. Crocker, C. H. (My '44)
Let's find Skipper. Rogow, W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Let's play house. Lenski, L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Let's think about our religion. Eakin, F., and Moody, M. O. (N '44)
Letter writing
  Butterfield, W. H. How to use letters in college public relations. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lettering
  Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Modern drafting. (My '44)
Letters. Underhill, E. (Ap '44)
Letters. Woollcott, A. (S '44)
Letters home. Curtiss, M. S. K., ed. (Ag '44)
Letters, 1902-1942. Gordon, G. S. (S '44)
Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn. Wise, T. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Letters to his son Lucien. Pissarro, C. J. (S '44)
Leveller manifestoes of the Puritan revolution. Wolfe, D. M., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Levellers
  Wolfe, D. M., ed. Leveller manifestoes of the Puritan revolution. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lewin, Kurt
  Leeper, R. Lewin's topological and vector psychology. (Ag '44)
Lewin's topological and vector psychology. Leeper, R. (Ag '44)
Lewis, John Llewellyn
  Wechsler, J. A. Labor baron. (S '44)
Liana. Gellhorn, M. E. (Mr '44)
Liberalism
  Hallowell, J. H. Decline of liberalism as an ideology. (Ap '44)
  Hughes, E. J. Church and the liberal society. (My '44)
Liberty
  Berdiaev, N. A. Slavery and freedom. (O '44)
  Bernanos, G. Plea for liberty. (Ag '44)
  Conference on the scientific spirit and democratic faith. Scientific spirit and democratic faith. (N '44)
  Fraenkel, O. K. Our civil liberties. (Ag '44)
  Malinowski, B. Freedom and civilization. (D '44)
  Redden, J. D., and Ryan, F. A. Freedom through education. (D '44)
Liberty, employment and no more wars. Quinn, T. K. (Ag '44)
Liberty street. Morris, I. V. (Mr '44)
Librarians
  Salaries, pensions, etc.
  American library association. Board on salaries, staff, and tenure. Classification and pay plans for libraries in institutions of higher learning. (Ag '44)
Libraries
  American library association. Committee on post-war planning. Post-war standards for public libraries. (Je '44)
  Reference department
  Hutchins, M. Introduction to reference work. (D '44)
Libraries, University and college
  American library association. Board on salaries, staff, and tenure. Classification and pay plans for libraries in institutions of higher learning. (Ag '44)
  Barcus, T. R. Carnegie corporation and college libraries. (Ag '44)
Libraries and readers
  Carnovsky, L., and Martin, L. A., eds. Library in the community. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Library administration
  McDiarmid, E. W. and J. Administration of the American public library. (Je '44)
Library extension
  Stanford, E. B. Library extension under the WPA. (S '44)
Library extension under the WPA. Stanford, E. B. (S '44)
Library finance
  Wight, E. A. Public library finance and accounting. (My '44)
Library in the community. Carnovsky, L., and Martin, L. A., eds. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Library legislation
  Foutts, J. C., ed. American library laws. (My '44)
Library schools and training
  Metcalf, K. De W., and others. Program of instruction in library schools. (S '44)
  Reece, E. J. Programs for library schools. (Je '44)
Library science
  Davis, W. L. Pictorial library primer. (N '44)
  Rider, F. Scholar and the future of the research library. (O '44)
Lie down in darkness. Hays, H. R. (O '44)
Lieutenant Bertram. Uhse, B. (S '44)
Life
  Newton, J. F. Live, love and learn. (Ap '44)
Life and culture of Poland. Lednicki, W. (N '44)
Life and death of little Jo. Bright, R. (Mr '44)
Life and labour in Shanghai. Hinder, E. M. (N '44)
Life and works of the Honourable Robert Boyle. More, L. T. (Ap '44)
Life insurance. McCahan, D., ed. (Ag '44)
Life-saving apparatus
  Redifer, A. E. Lifeboat manual. (Je '44)
Life with Alice. Richards, R. (Je '44)
Lifeboat manual. Redifer, A. E. (Je '44)
Lifeboats
  Redifer, A. E. Lifeboat manual. (Je '44)
Lifeline. Carse, R. (Mr '44)
Life's unanswered questions. Phillips, H. C. (S '44)
Light
  Luckiesh, M. Light, vision and seeing. (D '44)
Light, vision and seeing. Luckiesh, M. (D '44)
Lighting
  Luckiesh, M. Light, vision and seeing. (D '44)
Lightning strikes once. Allan, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Limit of darkness. Hunt, H. (Je '44)
Lincoln, Abraham
  Luthin, R. H. First Lincoln campaign. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Pratt, H. E., ed. Concerning Mr Lincoln. (Je '44)
  Shutes, M. H. Lincoln and California. (Ag '44)
  Juvenile literature
  Foster, G. S. Abraham Lincoln's world. (N '44)
  Poetry
  Clark, T. C. Lincoln: fifty poems. (Ap '44)
  Portraits
  Meserve, F. H., and Sandburg, C. Photographs of Abraham Lincoln. (Mr '44)
Lincoln, Thomas
  Fiction
  Longstreth, T. M. Tad Lincoln. (S '44)
  Juvenile literature
  Friskey, M. Tad Lincoln and the green umbrella. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lincoln and California. Shutes, M. H. (Ag '44)
Lincoln: fifty poems. Clark, T. C. (Ap '44)
Lincoln library of essential information. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lincoln's daughters of mercy. Greenbie, M. L. B. (Je '44)
Lines for the canonization of Pedro Domecq. Smith, G. S. (My '44)
Ling Tang and the lucky cricket. Stafford, K. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lion rampant. Jong, L. de, and Stoppelman, J. W. F. (Mr '44)
Lionhearted. Reznikoff, C. (N '44)
Liquidation of war production. Kaplan, A. D. H. (O '44)
Listening post. Morgan, T. B. (My '44)
Listening valley. Stevenson, D. E. (O '44)
Lister, Joseph
  Truax, R. Joseph Lister. (D '44)
Literary criticism
  Atkins, J. W. H. English literary criticism. (O '44)
Literary England. Scherman, D. E. (Mr '44)

Literary fallacy. De Voto, B. A. (My '44)
Literary forgeries and mystifications
Wise, T. J. Letters of Thomas J. Wise to John Henry Wrenn. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Literary landmarks

Great Britain
Scherman, D. E. Literary England. (Mr '44)
Literature
Altrocchi, R. Sleuthing in the stacks. (S '44)
Marlatt, E. B. Lands away. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
History and criticism
Donohue, J. J. Theory of literary kinds. (S '44)
Literature, Comparative
Gohdes, C. L. F. American literature in nineteenth-century England. (Ag '44)
LeComte, E. S. Endymion in England. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lithographs
Daumier, H. V., il. Married life. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Little anthology of Canadian poets. Gustafson, R., ed. (Ap '44)
Little Bear's pinto pony. Tousey, S. (My '44)
Little book of colors. Fish, H. D. (D '44)
Little champion. Riggs, I. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Little chicken. Brown, M. W. (Ap '44)
Little Choo Choo. Sterling, H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Little coquette. McCormick, R. de F. (S '44)
Little Jonathan. Mason, M. E. (N '44)
Little scouts in action. Coe, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Little stone house. Hader, B. H. and E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Liturgies
Palmer, A. W., ed. Aids to worship. (N '44)
Live, love and learn. Newton, J. F. (Ap '44)
Living abundantly. Page, K., ed. (O '44)
Living mathematics reviewed. Sommers, H. H. (O '44)
Living zestfully. Chappell, C. G. (Ag '44)
Lizzie. Justus, M. (Ag '44)
Lock, stock and barrel. Rigby, D. and E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Locomotives
Johnson, R. P. Steam locomotive. (S '44)
Lodge, Henry Cabot
Schriftgiesser, K. Gentleman from Massachusetts: Henry Cabot Lodge. (O '44)
Log of a sea captain's daughter. Snow, A. R. (N '44)
Logger's odyssey. Nord, S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Logging chance. Lasher, M. H. (S '44)
Loisy, Alfred Firmin
Petre, M. D. M. Alfred Loisy. (N '44)
London, Jack
Juvenile literature
Garst, D. S. Jack London, magnet for adventure. (D '44)
Lone journey. Eaton, J. (N '44)
Lonely boy blues. Kapelner, A. (O '44)
Long Balkan night. White, L. (Ap '44)
Long-range flight. McIntosh, C. H. (O '44)
Long trains roll. Meader, S. W. (N '44)
Look at the world. Harrison, R. E. (S '44)
Look away, look away. White, L. T. (Mr '44)
Look to the frontiers. Peattie, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Loom of language. Bodmer, F. (Ap '44)
Lord Halifax's ghost book. Halifax, C. L. W. (S '44)
Lord is a man of war. Donath, S. F. (Ap '44)
Lord of London. Burlingame, C. (D '44)
Lord's supper
Bell, B. I. Altar and the world. (My '44)
Los Angeles
Population
Hanson, E., and Beckett, P. Los Angeles. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Loss of citizenship. Cable, J. L. (Ag '44)
Lost in the horse latitudes. Smith, H. A. (D '44)
Lost island. Hall, J. N. (Ag '44)
Lost waltz. Harding, B. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Lost weekend. Jackson, C. R. (Mr '44)
Louisiana
Kane, H. T. Deep delta country. (D '44)
Love
Maurois, A. Seven faces of love. (Mr '44)
Reik, T. Psychologist looks at love. (N '44)
Love and admiration. Cooper, L. F. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Love letter from an impossible land. Meredith, W. M. (My '44)
Love letters. Massie, C. (N '44)
Loveridge, Arthur
Loveridge, A. Many happy days I've squandered. (S '44)
Love's enchantment. Ferris, H. J., comp. (O '44)
Low road. Havill, E. (Mr '44)
Lowering the voting age. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (D '44)
Lubricants and cutting oils for machine tools. Forbes, W. G. (Ap '44)
Lubrication and lubricants
Forbes, W. G. Lubricants and cutting oils for machine tools. (Ap '44)
Forbes, W. G. Lubrication of industrial and marine machinery. (Ap '44)
Lubrication of industrial and marine machinery. Forbes, W. G. (Ap '44)
Lullaby: why the pussy-cat washes himself so often. Bernhard, J. B. (S '44)
Luminescence
Pringsheim, P., and Vogel, M. Luminescence of liquids and solids. (My '44)
Luminescence of liquids and solids. Pringsheim, P., and Vogel, M. (My '44)
Lusty wind for Carolina. Fletcher, I. C. (N '44)
Lutie. Austin, M. (O '44)

Ma Wei slope. Eng title of: Winter Cherry. Lane, K. W. (N '44)
MacArthur, Douglas
Hunt, F. MacArthur and the war against Japan. (O '44)
MacArthur and the war against Japan. Hunt, F. (O '44)
McCarthy, Charles
Fitzpatrick, E. A. McCarthy of Wisconsin. (My '44)
Macedonia
Social conditions
Allen, H. B. Come over into Macedonia. (Mr '44)
McGraw, John Joseph
Graham, F. McGraw of the Giants. (Je '44)
McGraw of the Giants. Graham, F. (Je '44)
Machine guns
Johnson, M. M. Rifles and machine guns. (N '44)
Machine shop practice
Brimm, D. J., and Scheifele, E. Girl mechanic's manual. (Ap '44)
Stieri, E. Engine lathe. (O '44)
Yates, R. F. Young men and machines. (Ag '44)
Machine tools
Brimm, D. J., and Scheifele, E. Girl mechanic's manual. (Ap '44)
Colvin, F. H., and Stanley, F. A. Drilling and surfacing practice. (O '44)
Machinery
Leyson, B. W. Elements of mechanics. (Je '44)
Yates, R. F. Young men and machines. (Ag '44)
Design
Chase, H., ed. Handbook on designing for quantity production. (Je '44)
Vallance, A., and Doughtie, V. L. Design of machine members. (Je '44)
Inspection
Jenkins, R. Fundamentals of mechanical inspection for trainees and junior inspectors. (Je '44)
Mollard, W. Essentials of precision inspection. (My '44)
Juvenile literature
Dunn, M. L., and Morrisett, L. N. Machines for America. (Ag '44)

Machinery—Continued
Maintenance and repair
James F. Lincoln arc welding foundation. Maintenances arc welding. (N '44)
Machinery's handbook for machine shop and drafting-room. Machinery (periodical). (My '44)
Machines for America. Dunn, M. L., and Morrisett, L. N. (Ag '44)
Macmillan, firm, publishers, London
Morgan, C. House of Macmillan. (Ag '44)
Made in the USSR. White, W. C. (D '44)
Madison, Dorothy (Payne) Todd
Juvenile literature
Monsell, H. A. Dolly Madison, Quaker girl. (S '44)
Magic bed-knob. Norton, M. (My '44)
Magic circle. Meyer, G. E. (My '44)
Magic flute. Mozart, J. C. W. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Magic Michael. Slobodkin, L. (O '44)
Magic monkey. Chan, P. and C. (O '44)
Magic of Limping John. Goodwyn, F. (S '44)
Magic year. Maass, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Magical melons. Brink, C. R. (D '44)
Magnesium
Pannell, E. V. Magnesium, its production and use. (N '44)
Magnetochemistry
Selwood, P. W. Magnetochemistry. (Je '44)
Mahogany. Segre, A. (Ap '44)
Main currents in English history. Klingberg, F. J. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Maine
Roberts, K. L. Trending into Maine. (S '44)
Social life and customs
Coatsworth, E. J. Country neighborhood. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual
Coffin, R. P. T. Mainstays of Maine. (O '44)
Mainstays of Maine. Coffin, R. P. T. (O '44)
Maintenance and servicing of electrical instruments. Spencer, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Maintenance arc welding. James F. Lincoln arc welding foundation. (N '44)
Majority rule and minority rights. Commager, H. S. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Make and remodel home furnishings. Spears, R. W. (S '44)
Making of modern China. Lattimore, O. and E. H. (Ap '44)
Making of modern Holland. Barnouw, A. J. (N '44)
Making of the Indian princes. Thompson, E. J. (Ag '44)
Making the goods we need. Hanna, P. R., and others. (My '44)
Malay archipelago
Daniel, H. Islands of the East Indies. (O '44)
Malfreys. Whitcomb, C. (Je '44)
Man
Corner, G. W. Ourselves unborn. (N '44)
Ferris, T. P. This created world. (Mr '44)
Kahler, E. Man the measure. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Wells, H. G. '42 to '44. (S '44)
Origin
Howells, W. W. Mankind so far. (My '44)
Man, Prehistoric
Murray, R. W. Man's unknown ancestors. (Ag '44)
Man goes alone. Gunn, N. M. (Ag '44)
Man in the shower. Arno, P. (N '44)
Man of Alaska. Jenkins, T. (Mr '44)
Man should rejoice. Gordon, V. (Je '44)
Man the measure. Kahler, E. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Man with the lumpy nose. Lariar, L. (My '44)
Management in Russian industry and agriculture. Bienstock, G., and others. (Ag '44)
Mandate from the people. Bruner, J. S. (S '44)
Mankind so far. Howells, W. W. (My '44)
Manning, Marie (Beatrice Fairfax, pseud)
Manning, M. Ladies now and then. (Je '44)
Man's fight to fly. Heinmuller, J. P. V. (O '44)
Man's food, its rhyme or reason. Graubard, M. A. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Man's reach. Wilson, C. M. (S '44)
Man's unknown ancestors. Murray, R. W. (Ag '44)
Manual of aircraft production. De Selm, B. H., ed. (Ap '44)
Manual of aircraft riveting. Roth, M. G. (Ap '44)
Manual of foreign dialects for radio, stage and screen. Herman, L. and M. S. (S '44)
Manufacture
Juvenile literature
Hanna, P. R., and others. Making the goods we need. (My '44)
Many a watchful night. Brown, J. M. (D '44)
Many happy days I've squandered. Loveridge, A. (S '44)
Maps
D'Agapeyeff, A., and Hadfield, E. C. R. Maps. (Ap '44)
Fisher, I., and Miller, O. M. World maps and globes. (S '44)
Greenhood, D. Down to earth. (S '44)
Greitzer, S. L. Elementary topography and map reading. (Ap '44)
Olson, E. C., and Whitmarsh, A. Foreign maps. (D '44)
Maps, Military
Lobeck, A. K., and Tellington, W. J. Military maps and air photographs. (Je '44)
Musham, H. A. Technique of the terrain. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Marblehead (cruiser)
Perry, G. S., and Leighton, Isabel. Where away. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Marches (music)
Allen, W. D. Our marching civilization. (Ag '44)
Marching home. Hart, R. (My '44)
Marco Polo's precursors. Olschki, L. (Ap '44)
Margaret Brent, adventurer. Grant, D. F. (D '44)
Marine and air navigation. Stewart, J. Q., and Pierce, N. L. (O '44)
Marine corps reader. Metcalf, C. H., ed. (S '44)
Marine engineering
Anderson, E. P. Audels marine engineer handy book. (S '44)
Hase, V. E., and Allen, R. W. Marine pipefitting. (O '44)
Paterson, W. B., ed. Cornell red book of marine engineering. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Marine pipefitting. Hase, V. E., and Allen, R. W. (O '44)
Marine piping handbook for designers-fitters-operators. Goehring, E. P. (Ap '44)
Marine radio manual. Strichartz, M. H., ed. (D '44)
Marines in review. Carlisle, N. V. (Ap '44)
Marja Ludwika, queen consort of John II Casimir, king of Poland
Batcheller, T. B. Soul of a queen. (My '44)
Marketing
Juvenile literature
Hanna, P. R., and Krug, E. A. Marketing things we use. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Marketing the things we use. Hanna, P. R., and Krug, E. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Marks of readable style. Flesch, R. (My '44)
Marriage
Ray, R. Marriage is a serious business. (Ap '44)
Wood, L. F., and Mullen, J. W., eds. What the American family faces. (Ap '44)
Marriage is a serious business. Ray, R. (Ap '44)
Married at leisure. Lederer, V. (N '44)
Married life. Daumier, H. V., il. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Martinu, Bohuslav
Safránek, M. Bohuslav Martinů. (O '44)
Mary, Virgin
Houselander, F. C. Reed of God. (Ag '44)
Mary Carstens, M.D. Meese, M. F. (Mr '44)
Mary Magdalen, Saint
Fiction
Murphy, E. F. Scarlet lily. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Maryland
History
Bailey, K. P. Thomas Cresap. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Crowl, P. A. Maryland during and after the revolution. (Je '44)

Politics and government

Crowl, P. A. Maryland during and after the revolution. (Je '44)

Maryland during and after the revolution. Crowl, P. A. (Je '44)

Marymount college, Tarrytown, New York
Burton, K. K. Mother Butler of Marymount. (O '44)

Massachusetts

Social life and customs

Holton, E. A. Yankees were like this. (O '44)

Master drawings. Holme, B., ed. (My '44)
Masterpieces of painting. Cairns, H., and Walker, J., eds. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mater ecclesia. Plumpe, J. C. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Materials and processes. Young, J. F., ed. (Je '44)
Materials handbook. Brady, G. S. (Je '44)
Maternal overprotection. Levy, D. M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Mathematical and physical principles of engineering analysis. Johnson, W. C. (D '44)

Mathematical recreations
Northrop, E. P. Riddles in mathematics. (Je '44)

Mathematics
Allen, E. B., and others. Vital mathematics. (Je '44)
Andres, P. G., and others. Basic mathematics for engineers. (Je '44)
Bliss, G. A. Mathematics for exterior ballistics. (Je '44)
Daus, P. H., and others. Basic mathematics for war and industry. (My '44)
Dimick, C. E., and Hurd, C. C. Mathematics for mariners. (Ag '44)
Griffiths, H. Mathematics for aircraft engine mechanics. (O '44)
Hanson, P. P. Military applications of mathematics. (Je '44)
Hyatt, D., and Dodson, B. M. Mathematics for navigators. (Ag '44)
Johnson, W. C. Mathematical and physical principles of engineering analysis. (D '44)
Lieber, L. R. Education of T. C. Mits. (My '44)
Rappolt, F. A. Simplified mathematics and how to use the slide rule. (Ag '44)
Sommers, H. H. Living mathematics reviewed. (O '44)
Wang, T. J. Mathematics of radio communications. (My '44)

Tables, etc.

Lange, N. A., and Forker, G. M., eds. Handbook of chemistry. (Ag '44)

Mathematics for aircraft engine mechanics. Griffiths, H. (O '44)
Mathematics for exterior ballistics. Bliss, G. A. (Je '44)
Mathematics for mariners. Dimick, C. E., and Hurd, C. C. (Ag '44)
Mathematics for navigators. Hyatt, D., and Dodson, B. M. (Ag '44)
Mathematics of radio communications. Wang, T. J. (My '44)

Maundy Thursday
Mauriac, F. Eucharist. (My '44)
May Bretton. Raynolds, R. (Ag '44)
Mayflower boy. Young, S. (O '44)

Mead, George Herbert
Clayton, A. S. Emergent mind and education. (O '44)

Meany, Stephen J.
Jenkins, B. A. Father Meany and the Fighting 69th. (O '44)

Measured for murder. Lee, M. V., and Saunders, C. C. (Ap '44)

Measuring instruments
Jenkins, R. Fundamentals of mechanical inspection for trainees and junior inspectors. (Je '44)
King, A. T. Engineering inspection practice. (O '44)
Mollard, W. Essentials of precision inspection. (My '44)
Stieri, E. Engine lathe. (O '44)

Mechanical drawing
Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. Modern drafting. (My '44)
Tharratt, J. Aircraft production illustration. (Ag '44)

Mechanical engineering

Handbooks, manuals, etc.

Machinery (periodical). Machinery's handbook for machine shop and drafting-room. (My '44)

Mechanical springs. Wahl, A. M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Mechanics, Applied
Leyson, B. W. Elements of mechanics. (Je '44)

Mechanics, Statistical
Glasstone, S. Theoretical chemistry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Mechanization, Military

Juvenile literature

Conger, E. M. American tanks and tank destroyers. (O '44)

Medal of honor. See Decorations of honor
Medical care of the discharged hospital patient. Jensen, F., and others. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Medical economics
Jensen, F., and others. Medical care of the discharged hospital patient. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Medical education
Norwood, W. F. Medical education in the United States before the Civil war. (D '44)
Medical education in the United States before the Civil war. Norwood, W. F. (D '44)

Medicine

History

Sigerist, H. E. Civilization and disease. (Mr '44)

Medicine, Ancient
Edelstein, L. Hippocratic oath. (D '44)

Medicine, Military
Maisel, A. Q. Wounded get back. (Je '44)
Taliaferro, W. H., ed. Medicine and the war. (Ap '44)

Medicine, Preventive
Ackerman, L. Health and hygiene. (S '44)
Medicine and the war. Taliaferro, W. H., ed. (Ap '44)

Mediterranean sea

Description and travel

Gatti, A. Mediterranean spotlights. (D '44)

Mediterranean spotlights. Gatti, A. (D '44)
Mediterranean sweep. Thruelsen, R., and Arnold, E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Meet Corliss Archer. Herbert, F. H. (Ag '44)
Meet Dr Franklin. Franklin institute. (O '44)
Meet Mr Grizzly. Stevens, M. F. S. (Je '44)
Meet the electron. Grimes, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Meet the farmers. Haystead, L. (My '44)
Meet your allies in war and peace. Balint, N. G., ed (S '44)
Meet your Congress. Flynn, J. T. (N '44)

Melancholy
Evans, B., and Mohr, G. J. Psychiatry of Robert Burton. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Melendy, Peter
Wright, L. M. Peter Melendy. (Ap '44)

Melville, Herman
Braswell, W. Melville's religious thought. (My '44)
Sedgwick, W. E. Herman Melville. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Melville's religious thought. Braswell, W. (My '44)
Men and saints. Péguy, C. P. (D '44)
Men die at Cyprus lodge. Street, C. J. C. (Ag '44)
Men in aprons. Keating, L. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Men of liberty. Fritchman, S. H. (S '44)
Men of popular music. Ewen, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Men of science in America. Jaffe, B. (O '44)

Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, Felix

Juvenile literature

Humphreys, D. On wings of song. (Je '44)

Mental hygiene
Davis, J. E. Principles and practice of rehabilitation. (Ap '44)
Klein, D. B. Mental hygiene. (S '44)

Mental hygiene—Continued
Lawton, G., ed. New goals for old age. (Mr '44)
Mackintosh, J. M. War and mental health in England. (Ag '44)
Podolsky, E. Stop worrying and get well. (My '44)
Rathbone, J. L. Relaxation. (Ag '44)
Ribble, M. A. Rights of infants. (Ag '44)
Menu-cook-book. Bradley, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Menus
Bradley, A. Menu-cook-book. (Ja '45 (1944 Annual)
Mercantile system
Cole, C. W. French mercantilism, 1683-1700. (My '44)
Merchant fleets. Rimington, C. (Je '44)
Merchant marine
Rimington, C. Merchant fleets. (Je '44)

Great Britain

Armstrong, W. Battle of the oceans. (Ag '44)

United States

Carse, R. Lifeline. (Mr '44)
Childs, J. F. Navy gun crew. (Ap '44)
Denison, A. C. America's maritime history. (Ag '44)
McCoy, S. D. Nor death dismay. (O '44)
Merry adventures of Till Eulenspiegel. Eulenspiegel. (Je '44)
Merry Christmas! (Je '44)
Metal work
Crane, E. V. Plastic working of metals and non-metallic materials in presses. (Je '44)
Young, J. F., ed. Materials and processes. (Je '44)
Metals
Young, J. F., ed. Materials and processes. (Je '44)

Analysis

Sandell, E. B. Colorimetric determination of traces of metals. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Metals, Powdered
Skaupy, F. Principles of powder metallurgy. (O '44)
Metaphysics
Brunton, P. Wisdom of the overself. (S '44)
Meteorology
Byers, H. R. General meteorology. (O '44)
Hewson, E. W., and Longley, R. W. Meteorology, theoretical and applied. (Je '44)
Meteorology in aeronautics
Byers, H. R. General meteorology. (O '44)
Meteorology, theoretical and applied. Hewson, E. W., and Longley, R. W. (Je '44)
Methodist church in Florida
Thrift, C. T. Trail of the Florida circuit rider. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Methodology of the social sciences. Kaufmann, F. (D '44)
Methods of advanced calculus. Franklin, P. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mexican literature
González Peña, C. History of Mexican literature. (My '44)
Mexico
Wilson, C. M. Middle America. (Je '44)

Description and travel

Clark, S. A. Mexico. (D '44)
Gregg, J. Diary and letters [bk2]. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mathias, F. S. Amazing Bob Davis. (O '44)
Rosa, G. Mexico speaks. (My '44)

History

Strode, H. Timeless Mexico. (N '44)

Conquest, 1519-1540

Wagner, H. R. Rise of Fernando Cortés. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mexico. Clark, S. A. (D '44)
Mexico speaks. Rosa, G. (My '44)
Michael and the captain. Holberg, R. L. (D '44)
Michael Shayne's long chance. Dresser, D. (Mr '44)
Michelangelo Buonarroti
De Tolnay, C. Youth of Michelangelo. (Ag '44)
Michigan
Martin, J. B. Call it North country. (Je '44)
Michigan, Lake
Quaife, M. M. Lake Michigan. (O '44)
Michigan highway finance. Ford, R. S., and Bacon, M. A. (S '44)
Microbes that cripple. Turner, T. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Microbiology of foods. Tanner, F. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Microfilming. De Sola, R. (S '44)
Microfilms
De Sola, R. Microfilming. (S '44)
Micro-organisms
Tanner, F. W. Microbiology of foods. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Micro-organisms, Pathogenic
Turner, T. A. Microbes that cripple. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Microphotography
De Sola, R. Microfilming. (S '44)
Rider, F. Scholar and the future of the research library. (O '44)
Middle America. Wilson, C. M. (Je '44)
Middle East diary. Coward, N. P. (D '44)
Middle kingdom. Morley, C. D. (N '44)
Midway island, Battle of, 1942
Coale, G. B. Victory at Midway. (My '44)
Military applications of mathematics. Hanson, P. P. (Je '44)
Military art and science
Hanson, P. P. Military applications of mathematics. (Je '44)
Montross, L. War through the ages. (D '44)
Military history
Montross, L. War through the ages. (D '44)
Military law
Beckwith, E. R., and others. Lawful action of state military forces. (S '44)
Glenn, G. Army and the law. (Ap '44)
Military maps and air photographs. Lobeck, A. K., and Tellington, W. J. (Je '44)
Military occupation
Bloch, H. S., and Hoselitz, B. F. Economics of military occupation. (My '44)
Fraenkel, E. Military occupation and the rule of law. (D '44)
Military occupation and the rule of law. Fraenkel, E. (D '44)
Milton, John
Ross, M. M. Milton's royalism. (D '44)

Fiction

Fuller, E. John Milton. (D '44)
Graves, R. Wife to Mr. Milton. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Milton's royalism. Ross, M. M. (D '44)
Mind and body
Podolsky, E. Stop worrying and get well. (My '44)
Mind and deity. Laird, J. (D '44)
Mineral resources of Africa. Postel, A. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mineralogy
Dana, J. D. System of mineralogy. (D '44)
George, R. D. Minerals and rocks. (D '44)
Zim, H. S., and Cooper, E. K. Minerals. (Mr '44)
Minerals. Zim, H. S., and Cooper, E. K. (Mr '44)
Minerals and rocks. George, R. D. (D '44)
Mines and mineral resources

Africa

Postel, A. W. Mineral resources of Africa. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mining engineering
Barger, H., and Schurr, S. H. Mining industries, 1899-1939. (D '44)
Mining industries, 1899-1939. Barger, H., and Schurr, S. H. (D '44)
Mining industry and finance
Barger, H., and Schurr, S. H. Mining industries, 1899-1939. (D '44)
Minnesota

Description and travel

Jaques, F. P. Snowshoe country. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Minnesota. University. General college
Spafford, I. O., and others. Building a curriculum for general education. (Ap '44)
Williams, C. D. T. These we teach. (Ap '44)
Minorities
MacIver, R. M., ed. Group relations and group antagonisms. (Ag '44)
Miracle of America. Maurois, A. (S '44)
Miracles ahead! Carlisle, N. V., and Latham, F. B. (Je '44)
Misadventures of Sherlock Holmes. Queen, E., ed. (My '44)
Mischief in the lane. Derleth, A. W. (S '44)
Mission of the university. Ortega y Gasset, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Missionary doctor. Cushman, M. F. (D '44)
Missions
Latourette, K. S. History of the expansion of Christianity: v6, Great century in northern Africa. (My '44)
Sailer, T. H. P. Christian adult education in rural Asia and Africa. (My '44)
Warburton, S. R. These things will last. (S '44)
Angola
Cushman, M. F. Missionary doctor. (D '44)
China
Clayton, E. H. Heaven below. (S '44)
Ethiopia
Lambie, T. A. Boot and saddle in Africa. (O '44)
Missions, Medical
Lambie, T. A. Boot and saddle in Africa. (O '44)
Mississippi valley
Havighurst, W. Upper Mississippi. (Je '44)
Missouri
Biography
Broadfoot, L. L. Pioneers of the Ozarks. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Mr Angel comes aboard. Booth, C. G. (Je '44)
Mr Bowling buys a newspaper. Henderson, D. L. (Mr '44)
Mr G. strings along. Wilder, R. (My '44)
Mr Glencannon ignores the war. Gilpatric, G. (O '44)
Mr Gurney and Mr Slade. Eng title of: Cleric's secret. Deeping, W. (My '44)
Mr Roosevelt. Mackenzie, C. (My '44)
Mr Tompkins explores the atom. Gamow, G. (My '44)
Mr Wren's house. Brock, E. L. (My '44)
Mrs Applegate's affair. Van de Water, F. F. (Je '44)
Mobilizing for abundance. Nathan, R. R. (Ap '44)
Mocking bird is singing. Mally, E. L. (My '44)
Modeling
Leeming, J. Fun with clay. (N '44)
Moderate fable. Young, M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Modern airfield, planning and concealment. De Longe, M. E. (My '44)
Modern dilemma in art. Belmont, I. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Modern drafting. Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. (My '44)
Modern drawings; ed. by Monroe Wheeler. New York. Museum of modern art. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Modern engineering. Eng title of: Twentieth century engineering. Tupholme, C. H. S. (D '44)
Modern foreign policy for the United States. Jones, J. M. (My '44)
Modern Hoyle. Morehead, A. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Modern Jewish problems. Gittelsohn, R. B. (My '44)
Modern Korea. Grajdanzev, A. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Modern operational mathematics in engineering. Churchill, R. V. (O '44)
Modern political philosophies. Wasserman, L. (O '44)
Modern poultry farming. Hurd, L. M. (Je '44)
Modern radio. Tyler, K. S. (N '44)
Modern synthetic rubbers. Barron, H. (Je '44)
Modern turbines. Newman, L. E., ed. (Je '44)
Modern ways with children. Hurlock, E. B. (Ap '44)
Modern wood adhesives. Perry, T. D. (S '44)
Modern world geography. Case, E. C., and Bergsmark, D. R. (Je '44)
Mohammedanism
Bing, E. J. World of the Arabs. (My '44)
Mohune's nine lives. Groom, A. J. P. (Mr '44)
Moira. Greene, W. C. (N '44)
Molly, the rogue. Walsh, M. R. (Ag '44)
Mom counted six. Gardner, M. (Je '44)
Monetary reform movements. Reeve, J. E. (Ap '44)
Money
Graham, B. World commodities and world currency. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Hobbs, F. Gold, the real ruler of the world. (N '44)
Williams, J. H. Postwar monetary plans. (O '44)
History
Floherty, J. J. Money-go-round. (S '44)
United States
Reeve, J. E. Monetary reform movements. (Ap '44)
Money-go-round. Floherty, J. J. (S '44)
Mongkut, king of Siam
Landon, M. D. M. Anna and the King of Siam. (S '44)
Mongol Buriat republic. See Buriat Mongolia
Mongolia
Description and travel
Cable, M., and French, F. L. Gobi desert. (Ag '44)
Mongrel mettle. Stuart, J. (Mr '44)
Monkeys
Legends and stories
Bronson, W. S. Hooker's holiday. (N '44)
Chan, P. and C. Magic monkey. (O '44)
Wu Chêng-ên. Adventures of Monkey. (N '44)
Monopolies
United States
Kottke, F. J. Electrical technology and the public interest. (D '44)
Monthly repository (periodical)
Mineka, F. E. Dissidence of dissent. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Moon was red. Sage, D. (My '44)
Moore, Grace
Moore, G. You're only human once. (Ap '44)
More by Corwin. Corwin, N. L. (My '44)
More lives than one. Healy, T. (Ag '44)
Morgue is always open. Odlum, J. (Je '44)
Morley's variety. Morley, C. D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Morning in Iowa. Nathan, R. (My '44)
Morosco, Oliver
Morosco, O. Life of Oliver Morosco. (O '44)
Morris, William
Fiction
Cameron, W. Day is coming. (Ag '44)
Mosby, John Singleton
Jones, V. C. Ranger Mosby. (O '44)
Most secret, most immediate. Swiggett, H. (Ap '44)
Mother Butler of Marymount. Burton, K. K. (O '44)
Mother Goose; comp. by W. R. Benét. (Mr '44)
Mother Goose; seventy-seven verses, il. by Tasha Tudor. (D '44)
Mother went mad on Monday. Hueston, E. P. (O '44)
Mother wore tights. Young, M. B. (N '44)
Motherly and Auspicious. Collis, M. (My '44)
Mothers
Oxnam, G. B. Behold thy mother. (Ag '44)
Motion study
Barnes, R. M. Work methods manual. (Je '44)
Mount, William Sidney
Cowdrey, B., and Williams, H. W. William Sidney Mount. (N '44)
Mountain. Parsons, A. B. (Mr '44)
Mountain book. Beaty, J. Y. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Mountain Cloud. Barbeau, C. M. (O '44)
Mountain whites (South)
Broadfoot, L. L. Pioneers of the Ozarks. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Mountains
Juvenile literature
Beaty, J. Y. Mountain book. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Movable and long-span steel bridges. Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. (O '44)
Movement of factory workers. Myers, C. A., and Maclaurin, W. R. (S '44)
Moving picture industry
Huettig, M. D. Economic control of the motion picture industry. (O '44)
Moving picture plays
Hellman, L. North Star. (Mr '44)
Moving pictures
Parsons, L. O. Gay illiterate. (Mr '44)
Tyler, P. Hollywood hallucination. (Je '44)
Muggins. Bradbury, B. (S '44)
Mules
Legends and stories
Watson, H. O. Shavetail Sam, U.S. army mule. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Municipal and rural sanitation. Ehlers, V. M., and Steel, E. W. (Ap '44)
Murder
Collins, F. L. Homicide squad. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Collins, T., ed. New York murders. (D '44)
Murder a mile high. Dean, E. (My '44)
Murder and the married virgin. Dresser, D. (N '44)
Murder at Crawford notch. Burns, M. L. (My '44)
Murder in five columns. Diamond, F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Murder in haste. Fenwick, E. P. (S '44)
Murder is forgetful. Bogart, W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Murder lays a golden egg. Hull, E. T. (My '44)
Murder makes a villain. Scott, D. (Mr '44)
Murder of a quack. Bellairs, G. (O '44)
Murder of a stuffed shirt. Heberden, M. V. (N '44)
Murder on the program. Mannon, M. M. (My '44)
Murder solves a problem. Bramhall, M. (Mr '44)
Murmur of wings. Dubkin, L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Museums and schools
Powel, L. B. Art museum comes to the school. (S '44)
Music
Erskine, J. What is music? (D '44)
Analysis, interpretation, appreciation
Downes, E. Adventures in symphonic music. (S '44)
Ewen, D. Music for the millions. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Haggin, B. H. Music for the man who enjoys "Hamlet." (D '44)
Skolsky, S. Evenings with music. (O '44)
Dictionaries
Apel, W. Harvard dictionary of music. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
International cyclopedia of music and musicians, ed. by O. Thompson. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Instruction and study
Buck, P. C. Psychology for musicians. (N '44)
Psychology
Buck, P. C. Psychology for musicians. (N '44)
United States
Marks, E. B. They all had glamour. (Je '44)
Music, Popular
Ewen, D. Men of popular music. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Music and color
Belmont, I. J. Modern dilemma in art. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Music and society
Allen, W. D. Our marching civilization. (Ag '44)
Music as a profession
Johnson, H. Your career in music. (N '44)
Music for the general college student. Jeffers, E. V. (N '44)
Music for the man who enjoys "Hamlet." Haggin, B. H. (D '44)
Music for the millions. Ewen, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Music in colleges and universities
Jeffers, E. V. Music for the general college student. (N '44)
Music master of the Middle West. Bergmann, L. N. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Musical accompaniment
Moore, G. Unashamed accompanist. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Musical comedies
Librettos
Perelman, S. J., and Nash, O. One touch of Venus. (Ap '44)
Musicians
Esquire (periodical). Jazz book. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
International cyclopedia of music and musicians, ed. by O. Thompson. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Dictionaries
Ewen, D. Music for the millions. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Musicians, American
Ewen, D. Men of popular music. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Overmyer, G. Famous American composers. (S '44)
Must men hate? Livingston, S. (S '44)
Muzzle flashes. Lenz, E. C. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
My Aunt Louisa and Woodrow Wilson. Elliott, M. R. A. (D '44)
My chat with Thomas Hardy. Clemens, C. (Je '44)
My country. Davenport, R. W. (D '44)
My Father's will. McGarrigle, F. J. (N '44)
My first geography of the Pacific. Sondergaard, A. (D '44)
My happy days. Shackelford, J. D. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
My home is far away. Powell, D. (D '44)
My life with the enemy. Argall, P. (Ap '44)
My lives in Russia. Fischer, B. M. (Je '44)
My love must wait. Hill, E. (Mr '44)
My mother bids me bind my hair. Sale, E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
My unconsidered judgment. Busch, N. (S '44)
My village. Porazinska, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mysterious continent. Lohse, C., and Seaton, J. (D '44)
Mystery at White Moccasins. Wadsworth, L. A. (My '44)
Mystery at Yogo creek. Barnett, G. T. and O. E. (Ap '44)
Mystery schooner. Roberts, T. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Mythology, Classical
Juvenile literature
Lowrey, J. S. In the morning of the world. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Mythology in literature
LeComte, E. S. Endymion in England. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Names, Geographical
Greet, W. C. World words. (S '44)
Names, Personal
Greet, W. C. World words. (S '44)
Nan Thursday. Dale, V. (My '44)
Nancy Naylor, flight nurse. Lansing, E. H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Nanticoke Indians
Weslager, C. A. Delaware's forgotten folk. (Ap '44)
Napoleon I, emperor of the French
Parker, H. T. Three Napoleonic battles. (S '44)
Wilkins, W. V. Being met together. (O '44)
Nappy planted a garden. Hogan, I. (Je '44)
Narrow cell. Clark, D. (My '44)
Narrowing wind. Lawrence, C. A. (D '44)
National characteristics, American
Adams, J. T. American. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Brogan, D. W. American character. (N '44)
National characteristics, English
Baldwin, L. D. God's Englishman. (Mr '44)

National characteristics, German
Crippen, H. R., ed. Germany. (Je '44)
Croce, B. Germany and Europe. (S '44)
Tosevic, D. J. Not Nazis but Germans. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

National characteristics, Japanese
Lamott, W. C. Nippon. (Ag '44)

Nationalism and nationality
Freud, A. World without nations. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Friedmann, W. Crisis of the national state. (Je '44)
Gill, C. A. World republic. (N '44)
Hertz, F. O. Nationality in history and politics. (N '44)
Kohn, H. Idea of nationalism. (Je '44)

Nationality in history and politics. Hertz, F. O. (N '44)

Natural development of the child. Eng title of: Guiding the normal child. Bowley, A. H. (O '44)

Natural history
Beebe, W., ed. Book of naturalists. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Florida

Barbour, T. That vanishing Eden. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Sierra Nevada mountains

Carrighar, S. One day on Beetle Rock. (D '44)

Natural law
Stapleton, L. Justice and world society. (S '44)

Natural principles of land use. Graham, E. H. (Ag '44)

Natural resources
Mather, K. F. Enough and to spare. (N '44)

Naturalism
Krikorian, Y. H., ed. Naturalism and the human spirit. (O '44)

Naturalism and the human spirit. Krikorian, Y. H., ed. (O '44)

Naturalists

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Loveridge, A. Many happy days I've squandered. (S '44)

Nature and treatment of mental disorders. Moore, T. V. (My '44)

Nature of explanation. Craik, K. J. W. (Je '44)

Nautical astronomy
Brouwer, D., and others. Spherographical navigation. (My '44)
Shute, W. G., and others. Introduction to navigation and nautical astronomy. (Je '44)

Navaho door. Leighton, A. H. and D. C. (S '44)

Navaho Indians
Leighton, A. H. and D. C. Navaho door. (S '44)
Oakes, M. Where the two came to their father. (Je '44)

Art

Adair, J. Navajo and Pueblo silversmiths. (N '44)

Navajo and Pueblo silversmiths. Adair, J. (N '44)

Naval architecture
Comstock, J. P. Introduction to naval architecture. (O '44)

Naval art and science
Brodie, B. Guide to naval strategy. (D '44)

Navies
Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. Warships of the world. (N '44)
Rimington, C. Fighting fleets. (N '44)

Navies in exile. Divine, A. D. (O '44)

Navigation
Bok, B. J., and Wright, F. W. Basic marine navigation. (O '44)
Dimick, C. E., and Hurd, C. C. Mathematics for mariners. (Ag '44)
Gatty, H. Raft book. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Hyatt, D., and Dodson, B. M. Mathematics for navigators. (Ag '44)
Kells, L. M., and others. Navigation. (Je '44)
Mixter, G. W. Primer of navigation. (My '44)
Norby, H. Questions and answers for deck officers. (S '44)
Shute, W. G., and others. Introduction to navigation and nautical astronomy. (Je '44)
Stewart, J. Q., and Pierce, N. L. Marine and air navigation. (O '44)

Navigation (aeronautics)
Blackburn, E. F. Basic air navigation. (Je '44)
Brouwer, D., and others. Spherographical navigation. (My '44)
Naidich, J. Air navigation made easy. (D '44)
Stewart, J. Q., and Pierce, N. L. Marine and air navigation. (O '44)
Vanderkloot, W. J. Handbook of air navigation. (D '44)
Zweng, C. A. and A. C. Airline transport pilot rating. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Navy gun crew. Childs, J. F. (Ap '44)

Navy hunts the CGR 3070. Thompson, L. R. (Mr '44)

Navy in the sky. Elton, W. W. (My '44)

Navy shipboard administration. Cope, H. F., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Navy yearbook. Andrews, P., and Engel, L., eds. (S '44)

Navy's war. Pratt, F. (S '44)

Nazi economic system. Nathan, O. (S '44)

Nazi war finance and banking. Nathan, O. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Nazis go underground. Riess, C. (S '44)

Needle's eye. Fouts, E. L. (D '44)

Negro in American life. Becker, J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Negro songs
Crite, A. R. Were you there when they crucified my Lord? (D '44)
Wheeler, M. Steamboatin' days. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Negro spirituals
Jackson, G. P. White and Negro spirituals. (Je '44)

Negro, too, in American history. Eppse, M. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Negroes
Aptheker, H. American Negro slave revolts. (Ap '44)
Becker, J. Negro in American life. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Eppse, M. R. Negro, too, in American history. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Johnson, C. S., and others. To stem this tide. (Ap '44)
Klineberg, O., ed. Characteristics of the American Negro. (Ap '44)
Logan, R. W., ed. What the Negro wants. (D '44)
Myrdal, G., and others. American dilemma. (Mr '44)
Odum, H. W. Race and rumors of race. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Walker, A. K. Tuskegee and the black belt. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Biography

Embree, E. R. 13 against the odds. (Mr '44)
Lotz, P. H., ed. Rising above color. (Ap '44)

Employment

Northrup, H. R. Organized labor and the Negro. (My '44)

Religion

Fauset, A. H. Black gods of the metropolis. (Je '44)

Social life and customs

Juvenile literature

Shackelford, J. D. My happy days. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Songs and music

Handy, W. C., ed. Unsung Americans sung. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Netherlands
Landheer, B., ed. Netherlands. (Ap '44)

History

Barnouw, A. J. Making of modern Holland. (N '44)
Riemens, H. Netherlands. (Je '44)

German occupation, 1940-

Jong, L. de, and Stoppelman, J. W. F. Lion rampant. (Mr '44)

Netherlands—Continued

Intellectual life

Barnouw, A. J., and Landheer, B., eds. Contribution of Holland to the sciences. (Mr '44)

Juvenile literature

Barnouw, A. J. Land of William of Orange. (Je '44)

Netherlands Indies
Vlekke, B. H. M. Nusantara. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Foreign relations

Japan

Mook, H. J. van. Netherlands Indies and Japan. (S '44)

Juvenile literature

De Leeuw, C. Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. (Mr '44)

Netherlands Indies and Japan. Mook, H. J. van. (S '44)
Never a dull moment. Coe, C. F. (Ag '44)
Never whistle in a dressing room. Zolotow, M. (My '44)
Nevertheless. Moore, M. (N '44)
New architecture and city planning. Zucker, P., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
New bearings in esthetics. Heyl, B. C. (S '44)

New Bedford, Massachusetts
Wolfbein, S. L. Decline of a cotton textile city. (N '44)

New Broome experiment. Epstein, S., and Williams, B. (D '44)

New England

Social life and customs

Morgan, E. S. Puritan family. (D '44)

New firms and free enterprise. Oxenfeldt, A. R. (Ag '44)
New goals for old age. Lawton, G., ed. (Mr '44)

New Hampshire

Social life and customs

Weygandt, C. Heart of New Hampshire. (S '44)

Views

Jennison, K. W. New Hampshire. (O '44)

New Hampshire. Jennison, K. W. (O '44)
New life. Rice, E. L. (Je '44)

New Orleans (cruiser)
Forgy, H. M. And pass the ammunition. (Ag '44)

New perspectives on peace. Huszar, G. B. de, ed. (D '44)
New poems, 1944. Williams, O., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
New Testament of our lord and savior Jesus Christ. Bible. New Testament. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

New thought
Long, C. S. You. (Je '44)

New washday. Ahern, E. (S '44)
New worlds for Josie. Worth, K. (N '44)

New York (city)

Description

Strunsky, S. No mean city. (O '44)

Police

Collins, F. L. Homicide squad. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Social life and customs

Strunsky, S. No mean city. (O '44)
Zolotow, M. Never whistle in a dressing room. (My '44)

New York murders. Collins, T., ed. (D '44)

New Zealand
Wood, F. L. W. Understanding New Zealand. (Je '44)

Newport, Rhode Island
Elliott, M. H. This was my Newport. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

News of the 45th. Robinson, D. (Ag '44)
News of the nation. Hoffman, S. (Ap '44)
News of the phoenix. Smith, A. J. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Newsboys
Burroughs, H. E. Boys in men's shoes. (My '44)

Newspapers
Kobre, S. Development of the colonial newspaper. (N '44)
MacDougald, D. Languages and press of Africa. (N '44)
Villard, O. G. Disappearing daily. (Je '44)

Next move is. . . . Cordingly, E. G. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Nicholas Needlefoot. Nesbitt, P. (O '44)

Nietzsche, Friedrich Wilhelm
Bentley, E. R. Century of hero-worship. (N '44)

Night is ending. Ronald, J. (Je '44)
Night-night. Ridgway, M. V. (S '44)
Night unto night. Wylie, P. (O '44)
Night's cloak. Punshon, E. R. (Ag '44)
Nine lives with grandfather. Longstreet, S. (Ap '44)
Nine to five. Smith, H. H. (My '44)
Nippon. Lamott, W. C. (Ag '44)
No beautiful nights. Grossman, V. (Ag '44)
No bones about it. Wallis, R. O. S. (S '44)
No bright banner. De Capite, M. (O '44)
No footprints in the bush. Upfield, A. W. (N '44)
No gifts from chance. Pedler, M. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
No good from a corpse. Brackett, L. (Ap '44)
No inflation coming! Baxter, W. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
No little enemy. Bayer, O. W. (My '44)
No matter where. Hiett, H. (My '44)
No mean city. Strunsky, S. (O '44)
No more than human. Laverty, M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
No mortal fire. Valentine, E. (Ag '44)
No nation alone. Fike, L. R. (O '44)
No road back. Mehring, W. (N '44)
No room. Dobbs, R. (N '44)
No sad songs for me. Southard, R. (Mr '44)
Noah's shoes. Fleischer, M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Nobel, Alfred Bernhard
Evlanoff, M. Nobel—prize donor. (Ap '44)

Nobel—prize donor. Evlanoff, M. (Ap '44)
Nobody lives forever. Burnett, W R. (Mr '44)
Nods and becks. Adams, F. P. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Nomography (mathematics)
Davis, D. S. Chemical engineering nomographs. (O '44)

Nonce. Brandon, M. (Mr '44)
None but a mule. Woollcott, B. (N '44)
Nor death dismay. McCoy, S. D. (O '44)

Nord, Sverre
Nord, S. Logger's odyssey. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Normal lives for the disabled. Yost, E. (D '44)

North America

Description and travel

White, C. L., and Foscue, E. J. Regional geography of Anglo-America. (Ag '44)

North Star. Hellman, L. (Mr '44)
Northern trail adventure. Lathrop, W. (O '44)

Northwest, Canadian
Griffin, H. Alaska and the Canadian Northwest. (Ap '44)
MacDonald, M. Down north. (O '44)

Northwest of the world. Swenson, O. (My '44)

Norway

History

Koht, H., and Skard, S. Voice of Norway. (Je '44)

Politics and government

Koht, H., and Skard, S. Voice of Norway. (Je '44)

Norwegian literature

History and criticism

Koht, H., and Skard, S. Voice of Norway. (Je '44)

Not Nazis but Germans. Tosevic, D. J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Not quite dead enough. Stout, R. (O '44)
Notes on helicopter design theory. Nikolsky, A. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Nothing as before. Sparks, D. (My '44)
Now daddy's in the army. Carr, D., and Parrott, I. J. (N '44)
Now I lay me down to sleep. Bemelmans, L. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Now we fly. Sorenson, F. E., and Rotter, G. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Now with the morning star. Kernan, T. D. (N '44)

Nunez Cabeza de Vaca, Alvar, 16th cent
Núñez Cabeza de Vaca, A. Power within us. (Ag '44)
Nurse! Eberle, I. (Ag '44)
Nurse in blue. Taber, G. B. (My '44)

Nurses and nursing

Juvenile literature

Eberle, I. Nurse! (Ag '44)

Study and teaching

Stewart, I. M. Education of nurses. (Ap '44)
Nusantara. Vlekke, B. H. M. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Nutrition
Graubard, M. A. Man's food, its rhyme or reason. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Rose, M. D. S. Foundations of nutrition. (Ag '44)
Sherman, H. C., and Lanford, C. S. Introduction to foods and nutrition. (Ag '44)

O distant star! Doner, M. F. (Mr '44)
O. Henry. Nolan, J. C. (Mr '44)
O.P. market. Adams, S., comp. (Ap '44)
O western wind. Croome, H. M. S. (Ap '44)
Oasis. Robertson, W. (O '44)

O'Brien, Fitz-James
Wolle, F. Fitz-James O'Brien. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Occupational therapy
Hudson, H., and Fish, M. Occupational therapy in the treatment of the tuberculous patient. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Occupational therapy in the treatment of the tuberculous patient. Hudson, H., and Fish, M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Occupations
Brewer, J. M., and Landy, E. Occupations today. (Ap '44)
Campbell, W. G., and Bedford, J. H. You and your future job. (N '44)
Kuhns, W. R., and others, eds. Return of opportunity. (Mr '44)
Neuschutz, L. M. Jobs for the physically handicapped. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Spiegler, S. Your life's work. (O '44)
Woodhouse, C. G. Big store. (Ag '44)

Diseases and hygiene

See Diseases, Industrial; Hygiene, Industrial
Occupations today. Brewer, J. M., and Landy, E. (Ap '44)

Oceania
Lohse, C., and Seaton, J. Mysterious continent. (D '44)
Odd man pays. Teilhet, D. Le O. (Je '44)
Of men and battle. Wilcox, R. (N '44)
Of smiling peace. Heym, S. (N '44)

Office management
Stricker, A. H. Seven steps toward simplified office procedures. (Ap '44)
Official guide to the Army air forces: AAF. United States. Army air forces. (S '44)

Ohio Wesleyan university
Hubbart, H. C. Ohio Wesleyan's first hundred years. (My '44)
Ohio Wesleyan's first hundred years. Hubbart, H. C. (My '44)
Oil and gas. Writer's program, Pennsylvania. (D '44)

Oils and fats
Jamieson, G. S. Vegetable fats and oils. (Ap '44)
Kirschenbauer, H. G. Fats and oils. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Oklahoma

History

Debo, A. Prairie city. (Je '44)
Oklahoma! Hammerstein, O. (N '44)

Old age
Gumpert, M. You are younger than you think. (O '44)
Lawton, G., ed. New goals for old age. (Mr '44)
Old Aztec story teller. Rickard, J. A. (Je '44)
Old master. Kraus, R. (Je '44)
Old Mrs. Camelot. Carter, F. W. (N '44)
Old Mitt laughs last. Puckette, C. C. (My '44)
Old Mother Goose nursery rhyme book. Mother Goose. (My '44)
Old World Wisconsin. Holmes, F. L. (O '44)
Omnibus. Feeney, L. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Omnipotent government. Mises, L. von. (Je '44)
On beginning from within. Steere, D. V. (My '44)
On Canadian poetry. Brown, E. K. (Je '44)
On education. Livingstone, R. W. (Ag '44)
On living in a revolution. Huxley, J. S. (Ag '44)
On my own. Pitkin, W. B. (S '44)
On stage! Housman, L. (Je '44)
On such as we. Adams, P. (My '44)
On the danger line. Simenon, G. (S '44)
On the edge of the fjord. Seymour, A. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
On wings of song. Humphreys, D. (Je '44)
Once in Cornwall. Mary Catherine, Sister. (Ap '44)
Once there was Olga. Payne, J. B. (O '44)
1-B soldier. Jones, J. (Je '44)
One damn thing after another. Treanor, T. C. (S '44)
One day on Beetle Rock. Carrighar, S. (D '44)
One God. Fitch, F. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
One God, one world. Craig, C. T. (S '44)
One hundred cases for survival after death. Baird, A. T., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
One hundred great years. Dabney, T. E. (S '44)
One hundred years of American psychiatry. American psychiatric association. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
One-man air force. Gentile, D. S. (S '44)
One man's meat. White, E. B. (O '44)
One man's war. Kelly, C. E. (O '44)
1 x 1. Cummings, E. E. (My '44)
One touch of Venus. Perelman, S. J., and Nash, O. (Ap '44)
One whirl. Baron, S. S. (Ap '44)

Ontology
Renard, H. Philosophy of being. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Onwards to victory. Churchill, W. L. S. (S '44)
Opening door. Reilly, H. K. (Mr '44)

Opera

Stories, plots, etc.

Mozart, J. C. W. A. Magic flute. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Musorgskii, M. P. Boris Godunoff. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Optics, Electronic
Hatschek, P. Electron-optics. (Je '44)
Ordeal. Perventsev, A. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Ordeal by battle. Falls, C. B. (Mr '44)
Ordinary differential equations. Ince, E. L. (N '44)
Organic chemistry. Fieser, L. F. and M. A. P. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Organic chemistry of sulfur. Suter, C. M. (Je '44)
Organic reactions, v2. (O '44)
Organization of American relief in Europe, 1918-1919. Bane, S. L., and Lutz, R. H., eds. (My '44)
Organized labor and the Negro. Northrup, H. R. (My '44)

Origen (Origenes Adamantius)
Cadiou, R. Origen, his life at Alexandria. (N '44)
Origins of academic economics in the United States. O'Connor, M. J. L. (O '44)

Osborn, Vera (Maynard)
Osborn, V. M. There were two of us. (N '44)

Ostriches

Legends and stories

Kelen, I. Yussuf, the ostrich. (Je '44)
Other Mahoney. Sherman, R. W. (Je '44)
Our air-age world. Packard, L. O. (N '44)
Our American babies. Whipple, D. V. (N '44)
Our American horse. Hogner, D. C. (S '44)
Our army at war. (N '44)
Our civil liberties. Fraenkel, O. K. (Ag '44)
Our Coast guard academy. Hughes, R. (Ag '44)
Our flying navy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Our global world. Hankins, G. C. (D '44)
Our heritage. Bloom, S. (N '44)
Our hidden front. Gilman, W. (Ag '44)

Our Japanese foe. Morrison, I. (Ap '44)
Our jungle diplomacy. Sands, W. F., and Lalley, J. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Our Latin American neighbors. Brown, H. M., and Bailey, H. M. (D '44)
Our marching civilization. Allen, W. D. (Ag '44)
Our marines. Crump, I. (My '44)
Our republic. Forman, S. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Our settlement with Germany. Brailsford, H. N. (O '44)
Ourselves unborn. Corner, G. W. (N '44)
Out of the clouds. Kazmayer, R. (Ap '44)
Out of the kitchen—into the war. Anthony, S. B. (Ap '44)
Out of the Midwest. Frederick, J. T., ed. (My '44)
Out of these roots. Todrin, B. (N '44)
Out on a limbo. MacMurray, C. (S '44)
Outdoor life
  Lawson, V. E. Ranger-commando junior. (O '44)
Outdoorsman's cookbook. Carhart, A. H. (My '44)
Outnumbered. Hutter, C. (Ap '44)
Outrageous fortune. Franken, R. D. L. (Je '44)
Outsider. Cleaton, I. (Mr '44)
Over twenty-one. Gordon, R. (O '44)
Overland journeys to the Pacific
  Bruff, J. G. Gold rush. (D '44)
  Paden, I. D. Wake of the prairie schooner. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Oxy-acetylene handbook. Linde air products company. (D '44)
Oxyacetylene welding and cutting
  Kerwin, H. Arc and acetylene welding. (D '44)
  Linde air products company. Oxy-acetylene handbook. (D '44)
Ozark mountains
  Broadfoot, L. L. Pioneers of the Ozarks. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

PT boat. Lent, H. B. (Je '44)
Pacific. Carpenter, F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Pacific battle line. Hailey, F. B. (O '44)
Pacific ocean
  Carpenter, F. Pacific. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Mears, E. G. Pacific ocean handbook. (O '44)
  Osborn, F., ed. Pacific world. (S '44)
Juvenile literature
  Sondergaard, A. My first geography of the Pacific. (D '44)
Pacific ocean handbook. Mears, E. G. (O '44)
Pacific partner. Johnston, G. H. (Mr '44)
Pacific victory, 1945. Driscoll, J. (O '44)
Pacific world. Osborn, F., ed. (S '44)
Paddle-wheel days in California. MacMullen, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pageant of Canadian history. Peck, A. M. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Pageant of Chinese history. Seeger, E. (S '44)
Paideia. Jaeger, W. W. (My '44)
Paint
  Mattiello, J. J., ed. Protective and decorative coatings: v. 4, Special studies. (Je '44)
Paintings
  Cairns, H., and Walker, J., eds. Masterpieces of painting. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Crane, A., ed. Gallery of great paintings. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Paintings, American
  Walker, J., and James, M., eds. Great American paintings from Smibert to Bellows. (Mr '44)
Paintings, French
  French impressionists and their contemporaries represented in American collections. (N '44)
Paintings, Spanish
  Velázquez, D. R. de S y. Velázquez. (Ag '44)
Paleontology
  Shimer, H. W., and Shrock, R. R. Index fossils of North America. (D '44)
Juvenile literature
  Smith, E. B. So long ago. (Je '44)
North America
  Hussey, R. C. Historical geology. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Palestine
Economic conditions
  Lowdermilk, W. C. Palestine. (My '44)
Palestine. Lowdermilk, W. C. (My '44)
Palestrina, Giovanni Battista Pierluigi da
  Angoff, C. Palestrina, savior of church music. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Pan American airways
  Josephson, M. Empire of the air. (My '44)
Pan Americanism
  Prewett, V. Americas and tomorrow. (Ap '44)
Panama canal
  Mack, G. Land divided. (My '44)
Pandora. Newberry, C. T. (D '44)
Pangermanism
  Schultz, S. L. Germany will try it again. (Mr '44)
Panic. McCloy, H. (N '44)
Panorama of rural England. Turner, W. J., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Paoli, Pasquale
Fiction
  Eaton, E. S. M. In what torn ship. (S '44)
Papa was a preacher. Porter, A. (O '44)
Papacy
  Jalland, T. G. Church and the papacy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Paper work
  Newkirk, L. V., and Zutter, L. You can make it. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Parachute troops
  Ayling, K. They fly to fight. (Ag '44)
Parchment key. Hopkins, S. (My '44)
Parent and child
  Baruch, D. W. Primer for and about parents: Parents can be people. (D '44)
Parent-teacher organization. National congress of parents and teachers. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Parents' and teachers' associations
  National congress of parents and teachers. Parent-teacher organization. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Parents can be people. See Baruch, D. W. Primer for and about parents. (D '44)
Paris
Description
  Ettlinger, H. Fair fantastic Paris. (O '44)
Paris. Notre Dame (cathedral)
  Anderson, R. G. Biography of a cathedral. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Park book. Zolotow, C. S. (D '44)
Parliamentary privilege in the American colonies. Clarke, M. P. (Ap '44)
Parliamentary representation. Ross, J. F. S. (N '44)
Parsons, Louella (Oettinger) (Mrs H. W. Martin)
  Parsons, L. O. Gay illiterate. (Mr '44)
Partner in three worlds. Duncan, D. (N '44)
Party dress. Zimmerman, N. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Pascal, Blaise
  Cailliet, E. Clue to Pascal. (My '44)
The pass. Savage, T. (My '44)
Passing of the European age. Fischer, E. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Passport to the war. Kunitz, S. J. (My '44)
Pastel drawing
  Davis, G. R. Pastel painting. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Pastel painting. Davis, G. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Pastoral. Norway, N. S. (O '44)
Pastoral work
  Calkins, R. Romance of the ministry. (My '44)
  Pleune, P. H. Some to be pastors. (Ag '44)
Patent laws and legislation
  Kottke, F. J. Electrical technology and the public interest. (D '44)
Patents
  Kottke, F. J. Electrical technology and the public interest. (D '44)
Pathfinders. Lewis, C. (Je '44)

Pathology
Sigerist, H. E. Civilization and disease. (Mr '44)
Pattern for murder. Shriber, I. S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Paul, Saint
Hawkins, R. M. Recovery of the historical Paul. (My '44)
Holzner, J. Paul of Tarsus. (S '44)
Paul of Tarsus. Holzner, J. (S '44)
Pause to wonder. Fischer, M., and Humphries, R., eds. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Peabody, Endicott
Ashburn, F. D. Peabody of Groton. (D '44)
Peace
Adler, M. J. How to think about war and peace. (Mr '44)
Browder, E. R. Teheran. (O '44)
Brynes, A. Revolution comes of age. (My '44)
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (O '44)
Freeman, H. A., ed. Peace is the victory. (O '44)
Gill, C. A. World republic. (N '44)
Gonella, G. World to reconstruct. (S '44)
Huszar, G. B. de, ed. New perspectives on peace. (D '44)
Kelsen, H. Peace through law. (D '44)
Voorhis, H. J. Beyond victory. (Je '44)
Wriston, H. M. Strategy of peace. (D '44)
Wynner, E., and Lloyd, G. Searchlight on peace plans. (Ag '44)
Peace and reconstruction. O'Shaughnessy, M. J. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Peace conference, 1919
Bailey, T. A. Woodrow Wilson and the lost peace. (S '44)
Bonsal, S. Unfinished business. (Mr '44)
Peace is the victory. Freeman, H. A., ed. (O '44)
Peace, plenty and petroleum. Brooks, B. T. (S '44)
Peace through co-operation. Carpenter, J. H. (S '44)
Peace through law. Kelsen, H. (D '44)
Penn, William
Comfort, W. W. William Penn. (My '44)
Pennsylvania Dutch stuff. Robacker, E. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Penny. Chanslor, T. (O '44)
Penny and Pam, nurse and cadet. Deming, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
People, church and state in modern Russia. Anderson, P. B. (Ag '44)
People immortal. Eng title of: No beautiful nights. Grossman, V. (Ag '44)
People of Alor. Du Bois, C. A. (N '44)
People of India. Goshal, K. (Ag '44)
People on our side. Snow, E. (O '44)
Peoples of southeast Asia. Lasker, B. (Ap '44)
Peoples of the USSR. Strong, A. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
People's world. Melvin, A. G. (Ag '44)
Pépé was the saddest bird. Stone, W. S. (D '44)
Pepito at Capistrano. Costantino, J. and J. (Ap '44)
Pepper, George Wharton
Pepper, G. W. Philadelphia lawyer. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Percy letters. Percy, T. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Perelandra. Lewis, C. S. (My '44)
Perils in Provence. Pratt, T. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Perkins, Jacob
Bathe, G. and D. Jacob Perkins. (O '44)
Perry, Oliver Hazard

Juvenile literature

Fenton, A. H. Oliver Hazard Perry. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Personalism
Brightman, E. S., ed. Personalism in theology. (D '44)
Personalism in theology. Brightman, E. S., ed. (D '44)
Personality
Hunt, J. M., ed. Personality and the behavior disorders. (O '44)
Jennings, H. H. Leadership and isolation. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Klein, D. B. Mental hygiene. (S '44)
Woodward, E. S. Strictly private. (D '44)
Personality, Disorders of
Lindner, R. M. Rebel without a cause. (S '44)
McMurry, R. N. Handling personality adjustment in industry. (Ap '44)
Personality and the behavior disorders. Hunt, J. M., ed. (O '44)
Personality tests
Beck, S. J. Rorschach's test. (N '44)
Personnel service in education
Reed, A. Y. Guidance and personnel services in education. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Persons and places. Santayana, G. (Mr '44)
Perspective
Lawson, P. J. Practical perspective drawing. (Je '44)
Petain, Henri Philippe Benoni Omer
Flanner, J. Pétain: the old man of France. (S '44)
Géraud, A. Gravediggers of France. (O '44)
Peter Domanig. White, V. (Je '44)
Peter of the mesa. Means, F. C. (S '44)
Peter "PT". Culbertson, M. H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Peter, the adventures of a chorister. Nicholson, S. H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Peters, Richard
Cummings, H. M. Richard Peters. (O '44)
Peter's story goes to press. Burt, O. W. (Ap '44)
Petroleum
Brooks, B. T. Peace, plenty and petroleum. (S '44)
Petroleum educational institute, Los Angeles. Simplified petroleum chemistry and physics. (Je '44)

Juvenile literature

Writer's program, Pennsylvania. Oil and gas. (D '44)
Phantom freighter. Riesenberg, F. (S '44)
Phantom victory. Lessner, E. C. (N '44)
Phenomenology
Farber, M. Foundation of phenomenology. (S '44)
Philadelphia lawyer. Pepper, G. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Philip II, king of Spain
Maass, E. Dream of Philip II. (N '44)
Philippine Islands
Bulosan, C. Laughter of my father. (My '44)

Juvenile literature

De Leeuw, C. Dutch East Indies and the Philippines. (Mr '44)
Philology, Comparative
Bodmer, F. Loom of language. (Ap '44)
Philosophy
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (O '44)
Craik, K. J. W. Nature of explanation. (Je '44)
Dampier, W. C. D. Shorter history of science. (N '44)
Moore, C. A., ed. Philosophy—East and West. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Philosophy, Ancient
Greene, W. C. Moira. (N '44)
Philosophy, Chinese
Lao Tzŭ. Way of life. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Philosophy—East and West. Moore, C. A., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Philosophy of being. Renard, H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Philosophy of Bertrand Russell. Schilpp, P. A., ed. (N '44)
Philosophy of nature
Kelsen, H. Society and nature. (Ag '44)
Philosophy of scientific investigation. Arthus, M. (S '44)
Philosophy of Thomas Jefferson. Koch, A. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Phoenix and the dwarfs. Taylor, G. E., and Savage, G. M. (O '44)
Phoenix and the tortoise. Rexroth, K. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Photographic books
Shackelford, J. D. My happy days. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Photographic surveying
Church, E. F. Elements of aerial photogrammetry. (N '44)

Photographs of Abraham Lincoln. Meserve, F. H., and Sandburg, C. (Mr '44)

Photography
Complete photographer. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Yearbooks

U.S.A. at war; U.S. camera, 1945. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Photography, Aerial
Abrams, T. Essentials of aerial surveying and photo interpretation. (O '44)
Church, E. F. Elements of aerial photogrammetry. (N '44)
Lobeck, A. K., and Tellington, W. J. Military maps and air photographs. (Je '44)

Photomicrography
Shillaber, C. P. Photomicrography in theory and practice. (N '44)
Photomicrography in theory and practice. Shillaber, C. P. (N '44)
Physical biochemistry. Bull, H. B. (Ap '44)
Physical chemistry of electrolytic solutions. Harned, H. S., and Owen, B. B. (Ap '44)

Physical education and training
Crampton, C. W. Fighting fitness. (Ap '44)
Lawson, V. E. Ranger-commando junior. (O '44)
Miller, B. W., and others. Physical fitness for boys. (My '44)
Physical fitness for boys. Miller, B. W., and others. (My '44)

Physical geography

Juvenile literature

Fenton, C. L. and M. A. Land we live on. (S '44)

Physicians

Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.

Abt, I. A. Baby doctor. (Ap '44)
Bayne, J. B. Bugs and bullets. (O '44)

Physics
Burns, E. E., and others. Physics. (Ap '44)
Hausmann, E., and Slack, E. P. Physics. (O '44)
Jordan, P. Physics of the 20th century. (N '44)
Sears, F. W. Principles of physics I. (D '44)
Physics of the 20th century. Jordan, P. (N '44)

Physiology
Tokay, E. Fundamentals of physiology. (Ag '44)

Pianists

Juvenile literature

Burch, G. Famous pianists, for boys and girls. (O '44)

Pick the vegetables. Reno, E. W., and Weisgard, L. (O '44)
Pictorial guide to many lands. Turner, W. J., ed. (My '44)
Pictorial history of the second World war. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Pictorial history of the war. Hutchinson, W., ed. (O '44)
Pictorial library primer. Davis, W. L. (N '44)
Picture map geography of Canada and Alaska. Quinn, V. (Je '44)
Pictures by Pete. Huff, D. (Je '44)
Pierre keeps watch. Gleitsmann, H. (S '44)
Pigeon heroes. Cothren, M. B. (Je '44)

Pigeons
Bonner, M. G. Couriers of the sky. (N '44)

Juvenile literature

Cothren, M. B. Pigeon heroes. (Je '44)

Pigskin warriors. Scholz, J. V. (O '44)
Pile-driving handbook. Chellis, R. D. (S '44)

Piles and pile driving
Chellis, R. D. Pile-driving handbook. (S '44)
Pills, petticoats and plows. Clark, T. D. (My '44)
Pilots all. Felsen, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pilots also pray. Harmon, T. D. (D '44)

Pilots and pilotage
Kells, L. M., and others. Navigation. (Je '44)
Pilots, man your planes. Mason, V. (S '44)
Pioneer art in America. Bailey, C. S. (D '44)
Pioneers! O pioneers! Saunders, H. A. S. (S '44)

Pioneers of the Ozarks. Broadfoot, L. L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Pipe fitting
Goehring, E. P. Marine piping handbook for designers-fitters-operators. (Ap '44)
Hase, V. E., and Allen, R. W. Marine pipe-fitting. (O '44)
Pipeline to battle. Rainier, P. W. (Mr '44)

Pissarro, Camille Jacob
Pissarro, C. J. Letters to his son Lucien. (S '44)
Pitchfork Ben Tillman. Simkins, F. B. (D '44)

Pitkin, Walter Boughton
Pitkin, W. B. On my own. (S '44)

Pius XII (Eugenio Pacelli) pope
Cianfarra, C. M. Vatican and the war. (Ap '44)
Gonella, G. World to reconstruct. (S '44)
Naughton, J. W. Pius XII on world problems. (Ap '44)
Sharkey, D. White smoke over the Vatican. (My '44)
Pius XII on world problems. Naughton, J. W. (Ap '44)
Plain case of murder. Thayer, L. (Ap '44)
Plain clothes Patricia. Urmston, M. (Je '44)
Plain people of the confederacy. Wiley, B. I. (Ap '44)
Plan for the post-war world. Goldberg, R. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Planes in action. Chapelle, G. L. M. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Planetary democracy. Reiser, O. L., and Davies B. (N '44)

Planing machines
Colvin, F. H. Planing, shaping and slotting. (Ag '44)
Planing, shaping and slotting. Colvin, F. H. (Ag '44)
Planning for the South. Van Sickle, J. V. (My '44)

Plants

Chemical analysis

Schopfer, W. H. Plants and vitamins. (Ag '44)

Nutrition

Hoagland, D. R. Lectures on the inorganic nutrition of plants. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Plants, Edible
Fernald, M. L., and Kinsey, A. C. Edible wild plants of eastern North America. (Ap '44)
Plants and flowers in the home. Post, K. (S '44)
Plants and vitamins. Schopfer, W. H. (Ag '44)
Plastic horizons. Weil, B. H., and Anhorn, V. J. (S '44)

Plastic materials
Morrell, R. S., ed. Synthetic resins and allied plastics. (Ag '44)
Plastic molding and plant management. Dearle, D. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Plastic working of metals and non-metallic materials in presses. Crane, E. V. (Je '44)

Plastics
Dearle, D. A. Plastic molding and plant management. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Leyson, B. W. Plastics in the world of tomorrow. (O '44)
Weil, B. H., and Anhorn, V. J. Plastic horizons. (S '44)
Young, J. F., ed. Materials and processes. (Je '44)

Plastics in the world of tomorrow. Leyson, B. W. (O '44)

Plastics industry
Leyson, B. W. Plastics in the world of tomorrow. (O '44)

Plato
Hoerber, R. G. Theme of Plato's Republic. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Play
Mapes, M. A. Fun with your child. (Mr '44)
Play centers for school children. Franklin, A., and Benedict, A. E. (Mr '44)

Play schools
Franklin, A., and Benedict, A. E. Play centers for school children. (Mr '44)
Lambert, C. B. School's out. (D '44)

Plays of democracy. Mayorga, M. G., ed. (My '44)

Plea for liberty. Bernanos, G. (Ag '44)

Plenty of people. Thompson, W. S. (Je '44)

Poe, Edgar Allan
Fiction
Williams, C. Raven. (Ag '44)
Poems. Thompson, D. (Mr '44)
Poems for Josephine. Worth, K. (Ag '44)
Poems from the desert. (O '44)
Poems, 1923-1943. Daly, J. J. (Mr '44)
Poetry (individual authors)
Aiken, C. P. Soldier. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Auden, W. H. For the time being. (O '44)
Bacon, L. Day of fire. (Ap '44)
Barker, G. Sacred and secular elegies. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Benét, W. R. Day of deliverance. (O '44)
Boyd, J. Eighteen poems. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Boyle, K. American citizen. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Branch, A. H. Last poems. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Bulosan, C. Voice of Bataan. (Ap '44)
Clapp, F. M. Against a background on fire. (Ag '44)
Clark, T. C. Lincoln: fifty poems. (Ap '44)
Coblentz, S. A. Green vistas. (O '44)
Creekmore, H. Stone ants. (Ag '44)
Cummings, E. E. 1 x 1. (My '44)
Daly, J. J. Poems, 1923-1943. (Mr '44)
Davenport, R. W. My country. (D '44)
Deutsch, B. Take them, stranger. (N '44)
Doolittle, H. Walls do not fall. (N '44)
Duryee, M. B. Free enterprise. (Ap '44)
Ferril, T. H. Trial by time. (My '44)
Fitzgerald, R. Wreath for the sea. (My '44)
Francis, R. Sound I listened for. (S '44)
Gordon, D. A. Statement. (D '44)
Gustafson, R. Flight into darkness. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Haas, R. Delay is the song. (My '44)
Hayes, A. Big time. (Je '44)
Hearst, J. Sun at noon. (Ag '44)
Heine, H. Germany, a winter's tale, 1844. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Heiner, J. M. Beckoning paths. (N '44)
Homer. Iliad; tr. by Smith and Miller. (N '44)
Humphries, R. Summer landscape. (N '44)
Jackson, A. P. Behold the Jew. (O '44)
Johnson, S. Dictator and the devil. (Ap '44)
Justema, W. Private papers. (Je '44)
Klein, A. M. Hitleriad. (N '44)
Kunitz, S. J. Passport to the war. (My '44)
Laing, D. B. Birth is farewell. (N '44)
Leger, A. S.-L. Eloges. (My '44)
Link, C. C. W. There is still time. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Livesay, D. Day and night. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Lowell, R. Land of unlikeness. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mary Thérèse, Sister. Give Joan a sword. (S '44)
Melville, H. Selected poems. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Meredith, W. M. Love letter from an impossible land. (My '44)
Miller, M. B. Crucifixion. (My '44)
Mills, C. Circus. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Moore, M. Nevertheless. (N '44)
Morley, C. D. Middle kingdom. (N '44)
Morrison, T. Devious way. (N '44)
Morse, S. F. Time of year. (S '44)
Nathan, R. Morning in Iowa. (My '44)
Norman, C. Soldier's diary. (N '44)
Péguy, C. P. Men and saints. (D '44)
Pierce, E. L. In this our day. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pudney, J. Flight above cloud. (Ag '44)
Rexroth, K. Phoenix and the tortoise. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Rimbaud, J. N. A. Prose poems. (My '44)
Rukeyser, M. Beast in view. (O '44)
Shapiro, K. J. V-letter. (N '44)
Smith, A. J. M. News of the phoenix. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Smith, G. S. Lines for the canonization of Pedro Domecq. (My '44)
Spencer, T. Act of life. (Je '44)
Stuart, J. Album of destiny. (O '44)
Tennyson, A. T. Selection from [his] poems, ed. by W. H. Auden. (D '44)
Thompson, D. Poems. (Mr '44)
Todrin, B. At the gates. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Tolson, M. B. Rendezvous with America. (D '44)
Van Doren, M. Seven sleepers. (My '44)
Vinal, H. Compass eye. (O '44)
Warren, R. P. Selected poems, 1923-1943. (My '44)
Welles, W. Shape of memory. (Ap '44)
Winters, Y. Giant weapon. (S '44)
Young, M. Moderate fable. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Zaturenska, M. A. Golden mirror. (O '44)
Pogo's train ride. Norling, J. S. and E. R. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Poisons
Jacobs, M. B. Analytical chemistry of industrial poisons, hazards and solvents. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Poland
Civilization
Lednicki, W. Life and culture of Poland. (N '44)
Foreign relations
Russia
Cardwell, A. S. Poland and Russia. (S '44)
History
German occupation, 1939-
Black book of Polish Jewry. (Mr '44)
Karski, J. Story of a secret state. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Social life and customs
Adams, D. We stood alone. (O '44)
Poland and Russia. Cardwell, A. S. (S '44)
Poland fights back. Pruszynski, K. (N '44)
Poldrate street. Weston, G. (Je '44)
Police, International
Johnsen, J. E., comp. International police force. (O '44)
Michie, A. A. Keep the peace through air power. (S '44)
Poling, Clark Vandersall
Poling, D. A. Your daddy did not die. (O '44)
Polish literature
Lednicki, W. Life and culture of Poland. (N '44)
Political action committee. See Congress of industrial organizations. Political action committee
Political handbook for women. Garrette, E. (S '44)
Political meeting places of the Greeks. McDonald, W. A. (Ag '44)
Political parties
United States
Binkley, W. E. American political parties. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Willkie, W. L. An American program. (N '44)
Political science
Benne, K. D. Conception of authority. (O '44)
Garner, J. W. Studies in government and international law. (Je '44)
Merriam, C. E. Public and private government. (Je '44)
Mises, L. von. Bureaucracy. (N '44)
Osgniach, A. J. Christian state. (Ag '44)
Paine, T. Representative selections. (D '44)
Shaw, G. B. Everybody's political what's what. (N '44)
Wasserman, L. Modern political philosophies. (O '44)
Politics, Practical
Abrahams, L. It's all politics. (D '44)
Torrey, V. You and your Congress. (Ap '44)
Poll-tax
Tennessee
Perry, J. Democracy begins at home. (N '44)
Popes
Temporal power
Morgan, T. B. Listening post. (My '44)
Popes' new order. Hughes, P., ed. (Ap '44)
Population
Landis, P. H. Population problems. (Ap '44)
Thompson, W. S. Plenty of people. (Je '44)
Weigert, H. W., and Stefansson, V., eds. Compass of the world. (O '44)
Population problems. Landis, P. H. (Ap '44)
Populist movement in the United States. Rochester, A. (S '44)
Populist party
Rochester, A. Populist movement in the United States. (S '44)

Porter, William Sydney
Juvenile literature
Nolan, J. C. O. Henry. (Mr '44)
Portrait of Jesus. Eddy, G. S. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Portrait of love. Nichols, M. G. (Je '44)
Portugal
Description and travel
Colman, E. Portugal, wharf of Europe. (N '44)
Portugal in quest of Prester John. Eng title of: Land of Prester John. Sanceau, E. (Je '44)
Portugal, wharf of Europe. Colman, E. (N '44)
Portuguese in Ethiopia
Sanceau, E. Land of Prester John. (Je '44)
Postwar monetary plans. Williams, J. H. (O '44)
Postwar planning in the United States. Twentieth century fund, inc. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Postwar plans of the United nations. Lorwin, L. L. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Post-war standards for public libraries. American library association. Committee on postwar planning. (Je '44)
Pottery
Leeming, J. Fun with clay. (N '44)
Poultry
Chapman, P. W. Chicken raising made easy. (Ap '44)
Hurd, L. M. Modern poultry farming. (Je '44)
Jones, R. E. Basic chicken guide for the small flock owner. (D '44)
Power (mechanics)
Juvenile literature
Dunn, M. L., and Morrisett, L. N. Power for America. (Ag '44)
Power and flight. Jordanoff, A. (My '44)
Power for America. Dunn, M. L., and Morrisett, L. N. (Ag '44)
Power industry and the public interest. Twentieth century fund, incorporated. (Ag '44)
Power within us. Núñez Cabeza de Vaca, A. (Ag '44)
Practical analytic geometry with applications to aircraft. Liming, R. A. (Ag '44)
Practical course in horology. Kelly, H. C. (Ag '44)
Practical design of welded steel structures. Priest, H. M. (O '44)
Practical farming for the South. Bullock, B. F. (N '44)
Practical perspective drawing. Lawson, P. J. (Je '44)
Practical psychology. See Woodworth, R. S., and Sheehan, M. R. First course in psychology. (Ap '44)
Practical radio for war training. Beitman, M. N. (Je '44)
Practice of idealism. Bingham, A. M. (My '44)
Prairie city. Debo, A. (Je '44)
Prayer
Doppelt, F. A. Dialogue with God. (My '44)
Heard, G. Preface to prayer. (Ag '44)
Prayer for a child. Field, R. L. (D '44)
Prayers
Harkness, G. E. Glory of God. (S '44)
Stroup, H. H., comp. Symphony of prayer. (D '44)
Suter, J. W. Prayers of the spirit. (My '44)
Prayers of the spirit. Suter, J. W. (My '44)
Preaching
Kirkpatrick, R. W. Creative delivery of sermons. (Je '44)
Oxnam, G. B. Preaching in a revolutionary age. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Poteat, G. We preach not ourselves. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Scherer, P. E. For we have this treasure. (N '44)
Preaching in a revolutionary age. Oxnam, G. B. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Predicament of modern man. Trueblood, D. E. (O '44)
Preface to peace. Callender, H. (Ap '44)
Preface to prayer. Heard, G. (Ag '44)
Pregnancy
Bundesen, H. N. Baby manual. (O '44)
Carrington, W. J. Safe convoy. (N '44)
Castallo, M. A., and Walz, A. Expectantly yours. (Je '44)
Read, G. D. Childbirth without fear. (My '44)
Prejudice. McWilliams, C. (N '44)
Prelude to invasion. United States. War department. (N '44)
Prelude to silence. Brecht, A. (S '44)
Prescription for permanent peace. Sadler, W. S. (N '44)
Present savings and postwar markets. Slichter, S. H. (O '44)
Presidency and the crisis. Koenig, L. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Presidential agent. Sinclair, U. B. (Ag '44)
Presidents (United States)
Election
Luthin, R. H. First Lincoln campaign. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Graham, A. P. Thirty-one roads to the White House. (N '44)
Powers and duties
Koenig, L. W. Presidency and the crisis. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Milton, G. F. Use of presidential power, 1789-1943. (My '44)
Press
United States
Kobre, S. Development of the colonial newspaper. (N '44)
Prester John
Sanceau, E. Land of Prester John. (Je '44)
Pre-stressed reinforced concrete. Billig, K. (Je '44)
Pretzel. Rey, M. E. W. (D '44)
Prevention of repeated crime. Waite, J. B. (My '44)
Price, Thomas Frederick
Murrett, J. C. Tar heel apostle. (N '44)
Price making in a democracy. Nourse, E. G. (N '44)
Price of social security. Williams, G. R. (N '44)
Prices
Baxter, W. J. No inflation coming! (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Berry, T. S. Western prices before 1861. (Ap '44)
Nourse, E. G. Price making in a democracy. (N '44)
Primer for and about parents: Parents can be people. Baruch, D. W. (D '44)
Primer of American antiques. Drepperd, C. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Primer of electronics. Caverly, D. P. (Je '44)
Primer of navigation. Mixter, G. W. (My '44)
Primer of the coming world. Schwarzschild, L. (S '44)
Princess (aircraft carrier)
McCracken, K. D. Baby flat-top. (S '44)
Princesses and peasant boys. Fenner, P. R., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Principal in the modern elementary school. Lane, R. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Principles and practice of industrial medicine. Wampler, F. J., ed. (My '44)
Principles and practice of rehabilitation. Davis, J. E. (Ap '44)
Principles of behavior. Hull, C. L. (Ag '44)
Principles of Christian ethics. Knudson, A. C. (Ap '44)
Principles of modern industrial organization. Rautenstrauch, W. (Ap '44)
Principles of physics I. Sears, F. W. (D '44)
Principles of powder metallurgy. Skaupy, F. (O '44)
Principles of systematic psychology. Griffith, C. R. (My '44)
Printing, Practical
Hague, C. W. Printing for the schools. (Ap '44)
Style manuals
New York (city). Public library. Style manual for preparation of catalogue copy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Printing for the schools. Hague, C. W. (Ap '44)
Printing trade
Loft, J. Printing trades. (D '44)
Printing trades. Loft, J. (D '44)

Prisons
Robinson, L. N. Jails. (Je '44)
Pritchett, Henry Smith
Flexner, A. Henry S. Pritchett. (My '44)
Private Breger in Britain. Eng title of: Private Breger's war. Breger, D. (My '44)
Private Breger's war. Breger, D. (My '44)
Private life of the master race. Brecht, B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Private papers. Justema, W. (Je '44)
Private Pepper of Dogs for defense. Cavanah, F. (Mr '44)
Prize stories of 1944. O. Henry memorial award. (N '44)
Probing our prejudices. Powdermaker, H. (N '44)
Problem of Ezekiel. Irwin, W. A. (My '44)
Proctor, Frederick Freeman
Marston, W. M., and Feller, J. H. F. F. Proctor, vaudeville pioneer. (Ap '44)
Prodigal genius. O'Neill, J. J. (D '44)
Production conference. Wolff, J. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Production handbook. Alford, L. P., and Bangs, J. R., eds. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Production, jobs and taxes. Groves, H. M. (S '44)
Profession, Choice of
Brewer, J. M., and Landy, E. Occupations today. (Ap '44)
Spiegler, S. Your life's work. (O '44)
Professor at large. Duggan, S. P. H. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Profile by gaslight. Smith, E. W., ed. (My '44)
Program of instruction in library schools. Metcalf, K. De W., and others. (S '44)
Programs for library schools. Reece, E. J. (Je '44)
Progress
Carlisle, N. V., and Latham, F. B. Miracles ahead! (Je '44)
Cooley, D. G. Your world tomorrow. (Je '44)
Pronouncing dictionary of American English. Kenyon, J. S., and Knott, T. A., eds. (N '44)
Propaganda
Ogden, A. R. Dies committee. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Propaganda, German
Hoke, H. R. Black mail. (O '44)
Kris, E., and Speier, H. German radio propaganda. (S '44)
Propellers, Aerial
Nelson, W. C. Airplane propeller principles. (Je '44)
Prose poems. Rimbaud, J. N. A. (My '44)
Prospects and policies. Morrison, H. S. (Ag '44)
Protect yourself. Mendell, B. I. (S '44)
Protective and decorative coatings: v. 4, Special studies. Mattiello, J. J., ed. (Je '44)
Proteins
Schmidt, C. L. A., ed. Addendum to The chemistry of the amino acids and proteins. (O '44)
Protestant churches
United States
Abell, A. I. Urban impact on American protestantism. (O '44)
Proud people. Crichton, K. S. (Ap '44)
Psychiatric novels. Holmes, O. W. (Je '44)
Psychiatry and the war. Sladen, F. J., ed. (N '44)
Psychiatry of Robert Burton. Evans, B., and Mohr, G. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Psychical research
Baird, A. T., ed. One hundred cases for survival after death. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Garrett, E. J. L. Awareness. (Ap '44)
Psychoanalysis
Brill, A. A. Freud's contribution to psychiatry. (N '44)
Lindner, R. M. Rebel without a cause. (S '44)
Lorand, A. S., ed. Psychoanalysis today. (S '44)
Psychoanalysis today. Lorand, A. S., ed. (S '44)
Psychologist looks at love. Reik, T. (N '44)
Psychology
Cole, L. W. Attaining maturity. (S '44)
Griffith, C. R. Principles of systematic psychology. (My '44)
Hunt, J. M., ed. Personality and the behavior disorders. (O '44)
Leeper, R. Lewin's topological and vector psychology. (Ag '44)
Sargent, S. S. Basic teachings of the great psychologists. (Ag '44)
Woodworth, R. S., and Sheehan, M. R. First course in psychology. (Ap '44)
Psychology, Applied
Buck, P. C. Psychology for musicians. (N '44)
Laird, D. A. and E. C. L. Technique of building personal leadership. (O '44)
Miller, J. H. Take a look at yourself. (Ag '44)
White, W. Psychology in living. (O '44)
Psychology, Pathological
American psychiatric association. One hundred years of American psychiatry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hunt, J. M., ed. Personality and the behavior disorders. (O '44)
Moore, T. V. Nature and treatment of mental disorders. (My '44)
Sladen, F. J., ed. Psychiatry and the war. (N '44)
Tomkins, S. S., ed. Contemporary psychopathology. (S '44)
Psychology, Physiological
Scheinfeld, A. Women and men. (D '44)
Psychology, Religious
Stolz, K. R. Church and psychotherapy. (Ap '44)
Psychology for musicians. Buck, P. C. (N '44)
Psychology in living. White, W. (O '44)
Psychology of women. Deutsch, H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Psychotherapy
Barton, B. And now to live again. (D '44)
Stolz, K. R. Church and psychotherapy. (Ap '44)
Public and private government. Merriam, C. E. (Je '44)
Public health
Ehlers, V. M., and Steel, E. W. Municipal and rural sanitation. (Ap '44)
China
Sze, S. China's health problems. (Ag '44)
Public library finance and accounting. Wight, E. A. (My '44)
Public opinion
Cantril, H. Gauging public opinion. (My '44)
France
Micaud, C. A. French Right and Nazi Germany. (Ap '44)
United States
Bruner, J. S. Mandate from the people. (S '44)
Lydgate, W. A. What America thinks. (N '44)
Public opinion polls
Gallup, G. H. Guide to public opinion polls. (S '44)
Public rural electrification. Muller, F. W. (D '44)
Public schools
United States
Syrkin, M. Your school, your children. (O '44)
Public speaking
Wright, C. W. How to speak in public. (Ap '44)
Public spending and postwar economic policy. Fine, S. M. (O '44)
Public worship
Heimsath, C. H. Genius of public worship. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Publicity
Levy, H. P. Building a popular movement. (N '44)
Publishers and publishing
Bowker lectures on book publishing. (Je '44)
Pueblo Indians
Art
Adair, J. Navajo and Pueblo silversmiths. (N '44)
Pumping machinery
Graham, F. D. Audels pumps, hydraulics, air compressors. (Ap '44)

Puppy stakes. Cavanna, B. (S '44)
Puritan adventure. Lenski, L. (O '44)
Puritan family. Morgan, E. S. (D '44)
Puritans
  Morgan, E. S. Puritan family. (D '44)
  Plum, H. G. Restoration puritanism. (Ag '44)
Purser's progress. O'Reilly, T. (Ag '44)
Pussycat's breakfast. Weil, A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Put out the light. Eng title of: Silence of the sea. Bruller, J. (Ap '44)
Puzzle for puppets. Webb, R. W., and Wheeler, H. C. (D '44)
Puzzle in petticoats. Kootz, S. M. (S '44)
Puzzles
  Leopold, J. At ease! (Ap '44)
  Proskauer, J. J. Puzzles for everyone. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Puzzles for everyone. Proskauer, J. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pyrotechnics. Weingart, G. W. (Ap '44)

Quakers take stock. Curtis, A. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Quantitative analysis. Booth, H. S., and Damerell, V. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Quantitative chemical methods for engineering students. Smith, O. M., and Sheerar, L. F. (O '44)
Quantum chemistry. Eyring, H., and others. (Je '44)
Quantum theory
  Eyring, H., and others. Quantum chemistry. (Je '44)
  Glasstone, S. Theoretical chemistry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Quebec (city)
History
  De la Roche, M. Quebec. (S '44)
Quebec (province)
  Ryerson, S. B. French Canada. (N '44)
Quebec. De la Roche, M. (S '44)
Quebec to Carolina in 1785-1786. Hunter, R. (S '44)
Queen of spades. Bailey, H. C. (Mr '44)
Queen was in the kitchen. McVicker, D. A. (My '44)
Quest for moral law. Eby, L. S. (O '44)
Questions and answers for deck officers. Norby, H. (S '44)
Quoth the raven. Fischer, B. (N '44)

Rabbit-go-lucky. Coté, P. N. (D '44)
Rabbit hill. Lawson, R. (N '44)
Race and rumors of race. Odum, H. W. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Race: nation: person. (S '44)
Race problems
  Leiper, H. S. Blind spots. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Race: nation: person. (S '44)
Race with the sun. People, G. C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Radiant life. Jones, R. M. (Ag '44)
Radio
  Almstead, F. E., and others. Radio. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Beitman, M. N. Practical radio for war training. (Je '44)
  Boltz, C. L. Basic radio. (Je '44)
  Drew, C. E. How to pass radio license examinations. (O '44)
  Frey, A. R. Fundamentals of radio communications. (Je '44)
  Lazarsfeld, P. F., and Stanton, F. N., eds. Radio research, 1942-1943. (Ag '44)
  Ramo, S., and Whinnery, J. R. Fields and waves in modern radio. (N '44)
  Slurzberg, M., and Osterheld, W. Electrical essentials of radio. (O '44)
  Tyler, K. S. Modern radio. (N '44)
  Wang, T. J. Mathematics of radio communications. (My '44)
History
  Dunlap, O. E. Radio's 100 men of science. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Installation on ships
  Strichartz, M. H., ed. Marine radio manual. (D '44)
Short wave
  Emery, W. L. Ultra-high-frequency radio engineering. (D '44)
  Ladner, A. W., and Stoner, C. R. Short wave wireless communication. (Ap '44)
Social aspects
  Lazarsfeld, P. F., and Stanton, F. N., eds. Radio research, 1942-1943. (Ag '44)
Radio broadcasting
  Floherty, J. J. Behind the microphone. (D '44)
  Lazarsfeld, P. F., and Stanton, F. N., eds. Radio research, 1942-1943. (Ag '44)
Radio direction finders. Bond, D. S. (O '44)
Radio in aeronautics
  Redfield, H. L. Instrument flying and radio navigation. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Radio in education
  Lazarsfeld, P. F., and Stanton, F. N., eds. Radio research, 1942-1943. (Ag '44)
Radio in propaganda
  Kris, E., and Speier, H. German radio propaganda. (S '44)
Radio plays
  Corwin, N. L. More by Corwin. (My '44)
  MacLeish, A. American story. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Oboler, A., and Longstreet, S., eds. Free world theatre. (O '44)
Radio receiver design, pt 1. Sturley, K. R. (Je '44)
Radio receivers
  Sturley, K. R. Radio receiver design, pt 1. (Je '44)
  Zepler, E. E. Technique of radio design. (Je '44)
Radio research, 1942-1943. Lazarsfeld, P. F., and Stanton, F. N., eds. (Ag '44)
Radio's 100 men of science. Dunlap, O. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Raft book. Gatty, H. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Railroads
China
  Chang, C. China's struggle for railroad development. (O '44)
United States
  Farrington, S. K. Railroads at war. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Johnson, E. R. Railroads and public welfare. (D '44)
  Van Metre, T. W. Trains, tracks, and travel. (N '44)
Railroads and public welfare. Johnson, E. R. (D '44)
Railroads and state
  Johnson, E. R. Railroads and public welfare. (D '44)
Railroads at war. Farrington, S. K. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Rainbow. Wasilewska, W. (My '44)
Ranger-commando junior. Lawson, V. E. (O '44)
Ranger Mosby. Jones, V. C. (O '44)
Rationalism
  Murphy, A. E. Uses of reason. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Raven. Williams, C. (Ag '44)
Razor's edge. Maugham, W. S. (My '44)
Readability of certain type sizes and forms in sight-saving classes. McNally, H. J. (Je '44)
Reading
  Flesch, R. Marks of readable style. (My '44)
  McNally, H. J. Readability of certain type sizes and forms in sight-saving classes. (Je '44)
Reading (elementary)
  Bond, G. L. and E. Teaching the child to read. (Ag '44)
Reading for an air age. Merriam, H. G., and others, eds. (My '44)
Real Soviet Russia. Dallin, D. J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Reality
  Murphy, A. E. Uses of reason. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Renard, H. Philosophy of being. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Reason
Murphy, A. E. Uses of reason. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Rebel without a cause. Lindner, R. M. (S '44)
Rebellion in the backlands. Cunha, E. da. (Mr '44)
Rebellion of Leo McGuire. Davis, C. B. (S '44)
Rebuilding our world. Sperry, W. L. (My '44)
Recidivists
Waite, J. B. Prevention of repeated crime. (My '44)
Reconstituting the League of nations. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (Mr '44)
Reconstruction (1914-1939)
Bane, S. L., and Lutz, R. H., eds. Organization of American relief in Europe, 1918-1919. (My '44)
Kraus, H. International relief in action, 1914-1943. (S '44)

United States

Mock, J. R., and Thurber, E. W. Report on demobilization. (Ap '44)

Reconstruction (1939-)
Barth, K. Church and the war. (S '44)
Becker, C. L. How new will the better world be? (Ap '44)
Bruner, J. S. Mandate from the people. (S '44)
Bush, M. E., and others. Citizen, plan for peace! (My '44)
Canadian institute on public affairs. United nations today and tomorrow. (N '44)
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (O '44)
Dunn, A. Arithmetic or revolution. (S '44)
Fitzgibbon, R. H., ed. Global politics. (S '44)
Fox, W. T. R. Super-powers. (S '44)
Gibbs, P. H., ed. Bridging the Atlantic. (My '44)
Gonella, G. World to reconstruct. (S '44)
Johnson, F. E., ed. Religion and the world order. (Je '44)
Kazmayer, R. Out of the clouds. (Ap '44)
Kuhns, W. R., and others, eds. Return of opportunity. (Mr '44)
League of nations. Economic, financial and transit department. Transition from war to peace economy. (My '44)
Lorwin, L. L. Postwar plans of the United nations. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
MacNeil, N. American peace. (D '44)
Marriott, J. A. R. Federalism and the problem of the small state. (Ag '44)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Peace and reconstruction. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Quinn, T. K. Liberty, employment and no more wars. (Ag '44)
Schwarzschild, L. Primer of the coming world. (S '44)
Shotwell, J. T. Great decision. (S '44)
Smuts, J. C. Toward a better world. (Mr '44)
Sockman, R. W. Date with destiny. (S '44)
Stewart, M. S. Building for peace at home and abroad. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Trueblood, D. E. Predicament of modern man. (O '44)
Voorhis, H. J. Beyond victory. (Je '44)
Welles, S. Time for decision. (S '44)

Africa

Orizu, A. A. N. Without bitterness. (N '44)

Canada

Brady, A., and Scott, F. R., eds. Canada after the war. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

China

Sun, K. China looks forward. (S '44)

East (Far East)

Chou, K. Winning the peace in the Pacific. (Mr '44)

Germany

Brailsford, H. N. Our settlement with Germany. (O '44)
Frank, K. B. Germany after Hitler. (Mr '44)
Gerschenkron, A. Bread and democracy in Germany. (My '44)
How to end the German menace. (O '44)
Lorimer, E. O. What the German needs. (Ag '44)
Minshall, T. H. Future Germany. (N '44)
Nizer, L. What to do with Germany. (Mr '44)
Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. Germany: to be or not to be? (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Great Britain

Morrison, H. S. Prospects and policies. (Ag '44)

Japan

Lamott, W. C. Nippon. (Ag '44)

Russia

Dallin, D. J. Russia and postwar Europe. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

United States

Baruch, B. M., and Hancock, J. M. Text of official report: War and postwar adjustment policies. (Ag '44)
Howenstine, E. J. Economics of demobilization. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Kaplan, A. D. H. Liquidation of war production. (O '44)
Mock, J. R., and Thurber, E. W. Report on demobilization. (Ap '44)
Nathan, R. R. Mobilizing for abundance. (Ap '44)
Thomas, E. D. Four fears. (N '44)
Twentieth century fund, inc. Postwar planning in the United States. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Recovery of the historical Paul. Hawkins, R. M. (My '44)
Red cock crows. Gaither, F. O. J. (Je '44)
Red light, green light. MacDonald, G. (N '44)
Red roses for me. O'Casey, S. (Mr '44)
Red tractor. Corey, P. (N '44)
Reed & Barton, Taunton, Massachusetts
Gibb, G. S. Whitesmiths of Taunton. (S '44)
Reed of God. Houselander, F. C. (Ag '44)
Reference books
Hutchins, M. Introduction to reference work. (D '44)
Refrigeration and refrigerating machinery
Anderson, E. P. Audels refrigeration and air conditioning guide. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Jennings, B. H., and Lewis, S. R. Air conditioning and refrigeration. (O '44)
Manly, H. P. Drake's refrigeration service manual. (D '44)
Regional geography of Anglo-America. White, C. L., and Foscue, E. J. (Ag '44)
Regional planning
Escritt, L. B. Regional planning. (Ag '44)
Finer, H. T.V.A: lessons for international application. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Kizer, B. H. U.S.-Canadian Northwest. (My '44)
Van Sickle, J. V. Planning for the South. (My '44)
Regional planning. Escritt, L. B. (Ag '44)
Rehabilitation
Waite, J. B. Prevention of repeated crime. (My '44)
Rehabilitation, Rural
Allen, H. B. Come over into Macedonia. (Mr '44)
Reinforced concrete and masonry structures. Hool, G. A., and Kinne, W. S., eds. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Relaxation. Rathbone, J. L. (Ag '44)
Relevance of the Bible. Rowley, H. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Relevance of the prophets. Scott, R. B. Y. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Religion
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (O '44)
Conference on the scientific spirit and democratic faith. Scientific spirit and democratic faith. (N '44)
Werfel, F. V. Between heaven and earth. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Philosophy

Schmidt, K. From science to God. (S '44)
Religion and science
Hocking, W. E. Science and the idea of God. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Religion and sociology
Johnson, F. E., ed. Religion and the world order. (Je '44)
Wach, J. Sociology of religion. (D '44)

Religion and the issues of life. Lyman, E. W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Religion and the world order. Johnson, F. E., ed. (Je '44)

Religion in literature
  Adams, H. H. English domestic or homiletic tragedy, 1575 to 1642. (Ag '44)
  Braswell, W. Melville's religious thought. (My '44)
Religion of tomorrow. Boodin, J. E. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Religions
  Ballou, R. O., ed. World Bible. (Ag '44)

Religions (proposed, universal, etc.)
  Aiken, J. R. R. Commonsense religion. (Ag '44)
Religious and philosophical aspects of van Helmont's science and medicine. Pagel, W. (D '44)

Religious education
  Bower, W. C. Church and state in education. (Ag '44)
  Elwell, C. E. Influence of the enlightenment on the Catholic theory of religious education in France. (Ag '44)
  Sherrill, L. J. Rise of Christian education. (Ag '44)

Religious thought
  Macfarland, C. S. Survey of religious literature. (Ag '44)
  White, H. C. Social criticism in popular religious literature of the sixteenth century. (Ag '44)
Remember Matt Boyer. Huntington, H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Remember the shadows. Duncan, D. (Je '44)
Render unto Caesar. (Je '44)
Rendezvous with America. Tolson, M. B. (D '44)
Rendezvous with destiny. Roosevelt, F. D. (S '44)
Report on demobilization. Mock, J. R., and Thurber, E. W. (Ap '44)
Report on the constitutional problem in India submitted to the warden and fellows of Nuffield college, Oxford. Eng title of: Indian problem. Coupland, R. (O '44)
Representative American speeches: 1943-1944. Baird, A. C., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Representative government and representation
  Allen, C. K. Democracy and the individual. (Je '44)
  Ross, J. F. S. Parliamentary representation. (N '44)
Representative selections. Paine, T. (D '44)

Reptiles
  Morris, P. A. They hop and crawl. (N '44)
Republic. Beard, C. A. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Requisition in France and Italy. Wise, M. K. (O '44)

Requisitions, Military
  Wise, M. K. Requisition in France and Italy. (O '44)
Rest of your life. Cherne, L. M. (Ag '44)
Restoration puritanism. Plum, H. G. (Ag '44)

Retail trade
  Clark, T. D. Pills, petticoats and plows. (My '44)
Retrospect of an unimportant life, v 2. Henson, H. H. (Ag '44)
Return. Peattie, M. R. (Mr '44)
Return of opportunity. Kuhns, W. R., and others, eds. (Mr '44)
Return of Silver Chief. O'Brien, J. S. (Ap '44)
Return of the traveller. Warner, R. (Je '44)
Return to freedom. Johnson, T. H., ed. (O '44)
Reunion on Strawberry hill. Thorpe, B. D. (Ap '44)
Revelation of childbirth. Eng title of: Childbirth without fear. Read, G. D. (My '44)
Revivalism in America. Sweet, W. W. (S '44)

Revivals
  Sweet, W. W. Revivalism in America. (S '44)
Revolt in paradise. MacDonald, A. W. (O '44)
Revolution comes of age. Brynes, A. (My '44)
Revolution in India. Gunther, F. F. (S '44)

Revolutions
  Treviranus, G. R. Revolutions in Russia. (Je '44)
Revolutions in Russia. Treviranus, G. R. (Je '44)
Reward for Brownie. Hogner, D. C. (N '44)
Rex of the coast patrol. Johnson, M. S. and H. L. (Ag '44)

Reynaud, Paul
  Géraud, A. Gravediggers of France. (O '44)

Rheology
  Reiner, M. Ten lectures on theoretical rheology. (Ag '44)
  Scott Blair, G. W. Survey of general and applied rheology. (O '44)
Riddle of cancer. Oberling, C. (My '44)
Riddles in mathematics. Northrop, E. P. (Je '44)
Ride with me. Costain, T. B. (O '44)
Riders of the Gabilans. Dean, G. M. (D '44)
Ridin' the rainbow. Taylor, R. (D '44)
Riding on air. Hamburg, M. C., and Beddow, F. A. (S '44)

Rieger, Jan, pseud.
  Duncan, D. Partner in three worlds. (N '44)

Rifles
  Hagie, C. E. American rifle for hunting and target shooting. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Johnson, M. M. Rifles and machine guns. (N '44)
Rifles and machine guns. Johnson, M. M. (N '44)
Rights of infants. Ribble, M. A. (Ag '44)
Rim of the pit. Nelms, H. (S '44)
Ring and a riddle. Marshak, I. I., and Segal, E. A. (Ag '44)
Rise of Christian education. Sherrill, L. J. (Ag '44)
Rise of Fernando Cortés. Wagner, H. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Risen soldier. Spellman, F. J. (Je '44)
Rising above color. Lotz, P. H., ed. (Ap '44)
Rising crescent. Jackh, E. (S '44)

Rivers

California

  MacMullen, J. Paddle-wheel days in California. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Maryland

  Footner, H. Rivers of the Eastern shore. (D '44)
Rivers of the Eastern shore. Footner, H. (D '44)

Rivets
  Blommel, W. R., and others. Elementary rivet theory. (Je '44)
  Roth, M. G. Manual of aircraft riveting. (Ap '44)
Road back to Paris. Liebling, A. J. (Mr '44)
Road is before us. Boulton, A. (N '44)
Road to Down under. Cormack, M. (Ag '44)
Road to foreign policy. Gibson, H. (S '44)
Road to Salem. Fries, A. L. (My '44)
Road to serfdom. Hayek, F. A. (N '44)
Road to Teheran. Dulles, F. R. (Ap '44)
Road to the ocean. Leonov, L. M. (D '44)
Road to Tunis. Divine, A. D. (Mr '44)

Roads

Michigan
  Ford, R. S., and Bacon, M. A. Michigan highway finance. (S '44)

Robinson, Edwin Arlington
  Bates, E. W. Edwin Arlington Robinson and his manuscripts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Rockets (aeronautics)
  Ley, W. Rockets. (Je '44)

Rocks
  George, R. D. Minerals and rocks. (D '44)

Rocks, Igneous
  Shand, S. J. Eruptive rocks. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Rocky Mountain ranger. Rush, W. M. (N '44)
Roddy meets the circus. Hill, M. B. (O '44)

Rodney, George Brydges
  Rodney, G. B. As a cavalryman remembers. (N '44)
Rôle of higher education in war and after. Miller, J. H., and Brooks, D. V. N. (O '44)
Role of the Supreme court in American government and politics. Haines, C. G. (O '44)

Roman Catholic church
  Dunney, J. A. Church history in the light of the saints. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Hughes, P., ed. Popes' new order. (Ap '44)
  Wells, H. G. Crux ansata. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Doctrinal and controversial works

  Hughes, E. J. Church and the liberal society. (My '44)

Roman Catholic church—Continued

Education

Wolff, M. E. Addressed to youth. (D '44)

Eucharist

Mauriac, F. Eucharist. (My '44)

History

Watkin, E. I. Catholic art and culture. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Relations (diplomatic)

Morgan, T. B. Listening post. (My '44)

Roman Catholic church in New England
Lord, R. H., and others. History of the archdiocese of Boston. (D '44)

Roman Catholic church in South Dakota
Duratschek, M. C. Beginnings of Catholicism in South Dakota. (Je '44)

Roman Catholic church in the United States

Education

Moehlman, C. H. School and church: the American way. (Ag '44)

Roman Catholic poetry

Collections

Spirit (periodical). Drink from the rock. (S '44)

Roman towns. Nash, E. (S '44)
Romance in the first degree. Cohen, O. R. (Ag '44)
Romance of the ministry. Calkins, R. (My '44)

Rome

Antiquities

Nash, E. Roman towns. (S '44)

History

Boak, A. E. R. History of Rome to 565 A.D. (Ag '44)
Durant, W. J. Story of civilization; v. 3, Caesar and Christ. (N '44)

Rome (city)

Description

Holisher, D. Eternal city. (Je '44)

Ronsard, Pierre de
Lewis, D. B. W. Ronsard. (O '44)
Rookie of the year. Tunis, J. R. (My '44)

Roosevelt, Franklin Delano
Busch, N. F. What manner of man? (S '44)
Kingdon, F. That man in the White House. (My '44)
Koenig, L. W. Presidency and the crisis. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Mackenzie, C. Mr Roosevelt. (My '44)

Roosevelt, Theodore, 1858-1919
Hurwitz, H. L. Theodore Roosevelt and labor in New York state. (Je '44)
Rooster club. Angelo, V. (D '44)
Roots of the tree. Todd, H. (N '44)
Rope began to hang the butcher. Grafton, C. W. (Ap '44)
Rope of sand. Walz, A. (N '44)

Rorschach, Hermann
Beck, S. J. Rorschach's test. (N '44)
Rorschach's test. Beck, S. J. (N '44)
Rose of America. Maynard, S. K. C. (My '44)

Rose of Lima, Saint

Juvenile literature

Maynard, S. K. C. Rose of America. (My '44)

Roses
Mansfield, T. C. Roses in colour and cultivation. (Je '44)
Roses in colour and cultivation. Mansfield, T. C. (Je '44)

Rothery, Agnes Edwards
Rothery, A. E. Fitting habitation. (Ap '44)

Rowe, Peter Trimble
Jenkins, T. Man of Alaska. (Mr '44)
Royal game. Zweig, S. (My '44)
Royal street. Roberts, W. A. (N '44)

Rubber, Artificial
Barron, H. Modern synthetic rubbers. (Je '44)

Rubber industry and trade
Roberts, H. S. Rubber workers. (Je '44)
Rubber workers. Roberts, H. S. (Je '44)
Runyon a la carte. Runyon, D. (S '44)

Rural schools
Burton, H. M. Education of the countryman. (O '44)

Russell, Bertrand Arthur William, 3d earl
Schilpp, P. A., ed. Philosophy of Bertrand Russell. (N '44)

Russia
Pares, B. Russia and the peace. (S '44)
Strong, A. L. Peoples of the USSR. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Army

Kerr, W. B. Russian army. (Mr '44)
White, D. F. Growth of the Red army. (Ap '44)

Civilization

Sorokin, P. A. Russia and the United States. (Mr '44)

Description and travel

Gruber, R. I went to the Soviet Arctic. (D '44)
Nazaroff, A. I. Land of the Russian people. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Economic policy

Bergson, A. Structure of Soviet wages. (Je '44)
Bienstock, G., and others. Management in Russian industry and agriculture. (Ag '44)
Dobb, M. H. Soviet planning and labor in peace and war. (Ag '44)

Foreign policy

Dallin, D. J. Russia and postwar Europe. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Joesten, J. What Russia wants. (Ap '44)

Foreign relations

Poland

Cardwell, A. S. Poland and Russia. (S '44)

United States

Dulles, F. R. Road to Teheran. (Ap '44)

History

Duranty, W. USSR. (My '44)
Hyde, N. V. and F. Russia, then and always. S '44)
Nazaroff, A. I. Land of the Russian people. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Pares, B. History of Russia. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sumner, B. H. Short history of Russia. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Treviranus, G. R. Revolutions in Russia. (Je '44)
Vernadsky, G. History of Russia. (S '44)

Revolution, 1917-

Dallin, D. J. Real Soviet Russia. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Strakhovsky, L. I. Intervention at Archangel. (My '44)
Treviranus, G. R. Revolutions in Russia. (Je '44)

History, Military

Parry, A. Russian cavalcade. (Mr '44)
White, D. F. Growth of the Red army. (Ap '44)

Juvenile literature

Ives, V. Russia. (Mr '44)

Politics and government

Fischer, B. M. My lives in Russia. (Je '44)

Population

Princeton university. Office of population research. Future population of Europe and the Soviet Union. (N '44)

Relations (general) with Great Britain

Crankshaw, E. Russia and Britain. (S '44)

Relations (general) with United States

Sorokin, P. A. Russia and the United States. (Mr '44)

Religion

Anderson, P. B. People, church and state in modern Russia. (Ag '44)

Social conditions

Fischer, B. M. My lives in Russia. (Je '44)

Russia—Continued

Social life and customs

White, W. C. Made in the USSR. (D '44)

Territorial expansion

Henderson, D. M. From the Volga to the Yukon. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Russia, Asiatic
Mandel, W. Soviet Far East and central Asia. (My '44)
Russia. Ives, V. (Mr '44)
Russia and Britain. Crankshaw, E. (S '44)
Russia and postwar Europe. Dallin, D. J. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Russia and the peace. Pares, B. (S '44)
Russia and the United States. Sorokin, P. A. (Mr '44)
Russia at war. Eng title of: Tempering of Russia. Ehrenburg, I. G. (O '44)
Russia, then and always. Hyde, N. V. and F. (S '44)
Russian army. Kerr, W. B. (Mr '44)
Russian cavalcade. Parry, A. (Mr '44)
Russian year. Pruszyński, K. (Ag '44)

S. R. O. Cerf, B. A., and Cartmell, V. H., comp. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Sabotage
Hall, W. R., and Peaslee, A. J. Three wars with Germany. (S '44)
Sacred and secular elegies. Barker, G. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Sacred books
Ballou, R. O., ed. World Bible. (Ag '44)
Sad Sack. Baker, G. (O '44)
Safe convoy. Carrington, W. J. (N '44)
Safety after solo. Hoyt, J. R. (O '44)

Sahara
Bodley, R. V. C. Wind in the Sahara. (Ag '44)
Said the spider to the fly. Shattuck, R. (Je '44)
Sailor, take warning! Roos, K. (Mr '44)
Sailors of fortune. Mackenzie, C. (Ag '44)
St Louis Cardinals
Lieb, F. G. St Louis Cardinals. (O '44)
Saint on guard. Charteris, L. (Ap '44)
Saint Teresa of Avila. Walsh, W. T. (Ag '44)

Saints
Dunney, J. A. Church history in the light of the saints. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Salads
Cowles, F. A., and Harris, F. L. 400 salads. (Ag '44)

Salamanders
Bishop, S. C. Handbook of salamanders. (Ap '44)

Salesmanship
Hegarty, E. J. How to run a sales meeting. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Simmons, H. Successful selling for the new day. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sally, army dietitian. Worthington, M. (S '44)

Salvage
Thompson, F. E. Diving, cutting and welding in underwater salvage operations. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sam Houston, boy chieftain. Stevenson, A. (Ag '44)
Samuel Brannan and the golden fleece. Scott, R. L. H. (Ag '44)
Sancho and his stubborn mule. Keats, M. (Ag '44)

Sanitary engineering
Ehlers, V. M., and Steel, E. W. Municipal and rural sanitation. (Ap '44)

Sanitation
Ehlers, V. M., and Steel, E. W. Municipal and rural sanitation. (Ap '44)
Sank same. Mellor, W. B. (D '44)

Santayana, George
Santayana, G. Persons and places. (Mr '44)
Sarah and I. Brockway, S. (N '44)
Sasha and the samover. Beim, L. L. and J. (N '44)

Satire
Brant, S. Ship of fools. (S '44)
Joad, C. E. M. Adventures of the young soldier in search of the better world. (N '44)

Saturday and Sunday lessons from Luke in the Greek Gospel lectionary. Metzger, B. M. (D '44)
Saturday flight. Wright, E. B. (S '44)
Saving and thrift
Madge, C. War-time pattern of saving and spending. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Saving angel. Riggs, T. L. (S '44)
Savor and flavor. Maril, L. (Je '44)
Say I to myself. Osgood, P. E. (Ap '44)
Say what you mean. Opdycke, J. B. (Ag '44)
Say yes to the light. Hunter, A. A. (O '44)
Scandinavian drama

Translations into English

Scandinavian plays of the twentieth century, 1st-2d ser. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Scandinavian plays of the twentieth century, 1st-2d ser. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Scarlet lily. Murphy, E. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Scholar and the future of the research library. Rider, F. (O '44)
School and church: the American way. Moehlman, C. H. (Ag '44)

School finance
Burke, A. J. Defensible spending for public schools. (Ap '44)
School superintendents and principals
Lane, R. H. Principal in the modern elementary school. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
School's out. Lambert, C. B. (D '44)

Science
Barnouw, A. J., and Landheer, B., eds. Contribution of Holland to the sciences. (Mr '44)
Conference on science, philosophy and religion in their relation to the democratic way of life. Approaches to world peace. (O '44)
Conference on the scientific spirit and democratic faith. Scientific spirit and democratic faith. (N '44)
Congress of American-Soviet friendship. Science in Soviet Russia. (O '44)
Gray, G. W. Science at war. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

History

Dampier, W. C. D. Shorter history of science. (N '44)
Jaffe, B. Men of science in America. (O '44)

Philosophy

Arthus, M. Philosophy of scientific investigation. (S '44)
Science and the idea of God. Hocking, W. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Science at war. Gray, G. W. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Science in Soviet Russia. Congress of American-Soviet friendship. (O '44)
Science of clocks and watches. Rawlings, A. L. (O '44)
Science of explosives. Meyer, M. (Ap '44)
Science of fighting fire. McCarthy, J. J. (Ap '44)
Scientific spirit and democratic faith. Conference on the scientific spirit and democratic faith. (N '44)
Scientific theory of culture. Malinowski, B. (D '44)

Scientists
Dunlap, O. E. Radio's 100 men of science. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Scientists, American
Jaffe, B. Men of science in America. (O '44)
Scott, Winfield

Juvenile literature

Long, L. Fuss 'n' feathers. (D '44)
Sea-borne. Connolly, J. B. (S '44)
Sea cats. Desmond, A. C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sea duty. Marmur, J. (N '44)
Sea Eagle. Aldridge, J. (Mr '44)
Sea food cookery. Wallace, L. H. (Je '44)

Sea power
Brodie, B. Guide to naval strategy. (D '44)
Stirling, Y. Why sea power will win the war. (Ap '44)

Sea Witch (ship)

Fiction

Laing, A. K. Sea Witch. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Sea Witch. Laing, A. K. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Seabee. Lent, H. B. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Seafaring life
  Snow, A. R. Log of a sea captain's daughter. (N '44)
Seals (animals)

Legends and stories

  Desmond, A. C. Sea cats. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Searching wind. Hellman, L. (O '44)
Searchlight on peace plans. Wynner, E., and Lloyd, G. (Ag '44)
Seas of God. Burnett, W., ed. (My '44)
Seas stand watch. Mudgett, H. P. (Ap '44)
Second chance. Whitton, J. B., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Second climbing book. Steiner, C., and Burlingham, M. (D '44)
Second great war, a standard history. Hammerton, J. A., ed. (O '44)
Second mystery companion. Furman, A. L., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Second Navy reader. Fetridge, W. H., ed. (O '44)
Second shift. Crawford, P. (Mr '44)
Secret of the SPA. Heberden, M. V. (Je '44)
Secret of Wild Cat cave. Chapman, M. (N '44)
Secret spring. Jacobs, E. A. (D '44)
Secrets of the saints. Ghéon, H. (N '44)
Sects
  Fauset, A. H. Black gods of the metropolis. (Je '44)
Security, International
  Palmer, F. It can be done this time. (O '44)
Seed of the Puritan. Kaup, E. D. (Ap '44)
Seeds

Juvenile literature

  Webber, I. E. S. Travelers all. (N '44)
Selective guide to the English literature on the Netherlands West Indies. Hiss, P. H. (Ag '44)
Self defense
  Mendell, B. I. Protect yourself. (S '44)
Separate star. Erdman, L. G. (My '44)
Sermons
  Chappell, C. G. Living zestfully. (Ag '44)
  Chidley, H. J. God and these times. (N '44)
  Fosdick, H. E. Great time to be alive. (D '44)
  Frost, S. E., ed. World's great sermons. (S '44)
  Oxnam, G. B. Behold thy mother. (Ag '44)
  Phillips, H. C. Life's unanswered questions. (S '44)
  Render unto Caesar. (Je '44)
  Sperry, W. L. Rebuilding our world. (My '44)
  Temple, W. Church looks forward. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Weatherhead, L. D. In quest of a kingdom. (My '44)
Sermons, Jewish
  Klein, I. Ten commandments in a changing world. (Je '44)
Serpent. Eng title of: Man goes alone. Gunn, N. M. (Ag '44)
Settlement of industrial disputes. Braun, K. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Seven faces of love. Maurois, A. (Mr '44)
Seven myths of housing. Straus, N. (Mr '44)
Seven sleepers. Van Doren, M. (My '44)
Seven steps toward simplified office procedures. Stricker, A. H. (Ap '44)
Severn, Joseph
  Birkenhead, S. B. S. Against oblivion. (S '44)
Sewing
  Hardy, K. Sewing for the baby. (O '44)
Sewing for the baby. Hardy, K. (O '44)
Sex
  Scheinfeld, A. Women and men. (D '44)
Shade of Sycamore. Marks, P. (Mr '44)
Shadow on the cliff. Burton, M. (Je '44)
Shady hobby. Bennett, J. F. (N '44)
Shakespeare, William

Single works

Hamlet

  Thomas, S. Antic Hamlet and Richard III. (S '44)

Richard III

  Thomas, S. Antic Hamlet and Richard III. (S '44)

About Shakespeare

  Gordon, G. S. Shakespearian comedy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Characters

Falstaff

  Wilson, J. D. Fortunes of Falstaff. (Je '44)

Stage presentation

  Sprague, A. C. Shakespeare and the actors. (S '44)
Shakespeare and the actors. Sprague, A. C. (S '44)
Shakespearian comedy. Gordon, G. S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Shanghai

Social conditions

  Hinder, E. M. Life and labour in Shanghai. (N '44)
Shape of books to come. Adams, J. D. (D '44)
Shape of memory. Welles, W. (Ap '44)
Shark's fins and millet. Sues, I. R. (Mr '44)
Shavetail Sam, U.S. army mule. Watson, H. O. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
She fell among actors. Warren, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Shed a bitter tear. Moore, H. F. S. (S '44)
Sheet metal work
  Coxen, H. H., and others. Aircraft sheet metal blueprint reading. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  LeMaster, C. A. Aircraft sheet metal work. (My '44)
Shelley, Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin)
  Shelley, M. W. G. Letters. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Shep and the baby. Hoke, H. L. (D '44)
Sheridan, Philip Henry
  Rister, C. C. Border command. (Je '44)
Sherlock Holmes and Dr. Watson. Doyle, A. C. (My '44)
Shield of Achilles. Gregory, H. (My '44)
Shift to the right. Chute, B. J. (N '44)
Ship model building. Johnson, G. (Mr '44)
Ship models
  Johnson, G. Ship model building. (Mr '44)
Ship of fools. Brant, S. (S '44)
Ship to shore. McFee, W. (O '44)
Shipbuilding
  Baker, E. Introduction to steel shipbuilding. (Ap '44)
  Ferguson, W. B. Shipbuilding cost and production methods. (Je '44)
  Laing, A. K. Clipper ship men. (D '44)
  Oberman, L. L. Shipfitting simplified. (My '44)
Shipbuilding cost and production methods. Ferguson, W. B. (Je '44)
Shipfitting simplified. Oberman, L. L. (My '44)
Shipping

United States

  Laing, A. K. Clipper ship men. (D '44)
Ships
  Rimington, C. Merchant fleets. (Je '44)
Shoo-fly pie. Jordan, M. A. (Ag '44)
Shooting
  Hagie, C. E. American rifle for hunting and target shooting. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Lenz, E. C. Muzzle flashes. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Shore leave. Wakeman, F. (Ap '44)
Short course in quantitative analysis. Willard, H. H., and others. (O '44)
Short history of American democracy. Hicks, J. D. (Ap '44)
Short history of American democracy. Nichols, R. F. and J. P. (Je '44)
Short history of Russia. Sumner, B. H. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Short stories

Collections

  Burnett, W., ed. Seas of God. (My '44)
  Derleth, A. W., ed. Sleep no more. (O '44)
  Fischer, M., and Humphries, R., eds. Pause to wonder. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Foley, M., ed. Best American short stories, 1944. (O '44)
  Furman, A. L., ed. Armchair companion. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Harper's bazaar. It's a woman's world. (My '44)
  Kelley, R. F., ed. Sportsman's anthology. (D '44)

Short stories—Collections—Continued
  Lewis, W., ed. Fighting words. (S '44)
  O. Henry memorial award. Prize stories of 1944. (N '44)
  Owen, F., ed. Bedside bonanza. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Starrett, V., ed. World's great spy stories. (N '44)
  Strode, H., ed. Spring harvest. (Ag '44)
  Wise, H. A., and Fraser, P. M., eds. Great tales of terror and the supernatural. (Ag '44)
  Yarmolinsky, A., ed. Treasury of great Russian short stories. (Ap '44)
  Zistel, E., comp. Treasury of cat stories. (My '44)
Short stories, Chinese
  Wang, C., tr. Contemporary Chinese stories. (My '44)
  Wang, C., tr. Traditional Chinese tales. (My '44)
Short story of Jesus. Lowrie, W. (Ap '44)
Short wave wireless communication. Ladner, A. W., and Stoner, C. R. (Ap '44)
Shorter history of science. Dampier, W. C. D. (N '44)
Shut the door behind you. Wetherell, J. P. (O '44)
Siam. See Thailand
Siberia
  Description and travel
  Swenson, O. Northwest of the world. (My '44)
  History
  Henderson, D. M. From the Volga to the Yukon. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Siege of Leningrad. Skomorovsky, B. A., and Morris, E. G. (Mr '44)
Sierra Sally. Hoffmann, E. (Ag '44)
Sight
  Luckiesh, M. Light, vision and seeing. (D '44)
Signpost. Robertson, E. A. (Mr '44)
Silence of the sea. Bruller, J. (Ap '44)
Silhouettes
  Bennett, J. F. Shady hobby. (N '44)
Silk, Artificial
  Leaderman, H. Elastic and creep properties of filamentous materials and other high polymers. (Ag '44)
Silly girl. Enters, A. (Ap '44)
Silver crescent. Holton, E. A. (My '44)
Silver for General Washington. Meadowcroft, E. L. (S '44)
Silver pencil. Dalgliesh, A. (D '44)
Silversmithing
  Adair, J. Navajo and Pueblo silversmiths. (N '44)
Simone. Feuchtwanger, L. (S '44)
Simple library cataloging. Akers, S. G. (N '44)
Simplified mathematics and how to use the slide rule. Rappolt, F. A. (Ag '44)
Simplified petroleum chemistry and physics. Petroleum educational institute, Los Angeles. (Je '44)
Sinews of peace. Feis, H. (D '44)
Sing for America. Wheeler, O. (D '44)
Singers
  Marks, E. B. They all had glamour. (Je '44)
  Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
  Moore, G. You're only human once. (Ap '44)
Singing games
  Jacobs, A. G., comp. Chinese-American song and game book. (Ag '44)
Singing with Peter and Patsy. Boesel, A. S. (S '44)
Single tax
  Tucker, G. M. For the good of all. (O '41)
Sinister Island squadron. Litten, F. N. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sinkiang
  Norins, M. R. Gateway to Asia: Sinkiang. (S '44)
Sinners never die. Martin, A. E. (O '44)
Sir Archibald. Wolo. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Situation normal. Miller, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sitwell, Sir Osbert, 5th bart.
  Sitwell, O. Left hand, right hand! (Je '44)
Sitwell family
  Sitwell, O. Left hand, right hand! (Je '44)

Six novels of the supernatural. Wagenknecht, E. C., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Six silver handles. Mainwaring, D. (Ag '44)
Six thousand years of bread. Jacob, H. E. (My '44)
Six weeks' war. Draper, T. (Ag '44)
Sixty to go. Yorck, R. L. (Ap '44)
Skeleton key to Finnegans Wake. Campbell, J., and Robinson, H. M. (S '44)
Skippy, the little Skye terrier. L'Hommedieu, D. K. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Sky bed. Thorne-Thomsen, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sky ride. Pollock, K. G. (O '44)
Slacks and callouses. Bowman, C. (O '44)
Slavery
  Wish, H. George Fitzhugh. (Mr '44)
Slavery and freedom. Berdiaev, N. A. (O '44)
Slavery and the church
  Rice, M. H. American Catholic opinion in the slavery controversy. (S '44)
Slavery in China
  Wilbur, C. M. Slavery in China during the former Han dynasty. (D '44)
Slavery in China during the former Han dynasty. Wilbur, C. M. (D '44)
Slavery in the United States
  Aptheker, H. American Negro slave revolts. (Ap '44)
  Eppse, M. R. Negro, too, in American history. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sleep no more. Derleth, A. W., ed. (O '44)
Sleepy forest. Zimmerman, N. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sleuthing in the stacks. Altrocchi, R. (S '44)
Slide rule
  Mackey, C. O. Graphical solutions. (O '44)
  Rappolt, F. A. Simplified mathematics and how to use the slide rule. (Ag '44)
Slippery Ann. Eng title of: Queen of spades. Bailey, H. C. (Mr '44)
Small community hospitals. Southmayd, H. J., and Smith, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Small fry. Steig, W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Small town tyrant. Mann, H. (Je '44)
Smarter and smoother. Daly, M. (My '44)
Smith, Jedediah
  Juvenile literature
  Weston, M. F. Great pathfinder. (D '44)
Smith, John, 1580-1631
  Juvenile literature
  Holberg, R. L. Michael and the captain. (D '44)
Smith, William
  Gegenheimer, A. F. William Smith. (Ag '44)
Smoking iron. Field, P. (Mr '44)
Smoky ridge. Doyle, F. C. (Ag '44)
Smuts, Jan Christiaan
  Crafford, F. S. Jan Smuts. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
  Kraus, R. Old master. (Je '44)
Snowshoe country. Jaques, F. P. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
So long ago. Smith, E. B. (Je '44)
So much blood. Popkin, Z. (Ag '44)
So shall they reap. Bennett, J. H. van S. (Mr '44)
So sorry, no peace. Gunnison, R. A. (N '44)
So thick the fog. Stewart, C. P. (O '44)
So you're going to buy a farm. Greenberg, D. B., and Corbin, C. (Ag '44)
Social aspects of industry Patterson, S. H. (O '44)
Social conditions
  Polanyi, K. Great transformation. (My '44)
Social criticism in popular religious literature of the sixteenth century. White, H. C. (Ag '44)
Social Darwinism in American thought. Hofstadter, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Social-economic movements. Laidler, H. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Social planning by frontier thinkers. Andrews, M. P. (N '44)
Social problems
  Macfie, A. L. Economic efficiency and social welfare. (Ag '44)
  Melvin, A. G. People's world. (Ag '44)
Social psychology
  Clayton, A. S. Emergent mind and education. (O '44)

Fleming, C. M. Social psychology of education. (N '44)
Jennings, H. H. Leadership and isolation. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Social psychology of education. Fleming, C. M. (N '44)
Social sciences
Andrews, M. P. Social planning by frontier thinkers. (N '44)
Barnouw, A. J., and Landheer, B., eds. Contribution of Holland to the sciences. (Mr '44)
Brown, H. E. Your life in a democracy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Huxley, J. S. On living in a revolution. (Ag '44)
Johnson, S. P., and Alexander, W. M. Citizenship. (N '44)
Sorokin, P. A. Sociocultural causality, space, time. (Ag '44)
Methodology
Kaufmann, F. Methodology of the social sciences. (D '44)
Social surveys
Madge, C. War-time pattern of saving and spending. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Socialism
Blodgett, R. H. Comparative economic systems. (D '44)
Gordon, M. How to tell progress from reaction. (N '44)
Laidler, H. W. Social-economic movements. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Thomas, N. M. What is our destiny? (My '44)
Society, Primitive
Du Bois, C. A. People of Alor. (N '44)
Kelsen, H. Society and nature. (Ag '44)
Society and nature. Kelsen, H. (Ag '44)
Sociocultural causality, space, time. Sorokin, P. A. (Ag '44)
Sociology
Hofstadter, R. Social Darwinism in American thought. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Macfie, A. L. Economic efficiency and social welfare. (Ag '44)
Mannheim, K. Diagnosis of our time. (Je '44)
Sorokin, P. A. Sociocultural causality, space, time. (Ag '44)
Stark, W. Ideal foundations of economic thought. (S '44)
Wach, J. Sociology of religion. (D '44)
Dictionaries
Fairchild, H. P., ed. Dictionary of sociology. (Je '44)
Sociology, Christian
Abell, A. I. Urban impact on American protestantism. (O '44)
Bell, B. I. Altar and the world. (My '44)
Catholic university of America. Commission on American citizenship. Better men for better times. (Ag '44)
Hughes, E. J. Church and the liberal society. (My '44)
Hughes, P., ed. Popes' new order. (Ap '44)
Laski, H. J. Faith, reason and civilization. (Ag '44)
McBride, T. G. Christian ethics and economics. (N '44)
Mannheim, K. Diagnosis of our time. (Je '44)
Naughton, J. W. Pius XII on world problems. (Ap '44)
Osgniach, A. J. Christian state. (Ag '44)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Peace and reconstruction. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Race: nation: person. (S '44)
Sturzo, L. True life. (Ap '44)
Sociology of religion. Wach, J. (D '44)
Solder and soldering
Taylor, L. S. Successful soldering. (Je '44)
Soldier. Aiken, C. P. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Soldier to civilian. Pratt, G. K. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Soldiers
Entertainment
Landis, C. Four Jills in a jeep. (Ap '44)
Stone, E. C., and Melick, W. Coming, Major! (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Religious life
Nance, E. C., ed. Faith of our fighters. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Soldiers as artists
Crane, A., ed. Art in the armed forces. (D '44)
Soldier's diary. Norman, C. (N '44)
Solomon islands
Johnson, O. H. L. Bride in the Solomons. (N '44)
Solution (chemistry)
Bradstreet, R. B. Standardization of volumetric solutions. (O '44)
Harned, H. S., and Owen, B. B. Physical chemistry of electrolytic solutions. (Ap '44)
Solvents
Jacobs, M. B. Analytical chemistry of industrial poisons, hazards and solvents. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Some follow the sea. Felsen, G. (Je '44)
Some of my best friends are soldiers. Halsey, M. (N '44)
Some to be pastors. Pleune, P. H. (Ag '44)
Son of man. Sharman, H. B. (My '44)
Son of the walrus king. McCracken, H. (N '44)
Songs
Siegmeister, E., ed. Work and sing. (Ag '44)
Wheeler, O. Sing for America. (D '44)
Songs, Chinese
Chen, C. Y. and S. Flower drum. (Mr '44)
Songs for children. Herbert, V. (Ap '44)
Sons and soldiers. Shaw, I. (Je '44)
Soul of a queen. Batcheller, T. B. (My '44)
Soul of amber. Still, A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sound I listened for. Francis, R. (S '44)
Sound policies for bank management. Rodkey, R. G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sounding trumpet. Tharp, L. H. (Je '44)
Source book of agricultural chemistry. Browne, C. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Source list of selected labor statistics. Special libraries association. Social science group. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Sousa, John Philip
Juvenile literature
Lewiton, M. John Philip Sousa. (Ap '44)
South
Economic conditions
Van Sickle, J. V. Planning for the South. (My '44)
Social conditions
Wiley, B. I. Plain people of the confederacy. (Ap '44)
Social life and customs
Clark, T. D. Pills, petticoats and plows. (My '44)
South Africa
Smuts, J. C. Toward a better world. (Mr '44)
South Sea islands
Frisbie, R. D. Island of Desire. (S '44)
Lohse, C., and Seaton, J. Mysterious continent. (D '44)
Southwest Pacific and the war. California. University. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Soviet Far East and central Asia. Mandel, W. (My '44)
Soviet planning and labor in peace and war. Dobb, M. H. (Ag '44)
Soy bean
Markley, K. S., and Goss, W. H. Soybean chemistry and technology. (N '44)
Soybean chemistry and technology. Markley, K. S., and Goss, W. H. (N '44)
Soybeans, from soup to nuts. Williams-Heller, A. W., and McCarthy, J. V. (Ag '44)
Space and time
Sorokin, P. A. Sociocultural causality, space, time. (Ag '44)
Spain
Civilization
Adams, N. B. Heritage of Spain. (Ap '44)
Trend, J. B. Civilization of Spain. (N '44)
History
Civil war, 1936-1939
Aguirre, J. A. de. Escape via Berlin. (D '44)
Spanish American fiction
Spell, J. R. Contemporary Spanish-American fiction. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Spanish American literature
Collections
Arciniegas, G., ed. Green continent. (O '44)

Spanish language
Dictionaries
Robb, L. A. Engineer's dictionary. (My '44)
Spanish literature
Translations into English
Bibliography
Pane, R. U. English translations from the Spanish, 1484-1943. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Speaking of Jane Austen. Kaye-Smith, S., and Stern, G. B. (Je '44)
Spectrum, Infra-red
Barnes, R. B., and others. Infrared spectroscopy. (Ag '44)
Spectrum analysis
Glasstone, S. Theoretical chemistry. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sawyer, R. A. Experimental spectroscopy. (S '44)
Bibliography
Barnes, R. B., and others. Infrared spectroscopy. (Ag '44)
Speech
Backus, O. L. Speech in education. (Ag '44)
Speech in education. Backus, O. L. (Ag '44)
Speeches, addresses, etc.
Baird, A. C., ed. Representative American speeches: 1943-1944. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Spending power. Wilmerding, L. (S '44)
Spherographical navigation. Brouwer, D., and others. (My '44)
Spinney and Spike and the B-29. Davis, L. R. (S '44)
Spirit of flame. Peers, E. A. (Mr '44)
Spiritual life
Jones, R. M. Radiant life. (Ag '44)
Page, K., ed. Living abundantly. (O '44)
Steere, D. V. On beginning from within. (My '44)
Spiritualism
Baird, A. T., ed. One hundred cases for survival after death. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Burton, J. Heyday of a wizard. (My '44)
Garrett, E. J. L. Awareness. (Ap '44)
Sports
Frank, S., ed. Sports extra. (D '44)
Lawson, V. E. Ranger-commando junior. (O '44)
Menke, F. G. Encyclopedia of sports. (N '44)
Sports extra. Frank, S., ed. (D '44)
Sportsman's anthology. Kelley, R. F., ed. (D '44)
Spot tests (chemistry)
Feigl, L. Laboratory manual of spot tests. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Spots. Suba, S., il. (D '44)
Spring harvest. Strode, H., ed. (Ag '44)
Springs (mechanism)
Wahl, A. M. Mechanical springs. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Spy for Mr Crook. Malleson, L. B. (Mr '44)
Spy in the room. Clift, D. H. (N '44)
Stand on a rainbow. Innis, M. E. Q. (Je '44)
Standard book of bidding. Goren, C. H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Standardization of volumetric solutions. Bradstreet, R. B. (O '44)
Standing room only. Fowler, E. (Ap '44)
Stanley, Sir Henry Morton
Busoni, R. Stanley's Africa. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stanley's Africa. Busoni, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Starch
Kerr, R. W. E., ed. Chemistry and industry of starch. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stars
Shapley, H. Galaxies. (Ap '44)
Williams, L. Dipper full of stars. (O '44)
State, The
Friedmann, W. Crisis of the national state. (Je '44)
Osgniach, A. J. Christian state. (Ag '44)
State and local finance in the national economy. Hansen, A. H., and Perloff, H. S. (S '44)
State of the nation. Dos Passos, J. R. (S '44)
Statement. Gordon, D. A. (D '44)
States, Small
Marriott, J. A. R. Federalism and the problem of the small state. (Ag '44)
Statesmen, American
Man at the Microphone. Washington broadcast. (Ap '44)
Statistical adjustment of data. Deming, W. E. (Ag '44)
Statistical mechanics. See Mechanics, Statistical
Statistics
Blair, M. M. Elementary statistics, with general applications. (D '44)
Deming, W. E. Statistical adjustment of data. (Ag '44)
Gilman, S. What the figures mean. (S '44)
Hall, R. O. Handbook of tabular presentation. (Ap '44)
Neiswanger, W. A. Elementary statistical methods. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stay-at-home book for boys and girls. Cleveland, R. (Je '44)
Steam
Tables, calculations, etc.
Ellenwood, F. O., and Mackey, C. O. Thermodynamic charts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Steam locomotive. Johnson, R. P. (S '44)
Steam navigation
MacMullen, J. Paddle-wheel days in California. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Steam turbines
Newman, L. E., ed. Modern turbines. (Je '44)
Steamboatin' days. Wheeler, M. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Steamboats
Flexner, J. T. Steamboats come true. (O '44)
Lane, C. D. American paddle steamboats. (Ap '44)
MacMullen, J. Paddle-wheel days in California. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Steamboats come true. Flexner, J. T. (O '44)
Steel
Parker, C. M. Steel in action. (Ap '44)
Juvenile literature
Schoenen, H. Story behind steel. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Metallurgy
Teichert, E. J. Ferrous metallurgy. (Je '44)
Steel in action. Parker, C. M. (Ap '44)
Steel industry and trade
Parker, C. M. Steel in action. (Ap '44)
Steep ascent. Lindbergh, A. S. M. (Ap '44)
Stephen Hero. Joyce, J. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Steps to Parnassus. Fux, J. J. (Ap '44)
Stern, Gladys Bronwyn (Mrs G. L. Holdsworth)
Stern, G. B. Trumpet voluntary. (S '44)
Stick and rudder. Langewiesche-Brandt, W. E. (My '44)
Still time to die. Belden, J. (O '44)
Stolen oracle. Williams, J. (Ap '44)
Stone ants. Creekmore, H. (Ag '44)
Stones of glory—stones of France. Frenkley, A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Stop worrying and get well. Podolsky, E. (My '44)
Stories from the Americas. Henius, F., comp. and tr. (O '44)
Stories of writers and artists. James, H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Stork run. Reyher, R., ed. (Ag '44)
Storm against the wind. Jacobs, H. H. (My '44)
Storm canvas. Sperry, A. (S '44)
Storm operation. Anderson, M. (N '44)
Storm to the south. Strabel, T. (S '44)
Story behind great inventions. Montgomery, E. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Story behind steel. Schoenen, H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Story book. Tenggren, G. (O '44)
Story of a secret state. Karksi, J. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Story of civilization; v. 3, Caesar and Christ. Durant, W. J. (N '44)
Story of Marie Powell. Eng title of: Wife to Mr. Milton. Graves, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Story of the Christmas tree. Pauli, H. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Story parade star book. (My '44)
Strains and stresses
Girvin, H. F. Strength of materials. (Je '44)
Shanley, F. R. Basic structures. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Strange fruit. Smith, L. (Ap '44)

Strategy
Elting, M., and others. Battles. (S '44)
Falls, C. B. Ordeal by battle. (Mr '44)
Strategy of peace. Wriston, H. M. (D '44)
Strauss, Johann, 1825-1899
Juvenile literature
Ewen, D. Tales from the Vienna woods. (D '44)
Stream of Jewish life. Alofsin, D. (My '44)
Stream sanitation. Phelps, E. B. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Street corner society. Whyte, W. F. (Ap '44)
Strength of materials
Girvin, H. F. Strength of materials. (Je '44)
Strictly private. Woodward, E. S. (D '44)
Structure of Soviet wages. Bergson, A. (Je '44)
Structures, Theory of
Plummer, F. L. Fundamentals of indeterminate structures. (O '44)
Shanley, F. R. Basic structures. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Williams, C. D. Analysis of statically indeterminate structures. (Ap '44)
Struggle for American freedom. Morais, H. M. (O '44)
Students
Williams, C. D. T. These we teach. (Ap '44)
Students of Spalato. Tamás, I. (My '44)
Studies in government and international law. Garner, J. W. (Je '44)
Studies in the history of the English feudal barony. Painter, S. (My '44)
Stunts and tumbling for girls. Horne, V. L. (Ap '44)
Sturges-Jones, Marion
Sturges-Jones, M. Babes in the wood. (O '44)
Style manual for preparation of catalogue copy. New York (city). Public library. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Subject headings
Wenman, L. M., and Ball, M. O., comps. Subject headings for the information file. (O '44)
Subject headings for the information file. Wenman, L. M., and Ball, M. O., comps. (O '44)
Submarine warfare
Rathbone, A. D. He's in the sub-busters now. (Ap '44)
Successful selling for the new day. Simmons, H. (F '45) (1944 Annual) Successful soldering. Taylor, L. S. (Je '44)
Suffrage
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Lowering the voting age. (D '44)
Sulfur compounds
Suter, C. M. Organic chemistry of sulfur. (Je '44)
Summer landscape. Humphries, R. (N '44)
Sun at noon. Hearst, J. (Ag '44)
Sun in their eyes. Barrett, M. (N '44)
Sunburst. Magdaleno, M. (Mr '44)
Sunday after the war. Miller, H. (D '44)
Super-powers. Fox, W. T. R. (S '44)
Superior, Lake
Nute, G. L. Lake Superior. (S '44)
Surprise package. Disney, W. (O '44)
Survey of general and applied rheology. Scott Blair, G. W. (O '44)
Survey of religious literature. Macfarland, C. S. (Ag '44)
Survey of Russian history. Eng title of: Short history of Russia. Sumner, B. H. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Surveying, Aerial
Abrams, T. Essentials of aerial surveying and photo interpretation. (O '44)
Survival (after airplane accidents, shipwrecks, etc.)
United States. Office of naval operations. Aviation training division. How to survive on land and sea. (O '44)
Survivor. Madden, P. (D '44)
Susan. Trent, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Susan who lives in Australia. MacIntyre, E. (Ap '44)
Svaap (yacht)
Robinson, W. A. 10,000 leagues over the sea. (N '44)
Sweden
Sweden: a wartime survey. (Ap '44)
Swing the big-eyed rabbit. McCoy, J. P. (Mr '44)
Sword is drawn. Norton, A. M. (My '44)
Sword of fate. Wheatley, D. (S '44)
Swords and sails in the Philippines. Sowers, P. A. (Ag '44)
Symbolism in literature
Ross, M. M. Milton's royalism. (D '44)
Symphonies
Downes, E. Adventures in symphonic music. (S '44)
Symphony in murder. Long, A. R. (S '44)
Symphony of prayer. Stroup, H. H., comp. (D '44)
Synthetic products
Dreher, E. Chemistry of synthetic substances. (Je '44)
Schoengold, M. D., ed. Encyclopedia of substitutes and synthetics. (O '44)
Synthetic resins and allied plastics. Morrell, R. S., ed. (Ag '44)
System of mineralogy. Dana, J. D. (D '44)
Systematic inorganic chemistry of the fifth-and-sixth-group nonmetallic elements. Yost, D. M., and Russell, H. (N '44)
Systematic wage administration in the southern California aircraft industry. Gray, R. D. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

TVA. Lilienthal, D. E. (My '44)
T.V.A: lessons for international application. Finer, H. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Tactics
Elting, M., and others. Battles. (S '44)
Falls, C. B. Ordeal by battle. (Mr '44)
Tad Lincoln. Longstreth, T. M. (S '44)
Tad Lincoln and the green umbrella. Friskey, M. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Tailor's progress. Stolberg, B. (Ag '44)
Take a look at yourself. Miller, J. H. (Ag '44)
Take them, stranger. Deutsch, B. (N '44)
Take them up tenderly. Harriman, M. C. (N '44)
Tale of the white-faced hornet. Kane, H. B. (Je '44)
Tale of two houses. Dyer, C. (D '44)
Tales, American
Writers' program. North Carolina. Bundle of troubles. (Mr '44)
Tales, Chinese
Lim, S. Folk tales from China. (S '44)
Tales, Mexican
Rickard, J. A. Old Aztec story teller. (Je '44)
Tales, Polish
Bernhard, J. B. Lullaby; why the pussy-cat washes himself so often. (S '44)
Tales from the Vienna woods. Ewen, D. (D '44)
Talking of Jane Austen. Eng title of: Speaking of Jane Austen. Kaye-Smith, S., and Stern, G. B. (Je '44)
Tall book of nursery tales. (My '44)
Tall tale America. Blair, W. (N '44)
Tall tales they tell in the services. Davidson, W., ed. (My '44)
Tanks (military science)
Juvenile literature
Conger, E. M. American tanks and tank destroyers. (O '44)
Tar heel apostle. Murrett, J. C. (N '44)
Tarawa, Battle of, 1943
Sherrod, R. Tarawa. (Ap '44)
Target island. Brophy, J. (S '44)
Tariff
Great Britain
Brown, B. H. Tariff reform movement in Great Britain. (Ag '44)
Tariff reform movement in Great Britain. Brown, B. H. (Ag '44)
Task of law. Pound, R. (O '44)
Taxation
United States
Groves, H. M. Production, jobs and taxes. (S '44)
Shoup, C. S., and others. Taxing to prevent inflation. (My '44)
Taxing to prevent inflation. Shoup, C. S., and others. (My '44)

Tea
  Wickizer, V. D. Tea under international regulation. (D '44)
Tea under international regulation. Wickizer, V. D. (D '44)
Teachers
  Pratt, M., and others. When I grow up I'll be a teacher. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Snyder, H. E. Educational inbreeding. (O '44)
Teachers, Training of American council on education. Commission on teacher education. Teachers for our times. (N '44)
Teachers for our times. American council on education. Commission on teacher education. (N '44)
Teacher's manual for military, marine, vocational, and industrial training. Moseley, N. (My '44)
Teaching
  Burton, W. H. Guidance of learning activities. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Fleming, C. M. Social psychology of education. (N '44)
  Jackey, D. F., and Barlow, M. L. Craftsman prepares to teach. (My '44)
  Moseley, N. Teacher's manual for military, marine, vocational, and industrial training. (My '44)
Teaching the child to read. Bond, G. L. and E. (Ag '44)
Technical writing
  Sypherd, W. O., and others. Engineer's manual of English. (Ag '44)
Technique of building personal leadership. Laird, D. A. and E. C. L. (O '44)
Technique of radio design. Zelpher, E. E. (Je '44)
Technique of the terrain. Musham, H. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Technologists' stake in the Wagner act. McIver, M. E., and others, eds. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Technology
  Kuhns, W. R., and others, eds. Return of opportunity. (Mr '44)

Dictionaries
  Newmark, M. Illustrated technical dictionary. (Je '44)

Juvenile literature
  Hanna, P. R., and others. Making the goods we need. (My '44)
Technology and livelihood. Fleddérus, M. L. and Van Kleeck, M. (My '44)
Teenie Weenie days. Donahey, W. (Ap '44)
Teheran. Browder, E. R. (O '44)
Teheran conference, 1943
  Browder, E. R. Teheran. (O '44)
Telephone
  Albert, A. L. Fundamentals of telephony. (Ap '44)
Television
  Lee, R. E. Television. (S '44)
  Tyler, K. S. Modern radio. (N '44)
Tell me about Jesus. Jones, M. A. (D '44)
Tell the folks back home. Mead, J. M. (Je '44)
Tempering of Russia. Ehrenburg, I. G. (O '44)
Ten commandments in a changing world. Klein, I. (Je '44)
Ten escape from Tojo. McCoy, M. H., and Mellnik, S. M. (My '44)
Ten lectures on theoretical rheology. Reiner, M. (Ag '44)
10,000 garden questions answered by 15 experts. Rockwell, F. F., ed. (Ag '44)
10,000 leagues over the sea. Robinson, W. A. (N '44)
Ten years in Japan. Grew, J. C. (Je '44)
Tennessee

Politics and government
  Perry, J. Democracy begins at home. (N '44)
Tennessee Valley authority
  Duffus, R. L. Valley and its people. (D '44)
  Finer, H. T.V.A: lessons for international application. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Lilienthal, D. E. TVA. (My '44)
Teresa of Avila, Saint. See Teresa of Jesus, Saint
Teresa of Jesus, Saint
  Sackville-West, V. M. Eagle and the Dove. (Mr '44)
  Walsh, W. T. Saint Teresa of Avila. (Ag '44)
Terhoven file. Pick, R. (O '44)
Terrible Gustave Doré. Lehmann-Haupt, H. (Ap '44)
Tesla, Nikola
  O'Neill, J. J. Prodigal genius. (D '44)
The test. Eng title of: The ordeal. Perventsev, A. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Testament to democracy. Wedgwood of Barlaston, J. C. W. (Ap '44)
Testing
  King, A. T. Engineering inspection practice. (O '44)
Testing of engineering materials. Muhlenbruch, C. W. (O '44)
Text of official report: War and postwar adjustment policies. Baruch, B. M., and Hancock, J. M. (Ag '44)
Textbook of quantitative inorganic analysis. Kolthoff, I. M., and Sandell, E. B. (Je '44)
Textile fabrics
  Woolman, M. S., and McGowan, E. A. B. Textiles. (Ap '44)

Testing
  Leaderman, H. Elastic and creep properties of filamentous materials and other high polymers. (Ag '44)
Textile industry
  Wolfbein, S. L. Decline of a cotton textile city. (N '44)
Textiles. Woolman, M. S., and McGowan, E. A. B. (Ap '44)
Thailand

Social life and customs
  Landon, M. D. M. Anna and the King of Siam. (S '44)
That man in the White House. Kingdon, F. (My '44)
That Silver fox patrol. Boynton, N. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
That vanishing Eden. Barbour, T. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Theater

History
  Kernodle, G. R. From art to theatre. (D '44)

Stage-setting and scenery
  Kernodle, G. R. From art to theatre. (D '44)

Yearbooks
  Mantle, B., ed. Best plays of 1943-44. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

United States
  Harriman, M. C. Take them up tenderly. (N '44)
  Marks, E. B. They all had glamour. (Je '44)
  Nathan, G. J. Theatre book of the year, 1943-1944. (N '44)
Theatre book of the year, 1943-1944. Nathan, G. J. (N '44)
Theism
  Laird, J. Mind and deity. (D '44)
  Schmidt, K. From science to God. (S '44)
Theme of Plato's Republic. Hoerber, R. G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Then there was one. Burns, E. (Je '44)
Then there were five. Enright, E. (O '44)
Theodore Roosevelt and labor in New York state. Hurwitz, H. L. (Je '44)
Theology
  Brightman, E. S., ed. Personalism in theology. (D '44)
  Brunner, H. E. Divine-human encounter. (My '44)
  Macfarland, C. S. Survey of religious literature. (Ag '44)
  Scott, E. F. Varieties of New Testament religion. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Theoretical chemistry. Glasstone, S. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Theory and practice of arc welding. Sacks, R. J. (Ag '44)
Theory of economic progress. Ayres, C. E. (S '44)
Theory of literary kinds. Donohue, J. J. (S '44)
Theory of national economic planning. Landauer, K. (My '44)
Theory of the gyroscopic compass and its deviations. Rawlings, A. L. (Ag '44)

Therapeutics, Suggestive. See Psychotherapy
There is still time. Link, C. C. W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
There was no yesterday. Arey, J. S. (Ap '44)
There were two of us. Osborn, V. M. (N '44)
There's no front like home. Yoder, R. M. (Ap '44)
There's no place like Washington. Bloom, V. (D '44)

Therese de l'Enfant Jesus, Saint
  Ghéon, H. Secrets of the saints. (N '44)
  Sackville-West, V. M. Eagle and the Dove. (Mr '44)
Thermodynamic charts. Ellenwood, F. O., and Mackey, C. O. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Thermodynamics
  Dodge, B. F. Chemical engineering thermodynamics. (O '44)
  Zemansky, M. W. Heat and thermodynamics. (Je '44)
Thesaurus of epigrams. Fuller, E., ed. (Mr '44)
Thesaurus of the arts. Wier, A. E. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
These are the times. Jaynes, C. (My '44)
These things will last. Warburton, S. R. (S '44)
These we teach. Williams, C. D. T. (Ap '44)
They all had glamour. Marks, E. B. (Je '44)
They all saw it. Brown, M. W. (O '44)
They called it Purple heart valley. White, M. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
They came from Scotland. Judson, C. I. (N '44)
They came to London. Tabor, P. (Mr '44)
They dare not go a-hunting. Cornwell, D. (N '44)
They dream of home. Busch, N. (D '44)
They fly to fight. Ayling, K. (Ag '44)
They hop and crawl. Morris, P. A. (N '44)
They played the game. Grayson, H. (D '44)
They put out to sea. Duvoisin, R. A. (Mr '44)
They shall come again. Mitchell, R. C. (Je '44)
They shall not sleep. Stowe, L. (Mr '44)
They told about Jesus. Cutler, E. (D '44)
They were sisters. Whipple, D. (Je '44)
They were there. Riess, C., ed. (S '44)
They work for tomorrow. Bartlett, R. M. (Mr '44)
13 against the odds. Embree, E. R. (Mr '44)
Thirty days to live. Malleson, L. B. (D '44)
Thirty famous one act plays. Cerf, B., and Cartmell, V. H., eds. (Ap '44)
Thirty-one roads to the White House. Graham, A. P. (N '44)
This created world. Ferris, T. P. (Mr '44)
This day's madness. Rosebery, M. (S '44)
This is India. Muir, P. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
This is it! Davis, H. (My '44)
This is Kate. Hard, M. S. (S '44)
This is the milk that Jack drank. Scott, W. R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
This is the world. Pease, J. V. (D '44)
This little boy went to kindergarten. Paullin, E. (N '44)
This little pig stayed home. Ethridge, W. S. (My '44)
This man and this woman. Brush, K. I. (N '44)
This very sun. Heal, E. (D '44)
This war against Japan. Eng title of: Our Japanese foe. Morrison, I. (Ap '44)
This was my Newport. Elliott, M. H. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Thompson, Francis
  Connolly, T. L. Francis Thompson. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Thomson, Elihu
  Woodbury, D. O. Beloved scientist. (Mr '44)
Those Smith kids. Self, M. C. (O '44)

Thought and thinking
  Craik, K. J. W. Nature of explanation. (Je '44)

Thought transference
  Dunninger, J. What's on your mind? (S '44)
Three and a pigeon. Barne, K. (Ap '44)
3 and 30 watchbirds. Leaf, M. (Ap '44)
Three boys of old Russia. Acker, H. (Ag '44)
Three in the jungle. Shields, K. (O '44)
Three Napoleonic battles. Parker, H. T. (S '44)
Three wars with Germany. Hall, W. R., and Peaslee, A. J. (S '44)
Three way plays. White, J. R. (O '44)
Thrill of tradition. Moffatt, J. (My '44)
Through many waters. Watson, V. C. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Through the perilous night. Custer, J. J. (S '44)
Thumbelina. Andersen, H. C. (S '44)
Thunder beats the drum! Hewlett, J. (N '44)
Thunder mountain. Pratt, T. (My '44)
Thunderbolt house. Pease, H. (My '44)
Thunder's tail. Greer, B. (Je '44)
Till death do us part. Carr, J. D. (O '44)
Till the boys come home. Lees, H. (O '44)

Tillman, Benjamin Ryan
  Simkins, F. B. Pitchfork Ben Tillman. (D '44)
Timber beast. Binns, A. (Je '44)
Time bases. Puckle, O. S. (Je '44)
Time for decision. Welles, S. (S '44)
Time for each other. Runbeck, M. L. (S '44)
Time for swapping. Bernstein, A. R. E., and Slocum, R. (O '44)
Time is born. Garrett, G. (Je '44)
Time must have a stop. Huxley, A. L. (O '44)
Time of year. Morse, S. F. (S '44)

Time study
  Schutt, W. H. Time study engineering. (My '44)
Time study engineering. Schutt, W. H. (My '44)
Timeless Mexico. Strode, H. (N '44)

The Times, London
  Hudson, D. Thomas Barnes of the Times. (My '44)

Times-Picayune
  Dabney, T. E. One hundred great years. (S '44)
Timid Timothy. Williams, G. M. (N '44)

Timing devices
  Puckle, O. S. Time bases. (Je '44)
Timothy has ideas. Mason, M. E. (Mr '44)
Timothy-Tick-Tock. Zimmerman, N. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Tit for tat Tommy. Blumenthal, G. (N '44)
To stem this tide. Johnson, C. S., and others. (Ap '44)
To the south. Severin, K., and Sorsby, L. (D '44)
To what dread end. Heberden, M. V. (Mr '44)
To whom it may concern. Farrell, J. T. (Ag '44)

Toasts
  Fuller, E., ed. Thesaurus of epigrams. (Mr '44)
Today's American democracy. Williams, J. L., and Howard, P. P. (N '44)
Tollivers. Farnham, M. H. (N '44)

Tolstoi, Lev Nikolaevich, graf

Juvenile literature
  Acker, H. Three boys of old Russia. (Ag '44)
Tom Bone. Judah, C. B. (Ag '44)
Tommy and his dog, Hurry. Ferris, H. J. (S '44)
Tommy visits an aircraft factory. Theiss, L. E. (Ap '44)
Tomorrow always comes. Bartlett, V. (Ap '44)
Too busy to die. Roden, H. W. (O '44)
Too many murderers. Childerness, G. (Ag '44)
Too much poison. Rowe, A. (D '44)
Too much Salt and Pepper. Campbell, S. A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Tool steel
  Gill, J. P., and others. Tool steels. (O '44)
Top lineman. Heyliger, W. (Ap '44)

Topographical drawing
  Sloane, R. C., and Montz, J. M. Elements of topographic drawing. (Ap '44)
Total war. Burnham, J. (Ap '44)

Totalitarianism
  Hayek, F. A. Road to serfdom. (N '44)
  Malinowski, B. Freedom and civilization. (D '44)
  Mises, L. von. Omnipotent government. (Je '44)
  Race: nation: person. (S '44)
  William J. Kerby foundation. Democracy. (My '44)
Touch of nutmeg. Collier, J. (Mr '44)

Toussaint Louverture, Pierre Dominique
  Korngold, R. Citizen Toussaint. (O '44)
Toward a better world. Smuts, J. C. (Mr '44)
Towards zero. Christie, A. M. (Ag '44)

Toys
  Newkirk, L. V., and Zutter, L. You can make it. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Toys—Continued
  Turpin, L. Toys you can make of wood. (O '44)
Toys you can make of wood. Turpin, L. (O '44)
Trade unions
  Dunlop, J. T. Wage determination under trade unions. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Roberts, H. S. Rubber workers. (Je '44)
  Waldman, L. Labor lawyer. (O '44)

United States

  Faulkner, H. U., and Starr, M. Labor in America. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Lahne, H. J. Cotton mill worker. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
  Northrup, H. R. Organized labor and the Negro. (My '44)
  Pesotta, R. Bread upon the waters. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Peterson, F. Handbook of labor unions. (Je '44)
Trading with the enemy
  Domke, M. Trading with the enemy in World war II. (Ap '44)
Tradition (theology)
  Moffatt, J. Thrill of tradition. (My '44)
Traditional Chinese tales. Wang, C., tr. (My '44)
Tragic ground. Caldwell, E. (N '44)
Traherne, Thomas
  Wade, G. I. Thomas Traherne. (O '44)
Trail blazers for invasion. Wachsman, Z. H. (Je '44)
Trail of the Florida circuit rider. Thrift, C. T. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Trains, tracks, and travel. Van Metre, T. W. (N '44)
Transit. Seghers, A. (Je '44)
Transition from war to peace economy. League of nations. Economic, financial and transit department. (My '44)
Transport aircraft of the world. Ott, L. (D '44)
Transportation and power. Johnson, W. H., and Newkirk, L. V. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Travelers all. Webber, I. E. S. (N '44)
Traveller from Tokyo. Morris, J. (S '44)
Traveller's war. Jacob, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Treason. Gessner, R. (Je '44)
Treason at the Point. Nolan, J. C. (D '44)
Treasury of American folklore. Botkin, B. A., ed. (Je '44)
Treasury of cat stories. Zistel, E., comp. (My '44)
Treasury of great Russian short stories. Yarmolinsky, A., ed. (Ap '44)
Treasury of modern best sellers. (Ag '44)
Treaty ports. Abend, H. (O '44)
Treks across the veldt. Waldeck, T. J. (Ag '44)
Trending into Maine. Roberts, K. L. (S '44)
Trends in European social legislation between the two world wars. Lorch, A. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Trial by murder. Hoster, G. (Je '44)
Trial by time. Ferril, T. H. (My '44)
Trial of Adolf Hitler. Young, M. (My '44)
Trinity
  Hodgson, L. Doctrine of the Trinity. (N '44)
Trippe, Juan Terry
  Josephson, M. Empire of the air. (My '44)
Triumph of treason. Cot, P. (My '44)
Trooper, U.S. army dog. Watson, H. O. (Mr '44)
Trouble for Jerry. Gates, D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Trouble in the gulch. Tousey, S. (S '44)
Truant. Barrett, R. B. (O '44)
Trudy and the tree house. Coatsworth, E. J. (Je '44)
True life. Sturzo, L. (Ap '44)
Trumpet to arms. Lancaster, B. (Ag '44)
Trumpet voluntary. Stern, G. B. (S '44)
Trusts, Industrial
  Berge, W. Cartels. (N '44)
Truth about De Gaulle. Riveloup, A. (S '44)
Try and stop me. Cerf, B. A., comp. (D '44)
Tuberculosis
  Hudson, H., and Fish, M. Occupational therapy in the treatment of the tuberculous patient. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Turkey
  Jackh, E. Rising crescent. (S '44)

History

  Tobin, C. M. Turkey. (Je '44)
Turkey for Christmas. De Angeli, M. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Tuskegee and the black belt. Walker, A. K. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Tuskegee normal and industrial institute
  Walker, A. K. Tuskegee and the black belt. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
12:20 P.M. Beymer, W. G. (D '44)
Twentieth century engineering. Tupholme, C. H. S. (D '44)
Twentieth century United States. Nichols, J. P. (Je '44)
25 non-royalty holiday plays. Jagendorf, M. A., comp. (Ag '44)
Twenty-five troubled years, 1918-1943. Soward, F. H. (S '44)
Twilight of the gladiators. Serner, G. (S '44)
Twin colts. Hogan, I. (O '44)
Two children and their jungle zoo. Brown, R. J. (N '44)
2 died at 3. Gregg, C. F. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Two eagles. Chambers, M. C. M. (Ap '44)
Two girls on a ladder. Leon, B. (O '44)
Two oceans to Canton. Hewes, A. D. (D '44)
272 Maple avenue. Palmer, W. B. (S '44)
Two young Corsicans. Stewart, A. B. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Type and type founding
  McNally, H. J. Readability of certain type sizes and forms in sight-saving classes. (Je '44)
Types of planes. Aviation research associates, incorporated. (Je '44)
Tyrants' war and the peoples' peace. Hermens, F. A. (O '44)
Tyson, Edward
  Ashley-Montagu, M. F. Edward Tyson. (O '44)
Tzŭ-Hsi, empress dowager of China

Drama

  Collis, M. Motherly and Auspicious. (My '44)

U.S. aviation in wartime. Schnapper, M. B., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
U.S.-Canadian Northwest. Kizer, B. H. (My '44)
U.S. war aims. Lippmann, W. (S '44)
U.S.A. at war; U.S. camera, 1945. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
USSR. Duranty, W. (My '44)
Ukraine
  Chamberlin, W. H. Ukraine. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Ultra-high-frequency radio engineering. Emery, W. L. (D '44)
Unashamed accompanist. Moore, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Uncle Bennie goes visiting. Brock, E. L. (D '44)
Uncle Sam's army. Avison, G. (Mr '44)
Uncle Sam's marines. Avison, G. (D '44)
Uncle Sam's navy. Avison, G. (O '44)
Uncle Sam's story book. Harper, W., comp. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Unconquerable. Eng title of: While still we live. MacInnes, H. (My '44)
Underhill, Evelyn
  Underhill, E. Letters. (Ap '44)
Understanding New Zealand. Wood, F. L. W. (Je '44)
Understanding the young child. Blatz, W. E. (Ag '44)
Unemployment
  Fleddérus, M. L., and Van Kleeck, M. Technology and livelihood. (My '44)
Unfinished business. Bonsal, S. (Mr '44)
Unitarianism
  Mineka, F. E. Dissidence of dissent. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Biography

  Fritchman, S. H. Men of liberty. (S '44)
United nations, 1942-
  Balint, N. G., ed. Meet your allies in war and peace. (S '44)
  Canadian institute on public affairs. United nations today and tomorrow. (N '44)

Economic policy
Lorwin, L. L. Postwar plans of the United nations. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
United nations agreements. Schnapper, M. B., ed. (Je '44)
United nations today and tomorrow. Canadian institute on public affairs. (N '44)
United States. Congress
Flynn, J. T. Meet your Congress. (N '44)
Torrey, V. You and your Congress. (Ap '44)

Powers and duties
Wilmerding, L. Spending power. (S '44)
United States. Congress. House of representatives. Special committee on un-American activities
Gellermann, W. Martin Dies. (S '44)
Ogden, A. R. Dies committee. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
United States. Congress. Senate
Colegrove, K. W. American Senate and world peace. (Mr '44)
United States. Constitution
Bloom, S. Our heritage. (N '44)
Corwin, E. S. Constitution and world organization. (Je '44)
United States. Sanitary commission
Greenbie, M. L. B. Lincoln's daughters of mercy. (Je '44)
United States. Supreme court
Haines, C. G. Role of the Supreme court in American government and politics. (O '44)
United States. Treasury department
Taus, E. R. Central banking functions of the United States treasury. (D '44)
United States. Work projects administration
Stanford, E. B. Library extension under the WPA. (S '44)
United States

Administrative departments
Juran, J. M. Bureaucracy. (Je '44)

Armed services
Burton, E. By sea and by land. (S '44)
Collins, C. R. When your son goes to war. (Ap '44)

Handbooks, manuals, etc.
Hart, R. Marching home. (My '44)

Army
See United States. Army

Biography
Bartlett, R. M. They work for tomorrow. (Mr '44)
Harriman, M. C. Take them up tenderly. (N '44)
Who's who in the East. (O '44)

Juvenile literature
Elms, F. R. Builders of our nation. (O '44)

Church history
Jones, E. S. Christ of the American road. (O '44)

Civilization
Bowers, D. F., ed. Foreign influences in American life. (N '44)
Brogan, D. W. American character. (N '44)
Cherne, L. M. Rest of your life. (Ag '44)
Curti, M. E. Growth of American thought. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Jackson, E. Faith and fire within us. (D '44)
Krout, J. A., and Fox, D. R. Completion of independence. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Macarthur, J. R. Ancient Greece in modern America. (Je '44)
McDowell, T., ed. America in literature. (O '44)
Roosevelt, F. D. American way. (Ag '44)

Commerce
China
Hewes, A. D. Two oceans to Canton. (D '44)

Commercial policy
Feis, H. Sinews of peace. (D '44)

Constitutional history
Haines, C. G. Role of the Supreme court in American government and politics. (O '44)
Milton, G. F. Use of presidential power, 1789-1943. (My '44)
Swisher, C. B. American constitutional development. (Ap '44)

Defenses
Stettinius, E. R. Lend-lease, weapon for victory. (Mr '44)
Weller, G. A. Bases overseas. (D '44)

Description and travel
Dos Passos, J. R. State of the nation. (S '44)
Hunter, R. Quebec to Carolina in 1785-1786. (S '44)
Mathias, F. S. Amazing Bob Davis. (O '44)
Rosebery, M. This day's madness. (S '44)
Saunders, H. A. S. Pioneers! O pioneers! (S '44)

Diplomatic and consular service
Dunham, D. C. Envoy unextraordinary. (O '44)

Economic conditions
Adriance, R. I. Using the wealth of the world. (Je '44)
Cherne, L. M. Rest of your life. (Ag '44)
Faulkner, H. U. American economic history. (Ag '44)
Flynn, J. T. As we go marching. (Mr '44)
Gustafson, A. F., and others. Conservation in the United States. (D '44)
Patterson, S. H. Social aspects of industry. (O '44)
Williamson, H. F., ed. Growth of the American economy. (Je '44)

Economic policy
Baruch, B. M., and Hancock, J. M. Text of official report: War and postwar adjustment policies. (Ag '44)
Brown, W. A. Future economic policy of the United States. (Je '44)
Diamond, W. Economic thought of Woodrow Wilson. (O '44)
Fine, S. M. Public spending and postwar economic policy. (O '44)
Howenstine, E. J. Economics of demobilization. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Johnston, E. A. America unlimited. (My '44)
Kaplan, A. D. H. Liquidation of war production. (O '44)
Nathan, R. R. Mobilizing for abundance. (Ap '44)
Quinn, T. K. Liberty, employment and no more wars. (Ag '44)
Slichter, S. H. Present savings and postwar markets. (O '44)
Stewart, M. S. Building for peace at home and abroad. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Twentieth century fund, inc. Postwar planning in the United States. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wallace, H. A. Democracy reborn. (S '44)
Zelomek, A. W. Here comes tomorrow. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Executive departments
Crider, J. H. Bureaucrat. (S '44)

Foreign policy
Browder, E. R. Teheran. (O '44)
Gibson, H. Road to foreign policy. (S '44)
Hoffman, R. J. S. Durable peace. (S '44)
Johnson, W. Battle against isolation. (D '44)
Jones, J. M. Modern foreign policy for the United States. (My '44)
Willkie, W. L. An American program. (N '44)

Foreign population
Bowers, D. F., ed. Foreign influences in American life. (N '44)
Herman, L. and M. S. Manual of foreign dialects for radio, stage and screen. (S '44)
MacIver, R. M., ed. Group relations and group antagonisms. (Ag '44)

Foreign relations
Bloom, S. Our heritage. (N '44)
Callender, H. Preface to peace. (Ap '44)
Colegrove, K. W. American Senate and world peace. (Mr '44)

United States—Foreign relations—Continued
Corwin, E. S. Constitution and world organization. (Je '44)
Lippmann, W. U. S. war aims. (S '44)
MacNeil, N. American peace. (D '44)
Nevins, A., and Hacker, L. M., eds. United States and its place in world affairs, 1918-1943. (Ap '44)
Perkins, D. America and two wars. (S '44)
Shaw, A. International bearings of American policy. (Ag '44)
Thomas, E. D. Four fears. (N '44)
Van Alstyne, R. W. American diplomacy in action. (O '44)
Wallace, H. A. Democracy reborn. (S '44)
Warburg, J. P. Foreign policy begins at home. (D '44)
Weller, G. A. Bases overseas. (D '44)
Welles, S. Time for decision. (S '44)
Whitton, J. B., ed. Second chance. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wriston, H. M. Strategy of peace. (D '44)

Canada
Tansill, C. C. Canadian-American relations, 1875-1911. (Ap '44)

Japan
Grew, J. C. Ten years in Japan. (Je '44)

Latin America
Herring, H. C. America and the Americas. (D '44)
Sands, W. F., and Lalley, J. M. Our jungle diplomacy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stuart, G. H. Latin America and the United States. (Ap '44)

Russia
Dulles, F. R. Road to Teheran. (Ap '44)

Historical geography
Lord, C. L. and E. H. Historical atlas of the United States. (My '44)

History
Adams, J. T. American. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Beard, C. A. and M. R. Basic history of the United States. (O '44)
Benét, S. V. America. (Ag '44)
Forman, S. E. Our republic. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Hicks, J. D. Short history of American democracy. (Ap '44)
Hockett, H. C., and Schlesinger, A. M. Land of the free. (N '44)
Hoffman, S. News of the nation. (Ap '44)
Maurois, A. Miracle of America. (S '44)
Morais, H. M. Struggle for American freedom. (O '44)
Nichols, R. F. and J. P. Short history of American democracy. (Je '44)
Woodward, W. E. Way our people lived. (Je '44)

Humor, caricatures, etc.
Nevins, A., and Weitenkampf, F. Century of political cartoons. (My '44)

Study and teaching
Committee on American history in schools and colleges. American history in schools and colleges. (My '44)

Colonial period
Adams, J. T., ed. Album of American history: Colonial period. (Ap '44)

1783-1865
Krout, J. A., and Fox, D. R. Completion of independence. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

War of 1812
Adams, H. War of 1812. (O '44)

1815-1861
Tyler, A. F. Freedom's ferment. (Ap '44)

Civil war
Freeman, D. S. Lee's lieutenants; v. 3, Gettysburg to Appomattox. (N '44)
Hebert, W. H. Fighting Joe Hooker. (D '44)
Ramsdell, C. W. Behind the lines in the southern confederacy. (Ap '44)

Civil war—Naval operations
West, R. S. Gideon Welles. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Civil war—Women's work
Greenbie, M. L. B. Lincoln's daughters of mercy. (Je '44)

20th century
Nichols, J. P. Twentieth century United States. (Je '44)

History, Military
Reck, F. M. Beyond the call of duty. (D '44)

History, Naval
Roberts, W. A., and Brentano, L., eds. Book of the Navy. (Ap '44)

Industries and resources
Oxenfeldt, A. R. New firms and free enterprise. (Ag '44)
Patterson, S. H. Social aspects of industry. (O '44)

Intellectual life
Curti, M. E. Growth of American thought. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Fitch, R. E. Certain blind man. (My '44)
Jones, H. M. Ideas in America. (S '44)

Maps
Lord, C. L. and E. H. Historical atlas of the United States. (My '44)

Militia
Beckwith, E. R., and others. Lawful action of state military forces. (S '44)

Navy
See United States. Navy

Politics and government
Beard, C. A. Republic. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Binkley, W. E. American political parties. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Brogan, D. W. Government of the people. (N '44)
Flynn, J. T. As we go marching. (Mr '44)
Garner, J. W. Studies in government and international law. (Je '44)
Lydgate, W. A. What America thinks. (N '44)
Morais, H. M. Struggle for American freedom. (O '44)
Nevins, A., and Weitenkampf, F. Century of political cartoons. (My '44)
Smith, E. C., and Zurcher, A. J., eds. Dictionary of American politics. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Warburg, J. P. Foreign policy begins at home. (D '44)

Handbooks, manuals, etc.
Garrette, E. Political handbook for women. (S '44)

Colonial period
Clarke, M. P. Parliamentary privilege in the American colonies. (Ap '44)

1783-1865
Luthin, R. H. First Lincoln campaign. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

20th century
Abrahams, L. It's all politics. (D '44)
Burlingame, R., and Stevens, A. Victory without peace. (Ap '44)
Clapper, R. Watching the world. (S '44)
Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (D '44)
Gaer, J. First round. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Howard, L. V., and Bone, H. A. Current American government. (Ap '44)
Kingdon, F. That man in the White House. (My '44)
Koenig, L. W. Presidency and the crisis. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Man at the Microphone. Washington broadcast. (Ap '44)
Michelson, C. Ghost talks. (Je '44)
Rauch, B. History of the new deal, 1933-1938. (D '44)
Roosevelt, F. D. Rendezvous with destiny. (S '44)
Sullivan, L. Bureaucracy runs amuck. (Ap '44)
Van Devander, C. W. Big bosses. (My '44)
Wallace, H. A. Democracy reborn. (S '44)
Willkie, W. L. An American program. (N '44)

Race question
Johnson, C. S., and others. To stem this tide. (Ap '44)
McWilliams, C. Prejudice. (N '44)
Odum, H. W. Race and rumors of race. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Willkie, W. L. An American program. (N '44)
Relations (general) with Brazil
Cooke, M. L. Brazil on the march. (O '44)
Relations (general) with Canada
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Canada and the western hemisphere. (N '44)
Relations (general) with Great Britain
Gibbs, P. H., ed. Bridging the Atlantic. (My '44)
Relations (general) with Russia
Sorokin, P. A. Russia and the United States. (Mr '44)
Religion
Eakin, F., and Moody, M. O. Let's think about our religion. (N '44)
Social conditions
Cherne, L. M. Rest of your life. (Ag '44)
Dos Passos, J. R. State of the nation. (S '44)
Meyer, A. E. E. Journey through chaos. (O '44)
Ogburn, W. F., ed. American society in wartime. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Patterson, S. H. Social aspects of industry. (O '44)
Social life and customs
Kimbrough, E. How dear to my heart. (D '44)
Rosebery, M. This day's madness. (S '44)
Tyler, A. F. Freedom's ferment. (Ap '44)
Woodward, W. E. Way our people lived. (Je '44)
Colonial period
Adams, J. T., ed. Album of American history: Colonial period. (Ap '44)
United States and its place in world affairs, 1918-1943. Nevins, A., and Hacker, L. M., eds. (Ap '44)
United States. Army
Shenton, E. Alphabet of the army. (Ap '44)
History
Wecter, D. When Johnny comes marching home. (O '44)
Juvenile literature
Avison, G. Uncle Sam's army. (Mr '44)
Military life
Coughlin, E. F. P. Assistant hero. (N '44)
Hough, D. Captain Retread. (Je '44)
Jones, J. 1-B soldier. (Je '44)
Klaw, B. V. Camp follower. (O '44)
Miller, A. Situation normal. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stone, E. C., and Melick, W. Coming, Major! (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Poetry
Justema, W. Private papers. (Je '44)
United States. Army. Artillery
Smith, C. P. He's in the artillery now. (Ap '44)
United States. Army. Cavalry
Ramey, R. S. He's in the cavalry now. (S '44)
United States. Army. 45th infantry
Robinson, D. News of the 45th. (Ag '44)
United States. Army. 165th infantry
Jenkins, B. A. Father Meany and the Fighting 69th. (O '44)
United States. Army. Parachute troops
Raff, E. D. We jumped to fight. (S '44)
United States. Army air forces
Carlisle, N. V., and others, eds. Air forces reader. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Gauvreau, E. H. Wild blue yonder. (O '44)
Mingos, H. L. American heroes of the war in the air. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States. Army air forces. Official guide to the Army air forces: AAF. (S '44)
Insignia
Mann, C. Air heraldry. (S '44)
United States. Army air forces. Air service command
Friendly, A. Guys on the ground. (S '44)
United States. Army air forces. Air transport command
West, L. Flight to everywhere. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States. Army air forces. 8th air force
McCrary, J. R., and Scherman, D. E. First of the many. (D '44)
United States. Army air forces. 513th bombardment squadron
Thomas, R. T. Born in battle. (S '44)
United States. Civil air patrol
Mellor, W. B. Sank same. (D '44)
United States. Coast guard
Ingraham, R. First fleet. (My '44)
Thompson, L. R. Navy hunts the CGR 3070. (Mr '44)
United States. Coast guard academy, New London, Connecticut
Hughes, R. Our Coast guard academy. (Ag '44)
United States. Marine corps
Bailey, G. P. Boot. (Ag '44)
Carlisle, N. V. Marines in review. (Ap '44)
Crump, I. Our marines. (My '44)
Hubler, R. G., and DeChant, J. A. Flying leathernecks. (D '44)
Metcalf, C. H., ed. Marine corps reader. (S '44)
Mingos, H. L. American heroes of the war in the air. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Willard, W. W. Leathernecks come through. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Juvenile literature
Avison, G. Uncle Sam's marines. (D '44)
United States. Marine corps. 1st division
Merillat, H. L. The island. (D '44)
United States. Military academy, West Point
Waugh, E. D. J. West Point. (S '44)
United States. Navy
Blakeslee, V. F. Fighting ships of the U.S.A. (Ap '44)
Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (D '44)
Dyett, J. G. Your navy now. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Fetridge, W. H., ed. Second Navy reader. (O '44)
Kelly, T. J. Damage control. (D '44)
Rathbone, A. D. He's in the sub-busters now. (Ap '44)
Roberts, W. A., and Brentano, L., eds. Book of the Navy. (Ap '44)
Juvenile literature
Avison, G. Uncle Sam's navy. (O '44)
Officers' handbooks
Cope, H. F., ed. Navy shipboard administration. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pictorial works
Our flying navy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sea life
Exton, W. He's in the destroyers now. (My '44)
United States. Navy. Air service
Carlisle, N. V., and others, eds. Air forces reader. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Elton, W. W. Navy in the sky. (My '44)
Elton, W. W., and others. Guide to naval aviation. (Je '44)
Mingos, H. L. American heroes of the war in the air. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Our flying navy. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
United States. Navy. Bombing squadron 17
Olds, R. Helldiver squadron. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States. Navy. Construction battalions
Cave, H. B. We build, we fight! (N '44)
Huie, W. B. Can do! (O '44)
Juvenile literature
Lent, H. B. Seabee. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
United States. Navy. Motor torpedo boat squadron
Juvenile literature
Lent, H. B. PT boat. (Je '44)

Universe around us. Jeans, J. H. (N '44)
University and the modern world. Nash, A. S. (My '44)
University debaters' annual, v 29. Phelps, E. M., ed. (S '44)
University debaters' annual, 1943-44, v30. Phelps, E. M., ed. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Unneutral murder. Footner, H. (S '44)
Unready heart. Sherman, R. (S '44)
Unsung Americans sung. Handy, W. C., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual) Until they eat stones. Brines, R. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Upper Mississippi. Havighurst, W. (Je '44)
Urban impact on American protestantism. Abell, A. I. (O '44)
Use of presidential power, 1789-1943. Milton, G. F. (My '44)
Uses and applications of chemicals and related materials, v2. Gregory, T. C., ed. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Uses of reason. Murphy, A. E. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Using the wealth of the world. Adriance, R. I. (Je '44)
Utopias
Laidler, H. W. Social-economic movements. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

V-letter. Shapiro, K. J. (N '44)
Vacuum tubes
Preisman, A. Graphical constructions for vacuum tube circuits. (Je '44)
Valley and its people. Duffus, R. L. (D '44)
Valley of the sky. Skidmore, H. D. (S '44)
Vanderbilt miscellany, 1919-1944. Beatty, R. C., ed. (S '44)
Vanguard of the "drang nach Osten." Beneš, V. (Je '44)
Van Helmont, Jean Baptiste. See Helmont, J. B. van
Vanishing island. Eng title of: Disappearing island. Dunlop, A. M. R. (Ap '44)
Varieties of New Testament religion. Scott, E. F. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Varnish and varnishing
Mattiello, J. J., ed. Protective and decorative coatings: v. 4, Special studies. (Je '44)
Vatican
Sharkey, D. White smoke over the Vatican. (My '44)
Vatican (city)
Van der Veldt, J. A. City set on a hill. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Vatican and the war. Cianfarra, C. M. (Ap '44)
Vatnsdalers' saga. Vatnsdœla saga. (N '44)
Vaudeville
Marston, W. M., and Feller, J. H. F. F. Proctor, vaudeville pioneer. (Ap '44)
Young, M. B. Mother wore tights. (N '44)
Veblen, Thorstein Bunde
Duffus, R. L. Innocents at Cedro. (Mr '44)
Vegetable fats and oils. Jamieson, G. S. (Ap '44)
Vegetable gardening
Keen, G. G. and Hutchins, A. E. Let's all grow vegetables. (S '44)
Veils. Eng title of: Young Mrs. Brand. Hichens, R. S. (D '44)
Verdict on India. Nichols, B. (D '44)
Verifiability of value. Lepley, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Versailles, Treaty of, 1919
Bailey, T. A. Woodrow Wilson and the lost peace. (S '44)
Bonsal, S. Unfinished business. (Mr '44)
Jordan, W. M. Great Britain, France and the German problem, 1918-1939. (Ag '44)
Vespucci, Amerigo
Pohl, F. J. Amerigo Vespucci, pilot major. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Veteran comes back. Waller, W. W. (S '44)
Veterans
Hart, R. Marching home. (My '44)
Howenstine, E. J. Economics of demobilization. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pratt, G. K. Soldier to civilian. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Waller, W. W. Veteran comes back. (S '44)
Wecter, D. When Johnny comes marching home. (O '44)
Canada
England, R. Discharged. (S '44)
Veterinarians
Correspondence, reminiscences, etc.
Knott, M. O., and Cooper, P. Gone away with O'Malley. (D '44)
Via diplomatic pouch. Miller, D. P. (Ag '44)
Vianney, Jean Baptiste Marie, Saint
Ghéon, H. Secrets of the saints. (N '44)
Vico, Giovanni Battista
Vico, G. B. Autobiography of Giambattista Vico. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Victoria Grandolet. Bellamann, H. (Mr '44)
Victory at Midway. Coale, G. B. (My '44)
Victory without peace. Burlingame, R., and Stevens, A. (Ap '44)
Vinci, Leonardo da. See Leonardo da Vinci
Virgin Islands and their people. Jarvis, J. A. (O '44)
Virgin Islands of the United States
Jarvis, J. A. Virgin Islands and their people. (O '44)
Visitor. Randau, C., and Zugsmith, L. (Mr '44)
Vital mathematics. Allen, E. B., and others. (Je '44)
Vitality of the Christian tradition. Thomas, G. F., ed. (Je '44)
Vitalizing liberal education. Henderson, A. D. (Ap '44)
Vitamins
Schopfer, W. H. Plants and vitamins. (Ag '44)
Vitamins and hormones, v 1. (Je '44)
Vocational guidance
Campbell, W. G., and Bedford, J. H. You and your future job. (N '44)
Strong, E. K. Vocational interests of men and women. (Ag '44)
Vocational interests of men and women. Strong, E. K. (Ag '44)
Voice of Bataan. Bulosan, C. (Ap '44)
Voice of Norway. Koht, H., and Skard, S. (Je '44)
Voice of the turtle. Van Druten, J. (Ap '44)
Voiceless India. Emerson, G. (S '44)
Voices from unoccupied China. MacNair, H. F., ed. (Je '44)
Voices of history, 1941-1944. Watts, F., ed. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Voyages and travels
Busch, N. F. My unconsidered judgment. (S '44)
Forbes, R. T. Gypsy in the sun. (N '44)
Olschki, L. Marco Polo's precursors. (Ap '44)
Sill, E. R. Around the Horn. (S '44)
Snow, A. R. Log of a sea captain's daughter. (N '44)
Pictorial works
Lands and peoples. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Voyages around the world
Robinson, W. A. 10,000 leagues over the sea. (N '44)

Wade, Louisa (Hoyt)
Elliott, M. R. A. My Aunt Louisa and Woodrow Wilson. (D '44)
Wag-by-Wall. Potter, B. (D '44)
Wage determination under trade unions. Dunlop, J. T. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wage incentives. Louden, J. K. (O '44)
Wage payment plans
Louden, J. K. Wage incentives. (O '44)
Wage stabilization and inflation. Johnsen, J. E., comp. (Ag '44)
Wages
Dunlop, J. T. Wage determination under trade unions. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Gray, R. D. Systematic wage administration in the southern California aircraft industry. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Johnsen, J. E., comp. Wage stabilization and inflation. (Ag '44)
Russia
Bergson, A. Structure of Soviet wages. (Je '44)
Wait for Mrs Willard. Langley, D. (My '44)
Wake of the prairie schooner. Paden, I. D. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Waldman, Louis
Waldman, L. Labor lawyer. (O '44)
Walk in the sun. Brown, H. P. M. (S '44)
Walkabout Down under. Foote, K. S. (N '44)
Walkin' preacher of the Ozarks. Howard, G. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Walking
Leechman, J. D. Hiker's handbook. (Je '44)
Walls do not fall. Doolittle, H. (N '44)
Walpole, Horace, 4th earl of Orford
Walpole, H. Correspondence with M. and A. Berry and B. C. Seton. (N '44)
Walruses
Legends and stories
McCracken, H. Son of the walrus king. (N '44)
Wanderer. Schachner, N. (D '44)
War
Bernard, L. L. War and its causes. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Brynes, A. Revolution comes of age. (My '44)
Calahan, H. A. What makes a war end? (N '44)
Falls, C. B. Ordeal by battle. (Mr '44)
Gray, G. W. Science at war. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Voorhis, H. J. Beyond victory. (Je '44)
Economic aspects
Burnham, J. Total war. (Ap '44)
The War. McInnis, E. W. (O '44)
War and its causes. Bernard, L. L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
War and mental health in England. Mackintosh, J. M. (Ag '44)
War and postwar adjustment policies. See Baruch, B. M., and Hancock, J. M. Text of official report and related documents
War and religion
Barth, K. Church and the war. (S '44)
Heering, G. J. Fall of Christianity. (My '44)
Render unto Caesar. (Je '44)
War and the law. Puttkammer, E. W., ed. (Je '44)
War atlas for Americans. (Ag '44)
War below zero. Balchen, B., and others. (S '44)
War crimes
Glueck, S. War criminals, their prosecution and punishment. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
War criminals and punishment. Creel, G. (Je '44)
War criminals, their prosecution and punishment. Glueck, S. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
War diary. Malaquais, J. (Mr '44)
War drawings. Biddle, G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
War in maps. Brown, E. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
War of 1812. Adams, H. (O '44)
War on cancer. Podolsky, E. (Ap '44)
War songs
Palmer, E. A., ed. G. I. songs. (S '44)
War through the ages. Montross, L. (D '44)
War-time pattern of saving and spending. Madge, C. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Warner, Seth
Juvenile literature
Dean, L. W. Green mountain boy. (Ap '44)
Warships
Andrews, P., and Engel, L., eds. Navy yearbook. (S '44)
Blakeslee, V. F. Fighting ships of the U.S.A. (Ap '44)
Brodie, B. Guide to naval strategy. (D '44)
Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. Warships of the world. (N '44)
Kelly, T. J. Damage control. (D '44)
Leeming, J. Brave ships of World war II. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Rimington, C. Fighting fleets. (N '44)
Warships of the world. Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. (N '44)
Wartime government in operation. Nicholls, W. H., and Vieg, J. A. (Je '44)
Washington, George
Bloom, S. Our heritage. (N '44)
Washington, D.C.
Social life and customs
Bloom, V. There's no place like Washington. (D '44)
Man at the Microphone. Washington broadcast. (Ap '44)
Washington, D. C. National gallery of art
Cairns, H., and Walker, J., eds. Masterpieces of painting. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Washington broadcast. Man at the Microphone. (Ap '44)
Wasps
Juvenile literature
Kane, H. B. Tale of the white-faced hornet. (Je '44)
Watch out for Willie Carter. Naidish, T. (S '44)
Watching the world. Clapper, R. (S '44)
Water
Purification
Phelps, E. B. Stream sanitation. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Water to burn. Epstein, S., and Williams, B. (Je '44)
Waters over the dam. Kroll, H. H. (My '44)
The way. Hartley, J. M. (N '44)
Way of life. Lao Tzŭ. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Way our people lived. Woodward, W. E. (Je '44)
Wayne, James Moore
Lawrence, A. A. James Moore Wayne, Southern Unionist. (Ap '44)
We build, we fight! Cave, H. B. (N '44)
We jumped to fight. Raff, E. D. (S '44)
We live in Alaska. Helmericks, C. (S '44)
We of Frabo stand. MacKaye, D. L. and J. J. G. (D '44)
We preach not ourselves. Poteat, G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
We ride a white donkey. Panetta, G. (O '44)
We stood alone. Adams, D. (O '44)
We three kings. Rey, H. A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wealth for welfare. Foster, H. W., and Bacon, E. V. (Ag '44)
Weather
Grant, H. D. Cloud and weather atlas. (D '44)
Trewartha, G. T. Introduction to weather and climate. (Ag '44)
Juvenile literature
Gaer, J. Everybody's weather. (S '44)
MacNeil, M. G. Between earth and sky. (N '44)
Wedding day. Moser, E. (My '44)
Weejack and his neighbors. Fenton, C. L. (Je '44)
Weizmann, Chaim
Weisgal, M. W., ed. Chaim Weizmann. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Welding
Priest, H. M. Practical design of welded steel structures. (O '44)
Thompson, F. E. Diving, cutting and welding in underwater salvage operations. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Well full of leaves. Myers, E. (Je '44)
Welles, Gideon
West, R. S. Gideon Welles. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Wenderley. Mallette, G. E. (Mr '44)
Were you there when they crucified my Lord? Crite, A. R. (D '44)
West
Description and travel
Irving, W. Western journals of Washington Irving. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Paden, I. D. Wake of the prairie schooner. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
History
Rister, C. C. Border command. (Je '44)
West goes the road. Pridgen, T. (S '44)
West Indies
Wilson, C. M. Middle America. (Je '44)
West Indies, French
Crouse, N. M. French struggle for the West Indies. (My '44)
West Indies, Netherlands
Bibliography
Hiss, P. H. Selective guide to the English literature on the Netherlands West Indies. (Ag '44)

West Point. Waugh, E. D. J. (S '44)
West to the setting sun. Chalmers, H. (Ap '44)
Western journals of Washington Irving. Irving, W. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Western prices before 1861. Berry, T. S. (Ap '44)

Western Reserve university
  Waite, F. C. Western Reserve university. (My '44)

Western wild life. Chaffee, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Western words. Adams, R. F. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Westminster dictionary of the Bible. Davis, J. D. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Westward the women. Ross, N. W. (N '44)
Westward to Chungking. Kuo, C. (O '44)
What am I laughing at? Stein, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
What America thinks. Lydgate, W. A. (N '44)
What and what-not. Parker, K. P. (D '44)
What are your angels now? Eng title of: Mohune's nine lives. Groom, A. J. P. (Mr '44)
What became of Anna Bolton. Bromfield, L. (My '44)
What is hypnosis? Salter, A. (S '44)
What is music? Erskine, J. (D '44)
What is our destiny? Thomas, N. M. (My '44)
What is the verdict? Gross, F. L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
What makes a war end? Calahan, H. A. (N '44)
What manner of man? Busch, N. F. (S '44)
What Miranda knew. Adshead, G. L. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
What! more Dahl? Dahl, F. W. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
What Russia wants. Joesten, J. (Ap '44)
What the American family faces. Wood, L. F., and Mullen, J. W., eds. (Ap '44)
What the figures mean. Gilman, S. (S '44)
What the German needs. Lorimer, E. O. (Ag '44)
What the Negro wants. Logan, R. W., ed. (D '44)
What they don't know. Greene, W. (S '44)
What to do with Germany. Nizer, L. (Mr '44)
What's on your mind? Dunninger, J. (S '44)

Wheat
  Bailey, C. H. Constituents of wheat and wheat products. (O '44)

When Esther was a little girl. White, E. O. (Ap '44)
When I come back. Adams, F. R. (Je '44)
When I grow up I'll be a farmer. Rifkin, L. (My '44)
When I grow up I'll be a teacher. Pratt, M., and others. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
When Johnny comes marching home. Wecter, D. (O '44)
When the New Year came in March. Stillman, D. (My '44)
When your son goes to war. Collins, C. R. (Ap '44)
Where away. Perry, G. S., and Leighton, Isabel. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)..
Where Helen lies. Lane, M. (N '44)
Where is Johnny? Colby, H. (D '44)
Where the two came to their father. Oakes, M. (Je '44)
While America slept. Fleming, D. F. (Ap '44)
While still we live. MacInnes, H. (My '44)

White, William Allen
  Johnson, W. Battle against isolation. (D '44)

White and Negro spirituals. Jackson, G. P. (Je '44)
White brigade. Goffin, R. (Mr '44)
White feather. Allen, M. P. (O '44)
White smoke over the Vatican. Sharkey, D. (My '44)
White tulip. Girvan, H. M. (Ap '44)
Whitesmiths of Taunton. Gibb, G. S. (S '44)

Whitman, Walt
  Canby, H. S. Walt Whitman, an American. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Whittington, Richard

Juvenile literature

  Burlingame, C. Lord of London. (D '44)

Whittling book. Hunt, W. B. (N '44)
Who shall be educated? Warner, W. L., and others. (Ag '44)
Who's who in the East. (O '44)
Whose little bird am I? Weisgard, L. (O '44)
Why sea power will win the war. Stirling, Y. (Ap '44)
Why was I killed? Eng title of: Return of the traveller. Warner, R. (Je '44)
Wife to Mr Milton. Graves, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wild blue yonder. Gauvreau, E. H. (O '44)
Wilderness champion. Lippincott, J. W. (D '44)
Wilderness clearing. Edmonds, W. D. (D '44)
Wilderness trek. Grey, Z. (S '44)

Willard, Frances Elizabeth
  Earhart, M. Frances Willard. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

William I, prince of Orange
  Wedgwood, C. V. William the Silent. (D '44)

Williams, Claude Clossey
  Belfrage, C. Faith to free the people. (N '44)

Williams, Roger

Juvenile literature

  Eaton, J. Lone journey. (N '44)

Willie's walk to grandmama. Brown, M. W., and Campbell, R. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Willkie, Wendell Lewis
  Hatch, A. Young Willkie. (My '44)

Wilson, Woodrow
  Bailey, T. A. Woodrow Wilson and the lost peace. (S '44)
  Daniels, J. Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. (D '44)
  Diamond, W. Economic thought of Woodrow Wilson. (O '44)
  Elliott, M. R. A. My Aunt Louisa and Woodrow Wilson. (D '44)
  Harley, J. E. Woodrow Wilson still lives. (O '44)
  Johnson, G. W. Woodrow Wilson. (S '44)

Wilson era, years of peace, 1910-1917. Daniels, J. (D '44)
Wind in the Sahara. Bodley, R. V. C. (Ag '44)
Wind on the moon. Linklater, E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Winding river. Orton, H. F. (N '44)
Winds of evil. Upfield, A. W. (Ap '44)
Winds of fear. Carter, H. (N '44)

Windsor castle
  Puyvelde, L. van. Dutch drawings in the collection of his majesty the king at Windsor castle. (S '44)

Wingate, Orde Charles
  Rolo, C. J. Wingate's raiders. (Mr '44)

Wingate's raiders. Rolo, C. J. (Mr '44)
Winged peace. Bishop, W. A. (D '44)
Wings after war. Johnston, S. P. (Je '44)
Wings for America. Dunn, M. L., and Morrisett, L. N. (Ag '44)
Wings for Per. Aulaire, I. M. d' and E. P. d' (D '44)
Wings on the air. Roan, C. M. (S '44)
Winning the peace in the Pacific. Chou, K. (Mr '44)
Winter Cherry. Lane, K. W. (N '44)
Winter quarters. Johnson, P. H. (Ag '44)
Winter wheat. Walker, M. (Mr '44)

Wisconsin

Description and travel

  Holmes, F. L. Old World Wisconsin. (O '44)

Wisdom of the overself. Brunton, P. (S '44)
With a Dutch accent. DeJong, D. C. (Mr '44)
With my heart in my mouth. Norton-Taylor, D. (Ag '44)
Without bitterness. Orizu, A. A. N. (N '44)
Wives of High Pasture. Hedden, W. T. (S '44)

Woman
  Deutsch, H. Psychology of women. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Employment

  Anthony, S. B. Out of the kitchen—into the war. (Ap '44)
  Bowman, C. Slacks and callouses. (O '44)

Health and hygiene

  Leonard, M. L. Health counseling for girls. (O '44)

Occupations

  Campbell, D. E. Careers for women in banking and finance. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
  Chapelle, G. L. M. Girls at work in aviation. (Mr '44)

Smedley, D. O., and Ginn, A. Your career as a food specialist. (Ap '44)

Social and moral questions

Groves, E. R. American woman. (Je '44)

Woman in the picture. De Voto, B. A. (Ap '44)

Women and men. Scheinfeld, A. (D '44)

Women in business

Campbell, D. E. Careers for women in banking and finance. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Women in literature and art

Maurois, A. Seven faces of love. (Mr '44)

Women in Russia

Gruber, R. I went to the Soviet Arctic. (D '44)

Women in the United States

Groves, E. R. American woman. (Je '44)

Ross, N. W. Westward the women. (N '44)

Women on the porch. Gordon, C. (Je '44)

Wood, Grant

Garwood, D. Artist in Iowa. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Wood

Chemistry

Wise, L. E., ed. Wood chemistry. (N '44)

Wood carving

Hunt, W. B. Whittling book. (N '44)

Wood chemistry. Wise, L. E., ed. (N '44)

Woodcock

Knight, J. A. Woodcock. (N '44)

Woodrow Wilson and the lost peace. Bailey, T. A. (S '44)

Woodrow Wilson still lives. Harley, J. E. (O '44)

Woods Hole, Massachusetts. Marine biological laboratory

Lillie, F. R. Woods Hole marine biological laboratory. (O '44)

Woodwork

Shea, J. G., and Wenger, P. N. Woodworking for everybody. (D '44)

Turpin, L. Toys you can make of wood. (O '44)

Juvenile literature

Crocker, C. H. Let's build. (My '44)

Woodworking for everybody. Shea, J. G., and Wenger, P. N. (D '44)

Woollcott, Alexander

Woollcott, A. Letters. (S '44)

Woollcott family

Woollcott, B. None but a mule. (N '44)

Wordsworth, William

Meyer, G. W. Wordsworth's formative years. (N '44)

Wordsworth's formative years. Meyer, G. W. (N '44)

Work and play. Romains, J. (Mr '44)

Work and sing. Siegmeister, E., ed. (Ag '44)

Work methods manual. Barnes, R. M. (Je '44)

World Bible. Ballou, R. O., ed. (Ag '44)

World coffee economy. Wickizer, V. D. (Je '44)

World commodities and world currency. Graham, B. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

World ends at Hoboken. Heimer, M. L. (N '44)

World maps and globes. Fisher, I., and Miller, O. M. (S '44)

World of the Arabs. Bing, E. J. (My '44)

World of Washington Irving. Brooks, V. (N '44)

World politics

Becker, C. L. How new will the better world be? (Ap '44)

Brynes, A. Revolution comes of age. (My '44)

Duggan, S. P. H. Professor at large. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Fifield, R. H., and Pearcy, G. E. Geopolitics in principle and practice. (S '44)

Fox, W. T. R. Super-powers. (S '44)

Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Kirby, L. P. Et cetera. (Ag '44)

Lippmann, W. U. S. war aims. (S '44)

Nevins, A., and Hacker, L. M., eds. United States and its place in world affairs, 1918-1943. (Ap '44)

Palmer, F. It can be done this time. (O '44)

Riess, C., ed. They were there. (S '44)

Shaw, A. International bearings of American policy. (Ag '44)

Spykman, N. J. Geography of the peace. (My '44)

Visson, A. Coming struggle for peace. (Ag '44)

Watts, F., ed. Voices of history, 1941-1944. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Weller, G. A. Bases overseas. (D '44)

Ziff, W. B. Gentlemen talk of peace. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

World republic. Gill, C. A. (N '44)

World to reconstruct. Gonella, G. (S '44)

World war, 1939-

Bernanos, G. Plea for liberty. (Ag '44)

Biddle, F. B. Democratic thinking and the war. (My '44)

Greet, W. C. World words. (S '44)

Hall, W. R., and Peaslee, A. J. Three wars with Germany. (S '44)

Hammerton, J. A., ed. Second great war, a standard history. (O '44)

Hutchinson, W., ed. Pictorial history of the war. (O '44)

Jordan, M. Beyond all fronts. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

McInnis, E. W. The war. (O '44)

Riess, C., ed. They were there. (S '44)

Soward, F. H. Twenty-five troubled years, 1918-1943. (S '44)

Van Sinderen, A. Four years. (My '44)

Addresses, sermons, etc.

Fosdick, H. E. Great time to be alive. (D '44)

Aerial operations

Ayling, K. Bombers. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Carlisle, N. V., and others, eds. Air forces reader. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Crawford, W. Gore and glory. (S '44)

Friendly, A. Guys on the ground. (S '44)

Gentile, D. S. One-man air force. (S '44)

Harmon, T. D. Pilots also pray. (D '44)

Herbert, J. M. G—for Genevieve. (Ag '44)

Hubler, R. G., and DeChant, J. A. Flying leathernecks. (D '44)

Hutton, B., and Rooney, A. A. Air gunner. (D '44)

McCrary, J. R., and Scherman, D. E. First of the many. (D '44)

Mears, F. Carrier combat. (Mr '44)

Mellor, W. B. Sank same. (D '44)

Mingos, H. L. American heroes of the war in the air. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Olds, R. Helldiver squadron. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Paust, G. H., and Lancelot, M. Fighting wings. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Purcell, J. F. Flights to glory. (My '44)

Schnapper, M. B., ed. U.S. aviation in wartime. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Scott, R. L. Damned to glory. (N '44)

Thomas, R. T. Born in battle. (S '44)

Thruelsen, R., and Arnold, E. Mediterranean sweep. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Amphibious operations

Burton, E. By sea and by land. (S '44)

Art and the war

Crane, A., ed. Art in the armed forces. (D '44)

Writers' congress, Los Angeles. Proceedings of the conference. (N '44)

Atrocities

Black book of Polish Jewry. (Mr '44)

Biography

Busch, N. F. My unconsidered judgment. (S '44)

Cook, D. Fighting Americans of today. (Je '44)

De Weerd, H. A. Great soldiers of World war II. (N '44)

Hart, W. E. Hitler's generals. (Je '44)

Campaigns and battles

Elting, M., and others. Battles. (S '44)

Our army at war. (N '44)

Wertenbaker, C. Invasion! (O '44)

France

Chaplin, W. W. Fifty-two days. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Pyle, E. T. Brave men. (D '44)

Italy

Pyle, E. T. Brave men. (D '44)

World war, 1939- —Continued

Causes

Tosevic, D. J. Not Nazis but Germans. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Children

Bonney, T. Europe's children. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Gollomb, J., and Taylor, A. Young heroes of the war. (My '44)

Civilian relief

International labor office. Co-operative organisations and post-war relief. (O '44)
Kraus, H. International relief in action 1914-1943. (S '44)

Diplomatic history

Callender, H. Preface to peace. (Ap '44)

Documents, etc., sources

Schnapper, M. B., ed. United nations agreements. (Je '44)
Watts, F., ed. Voices of history, 1941-1944. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Drama

Anderson, M. Storm operation. (N '44)
Hellman, L. North Star. (Mr '44)
Oboler, A., and Longstreet, S., eds. Free world theatre. (O '44)

Economic aspects

Bloch, H. S., and Hoselitz, B. F. Economics of military occupation. (My '44)
Burnham, J. Total war. (Ap '44)
Fifield, R. H., and Pearcy, G. E. Geopolitics in principle and practice. (S '44)
Slichter, S. H. Present savings and postwar markets. (O '44)
Williams, G. R. Price of social security. (N '44)

Education and the war

Miller, J. H., and Brooks, D. V. N. Rôle of higher education in war and after. (O '44)

Engineering and construction

Bulldozers come first, by W. G. Bowman [and others]. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Finance

Stettinius, E. R. Lend-lease, weapon for victory. (Mr '44)

Germany

Nathan, O. Nazi war finance and banking. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Food question

Bennett, M. K. Food for postwar Europe. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Nicholls, W. H., and Vieg, J. A. Wartime government in operation. (Je '44)
Prentice, E. P. Food, war and the future. (Ag '44)

Food supply

Pearson, F. A., and Paarlberg, D. Food. (My '44)

Humor, caricatures, etc.

Baker, G. Sad Sack. (O '44)
Baron, S. S. One whirl. (Ap '44)
Breger, D. Private Breger's war. (My '44)
Davidson, W., ed. Tall tales they tell in the services. (My '44)
Hersey, H. B., ed. G.I. laughs. (Ap '44)
Hope, B. I never left home. (S '44)
Lewis, W., ed. Fighting words. (S '44)
Lowell, J. Dear sir; (O '44)
Stein, R. What am I laughing at? (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Treanor, T. C. One damn thing after another. (S '44)
Yoder, R. M. There's no front like home. (Ap '44)

Labor problems

Nicholls, W. H., and Vieg, J. A. Wartime government in operation. (Je '44)

Law and legislation

Domke, M. Trading with the enemy in World war II. (Ap '44)
Puttkammer, E. W., ed. War and the law. (Je '44)

Literature and the war

Writers' congress, Los Angeles. Proceedings of the conference. (N '44)

Maps

Brown, E. F. War in maps. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
War atlas for Americans. (Ag '44)

Medical and sanitary affairs

Haskell, R. G. Helmets and lipstick. (My '44)
Mackintosh, J. M. War and mental health in England. (Ag '44)
Maisel, A. Q. Wounded get back. (Je '44)
Taliaferro, W. H., ed. Medicine and the war. (Ap '44)

Migration

Kulischer, E. M. Displacement of population in Europe. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

Naval operations

Armstrong, W. Battle of the oceans. (Ag '44)
Carse, R. Lifeline. (Mr '44)
Childs, J. F. Navy gun crew. (Ap '44)
Coale, G. B. Victory at Midway. (My '44)
Divine, A. D. Navies in exile. (O '44)
Exton, W. He's in the destroyers now. (My '44)
Fetridge, W. H., ed. Second Navy reader. (O '44)
Ingraham, R. First fleet. (My '44)
Kafka, R., and Pepperburg, R. L., eds. Warships of the world. (N '44)
Karig, W., and Kelley, W. Battle report. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Leeming, J. Brave ships of World war II. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
McCoy, S. D. Nor death dismay. (O '44)
Mellor, W. B. Sank same. (D '44)
Morris, C. G., and Cave, H. B. Fightin'est ship. (Ag '44)
Perry, G. S., and Leighton, Isabel. Where away. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pratt, F. Navy's war. (S '44)
Rathbone, A. D. He's in the sub-busters now. (Ap '44)
Ritchie, L. A. East of Malta, west of Suez. (S '44)
Stirling, Y. Why sea power will win the war. (Ap '44)
Vetter, E. G. Death was our escort. (D '44)

Submarine

Thompson, L. R. Navy hunts the CGR 3070. (Mr '44)

Occupied territories

Lemkin, R. Axis rule in occupied Europe. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Wachsman, Z. H. Trail blazers for invasion. (Je '44)

Peace

Bartlett, V. Tomorrow always comes. (Ap '44)
Bingham, A. M. Practice of idealism. (My '44)
Eliot, G. F. Hour of triumph. (My '44)
Fleming, D. F. Can we win the peace? (Ag '44)
Frank, K. B. Germany after Hitler. (Mr '44)
Freud, A. World without nations. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Hermens, F. A. Tyrants' war and the peoples' peace. (O '44)
Hoffman, R. J. S. Durable peace. (S '44)
Kazmayer, R. Out of the clouds. (Ap '44)
Kirby, L. P. Et cetera. (Ag '44)
Lippmann, W. U. S. war aims. (S '44)
Lorimer, E. O. What the German needs. (Ag '44)
Lorwin, L. L. Postwar plans of the United nations. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
MacNeil, N. American peace. (D '44)
Michie, A. A. Keep the peace through air power. (S '44)
Moulton, H. G., and Marlio, L. Control of Germany and Japan. (N '44)
Nizer, L. What to do with Germany. (Mr '44)
O'Shaughnessy, M. J. Peace and reconstruction. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Palmer, F. It can be done this time. (O '44)
Sadler, W. S. Prescription for permanent peace. (N '44)
Shirlaw, G. B, and Jones, L. E. You and the peace. (O '44)

Thomas, E. D. Four fears. (N '44)
Visson, A. Coming struggle for peace. (Ag '44)
Whitton, J. B., ed. Second chance. (Ja '45 (1944 Annual)
Wriston, H. M. Strategy of peace. (D '44)
Ziff, W. B. Gentlemen talk of peace. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Personal narratives, American

Archer, L. Balkan journal. (My '44)
Batcheller, T. B. France in sunshine and shadow. (N '44)
Belden, J. Still time to die. (O '44)
Biddle, G. Artist at war. (S '44)
Brines, R. Until they eat stones. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Brink, E. C. And God was there. (Ag '44)
Brown, J. E. Your kids and mine. (D '44)
Brown, J. M. Many a watchful night. (D '44)
Burns, E. Then there was one. (Je '44)
Busch, N. F. My unconsidered judgment. (S '44)
Chaplin, W. W. Fifty-two days. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Crawford, W. Gore and glory. (S '44)
Curtiss, M. S. K., ed. Letters home. (Ag '44)
Custer, J. J. Through the perilous night. (S '44)
Davis, H. Half past when. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Davis, H. This is it! (My '44)
Dyess, W. E. Dyess story. (My '44)
Forgy, H. M. And pass the ammunition. (Ag '44)
Gentile, D. S. One-man air force. (S '44)
Geren, P. Burma diary. (Ap '44)
Graham, G. Banzai Noel! (My '44)
Gunnison, R. A. So sorry, no peace. (N '44)
Gunther, J. D Day. (Ap '44)
Harmon, T. D. Pilots also pray. (D '44)
Haskell, R. G. Helmets and lipstick. (My '44)
Hope, B. I never left home. (S '44)
Huie, W. B. Can do! (O '44)
Ind, A. Bataan, the judgment seat. (My '44)
Jenkins, B. A. Father Meany and the Fighting 69th. (O '44)
Kelly, C. E. One man's war. (O '44)
Liebling, A. J. Road back to Paris. (Mr '44)
Lucas, J. G. Combat correspondent. (O '44)
McCracken, K. D. Baby flat-top. (S '44)
Mackenzie, C. Sailors of fortune. (Ag '44)
Madden, P. Survivor. (D '44)
Maisel, A. Q. Wounded get back. (Je '44)
Mead, J. M. Tell the folks back home. (Je '44)
Mears, F. Carrier combat. (Mr '44)
Miller, M. Daybreak for our carrier. (Ag '44)
Norton-Taylor, D. With my heart in my mouth. (Ag '44)
O'Reilly, T. Purser's progress. (Ag '44)
Pyle, E. T. Brave men. (D '44)
Raff, E. D. We jumped to fight. (S '44)
Reynolds, Q. J. Curtain rises. (Ap '44)
Robinson, D. News of the 45th. (Ag '44)
Schmid, A. A. Al Schmid, marine. (Ap '44)
Scott, R. L. Damned to glory. (N '44)
Sherrod, R. Tarawa. (Ap '44)
Skattebol, L. Last voyage of the Quien Sabe. (O '44)
Smith, D. M., and Carnes, C. American guerrilla fighting behind the enemy lines. (My '44)
Snow, E. People on our side. (O '44)
Stern, M. Into the jaws of death. (Je '44)
Stone, E. C., and Melick, W. Coming, Major! (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Stowe, L. They shall not sleep. (Mr '44)
Thomas, R. T. Born in battle. (S '44)
Tobin, R. L. Invasion journal. (N '44)
Treanor, T. C. One damn thing after another. (S '44)
Tregaskis, R. W. Invasion diary. (O '44)
Vail, M. Yours is the earth. (Je '44)
Vetter, E. G. Death was our escort. (D '44)
West, L. Flight to everywhere. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Westrate, E. V. Forward observer. (My '44)
White, L. Long Balkan night. (Ap '44)
White, M. B. They called it Purple heart valley. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Willard, W. W. Leathernecks come through. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wynn, E. J. Bombers across. (S '44)

Personal narratives, Basque

Aguirre, J. A. de. Escape via Berlin. (D '44)

Personal narratives, English

Argall, P. My life with the enemy. (Ap '44)
Coward, N. P. Middle East diary. (D '44)
Divine, A. D. Road to Tunis. (Mr '44)
Fowler, E. Standing room only. (Ap '44)
Jacob, A. Traveller's war. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Rainier, P. W. Pipeline to battle. (Mr '44)
Rodger, G. Far on the ringing plains. (Mr '44)
Werth, A. Leningrad. (N '44)

Personal narratives, French

Malaquais, J. War diary. (Mr '44)

Personal narratives, Polish

Herbert, J. M. G—for Genevieve. (Ag '44)
Janta-Połczynski, A. I lied to live. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Karski, J. Story of a secret state. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wierzynski, K. Forgotten battlefield. (N '44)

Pictorial works

Biddle, G. War drawings. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Bonney, T. Europe's children. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Hammerton, J. A., ed. Second great war, a standard history. (O '44)
Hutchinson, W., ed. Pictorial history of the war. (O '44)
Monaghan, F. World war II. (O '44)
Our army at war. (N '44)
Pictorial history of the second World war. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
U.S.A. at war; U.S. camera, 1945. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
West, L. Flight to everywhere. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
White, M. B. They called it Purple heart valley. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wilcox, R. Of men and battle. (N '44)

Poetry

Bacon, L. Day of fire. (Ap '44)
Benét, W. R. Day of deliverance. (O '44)
Bulosan, C. Voice of Bataan. (Ap '44)
Norman, C. Soldier's diary. (N '44)
Poems from the desert. (O '44)

Prisoners and prisons, German

Janta-Połczynski, A. I lied to live. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Prisoners and prisons, Japanese

Brines, R. Until they eat stones. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Dyess, W. E. Dyess story. (My '44)
Gunnison, R. A. So sorry, no peace. (N '44)
McCoy, M. H., and Mellnik, S. M. Ten escape from Tojo. (My '44)

Propaganda

Kris, E., and Speier, H. German radio propaganda. (S '44)

Psychological aspects

Sladen, F. J., ed. Psychiatry and the war. (N '44)

Religious aspects

Barth, K. Church and the war. (S '44)
Martin, H., and others. Christian counterattack. (Ag '44)
Nance, E. C., ed. Faith of our fighters. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Runbeck, M. L. Great answer. (My '44)
Spellman, F. J. Risen soldier. (Je '44)

Roman Catholic church

Cianfarra, C. M. Vatican and the war. (Ap '44)
Naughton, J. W. Pius XII on world problems. (Ap '44)

Songs and music

Palmer, E. A., ed. G. I. songs. (S '44)

Supplies

Stettinius, E. R. Lend-lease, weapon for victory. (Mr '44)

Territorial questions

Panikkar, K. M. Future of south-east Asia. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)

World war, 1939- —Continued

Transportation

Farrington, S. K. Railroads at war. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

War criminals

Creel, G. War criminals and punishment. (Je '44)

War work

Landis, C. Four Jills in a jeep. (Ap '44)

Friends, Society of

Curtis, A. L. Quakers take stock. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Women's work

Anthony, S. B. Out of the kitchen—into the war. (Ap '44)
Bowman, C. Slacks and callouses. (O '44)

Africa, North

Divine, A. D. Road to Tunis. (Mr '44)
Price, G. W. Giraud and the African scene. (Je '44)
Rainier, P. W. Pipeline to battle. (Mr '44)

Alaska

Gilman, W. Our hidden front. (Ag '44)

Aleutian islands

Gilman, W. Our hidden front. (Ag '44)

Australia

Johnston, G. H. Pacific partner. (Mr '44)

Balkan states

Parker, R. B. Headquarters Budapest. (S '44)
White, L. Long Balkan night. (Ap '44)

Belgium

Goris, J. A. Belgium in bondage. (Mr '44)

Burma

Geren, P. Burma diary. (Ap '44)
Rolo, C. J. Wingate's raiders. (Mr '44)

China

Rosinger, L. K. China's wartime politics, 1937-1944. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Snow, E. People on our side. (O '44)
Sues, I. R. Shark's fins and millet. (Mr '44)

Czechoslovakia

Beneš, V. Vanguard of the "drang nach Osten." (Je '44)
Czechoslovakia. Ministerstvo zahraničních věcí. Czechoslovakia fights back. (Ap '44)

East (Far East)

Lasker, B. Peoples of southeast Asia. (Ap '44)

France

Batcheller, T. B. France in sunshine and shadow. (N '44)
Cot, P. Triumph of treason. (My '44)
Davis, H. Half past when. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Draper, T. Six weeks' war. (Ag '44)
Fernand-Laurent, C. J. Gallic charter. (S '44)
Gaulle, C. A. J. M. de. Speeches. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Géraud, A. Gravediggers of France. (O '44)
Lorraine, J. Behind the battle of France. (Je '44)
Vail, M. Yours is the earth. (Je '44)
Wertenbaker, C. Invasion! (O '44)

Germany

Fredborg, A. Behind the steel wall. (Mr '44)
Lessner, E. C. Blitzkrieg and bluff. (My '44)
Michie, A. A. Keep the peace through air power. (S '44)
Pihl, G. T. Germany. (S '44)
Seger, G. H., and Marck, S. K. Germany: to be or not to be? (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Tosevic, D. J. Not Nazis but Germans. (F '45) (1944 Annual)

Great Britain

Churchill, W. L. S. Onwards to victory. (S '44)
Morrison, H. S. Prospects and policies. (Ag '44)

Greece

Archer, L. Balkan journal. (My '44)

Greenland

Balchen, B., and others. War below zero (S '44)

Hawaiian Islands

MacDonald, A. W. Revolt in paradise. (O '44)

India

Goshal, K. People of India. (Ag '44)
Muir, P. This is India. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Snow, E. People on our side. (O '44)

Italy

Serner, G. Twilight of the gladiators (S '44)
Tregaskis, R. W. Invasion diary. (O '44)
White, M. B. They called it Purple heart valley. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Japan

Argall, P. My life with the enemy. (Ap '44)
Brines, R. Until they eat stones. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Grew, J. C. Ten years in Japan. (Je '44)
Haven, V. S. Gentlemen of Japan. (N '44)
Morris, J. Traveller from Tokyo. (S '44)
Morrison, I. Our Japanese foe. (Ap '44)
Newman, B. M. Japan's secret weapon. (N '44)

Mediterranean sea

Gunther, J. D day. (Ap '44)
Ritchie, L. A. East of Malta, west of Suez. (S '44)
Thruelsen, R., and Arnold, E. Mediterranean sweep. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Netherlands

Jong, L. de, and Stoppelman, J. W. F. Lion rampant. (Mr '44)

Netherlands Indies

Mook, H. J. van. Netherlands Indies and Japan. (S '44)

New Britain (island)

Wilcox, R. Of men and battle. (N '44)

Pacific ocean

California. University. Southwest Pacific and the war. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Driscoll, J. Pacific victory, 1945. (O '44)
Hailey, F. B. Pacific battle line. (O '44)
Hunt, F. MacArthur and the war against Japan. (O '44)
Karig, W., and Kelley, W. Battle report. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Metcalf, C. H., ed. Marine corps reader. (S '44)
Norton-Taylor, D. With my heart in my mouth. (Ag '44)
Shane, T. Heroes of the Pacific (Je '44)

Philippine Islands

Dyess, W. E. Dyess story. (My '44)
Gunnison, R. A. So sorry, no peace. (N '44)
Ind, A. Bataan, the judgment seat. (My '44)

Poland

Karski, J. Story of a secret state. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Pruszynski, K. Poland fights back. (N '44)

Russia

Dallin, D. J. Russia and postwar Europe. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Dobb, M. H. Soviet planning and labor in peace and war. (Ag '44)
Ehrenburg, I. G. Tempering of Russia. (O '44)
Kerr, W. B. Russian army. (Mr '44)
Pares, B. Russia and the peace. (S '44)
Parry, A. Russian cavalcade. (Mr '44)
Pruszyński, K. Russian year. (Ag '44)
Snow, E. People on our side. (O '44)

Sicily

Tregaskis, R. W. Invasion diary. (O '44)

Solomon islands

Merillat, H. L. The island. (D '44)
Schmid, A. A. Al Schmid, marine. (Ap '44)
Willard, W. W. Leathernecks come through. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)

Sweden

Sweden: a wartime survey. (Ap '44)

United States
Bruner, J. S. Mandate from the people. (S '44)
Callender, H. Preface to peace. (Ap '44)
Clapper, R. Watching the world. (S '44)
Cook, D. Fighting Americans of today. (Je '44)
Dos Passos, J. R. State of the nation. (S '44)
Eliot, G. F. Hour of triumph. (My '44)
Fleming, D. F. While America slept. (Ap '44)
Johnson, W. Battle against isolation. (D '44)
Koenig, L. W. Presidency and the crisis. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Lippmann, W. U. S. war aims. (S '44)
Mead, J. M. Tell the folks back home. (Je '44)
Meyer, A. E. E. Journey through chaos. (O '44)
Nevins, A., and Hacker, L. M., eds. United States and its place in world affairs, 1918-1943. (Ap '44)
Ogburn, W. F., ed. American society in wartime. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
Our army at war. (N '44)
Reck, F. M. Beyond the call of duty. (D '44)
Roosevelt, F. D. Rendezvous with destiny. (S '44)
Rosebery, M. This day's madness. (S '44)
Thomas, N. M. What is our destiny? (My '44)
United States. War department. Prelude to invasion. (N '44)
Welles, S. Time for decision. (S '44)
World war II. Monaghan, F. (O '44)
World wars and revolutions. Hall, W. P. (Ag '44) (1943 Annual)
World we live in. Bromfield, L. (N '44)
World without nations. Freud, A. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
World words. Greet, W. C. (S '44)
World's a stage. Mayorga, M. G., ed. (Ap '44)
Worlds beginning. Ardrey, R. (O '44)
World's great sermons. Frost, S. E., ed. (S '44)
World's great spy stories. Starrett, V., ed. (N '44)
Worry
Podolsky, E. Stop worrying and get well. (My '44)
Worship
Hayman, E. Worship and the common life. (S '44)
Powell, M. C. Boys and girls at worship. (My '44)
Juvenile literature
Fitch, F. M. One God. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Worship and the common life. Hayman, E. (S '44)
Worth
Lepley, R. Verifiability of value. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Wounded get back. Maisel, A. Q. (Je '44)
Wreath for the sea. Fitzgerald, R. (My '44)
Writers and their critics. Peyre, H. M. (D '44)
Writing non-fiction. Campbell, W. S. (S '44)

X-rays
Industrial applications
Muncheryan, H. M. Industrial radiology and related phenomena. (Je '44)

Yank in Africa. Bartman, M. (O '44)
Yankee from Olympus. Bowen, C. S. D. (My '44)
Yankee sails to China. Maloy, L. (Ap '44)
Yankee stranger. Beebe, E. T. R. (O '44)
Yankee thunder. Shapiro, I. (My '44)
Yankee yarns. Harper, W., comp. (My '44)
Yankees were like this. Holton, E. A. (O '44)
Yea! Wildcats! Tunis, J. R. (D '44)
Yell, Archibald
Fiction
Wilson, C. M. Man's reach. (S '44)
Yesterday's children. Tchelitchew, P. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Yoga
Bernard, T. Hatha yoga. (O '44)
Brunton, P. Wisdom of the overself. (S '44)
Yonie Wondernose. De Angeli, M. L. (N '44)
You. Long, C. S. (Je '44)
You and the peace. Shirlaw, G. B., and Jones, L. E. (O '44)
You and your Congress. Torrey, V. (Ap '44)
You and your future job. Campbell, W. G., and Bedford, J. H. (N '44)
You and your money. Trilling, M. B., and Williams, F. (N '44)
You are younger than you think. Gumpert, M. (O '44)
You can make it. Newkirk, L. V. and Zutter, L. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
You can't keep the change. Cheyney, P. (Mr '44)
You only hang once. Roden, H. W. (Mr '44)
You, the jury. Liebeler, J. M. (O '44)
You wouldn't know me from Adam. Taylor, F. C. (Je '44)
Young fighters of the Soviets. Edelstadt, V. (N '44)
Young Greek and the Creole. Freund, P. (N '44)
Young heroes of the war. Gollomb, J., and Taylor, A. (My '44)
Young man of the house. Hunt, M. L. (S '44)
Young men and machines. Yates, R. F. (Ag '44)
Young men's Christian associations
Eddy, G. S. Century with youth. (Je '44)
Young Mrs. Brand. Hichens, R. S. (D '44)
Youngest of the family. Garland, J. (Ag '44)
Youngest WAC overseas. Bailey, B. F. (O '44)
Young'un. Best, H. (N '44)
Your career as a food specialist. Smedley, D. O., and Ginn, A. (Ap '44)
Your career in music. Johnson, H. (N '44)
Your daddy did not die. Poling, D. A. (O '44)
Your eyes. Fox, S. A. (O '44)
Your kids and mine. Brown, J. E. (D '44)
Your life in a democracy. Brown, H. E. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Your life's work. Spiegler, S. (O '44)
Your loving mother. Sohn, M. (Ap '44)
Your navy now. Dyett, J. G. (F '45) (1944 Annual)
Your school, your children. Syrkin, M. (O '44)
Your servant the molecule. Landis, W. S. (D '44)
Your world tomorrow. Cooley, D. G. (Je '44)
You're only human once. Moore, G. (Ap '44)
Yours is the earth. Vail, M. (Je '44)
Youth
Buller, E. A. Darkness over Germany. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Yukon River children. Osgood, H. E. K. (Ag '44)
Yussuf, the ostrich. Kelen, I. (Je '44)

Zaida (yacht)
Thompson, L. R. Navy hunts the CGR 3070. (Mr '44)
Zenger, John Peter
Juvenile literature
Stone, E. Free men shall stand. (D '44)
Zero storage in your home. Sparkes, B. (O '44)
Zionism
Samuel, M. Harvest in the desert. (S '44)
Zoology
Fleischer, M. Noah's shoes. (Ja '45) (1944 Annual)
Sierra Nevada mountains
Carrighar, S. One day on Beetle Rock. (D '44)

Directory of Publishers

A.L.A. American Library Association, 520 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11

Abingdon-Cokesbury. Abingdon-Cokesbury Press. Hdqrs, 810 Broadway, Nashville 2, Tenn; 150 5th Av, N.Y.
Division of Meth. Pub. House; imprint of Clermont Press used when publishing for author or doing outside printing
Consolidation of Abingdon; Cokesbury Press; and Stockton Press

Abraham Lincoln Assn, 803 1st Nat. Bank Bldg, Springfield, Ill.

Academic Press, Inc, 125 E. 23d St, N.Y. 10

Ackerman. Bernard Ackerman, Inc, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16; West Coast Depository: Marcel Rodd, 1656 N Cherokee Av, Hollywood 28, Calif; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Am. Bapt. American Baptist Publication Society (The Judson Press) 1701-1703 Chestnut St, Philadelphia; 72 E Randolph St, Chicago; 1107 McGee St, Kansas City, Mo; 510 Ranke Bldg, 5th & Pike Sts, Seattle, Wash.

Am. Bk. American Book Company, 88 Lexington Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Ambooko New York]; 360 N Michigan Av, Chicago; 300 Pike St, Cincinnati; 126 Newbury St, Boston; 91 Cone St, NW, Atlanta; 1319 Young St, Dallas; 121 2d St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Gage

Am Council on Educ, 744 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C.

Am. Council on Public Affairs, 2153 Florida Av, Washington 8, D.C.
Also use imprint Public Affairs Press

Am. Gas Assn, Inc, 420 Lexington Av, N.Y. 17

Am. Geographical Soc. American Geographical Society of New York, Broadway & 156th St, N.Y. 32

Am. Inst. of Mining & Metallurgical Engineers, 29-35 W. 39th St, N.Y. 18

Am. Philosophical Soc, Independence Sq, Philadelphia 6
Publications no longer distributed by Univ. of Pa. Press

Am. Photographic Pub. American Photographic Publishing Company, 353 Newbury St, Boston [Cable Address: Amphoco]

Am.-Scandinavian Foundation, 116 E 64th St, N.Y. [Cable Address: Scanfoun]

Am. Soc. for Metals, 7301 Euclid Av, Cleveland 3
Originally pub. as Am. Soc. for Steel Treating

Am. Tech. Soc, 850 E 58th St, Chicago 37; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2
Agents for all the publications of the Am. school of Correspondence

Am. Welding Soc, 33 W 39th St, N.Y.

America Press, Grand Central Terminal, 70 E 45th St, N.Y. 17 [Cable Address: Cathreview]

Anderson & Ritchie (Ward Ritchie Press) 1936 Hyperion Av, Los Angeles 27; Eastern Agent, Hastings House
Formerly pub. as Ritchie, W.
Acquired the publications of Primavera for liquidation

Anderson House, 726 Jackson Pl, Washington, D.C.
Associated with Dodd

Appleton-Century. D. Appleton-Century Company, Inc, 35 W 32d St, N.Y. 1 [Cable Address: Hilandero]; 34 Bedford St, Strand, London, WC 2; Canadian Agents, Ryerson Press; (music) Thompson, G.V.
Consolidated D. Appleton Company and Century Company

Arcadia. Arcadia House, Inc, 70 5th Ave, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Formerly connected with Godwin, but now publish independently
Also use imprints of Jordan House and Mystery House

Arco. Arco Publishing Company, 480 Lexington Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian agent, McLeod

Arkham House, Sauk City, Wis.

Assn. Press. Association Press (Nat. Council of the Y.M.C.A.) 347 Madison Av, N.Y. 17
Trade bks. pub. jointly with Revell under imprint Assn. Press-Revell

Associated Pubs, Inc, 1538 9th St, NW, Washington, D.C.

Atlantic Monthly. Atlantic Monthly Co, 8 Arlington St, Boston
Atlantic Monthly Press Publications pub. by Little
Textbooks are now handled by Heath

Audel. Theo. Audel & Company, 49 W. 23d St, N.Y. 10

Augustin. J. J. Augustin, Inc, 125 E 23d St, N.Y. 10; Agent for Am. Ethnological Soc.
Memoirs of the Am. Folk-lore Soc. now handled by the Society

Barnes, A.S. A. S. Barnes & Co, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Lone Star School Bk. Depository, 707 Browder St, Dallas 1; Agents, Copp; Stacey
Acquired the publications of Am. Sports Pub; also the controlling interest in Smith & Durrell
See also Countryman

Barnes & Noble, Inc, 105 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Barnobinc New York]

Barrows. M. Barrows & Company (H. Tanner Olsen) 443 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Beacon Press. The Beacon Press, Inc, 25 Beacon St, Boston 8; 330 S Dearborn St, Chicago; 2400 Allston Way, Berkeley, Calif. [Cable Address: Beapress]; English Agent, Lindsey
Formerly pub. as Am. Unitar

Beckley-Cardy. Beckley-Cardy Company, 1632 Indiana Av, Chicago 16 [Cable Address: Becarco]; Agents, Ryerson Press; Moyer School Supplies, 106 York St, Toronto
Acquired some of the publications and Good Will of Harter

Blakiston. The Blakiston Company, 1012 Walnut St, Philadelphia 5 [Cable Address: Blakiston]; Pacific Coast Depository, Wagner, Harr; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Bloch. Bloch Publishing Company, Inc, 31 W 31st St, N.Y. 1 [Cable Address: Blochbooks]

Blue Ribbon Bks, Inc, Garden City, N.Y; Blue Ribbon Bks. (Canada) Ltd, 215-217 Victoria St, Toronto, 2; English Agent, Doubleday (London)
Also publish as Triangle Bks. and Halcyon House Publications
Acquired the publications of Burt. For Burt Home Library see Random House
Ownership acquired by Doubleday (Garden City Pub. Co)

Bobbs. Bobbs-Merrill Company, 724 N Meridian St, Indianapolis 7; 468 4th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Bobbs Indianapolis]; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Acquired the publications of Orchard Hill Press

Bonnier. Albert Bonnier Publishing House, 665 Lexington Av, N.Y; Box 3047 Stockholm, Sweden; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Bowker. R. R. Bowker Company, 62 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; English Agent, Whitaker

Brentano's Bk. Store, Inc, 586 5th Av, N.Y. 19

Broadman. The Broadman Press, Sunday School Bd, Southern Baptist Convention, 127 9th Av, N, Nashville 3, Tenn.

Brookings. Brookings Institution, 722 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C; English Agent, Faber

Brown's Bk. Shop, State at Lake Sts, Madison 5, Wis.

Bruce Pub. Bruce Publishing Company, 524-544 N Milwaukee St, Milwaukee 1; 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; 66 E South Water St, Chicago [Cable Address: Brucemilwa]; Canadian Agent (educ bks) Ryerson Press; English Agents, Batsford; Coldwell

Burt. A. L. Burt Company, Inc, N.Y. See Blue Ribbon Bks

Byrd. The William Byrd Press, Inc, 6-8 N. 6th St, Richmond 19, Va

Capitol. Capitol Pub. Co, 139 5th av, N.Y. 10

Carnegie Corp. of N.Y, 522 5th Av, N.Y.

Carrick. Carrick & Evans, Inc, N.Y. See Lippincott

Catholic Univ. of Am, Michigan Av, NE, Washington 17, D.C.

Address The Catholic Univ. of Am. Press

Cattell. Jacques Cattell Press, N Queen St & McGovern Av, Lancaster, Pa.

Caxton Printers, Ltd, Caldwell, Idaho; refer trade orders to Reilly & Lee; Wilde (New England States); Canadian Agent, Copp; Central European Agent, Orbis; Agent for other European countries, Four Continent

Central Bk. Co, 261 Broadway, N.Y.

Chanticleer. Chanticleer Press, Inc, 347 Madison Av, N.Y.

Chemical Pub. Co, Inc, 26 Court St, Brooklyn 2, N.Y. [Cable Address Benbal]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Publish books in Spanish and Portuguese under imprint Editorial Tecnica Unida

Acquired the publications of Chemical Pub. Formerly Chemical Formulary Co.

Chicago Natural Hist. Museum, Roosevelt Rd & Field Drive, Chicago 5 [Cable Address: Museum Chicago]

Formerly Field Museum of Natural Hist.

Christian Bd. Christian Board of Publication (Bethany Press) 2700 Pine Blvd, St Louis 3

Christopher. Christopher Publishing House, 1140 Columbus Av, Boston 20

Chronica Botanica. Chronica Botanica Co, Box 151, Waltham 54, Mass. [Cable Address: Flora Waltham Mass]; Agents for Continental Europe (exclusive of Great Britain), P. Noordhoff, N.V, 12 Oude Boteringestraat, Groningen, Netherlands

Claremont colleges, Administration office, Claremont, Calif.

Clark, A. H. Arthur H. Clark Company, 1214 S Brand Blvd, Glendale, Calif.

Columbia Univ. Press, 2960 Broadway, N.Y. 27; Agents, Oxford (London and Bombay); King (for studies in Hist. Economics & Public Law); Am. Agent for the publications of the League of Nations

Acquired the publications of Facsimile Text Soc.

Have division, King's Crown Press

Comet. Comet Press, Inc, 200 Varick St, N.Y. 14

Commonwealth Fund. Commonwealth Fund, Division of Publications, 41 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; English agent, Oxford

Comstock Pub. Co, Inc, 124 Roberts Pl, Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N.Y; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Co-operative League of the U.S.A. Cooperative League of the United States of Am, 167 W 12th St, N.Y. [Cable Address: Coopam]

Cornell Maritime. Cornell Maritime Press, 241 W 23d St, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Cornell Univ. Press, 124 Roberts Pl, Cornell Heights, Ithaca, N.Y.

Cortes Soc, Bancroft Lib, Univ. of Calif, Berkeley 4, Calif.

Countryman. Countryman Press, Inc, West Hartford, Vt. Subsidiary of Barnes, A.S.

Coward-McCann, Inc, 2 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Creative Age. Creative Age Press, Inc, 11 E 44th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Crofts. F. S. Crofts & Co, 101 5th Av, N.Y. 3; refer trade orders to Dodd; Canadian Agent (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin

Crowell. The Thomas Y. Crowell Company, 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Tycrowell New York]; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)

Crown. Crown Pubs, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Letout New York]; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bk.

Arden Bk. publications again handled by Arden Bk.

Purchased the assets and publications of Covici

Cummington Press, Cummington, Mass.

Curl. Samuel Curl, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y.

Czechoslovak Economic Service in U.S.A, 1775 Broadway, N.Y. 19

Day. John Day Co, Inc, 2 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Daye. Stephen Daye Press, Inc, Room 12, 67 Main St, Brattleboro, Vt; 48 E 43d St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)

Also publish as Cider Press

Devin-Adair. Devin-Adair Company, 23-25 E 26th St, N.Y. 10

Dial Press, Inc, 461 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Dialpubco]; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

Didier Pubs, 660 Madison Av, N.Y. 21

Dietz. Dietz Press, 112 E Cary St, Richmond 19, Va.

Dodd. Dodd, Mead & Company, Inc, 432 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Dodd New York]; Dodd, Mead & Company (Canada) Ltd, 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto

Acquired the book dept. of Yachting

Dorrance. Dorrance & Company, Inc, 364 Drexel Bldg, 5th & Chestnut Sts, Philadelphia 6

Doubleday. Doubleday, Doran & Company, Inc, Garden City, N.Y. 20 [Cable Address: Doubledor New York]; 91 Great Russell St, London, WC 1; Doubleday, Doran & Co. (Canada) Ltd, 215 Victoria St, Toronto 2

A consolidation of Doubleday, Page & Co, George H. Doran Co, Nelson Doubleday, Inc, and Garden City Pub. Co.

Also publish as Heyday House

Textbook publications sold to Odyssey

Sun Dial publications now obtainable directly, though still connected with Doubleday

Dover Publications, 31 E 27th St, N.Y. 16

Drake, F. J. Frederick J. Drake & Co, Inc, 600 W Van Buren St, Chicago 7 [Cable Address: Draco]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Dryden. The Dryden Press, Inc, 103 Park Av, N.Y. 17

Acquired the publications of Cordon

Duell. Duell, Sloan & Pearce, Inc, 270 Madison Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Swordswords]; Canadian Agent, Collins (Toronto)

See also Essential Bks.

Duke Univ, Durham, N.C: Agent, Cambridge

Address Duke Univ. Press, College Station, Durham, N.C.

Dutton. E. P. Dutton & Co, Inc, 286-302 4th Av, N.Y. 10 [Cable Address: Yardfar New York]; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Eden Pub. House, 1712-1724 Chouteau Av, St Louis 3

Publishers for the Evangelical Synod of N Am.

Emerson. Emerson Books, Inc, 251 W 19th St, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Emerpress New York]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Essential Books, 270 Madison Av, N.Y.

Publications distributed by Duell

Farrar. Farrar & Rinehart, Inc, 232 Madison Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Farrine]; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)

Acquired the publications of Cosmopolitan

Fell. Frederick Fell, Inc, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16

Fellowship of Reconciliation (N Y). Fellowship of Reconciliation, 2929 Broadway, N.Y. 25

Publications bear trademark Fellowship Publications

Fellowship Publications. See Fellowship of Reconciliation (NY)

Fine Editions. Fine Editions Press, 227 E 45th St, N.Y. 17

Fischer, L.B. L. B. Fischer Publishing Corporation, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland
Follett. Follett Publishing Co, 1255 S Wabash Av, Chicago 5; Eastern Agent, Hopkins & Son; Canadian Agent, Moyer School Supplies, 106 York St, Toronto
Acquired the publications of Am. Pubs. Corp, Chicago
Trade bks. published under imprint Wilcox & Follett Co.
Food Research Inst, Stanford University, Calif.
Foster & Stewart. Foster & Stewart Publishing Corporation, 210 Ellicott St, Buffalo 3, N.Y.
Originally pub. as Airport Pubs.
Foundation Press, Inc, 222 W Adams St, Chicago 6
Acquired the University Casebook Series from Commerce Clearing House
Franklin Watts, Inc, 285 Madison Av, N.Y.
French. Samuel French, Inc, 25 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; 811 W 7th St, Los Angeles [Cable Address: Theatrical]; 480 University Av, Toronto; 26 Southampton St, Strand, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: Dramalogue]; 59 Cross St, Manchester England; Box 497, Nairobi, E Africa
Acquired the publications of Playrights & Publications, Ltd.
French & European Publications, Inc, Maison Francaise, Rockefeller Center, 610 5th Av, N.Y. 20 [Cable Address: Francopub New York]
Friendship Press, 156 5th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
See also Missionary Educ. Movement
Frontier Press. Frontier Press Co, Lafayette Bldg, Buffalo, N.Y.
Funk. Funk & Wagnalls Company, 354-360 4th Av, N.Y. 10; 17 A Farringdon St, London, EC 4; Canadian Agents, Oxford; (dictionaries) Ryerson Press

Garden City Pub. Co, Inc, Garden City, N.Y. 20; Canadian Agent, Blue Ribbon Bks. (Toronto)
Acquired ownership of Blue Ribbon Bks. and the publications of Windward
Also publish as New Home Lib.
See also Blakiston; Doubleday
Garrard. Garrard Press, 119-123 W Park Av, Champaign, Ill; English Agent, Lewis, H.K.
Also publish as Twin City Ptg. Co.
Geographical Pub. Geographical Publishing Company, 621 S Plymouth Ct, Chicago
Ginn. Ginn & Company (Athenaeum Press) Statler Bldg, Park Sq, Boston 17 [Cable Address: Eginn Boston]; 2301-2311 Prairie Av, Chicago; 70 5th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Eginn New York]; 165 Luckie St, NW, Atlanta; 1510 Young St, Dallas; 199 E Gay St, Columbus, Ohio; 45 2d St, San Francisco [Cable Address: Eginn San Francisco]; 863 Bay St, Toronto; 7 Queen Sq, Southampton Row, London, WC 1
Gold Label. Gold Label Books, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Again pub. under own imprint
Greenberg, Publisher, Inc, 400 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Also publish as Pickwick Press
Gregg. Gregg Publishing Company, 270 Madison Av, N.Y. 16; 6 N Michigan Av, Chicago 2; Statler Bldg, Boston 16; Phelan Bldg, San Francisco 2; 30 Bloor St, W, Toronto; Gregg House, 51 Russell Sq, London, WC 1; Remington House, Liverpool St, Sydney, N.S.W; Indian Agent, Progressive Corporation, Ltd, 80 Esplanade Rd, Bombay
Grolier Soc, Inc, 2 W 45th St, N.Y. 19 [Cable Address: Bonaqui]; Federal Bldg, Toronto
Grosset. Grosset & Dunlap, Inc, 1107 Broadway, N.Y. 10 [Cable Address: Groslap, New York]; Canadian agent, McLeod
Purchased the business of Barse & co.
Grune. Grune & Stratton, Inc, 381 4th Av. N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Grustrat]

Hale. Hale, Cushman & Flint, Inc, Boston. See Hale, Ralph T.
Hale, E. M. E. M. Hale and Company, Publishers, 320 S Barstow, St, Eau Claire, Wis; Canadian Agent, Copp
Have subsidiary, Cadmus
Hale, Ralph T. Ralph T. Hale & Company, 3 Joy St, Boston 8; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.
Publishers of bks. including those formerly pub. by Hale, Cushman & Flint, Inc.
Hammond. C. S. Hammond & Company, Inc, 88 Lexington Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address Birham]
Harbinger. Harbinger House, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Harcourt. Harcourt, Brace & Company, Inc, 383 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; for high school texts only: 1525 E 53d St, Chicago [Cable Address: Harbrace, New York]; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Harper. Harper & Brothers (Pleiad Press Imprint) 49 E 33d St, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Harpsam]; 90 Great Russell St, London, WC 1; Canadian Agent, Musson
Acquired the publications of Hoeber which will remain under the imprint: Paul B. Hoeber, Inc, Medical Bk. Dept. of Harper & Brothers
Harvard Univ. Press, Pub. Dept, 38 Quincy St, Cambridge 38, Mass; English Agent, Oxford
Acquired the Loeb Classical Library from Putnam
Handle Harvard-Yenching Inst. publications
Harvard-Yenching Inst, Yenching Univ. Lib. Bldg, Peiping, China
Publications now obtainable from Harvard Univ. Press
Hastings House, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.
Heath. D. C. Heath & Company, 285 Columbus Av, Boston 16; 180 Varick st, N.Y; 1815 Prairie Av, Chicago; 29 Pryor St, NE, Atlanta; 182 2d St, San Francisco; 713 Browder St, Dallas; Canadian Agent, Copp; English Agent, Harrap
Has taken over all textbooks formerly pub. by Atlantic Monthly and Little Hebberd. Wallace Hebberd, Publishers, 3 W Carrillo St, Santa Barbara, Calif.
Herald Press, Scottdale, Pa.
Herder. B. Herder Book Company, 15-17 S Broadway, St Louis 2; 33 Queen Sq, London, WC 1
Heritage. Heritage Press, 595 Madison Av, N.Y. 22
Also use imprint of Heritage Club for books sold on subscription basis
Hist Soc. of Pa. (J. P. Boyd, Editor) 1300-1302 Locust St, Philadelphia 7
Hoeber. Paul B. Hoeber, Inc, Medical Bk. Dept. of Harper & Brothers. See Harper
Holiday. Holiday House, Inc, 72 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.
Holt. Henry Holt & Company, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; for educ. bks. only: 2626 Prairie Av, Chicago; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco [Cable Address: Aytcholt New York]; Agents, (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin
Horn Bk, Inc, 264 Boylston St, Boston 16
Houghton. Houghton Mifflin Company (Riverside Press, Cambridge) 2 Park St, Boston 7; 432 4th Av, N.Y; 2500 Prairie Av, Chicago; 500 Howard St, San Francisco; 715 Browder St, Dallas; 39 Harris St, Atlanta [Cable Address: Mulier, Boston]; Canadian Agents, Allen, T; Renouf; English Agent Constable
For the duration of the war Textbook Dept. of Reynal will be handled by Houghton
Howell, Soskin. Howell, Soskin, Publishers, Inc, 11-17 E 45th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.
Humphries. Bruce Humphries, Inc, 30 Winchester St, Boston 16; 16 E 43d St, N.Y; Agents: Daniel; Fritze; Ryerson Press; Taraporevala; Hicks, Smith & Wright, Ltd, 3 Harris St, Wellington, N.Z.
Huntington Lib. Henry E. Huntington Lib & Art Gallery, San Marino, Calif.
Hutchinson. Hutchinson & Co, Ltd, 47 Princes Gate, London, SW 7; 419 4th Av, N.Y; 17 McKillop St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; Canadian Agents, Ryerson Press; Smithers

Industrial Press, 140-148 Lafayette St, N.Y. 13; Agents, Machinery; General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queens St, E, Toronto, 2
Industrial Relations Counselors, Inc, 1270 6th Av, N.Y.

Infantry Journal, 1115 17th St, NW, Washington 6, D.C; refer trade orders to Penguin (except R.O.T.C. manuals); Canadian Agent, Collins (Toronto)

See also Military Service

Inst. of Pacific Relations. Am. Council, 1 E 54th St, N.Y. 22 [Cable Address: Inparel]; 1795 California St, San Francisco; 316 Dillingham Bldg, Honolulu, Hawaii

Int. Economic Research Bur, Room 1109, 76 William St, N.Y. 5

Int. Labor Office, 3480 University St, Montreal; E. Rowe, 734 Jackson Pl, NW, Washington 6, D.C. [Cable Address: Interlab, Washington]; C. Robbins, 38 Parliament St, London, SW 1 [Cable Address: Interlab, Parl, London]; League of Nations Soc. in Canada, 124 Wellington St, Ottawa; Hai-Fong Cheng, Box 264, E Szechuan P.O, Chungking, China [Cable Address: Interlab, Chungking]; P. P. Pillai, New Delhi, India [Cable Address: Interlab, New Delhi]

Int. Mark Twain Soc, Webster Groves, Mo.

Int. Pubs. International Publishers Co, Inc, 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Interbook]

Int. Textbook. International Textbook Company, 1001 Wyoming Av, Scranton 9, Pa.

Int. Univ. Press, 227 W 13th St, N.Y. 11

See also Seton

Interscience. Interscience Publishers, Inc, 215 4th Av, N.Y. 3; English Agent, Imperia

Publish in cooperation with Nordeman

Interstate. The Interstate, 19-23 N Jackson St, Danville, Ill.

Iowa State Hist. Soc, Iowa City, Iowa

Island Workshop. Island Workshop Press Co-op, Inc, 470 W 24th St, N.Y. 11

Use imprint Island Press

Jewish Pub. The Jewish Publication Society of America, 225 S 15th St, Philadelphia 2

Johns Hopkins Press, Homewood, Baltimore 18; English Agent, Oxford

Judd. Orange Judd Publishing Company, Inc, 15 E 26th St, N.Y. 10; Eastern Agent, Routledge; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Knopf. Alfred A. Knopf, 501 Madison Av, N.Y. 22 [Cable Address: Knopf] Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

La. State Univ. Press, University Station, Baton Rouge 3, La.

Lanciar Pubs, Inc, 10 Rockefeller Plaza, N.Y. 20

League to Support Poetry, 327 W. 18th St, N.Y.

Lippincott. J. B. Lippincott Company, 227-231 S 6th St, Philadelphia 5; [Cable Address: Lippcot Philadelphia]; 521 5th Av, N.Y; 333 W Lake St, Chicago 6; Aldine House, 10-13 Bedford St, London, WC 2; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto); (medical dept only) 2083 Guy St, Montreal

Acquired the publications of Carrick; also those of Stokes

Little. Little, Brown & Company, 34 Beacon St, Boston 6 [Cable Address: Brownlit]; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Publishers for Atlantic Monthly Press Publications

Textbooks are now handled by Heath

Liveright. Liveright Publishing Corporation, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Liveright, New York]; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Formerly Boni & Liveright

Longmans. Longmans, Green & Company, Inc, 55 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Freegrove New York]; 88 Tremont St, Boston; 215-219 Victoria St, Toronto, 2; Longmans, Green & Co, Ltd, Ambleside, 43 Albert Drive, London, SW 19; 531 Little Collins St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; 53 Nicol Rd, Bombay; for school books only: 221 E 20th St, Chicago

Lothrop. Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Co, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, Longmans (Toronto)

No longer connected with Nelson

McBride. Robert M. McBride & Company, 116 E 16th St, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Brideco]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Own and control Dodge

McGraw. McGraw-Hill Book Company, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; 68 Post St, San Francisco 4; 520 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11; Aldwych House, Aldwych, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: McGraw Hill New York]; Canadian Agent, Embassy Bk. Co, Ltd, 1182 King St, W, Toronto 1

Trade Bks. pub. under name Whittlesey House

McKay. David McKay Company, 604-608 S Washington Sq, Philadelphia 6; 9 Rockefeller Plaza, N.Y; Canadian Agent, Musson

Macmillan. The Macmillan Company, 60 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Pachamac New York]; 2459 Prairie Av, Chicago 16; 1701 Ross Av, Dallas 1; 240 Newbury St, Boston 16; 500 Spring St, NW, Atlanta 3; 350 Mission St, San Francisco 5; The Macmillan Co. of Canada, Ltd, St Martin's House, 70 Bond St, Toronto, 2; Macmillan & Co, Ltd, 10 St Martin's St, Leicester Sq, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: Publish London]; 276 Hornby Rd, Bombay; Patullo Rd, Mount Rd, P.O. Madras, India; 294 Bow Bazar St, Calcutta; 32-34 Flinders St, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia

Macrae Smith Co, Lewis Tower Bldg, 225 S 15th St, Philadelphia 2 [Cable Address: Macsco]; Agent, Mill; Canadian Agent, Am. News Co. (Toronto)

Manual Arts. Manual Arts Press, 237 N Monroe St, Peoria 3, Ill; Canadian Agent, Copp; English Agent, Batsford

Marchbanks Press, 114 E 13th St, N.Y. 3

Meador. Meador Publishing Company, 324 Newbury St, Boston 15

Merriam. G. & C. Merriam Company, 47 Federal St, Springfield 2, Mass; Canadian Agent, Allen, T.

Messner. Julian Messner, Inc, Publishers, 8 W 40th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, Smithers

Acquired the publications of King, A.H.

Mill. M. S. Mill Co, Inc, 286 5th Av, N.Y. 1; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Missionary Educ. Movement, 156 5th Av, N.Y. 10 [Cable Address: Movement]; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Also publish as Friendship Press

Morehouse. Morehouse-Gorham Company, Inc, 14 E 41st St, N.Y. 17 [Cable Address: Housemore, New York]

Consolidated Morehouse Publishing Company and Edwin S. Gorham, Inc.

Morrow. William Morrow & Co, Inc, 425 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Wilmorrow]; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Trade bks. published under name Jefferson House

Mosby. The C. V. Mosby Company, Medical Publishers, 3523-25 Pine Blvd, St Louis 3 [Cable Address: Mosbyco]; Eastern Agent, T. H. McKenna Co, 882 Lexington Av, N.Y.

Murray & Gee, Inc, 1622 N Highland Av, Los Angeles; Eastern Agent, Mill

Museum of Modern Art, 11 W 53d St, N.Y. 19 [Cable Address: Modernart]

Mystery House Publications. See Arcadia

N.Y. Public Lib, 5th Av & 42d St, N.Y. 18

Nat. Aeronautics. National Aeronautics Council, Inc, 37 W 47th St, N.Y. 19

Subsidiary of Wise

Nat. Bur. of Economic Research, Inc, 1819 Broadway, N.Y. 23

Nat. Congress of Parents & Teachers, Hdqrs, 600 S Michigan Blvd, Chicago 5

Nat. Educ. Alliance, 37 W. 47th St, N.Y.

Nat. Law. Nat. Law Book Company, Inc, 1110 13th St, NW, Washington, D.C.

Nat. Soc. for Crippled Children of the U.S.A, Inc, Masonic Bldg, Elyria, Ohio

Nelson. Thomas Nelson & Sons, 385 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; 91 Wellington St, W, Toronto, 2; Parkside Works, Dalkeith Rd, Edinburgh, 9; (incorporating T. C. & E. Jack, Ltd) 3 Henrietta St, London, WC 2

Transferred Elementary & High School Textbooks to Newson; also College Text Dept. to Ronald

New Directions, Norfolk, Conn; 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18

Nordeman. Nordeman Publishing Company, Inc, Clarendon Bldg, 215 4th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address: Nordeman]; Nordemann's Uitgeversmaatschappij N.V, O.Z. Voorburgwal 243, Amsterdam, Netherlands; US Agent for Elsevier Pub. Co, 151-153 Singel, Amsterdam, Netherlands
Formerly pub. as Nordemann
See also Interscience

Northwestern Univ, Evanston, Ill.

Norton. W. W. Norton & Company, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Seagull]; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Oxford. Oxford University Press, 114 5th Av, N.Y. 11 [Cable Address: Frowde]; 480-486 University Av, Toronto, 2; (including Imprints of Clarendon Press, and Humphrey Milford) Amen House, Warwick Sq, London, EC 4 [Cable Address: Oxonian London]; St Luke's House, Young St, Edinburgh; 205 Flinders Lane, Melbourne, C 1, Victoria, Australia; B.I. Bldg, Nicol Rd, Bombay; Markham's Bldgs, Adderley St, Cape Town; US Agent for Phaidon Press Bks
For music publications address Fischer, Carl; Oxford Univ. Press, 36 Soho Sq, London, W 1
School & college bks. in Canada now handled by Clarke, Irwin
Publish Home. Univ. Lib. publications, formerly pub. by Butterworth, T.

Page. L.C. Page & Company (St Botolph Soc) 53 Beacon St, Boston [Cable Address: Pagecones]; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press

Pantheon Bks, Inc, 41 Washington Sq, N.Y. 3

Penton. Penton Publishing Company, 1213 W 3d St, Cleveland 13; 110 E 42d St, N.Y; 1800 Koppers Bldg, Pittsburgh, 1118 Peoples Gas Bldg, Chicago; Nat. Press Bldg, Washington, D.C; 1010 Stephenson Bldg, Detroit; 2413 Milvia St, Berkeley, Calif; 416-417 Caxton House, Tothill St, Westminster, London, SW 1

Philosophical Lib, Inc, 15 E 40th St, N.Y. 16
Now handling their own publications

Phoenix. Phoenix Press, 419 4th Av, N.Y. 16
Also use imprint of Gramercy Pub. Co.

Pilgrim House, 389 Fifth Av, N.Y.

Pilgrim Press (of the Congregational Pub. Soc) 14 Beacon St, Boston 8; 19 S La Salle St, Chicago

Pitman. Pitman Pub. Corp, 2-6 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons (Canada) Ltd, Pitman House, 381-383 Church St, Toronto; Sir Isaac Pitman & Sons, Ltd, Pitman House, 39-41 Parker St, Kingsway, London, WC 2; refer trade orders to the Book Centre, Ltd, N Circular Rd, Neasden, London, NW 10, Box 4504, G.P.O, Melbourne, Victoria, Australia; 27 Beckett's Bldg, Johannesburg, S Africa; A. H. Wheeler & Co, Calcutta; Pitman Press, Bath, England
Acquired the publications of Wilson, E; the aeronautical publications of Gale

Prairie. Prairie Press, Muscatine, Iowa

Prentice-Hall, Inc, 70 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Hobart Bldg, 582 Market St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, McClelland

Presbyterian Bd. Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, Publication Department (The Westminster Press) Witherspoon Bldg, Philadelphia 7; depositories at 156 5th Av, N.Y; 8 S Dearborn St, Chicago; 234 McAllister St, San Francisco, Granite Bldg, Pittsburgh

Press of James A. Decker, Prairie City, Ill.
Also use imprint of Village Press
See also Black Faun

Princeton Univ. Press, Princeton, N.J; English Agent, Oxford; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press; Latin Am. Agent, Henry M. Snyder & Co, 440 4th Av, N.Y.

Putnam. G. P. Putnam's Sons (Knickerbocker Press) Putnam Bldg, 2-6 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Putnam & Co, Ltd, 42 Great Russell St, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Putnam, New York]; Canadian Agent, Allen T; for Putnam (London) McClelland
Handle and sell all Minton publications
Loeb Classical Library acquired by Harvard Univ. Press

Rand McNally. Rand McNally & Company, 536 S Clark St, Chicago 5 [Cable Address: Ranally Chicago]; 111 8th Av, N.Y. 11; 559 Mission St, San Francisco 5; (educ bks) 2009 Terrace Pl, Nashville 4, Tenn; 1104 Nat. Press Bldg, Washington 4, D.C; Canadian Agents, Allen, T.; (educ bks) Gage

Rand School. Rand School Press, 7 E 15th St, N.Y. 3

Random House, Inc, 20 E 57th St, N.Y. 22; Random House of Canada, Ltd, 12 Richmond St, E, Toronto, 1
Purchased Burt Home Library from Blue Ribbon Bks.
Handle the Nonesuch Library Series of Nonesuch

Readers Club, 41 E 57th St, N.Y.

Reinhold. Reinhold Publishing Corporation, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18; British Agent, Chapman; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2
Successors to Chemical Catalog Co, and Pencil Points Press

Revell. Fleming H. Revell Company, 158 5th Av, N.Y. 10; English Agent, Oliphants

Review & H. Review & Herald Publishing Association, Takoma Park Station, Washington 12, D.C.
Publication of this Seventh Day Adventist Press handled also by Southern Pub. Assn; Pacific; and Canadian Watchman Press, Box 398, Oshawa, Ontario

Reynal. Reynal & Hitchcock, 386 4th Av, N.Y. 16; Canadian Agent, McClelland
For the duration: Reynal will handle bks. of Stewart; Bks. of Textbook Dept. of Reynal will be handled by Houghton

Ritchie, W. Ward Ritchie Press. See Anderson & Ritchie

Ronald. The Ronald Press Company, 15 E 26th St, N.Y. 10
Acquired the college text bks. of Nelson

Roy Pubs. Roy Publishers, A.N, 25 W 45th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, McLeod

Russell Sage. Russell Sage Foundation, 130 E 22d St, N.Y. 10

Rutgers Univ. Press, New Brunswick, N.J.

Saunders. W. B. Saunders Company, 218 West Washington Sq, Philadelphia 5; 7 Grape St, Shaftesbury Av, London, WC 2

Scott. Scott, Foresman & Company, 623-633 S Wabash Av, Chicago 5; 114-120 E 23d St, N.Y. 10; 29 Pryor St, NE, Atlanta 3; 308 Santa Fe Bldg, Dallas 1 [Cable Address: Scoresman, Chicago]; Canadian Agent, Gage

Scott, W.R. William R. Scott, Inc, Box 331, N Bennington, Vt; 72 5th Av, N.Y. 11; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Scribner. Charles Scribner's Sons, 597-599 5th Av, N.Y. 17; 23 Bedford Sq, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Halcanero]; for school bks. only: 320 E 21st St, Chicago; Canadian Agent, Saunders, S.J.R.

Secker & Warburg. Martin Secker & Warburg, Ltd, 7 John St, Bloomsbury, London, WC 1 [Cable Address: Psophidian]; refer trade orders to The Book Centre, Ltd, N Circular Rd, Neasden, London, NW 10; Agents, Saunders, S.J.R; Standish; Allied Pubs.

Sheed. Sheed & Ward, Inc, Ludgate House, 110-111 Fleet St, London, EC 4; 63 5th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Stanza, New York]; Canadian Agents (trade) Oxford (Toronto); (educ) Clarke, Irwin
Now handles the publications of St Michael's college

Sheridan. Sheridan House, Inc, 257 4th Av, N.Y. 10; Canadian Agent, McLeod
All former Furman and Macaulay bks. and Sheridan House publications issued through 1939 now sold to Citadel

Silver. Silver, Burdett & Company, Everett Bldg, 45 E 17th St, N.Y. 3; Wesleyan Bldg, 581 Boylston St, Boston; 221 E 20th St, Chicago; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Gage

Simmons-Boardman. Simmons-Boardman Publishing Corporation, 30 Church St, N.Y. 7; 105 W Adams St, Chicago; Terminal Tower, 50 Public Sq, Cleveland; Nat. Press Bldg, Washington, D.C; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2

Simon & Schuster, Inc, 1230 6th Av, Rockefeller Center, N.Y. 20; refer trade orders to 100 6th Av, N.Y. 13 [Cable Address: Essandes]; Canadian Agent, Musson
Smith, Richard R. Richard R. Smith, 120 E 39th St, N.Y. 16
Also use imprint of Margent Press
Smith & Durrell, Inc, N.Y. See Barnes, A.S.
Special Libraries Assn, 31 E 10th St, N.Y.
St Anthony Guild. St Anthony Guild Press, 508 Marshall St, Paterson 3, N.J.
Standard Publications, Inc, 910-914 5th Av, Huntington 14, W.Va.
Also pub. as Standard Ptg. & Pub. Co.
Stanford Univ. Press, Stanford University, Calif. [Cable Address: Sunipress]; English Agent, Oxford
Stechert. G. E. Stechert & Company [Alfred Hafner] 31-37 E 10th St, N.Y. 3; 2 Star Yard, Carey St, London, WC 2 [Cable Address: Stechertco]
Stewart. George W. Stewart, Publisher, Inc, 67 W 44th St, N.Y. 18; Canadian Agent, McLeod
For the duration refer trade orders to Reynal
Stokes. Frederick A. Stokes Company, Philadelphia. See Lippincott
Studio. Studio Publications, 66 Chandos Pl, London, WC 2; 381 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Studiopubs]; Canadian Agent, Musson
Supreme Publications, 9 S Kedzie Av, Chicago 12

Teachers College, Columbia University, 525 W 120th St, N.Y. 27
Textile Foundation, Inc, Industrial Bldg, Washington 25, D.C.
Thomas, C.C. Charles C. Thomas, Publisher, 220 E Monroe St, Springfield, Ill. [Cable Address: Thomas Springfield]; Agents, Chicago Med; Stacey; Bailliere; Angus; Fritze; Lawyers Co-op; M. V. Fresnada, Apartado 1947, Havana, Cuba; Scheltema's & Holkema, Rokin 74-76, Amsterdam, Netherlands; Pop. Bk. Depot, Grant Rd, Bombay, 7; Mezhdunarodnaja Kniga; Kuibyshev, U.S.S.R; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Transatlantic. Transatlantic Arts, 69-81 108th St, Forest Hills, N.Y; 45 Great Russell St, London, WC 1
Owned and operated by Vajna
Trovillion. Trovillion Private Press (At Sign of Silver Horse), 212 N 16th St, Herrin, Ill.
Also publish as Herrin News; Egyptian Publications, Inc.
Twentieth Century Fund, Inc, 330 W 42d St, N.Y. 18

U.S. Naval Inst. United States Naval Institute, Secretary & Treasurer of the United States Naval Institute, Annapolis, Md.
Ungar. Frederick Ungar, 105 E 24th St, N.Y. 10; Western Distributor, Perkins
Union of Am. Hebrew Congregations (Riverdale Press) 32-34 W 6th St, Cincinnati
See also Hebrew Union College
Univ. of Calif, Berkeley 4, Calif; English Agent, Cambridge
Address The University of Calif. Press, California Hall, Berkeley 4, Calif.
Univ. of Chicago Press, 5750 Ellis Av, Hyde Park Station, Chicago 37; California School Bk. Depository, 159 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; Lone Star School Bk. Depository, 707 Browder St, Dallas; Agents, Cambridge; Gage
Univ. of Colo, Boulder, Colo.
Univ. of Ill, Urbana, Ill.
Address The University of Ill. Press
Univ. of Mich, Ann Arbor, Mich; European Agent, Oxford
Address The University of Mich. Press, 311 Maynard St, Ann Arbor, Mich.
Univ. of Minn, Minneapolis 14; British Agent, Oxford
Address The University of Minn. Press, 100 Wesbrook Hall, Minneapolis 14
Univ. of N.C. Press, Box 510, Chapel Hill, N.C; English Agent, Oxford
Univ. of N.Mex. Press, Albuquerque, N.Mex.
Univ. of Okla. Press, Faculty Exchange, Norman, Okla.
Univ. of Ore, Eugene, Ore.
Address The University of Ore. Press
Univ. of Pa. Philadelphia 4
Address The Library
Univ. of Pa. Press, 3622 Locust St, Philadelphia 4; Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press; English Agent, Oxford
Acquired the series Studies and Documents from Lake, K.
Am. Philosophical Soc. again distributes own publications
Univ. of Wis. Press, 811 State St, Madison 6, Wis.
Requests for Pharmaceutical publications should be addressed to the Director of the Pharmaceutical Experiment Station, Madison, Wis.
Univ. Press in Dallas, Southern Methodist Univ, Dallas 5
Univ. Soc, Inc, 468 4th Av, N.Y. [Cable Address; Zigadag]

Vanderbilt Univ. Press, Kirkland Hall, Nashville, Tenn.
Vanguard. Vanguard Press, Inc, 424 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Copp
Macy-Masius merged with this company in 1928
Vanni. S. F. Vanni, Inc, 30 W 12th St, N.Y. 11
Van Nostrand. D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc, 250 4th Av, N.Y. 3 [Cable Address: Bowline]; Canadian Agent, General Pub. Co, Ltd, 17 Queen St, E, Toronto, 2; (high school bks) Gage
Viking. The Viking Press, Inc, 18 E 48th St, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Macmillan (Toronto)

Washburn. Ives Washburn, Inc, 27-29 W 57th St, N.Y. 19; Canadian Agent, Smithers
Watts, F. Franklin Watts, Inc, 285 Madison Av, N.Y. 17; Canadian Agent, Ambassador Bks.
Webb. Webb Book Publishing Company, 55-79 E 10th St, St Paul 2, Minn; Canadian Agent, Oxford (Toronto)
Western Reserve Univ. Press, 10940 Euclid Av, Cleveland 6
Whitman, A. Albert Whitman & Company, 560 W Lake St, Chicago 6; Eastern Agent, Barrows; Canadian Agent, McLeod
Acquired all the publications except educational of Laidlaw Bros.
Wilde. W. A. Wilde Company, 131 Clarendon St, Boston; Canadian Agent, Upper Canada Tract Soc, 406 Yonge St, Toronto
Wiley. John Wiley & Sons, Inc, 440 4th Av, N.Y. 16 [Cable Address: Jonwile New York]; depository at Tech Bk. Co, 432 Market St, San Francisco; Canadian Agent, Renouf; English Agent, Chapman
Williams & Wilkins. The Williams & Wilkins Company (Waverly Press); Mt Royal & Guilford Avs, Baltimore 2, Cable Address: Wilco Baltimore; depositories at Chicago Med; Stacey; T. H. McKenna, 882 Lexington Av, N.Y; E. F. Mahady, 851 Boylston St, Boston; L. S. Matthews & Co, Inc, 3560 Olive St, St Louis; Univ. of Toronto Press; Agents, Angus; Bailliere
Purchased the business of Wood
Wilson, H.W. The H.W. Wilson Company, 950-972 University Av, N.Y. 52 [Cable Address: Wilsondex]; Agents, W. & R. Holmes, 3-11 Dunlop St, Glasgow, C 1; G. Hedeler, Kurzestr 4, Leipzig, C 1, Germany
Wings. The Wings Press, Box 332, Mill Valley, Calif; 7 W 65th st, N.Y. 23
Winston. John C. Winston Company, 1006-1020 Arch St, Philadelphia 7 [Cable Address: Winston Philadelphia]; 623-629 S Wabash Av, Chicago; 60 Front St, W, Toronto
Also publish as Universal Bk. & Bible House
Wise. Wm. H. Wise & Company, 50 W 47th St, N.Y. 19; Agent, Mill; Canadian Agent, Musson
See also Nat. Aeronautics
Womans Press, 600 Lexington Av, N.Y. 22; Asilomas, Monterey County, Calif.

Wood. William Wood & Company (Division of the Williams & Wilkins Co) Mt Royal & Guilford Ave, Baltimore 2

World Bk. World Book Company, 313 Park Hill Av, Yonkers 5, N.Y. [Cable Address: Foresta Yonkers]; 2126 Prairie Av, Chicago; 441 W Peachtree St, NE, Atlanta; 14 Beacon St, Boston; 707 Browder St, Dallas; 149 New Montgomery St, San Francisco; 408 SW 5th Av, Portland, Ore; Canadian Agents, Gage; Renouf

World Peace. World Peace Foundation, 40 Mt Vernon St, Boston

World Pub. The World Publishing Co, 2231 W 110th St, Cleveland 2; 14 W 49th St, Rockefeller Center, N.Y; 209 S State St, Chicago; 414 Maxfield Bldg, Los Angeles; 60 Front St, W, Toronto [Cable Address: Worlds]
Formerly pub. as World Syndicate

Writer. The Writer, Inc, 8 Arlington St, Boston 16

Yale Univ. Press, 143 Elm St, New Haven 7, Conn; 386 4th Av, N.Y; English Agent, Oxford, Canadian Agent, Ryerson Press
Am. Oriental Ser. and Offprint Ser. of Am. Oriental Soc. now obtainable from Am. Oriental Soc.

Ziff-Davis. Ziff-Davis Publishing Company, Michigan Sq Bldg, 540 N Michigan Av, Chicago 11; Empire State Bldg, N.Y. 1
Acquired the Publications of Alliance Bk. now dissolved

Z
1219
C95
1944

GTU LIBRARY
3 2400 00643 0585

Reference